That makes possession of the bend of the Kuban vitally important to the Nazis as they attempt to push southward either to reach Baku and its oil, or to split Russian defense lines apart. A pitched battle for that great river bend is in prospect.

"The Law Is An Ass"

(ST. THOMAS TIMES-JOURNAL)

LAST week the annual gathering of high school musicians lasting several days was held at Interlochen, Michigan. It is a music festival, with music of all kinds and discussions, and one of the highlights of the event for many years has been a performance by massed high school orchestras which has hitherto been broadcast. This was a thrill for the hundreds of 'teen-age boys and girls who took part and a pleasure for the multitudes of people listening-in.

But there was no broadcast this year. James Caesar Petrillo, czar of the American Federation of Musicians, warned the National Broadcasting Company that if these youngsters were put on the air the A.F.M. would not allow any professional orchestras to take part in any broadcasts. The young people were unpaid, of course, being mere amateurs, but the great Caesar's terms were that they could broadcast if payment was made to the Federation in the amount that an equivalent number of professionals would have drawn.

On Wednesday of this week a band of professional musicians from the Broadway show, "This is the Army," was to have given its services gratis at a service men's centre which was opened in Times Square. Again Caesar intervened through the local union and prohibited the men from playing without pay, the alternative being an equivalent payment to the union.

This is the Caesar who attempted to stop the great Artur Toscanini from conducting a symphony orchestra, but for once he met defeat. This is the Caesar who has notified gramophone record and juke box manufacturers that after a certain date professional musicians will not be allowed to create "canned" music.

The same absurd procedure has long been put into effect in other industries. If a man builds a house and wants electrical work done a certain way which is different from the standard method he has to pay a man for doing it and also pay another electrician who is not even required to attend, or may just stand by and look on. A few months ago the United States Government wanted to erect a large group of pre-fabricated houses in a hurry for the use of men on a war building. But the builders' union blocked the project because it would have deprived a number of their men from doing the job the orthodox way, and the Government department had to award the contract to a firm that would build by the older, slower and more expensive method.

Such procedure is maddening to sensible people. And to honest people. Mr. Petrillo and other union leaders no doubt know the law and have been acting within the compass of the law, else they could not have been allowed to carry on in this way for so many years. The Attorney-General is applying for an injunction against Petrillo's ukase regarding canned music, but apparently nothing can be done to stop these prohibitions against amateur musicians, or against musicians playing for a good cause, or against workmen being paid for looking on at another man doing a job which he could not do himself.

The law, said Mr. Bumble is "Oliver Twist," is an ass. Some parts of American law are also asinine.

Two On One Bike

Two young men on a bicycle had a narrow escape when the wheel was steered into the path of an automobile. It is a common sight to note young people, and particularly children, adopting the practice of doubling up on single-seated bicycles. They are running a grave risk on heavily travelled city streets—and moreover their actions constitute a breach of the law.—Chatham News.

A Bible Message For Today

O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me: let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles. Then will I go unto the altar of God, unto God my exceeding joy: yea, upon the harp will I praise thee, O God my God. —Ps. xliii, 3, 4.

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God....That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world....

And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father), full of grace and truth....And of his fulness have all we received, and grace for grace. For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.

No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him.—John i, 1, 2, 9, 14, 16-18.

Saving At Parties

The Windsor Women's Region Advisory Committee to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, organized last April and working quietly since then, has passed a resolution urging that women's organizations raise money, for the duration, through other means than those involving the use of tea, coffee and refreshments requiring sugar. And about time, too!

There is no doubt that a cup of tea or coffee is a charming idea, an enjoyable bit of living. But there is a war on. Coffee and tea and the sugar that goes into petit fours and cupcakes and all the other toothsome delicacies are rationed. And these enjoyable tidbits should be the easiest of things to sacrifice. If they are all we go without, we shall be luckier than we deserve to be.

Some few women's organisations passed similar resolutions before the close of their seasons, but only a few, and it is a duty of the new advisory committee well done to put through this resolution, because it is made up of representatives of leading women's organisations throughout the community.—Montreal Star.

The Old School Tie Hits Back

Anglo-American relations, as has so frequently been pointed out, should be based on a spirit of give and take. American commentators have been more than kind in diagnosing what is wrong with Britain and exposing the Old School Ties to the light of day.

We English are laying ourselves open to criticism by not returning the compliment and explaining with an equal mixture of truth and fantasy (roughly one part truth to nine parts fantasy) what is wrong with the United States and exposing the nefarious activities of the American counterparts of the Old School Ties, namely the Phi Beta Kappas.

The Phi Beta Kappas have wormed their way into the best American Government jobs, just like the Old School Ties in England. They are hampering the war effort by placing the accomplishment of their pet theories above the winning of the war, and just as they are hampering the war effort so will they try at the Peace Conference to see that nothing is done which will diminish their influence.—Dhyns Smith in The National Review, London.

"Valjean" Returns

Clarence Arters, 53-year-old "Jean Valjean" who spent the past 20 years as a good Philadelphia citizen after escaping from an Iowa state prison farm, kisses his wife, Grace, good-by as he prepared to leave to finish his sentence. Arters waived extradition after a five-month battle to keep from being returned. He walked away from the Iowa state prison farm at Madison in 1921 after serving 13 months of a one-to-five-year sentence for stealing an automobile. He returned to Philadelphia, his native city, settled down and was married two years later. He has six children.

Havelock Man Dies In Midland

HAVELOCK, August 4—(ENS)—There passed away in Midland, July 30, Thomas Jackson, a former resident of Havelock, in his 70th year, and a brother of the late Mrs. J. W. Cryans. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson and was born at Bethany. During his early manhood he worked as a C.P.R. trainman in Haveock for over ten years, later moving to Midland. Deceased was married to Miss Eva Kimball, who is left to mourn him; one daughter (Aletta), Mrs. George Moore, Sudbury, and one son William Jackson, Midland, also one brother, John Jackson, Trenton. Funeral services were held in Midland on Saturday.

Relatives attending the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. William Bryans, Trent River; Mrs. T. W. Queen, Havelock, and Mrs. Ross Covert, Leaside.

40 People Meet Violent Deaths

By The Canadian Press

Forty persons met violent deaths in eastern Canada between Saturday and Monday, but only four lives were lost in Ontario Monday during the Civic Holiday.

Thirty-one lives were lost Saturday and Sunday, when 15 persons died in the water, nine suffered fatal injuries in traffic accidents, two died in railway accidents, one died of burns and two men were killed in an explosion and fire which swept a Montreal paint plant.

Two women and a boy were killed last night in a panic which followed a trivial fire in a Montreal wrestling stadium. The dead: Mrs. Matilda Cote, 63; Denise Wistaff, eight, and an unidentified woman about 25 years old. A score of men, women and children were injured.

Joseph Cosgrave, 48, Toronto, was killed instantly while attmpting to board a moving freight train at Winona station near Hamilton.

Mary Suzanne Patricia Milligan, four, of Leamington, Ont., was drowned in Lake Erie at Seacliff Park when she waded into the water. Patrick Brigham, 15, Fort William, Ont., was drowned in the Neebling River when he fell off a rocky ledge into deep water.

Eleven-year-old John Cinti of Hamilton, Ont., was fatally injured when he fell off his bicycle while turning in a driveway.

An unidentified airman was killed at Montreal when a Harvard training plane crashed into a lake near

What Canada must demand of You . . . and why

CANADIANS realize this to be a war for survival that must be won the hard way. It should be as unthinkable for those at home to evade any part of what Canada needs of them, as for our fighting men to desert in face of the enemy. If you have doubt as to what your country needs of you in these critical times, the following facts should dispel it.

Canada must now spend about five times as much per year on war effort as at the peak of the war of 1914-18. This huge effort will absorb in the financial year of 1942-3 nearly 12 million dollars a day—over half the Nation's total income!

Canada must raise this money from her people. She must spread the burden over each according to his or her means. It is as critical a problem as any in history. How does it affect you?

Voluntary Savings MUST Grow

Necessarily severe taxes will provide just over six million dollars a day—only half the money needed! Because part of this money is returnable, with interest, after the war, every taxpayer is making a minimum wartime saving. Many people will have exemptions in the form of insurance premiums, payments on mortgages, pension funds, etc., offsetting the compulsory savings requirements. Whatever the case, compulsory savings cannot replace voluntary effort! The six million dollars a day still needed must be lent by people like you!

This means severe economy in which spending must be cut to bare necessities, with all spare dollars put into War Savings Stamps, Certificates and Bonds. The Government regulation of prices means that you are spared loss through inflated living costs and have more savings to lend. To lend is no longer a matter of sentiment or emotion, but of necessity.

Nevertheless, the harsh dictates of war can be used to help your future. Money spent now can bring you little benefit . . . a backlog of savings in peace will bring much. Canada is depending on you. Look up and take your rightful place!

Well-named is this steed, Big Rebel, who is shown living up to that monicker by tossing his pilot, Jockey G. Walker, in the steeplechase at Saratoga when he balked at the 10th hurdle. The jockey was unhurt. Big Rebel was running second to Circus when he staged his rebellion, robbing his place backers of some mazuma.

Jack Watt Tops Golfers At The Kawartha

The holiday week-end at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club was a bee-hive of activity, with mixed two ball foursomes in the Riley Cup, matches in the Presideent's Cup, Club Championship games and the ordinary nickle a hole foursome. Pro. Lex Robson thought it was Old Home Week at the club.

In the first flight of the Club Championship, Bob Hay went down to Stan Whiddon. The match was all even at the turn ,then Stan proceeded to birdie Bob right out of the tournament. Norm Finnie gave Harley Wier a lesson in how to lose a slice and at the same time beating five up and four to go in the same tournament.

In the President's Cup Eddie Barry and Cralie Low had a close game. Only a early lead saved Charlie from losing out to the keen putting of his husky opponent. Mrs. H. R. Scott and Fraser Dunfield showed their heels to Doris Ackford and Charlie Low in the Riley Cup. This pair should be a hard team to beat. Fraser is a master with the irons, and Mrs. Scott does not take a back seat to anyone at putting.

Sweep Winners

The ball sweepsters were at it again on Saturday and Sunday. Jack Watts was the man on Saturday with a net three under pr 68. Lionel Browne followed with a net 70. Dave Price was third with a net of 72.

The results for Saturday:

	Gross.	H.C.	Net.
B. Jopling	101	20	81
L. Browne	84	14	70
A. Heckman	96	18	78
R. Hay	92	7	85

C. Low	76	7	69
D. Price	98	26	72
J. Watts	82	14	68
A. Drynan	107	30	77

In Sunday's sweeps we hear again from Al. Heckman and Stan Whiddon, both with nets of two under par 69. Hot stuff these boys, but the handicap committee will soon hear about them.

Sunday's Results

	Gross.	H.C.	Net.
L. Brown	91	14	77

Gordie Brydson and a few other pros. were up on the holiday to look over the club in preparation for the 23rd of August. That day Kawartha plays host to golfers from near and far to help the Milk for Britain Fund. To date twelve of the most prominent Toronto pros. have promised to put on an exhibition of golf for the gallery. Shuld be a big day for the Peterborough golfing fans and also the Milk for Britain Fund.

Baseball Game Bit Too Much For Britons

LONDON, Aug. 4—(CP)—Baseball's "complexities," as the Press Association put it, proved a bit too much for many Britons in a crowd of 7,000 which watched a game between the Canadian forces and the United States Army.

The Canadians won but the score of 5-3 didn't mean a thing to the nonplussed Londiners in Wembley Stadium yesterday. Flt. Sgt. Jack Lutes of Moncton, N.B., explained the game as it progressed over the stadium's loudspeakers and the official program tried to make plain what baseball is all about but most of the "fans" left with the apparent feeling the game is "hardly sporting."

Mrs. Winston Churchill shook hands with the players of both teams just before the game started. She seemed puzzled by the chest protector of Umpire Pte. John J. McNabb, of Wayne, Pa.

McNabb explained to her that "I stand behind the bat." Mrs. Churchill smiled as if she understood and walked to the next soldier in line.

Meyer Berger, correpsondent for the New York Times, said it "wasn't much of a game" and devoted most of his attention to the crowd. He sent the following description of the fans' reaction to his paper:

As you moved through the stands, you discovered that the spectators were bewildered by the pitchers' motions and astonished by the players' arguments with the umpires.

"Dad, what was that?" a little blond boy asked his middle-aged father when a Canadian hit a weak pop fly that was caught in the infield.

"One of their home runs, I fancy," the father replied.

Later, Canadians and Americans buzzed angrily around an umpire, arguing loudly about a called third strike.

"What are they about now, dad?" the blond lad wondered.

"They seem to have lost their tempers, son," the middleaged gentleman said. "It's something we don't tolerate in cricket. It isn't proper to argue with the referee, you know. They might report him to the committee, but not during the game."

Somewhere among the 7,000 in the stands were Canadian and American rooters. Their boos and hoarse cries for action drew a polite, murmured comment from the British patrons of the game.

"Distracting!" one English lady confided to her companion. "It doesn't seem fair to try to gain the attention of those poor chaps on the field."

Clever Playing Weekend Swap

Considering the long week-end in which many of the local golfers take time out to do a little fishing, a good number took part in the sweep held Saturday afternoon at the Peterborough golf course.

The boys, like the old baseball pitchers, are warming up with the fid-summer sun, no less than eight of the entrants bettering or equalling part 69 with their net scores.

This sweep was a no-handicap affair with five flights, the winners being:

Handicaps 10 and under, S. Payne, 75; handicaps 11 to 15, G. Putnam, 79; handicaps 16 to 20, A. Rutter, 88; handicaps 21 to 26, C. Westbrook, 91; handicaps 27 and over, E. Vincent, 100.

Sport Shots From Britain

By ALLAN NICKLESON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 4 (CP)—There's much eye-brow lifting among the tea-drinking school of cricketers who think nothing of continuing a game for a few days. The reason is a former Test player has come up with "Time-Limit" cricket and it's pronounced a big success.

Alf. Glover, company sergeant-major with a British artillery unit on the south coast, evolved the time-limit scheme whereby every man in the match gets a fair share of play. Every "Tommy" in his unit now is a confirmed cricket addict.

Here's how it works:

Each pair of batsmen bat for 20 minutes, regardless of how often their wickets fall. Every member of the fielding side, barring the wicket-keeper, has a turn at bowling, according to an order drawn up before the start of the contest. The last man in an 11-a-side game does not come out when the 10th wicket falls but has 10 minutes' single wicket cricket all on his own.

The scoring system also is new. Each man not out at the end of the allotted batting period has 20 runs added to his score, and five runs are deducted every time a player loses his wicket during his 20 minutes at the crease. That, incidentally, makes it possible for a minus score to be carded.

Dropping of a catch is penalized by three runs and—this is really radical—fieldsmen change at the double between overs.

Speaking of cricket: The stage was set at famed Lord's for the start of a Metropolitan-Military Police match. Batsmen were in the middle, field set, umpires (one of them in khaki beneath the regulation white coat) in position. Then someone discovered there was no ball.

Incidentally (and eventually) Military Police lost by five wickets, first defeat since formation of the club two years ago.

German newspapers naively complain that Netherlanders "alone among the occupied countries decline to collaborate in sport." The reason is that Holland has consistently refused to meet a team from Germany in a soccer match.

The last time Holland was billed for a soccer match with Naziland the mayor of Rotterdam ordered it cancelled for a few days previous because of strong anti-German feeling throughout the country. And that was before the war.

Preston North End, winners of the Football League Cup in 1940-41, won't play league football next season because of transportation problems plus the difficulty of fielding a team with so many players in the services. Instead, the club will compete in a district amateur league.

Voting Just For Fun

EMPORIA, Kas., Aug. 4.—(AP). —Voting for state representative in Lyon county's east side district today probably wil be just for fun. Mrs. C. C. Skinner filed on the Democratic ticket and has no opponents. But it was discovered she's not a resident of the district. On the Republican ticket, James Putnam, also unopposed, was inducted into the army, too late to have his name removed from the ballot. He expects to withdraw.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The announcement that the Military Training Centre club has landed a new pitcher with plenty of stuff has put the finishing touches on tonight's battle at Riverside between Soldiers and Plazas. The military team has plenty of power and is a fast fielding outfit and if the new box artist lives up to advance notices the hockey squad will probably have their hands full tonight. While the result of the game cannot interfere with first place which Plazas have annexed the Ellis-Starr squad will be out to win if at all possible and they will toss their strongest battle array into action. Soldiers of course have to win if they want to avoid a tie for third place and a sudden death game with Luckies for the position. The game is a benefit for the Navy fund, with a Kenwood blanket as a special draw prize and all the proceeds will be turned over to help the lads in the Navy. It should be a great game in aid of a great cause and the biggest crowd of the year should be on hand when the umpires call "Play Ball" at 7 o'clock tonight.

* * * * * *

The fast-travelling Westclockers who have won six games in a row will swing into action again tonight in a game with Electrics. The Westclockers need this game to keep in the hunt for first place and Pat Hayden will have his full lineup out in an effort to grab this one off in order to be in a position to sew up everything by beating Generals in the postponed battle between the two contenders. Electrics are anxious for a win, of course, and will do their best to help their sister club from the C.G.E. by knocking off the smooth-working Big Bens. Mary Larmer is expected to do the pitching for the Electrics who are coached by Bob Batley. The Westclockers will once again call on Marg Watson who has pitched all their victories and has done some very effective work on the mound for the club from Armour Hill. The Westclox team has been playing pleasing ball and have won themselves quite a following as a result of the manner in which they snapped out of a bad start and battled until they are now a serious threat to the Generals' hope of finishing in first place. Tonight's game will be played at the Bowl and will get under way at 7 sharp.

* * * * * *

The City League is almost at the playoff stage. Tonight's game between Plazas and Soldiers is the last fixture on the regular schedule and until that is over it will be impossible to know the exact setup for the playoffs. Should the Soldiers win the stage will be cleared for a victory for the Camp would leave the military team tied with Royals for second. On the other hand a triumph for Plazas would leave Soldiers and Luckies all in a knot for third place and that would have to beplayed off before the playoff picture would be clear. The arrangements call for Plazas who are the first-place finishers to meet the four place team in one bracket of the semi-finals and the Royals who cannot get anything worse than a tie for second will be stacked up against the team that finishes third. Until tonight's game is over, and possibly not then, neither the Plazas nor the Royals will know whether they meet Soldiers or Luckies in the semi-final round.

A Strong Oshawa Club

In the Oshawa intermediate loop the Colts are running well ahead of Oshawa Laundry, the club that spilled the local Chesterfields out of the O.A.S.A. series last season. Here is what George Campbell has to say about the team in the Oshawa sheet: "The Colts are really stepping high, wide and handsome these days. They have won brilliant decisions in their last two games, two-nights-in-a-row. On Tuesday evening, they nosed out Ontario Malleable Iron 2-1 in a brilliantly-played softball battle at Alexandra Park. It was the finest softball game of the season to date and featured throughout by the sparkling plays pulled off by the rival infielders, Claus, Opychany, Jubenville, Hall and Dalton. None of the outfielders had much work, it being a real pitcher's battle. There were only five outfield catches in the entire game, as 'Preem" Whiteley and Al Woods each gave out only a half dozen measly hits. None of the three runs were 100 per cent earned either but Colts nosed out the O.M.I. by virtue of superior defensive play. Last night, Colts came right back to again hold the opposition to only one orphan tally, as they beat out Oshawa Laundry 4-1. Laundry was under-staffed last night but the team Joe Childerhose trotted out played great ball behind McConk..y's fine pitching and they extended the Colts to the very limit. Dean McLaughlin was in rare form for the Colts, allowing only 8 hits. He kept them widely scattered until the 9th, when Laundry bunched three singles to account for their only run of the game. Rival centre fielders held the spotight last night, with the Colt's infield again turning in another great display of defensive skill. The double-win put Colts well ahead of the pack in the 'Big Four' race."

Gordon Minty has his entry forms out for the swim program in connection with the 12th annual Wallace Point Canoe Club Regatta on Wednesday, August 12, and hopes to hear from a flock of swimmers in the next few days. There are four swim events. They consist of the one-mile swim for men for the Gordon K. Fraser trophy and the half-mile event for women for the J. J. Duffus Cup, and half-mile contests for both boys and girls 15 years and under. Every swimmer completing the required distance will receive a crest and there will be special crests for the contestants who finish first, second or third. The popularity of the Wallace Point swims is shown by the fact that in the last four years the entries have reached a total of 326. All men on active service, all United States visitors and summer residents of the Kawarthas and Trent Valley districts and all permanent residents of this section are eligible to enter. Entries must be made on or before Aug. 10.

The Races Are Over

Big league games over the long week-end only served to confirm the general impression that both the National and American League pennants are in the bag and that only a train wreck can keep the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yanks from meeting in the world series in October. The Yanks' opposition is fading so fast that the Boston Red Sox who at the end of June looked like as if they would give the New Yorkers a real run for their money have dropped to third place. They lost two games Sunday to the Detroit Red Wings and in so doing slipped behind the Cleveland Indians who haven't been so hot themselves but have attained enough momentum to pull the Red Sox down out of the runners up spot. As for the Dodgers their margin has now been stretched out into nine and a half games and that neighbors is a very comfortable lead to have at this stage of the race. Unless they go into one of those unaccountable tailspins the Bums are in.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Toronto Leafs snapped out of their slump yesterday by taking two games from the league-leading Newark Bears.... The Leafs won by 6 to 1 and 3 to 1 with Brandt and Conger doing the pitching....Even the dimout favors the Dodgers....It came in the midst of a ninth-inning rally by the Giants and as a result the Bums took the ball game last night by 7 to 4. And 57,000 fans didn't like it a little bit ....Five former Peterborough lacrosse players figured in the Hamilton-Etobicoke game last night which the Tigers took 12 to 7....The three Creightons were with the losers and Mick Magee and Rowan Chute with Tigers....Only Chute, with an assist, got into the score column....Buffalo reports say that Ben Hogan will enter the Canadian Open which begins to loom up as one of the classiest competitions in Dominion golf history....Shag Park's Navy ball team from Toronto was beaten 4 to 3 in a game with another Navy nine at Halifax....This department has a letter from Sergt. J. F. Miller, sports sergeant of the A-22 R.C.A.M.C. at Camp Borden asking for a game on Saturday next with a local senior team.... Unfortunately Sergt. Miller doesn't say what kind of game his team plays but we presume it is softball....Yesterday's lawn bowling tournament was one of the most successful on record here.

Harry Northrop's Rink Takes 2nd Place

By HERB MARTIN

In one of the most exciting and hair-raising finishes ever seen on local greens, E. Hircock, aided by the three McKinnon brothers, all from Cobourg, won the right to hold the Quaker Oats Co. Trophy for the coming year, in the annual tournament on Civic Holiday. He defeated H. Freeman of Peterborough in the final round but he had to go more than all out, he had to play an extra end and then won by only one shot. It was a beautiful game, well played and thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators.

And to Harry Northrop's "hurry-up, get-together, what-have-you-left" rink goes the honor of winning the Peterborough Canoe Co. trophy from A. Atkinson of Ottawa, winner of this same trophy last year. This game, like the other final, was a dandy and was fought right from the first end to the fifteen. At no time was the game decided and the Peterborough quartette had to come from bhind to take the verdict. It was a hard game for the Ottawa boys to lose but the victory was well earned. It was not only a popular win but was thoroughly enjoyed by Jack Sedgwick, his son and daughter and his daughter-in-law and son-in-law and by even the little grandson.

Given Welcome

In opening the tournament Chairman R. F. Downey called upon President F. H. Dearborn to welcome the bowlers on behalf of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

Mr. Downey then introduced Mayor James Hamilton. His Worship said how glad he was to be present and had always looked upon this occasion as being one of the main sporting attractions of our city. He had acted in this capacity on four different occasions and might now be considered a veteran.

He spoke of the difficult time that we are going through, yet he thought that a little recreation was good for all, and after that he again offered the freedom of the city to all, the 1942 Civic Holiday tournament was declared open.

Prizes Awarded

At the conclusion of the days' play R. F. Downey acted as master of ceremonies at the presentation of prizes and with these presentations the big open tournament passed into history.

Only In Last Resort Will Britain Allow Teams To Travel By Bus

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 4.—(CP)—Professional soccer teams will be allowed by the government to travel to matches within a radius of 50 miles by road next season but there's no private petrol allowance for amateur clubs.

The pros, however, are allowed to make the road trip only if they cannot get there by other means, such as rail, and when the supply of vehicles for essential purposes is not affected. No additional railway or other transport facilities will be made for spectators.

County football associations are making direct approach to the transport ministry with view to obtaining a relaxation of the travelling rule towards amateurs which calls for gasoline travel only by scheduled bus services.

The associations will ask that permission be given for road travel by private vehicles where there are journeys of comparatively short distances and convenient public transport is not available. They contend the ban is "inimical to the nation's best interests."

Maj. Frank Buckley, Wolverhampton Wanderers' manager, suggested professional football be played Sundays but there seems no possibility of official sanction. Only Sunday soccer allowed by the governing football association is that in which works and service teams are engaged and no "gates" are taken.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Side lights as seen from the benches.

The 1942 Civic Holiday tournament is now past history, but many incidents make it one of the greatest.

The Walter Oke, Charlie Seymour combination put us in mind of olden times down on the old greens. They still know a few tricks.

We have not use for professional sport but there is one thing that sticks out with them—when they say 8.30 p.m.—they mean just that. Nothing else matters.

It will be interesting to see the faces of some of our bowlers for the next day or two. Old Sol took care of that

That was a surprise win for Harry Northrop's "pick up"over C. Bell in the third round.

It will be interesting to read the newspaper accounts of other tournaments held in this district on Monday. We hope you get our meaning.

Somebody told us that R. F. Downew ran ten miles during the day's play. We don't believe it.

Judging by the prize list the tournament might be termed "all wool."

To Benny Chesler's rink goes the low luck medal. Bowl games that they lost were an extra ends.

If some of the boys took a bad trimming you should see the trimmings the greens took.

The ice-cream booth was about as popular a spot as it could possibly be.

Two sweet young things and their escorts gave us quite a ribbing. They claim East City as their home and have lived their all their lives. It was the first time that they had ever seen our bowling greens. They wanted to know if it was "The Old Folks Home."

It was just about a perfect a day as could be. Starting around 10.30 oclock in the morning, the four-fifteen end games were played and the tournament was over by 11 p.m.

TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS SMACK NEWARK BEARS TWICE 6-1, 3-1

Montreal Royals Score 11 Runs In Single Inning

By The Associated Press

Canada's two slumbering entries in the International League awakened with a start last night and all but tore down the Shaughnessy circuit's playhouse.

Toronto slashed two full games off Newark Bear's eight-game lead by smacking the Bears twice, 6-1 and 3-1 while Montreal pounded out 11 runs in the fourth inning to subdue Baltimore, 10-9.

The Maple Leafs bested the Bears by combining slick pitching with terrific hitting in the double triumph. In the opener Bill Brandt was touched for only six blows while teammate Johnny Wryostek slapped four hits in four attempts and Jimmy Ripple cracked one out of the lot.

In the nightcap, Dick Conger was even stingier with hits and Newark was able to collect only five. Ripple again came through with a homer.

The evening's biggest bombardment, however, was the hectic fourth frame at Montreal where the Royals combined seven hits with five Oriole errors for the season's biggest one-inning run production. Twice Baltimore outfielders dropped flies and once Pitcher Steve Gromek attempted to cut a runner off at the plate and hurled the ball over the catcher's head.

Although there were 30 hits, 16 by Montreal, only four were for extra bases, Alex Kampouris getting two doubles.

Gib Brack sparked Jersey City to an 11-4 verdict over the tailend Rochester Red Wings. Brack belted five hits in five trips to the plate for a third of the Little Giants' blows. Ed Wissman was nicked for 13 hits in the first seven innings and finally Gene Lillard, who once had a Major-league trying as a hurler but now is an infielder, took up the burden.

Those were the only games to count in the standings but exhibition games were played at both Syracuse and Buffalo in which all league members will take pride.

The Bisons, seventh in the league race, defeated Cincinnati Reds of the National loop in an exhibition contest, 5-4, with Dutch Meyer blasting two homers. Syracuse stopped Chicago Cubs, 6-5, in another exhibition contest.

Like Old Times Again

Van Lingle Mungo, LEFT, former Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, who was sent back to the minor league after years of service in the big time, is back with a New York team once again—this time it's the Giants—the Dodgers' hated rivals. Here we see Van with Lon Warneke, of the Chicago Cubs, who acquired the vetan from the St. Louis Cardinals to bolster their pitching staff. Warneke and Mungo seem to be swapping old yarns while waiting for the first game of the Giants-Cubs to start. Mungo started for the Giants, but the Cubs defeated the New Yorkers 4-2 and thus spoiled Van's home coming.

Be No Numbers On Players Canadian Open

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Aug. 4—(CP)— Note to Canadian Open entrants: You can relax, men. The Royal Canadian Golf Association won't ask anyone but caddies to wear numbers.

B. L. Anderson, secretary of the R.C.G.A., had an emphatic answer when queried about the numbers game that started such big winds during the Tam O'Shanter tournament in Chicago last week.

"The caddies will wear numbers on their backs," he said. "In that way, the gallery will be able to identify golfers just as easily as if the golfers wore the numbers."

The men who cut loose with the loudest beefs when Tam O'Shanter officials tried to pin numbers on their backs were Tommy Armour and Joe Kirkwood. Both refused and quit. Kirkwood is entered in the Canadian open and is expected to arrive with other leading United States professionals today.

The 72-hole event will be played at the Mississauga Club, about 12 miles west of Toronto Aug. 6-8. Entries have been slow coming in for the $3,600 Chase (First prize: $1,000 and the Seagram Gold Cup) but officials think the drought will end within the next 24 hours.

Sam Snead, winner in 1940 and 1941, won't be around. His duties with the United States Navy keep him elsewhere. But Ben Hogan, leading money-winner among the pro golfers this season, is considered an almost certain starter with such other American luminaries as Craig Wood, Jimmy Thomson, Tony Manero, Horton Smith, Lloyd Mangrum, Phil Turnesa, Gene Sarazen, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Demaret, Jug McSpaden and Paul Runyan. Byron Nelson is not expected.

Gordon Brydson is among the most-favored of the Canadian professionals. Mississauga is his home course and its 6543-yard, par 72 layout is built for straight hitters.

Bob Gray of Toronto Scarborough, Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Stan Horne of Montreal probably will provide the rest of the strong Canadian competition.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Aug. 4—(CP)— Dave Castilloux, Canadian lightweight and welterweight champion, and his manager, Raoul Godbout, have managed to confuse the issue to an alarming degree within the last few days.

It started when Castilloux said after his marriage in Montreal last Saturday that he was through with boxing. It struck a note of utter nonsense yesterday when Godbout said in Montreal that Castilloux's statement was not to be considered official.

What can anyone make of that, except that Castilloux wants to retire and Dodbout, whose interest in the affair hardly can be misconstrued, wants him to keep on fighting?

From this distance, it appears that if Castilloux wants to leave a business that is uncomfortable at the best and mentally and physically harmful at the worst, it's his own business. His manager undoubtedly has plenty of say in making matches, splitting purses and arranging training routine. But even the widest interpretation of his function doesn't include countermanding Castilloux's decision to retire.

Dodgers Whip Giants In Night Game

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The dimout on the East Coast blacked out the ninth inning of a bitter battle between the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants last night, leaving 57,305 spectators in confusion, and made continuance of twi-night form of baseball in New York a matter of doubt.

About all the fans were sure of as they scrambled out of the Polo Grounds was that the National League champions had won the ball game 7-4 with Dixie Walker belting a three-run homer in the third inning and Dolph Camilli hitting the jackpot in the seventh inning with a clout against the rightfield roof while the bases were loaded.

These two tremendous blows gave Whitlow Wyatt his 13th victory against three defeats and spoiled Van Lingle Mungo's outing against his former teammates.

Umpire George Magerkurth signalled the game was over in the ninth because of the dimout rules, which prohibit outdoor floodlights in the New York area for more than one hour after sundown.

No one except the umpires knew exactly when the game would be halted and even the players were confused by the sudden stoppage. The Brooklyn team remained in the field for several minutes while the big crowd that had turned out for the benefit of the Army Emergency Relief Fund booed long and loud.

The booing continued even after all lights were extinguished except a spotlight on the American flag and while amplifiers intoned the Star Spangled Banner and thousands of fans waved lighted matches in what had been intended for a spectacular patriotic ceremony.

The same teams were scheduled for another part daylight part flood light game at the Polo Grounds tonight and the same thing in Brooklyn tomorrow night.

But President Horace Stoneham of the Giants said there would never be another twi-night game in his ball park after tonight and it was considered likely provisions would be made for Brooklyn games to prevent a recurrence of the trouble there.

The Giant-Dodger contest was the only major league game yesterday, an open date which most of the clubs filled with exhibitions including one in which the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Athletcis 5-2 at Cooperstown, baseball's birthplace.

Henry Armstrong Whips Aldo Spoldi

SAN FRANCISCO, August 4.—(AP)— Henry Armstrong, former three-ply champion of boxing's lighter weights, scored a seven-round technical knockout last night over Aldo Spoldi of New York for his 4th victory in five fights of attempted comeback.

The Los Angeles negro won every round by a comfortable margin and made a punching bag of Spoldi. The crowd filled the 10,000 seat auditorium.

Armstrong weighed 143½ pounds; Spoldi, 137.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP).— A lot of fight-minded folks around New Orleans, including several city and state officials, are trying to get up a three-day fistic carnival there Sept. 5-7 to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the great event when championships were settled for the first time by fighters wearing big padded mittens.....If you can find the records for 1892 you'll see that Jack McAuliffe knocked out Billy Myer in 15 rounds for the lightweight title on Sept. 5, 1892, the next day George Dixon kayoed Jack Skelly in eight heats to take the featherweight crown and, as the grand windup on Sept. 7, Jim Corbett knocked out John L. Sullivan to inaugurate a new heavyweight reign....The big job facing the New Orleans folks now is to get three champs released from the armed forces to put on a similar show.

No Words Wasted.

Southwestern Tech of Weatherford, Okla., quit football this week and here's the reason given by its to-the-point president, G. S. Sanders, who played football himself before the First Great War:

'We have a parachute that will fit any pair of shoulders; they can learn how to kick hell out of Japs instead of footballs; we can spend that $5,000 for training planes instead of training pants.'

(Tech has contracted with the United States army to produce 90 licensed pilots and 650 licensed airplane mechanics this year.)

Santa Anita has asked to have the track's assessed valuation of $1,246,825 wiped out, claiming a loss of $775,000 since the army took over the plant but the answer so far is 'no.'

Cavan WI Group Sponsors Tea

CAVAN, Aug. 3—(ENS). — On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. R. S. Staples and Mrs Ralph Staples were joint hostesses at an afternoon tea sponsored by Mrs. Charlie Smith's group of the Cavan Women's Institute. The proceeds from the tea were to be the group's share toward the Institue fund. There were 46 present.

The program was all local talent by young boys and girls. Frazer and Mazel Carr sang a duet; Fraser Carr a solo. Maureen Moncrief recited, June Miller sang a solo, Sylvia Hunter played a piano solo, Audrey Fair gave a piano solo, Betty Adams a piano solo.

Mrs. Smith's group served a delicious lunch and a silver collection was taken.

On Tuesday evening, fourteen Cavan young people enjoyed a hike sponsored by Mr. Oakely Carley. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Oakely Carley, Mrs. Mervin Kinsman, Misses Margaret and Wilda Armitage, Barbara and Elaine Argue, Kathrine and Margaret Elson, Dorothy Armstrong, Bernice Hibbard, Mary Richards and Hope Douglas.

The party boarded the C.P.R. train at Cavan and went as far as Dranoel, where they enjoyed a picnic lunch and went swimming. Later they hiked back home. About half way the party stopped and Oakely held a couple of contests. One, a quiz contest, was won by Kathrine Elson and Dorothy Armstrong. Another contest, a paper plate throwing contest, was won by Bernice Hibbard. The prizes were chocolate bars. Everyone greatly enjoyed the train ride and the moonlight hike afterwards.

Bailieboro Women Hold Quilting Bee

BAILIEBORO, Aug. 3—(ENS).—A quilting bee was held on Mrs. Fletcher's lawn Thursday afternoon which resulted in 15 quilts being completed and sent to the Red Cross rooms, Millbrook, for overseas shipment. Some forty sheets have also been made.

A social gathering of the family of Mr. and Mrs. James Roddy was held Friday evening, it being the occasion of Mrs. Roddy's birthday, when she was presented with a beautiful wrist watch. June and Joyce Snowell made the presentation and ice cream and the birthday cake was served by Mrs. Offa Williamson and Mrs. Edwin Park. Mrs. Roddy, wholly unaware of the event being planned, gracefully thanked all for their kindness.

Aitken Wins D.S.O.

LONDON, August 3 — (CP). — Wing Cmdr. Max Aitken, son of Lord Beaverbrook, was awarded the Distinguished Service Order to-day. He is credited personally with the destruction of 12 German night raiders, and the total bag of his present Czech squadron is 15.

He received the Distinguished Flying Cross in 1940 and the Czech War Cross two days ago.

New Jap Landing

CHUNGKING, August 3—(CP).—Japanese troops have landed anew on the Chekiang Province coast, this time 30 miles south of Wenchow, and have started a drive inland, the Chinese high command announced to-night.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

5. Spending An Evening Indoors.
6. They Are Real Bargains

The winners will be announced over Radio Station CHEX every Monday night at 8 p.m.

14 Prizes Weekly

The "Radio Ad-O-Gram" page will appear in The Peterborough Examiner every Monday. In the spaces, in the heading of this page there appears phrases or phone numbers which have been taken from the advertisements appearing on this page. We call these phrases and phone numbers "Radio Ad-O-Grams."

TO QUALIFY FOR PRIZES

The reader must find among the advertisements appearing on this page, the ones from which the "Radio Ad-O-Grams" have been taken. In making up a solution, first write down the number of the "Radio Ad-O-Gram" as it appears in the heading. Then opposite the number, write the name and address of the Advertiser from whose advertisement it has been taken. Repeat this for each of the six "Radio Ad-O-Grams," listing them in order of number. To make your solution eligible for entry, attach to it a receipt or label showing that goods or service have been purchased from any one of the Advertisers on this page.

AWARDING OF PRIZES

From all correct and eligible solutions received during the week, 13 will be drawn and the prizes awarded to each respectively in the order in which they are drawn, 1st, $5.00; 2nd. Photo valued at $5.00; 3rd, $3.00; 4th, $2.00 and the next 10 will receive a Theatre ticket.

MEYERS STUDIOS, are awarding a special weekly Prize valued at $5.00. This is an 8 x 10 Black and White Portrait, nicely mounted in a folder. This Award will go to the winner of the second prize.

SPECIAL PRIZES. At the end of each 13-week period two special prizes will be awarded. These special prizes will be awarded to the two contestants who send in during the 13-week period the greatest number of correct answers, accompanied by the greatest number of receipts from the largest variety of advertisers on this page. The first prize will be a merchandise order of $20.00, and the second special prize will be a merchandise order of $10.00. The first 13-week period will be May 11 to Aug. 3.

DETAILS OF MAKING UP AND MAILING SOLUTIONS

Awards will be made in the form of merchandise orders, redeemable at any Advertiser on this page. State on your solution, at which of these "Radio Ad-O-Gram" establishments you wish to redeem your prize order. Address replies to The Radio Ad-O-Gram Editor. The Peterborough Examiner. Solution must be in this office not later than Saturday, 9 a.m.

Bathgate Gets Third Hole-In-One

MAIN STREET TOPICS

M.P. A VISITOR.

Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., was a visitor last week at the military camp at Connaught Ranges, calling on the Prince of Wales Rangers and 4th Field Battery from Peterborough.

GOING TO MOOSE JAW

Warrant Officer (First Class) Robert Young of the R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Young, Chamberlain street, arrived home from England at the week-end and is being assigned to Moose Jaw on instruction duty.

SERIOUSLY ILL OVERSEAS

Sgt. Victor Henry Holdaway, serving with the Royal Canadian Artillery overseas, is listed in the 121st casualty list as seriously ill. His wife lives in Linday. This list brings to 746 the total number of army men dead or missing since the war began.

NO COMPLAINTS.

Resort owners throughout the entire district who kept their staffs down to a minimum expecting a poor year, now finds themselves catering to crowds exceeding even their best previous totals. Several have voiced amazement at the fine business this year, and much of the credit for this boom is being given the Examiner Vacation Edition.

TOO MUCH IS OUT.

The South Monaghan, Cavan and North Monaghan districts have more grain stooked in the fields at the present time than any other part of this district. Motorists who passed the section over the week-end report field after field of golden grain all cut and ready to be hauled into the barns.

COLLECTING COINS

H. D .Akey, Stock, brought into Tweed this week, four pennies which he has found at intervals in his garden. The oldest is an English penny of 1787 vintage; another is a Queen's Jubilee penny of 1837, while the others are dated 1813 and 1861. All were found within 75 yards of his residence.

THEY FIGURED WRONG.

On Highway 28 there is a sign pointing to Bensfort bridge which reads four miles, but motorists who drive this route discover it should read seven miles. At Downer's Corners is another sign indicating that Omemee is 14 miles distant. This sign must have been made for the Chemong road section of No. 7 highway, for even from that north-western boundary of the city it is a good 16 miles to Omemee.

RECORD BUSINESS.

Not a boat of any description was available for rent at Bewdley on Sunday or Monday, as a wave of Toronto holidayers motored into the Rice Lake village. At one time 42 boats were visible from shore, and many carloads of people who wished to go fishing had to drive on to Hastings and other points. The Bewdley resort owners are so busy, that even with restrictions, they now look to a record year.

CAMERA STOLEN

The theft of a camera from a parked car at Chemong Park Sunday morning has been reported to Provincial Constable Price Morris by the owner, A. Palock, city. Palock was swimming at the park and when he returned to his automobile discovered that the camera had been taken. There has been a considerable amount of sneak thieving in the district this summer, the provincial officer reports.

STONEY LAKE INVADED

Stoney Lake had its largest influx of the season for the Civic Holiday week-end. Most of the visitors were Toronto folk who took advantage of the Monday holiday to spend a couple of days at the lake. The result was that the summer population was the largest this year in spite of the fact there were no regattas, either at Crowe's Landing or Juniper Island.

REPAIR STORE ROBBED

Thieves who gained an entrance by forcing a rear window entered the Model Shoe Repair shop of M. Veneranda, Simcoe street, some time time during the holiday weekend and stole $6 in small change from the cash drawer.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

George Dean, living a mile south of Balieboro reported to the city police that an automobile belonging to him had been stolen from his car yesterday. Constable Gordon Hardy recovered the stolen machine on Wolfe street this morning.

LIKE THEIR POOL

Two young lads have become so fond of playing pool that the proprietor of an East City pool room complains that they broke into his place on Sunday for the purpose of having a game. Their action will likely become the subject for police investigation.

FOUR LIQUOR CHARGES

Liquor charges were the only items on the menu at police court this morning when Justices of the Peace Vincent Eastwood and E. B. Fowler occupied the bench. Three men who pleaded guilty to having been drunk over the weekend were fined $10 and $2.50 costs and a 21-year-old girl, who entered a plea of guilty to the illegal consumption of liquor was fined $10 and 75 cents costs.

Brethren of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A.F. and A.M., will meet at the C.P.R. Station on Wednesday, August 5th, at 11.40 a.m. to attend the funeral of our late W. Bro. A. St. A. Smith.

Members of Sister Lodges are invited to attend.

Peterboro Boy Drowned In Lake Erie

A former student at Central School, Ernest Armstrong, son of Peter Armstrong and the late Mrs. Armstrong was drowned in Lake Erie near Port Colborne on Sunday. The boy was 17 years of age, and had been bathing at a well known beach when he swam out too far, got into difficulties and sank before assistance could reach him. The body was recovered by Port Colborne firemen.

The family formerly resided at 182½ Hunter street west, and the father was employed by the city. At present he is serving with the Veteran's Guard. Just after the war the family moved to Niagara Falls. The oldest brother has been overseas for two years. Stanley served 10 months with the Glengarrians but was discharged as medically unfit. Another brother is serving in the Navy. He also leaves two sisters. The mother died four years ago.

Interment will be at Niagara Falls on Thursday afternoon.

American Car Crashes Bridge

Lee Luprys, Pen-Argyle, Pa., according to police, was the driver of a car which crashed through the guard rail between the two bridges at Young's Point early Sunday morning.

The driver and three passengers had a close call from serious injury.

The car driven by Luprys, travelling north, crossed the bridge over the river but missed the curve before reaching the canal bridge and went through the heavy railing and went eight feet down the embankment to come to rest on its wheels on the flat.

One of the girl passengers had a sprained ankle and another a cut on her head but there were no serious injuries.

The grill and front fenders of the automobile were damaged and the front shoved in.

The members of the party were on their way to visit Mrs. F. Brown at Burleigh Falls.

Rice Lake Resorts Have Busy Holiday

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 4. — (ENS).—The busiest week-end of the tourist season brought huge crowds to this resort over Civic Holiday. Every boarding house and tourist lodge was filled and many cars were unable to locate accommodations. Private homes came to the rescue in several cases.

On Sunday, the lake was dotted with boats and local boat liveries were overrun with requests for boats which they were unable to accommodate.

Saturday afternoon a large picnic on Steamer Stoney Lake from Peterborough spent a few hours here and had picnic suppers in the park.

BLACK SQUIRREL BLITZ

Two carpenters, A. Watkins and H. McWha, want protection and they can't get it. Both were busy this morning shingling the parsonage at Trinty Church when two black squirrels went on the rampage over the trespassing by the hammer swinging men, and chased the two off the roof. That is the men beat a retreat before they toppled off the lofty perch trying to dodge the squirrels. It seems one can't shoot squirrels. At least one can't use a gun in the city, and therefore the roofing is interrupted. Final disposition of the case has not been made, but one thing is certain the squirrels won the first round.—McG.

Canadian Record Established By Local Golfer

Bob Bathgate, member of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, has established what is believed to be a Canadian record. Playing on Civic Holiday with Andy Rutter and Garth Braund, Bathgate made a hole in one at the sixth hole of the Peterborough course, a 165-yard hole with a par of three. Sinking a hole in one is a great occasion in any golfer's life but in the case of the Peterborough man the feat was much more remarkable because of the fact that it was actually the third time he has come through with such an achievement. Four years ago, playing over the Port Hope course, Bob Bathgate made his first hole in one when he drove from the fourth tee and had the thrill of having his ball roll into the can on the fifth green 165 yards away. That, too, was a par three hole. The following year, playing on the Kawartha Golf and Country Club course he negotiated the ninth hole, a 200-yarder in one, again a par three hole. And now he has achieved his third ace, setting a new mark for golfers everywhere to shoot at.

He Stands Alone

Bob Bathgate, former advertising man with the Peterborough Examiner, has set what appears to be a local and perhaps a provincial record. On Monday he nabbed his third hole-in-one. The shot was made at the Peterborough Club. In 1938 he scored his first at the Port Hope course, then repeated at the Kawartha Club in 1939.

Thompsons Win Over Genelco In 11 Innings

With Joe Davis of Toronto C.G.E. on the rubber and a lineup of local City Leaguers all employed at the local C.G.E. plant, a team representing Gelelco gave Thompson's of St. Cathatines a great battle on Saturday before going down to defeat in eleven innings. The Thompson outfit are winners of the St. Catharines Senior City League and have a strong well-balanced club, but the Peterborough team gave them a real run for their money before the St. Kitts outfit pushed over the winning run with two out in the eleventh frame.

In that inning the first St. Catharines man to bat hit a triple. The Peterborough team moved its outfield in close and Davis struck out the next two men. Then, playing percentage, the outfielders went back to their ordinary places and the next hitter dropped a single over second base to win the game.

The Peterborough team had Eddie Starr behind the bat, Davis pitching, Don Crowe at first, Earl McNabb at second, Art Heal at shortstop and George Hawks a third, with an outfield composed of Bill Moorhead in left, Joe Stewart in centre and Holly Mowry in right. The boys report a great trip and a very hospitable reception at St. Catharines.

Marmora Man Hurt When Car Is Ditched

MARMORA, August 4. —(ENS) — Roy Goldenier of this village is a patient in Belleville General Hospital as a result of an accident which occurred on No. 7 Highway about two miles west of Marmora in the early hours of Saturday morning. The car which he was driving rolled over into the ditch rendering him unconscious. He was conveyed by ambulance to Belleville after being attended by Dr. H. Crawford of Marmora. Later in the day he recovered consciousness but his injuries are such as to suggest his being in hospital for some time. Harry Black, passenger in the same car sustained a deep scalp laceration, while Edward Summis also a passenger escaped with minor lacerations. Provincial Constable R. J. Patterson of Madoc and Constable W. D. Lavender of Marora investigated.

Cars Sideswipe At Springville

Crumpled fenders comprised the chief damage when two automobiles sideswiped in passing each other on the Springville Hill late Saturday night.

William Milliken, 255 Burnham street, was driving south on Highway 28 and John Grifori, 2 Beaver avenue, Toronto, was driving north. At the top of Springville Hill, the two vehicles came into contact and both were damaged along the side.

Milliken's car was driven into the ditch as a result of the impact but came out under its own power.

No one was injured in the accident.

JOHN W. WIDMAN.

An employee of the punch press department of the Peterborough Lock Co. for past 25 years, John W. Wildman died last Thursday. He was 72.

He was born in Norwood, a son of the late Joseph Wildman and Elizabeth Kelly, and lived for a while in Lakefield before moving to Peterborough about 29 years ago. His wife, the former Minnie Ann Parker, predeceased him.

Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. F. Wonders of St. Catharines, two sons, Harry and Russell of Peterborough, and one brother, Joseph, of Norwood. The pallbearers were J. J. Cunningham, S. Trotter, P. Butler, W. F. Wonders, Seth Adlam and E Norman.

The late Mr. Wildman was a member of the Chosen Friends, a fraternal order.

The funeral took place on Saturday at two o'clock from the Nisbett Funeral Home, with interment in Little Lake cemetery. Arjutant Norman Buckley conducted the funeral service.

Course In Reading

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 4.—(AP). —'Why, I always go through when I see those signs,' explained an elderly motorist to Sgt. Glen Talbot of the traffic squad who stopped him for running a stop sign. 'That means I'm on the arterial road and have the right to go ahead.' Desperately, Talbot gave his catch a primary course in reading and let him go without a ticket.

Hundreds Mourn At Funeral Of Beloved Priest

Mourning the death of a greatly beloved priest, the diocese of Peterborough paid a last tribute to the memory and the personality of Rev. P. J. Galvin, late pastor of St. Mary's parish Grafton, in his funeral this morning from the Cathedral to St. Peter's Cemetery.

Requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Dean J. B. Ferguson of Warkworth, assisted by Rev. Dean O'Leary of Bracebridge and Rev. Austin Scully of Akron, Ohio, in the presence of a large number of diocesan and other visiting clergy and a congregation that filled the church.

Father Galvin died suddenly at his parish home early last Friday afternoon, victim of a heart seizure. Born in Ennismore township March 16, 1876, he was a graduate of Ottawa College and the Grand Seminary, Montreal. He was ordained by Bishop R. A. O'Connor at St. Martain's Church, Ennismore, December 22, 1903, and for a time was an assistant priest at the Cathedral. His first pastorate was at Galway, succeeded by appointments to the parishes of Norwood and Downeyville and finally at Grafton where he became pastor on February 2, 1904.

With him in his last illness was Rev. Dr. P. J. Kelly of the neighboring parish of Cobourg, close friend and associate through his college and seminary years.

The pall-bearers this morning were Rev. Dr. Kelly, Rev. Dr. Masterson, Rev. C. J. Carroll of Norwood, Rev. J. McGuire, Bracebridge, Rev. J. V. McAuley of Campbellford and Rev. J. J. Garvey of Hastings.

Second to Die

Following within a few months the passing of Rev. Paul Costello of Hastings, the death of Rev. Father Galvin has been a deep shock to associates in the priesthood and the people of those parishes in which his ministry had left the stamp of his piety and zeal and learning.

Very Rev. Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan in his sermon at the conclusion of the requiem mass said that Father Galvin had been an exemplar to other priests. The speaker was evidently deeply affected by the loss of a cherished friend suddenly called from his parish duties. He spoke of the zeal of Father Galvin in his priestly duties, his ability as a teacher in Sunday School, and recalled especially his outstanding characteristic as a student, notably in his life-long study of Holy Scripture. Monsignor O'Sullivan expressed his sympathy to Bishop O'Connor in his loss of a faithful and greatly esteemed priest, and also to the people of St. Mary's parish, Grafton, in the death of their pastor.

The body of Father Galvin was brought from Grafton Monday to the Cathedral where vigil was kept throughout the evening by representatives of the clergy and laity in a final prayerful presence with the remains of a man whose life had been a Christian example to them.

Flat Feet No Obstacle

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 4.—(AP). —Seventeen year old Samuel de Paulo wanted to join two brothers is the armed services, but the navy rejected him because of flat feet. In an apeal to President Roosevelt to tell them to take me,' he said, 'I want to do my part for my country. I'd rather die for it than live and see it beaten.'

He Gets No Gas

When Leon Henderson, ration czar, ran out of gas in Washington, he tried to get some in a can, but was refused by Station Attendant John Leigh on the grounds that the gas has to be delivered into the tank of the car. Mr. Henderson had to call a taxi to take him to his office.

Park St. Bazaar Gives Aid To War Victims

Towards the end of the month of May, three girls held a Bazaar at 247 Park street, residence of Rosamond O'Keefe, one of the girls participating in this event on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, this being the first of this type to be held this season, and at that time they made $6.05.

On Saturday, this same place was the scene of a similar event for the same purpose, and this time Rosamond was joined by Lona Martin, and from this the sum of $8.00 is listed today for the fund as a result of their work. Thus, within the space of two months, Rosamond O'Keefe has been the prime mover of two efforts on behalf of air raid victims in Britain, and seeing that her father, who is a veteran of the last Great War, is also serving in the veterans guard, and a brother who is still only 17 years of age is also serving in the active service forces on the west coast, it would seem natural that the inspiration of their service to the country should extend itself to give her the desire to also be of some help, which with the assistance of the other girls was translated into an accomplishment giving credit to them all. Three personal donations appear in today's list, all of them from previous subscribers, among which, W. A. Taylor of Crawford's Grove is included with $3.00 raised from the sale of flowers from his garden, and who was listed for a like amount from the same source only eight days ago.

Over the holiday the penny box in the N. D. Sidey Store at Bewdley was collected by the secretary of the Fund, and it added another $1.75 for the fund, and another box was left there to continue the good work. In Ontario, the first Monday in August is a public holiday, termed Civic Holiday. This custom in all probability had its roots in emulation of what in England is called August Bank Holiday, which falls on the same day. This is the only national holiday that takes a secular name in England, all others being associated with, and named after Ecclesiastical Feast days such as Christmas, Easter and Whitsuntide.

Of all the national holidays in England, this one is the greatest for the masses of the people who literally in hundreds of thousands make it the annual event for going to the seaside, and this year according to all reports was no exception in spite of war.

This fact of course would not escape our enemies, and here once again, we have another fine example of German so-called culture which seeks to force itself upon us, when innocent civilian life is deliberately attacked at the seaside resorts on the beaches of east and south England, which in all probability will have the opposite effect intended by the attackers, and send those who escaped this murderous form of warfare back to their homes to redouble their efforts that this form of civilization may be banished from the earth for ever. But what of those who were stricken, there can be only one answer, and that is to redouble our efforts also, to help them, and in the practical way which this fund has been able to do by the voluntary givings of the residents of this city and district.

Two Militia Units Return From Camp

Two weeks absent at Connaught Ranges, Peterborough's two military units, the reserve battalion of the Rangers and the 4th Battery, arrived home Sunday night from Ottawa, travelling by C.N.R. on a special train that dispersed groups along the route to Lindsay.

Eight members of the Battery qualified for gun laying during their exercises in camp, a comparatively high average passing this test. One of the highlights in practical work was a day spent with the artillery at Petawawa. Twenty men were selected from each of the six batteries at Connaught Ranges. This composite group spent the day chiefly in observation of the use of anti-tank guns, 25-pounders, 18-pounders, commando work, motor driving and so on.

The Prince of Wales Regiment's visit to Ottawa for the depositing of the colors of the old 2nd Battalion C.E.F. in the last war on Capital Hill was another feature of the two weeks under canvas.

One of the men reported that some mild illness occurred in the beginning but it was promptly checked. Personnel of both local units came home tanned from the outdoor experience and with new confidence in themselves.

A Wild Charge

Wild-eyed as a charging rhino, Robert "Bobby" Goelet, socialite drummer of a New York jazz band, is shown rushing at the cameraman who made this swell picture. Lest you feel alarmed for the safety of the cameraman, be assured that he is as good as new.

Muskie Biting At Stoco Lake

TWEED, Aug. 4.—(ENS). — Stoco Lake has been yielding a number of muskies this week. Mr. Ernest Heideman of Montreal, who as been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. Borden Rollins of Lakeview cottage, took out a twelve pounder. Mr. Heideman was fishing with his wife near Grant's Island, when he caught the muskie while casting. He has been a visitor here annually for some years, but this was his first muskie in some time.

Lorne Bradley, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Bradley of Navan, got a thrill of his young life the other evening when he captured a muskie which tipped the scales at almost twelve pounds. He was fishing with his uncle, Mr. S. B. McGee, and was casting into the weeds near the front of the cottage on Sugar Island when the fish struck. Although Lorne is only twelve, he is a veteran angler and had no trouble in landing the muskie.

Holiday Traffic Is Very Heavy

Civic Holiday traffic on the railways and highway reached volume peaks for the year.

Bruce Scott of the day staff at the C.P.R. station said Saturday's business incoming and outgoing was the biggest day in his eight years in Peterborough. Much the same repor. comes from the C.N.R.

Motorists who had saved up gasoline for a holiday outing were far more numerous than at any other week-end this year, and those coming home from Toronto last night estimated that the lake front traffic seemed as heavy as any they had ever snailed through.

Westerners Hold Picnic On Civic Holiday

The first picnic to be held in Peterborough by residents of this city who have all come from the Western provinces was a great success, with 117 people in attendance. It proved to be so successful that it has been decided to hold another one at the same time next year. The guests registered when they came and were given tickets of different colors, representing the different provinces, with their names, and thus acquaintances were quickly made.

The picnic started about 3 o'clock and ended about dusk. Games were played and races run off and then a basket lunch was served. The committee in charge this year included Mrs. Lorne Scott, Mrs. A. T. Andrew and Mrs. Wes. Magee, and they are to be congratulated on such a fine carrying out of their plans.

A new committee was formed to handle the details of the picnic next year and to take care of ensuing activities throughout the same time. The ladies are planning that in the Fall they will get together and do war work and that perhaps during the winter all the Westerners will take part in some sort of a sports program. The 1943 committee is as follows. The officers: President, Mrs. Lorne Scott; Secretary, Mrs. A. T.; Andrews, Treasure-, Mrs. H. S. Powers. The other members are Mrs. Wes. Magee, Mr Vic Brown, Mr. Earl McNab, and Mr. B. H. Sisson.

In a peppy ball game played between the representatives of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, Saskatchewan came out on top. Then came the races.

Ladies' Stocking Shades Been Greatly Reduced

The ladies of this city are responding well to the restrictions that have to be placed on silk stockings because of the war and most of them accept the limited stock with no complaints merchants announced today.

The amount that a store can have is proportioned on a percentage of what it sold in the same month last year. Delays often occur and most of the stores have more than once found themselves pretty low in stock before the next shipment arrived.

All the hosiery companies are still in operation but their lines have been reduced. Besides the shades of white and black, the wide number of shades that existed before the war have been reduced to about four standard ones. Real silk stocking are practically unobtainable and the common types now being sold are service weight, light service weight, chiffon and sheer chiffon. There is also a fairly good supply of lisle stockings, but the lisle mesh hose are a little harder to obtain. The reason given is that the real cotton thread in the lisle has to be imported from Egypt.

During the summer months the greatest demand is for chiffon hose. Prices are the same as before, but whereas formerly a pair of real silk stockings could be had for 89 cents, now only a rayon pair can be obtained. All the stockings sold are of Canadian manufacture.

Another new ruling that is perhaps not as familiar to shoppers as it should be is that no exchanges are permitted after six days, and only then if the goods be found defective in material or workmanship. There is absolutely no refund if the goods have been worn. In the past, dealers say that there was a tremendous exchange made and this ruling is doing away with most of that, except in really deserving cases.

Naval Touch to Wedding At All Saints' Church

The chancel of All Saints' Anglican Church was prettily decorated on Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Alberta Alice Ellis, daughter of Mr and Mrs. A. E. Ellis, to Ordinary Seaman Louis J. Jackson, R.C.N.V.R., son of Sgt. and Mrs. L. J. Jackson. The Rev. Mr. Spence solemnized the marriage, and organ music was played by Mrs. E. W. Glover.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a stately gown of heavenly blue lace with full skirt and sheer insets. She chose a picture hat in matching blue tone, and white accessories, and wore a corsage of red Better-Time roses. Miss Irene Ellis, sister of the bride, attended as bridesmaid, and she wore a flowered silk jersey frock with matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow Better-Time roses.

Edgar Jackson, a brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Alex. Ellis and Wesley Ellis, brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of Queen's blue sheer. The mother of the groom also received the guests, and was gowned in a frock of flowered silk. Both wore corsages of sweet peas. Later the young couple left on a honeymoon trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls, and for travelling the bride chose a smart brown and white silk jersey dress and white accessories.

Mary McKerchar Is Wed In Lakefield Church

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 3—(ENS).— Gladioli and hydrangea formed the picturesque setting in Regent Street United Church, when Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McKerchar, became the bride of Wilfrid Elsdell Lee, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lee of Peterborough.

The Rev. George Kelly officiated for the ceremony. Mrs. Mildred Hubbell was at the organ. During the signing of the register, Miss Cora Charlton sang very sweetly "Still as the Night."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of white triple sheer, street length, long torso with full gathered skirt. Her hat was of white straw, with flowers and a shoulder length veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses.

Miss Mary Goodhand, of Ingersoll, college chum of the bride, was her only attendants. She wore a dusty pink frock, long torso with draped front and gathered skirt. Her hat was of white straw and pink and blue flowers. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

Arnold Campbell was the best man. Jack Lee of Peterborough and Walter Brown of Toronto were the ushers.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. McKerchar receiving in a gown of gold and white print with a gold jacket. Her hat was of brown straw with a crown of yellow daisies. Her corsage as of gladiola. The groom's mother assisted in a gown of midnight blue and a hat of white straw. Her corsage was of gladiola also.

Following the reception the bride and groom left for a trip to the Kawartha Lakes. For travelling the bride chose a British tan printed silk dress and an apple green wool redingote with beret to match. They will reside in Peterborough.

Casualty List Includes H. Kong Names

OTTAWA, August 4 (CP)—The names of nineteen Canadian prisoners of war at Hong Kong— two of them listed as wounded —were announced today by the Canadian (Active) Army in its 121st overseas casualty list of the war.

The prisoners included twelve members of the Quebec Royal Rifles, four of the Winnipeg Grenadiers, two nursing sisters of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps and one man listed under "force headquarers."

The names were understood to have been supplied by persons reaching Portuguese East Africa last week aboard a diplomatic exchange ship.

After Hong Kong fell Christmas Day the Japanese announced the capture of 1,689 Canadian troops. On that basis, 296 of the original 1,985 officers and men who reached the Crown colony were presumed to be missing or killed in action. A few are known to have died in costody since the surrender.)

None of the soldiers from the Peterborough district were included in the brief list.

Armed Forces Miss Tea-Coffee Rationing

OTTAWA, Aug. 4. — (CP).—Members of the armed forces livnig in barracks are among the few Canadians who don't have to worry about tea and coffee rationing.

If soldiers, sailors and airmen receive subsistence allowance and live in their own quarters they must have rationng cards, the same as the average civilian, but Wartime Prices and Trade Board spokesmen said to-day those living in barracks do not need ration cards. Official purchases of supplies for the armed forces are not rationed.

This is an extension to coupon rationing of tea and coffee of the arrangements which have been in effect for sugar since July 1.

Use Wooden Pipe

BALTIMORE, Aug. 4.—(AP). —War priorities are forcing Baltimore to revert to use of wooden pipe, virtually a museum piece in recent decades. City Engineer George Cobb to-day said octagonal wooden pipes, constructed of small pieces of lumber joined together, would be used in new water system projects They will be fastened together with wooden dowels.

Raiders Flatten Jap Base To Aid Chinese

CHUNGKING, August 4. —(AP)—United States Air Raiders dropped a 550-pound bomb squarely on a Japanese headquarters in the Kiangsi Province centre of Linchuan yesterday. Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

The communique said American fighter pilots also had machine-gunned two Japanese transports on the Fu river.

Both demolition and incendiary bombs were used by the bombers.

The waterfront also was blasted and direct hits on two docks left several large fires burning, the communique said.

As the fighter-escorted American bombers made their run over the enemy base, returning pilots reported they saw Chinese ground forces attacking the invaders.

Quarter-ton bombs struck Japanese baccacks and 12 hits were counted on Japanese positions, the war bulletin reported. One of these was the direct hit on the headquarters.

An army spokesman said Chinese troops have encircled Linchuan and reached the city's west and south gates. These forces were handicapped by lack of heavy equipment. for an assault on the town and the spokesman said yesterday's air raid was of great aid to them.

In North China, the spokesman said the Japanese were seizing wheat and other crops, kidnapping women and holding them for ransom of a specific number of bushels a head.

OBITUARIES

JAMES BRADY.

MARMORA, August 4.— (ENS) — A well-known and highly respected resident of Marmora passed away at his home on Friday evening in the person of Mr. James Brady. Deceased who was in his seventy-eight year was born in Marmora Township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Brady and had resided all his life in this district. Working as a carpenter, many years of his life was spent in the employ of the Deloro Smelting and Reining Company Limited. He retired about three years ago. He was of a very industrious nature and his friendly disposition made him popular with his fellow workers and all those whom he came in contact with. He was a devout member of Sacred Heart Church and an active member of the Holy Name Society. He is survived by his widow, formerly Rose Ann Auger, four sons ond one daughter, Eugene, Marmora; John Sudbury; Charles and Mary at home and Hugh, Marmora.

S.; Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Frank Dorie, Havelock, Mrs. Harry Ketchem, Toronto; and one son, Joseph Peterborough. Also one sister Mrs. Scotney Harrison and four brothers, Bruce of Marmora, and James Thomas and Robert in the West.

The funeral was held on Monday morning at 9 a.m. from Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, with Rev. Father C. J. Carroll oficiating. Pall bearers were Messrs Joseph McNeely Arthur Crook Philip Fitzpatrick, Joseph Quinlan, Melville Dafoe and Carl Nixon.

Another Bishop Takes To The Skies

A great moment in the life of Air Marshal W. A. (Billy) Bishop occurred when he pinned the wings of a fighting R.C.A.F. pilot on his son, Leading Aircraftman Arthur Bishop. Canada's greatest ace of the Great War is shown in the photograph as he pinned the wings to L.A.C. Bishop's tunic. Billy Bishop is credited in official war records with destruction of 72 enemy aircraft, 25 of which he shot down within 10 days in 1918.

Highways Jammed And Resorts Crowded As Ontario Marks Biggest Holiday Of Year

By The Canadian Press

Ontario holiday-makers thronged the highways beaches and resorts throughout the province during the Civic holiday week-end in numbers unofficially estimated as almost equalling last year's crowds when gasoline rationing was not in force. Traffic policemen, lifeguards and restaurateurs reported their duties extended to the limit by motorists, bathers and hungry customers.

London and Goderich officials reported trains, buses and highways jammed as thousands of Western Ontario travellers returned from holiday tours of nearby beaches. Many Goderich restaurant owners were forced to shorten their opening hours when numbers of customers and the labor shortage became too much for them.

Hamilton transportation officials said holiday crowds broke all records on the public services, with fares within a radius of 50 miles of the city predominating.

Kingston police reported traffic at least as heavy as in former years. Hotels, cabins and tourist homes were filled and one restaurant keeper had to call police to clear some of his hungrier customers out to make room for waiters trying to make their way to tables. Other restaurants locked their doors every few minutes to control the traffic in nd out. Some gasoline stations sold out early in the day.

Pacific Guerillas Given Sten Guns

VANCOUVER, Aug. 4:—(CP). —Guns of standard sizes seized from enemy aliens as well as new weapons are being made available to the Pacific Coast Militia Rangers, guerrilla scouts and fighters organized among the men who know intimately British Columbia's difficult terrain, Lieutenant-Colonel T. A. H. Taylor said in an interview here yesterday. Colonel Taylor, who organized the Rangers, said the new Sten sub-machine guns are being distributed, and it is hoped eventually the entire force will be equipped with these weapons, probably at a ratio of two for every five men.

A GOOD HEALTHY CHEER.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 4.—(AP3. —The will of A. C. Forrester, Portland santary engineer, who died last month, was admitted to probate yesterday. It included his bequest: 'I give and bequeath unto the so-called sanitary engineering profession or professors a good healthy Bronx cheer.'

Judge Acquits Chaloult On Defense Charge

MONTREAL, Aug. 4 — (CP). — Rene Chaloult, Liberal member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Ltobiniere, Monday, was acquitted on charges laid under Defence of Canada Regulations as the result of a speech he made at a public meeting here May 19.

Judge Edouard Archambault said in his judgment that he "unhesitatingly condemned" the speech, but that a section of the regulations provided that good faith could be cited as ground for dismissal of an action, and that good faith had been proved in this case.

The judgment added that "this should not be considered as giving carte-blanche to subversive utterances and to speeches and impromptu talks tending to cause trouble in the country."

Mr. Chaloult had been charged with having uttered statements in a public address before several thousand persons tending to "cause disaffection to His Majesty; hinder the success of His Majesty's armies as well as those of the Allied nations; hinder recruiting and training and discipline of His Majesty's armies and tending to impair the security of the State and the successful prosecution of the war."

Judge Archambault said that it would "seem bold to the court" to consider the speech "otherwise than as a deplorable incident . . . . a simple error in judgment."

"Without doubt, all citizens are equal before the law," he said, "but we ready understand that a member of the Legislative Assembly, used for sever years to the privilege of Pariamentary immunity, may be more outspoken than others —even outside Parliament."

The judge said that another factor in his decision was evidence submitted during the hearing that Mr. Chaloult had, during his speech, warned those listening to him against misinterpretation of his words whenever they might be interpreted as harmful to the public interest.

Judge Archambault summed up his twenty-minute review of the case by saying: "The court must condemn the speech made by the accused; but in view of Article 39b of the regulations allowing a defence of good faith ;and the accused's claim to have spoken in good faith, the accused is acquitted of the charge."

Under the auspices of La Ligue pour la Defense du Canada, a banquet will be given here August 13 in honor of Mr. Chaloult.

Ceiling For Bootleggers

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 4.—(AP). — Bootleggers are bumping into liquor price ceiling difficulties in dry Oklahoma. Rex. Hayes, State price administrator, said to-day bootleggers must post ceiling prices in their establishments, and must not peddle their wares at prices higher than those prevailing in March. 'We're not checking the liquor business for violations right now,' Hayes added, 'but bootleggers who insist on raising prices are subjecting themselves to both price and anti-liquor penalties.'

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

MOTHER URGES DAUGHTER TO STOP BEARING CHILDREN

Motherhood Calls for More Intelligence and Courage han Do Other Career.

Dear Miss Dix.—I am a young married woman and the mother of a dear little baby. I would be perfectly happy if it were not for the teachings of my mother that keep me mentally upset. My mother is an artist and lives upon such a high spiritual plane that things that are not of an artistic type irritate and bore her. She is dreadfully disappoined and hurt because I chose to "just get married" instead of following some ambitious career.

She has taught me that it is a crime to bring a child into the world to suffer, and begs me not to be responsible for another life. But I cannot see that it is wrong to want to be a mother when my aim is for the children's welfare. My mother is lovely and I want to respect and obey her, but as a woman I desire to think the right thoughts and do the right deeds. Can you relieve me of any doubt on the subject?—Margaret.

Answer.—Your mother is entirely wrong in her point of view and you are right. The greatest career that any woman can follow, the one in which she can most fully express herself and in which her achievement can be of most value to the world, is that of wife and mother. It is the career for which Nature intended her, and it is the one in which she is most successful and reaps the greatest reward in happiness.

Also, it is the career that calls for more intelligence, more talent, more tact and diplomacy, more courage and grit, a higher morale than any other. For the wife and mother must be a Pooh Bah who is master of all professions and arts and craft. She must be a lawyer and a doctor, a preacher and a disciplinarian, a cook and a teacher, a seamstress and a commissary general, and Heaven knows what else, in order to pull off an even average job of wife and mother.

So when your mother voices her disappointment in you because you did nothing but get married, point her to your achievements. Ask her if any artist, even Raphael himself, ever painted a cherub as beautiful as your baby. Ask whether it is better to write a jazz tune, or make life a glad, sweet song for a husband and children.

Who Is The More Successful?

Ask her whether a woman is more successful as a lawyer, or as the mother of a MacArthur. Ask her whether it is better to be a film star with a dozen divorces, or the adored wife of one husband. Ask her whether the woman achieves most who writes a novel about an imaginary home, or the one who makes a real home that is a place of peace and rest and a benediction to all who cross its threshold.

Ask her what woman does as much for her country or for humanity as the woman who rears a afimly of fine sons and daughters and sends them forth into the world to do its work worthily. Ask her what women's influence is so great as that of the mother who has impressed her ideals upon her children so that they will transmit them to their children and send them down for uncounted generations.

Of course, every child that is born must suffer. It must know sickness and struggle and hardships and disappointments, but it is wrong to think of these as bringing us only misery. Out of them comes strength and the glory of achievement and wisdom and real manhood and womanhood. Furthermore, there is the joy of the battle that outweighs all the pleasures of peace. Only the flabby-souled would always want to be wrapped in luxury and softness and ease.

A Dishonorable Plan

Dear Dorothy Dix.—I am at the cross-roads of life and do not know which way to turn. Will you direct me? I am 17 and deeply in love with a young man of 21 who also loves me; but he is poor and will not be able to marry for many years. On the other hand, there is an elderly man of 70 who is wealthy and wants to marry me.

Don't you think that it would be better for me to feather my nest by marrying the old man who cannot live forever and then marry the young man later on? My young lover says that he will wait for me, and as the old man is a great church-goer I could see my boy friend often. What do you think?—Agnes H.

Answer.—I never heard of a more dishonorable project, and I think that if you carry it through you will be as unhappy as you deserve to be. Believe me, no marriage which is staked with the money that you get in that way will ever turn out well. There will be a curse upon it.

Let me advise you not to marry a man of 70 for his money in the hope that he will soon die. He isn't old enough. To 17, 70 seems the extreme limit of age, but it isn't in these days of the prolongation of life, and the chances are that your septugenarian will live on for ten or twenty years. I have seen many a girl marry an old man for his money and then have to nurse him and sit b ythe fire with him until she was old and broken herself. So, believe me, it doesn't pay.

Don't sell your youth. Don't sell your love and romance for money. There is nothing but misery for both parties in the marriage of an old man to a young girl. You are too young to marry, anyway, so wait until your sweetheart can make enough money to afford a wife; then marry him.

She Takes The Cake

Dear Dorothy Dix.—My father and mother died when I was three years old; and since then my sister and I have been living with an uncle and aunt. I am now 18 and through high school. My uncle and aunt had six children of their own. Some of them went through high school, but none to college. I want to go to college, but my uncle says that he can't afford to send me. He is a poor man, works hard and is 55 years old, but don't you think he ought to raise the money somehow to send me to college?—Grace.

Answer.—Well, for nerve and ingratitude you certainly take the cake, Grace. You show no appreciation of all that your generous uncle and aunt have done for you, and coolly demand that they give you advantages which they have not even given their own children. And, more than that, you are willing to run them into debt to gratify your desire to go to college. You should be ashamed of yourself.

I certainly don't think your uncle should send you to college. If you pine for the higher education, go to work and earn the money for it. Hundreds of girls better than you are working their way through college.

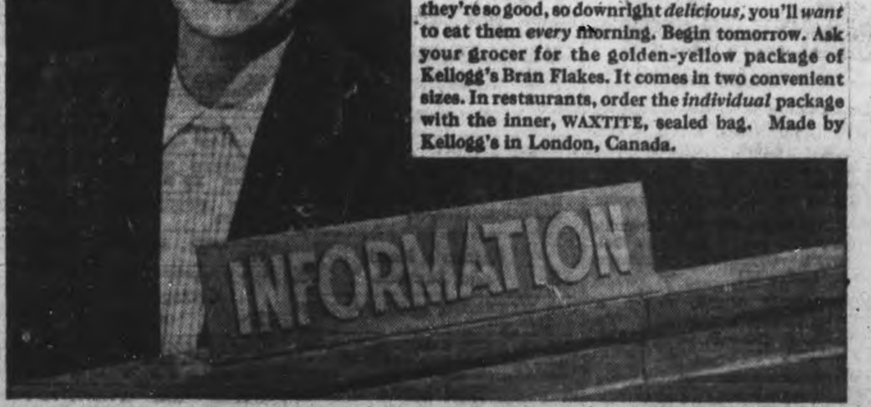
Is YOURS a "no-exercise" job?

THAT dull, tired, gloomy feeling is often only a symptom of incomplete elimination. If it spoils your work—and your fun, take these two steps to health: (1) To get well, see your doctor; (2) To keep well, watch your habits. Make sure you keep the food wastes moving promptly. But no harsh cathartics! Instead, get plenty of needed "bulk" in your diet. Do as thousands of others are doing. Start every morning with a crisp, mellow-flavoured bowl of Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat. Gently laxative, Kellogg's Bran Flakes supply valuable minerals and proteins too. And they're so good, so downright delicious, you'll want to eat them every morning. Begin tomorrow. Ask your grocer for the golden-yellow package of Kellogg's Bran Flakes. It comes in two convenient sizes. In restaurants, order the individual package with the inner, WAXTITE, sealed bag. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.



"SITTING ALL DAY answering questions may not look like work, but I'm tired every night. I have to be courteous, so I can't afford headachy, short-tempered days. Here's my answer. I keep fit, but no nasty doses. Instead, I make sure of getting 'bulk' in my diet by eating a heaping bowl of crisp Kellogg's Bran Flakes every day in the year!"

"DRIVING A TRUCK is no real exercise, yet I keep fit." Outdoor workers, too, need "bulk" in their diets to keep food wastes moving promptly. Kellogg's Bran Flakes supply this "bulk" in a form so delicious you'll want to eat it every day.

Resting at the Myers-Elliott Funeral Home, 715 Dovercourt Road (just south of Bloor), until Tuesday evening. Funeral service will be on the arrival of the C.P.R. noon train Wednesday. Interment, Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough.

IN MEMORIAM

SEABROOK, Mrs. Barry.—In loving remembrance of death Keitha who was called home one year ago today, August 4, 1941.

Take her in thine arms, dear Lord,
And ever let her be
A messenger of love
Between our hearts and thee.
—lovingly remembered by Mother, Sister, and Brothers.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. Theodore Crawford of Lakefield wishes to thank the nurses and staff of Nicholls Hospital, and the many friends who were so kind to her during her recent illness.

TESTED RECIPES . . .

By MARY MOORE

FRESH APRICOT JAM

2 pounds (4 cups) apricots (peeled and pitted).
3 tablespoons lemon juice.
2 cups sugar.
1 cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup.

Method.—Wash fruit, select all that is firm and sound. Dip in boiling water one half to one minute, then plunge into cold water for a few seconds; remove skins, halve and discard pits. Chop fruit fine, or crush; place in large saucepan. Add lemon juice, sugar and Crown Brand corn syrup, mix well, and let stand 3 hours. Bring slowly to a boil, stirring frequently, then boil, stirring almost constantly, until fruit is clear and jam is thick (20 to 25 minutes). Remove from fire, let stand a few moments while stirring and skimming; then pour into hot, sterilized jars. Seal, cool and label. Store in a dark, dry, cool place. Yield.—Approximately 2½ pints. Note.—2 lbs. fresh apricots, peeled and pitted, is about 2½ pounds of apricots as purchased.

BLACK CURRANT JELLY

2 qts. (2 lbs.) black currants (prepared).
1 cup water
2 cups juice from overnight extraction.
1 1/3 cups sugar
2/3 cup Crown Brand corn syrup.

Method.—To prepare currants, remove tips and tails, reject unsound fruit, and wash gently in a colander. Weigh or measure and place in large flat-bottomed saucepan with water, crushing fruit with a potato masher. Bring to a boil, and boil for 8 to 10 minutes, or until juice is flowing freely. Drain overnight in a moistened jelly-bag or double cheesecloth. (Next morning you may, if desired, squeeze the bag to obtain more juice, then clarify juice by re-straining through a fresh jelly bag, wrung from hot water.) Measure the juice and add the sugar and Crown Brand corn syrup. Heat all together, and bring quickly to boiling point, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly until jelly stage is reach (when 2 drops "sheet" together and drop reluctantly from the side of a large spoon)—about 8 to 8 minutes. Allow hot syrup to stand in kettle while arraning hot, sterilized glasses on a tray. Remove hot syrup to stand in kettle while arranging hot, sterilized glasses on a tray. Seal, and let stand without disturbing until set. Label and store in a dark, dry, cool place. Yield.—Approximately 1 to 1¼ points.

Note.—If it is desired to make Black Currant Jelly using a smaller or greatly quantity of currants, these are good rules to follow: 1. boiling the fruit add ½ cup water to 1 quart of currants. 2. When combining the juice, sugar and corn syrup, use two-thirds cup of sugar and 1/3 cup corn syrup to each cup of fruit juice.

PEACH CONSERVE

2 lbs. (5 cups) peaches (peeled stoned and cubed)
2 tablespoon lemon juice.
1 medium orange (thinly sliced)
2 cups sugar
1 cup Crown Brand corn syrup
¼ cup drained, quartered Maraschino cherries (optional).

Method.—Pick over fruit and select that which is sound and not over-ripe. Dip into boiling water for 1 to 2 minutes, then plunge into cold water for a few seconds. Remove skins, halve, remove pit, and cut peaches in cubes. Weight or measure. Have lemon juice in bottom of saucepan and add cubed peaches as they are prepared. Add the orange (skip left on), which has been sliced thinly and cut in pieces. Add sugar, and bring all quickly to a boil, stirring very often. Boil until mixture has almost reached the jellying stage (20 to 25 minutes); then pour in the Crown Brand corn syrup, stirring constantly. Bring mixture to a boil and boil 3 to 5 minutes longer, or until mixture is thick and give jellying test—(2 drops coming together and hanging in a thick sheet from side of spoon). Stir in the drained and quartered maraschino cherries; remove pan from stove and stir and skim mixture for 2 to 3 minutes. Pour into hot, sterilized jars; seal, cool, label and store in a dark, dry, cool place. Yield—Approximately 2¼ pints.

CANNED PEACHES

6 pounds peaches (unprepared)
2 cups sugar
1 1/3 cups Crown Brand corn syrup cups water

Method.—Pick over peaches, rejecting unsound portions. Scald in boiling water 2 to 3 minutes; dip in cold water; peel; remove pit and halve carefully. (Dip once more into cold salted water—1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart water—to prevent discoloration). Pack peach halves into tested, scalded sealers and cover to within one-half inch of the jar with the hot syrup made from the sugar, Crown Brand corn syrup and water which have been combined and boiled 5 minutes. Wipe rims of sealers, and adjust sterlized rubber ring and top. Partially seal—(if a screw-top jar, screw metal cap tight, then loosen one-fourth of the turn; if a clamp-top jar adjust top clamp only)—and sterilize for 20 minutes in a boiling water bath. This may be any large kettle or even a wash-boiler, so long as it has a tightly fitting cover and a rack on the bottom upon which to place the jars, and is deep enough to allow the water to cover the jars one to two inches. Allow circulation of water also between the jars; they should be placed well apart on the rack. Count time of sterilization from the moment the water begins to boil actively—not before. Remove after 20 minutes' boiling, invert for 3 to 5 minutes to retest for leakage. Place upright, cool, label and seal. Store in a dark, dry, cool place.

Yield.—6 to 7 pint sealers (well packed).

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, August 5.

This may be a day of excellent opportunity for launching out in strange, new and important ventures, and there should be much encouragement for originality, ingenuity and unusual skill, all of which would prove of surprising fortune and enhance position and personal prestige. But such fair fortune may be beset by dangers of rash impetuous and ill-considered moves or methods, to defeat and nullify best results. Co-operation may come from large organizations and influential personages if impulse to reckless behavior is suppressed.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of splendid opportunity for launching out in new directions or inaugurating innovations of a highly original and constructive quality. This initiative and outstanding skill promise sufficient if not spectacular good fortune, but the entire acomplishment is subject to frustration and reversals by an indulgence in irascible, impetuous, or rash conduct or ill-developed methods or techniques.

A child born on this day should be endowed with much creative ability and mentality for original thinking and artistic skills but may be prone to rash, impetuous and erratic conduct.

Campbellford Flier Wins Rug Overseas

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 4. — (ENS).—The tables were turned on Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Lloyd of Seymour East last week when their received a parcel from their son Lac. Don Loyd with the R.C.A.F. overseas. Don, who is at present stationed somewhere in Scotland, held a lucky ticket on a raffle and won a beautiful hand hooked rug as the prize. He wrote to his parents explaining that he had little use for the rug at the present time and was therefore sending it over to them. The rug measured about 4½ by 2½ feet and came securely wrapped in an Australian floor sack. Aircraftsman Lloyd went overseas last April.

Tray Decorated From Many Patterns

Easy to Stencil and Paint

New trays for old! Pretty trays for plain!

With patterns, you can easily paint lovely floral designs on ordinary tin trays, boxes or whatnot.

For a gleaming black tray with gold and silver flowers on it, first apply a coat of flat paint and then enamel.

To apply your design, you may first trace each flower-and-leaf pattern on brown paper and cut a stencil of it.

For the large centre flower, trace just its outline and cut that out. Then cut another stencil of just the parts you'll paint silver.

Shellac one side of each brown paper stencil, let it dry, and shellac the other side. Then, using a pounce—a ball of cotton wrapped in muslin—apply the gold enamel to the tray through your first stencil. When it's dry, apply the silver through the second stencil.

Our set, "Floral Patterns for Decorating," has actual-size patterns for the large and small floral designs. Includes instructions for tracing, stencilling and painting; detailed directions for different color schemes. Also tells how to make a plywood tray.

For your set "Floral Patterns for Decorating," send 15 cents in coins or stamps to The Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of set.

SMALL MARGINS PILE UP

YOU CAN'T expect to outclass your opponents, unless you play with opponents so much weaker than yourself that you are bound to win almost regardless of what you do. The player who wins in the long run is ordinarily the one who scores just a little better than they on the close margin propositions, or who makes a slightly higher percentage than they of the big ones. Such things as deciding when a penalty double will pay a little better dividends than making a contract of your own, and when it will not, can mean the difference between being fundamentally a winner or fundamentally a loser.

A kibitzer watching South commented that he could easily have bid 3-No Trumps after North's business double of West, and that he might even have invited a slam. One who was watching North whispered to him that he could just as well have bid 1-No Trump' himself, instead of doubling, and that if he had he would have played the deal at either 3-No Trumps or a slam, or perhaps just shy of a slam after an invitation.

Study of the cards shows that a slam could not have been made by any normal line of play, with prospective losers in clubs and both majors. Hence playing against West's doubled 1-Spade had to produce a set of only four tricks to be a bit more profitable than anything North and South could make at any contract of their own. It did that.

The heart 9 went to the A, club 5 was won by the J, the A laid down, diamond 2 used to put South in so he could lead the club Q, a ruff with the spade 2 killing the club K. The heart 5 to the J then gave West his first trick with the K. He returned the spade 3 to the 4 and 6. The diamond J won a finesse, the K scored, and the heart 2 to the Q enabled West to get his second trick with a ruff by the spade 5. He sent back the spade 8 to the K, the A won, and West got his third trick by ruffing the club 10 with his spade Q. Down 4, he gave his opponents 700 points, more than a vulnerable game by them would have been worth.

Two-Payment Tax Plan Working Very Successfully In Belmont

HAVELOCK, August 4—(ENS).—At the regular meeting of the Belmont and Methuen Council, which was held on Saturday, it was most encouraging to learn from the tax-collector, Robert Marshal, that over $6,000 had been collected by July 20, the date upon which the first payment was due. When the two-payment system was introduced at the first of the year, many ratepayers thought the system would not work, but the results have been most gratifing.

Reeve Isaac Anderson presided, and Councillors Purdy, McNeely, Steenburg, and Newton were present.

It was moved by Councillors Newton and Purdy that the road superintendent be authorized to spend $75 on road from Ellis Corner's to Highway No. 7. On motion by Councillors McNeely and Purdy E½ 29, Con 4, Methuen, 100 acres and E½, Lot 30, Con. 4 Methuen, were removed from assessment of Bernard Steenbuurg, and E½, Lot 31, Con. 3, was assessed to Bernard Steenburg at a valuation of $50 on rolls of 1941-42; and an abatement of one dog on taxes of Thomas Steenburg was granted to Robert Marshal.

On motion by Councillors Purdy and Newton, Council adjourned to meet September 5, or at the call of the Reeve.

The following accounts, No. 8, were ordered paid on motion of Councillors Purdy and McNeely: George Brown, sheep, $10; Edward Fennell, deed, $6; Robert Marshal, dog tax refund, $4· Mr. Harry Mann, dog tax refund, $2; Voucher No. 7, roads, $208.37; Rae Williams, relief, $23; Robert Marshal, on 1942 salary, $50.

The Germans are striving to fly fuel and ammunition to the trapped units, but the Red air force is fighting off the supply plane, Izvestia said.

One scout unit cut in several places the main road over which the Germans were moving munitions and reserves, Red Star said.

In the Kushchevka fighting zone, the Germans were reported encountering increased resistance and the communique told how the enemy 'several times attempted unsuccessfully to force crossings over a river.'

Making Desperate Stand

It was there in the Western Caucasus, about 50 miles south of Rostov, hat the Russians were reported making a desperate stand to halt the German drive toward the oil tanks of Maikop in the foothills of the Caucasus Mountains.

Kuschevka is some 80 miles west of Salsk, where the Soviet troops moved back to new positions.

The Cossacks had been pictured as offering furious resistance to the Germans in the Salsk area. But Red Star disclosed that the defenders were in difficulty with the somewhat negative statement that they were "succeeding in some places to hold the enemy."

The Cossacks were even engaging German tank units and fighting not only from horseback but also in the Trenches. Riding in battle with sabres and automatic rifles, they were credited with turning back an advance by two regiments of enemy infantry covered by 30 tanks.

At another point, Rumanian cavalry was sent against the Cossacks, who shouted "Ne shagu nazad" (not a step backward) as they galloped into battle and halted the invaders, it was reported.

Heroic Defence

From all sectors of the battle front in the North Caucasus, the Russian story was one of unflagging, heroic defence against a shifty German drive backed up with impressive tank and air strength and a seemingly inexhaustible stream of reserves.

The Russians did not deny their inability to stop the Germans from crossing the Don at their Tsimlyansk bridgeheads, 120 miles upstream from Rostov. But the midnight communique told of a bitter struggle south of the river into which the Nazis threw dozens of tanks. It said 650 German officers and men paid with their lives on the battlefield.

Presumably the Germans were attempting to drive eastword there and separate the Russian forces in the North Caucasus.

The critical fighting in the Kushevka sector was taking place only 138 miles north of the Maikop oil fields.

These fields provide only about seven per cent of Russian oil. They lie north of the mountain chain separating the North Caucasus from the trans-Caucasion fields which provide most of Russia's oil.

NOW'S THE TIME TO BUY YOUR COAL!

"Fill that coal bin now!" says the government

"Get all the winter coal you're going to need—and get it NOW," is the urgent request of the government. Protect your family from the serious consequences of the possible shortage next winter!

There is a simple way to buy all the coal you need—to buy for cash and take advantage of low coal cash prices. A special plan now lets you have all the cash you need and repay the cost in small monthly instalments at a very small net charge per ton. For instance, a $100 loan can be repaid for as little as $7.78 per month.

You get four other important advantages by taking prompt advantage of this new plan. 1. Complete privacy in making all arrangements. 2. No co-signers or endorsers required. 3. 15 full months in which to repay. 4. No guarantee of your loan by your coal dealer or any outside source. And the first payment will not be due for thirty days.

Learn all about this budget plan for coal users. Phone or visit Household Finance Corporation of Canada, 177 Charlotte Street, Peterborough. Phone 5841.

Estimates for the Departments of Finance Secretary of State, Insurance, Labor, Pensions and Health, Internal Affairs and Transport as well as those for other branches of Government service such as printing Archives, the Governor General's Office, the Prime Minister's Office and the Privy Council Officer were approved in a sitting which lasted from 11 a.m. to after 10 p.m. with two one-hour breaks for luncheon and dinner.

Senate Sat Waiting.

The Senate waited to give final approval to the money bills containing the estimates while the House debated the Alberta Natural Resources Bill which would give the Province of Alberta full authority over oil leases. The leases were the property of the Dominion before the natural resources of the Province were transferred to the Provincial Government.

The measure ran into opposition from A. H. Bence(Con. Saskatoon City) and Manley Edwards (Lib. Calgary West), who argued it constitued a breach of faith with the lessees of oil lands who obtained their rights from Dominion Government prior to the transfer of the resources. They said the Provnicial Government would be enabled to increase Royalties and otherwise vary to terms of the leases. Resources Minister Crerar withdrew the bill.

Attendance on the last day was slim. Rarely were there more than 35 members in the House at one time as many had left already for their homes.

As in other war sessions the House is simply adjourned, not prorogued. While the time fixed for reassembly is January 27 it may be called earlier by the speaker should war conditions or any other developments require a meeting.

In each of the past two years the House has met in November for two or three weeks and then adjourned until early in the following year.

In this photo General Stilwell is at the head of the column that marched through jungles, over mountains and rivers, malaria swamps, beset by fever, reptiles and the ever-present threat of Japanese bombers. When the full story of that terrible march is written it will be one of the most thrilling stories of the war in the east.

porary ration card issued July 1 when coupon rationing of sugar went into effect. The sugar ration tickets, numbered 1 to 5, are at the bottom of the card.

"After Sept. 8, the board said, there will be permanent coupon ration books.

"The tea and coffee rations are one ounce of tea person per week or four ounces of coffee per person per week," said a board statement announcing the extension of coupon rationing to the two beverages.

"Each one of the lettered coupons entitles the ration card holder to one ounces of tea or four ounces of coffee a week, but not both.

"All five ration coupons may be used immediately.

"Ration cards issued for children under 12 cannot be used for tea and coffee purchases.

Up to now tea and coffee rationing has been on the "honor system," with Canadians instructed to cut their tea consumption to one-half of normal and coffee consumption by one-quarter. The honor system was used for sugar rationing up to July 1, when the shift to coupons was made on an experimental basis.

At that time it was said the coupon plan would be extended to other commodities as the need arose.

Maximum to Sept. 8.

The maximum quantity of tea which can be purchased on one ration card up to Sept. 8 is 5 ounces, or 5-16ths of a pound. Even three ration cards in a family will not permit the purchase of a one-pound package. Twenty ounces of coffee may be purchased on one card — a pound and a quarter.

"Equitable distribution and prudent conservation of existing supplies are the objectives of the tea and coffee rationing," the board said. The statement emphasized the shipping difficulties which stand in the way of obtaining large quantities of the two beverages which must be imported.

"The rationing plan is designed to ensure all tea and coffee drinkers getting a fair share and, at the same time, to guard against any failure of supply during the next several months, when it is expected further supplies will be obtained from abroad.

"The limited supplies of tea on hand and restricted prospects of new shipments result from the fact that pre-Pearl Harbor sources of supply in the Netherlands East Indies and Malay are cut off by enemy occupation, while Ceylon and India, the major sources of supply, are in a theatre of war more than 8,000 hazardous miles from Canada.

Reason For Difference

"The difference in the rations of tea and coffee—one ounce of tea as against four ounces of coffee—are attributed to the fact that more coffee by weight is required to make a cup of beverage than is required with tea. Also, there is the fact that the supply problem in the case of tea is more acute than with coffee, which may be obtained from South America over a shorter, but just as hazardous, route."

The board said it was realized the tea and coffee ration "means a considerable sacrifice for a large majority of Canadians," but expressed confidence Canadians "are ready for belt-tightening because they realize the life-and-death nature of the struggle and the seriousness of the shipping situation."

The lettered coupons marked from "A" to "E" which will be used for tea and coffee rationing in the five weeks until permanent ration books are issued, were placed on the temporary ration cards for use in a possible emergency. They were called into use "because the existing tea and coffee supply position indicates that steps have to be taken to make the existing supplies stretch over a longer period."

Shortage Otherwise

"The alternative would have been to continue at the present rate of consumption, with the possibility of supplies, especially tea, running short," the statement said.

"In prewar days, Canada imported approximately 42,000,000 pounds of tea a year. Ships made the trip from the Orient in an average of six weeks. Now such a voyage takes three to four months, if the ship is lucky. If not, a cargo goes to the bottom, and if it includes tea it means 1,000,000 pounds lost.

"The last ship to bring tea to Canada from India took four months."

Restaurants, hotels and various institutions will receive their supplies of tea and coffee by special voucher. As in the case of sugar rationing, permanent residents of hotels and institutions will surrender their ration cards to the hotel or institution.

Obituaries

MISS MARY SCOLLARD

Friends will mourn the passing of a life-long resident of Ennismore, Miss Mary Scolard, who died Monday after a long illness at the age of 74.

Daughter of the late James Scollard and Mary Anne Young, she was born in Ennismore and was, when able, a very active member of St. Martin's Church and belonged to the League of the Sacred Heart and the Altar Society.

Surviving are eight sisters, Mrs. Wm. Harrington, Mrs. J. P. Flood, Mrs. W. D. Cavanaugh, Mrs. P. T. Crough, Ennismore; Mrs. William Hoolihan and Mrs. M. A. Spang, Grand Rapids, Minnesota; Mrs. C. Connolly, Calgary; Mrs. Patrick O'-Connor, Toronto and a brother, Frank Scollard, of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place Wednesday from the home of Mrs. J. P. Flood, Ennismore, to St. Martin's Church at 9 a.m. where Requiem Mass will be celebrated. Interment will be in St. Martin's Cemetery.

MRS. WM. A. SANDERSON

MARMORA, Aug. 4—(ENS)—Following an illness of several months' duration, borne with Christian fortitude, Mrs. Catharine Sanderson, beloved wife of William A. Sanderson, passed away at her residence in Marmora about 7 a.m. on Monday at the age of 68. The late Mrs. Sanderson was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dougald Brown (nee Flora Mackenzie) of Glenarm and came to Marmora as a bride after her marriage on July 9, 1902. She was a faithful member of the former St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church attaching herself to the Sunday School as a teacher, becides being a member of the choir and also an energetic member of the Women's Association of the church. As the congregation merged with that of Marmora Methodist Church to form what later was known as St. Andrew's United Church, the late Mrs. Sanderson continued to serve the same departments of the church's work, and enjoyed the high esteem of all co-workers. Kindly and sympathetic in manner she also left herself open to further inspiration and her many friends took pleasure in discussions with her on the matters near to her heart. She was also a valued member of Marmora Women's Institute for many years. Though living an industrious life, she found time until recent years for one especial hobby-painting and pictures in her home—the work of her own hands, evoked admiration from those who were her guests. Her passing will be widely mourned.

She is survived by her husband and three children, Dougald, Marmora; Magee, Winnipeg; and Flora, Toronto. She is also survived by one sister, Miss Margaret Brown, Marmora, and one brother, John J. Brown, Glenarm. The funeral takes place on Wednesday afternoon, service at her late residence being conducted by Rev. W. P. Fletcher at 2:30 p.m. followed by interment in Marmora Cemetery.

ROBERT EMBLETON

HAVELOCK, August 4—(ENS).—After a lingering illness of over three years, there passed away in Belmont township, Robert Embleton in his 76th year. Deceased was born October 3, 1867, in Kelloe County, Durham, England, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Embilton, and came out to Canada at the age of 16 years. With his parent they settled at Harwood later moving to Belmont township, on the farm where he died. A period of 23 years was spent on a fruit farm at Niagara Falls. Deceased was married in March, 1892, to Miss Caroline Richardson, and they quietly celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last March. Left to mourn, besides his sorrowing wife are four sons, all present at funeral: Elmer, Niagara Falls, Lindsay at Vernon, B.C.; William of Belmont Township; Arthur of Niagara Falls, and one son Edwin, deceased; also one brother, William of Meaford, Ontario. Two brothers and four sisters are deceased. The funeral service was conducted from the family residence on Saturday, by Rev. J. W Wilkinson of the Havelock United Church, with interment at Maple Grove Cemetery. Pall bearers were Messrs. Frank Toms, Frank Davidson, Charlie Davidson, Edwin Keating, Ralph Cook and George Harnden, and the flower bearers were Raymond Saltern and Edwin Morrow. Friends from out of town attending the funeral were LAC. Ernest Embleton and Mrs. Embleton, Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beatty, St. Davis, Mrs Edwin Embiton, Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stains, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Embleton, Stanford, and Mr. and Mrs. George Harrington, Toronto.

Honor Pupil

TWEED, Aug. 4.—(ENS).— Miss Maragret LeSage, a pupil of the Tweed Separate school, obtained the highest marks at the recent Entrance examination in Centre Hastings. Accordingly, Miss LeSage will receive the Warden's Medal, which is awarded each year to the Entrance candidate with the highest marks in the Inspectorate of Centre Hastings.

Bodies Block Exit From Stadium

MONTREAL, Aug. 4 — (CP). — Two women and a child were killed last night as a panic-stricken crowd attempted to escape from the Ontario Stadium when a fire broke out during an amateur show. A score of children, men and women, were injured as a pile-up of bodies blocked the exit from the Stadium.

Dead are: Mrs. Mathilda Cote, 65; Denise Wistaff, 8; and a young woman, still unidentified, about 25.

Mrs. Cote was crushed in a scramble for one of the exits following the cry of fire and was dead before she could be extracted from below the mob. The young Wistaff girl was caught in the same jam, and died while being taken to hospital. The unidentified woman died soon after being admitted to hospital.

Fire Was Small

The fire itself was short lived, and all that remained to indicate there had been a fire was a black smudge on the rear wall of the Stadium.

At the sound of the tumult, three policemen station at the Montreal Royals ball park across the street, rushed to the rescue. Constable Laurent Papre, a burly, 275-pound policeman, pushed into the crowd and succeeded in dislodging many of the persons.

Elizee Julien, owner of the Stadium, said there were about 1,800 persons present last night, but all were seated.

"I guess some of them got too excited," he said. "They ran right past an open door on the west side of the Stadium to jam into the north-end entrance."

Entertainers who were on the stage when the fire broke out, urged the crowd to control themselves, but by this time the panic was too widespread.

After the Montreal Fire Department had succeeded in dousing the flames, calm was soon restored to the Stadium, and the crowd was sent home.

Only Wishes He Had Known About Syntona Years Ago

Might Have Saved Me a Lot of Suffering From Stomach Troubles, Backache and Rheumatic Pains, Says Ancaster Man.

'I am glad to tell others about my experience with Syntona, because if I had known about this medicine sooner it might have saved me a lot of suffering,' says Mr. William Noga, Ancaster, Ontario.

"My stomach had been giving me trouble for the past three years. Heartburn and sour stomach followed every meal. Gas accumulations bloated me so much I could hardly breathe. This often troubled me after lying down at night so I couldn't sleep. I'd get very dizzy sometimes, especially when I stooped over. Lately I had a sore, lame back that hurt like anything, and rheumatic pains had set in my limbs, joints and muscles.

"I tried so many different things without getting help that I was discouraged with medicines, but I was only using Syntona a short time when my food began to digest better. The sourness and heartburn stopped troubling me. As I continued, the gas passed off and I was enjoying my meals without any trouble after. The aches and pains gradually left me. I haven't had any dizziness since, my bowels are moving more regularly than they used to and I feel better in every way."

Syntona is made from 12 medicinal herbs and roots. It acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Many who take it say that even after the first few days the whole system taken on a new feeling of energy and vigor.

Sytona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliotts Drug Store. (Advt.)

British Gun Production Sets Record

Britain Is Producing Twice As Many Guns As Originally Intended

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(CP).—Britain's 42 government ordnance factories are producing 4½ times as many guns as a year ago and twice as many as they were originally intended to turn out, Sir Andrew Duncan, Supply Minister, told the House of Commons to-day.

He said that although 60 per cent. of the 300,000 workers now engaged at the plants are women, the output per worker had increased 40 per cent. in the past year.

Opening a parliamentary debate on criticism of government arms factories in a committee report, the Supply Minister said the plants had 'improved beyond what was reasonable to expect.'

In 30 of the factories, he said, the work week had been reduced to 60 hours or less for men and 56 or less for women. He added that it was hoped to bring the other factories down to that hour level, also, as 'we are likely to get greater production in these factories were the hours reasonable.'

(The public accounts committee rapped the Ministry of Aircraft Production July 23 in a report dealing with excess profits charges and accounts which allegedly were kept secret by the British Manufacture and Research Company, Limited; British Thomson, Houston and Company, Limited, and Barr and Stroud, Limited.)

Meanwhile, Col. J. J. Llewellin, Minister of Aircraft Production, announced that the British Manufacture and Research Company, Limited, one of the firms named in the committee's report, has refunded a 'considerable sum of money to the Ministry by way of adjustment of provisional prices paid for an aircraft gun it produces.

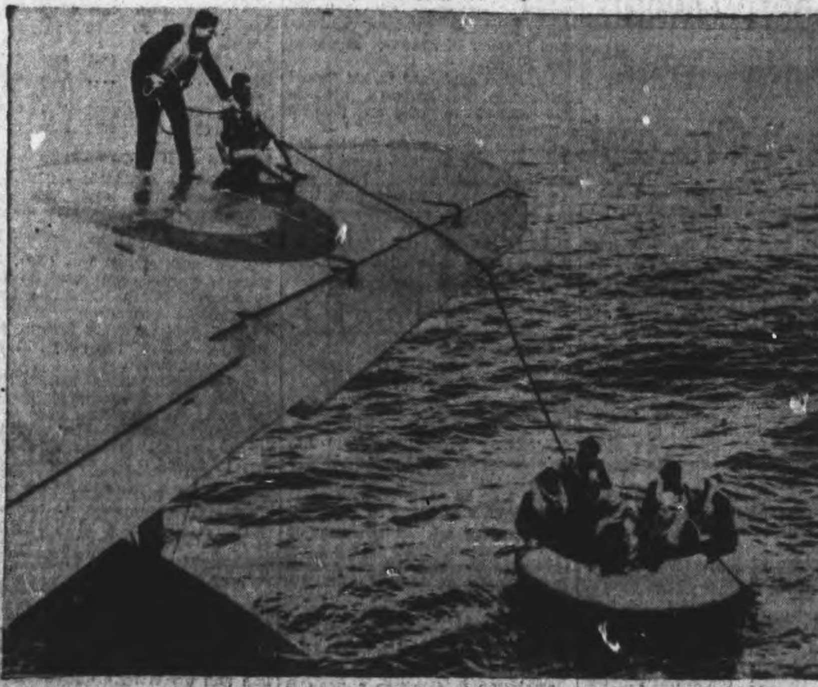
Bomb Scourge Of Italy Urged

LONDON, Aug. 5—(CP Cable)—A "bomb scourge of Italy as well as Germany" was urged by Cmdr. Sir Archbald Southby, Conservative member for Epsom, in a question tabled in the House of Commons today.

He asked Prime Minister Churchill if military targets in Rome and other Italian cities will be attacked in view of the Axis bombing of Malta and Cairo.

At the same time another question by Rev. Reginald Sorenson, Labor, asked the Minister of Information whether use had been made of the number of air raid casualties in Britain and Axis countries to "impress on the German, Italian and other peoples of Europe the imperative necessity of abolishing or restricting aerial warfare through an international authority?"

Bomber's Crew Rescued At Sea By Flying Boat



Perched on the wing of a big Sunderland flying boat, two members of its crew start the job of hauling to safety the crew of a Whitley bomber that had been forced down through engine trouble at sea. The men bobbed about in their rubber boat all night and were sighted by another Whitley in the morning. The big Sunderland came down on the water near the castaways and all were saved.

Talk on Peace Terms Fatal

LONDON, Aug. 5—(CP Cable).—Viscount Bennett declared in the House of Lords today that "nothing, in my judgment, could be more fatal than that we were undertaking in this kingdom to make the terms of peace for the Allied powers fighting against the Axis."

"It would be resented," added the former Canadian Prime Minister, "not only among those with equal status with ourselves, namely, the Dominions, but it would be resented equally by people in other lands associated with us in the war."

Lord Bennett spoke at a debate opened by Lord Davies, who proposed the establishment of an inter-Allied commission at the end of the war to consider the implications of the Atlantic charter and the Anglo-Soviet treaty.

Merely An Expression.

The Atlantic charter, said Lord Bennett, is not a treaty but merely an expression of the hopes and aspirations of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

In the United States, he said, legislation giving force to the operation of declarations in the charter could become effective only after Senate approval.

That was the reason why there was a treaty with Russia but no treaty with the United States, Lord Bennett said, because it was by no means certain that the result might not be the same as when President Wilson gave his approval to the League of Nations.

Lord Bennett recalled the fate of the 14 points and added, "Nothing could be more fatal than to make a declaration of our views with respect to peace and then have our enemies, defeated, saying they relied upon statements which we made but which we couldn't give effect to because they were our declarations and not the declarations of everyone concerned with us."

He cautioned his audience against attaching too much importance to speeches made by men in public life in the United States on matters of this type.

Here, he said, the Prime Minister could bind the government and the country or else go out of office in an endeavor to give effect to his conclusions. In the United States, he added, that is not the case.

Conservatives Plan Conference In Port Hope Early In September

EDMONTON, Aug. 5.—(CP). — Men and women from all parts of Canada will meet in Port Hope, Ont., the first week in September for a 'round table on Canadian policy.'

At the meeting, convened by a group of Conservatives, Canada's war and post-war problems will be discussed.

H. R. Milner, past-president of the Alberta Conservative Association, last night announced plans for the gathering.

"It is being held as a result of a number of informal discussions, first in Winnipeg and later in Montreal and elsewhere," he said in a statement.

It will be a meeting of laymen, and, said the Milner statement, "it is not intended that it should deal with leadership or with organization, and this is understood by the official leaders of the party."

It was explained that the meeting was called to "interest a wide variety of Canadian citizens in the urgent and important public business of the country. Those responsible for calling the meeting believe there is a new opportunity and responsi-

Allied Units Holding Vital "Gap"

Drive On Port Moresby Sees Two Forces In Dense Foliage

Allied Headquarters, Australia, Aug. 5 (CP)—The suspension of all but reconnaissance operations in the Australian theatre today found the Japanese apparently halted in the Kokoda area of New Guinea near the base of the two-mile-high Owen Stanley range two weeks after their Buna-Gona landing and the start of their drive across the island.

Latest reports indicated that the airfield and other small clearings in the jungle at Kokoda—on the far side of the towering mountains from the Allies' Port Moresby base on the south shore—were a virtual no man's land with both Allied and Japanese troops keeping close to the shelter of the dense, tropical foliage.

All advices agreed that Allied units still commanded the approaches to "The Gap," a 6,000-foot pass which is 14 miles by tortuous uphill trails from Kokoda.

Japs Need Runways

The Japanese control the coastal strip between Gona and Guna and the road to Kokoda, but their air force will be unable to use these footholds unless runways are levelled on the Papuan coast in the face of strafing attacks by the Allies and unless the Allied ground troops are cleared from the Kokoda area.

Informed sources here said that the small landing field at Kokoda would have little practical operation use for either the Allies or the Japanese at the mountain-ringed field is blanketed under heavy clouds for all but a few hours in the middle of the day.

A headquarters spokesman said that native troops fighting with the Allies in New Guinea, referred to as the "Papuan Battalion," was recruited largely from the island constabulary.

Front dispatches indicated that co-operating Allied planes had demolished the little grass-thatched settlement of Kokoda.

Australian patrols were said to have routed the Japanese in every clash in the area, but the Japanese displayed the same cunning which served them so well in the conquests of Malaya and the Dutch East Indies.

Kokoda is a few miles from "The Gap," a 6,000-ft. pass in the towering Owen Stanley mountain range separating it from Port Moresby.

Some Australian papers were call-

Diamond Thief Busy

TORONTO, Aug. 5—(CP).—A youth wearing a Royal Canadian Air Force uniform stole a diamond ring valued at $1,000 from a Toronto jewelry store Tuesday by substituting for it another valued at $400. Detectives said he had stolen the $400 ring last week in a department store, leaving in its place a 15-cent ring.

Detectives suggested that the suspect is an international diamond thief working under the guise of an R.C.A.F. uniform.

R.A.F. Bombers Bring Back Proof Of Damage

By D. E. BURRITT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(CP Cable).—Indubitable proof that the Royal Air Force is energetically fulfilling the threat of Air Marshal Arthur Travers Harris to 'scourge the Reich' was given last night to representatives of the Empire's press.

The evidence was presented in a photographic mosiac obtained by unidentified pilots — two of them men who select the targets to be destroyed.

In detailed pictures, some so clear people could be seen in the streets, the Air Ministry produced a serial of destruction; of devastation most writers agreed was more extensive than anything to be found in Britain. Much of it came from incendiary and 4,000 pound bombs.

Damage Much Greater.

"You will see from the pictures," said a flight lieutenant as one of the R.A.F.'s photographic interpreters, "that these 4,000 pound bombs we are using to-day are doing far greater damage than was done by those we were using 12 months ago. Now we examine our pictures for areas of damage instead of points of damage as we used to do. These points of damage are no longer of interest."

To a group of correspondents gathered around a big table illuminated by special lights the spokesman handed out photographs and stereoscopes which revealed the detail of what the naked eye saw only as a dense picture.

Once focused on red-ringed spots the stereoscope 'lifted' the picture to the point where you could appreciate the heights of the buildings, trees, factory chimneys and even people on the streets.

From all around the table came low whistles and exclamations of astonishment. And these from men who had often scanned confiden-

Hard-Pressed Russians Are Forced To Withdraw As Armored Units Hit Lines

Germans Hope To Seize Communications Until Motorized Help Arrives In Latest Drive Into Great Oil Fields

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 5—(AP).—The Germans were reported landing parachute troops in groups of 100 to 150 and small tanks in the north Caucasus today as the hard-pressed Russians withdrew from the Belaya Glina area to new defence positions in the face of swarms of German armored units.

The Nazi parachute troops were landing with machine-guns and mine throwers besides small tanks, Red Star said. The parachutists were dropped close to populated points or railway stations. Red Star said the German units hoped to seize communications until motorized help arrived.

The navy newspaper Red Fleet said Russian warships in the Sea of Azov were frustrating efforts of the Germans to move reinforcements into the battle south of Rostov by sea. Russian naval guns were reported sinking German ships and shelling German positions along the shore.

Smashing Defences.

Parachutists also were being landed behind the Russian lines in the Belaya Glina sector, where the Germans, sending wave after wave of tanks at the harried Russians, broke through and forced the Soviet withdrawal. The Germans were sending groups of 50 and 60 tanks smashing into the Russian defences.

The German pattern was to pound the Russian lines with dive-bombers and then send a force of small tanks at them followed by heavy tanks, Red Star said. Riding on the tanks were automatic rifle men.

The entire Caucasian front was alive with the Germans battering their way toward Russia's long-desired oil treasures and the Russians announced another new withdrawal in the Tsimlyansk sector. It was there that the Red army had been trying to stem the flow of German reinforcements over newly-established Don River bridgeheads.

The entire nation was aware of the fast-developing and critical

Germans Drop New Type Of Fire Bombs

LONDON, Aug. 5—(CP).—British bombers attacked targets in Germany's Ruhr Valley last night while fighter command planes raided railroads and other objectives in occupied territory, the Air Ministry announced today.

Two R.A.F. planes—a bomber and a fighter—were lost in the night operations.

Fighters and fighter-bombers, following up the night raids, made a morning sweep over the English Channel in clear weather

The Germans sent small forces of raiders against south and south-west England and south Wales overnight and six enemy bombers were destroyed, indicating a high score to Britain's secret new anti-aircraft defences.

It was reported reliably that the Germans were dropping fire bombs with a new-type metal container, details of which were not disclosed. Some of the new-type incendiaries have been turned over to civil defence personnel so that studies may be made in how to deal with them.

Last night's raids on Germany were the first this month by R.A.F. planes, which had been weather-bound

Police Probing Hamilton Deaths

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 5 (CP)—Police today were investigating the deaths of a man and a woman, both killed here last night, in the belief the two deaths might be connected.

They said no evidence had been unearthed so far to link the tragedies.

The decapitated body of a man identified as Mike Vargo, 40, Hamilton, was found by Motorman James Joseph Hurley last night when the wheels of the street car he was driving passed over a body lying on the tracks at Woodleigh avenue in the east end of the city. The man was said by police to be an employee of the Hamilton Bridge Company.

An unconscoius woman, identified as Annette Maley, 20, of Hamilton last night was found by a soldier at the Canadian National Railways crossing at Division street. The girl died from face, head injuries believed to have been inflicted by an axe.

Order Pacific Coast Dim-Out

Coast To Be Blackened From Canada To Mexico

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5—(AP)—A vast military dim-out, blackening the Pacific shoreline from Canada to Mexico and dimming lights as far as 150 miles inland, today was ordered into effect Aug. 20 as a protection for shipping and coastal installations.

(Only a few hours before the order was made public, it was disclosed by the Navy department in Washington and by survivors at Seattle that a United States merchant ship was sunk recently in the North Pacific, with the loss of eight lives, and that the attacking Jap submarine machine-gunned survivors on life rafts.)

The order, greatly extending a voluntary dim-out and making violations punishable, was issued by Lt.-Gen. J. L. Dewitt, commanding general of the Western Defence command, to remain in effect for the war's duration.

It sounded the death knell of night baseball in the Pacific Coast League which has been playing all but week-end games under the lights.

Brilliantly-lighted theatre marquees, illuminated advertising signs, flood-lighted buildings and all other outdoor spots in the restricted area will be turned off.

Hitler Worried Over Allied Second Front

Nothing of A Decisive Nature Has Yet Developed In Great Battle In Caucasus

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst.

The Hitlerites have continued to gain ground in the face of magnificent Russian resistance in the Tsimlyansk sector of the lower Don and in the Beyala Glina zone almost due south of Rostov, near the mouth of the river, but while the Red position is serious it can be said that nothing of a decisive nature has yet developed in this fateful battle.

From the standpoint of the Allied cause, the most important fact which emerges from this colossal engagement upon which so much of our hope hangs is that thus far the Muscovites haven't suffered annihilation of any considerable units of troops, as happened in last year's bloody fighting, and apparently have retreated without excessive losses, considering the nature of the conflict.

Such a retreat represents one of the most difficult of military operation and I believe it will be recorded as one of the great feats of the war. Certainly it provides still further evidence of the outstanding generalship of the Soviet army and the staunchness and sturdiness of the men.

As a result the Reds at latest reports were maintaining a battle line which, throughout much of its great length, seemed to be holding well. That affords encouragement.

This doesn't mean that further Russian retirement isn't to be expected, for it is. We must be prepared to see the Nazis thrust forward to the very edge of the great Caucasian mountain range. However, once the foothills are reached the Reds will be on better ground to counter the attack of Hitler's mechanized forces which at present are operating so freely and effectively over the firm, level plains of the northern Caucasus.

In view of the great weight of Hitler's attack, it is natural that the question of a second front should continue to be a burning issue. Still, it strikes me that we shall save a bit of wear and tear on the nerves if we take cognizance of the fact that the conflicting reports about the possibilities of such a front are part of a game of bean-porridge-hot-bean porridge - cold which the Allied chiefs seem to be encouraging with the shrewd idea of worrying the Axis.

This isn't to suggest that there's any doubt about a second front being established. It will be, but the time and place are the secret of the Allied High Command, as should be. After all, that is their lookout and not ours.

That's really all we of the general public need know about the matter, and so we are free to get ahead without own jobs in support of the

Luckiest Pilot In New Guinea

Twice In Two Weeks Escaped Burning Plane

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 5 (CP)—One of the luckiest Allied pilots in the New Guinea skies today is Lieut. Frank Angier, of Baltimore, Md. Twice in two weeks his plane was downed in flames over the Island's wildest countryside and twice he escaped without a scratch. The first crash occurred when Japanese Zero planes dived 10,000 feet behind a cloud bank and attacked his Airacobra. Within seconds, the Airacobra was out of action. Angier shook off his attacker, but was forced to bail out when his plane burst into flames.

Enemy Zeros swooped and dived toward Angier's parachute, attempting to machine gun him as he floated to earth. Another Allied flier drew the Zeros' attack. His parachute fouled in a tree and he was suspended by the shrouds. Zeros dived and machine-gunned the tree-top, but failed to hit Angier.

A fortnight later, on patrol over enemy-occupied Buna area, smoke suddenly poured from Angier's engine. The pilot headed home, became lost in thick clouds and had to bail out again. This time he landed in a dense jungle and walked four days before finding help.

GANDHI PLOT FOR PARLEY WITH JAPANESE IS BARED BY BRITISH

Nationalists Make New Promise

New Resolution Is Designed To Meet Gandhi's Resolution

BOMBAY, Aug. 5—(CP).—A new resolution was placed before the working committee of the All-India Congress party today, stating that if India were granted independence the government "will wholeheartedly and unreservedly declare itself on the side of the United Nations, agreeing to meet the Japanese or any other aggressor with armed resistance."

The new draft was described as designed to meet "reasonable and constructive" criticisms which followed the British disclosure yesterday of the draft of a resolution by Mohandas K. Gandhi which stated the first move of an independent government probably would be to negotiate with Japan.

Previously Gandhi reaffirmed his espousal of negotiations between India and Japan, once India gained her freedom from British rule, but declared, "I never, even in my most unguarded moment, expressed the opinion that Japan and Germany would win the war."

"On the contrary I often have expressed the opinion that they can not win the war if only Britain will once and for all shed her imperialism," said the wizened, ascetic leader of millions of Indians and champion of immediate independence for his country.

Disobedience Campaign

A resolution calling for a civil disobedience campaign against British rule unless India is given freedom will be voted upon at a meeting of the powerful All-India Congress Friday, and its adoption is considered a foregone conclusion.

The Congress working committee already has acted upon the resolution, omitting from it references calling for dealing with Japan as included in the original draft put forward by Gandhi.

British authorities said they seized the original draft and other documents in a raid on the party's headquarters at Allahabad, prompting their charge that the great majority of the working committee members are "appeasers" of Japan.

Gandhi told interviewers that despite the omission from the resolution of the reference to Japan, at the behest of the more moderate Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, he still favored negotiations with Tokyo.

If independence came to India immediately, he said he would ask to be sent to Japan to plead with her to free China or else "count on the

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, August 6.

Ambitious objectives and worthy efforts toward their attainment may be promised a definite progress upon high and meritorious projects, with the hearty suport of those in place and power as well as the endorsement and full approbation of public and community at large. With sound principles and well-organized tactics there is every promise of success and good fortune. Shun excess and be alert to petty duplicities.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of progress and expansion, especially in the launching of major propositions having sound foundations and practical as well as meritorious techniques appealing to the good judgment of superiors, employers, influential persons as well as public and community groups whose best interests are served. But be sure plans and principles are sound and refrain from snap judgments and hasty decisions.

A child born on this day should have much ability and ambition, with advanced aspirations to which its superiors and the public may give hearty support. It should have a successful and happy career.

Barber Petition Lacks Support

A letter from the Ontario Industry and Labor Board informed the council that if barber shops wish to remain open until 9 p.m. once a week, in addition to Saturday night, the present bylaw would have to be amended to that effect.

Mayor Hamilton explained that men employed in war industries until 6 and 7 p.m. daily find it difficult getting to the barber shops without losing time. His Worship also said that a petition made the round of the shops but failed to obtain the required two-thirds support for the proposed one night a week.

An enquiry was sent to the Ontario Industrial Board whose reply was read last night. The attitude of the council was that if a change was to take place to meet a wartime condition it would have to be initiated by the barbers themselves.

A resolution by Alderman Dutton, seconded by Alderman Swanston, suggested that if the barbers brought the necessary petition to the council "it will receive favorable consideration."

Mayor Hamilton pointed to the word "favorable," and Alderman Bradburn said it was virtually an undertaking or promise made beforehand. The resolution was adopted.

Cost-Of-Living Bonus Is Up 60 Cents

OTTAWA, Aug. 5—(CP).—Extra money for Canadian wage-earners—estimated unofficially at well over $1,000,000 a week—will be paid by employers starting August 15 as a result of a 2.4 per cent increase in the cost of living since last October.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday that its adjusted cost-of-living index stood at 117.0 at July 1, up 1.2 points from June 1 and 2.4 points since October, 1941.

Compulsory cost-of-living bonus adjustments under the wartime wages and cost-of-living bonus order mean that employers now paying a bonus generally must increase their weekly bonus payments to employees by 60 cents—except in the case of all women earning less than $25 a week and men under 21 earning less than that amount, who will receive a addition 2.4 per cent of their basic wage.

A War Labor Board order, issued with the Bureau announcement of the index increase, provides that employees subject to the order and now paying the bonus must make necessary adjustment in the amount of the bonus.

Employers not paying a bonus must start payment affective from the first payroll on or after August 15, except in a few exempted lines of work.

However, employers in the latter category will be required to pay only the sixtycent weekly bonus or the percentage provision for lower wage groups. They come under the cost-of-living order issued last October which specified that starting February 15, employers not then paying a bonus would base their future payments on an increase of a point or more in the cost-of-living index over October, 1941. This is the first one-point increase since that date.

Employers who have not previously paid a bonus will be required to pay only the 60-cent weekly bonus or the percentage provision for lower wage groups. They will not pay the full bonus because the cost-of-living order of last October specified that, starting February 15, employers who were not then paying a bonus would base their future bonuses on the increase in the cost-of-living index over October, 1941.

Persons coming under the order, which does not apply to agricultural workers, domestic servants employed in private homes and Government and municipal employees will now receive a bonus of 60 cents, or 2.4 of their salary, depending on which group they are in, if they are not now receiving a bonus.

The Federal Civil Service bonus—provided under a special Order-in-Council—is increased from $11.91 a month to $18.42 a month, or from 11 per cent. to 17 per cent. The civil service bonus is not payable to employees earning over $2,100, except manual workers.

An unofficial Labor Department source placed at "more than 1,000,000" the number of Canadians now receiving bonuses. This informant said it was his belief that "considerably more than that number" will be paid bonuses for the first time when the War Labor Board's order becomes effective August 15.

While some will receive less than 60 cents a week because of the percentage provision for lower wage groups, it was estimated that considerably more than $1,000,000 a week—$52,000,000 a year—will be involved in the adjutment of bonus payments.

The board's order specifies that the amount of the adjusted bonus shall not exceed $4.25 a week or 17 per cent of the basic salary. Previous maximum bonuses being paid in accordance with the wages order were $3.65, based on 25 cents a point for an index increase of 14.6 points.

The order also provides that the $4.25 or 17 per cent ceiling shall apply to bonuses which are not based on the wages order. If these bonuses are in excess of the limit they will remain unchanged, but if below the limit they may be adjusted upward, similarly to other bonuses, provided they do not pass the top figures of $4.25 or 17 per cent.

The wartime wages and bonus order applies in general to those of the rank of foreman or lower. Employees above the rank of foreman come under the wartime salaries order which permits, but does not require the payment of bonuses to executives.

This special permission is not allowed to apply to officials receiving more than $4,200 a year and a general limit of $3,000 applies on those eligible to receive the bonus.

Persons earning less than $2,100 are automatically subject to the bonus order while those receiving $3,000 or more are considered salaried officials unless their duties clearly show they are not above the rank of foreman.

Bonuses are adjusted quarterly if the index has advanced or declined at least one point. This is the first adjustment to be made since the price ceiling came into effect last October when the index stood at 114.6.

Donald Gordon, Wartime Prices and Trade Board Chairman, said in a statement on the increase in the cost of living since last October that 90 per cent was due to increases in food prices, and beef and potatoes had accounted for 87 per cent of the total movement in food prices.

While normal seasonal fluctuations took place in the prices of these commodities, they were accentuated by special circumstances this year and presented two of the most serious problems the Board had faced.

"It is to be expected that by Oct. 1 the greater part of these seasonal movements will have been reversed, and the cost of living index will be much closer to what it was on Oct. 1 last year, prior to the establishment of the price ceiling," Mr. Gordon said.

The Bureau of Statistics reported an advance in the food index from 126.2 to 130.3 between June and July, "due mainly to increases in potatoes, beef, lamb and eggs." Moderate declines were noted in butter, cheese and lard.

The fuel and lighting index was down from 122.6 to 112.5. There was a slight increase in the clothing index, from 119.9, while there was no change in the three other groups—home furnishings and services, rentals, and miscellaneous.

Sharp increase in the bonus payable to Federal civil servants was announced by the Civil Service Commission.

Government employees now being paid a bonus of $11.91 a month will get $18.42 a month—up $6.51. Employees being paid 11 per cent of their earnings as a cost-of-living bonus will be paid 17 per cent. The increases are retroactive to Aug. 1.

Under an Order-in-Council passed last Aug. 26, Federal civil servants, outside the scope of the wartime wages and cost-of-living bonus order, were granted a bonus of 25 cents a week for each 1 per cent increase in the cost of living, if they earned $108 a month or over, or if they were heads of housholds earning less than that.

The bonus to Federal employees earning less than $108, except heads of families, was fixed at 1 per cent of total compensation for each rise of 1 per cent in the cost of living.

The order provided for an increase in the bonus if the cost-of-living rose 5 per cent. There has been an increase from 11 to 17 per cent in the cost-of-living during the past year and on this basis the increased bonuses have been ordered.

war effort. But it isn't all that the Germans need know, and for that reason they are badly worried, as is shown in numerous ways. The most striking sign, of course is the hurried tightening up of Nazi defences by Field Marshal Von Runstedt along the "invasion coast."

While the Nazis presumably are as much in the dark as are we of the general public regarding Allied military plans, it's logical for them to fear some sort of invasion in the not distant future.

Hitler knows that the need of an Allied second front grows in direct ration to the increase of the Red danger. Therefore, unless the Muscovites are able to halt his drive soon, he naturally will look for an emergency invasion of the continent to relieve the pressure on the Eastern front.

The Fuehrer knows, too, that next Spring may well be too late for an Allied second front it he meantime has crippled Russia, made conquest of the Caucasus and secured fresh supplies. That's why he is anxious about an attack in the West in the near future.

tial reports of damage done by British raids.

The pictures somehow brought to life what previously had been only verbal or written reports.

Two Acres Flattened.

'Look here,' said the interpreter, pointing to one part of aphotograph of Saarbrucken's huge industrial area. 'You will see where two 4,000 pound bombs fell within close proximity. The buildings over an area of two acres have been actually flattened. That area of shattered buildings you see there extends over an area of 16 acres.'

It was the same if not worse in each picture shown and described. There was Dusseldorf in a widespread picture with scores of little pencilled rings. One of these little marks ringed a 12-acre area ravaged by fire.

There were numerous similar rings. And it was the same on pictures of Lubeck, Bremen, Cologne, Hamburg, Rostock—where the Heinkel Aircraft Works were blasted—and other points receiving the attention of the R.A.F.

Property Owners Oppose Change Proposal

Hedged about by Wartime Houses in the Jackson Park area which the city is asking the Ontario Municipal Board to transfer to the city, four properties whose owners wish to avoid similar incorporation are receiving Smith Township support in an objection to be presented to the Board when it deals with Peterborough's application.

The four owners are O. L. Dagleish, Miss Susie Best, W. F. Welsh and Mrs. Mary Franks.

When Wartime Housing Limited decided to build a group of houses north of Park Hill Road and east of Jackson Park, it was proposed that the land they occupy should be brought into the city for the benefit of essential services such as sewer and water connections. The City Council then applied to the Ontario Municipal Board to extend the city's northern boundary around that area. It was realized at that time that these four properties were being cut off from the Township although they remained part of it with rural assessment and tax rates.

The finance committee of the City Council recently recommended that notice be given the Ontario Municipal Board of the intention of the Council to apply for the annexation of the four remnant parcels of Smith property and this proposal was adopted by the Council last night.

In the meantime, the owners of these properties sought the mediation of the trustees board of Queen Elizabeth School, and their position will be submitted to the Ontario Municipal Board opposing the City's action.

A copy of their petition was received by the City Council last night from A. I. Edmison, clerk of Smith, affirming that the tranfer of their property to the city would entail a substantial increase in their assessments and taxes.

The city's position has been to this effect that if 4 properties remain in the township household, completely surrounded by the new city area annexed with the wartime houses, some dificulty might be created some time in the future, a possibility which the council believes should be anticipated and obviated now when the major annexation is taking place. It was said that the city has no feeling against the owners of those four properties, but that the logical and practical thing to do is to take in the entire block.

Talk On Peace

"It would be extremely ill-considered for the government to do other than express its views as to what we are struggling for," said Lord Bennett. "That's one thing. To say that we are going to endeavor to impose upon someone is another."

Pledge Co-operation

Viscount Simon, Lord Chancellor, in reply did not agree that the charter was vague or nebulous. The most significant and hopeful feature of the charter, he said, was not the unilateral declaration but the pledge of co-operation not only in framing plans for peace but in carrying them out.

"If that is achieved, there is no place in history too high to put this document," he said.

Everything that has been said about the Atlantic charter by United States statesmen, Lord Simon said, has confirmed the resolve of the American government to act in a spirit of co-operation. These, he declared, were very powerful men who made these declarations and their speeches exercise an enormous influence inside their country as well as on outside nations.

Lord Simon stated the government is in entire agreement with a recent speech by State Secrtary Cordll Hull of the United States on post-war affairs and said the government's aim was not to impose international authority upon the world after the war.

Complete Agreement

The government should aim rather at getting complete agreement between as many sovereign communities as possible, Lord Simon added, so that as a result of consent and not as a result of externally-applied force, this international authority would be able to speak in the name of all decent people.

Britain Cancels Agreement Made At Munich

LONDON, Aug. 5—(CP).—The British Government formally renounced today the 1938 Munich agreement—which began the partition of Czecho-Slovakia—and declared that Britain "will not be influenced by any changes effected in and since 1938" in settling Czecho-Slovakia's frontiers after the war.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced in the House of Commons that British policy toward Czecho-Slovakia was guided by formal recognition of the Czecho-Slovak Government in London and by Prime Minister Churchill's declaration in September, 1940, that the Germans had destroyed the Munich agreement.

An exchange of notes between Eden and Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister in the exiled Czecho-Slovak Government, formally defining Britain's stand was issued simultaneously as a White Paper.

The Munich agreement was a four power pact among Britain, France, Germany and Italy providing for gradual German occupation of parts of Czecho-Slovakia's Sudeten areas beginning October 1, 1938.

Avoid Misunderstanding.

The agreement was signed on September 30, 1938, by the late Neville Chamberlain, then Britain's Prime Minister; Edouard Daladier, then Premier of France; Mussolini and Hitler.

Mr. Eden explained in his formal declaration that Britain's attitude was adopted "to avoid an possible misunderstanding."

He recalled that the British decision on July 18, 1941, to recognize the Czech Government here was taken with the understanding that Britain regarded "the juridicial position of the President and Government of Czecho-Slovak republic as identical with that of other Allied

By HERB MARTIN

Tomorrow night (Thursday) has been set aside for the first round in our club singles competition. There will be two draws, 7:15 o'clock and 8:15 o'clock.

Players are advised they must play or default. This is the same system as was adopted last season. The committee would appreciate the co-operation of bowlers who are not playing. It takes an extra man to act as umpire for each game. So please come out and umpire a game, that is if you are not drawn to play.

Chairman G. Coleman announces Irish Trebles for men on Friday evening. It is the first of its kind this season. The draw will be made as usual 7:30 p.m. and the fee is also the same as usual, 25 cents per player.

Cheese Box Shortage Relieved Today

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5. — (ENS).—The serious cheese box situation was at least temporarily relieved for factories in the Campbellford district on Tuesday. Out of carload of 1,500 boxes sent to Belleville by order of the timber controller, A. S. Nicholson of Ottawa, 850 were trucked to congested factories in Seymour township. It is also reported that G. W. Anderson who operates the local box factory, where Maker Ellis Hoard has been practically idle for the past two weeks, received an entire carload of veneer—enough to make 10,000 boxes. Curing rooms of no fewer than eight factories in this area were filled to capacity and without the shipment from Belleville they would have been forced to abandon shipment of cheese this week following the regular boarding on Thursday. According to Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray, as soon as the local plant gets into operation the box situation should be well in hand.

Thresher Loses Right Arm Changing Belt

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5 (ENS)—His arm torn off as he attempted to replace a belt on a pulley leading from a tractor to a separator, Lorne Bailey, 25, of Harold, Ontario, is in a serious condition in Belleville Hospital. The accident occurred about three o'clock Tuesday afternoon while the threshing outfit was in operation on Jim Gibson's farm 12 miles east of Campbellford in Rawdon township. Bailey was looking after the tractor, which he owned, while Theodore Cooney also of Harold was in charge of the Separator. The drive belt apparently slipped off while the machine was going at a low speed and instead of stopping the machine Bailey attempted to replace it while it was still in motion. His right arm was severed above the elbow and the men on the job quickly made a tourniquet while awaiting the arrival of Drs. W. W. Baker and H. B. Longmore who rushed out from Campbellford. Following treatment by them Bailey was taken by ambulance to the Belleville Hospital where his condition is regarded as serious. Mr. Bailey was married a year ago. He is a son of the late George A. Bailey, ex-warden of Hastings County and for many years president of the Harold Cheese and Butter Company.

Rascals Drop Game To Grill 5-1

PORT HOPE, Aug. 5 (ENS)—In the second game of the Town Baseball League semi-finals played at King's Field Tuesday, Len Wakely pitched the Grill to victory over the Rascals. As a result the Grill leads the series 2-0.

The last game, for which the Rascals could not field a team, was awarded by the executive to the Grill, but the team showing true sportsmanship refused to accept the default and so the second game was played last night.

Before a large crowd Len Wakely, former star southpaw of the Central Ontario and Lakeshore Leagues, pitched the Grill to a 5-1 victory over the Rascals. This win gives the Grill a 2-0 lead in the 3 out of 5 series. Wakely, in his first complete game in some seasons, pitched steady ball allowing only 6 hits, walked one and struck out 6. Huffman's triple following Wagar's single in the 7th scored the Rascals only run.

Blow, after spending two weeks in camp, was in the box for the Rascals, and his wildness kept him in trouble throughout the game. He issued 4 free tickets and hit Hagerman twice.

Pointer was the heavy sticker for the Wakelyites having a triple and a single. Huffman, the Rascals catcher, had a perfect day at bat with 2 for 2.

The third game of the series will be played Thursday evening and the southenders must win to stay in the running.

St. Mike's Win First Game In Second Half

COBOURG, August 5 (ENS)—The second half of the Cobourg Men's Softball League schedule got underway last evening with St. Michael's, winners of the first half, pounding out a convincing 17 to 6 victory over the powerful Foundry team. The losers collected 13 hits but were unable to get the runners around, twice leaving the bases loaded.

Medhurst, in addition to collecting a double, was a fielding star for the losers, making two exceptional running catches in right field before coming in behind the plate to handle Mounted Policeman Harold Waldon's slants. Waldon had three hits, one of them a double.

Manager Bill McCaig of the winning St. Michael's outfit had three hits including a double and a home run. Shortstop Jack Ball had two doubles and two singles as cleanup hitter, driving in three runs.

Corky Kewin, on the mound for the winners, had four strikeouts and walked six batters. He was strong with men on bases, as the Foundry men left 14 stranded in the game which had to be called at the end of the eighth because of darkness.

Prompt Action Cheats Lake Of Tiny Victim

COBOURG, Aug. 5.—(ENS)—Six-yearold Florence Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Scott of Cobourg, had a close call from drowning yesterday evening around six o'clock when she fell into the harbor from the esplanade. The speed with which her five-year-old brother went for help and the promptness with which Orrin Morris, car ferry company employee went to her aid, accounted for her rescue from certain drowning.

The two children were playing on the esplanade when Florence fell in, the water being about ten or 12 feet deep at that point. Little Bobbie ran to the ferry depot about 100 feet away and cried that his sister was in the water. Orrin Morris, Bill Peacock, radio operator on Ontario No. 2; Norman Thompson, car ferry employee and Emmet Crowe, car ferry company employee ran over to the esplanade. Morris jumped in and caught the child before she went under. His companions formed a human chain and hauled Morris and the youngster out of the water. She was then taken to her home. The child was frightened but unharmed. Her father is with an army unit on the west coast.

Lakeshore Milk Prices Raised To Level

COBOURG, Aug. 5.—(ENS)—Cobourg milk prices were jacked up over the weekend to conform with price standards set by the War Time Prices and Trade Board and are now in line with milk prices in Port Hope, Peterborough, Oshawa, Belleville and other centres. For some time Cobourg has been supplied its milk at prices which were below the ceiling set by the price board. The new prices are authorized by the Ontario Milk Control Board.

The increase in price will be split between the producers and distributors Markle's Dairy told the Examiner. The extra returns to the distributors under the new scale will be offset materially by the increased production costs, including wage increases. The prices now in effect under the new scale are as follows:

Milk (standard), quart, 12 cents, and pint, 7 cents, a one-cent increase; milk (special), which means Jersey milk, quart, 13 cents, and pint, 8 cents. This is a 1½ cent increase for quarts and a one-cent boost for pints; cream is now listed at 40 cents a pint and 20 cents a half pint, an increase of five cents per pint and two cents per half pint. Chocolate dairy drinks remain at 14 cents a quart and 5 cents a half pint, but pints now sell at 8 cents instead of the former figure of 7 cents. Skim milk will now sell at 8 cents a quart and buttermilk at 8 cents, an increase of one cent in each case.

Five Thousand Attend Special Program

COBOURG, Aug. 5—(ENS)—More than five thousand people witnessed the special pageant presented at the week-end band concert in Victoria Park here, at the shell bandstand. Cars were parked all over the area in numbers which almost approached those of the centennial celebration some years ago.

The presentation had a patriotic theme and was entitled "The Symbol of Freedom." A large number of men, women and young people in uniforms and costumes took part in the program and made it a colorful event.

The various individual flags which were united to form the Union Jack, were borne on the stage by Girl Guides. Special spotlights were used to add to the effect, as the various flags were imposed, one upon the other, to form the present flag.

Representing the various branches of Canadian life on the stage were members of the Cobourg Air Cadet squadron, the Girl Guides, the Boy Scouts, the Brownies and Cubs. The Guides were under the direction of Divisional Guide Commissioner Mrs. Jack Allen Among those who took part were Marjorie McLachlin, Margaret Holder, Coy. Leader Ann Pirie, Eleanor Thompson, Virginia Holmes, Celia Nebens, Isabel Hogan, Betty Henley, June Pirie, Pat Maher, June Bradley, Marguerite Bingham, Mary Burnham.

Air Cadets Attend.

Scouts participating included Jack Pearse, Jimmie Epworth, Walter Spry, Albert Brister and Lionel Baker. Among members of the Rotary-sponsored Air Cadet group who turned out in their smart new uniforms of air force blue were Ralph Carey, Ross Russell, Keith Anderson, Don Gummer, James Burns, Clement Flesch and Jim Butler.

Rev. W. P. Woodger of Trinity United Church was chief narrator for the presentation; Scout Jack Pearse bore the Greek flag; Miss Ruth Climo was "Miss America"; Betty Greer was girl narrator; Herb. Parkinson, boy narrator; Miss Olive Page was "Miss Canada"; Miss Blanche Staples was "Britannia"; Bandsmen Tweed, Anderson and Fred Hempstead were standard-bearers.

Members of the armed forces who assisted included L.-Cpl. Marion Ellison of the C.W.A.C., Leading Stocker G. Eden of the navy, and Sgt. F. J. Edgell of the R.C.A., Petawawa. Ladies who assisted in directing the pagean were Mrs. J. H. Goldring, Mrs. George Rorabeck, and Mrs. E. McCurdy. Soloists were Albert Hircock, Mrs. J Randall and Betty Bruce. A cornet solo was played by Bandsman Fred Hempstead, and the entire band, under the direction of their leader, J. H. Goldring, played a most important musical part in the pantomime.

Gay Costumes.

The Brownies, under the guidance of Brown Owl Margaret Cowin, Tawny Owl Dorothy Cowin and Pack Owl Mildred Cowin, included Josephine McDonald, Lolabelle Mackie, Margaret Boggs, Doreen Flint, Betty Clarke, Joyce Adams, Margaret Lingard, Barbara Thompson, Shirley Greer, Doreen Cooey, Marlene McDonald, Carol Hayden, Pat Bevan, Andre Crate and Georgina Lingard. Cubs present included Harold Brewster and Jimmie Epworth.

J. R. Patterson ran the lantern with which was projected on the screen accompanying themes and illustrations. Credit must be given Bandsman William Brown for his skill in constructing the flags used in forming the Union Jack.

Divine service was in charge of Captain V. Greenwood of the Salvation Army, with Rev. Mr. Woodger as chairman. Rev. D. A. McKenzie delivered the brief, timely address

As has become the custom at local band concerts, several numbers were presented by guest artists, one, Miss Lena Gordon, former Plainville girl, coming from Waterloo, Ont., to sing at the concert. Miss Gordon was accompanied on the piano by Alfred Mortimer. Mrs. J. Randall and Albert Hircock were others who delighted with vocal renditions. Mrs. L. Greer was accompanist. The band played the following selections preceding the pantomime: "The Maple Leaf," "On Parade," "Humoresque," "Valse Bleu," and "Mon Ami."

Ghost Held

Matthew Cornish (real name Theodore Coneys), the 75-pound "ghost" who haunted a house in Denver whose owner was murdered last October 17, is pictured during police questioning. According to police, Cornish, or Coneys, confessed that he had bludgeoned the house owner, Philip Peters, to death "because he caught me robbing his icebox" and had lived in the tiny attic of the house since the murder. Coneys said he once was a prosperous businessman. Police found the "ghost" after repeated reports of mysterious lights and noises in the old murder house.

Peterborough And Port Hope Boys Train In Rough B.C. Wilderness

By HERBERT JONES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN THE BRITISH COLUMBIA INTERIOR, Aug. 5 —(CP)—Tough soldiers in a tough country.

That's the military picture today somewhere in British Columbia's rugged interior where an arm of the Canadian army is being brought quickly up to wartime hardness.

Training grounds have been cut out of a wilderness of timber by the men themselves.

Sweating sergeants bark orders to men in full battle kit racing over an "assault course"—a muscle-wracking half-mile tract of ditches, ladders, hurdles and high wires where men swing themselves through the air hand-over-hand.

On a dusty country road a route march party swings along in scatter formation—groups of five or six spaced out in single file on each side of the road. Suddenly their marching song is interrupted by a sharp command, and they fling themselve into the roadside bush and lie prone.

Some scratch themselves on branches, some find themselves lying in oozing muskeg. There is more sweating and swearing. But these men are learning to scatter and protect themselves from ground-strafing planes.

Into the wild timber country 10 to 12 miles from camp goes a foray party of 600 men with full equipment to bivouac for two days in what might be described as a sort of inland Commando movement.

Most of the men are from a town or city, like Cpl. S. C Taylor of Port Hope, Ont.; L. Cpl. S. J. Raid of Peterborough, Ont., or the brother combination of Lieut. Herbert Long, 27, Cpl. Frank Long, 24, and Pte. Keith Long, 28, all of Port Hope. Some of them are from prairie farms.

There's the odd American, such as Pte. J. J. Flynn, 29, of El Paso, Texas who joined up with an Ontario regiment at Windsor, Ont., two years ago and has since spurned a chance to transfer to the American forces.

But the country and the training—despite the toughness of both—seems to be agreeing with these men, who officers say were never in better health.

Veteran Great Lakes Skipper Inspects Modern Minesweeper

TORONTO, Aug. 5. — Captain James H. Peacock was back on a ship's bridge yesterday for the first time in a quarter of a century. He loved it.

Captain Jim came up from Port Hope to Toronto to look over H.M.C.S. Port Hope, recently commissioned here The 88-year-old veteran of the Great Lakes, called by those who know him best the dean of skippers sailing on Lake Ontario, chose to celebrate his sixty-eighth wedding anniversary with this Toronto trip. What's more, Mrs. Peacock egged him on.

"I talked it over with my wife," Captain Jim said. "She told me to go ahead. She knew it would mean the realization of my greatest ambition. Ever since this war started I have wanted to get aboard a modern naval vessel. Well, I did just that today. Looked her over from stem to stern. She's a beauty"

Captain Peacock's inspection of H.M.C.S. Port Hope is part of a general celebration in connection with the minesweeper's induction into the Royal Canadian Navy. He was invited as an honored guest by the committee in charge, and he will be on deck, with his white hair stirring in the lake breeze, his broad face split by a wide smile, his keen eyes, with their nests of tiny wind-created wrinkles, missing not a thing, when the new ship puts out this morning for Port Hope and a gala reception.

Began On Lakes As Boy.

A real veteran of the Great Lakes is Captain Jim. Born in Colborne, orphaned when he was 8 years old, he started his career on the inland oceans while still a boy. He signed on as a cook, then stuck a couple of years on to his immature age to achieve a deck hand's job. That was in 1866. From then on his life was on the lakes. By 1874, when he was 20 years old, he was a master. He retired in 1918 after thirty-two years of continuous service, all but eight months of the time spent as captain of sailing vessels.

He did a trick in steam. In 1917 he sold his last sailing ship, the Arthur, to a United States firm that wanted her for the South African trade, then signed on as second mate on the Wyoma of the Canada Steamship Lines. But his heart was in sail and, after the first Great War ended, he was satisfied to retire to his Port Hope cottage and let younger navigators, trained in the new ways, carry the load.

Captain Peacock took his sailing vessels all over Lake Ontario, Lake Erie, Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. He sailed as far east as Quebec City, and that was the nearest he ever got to salt water. Most of his commands, from the Octavia, his first ship, to the Arthur, his last, were sturdy little 600-tonners, carrying cordwood lumber, coal and grain between Ontario and border ports. He did not sail Lake Superior. His ships were too tiny to tackle that biggest lake's thunderous gales.

"My father was a fisherman," Captain Peacock reminisced yesterday. "I guess that's what turned me to the lakes when I was a boy. It was a great life, too, in those days. A man made more on the water than he could ashore. There were lots of hardships, yes, but there was plenty to eat and all the fresh air a man could take into his lungs; and we had fun and a good rest when we were in port. It must have been a good life for me to last as long as I have. Things have changed since my time, but sail did all right by me. It kept me and my family, and if this war doesn't last too long, it will look after me and my wife as long as we need looking after."

Captain Jim has no grudge against steamships, but he remembers that things were very different in his days with sailing vessels.

It's All Speed Now

"It's all speed now," he said. "Vessels, using travelling conveyors can unload six or seven thousand tons in six hours. In my time it would have taken us a week. The men on the steamers have a lot easier time of it, too. They work six hours, then are off duty for six hours. We never did know when we would get a rest. Frequently I have been on duty for forty-eight hours without a break.

"These steamships run on strict schedules. Sixty years ago we were at the mercy of wind and wave. Sometimes the wind helped us, but often enough it beat us back." The captain chuckled and his eyes glinted as he turned his thoughts backward into time. "I remember one trip when the wind helped me take the old Maxwell from Port Dalhousie to False Ducks in fourteen hours. That's an average of fourteen miles an hour, and that's pretty good sailing in any lake boat."

He might change some parts of his life, if he had it to live over again, Captain Jim said, but he wasn't so sure about that. "A young lad makes hasty decisions. But mine has been a good, rich, full life. I've had my experiences, and I haven't been sick for as long as a week at any time," he declared.

Circumstances compelled Captain Peacock to move from Colborne to Port Hope when he took over his first command, the Octavia. There was no harbor in his native village, he explained, and he had to have a port where he could get repairs made. But he went back to Colborne in 1874 to marry Margaret Matthews, his boyhood sweetheart.

The couple have one son, William Peacock, also at one time a Great Lakes captain, now operating the Port Hope coal business his father turned over to him on his final retirement in 1932. Mrs. Peacock and William will be on hand to greet the veteran when H.M.C.S. Port Hope docks at the place she was named for today.

There'll be big doings. A naval band, and the entire ship's company will parade to Rotary Park, where articles donated by Port Hope citizens will be presented to the ship and to crew members.

And Captain James Peacock will be right up in front with the boys.

Tea And Coffee

We have been instructed to make a considerable reduction in our consumption of tea and coffee; indeed, those commodities have been rationed. We doubt if anyone will consider this a hardship. Surely it is foolish and selfish to risk men's lives and necessary shipping in order that we may have more tea and coffee than we need? The present ration is quite enough to keep us from forgetting the taste of those drinks.

No one is going to injure his nerves on the present allowance, however. Twelve and a half cups of tea or coffee a week is what the Government estimates that the ration will make, and most of us have been accustomed, in peace time, to take perhaps 21 cups of each in a week. The consumption of coffee has been particularly heavy and no doubt coffee-lovers will have to restrain themselves. Attempts to spin the ration out are not likely to be successful, for nothing is more dispiriting than weak coffee. Weak tea, on the contrary, is another matter, and it is possible to acquire a taste for tea so weak that it is hardly distinguishable from milk. In fact, it is sometimes simpler to drink the milk without bothering to put the tea in it.

The time is now at hand when the whole population of this country is being asked to make sacrifices, and this fact is far more stimulating than unlimited tea and coffee. During the days of 1940 and early 1941, when the people of Britain were going without many things which they badly needed—a good strong cup of tea among them—we felt a little ashamed as we sat down to our well-stocked tables. There was no point in not eating what we wanted; the food was there and we were thankful for it; but somehow it did not seem right that we should eat comfortably and plentifully when our friends abroad were pinched. Now we know that they are adequately, if not plentifully, provided for and we are asked to cut down on some things, and we feel better.

The year which approaches promises to be a great one for the Allies. It may not bring victory, but it should see the turn of the tide against the Axis. Who cares if we have a trifling restriction on tea and coffee? We can stand worse things than that, and we shall have to do so before we are finished. Let us not even discuss the rationing of these common household beverages. Let us act upon the order without comment and prepare ourselves for the great effort which will soon be required of us.

Dealing With Fire Bombs

A popular radio quiz program originating in the U.S. recently asked this question: There are two ways of extinguishing an incendiary bomb; one is the old way and one is the new way—which is which? How many of our readers can answer this question?

In the event of enemy raids on this country incendiary bombs would probably be dropped in large numbers, and it is as well that we should know how to deal with them. The old way was to spray them with a fine spray, as it was thought that a sudden dousing would cause them to explode and hurl blazing fragments in all directions. The new way is to wet them with as powerful a stream of water as possible; this makes them flare up, but the fire lasts little over a minute and the danger is less than was imagined. This is a piece of information which all would do well to store away in case we should ever need it.

Air Raid Precautions are being taken very seriously in the U.S., and we might take them more seriously here without straining ourselves. There are, of course, people who have had special instruction in A.R.P. and who are doubtless well informed, but in case of air raids it is useful for the average citizen to know what he is doing also. In air raids the civilian population is in danger from its own ignorance as much as from the enemy. Carelessness in dealing with bombs, lack of knowledge of how to check fires, and foolhardiness all help to increase the danger. And as one of the chief dangers is from incendiaries it is well to know something about them.

They are fairly simple bombs, filled with powdered aluminum and iron oxide. When the bomb hits its objective, a detonator sets it off, and the mixture inside burns with an inense heat for about one minute, after which the magnesium casing burns less fiercely for another fifteen minutes. These bombs are capable of starting fires anywhere except on non-inflammable surfaces, and as they generally fall through roofs they can cause enormous damage.

Mr. Hanson's Yeoman Service

During the Parliamentary session which has just closed, the Hon. R. B. Hanson has done yeoman service for his party and for the people of Canada. At present the Opposition is weak; its numbers are small and its men of outstanding ability few. This is not a happy situation; for the proper functioning of Parliament a strong Opposition is highly necessary, and if we had had one during the recent session much that was overbearing on the part of the Government and much that was picayune and foolish on the part of the Opposition might have been avoided. Liberals who have the best interest of Canada at heart will share with Conservatives a hope that their party may enjoy a resurrection or a reincarnation.

Mr. Hanson's situation was an unenviable one. His health is poor, and he has felt the heavy burden of his task increasingly. He is leader of the Conservatives in the House, but he does not enjoy the prestige of being Leader of the Conservative Party. He has done much hard work, and has had very little fun out of it. Although we have not always felt that his actions in the House were wise, it has been clear to any reader of Hansard that he has been doing his utmost to discharge his duties in a manner worthy of the Party which he led.

Meanwhile, the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen remains at the head of the Conservative Party, and it is generally felt, in that party and out of it, that if he intends to have the name he must also have the game. He must make another attempt to get a seat in the House. Last time Col. Cockeram surrendered what was thought to be a safe seat in order that Mr. Meighen might have it, and it was taken from him by the C.C.F. candidate; no one who followed the election speeches of both candidates can have been greatly surprised by this. On his next attempt Mr. Meighen will have to offer something more palatable to the electorate. If he should be defeated again it will be hard for him to retain his Leadership. Something, however, will have to be done, for Mr. Hanson can hardly be expected to go on doing the work and taking the hard knocks unless he is to have some of the glory, too.

The Late Father Galvin

The late Father P. J. Galvin, parish priest of Grafton, who was buried yesterday, will be sadly missed by Catholics and Protestants alike in Peterborough County. He was native to this part of Ontario and by far the greater part of his priesthood was spent in parishes in this district. Wherever he lived he made friends, and he found time in the midst of a busy life to keep his friendships in constant repair, and so when his time came to die he was liked by hundreds of people, and loved by scores of them.

Father Galvin may be taken as an example of a man who made a success of his life, although worldly success was of no interest to him. But he was a success in that he realized the Greek ideal of manhood; he was a complete and rounded character. He was a scholar of parts, and kept up his studies all his life; but he was in the thick of parish activity, and he never neglected a man or a woman for a book. The spiritual and mystical side of his character was apparent, but in his sermons he was clear and, in the best sense, didactic. He taught by precept and by example, and his kindness and wisdom will long be cherished in the hearts of his hosts of friends.

An Interesting Parallel

In the Third Column on this page today we reprint an article from The Manchester Guardian written by Ivor Brown, well known in Britain as a commentator on political and artistic affairs. We have done this because we think that the parallel between the situation which the writer describes in Britain and that which exists in this country is one which will be interesting to our readers. Here, as there, a party of the Right has been forced by circumstances to take steps which would ordinarily be expected from a party of the Left, and here as there the peace will bring a struggle between individualism and socialism. We recommend Mr. Brown's article to you as provocative reading on a subject which concerns us all.

Sliding Into Socialism

By IVOR BROWN
(From the Manchester Guardian)

It is not long since youth was wont to discuss how Socialism would come. Would it be wheeled into power on the lumbering Parliamentary coach? Or would the Direct Action of industrial warfare descend upon John Bull like a flight of paratroops and bind the stubborn hands of that old individualist in scarlet manacles? There had been as many fashions in Socialist theory as in Stock Exchange booms. Thirty years ago, Syndicalism elbowed Collectivism aside, and Guild Socialism tried to make the peace between them and to breed the new Jerusalem from such a marriage of true minds. Then came Labor in (and out of) office, and, for reply, the kind of Communism which delighted to put the writing on the wall with chalky summons to a Muscovite allegiance.

At the pressure of a jack-boot we have gone sliding into Socialism. Hitler has not so far managed to stamp on the face of Great Britain, but he has inclined it to swallow as gnats the measures which would lately have been deemed camels beyond all powers of digestion. Wherever you look, to field, factory, or forest, it is the same. The owner must do as he is bid, pay and accept prescribed prices, sow, plough, and cut as commanded, and generally prove to the world that, in this new Great Britain, possession is not, so much as one-tenth of the law. Couponed to the last caramel, we are well aware that a nation of shopkeepers may no longer keep shop and that every Englishman's home is the bureaucrat's castle.

True, you can still be in name the owner of your farm or factory, if ever you had one. But what is the point of ownership if you may not use the land or the plant according to your own views and may not in any way better yourself by hard or ingenious labor? We are just as effectively socialized in this country as if the State had seized land and workshops. We are, indeed, socialized far beyond the odd dreams of political Labor and official trade unionism. It has often been the Conservatives who made the big changes in this country and it is a Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer who has acted on the fairly simple, but far-reaching, notion that you can safely leave a capitalist with all his capital if at the same time you take away nearly all his income and forbid him to export money abroad or mind his own business at home.

So Socialism, which was to come like a Cossack, riding in scarlet through the cities of privilege and luxury, has been pushed through the door in a buff envelope. The assessors and collectors of taxes, acting under the blithe, cherubic guidance of Sir Kingsley Wood, may not have cut the throat of John Bull but they have so slashed his purse and penalized his pleasures that he knows himself to be (at least for the duration and, as Sir Kingsley has just warned him, a good deal more than that) no longer a son of liberty but a plodder on the treadmill of the new Socialist order.

He never voted himself into this order; he never achieved it by the austerity of the strike, the folded arm, the tightened belt. Hitler heaved the world askew and everybody had to slide. So even the British farmer, who used to be the rugged and impoverished monarch of all he surveyed, has toppled into a Fabian paradise and is now a slightly more prosperous bondslave of a County Agricultural Committee, which can turn him right off his own land if it dislikes his use of it and dictate the exact way in which he should arrange his own acres. Meanwhile the owner of a factory is just the employee of one or more Ministries.

The slide has not been so very painful. The results seem, on the whole, to justify the process in view of the moment's bitter need. But it is a little difficult to be sanguine about the future. Britain, thanks to Hitler, has now a Socialist economy. Britain, thanks to Hitler, is putting up with it and getting on with the job. For the time being the patriotic motive replaces the economic. Men work for safety or for vengeance. But when they need no longer do that will they not miss the old economic spur, the desire to "better themselves" and to do well for their families?

A ten-shilling income tax (with surtax in proportion) has given us what the Socialist orators could never do, Socialism in our time. But it has given us only the externals of collective organization; the Socialist psychology has not, I fancy, been proportionately developed. In wartime a Socialist economy without a Socialist state of mind is possible because the stimulus to effort is made of the foeman's steel. But later on the individualist psychology which has for centuries been natural to Britons will begin to reassert itself, and what is the restless, ambitious man eager for self-advancement (and not for self's sake only) going to do in a world of strict, ubiquitous controls and of a taxing system which puts the highest possible premium on dishonesty, evasion, and gambling and the highest possible penalty on honest labor honestly admitted? For that, quite simply, is what our income tax is now doing.

The problem of tomorrow is a double one. Either we must liberate the Briton from the Socialism into which he slid without ever wanting it or, if the world situation, national finances and public opinion make that impossible, we must accommodate his state of mind to his state of living. In other words, can we make Britons into contented, loyal and industrious Socialists after we have, owing to an accident of external pressure, made Britain into a heavily socialized machine? Can there be a good Socialism without good Socialists?

Colossal Crime

Cardinal Hinsley, Roman Catholic primate of England, says in Poland the Germans have slaughtered 700,000 Jews since the war began. Murder on so colossal a scale never before stained the pages of history. It is beyond even human imagination.—Ottawa Journal.

Working On Sunday

The Attorney-General says farmers can work in the harvest fields on Sunday. Why not? Golfers plow up the turf on Sunday and baseball on the Sabbath is spreading rapidly from border points to inland parks. And motoring—that's an old story.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

CAN THE ORATOR CONVINCE THE AUDIENCE?

Nazis Find Weak Spot in Line

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

The time lag between Russian and German reports from the Caucasus makes it doubly difficult to trace accurately the fast-shifting battle line between the Manych and Kuban Rivers. There seems no doubt, however, that the Nazis have either found a weak spot in that region or that the Russians are falling back behind the Kuban to make their stand on a new and curving river front 250 miles long.

Moscow admits further Red withdrawals below Salsk. The Germans assert they passed that point two days ago to cross the east-west line from Belaya Glinta to Bashanta and have now reached the Kuban River itself at several undesignated points and also taken Voroshilovsk by storm.

If that is true it means that the "tank army" which Berlin said recently was crashing through Russian defenses in the steppes east of the Kuban has driven a spearhead 75 miles below the Belaya Glinta-Bashanta line within the last thirty-six hours. Voroshilovsk lies thirty miles east of the Kuban, and about the same distance south of its great western bend, on a line virtually with Armavir. Presumably Nazi units which may have reached the Kuban are somewhere along its eastern bank between Armavir and the bend.

The armored wedge being driven southward east of the Kuban is narrowing dangerously, however. The Belaya Glinta-Bashanta line to which the Berlin claims referred is approximately 150 miles in length. The Kuban-Voroshilovsk span is a bare thirty miles. It seems obvious that an attempt to widen the thrust either westward across the Kuban or eastward from Voroshilovsk must be in progress. The Nazi corridor up the Kuban toward its mountainous sources is too narrow not to be subject to being pinched off by Russian counter-attacks from both sides.

A Nazi turn westward from Voroshilovsk against Armavir, coupled with drives to cross the Kuban between that point and the bend, would seem the most probable move.

It offers far more opportunity of dealing the Red Army of the Caucasus a smashing blow than would an eastward or further southward surge. The Rostov-Baku railroad and pipe lines lie west of the river. Armavir also is a more critically important junction point than Voroshilovsk.

It is a rail and pipe line connection with Tuapse on the Black Sea coast of the Caucasus, fueling base of the Russian Black Sea fleet. The Maikop field is located about midway between the two points. The Maikop oil is also piped directly to Krasnodar, on the western course of the Kuban, via an offshoot line northward from the Armavir-Maikop-Tuapse feeder system.

Should Armavir fall to Germans attacking from beyond the Kuban to the east, the whole northwest corner of the Caucasus, including the Maikop field, might be cut off to the Black Sea and its defending army trapped. It seems clear that desperate Russian attempts to hold the Kuban below the bend must be made, even at the price of giving up more territory below Rostov and Kushchevka.

The line of the Kuban from its Black Sea outlet south of Taman Peninsula to the great bend and then southward upstream to Armavir and beyond is vital to Marshal Timoshenko's left flank. The withdrawals in the left-centre, acknowledged by Moscow, may indicate a sweeping retirement behind the Kuban.

Can They Stop Petrillo?

Is it possible that there is a higher law even than Mr. Petrillo's slightest word? The Government thinks there might be and has had the temerity to move against him from two different directions. The Attorney General has authorized the filing of an injunction suit under the anti-trust laws to stop Mr. Petrillo from preventing his musicians' union members from making recordings for the radio. The chairman of the Federal Communications Commission has started an investigation of the cancellation, on Mr. Petrillo's orders, of the broadcast of the National High School Orchestra at Interlochen.

We wish these Government agencies luck. The past record of the Administration, Congress and the Supreme Court, however, has been all on the side of Mr. Petrillo. They may deplore what he is doing, but it is they who have brought about the state of law—or lawlessness—that has so far permitted him to do it. Let us recall that under recent Supreme Court decisions labor unions enjoy sweeping immunities from the anti-trust acts, and that Congress has not troubled to change this state of the law. Let us not forget that though employers are forced to recognize unions under the Wagner Act, there is nothing whatever in the Federal law to compel these unions to conduct their affairs responsibly.

There is nothing to prevent them from keeping out anybody from their union, and so denying him a job, unless he pays an extravagant initiation fee. There is nothing compelling them to make their finances public, or to submit to audit, or to hold regular and untimidated elections of officers. To force the employment of a "stand-in" orchestra, which must be paid even though it is not used, is, according to the explicit declaration of the Supreme Court, quite all right according to the law. Even for "union" hoodlums to lie in wait for trucks crossing a State line, force their way on to them by beating the drivers, and force the payment of "wages" to them though they do not offer to render any services, is, according to the Supreme Court, certainly not in violation of the Federal Anti-Racketeering Act.

As long as a spineless Congress permits this disgraceful state of the law we will have not only Petrillos but union leaders who do far more harm than the Petrillos. Indignation at the edicts of Mr. Petrillo, unaccompanied by any suggestion or move to change the state of the law which permits him and others successfully to issue such edicts, is either hypocritical or hopelessly stupid.—New York Times.

Pressure Groups and Inflation

It is obvious that this upward spiral of wages and the cost of living is inevitable if the War Labour Board's policy is applied on a nationwide scale and if members of Congress and pressure groups keep farm products exempt from price control. Farmers and workers under union contracts may lose temporarily in this seesaw race, but the real losers will be those who are in neither camp. They will foot the bill for the upward spiral of inflation. They will pay for it in the wiping out of savings, of investments, of insurance values, of all other values. The real danger signal on inflation has now plainly appeared.—New York Sun.

They Keep Active

Mr. Henry Wallace is described as the first individual to assume the Vice-Presidency of the United States who did not become, forthwith a "forgotten man." Approximately the same thing might be said of Mr. Wendell Willkie. He is still prominently in the public eye despite the fact that the last election has been over a long time. —Brantford Expositor.

Rockets vs. Bombers

One of the "surprise weapons" used by the Maritime Regiments at sea against attacking enemy aircraft is the rocket apparatus carried by defensively armed merchant ships. These rockets are one of the weapons most dreaded by the Luftwaffe. They carry up into the air long wires supported by parachutes, so that they remain in position for an appreciable time, and the method of using them is to time and place their discharge so that the attacking bomber must either swerve away from his bombing position or become entangled with the wires and be destroyed by them.—London Times

Rocks Ahead

A family ration book instead of individual cards or books may seem simpler, but it introduces complications where husbands and wives separate. It appears that the courts in the United States where sugar rations are obtained on family vouchers are faced with having to rule on who shall have custody of the rations in matrimonial disputes. — Saint John Telegraph-Journal.

A Bible Message For Today

Now when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum....And it came to pass the day after, that he went into a city called Nain; and many of his disciples went with him, and much people.

Now when he came nigh to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her.

And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not. And he came and toucher the bier: and they that bare him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise.

And he that was dead sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother.—Luke vii, 1, 11-15.

Jesus went unto the mount of Olives. And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came unto him; and he sat down, and taught them....

Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life....Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death. —John viii, 1, 2, 12, 51.

Headline Headaches

After referring to The Printed Word as erudite, the profound London Free Press asks whether Canadian headline writers can think of a better four-letter word than Czar as an apt and pungent synonym for some of the men recently come to autocratic power on the Dominion's wartime boards. (The Printed Word had mildly objected to the use of Czar as being possibly an offence to our Russian allies.)

Boss may not be as elegant a word as Czar, but it has fewer controversial connotations. Then there is chief, which should raise no international complications, but uses an extra half-space letter. The learned Free Press has probably considered and dismissed lama, inca, doge, emir, bey, beg and dey. Cham is an interesting word, but it would need to be explained, at least to us. A word we favor is domn, thought it might occasion some typesetting woes. For days when a newspaper has more elbow room in the headlines, there are numerous excellent choices of slightly longer words, besides the better-known mogul, tycoon and sachem we offer: imaum, sophi, nizam, begum, hospodar, beglerbeg and three-tailed bashaw.—(From the Printed Word).

Unconsidered Trifles

The Negro parson had been preaching about salvation and concluded by saying that it was free as water. Immediately after the sermon came the collection.

"But, parson," objected one of the congregation, "I thought you said salvation was free like water."

"So it is, brother, so it is," replied the preacher, "and so is water. We only charge for piping it to you."

Barney, the junior partner, burst into the senior partner's room and banged angrily on the desk.

"Our showroom manager has gone raving mad," he cried. "We must dismiss him at once."

"Calm yourself," said the senior partner. "What's happened?"

"He has put on the showroom window a testimonial praising our typewriters, and it's written with a fountain-pen," Barney explained.

Scorched Earth On The Western Desert

Warfare across the barren Egyptian and Libyan deserts depends a lot upon whatever supplies can be captured from the enemy especially when long, stretched-out supply lines are continually harassed from the air. The ABOVE photo was made while General Rommel's forces were still advancing into Egypt and shows supply dumps at the Thalatha railhead after being set afire by the retreating British. Rommel since has been stopped cold and his worn-out army is taking a terrific pounding from the British and U.S. aircraft.

U.S. Butter Hits New 12-Year Peak

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—Butter prices rose to new 12 year peaks in the wholesale market yesterday in a continuation of their sharpest advance since 1936, when a severe drought cut production.

With all grades except the lowest advancing ¼ cent, wholesale butter market sold at 4 to 5 cents a pound more than on June 25, when the current upturn got underway. Ninety two score quality, a popular consumer grade, was priced at 40¼ cents a pound.

In back of the upturn, trade sources said, was smaller production, expanded domestic consumer buying, lowered quantities going into storage and liberal purchases for armed forces.

No Bananas Today

OTTAWA, Aug. 5—(CP).—Canadians may have cause to revive the song, "Yes, We Have No Bananas"

Donald Gordon, Wartime Prices and Trade Board chairman, suggested Tuesday that they may disappear from Canadian markets.

Originally exempt from the price ceiling, bananas were later made subject to an import ceiling.

"However," Mr. Gordon said, "shipping difficulties and the need to transship by rail from distant seaports in the United States may result in eventual disappearance of bananas from the Canadian market."

Want To Join R.C.A.F.

TORONTO, August 5 — (CP). — Mr. and Mrs. John Asher of Buenos Aires, Argentina, arrived here yesterday by air to enlist in the Royal Canadian Air Force. He hopes to become a member of the air crew and she is going to join the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division). They are both 26.

Great Assortment Of Ruses Used In Effort To Take Leningrad

MOSCOW, Aug. 5—(AP).—Commissar of State Security P. Kubatkin asserted today that the German besiegers of Leningrad have resorted to a wide assortment of ruses, espionage and "Trojan-horse" tactics in their vain efforts to break the defences of Russia's northern metropolis.

Writing in the Leningrad Pravda, Kubatkin related how a wounded man in a Russian uniform, picked up in the field and taken to a hospital, tried to get inoformation on supplies from Red Army soldiers. He was tried by a court martial as a spy.

The Commissar said the Germans also were using peasant garb to try to get behind the Red Army lines as refugees, had dropped parachutists in Red Army uniforms and had tried to recruit help from classes liquidated by the Soviet Government.

(The Germans have been on Leningrad's outskirts since last September 25.)

He reported one case in which the engineer in a factory, after making speeches urging the workers to greater efforts, was found to be a spy. The man had applied for membership in the Communist party and had been endorsed by three party members.

Last October, the Commissar said, a group of young persons in Leningrad was found to be carrying on counter - revolutionary activities. They even wentd to the outskirts of They even went to the outskirts of defenders. They were the children of Russians punished by the government for counter-revolutionary activities, he said.

Must File Postponement Request Within Eight Days Of Call

KINGSTON, August 5. — Mr. Justice Ainslie W. Greene, chairman of Administrative Division "C" said today that many men called for training under the National War Services Regulations are not compling with the Regulations in regard to the time that their applications for postponement should be made. "The Regulations provide that all applications for postponement must be made to the Divisional Registrar in writing within eight days of the date appearing on the notice directing the recruit to report for medical extminaiton,' he said.

"Instructions have been received from headquarters at Ottawa that this Regulation must be strictly enforced. Consequently, all recruits who receive notice to attend for medical examination are warned that they must make application for postponement within eight days of the date on the notice directing medical examination.

"When the notice is sent to the recruit a slip with printed instructions is enclosed and this contains a clear statement of the necessity of making application within eight days, but in spite of that, many recruits seem to overlook these instructions and file their applications for postponement after the eight day period.

"The period between the sending out of the notice for medical examination and the date on which the recruit is supposed to report to the training centre is necessarily short. Refusal to consider an application filed eight days has expired will doubtless cause hardship to otherwise deserving applicants for postponement. On the other hand, if the Regulation is not strictly enforced, there will be needless delay in furnishing the number of men asked for by the Department of National Defence."

Unions Aim At Peaceful Unity

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—(AP).— President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, said yesterday that he is 'confident' negotiators for peace between the A.F.L. and the Congress of Industrial Organizations can reach a settlement fair to all concerned"

The veteran A. F. L. leader said in a statement that the standing peace committee of the A.F.L. is ready to meet with a committee appointed by President Philip Murray of the C.I.O., who made peace overtures in a letter to Green Sunday. R. J. Thomas, head of the United Automobile Workers, joined in the peace overtures.

Green added that steps will be taken at once to arrange a time and place for a meeting of the negotiators.

While Murray was in Chicago also to address the convention of the C.I.O.-United Automobile, Aircraft, Agricultural Implement Workers, Green said.

Re-establishment of organic unity in the ranks of organized labor is the greatest contribution the A. F.L. and the C.I.O. can make at this time to the success of the war effort."

He said peace between the great rival labor groups would 'eliminate division, discord and jurisdictional strife and expedite war production,' and that it would 'permit labor to speak with a single, more effective voice, both in protecting the social and industrial interests of workers to-day and when world peace is finally negotiated.

'I am confident,' Green continued, 'that, actuated by a desire for peace which prevails throughout the ranks of labor, the conferees will be able to reach a settlement fair to all concerned.'

Youngest Veteran

TIMMINS, Ont., Aug. 5 (CP) — The Canadian Legion in Timmins points with pride at Eddie Barker, who they think is one of the youngest veterans of the First Great War. He enlisted in the 165th Battalion, a French-Canadian unit, in 1916 when he was only 14.

British House To Take Short Summer Recess

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(CP)—While the public still speculated on a possible second-front decision, the House of Commons agreed today to a short recess, its members reassured by Sir Stafford Cripps that they would be recalled in the event of "any unexpected situation."

When the recess will start or how long it will last was not announced.

Sir Stafford, leader of the House, reiterated the announcement that Prime Minister Churchill would make no statement on the war situation before the recess.

Canadians Holding More Than Two Weeks Supply Of Tea Or Coffee Must Report

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—(CP)—Persons with more than two weeks' supply of tea or coffee on hand when the new rationing regulations became effective Aug. 3 must report their total quantity to the nearest ration office the Wartime Prices and Trade Board said Tuesday, along with coupons to cover the difference between the amount on hand and the amount allowed under rationing regulations.

If the coupon value of the surplus exceeds the coupons attached to the temporary ration cards of all members of the household more than 12 years of age, the report should contain an undertaking to surrender the appropriate number of additional coupons when received, the Board said.

Last night's order, applying to any consumer, boarding-house operator and persons more than 12 years old, obligates persons holding two ration cards to return one of them immediately.

PLAZAS WHIP SOLDIERS 11-5 IN FINAL SCHEDULED SOFTBALL TILT

This Fan Too Helpful

Hey, Mr. Fan, keep your mitts off that ball! It's no use, however, for the fan has reached out and grabbed the ball away from Chuck Sylvester, Hollywood first baseman. The umpire, however, ruled the batter was out. Action is from a coast league game in Los Angeles.

Craig Wood Shoots A '70'

By Scott Young,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, August 5. —(CP) — The locker-room boys are wondering today if they weren't a little hasty in conceding the Canadian Open to tee-sized Ben Hogan the moment he turned up here yesterday.

When Hogan toured the championship layout at the Mississauga Club a few hours after his arrival he looked good only rarely to fall far in the shadow of the old maestro from Mamaroneck, N. Y., Craig Wood. Hogan's score wasn't recorded, but he was nursing a fearsome hook and had trouble keeping clear of the swift-running Credit river which threads the 6543-yard course.

Wood rolled home with a 70, two under par and two over the course record. His long, straight game seemed fitted to the narrow fairways and malicious traps.

Wood and Hogan probably will be with the large contingent of visitors touring Mississauga again today in preparation for the beginning tomorrow of the three-day, 72-hole competition for the Canadian Open's $3,600 in prize money and the Seagram Gold Cup.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association released the draw and pairings today for the single rounds on Thursday and Friday. There are 69 professionals and 40 amateurs entered, with the most interesting pairings sending Wood out with Nelson Young of Montreal Senneville and Bob Burns, the Canadian P. G. A. champion from Weston, Ont. Ben Hogan will play with Bob Gray of Toronto Scarborough and Stan Horne of Montreal Islesmere

After the Thursday and Friday rounds, the best 60 scores and ties will be eligible for championship play in the final 36 holes Saturday.

Sudden-Death Game Called Tonight

Plazas used the power of their bats to offset a lot of defensive slips last night to defeat the Soldiers 11 to 5 in the last regularly scheduled City League fixture at Riverside Park. As a result of their loss the Military Training Centre team finished on even terms with Luckies for third place and the two outfits will meet at Riverside Park tonight in a sudden death game to decide third and fourth positions and the play-off setup.

Last night's game was in aid of the Navy League and $27 was raised to assist the boys in blue.

Big Dave Wilson pitched one of his best games of the season for the winners in spite of the fact that in several frames his support was decidedly shaky. He allowed ten hits but several of them were decidedly scratchy and in the pinches the Soldiers found it tough coming through with safe blows.

Mack McKerrigan, who has been playing second base for Soldiers, turned out to be their new pitcher and after being hit hard in the first couple of innings he levelled away and blanked the hockey squad for the next five frames, only to run into another barrage of hits in the last two sessions, when Plazas scored seven runs to put the game in the bag.

Plazas got 17 hits off McKerrigan with Eddie Starr setting the pace with a homer, triple and single in four official trips to the plate. Art Heal had a double and two singles, while McIlveen led the Soldiers with a homer and double to his credit.

In spite of the errors there was some sparkling fielding, with Julian Wade having the feature play when he ran far out over the left field foul line and speared Mortimer's long foul fly with his right hand on the run, an almost impossible grab. Don Crowe dashed out into right field to make a beautiful catch with the bases loaded and for Soldiers, McLaren and McIlveen in the outfield came up with some fine catches of long drives.

Plazas started with a run in the first, when Heal doubled to centre, went to third on a passed ball and scored when Kingdon flied out to centre. Crowe singled to left but the hit was wasted when Blewett and Wade flied out.

Soldiers evened it up in their half. Barnes walked, Anderson got a life when Crowe fumbled his roller, and Thomson walked to fill the bases. Sero's drive was diverted by W. Starr to Heal, who forced Anderson at second, Barnes scoring on the play. McIlveen struck out and McLaren rolled to Wilson.

A Real Barrage

Plazas greeted McKerrigan in the second with five straight hits for three runs. Ellis nearly knocked the pitcher over with a line drive which struck him in the back. Ellis went to second on a wild pitch and scored on W. Starr's single past second; Eddie Starr tripled to right, scoring W. Starr and went home himself when Wilson singled to short centre. Heal bounced a single over third but Kingdon struck out. Crowe fouled to Herrick, and Heal was forced at second on Blewett's roller.

Plazas did not score again until the eighth. Soldiers, however, got one in the fourth when the hockey squad had a bad frame. McLaren beat out a bunt and McKerrigan scratched a hit on a roller deflected by W. Starr. Mortimer was safe when Ellis fumbled his roller, and when the first baseman made a low, wide throw to third McLaren scored. Art Heal muffed Herrick's pop up, filling the bases. However, Barnes flied to Kingdon in short right, the runners holding their bags, Anderson fouled out and Thomson lifted an easy fly to Crowe.

With one gone in Soldiers' half of the fifth, McIlveen made the score 4 to 3 when he slashed a homer down the right field foul line. Kingdon tried to make a diving stop of the hard-hit ball, but it shot away from him.

The military team took the lead in the sixth. Herrick walked and Barnes beat out a bunt. Anderson singled down the left field line, filling the bases. Crowe saved trouble for the time being by a nice running catch of Thomson's fly into short right. Sero raised an easy fly back of short and got a cheap hit when Heal and Wade watched the ball drop between them. Herrick scored on the play. Heal fumbled McIlveen's roller and Barnes went home. McLaren, however, struck out and McKerrigan forced McIlveen. That left the score 5 to 4 for Soldiers.

Wilson, however, held the losers scoreless for the balance of the game, and Plazas won the argument by scoring three in the eighth and bagging four more in the ninth. Joe Jones opened the eighth by singling through short. Eddie Starr drew a pass and Wilson was safe when Anderson fumbled his bunt, filling the bases. Jones and Starr dashed home on a wild pitch, and Heal singled to left, scoring Wilson. Kingdon popped to Sero. Crowe was safe when McLaren muffed his fly to centre, but Blewett and Wade flied out.

In the ninth after Ellis had popped out, Jones got a life when Herrick dropped his short fly on the run. Eddie Starr homered between right and centre to score two runs. Wilson walked and after Heal had popped to Thomson, Kingdon singled through second, Wilson going to third and Kingdon taking second on the throw to the difficult corner. Crowe singled to centre to score Wilson and Kingdon, Blewett blazed a single to right, but Wade flied out.

Herrick tripled with two out in the Soldiers' half, but died on third

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

As a result of the defeat of Soldiers by Plazas last night, the team from the Military Training Centre will have to play Luckies tonight to decide third place in the league race. The loser of this sudden death battle will take fourth place and have to meet Plazas in the first game of the playoffs on Friday night while the winners of tonight's tilt will meet Royals Monday night in the first playoff game in the other semi-final bracket. These two series are best two-of-three. Tonight's argument should be quite a battle. Manager Fred Griffin has Southpaw Bill Lewis and Righthander Bill Moorhead to chuck in against the Soldiers while the Military Training Centre outfit will have to send McKerrigan right back into action. The second baseman stepped into the breach caused by the loss of Ken Fleming and Stan Kilfoyle, both of whom have been moved out of town on military duties. Both teams will have their best lineups in action for this decidedly important clash which will start at 7 o'clock sharp at Riverside Park.

* * * * * *

Although Plazas played some sloppy ball in the field against the Soldiers last night, they managed to hit in enough runs to more than make up for their defensive slips and the result was that the hockey squad have completed their season two full games ahead of the second place Royals. The standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Plazas	9	3
Royals	7	5
Soldiers	6	6
Luckies	6	6
Juveniles	2	10

The hockey boys have played good ball all season. Since dropping their first game to Royals they have come through with nine wins in eleven starts, a good showing for any man's ball club. Plazas are stronger than most of the other clubs in reserves and have used more players than any of the other aggregations. They have a lot of power up there at the plate and their ability to build up a concentrated attack at one stage or another has enabled them to come through nicely to grab off first place.

* * * * * *

The Westclox girls breezed through last night after a bad start to grab off their seventh win in a row. Electrics were the victims. Manager Bob Batley's girls opened up a big early lead by scoring seven runs in the second frame but that was their scoring for the night. Westclox got their attack moving in the fifth and in the next three frames they chased 16 runs across to take the argument 19 to 7. Now the Big Bens are all set for the crucial clash with Generals Friday night upon the result of which first place depends. First, however, Generals have to meet their sister club the Electrics tomorrow night. Manager Batley's team has one win over the Generals to their credit and they will do their best to pick up another in the final meeting of the two clubs at the Bowl Thursday night. The two C.G.E. teams should put up quite an agrument before deciding a winner.

* * * * * *

Undoubtedly this is a real pitchers' year in the big show. If you doubt that fact look at the averages of some of the powerhouses of both circuits or take a look at the batting lists. Ted Williams with .346 heads the hitters of both loops, a decidedly low mark to top both circuits. And a mark of .328 is enough to give Joe Medwick third place in the National League. There will be no .375 hitters under the big top this season and Ted Williams' .406 mark of last year looks fantastic. Incidentally, Williams is the first player this season to bat in 100 runs. His mark today is 101 while Johnny Mize who leads the National League in that department is 26 behind with 75.

Marchildon Grabs Another

Phil Marchildon, the Penetang boy, is having himself quite a season with the Philadelphia Athletics. Yesterday he picked up his 13th win of the season and his victims were the Boston Red Sox who went down 6 to 4. Marchildon held the hard-hitting Sox to four blows which is a nice pitching chore anywhere that baseball is played. It is quite possible for the Ontario-born right-hander to become a 20-game winner this season and that would be a real feat with a club so far down the ladder as the A's. In the other afternoon game in the American loop yesterday the veteran Ted Lyons battled with another great old timer, Tommy Bridges of the Tigers, and the former triumphed 5 to 4 despite the fact that Rudy York poled his 16th homer of the season.

* * * * * *

In the National League the feature was the defeat of St. Louis Cards by the Cincinnati Reds with Johnny VanderMeer victorious over Krist and Gumbert. VanderMeer held the Cards to five hits in winning 4 to 3. Boston's Jim Tobin dropped another game despite a five-hit pitching effort, to the Phillies but Tobin probably got quite a bit of satisfaction over the fact that he came through with his sixth homer of the season which is demonstrating a lot of power for a pitcher. Pittsburg grabbed off an eleven-innings game from Chicago Cubs 2 to 1 after a tidy pitching duel between Klinger and Bithorn. Klinger held the Cubs to seven scattered hits.

Brooklyn's Turn

It was the Dodgers' turn to howl about the dimout regulations last night. Monday night the Giants started a last inning rally that was halted when the signal sounded and Brooklyn won the ball game. Last night the shoe was on the other foot. The Bums and Giants had moved into the tenth frame tied up with one run each. Brooklyn loaded the bases in the extra frame on a hit, an error and a walk. Then Pee-Wee Reese hit a homer inside the park to give the Dodgers four runs. The Giants of course did not break any speed records from there in in trying to get the innings over and the result was that the game was called with the Dodgers still at bat and the score reverted back to the ninth. Higbe and McGee were the opposing pitchers in the deadlocked game.

* * * * * *

In an American League night game smooth-working Sid Hudson turned in a neat card against the New York Yanks and Washington Senators won the tilt 4 to 3. Hudson held the league leaders to seven hits, the same number as the Senators registered off Lindell and Russo who worked for the losers. The Yanks still have a lead of 12½ games over the second place Indians and are not worrying unduly.

Miss Thelma Whips Highly Favored Field At The Spa

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—Dunbar W. Bostwick's Miss Thelma whipped a highly favored field of Hambletonian prospects twice in the top event of the opening program of a week's Grand Circuit running at the Saratoga Raceway.

Not eligible for the Hambletonian herself, Miss Thelma swept both dashes of the $7,338 Championship Stallion Stake. Bostwick, vice-president of the Raceway and owner of the track at Aiken, S.C., is in the Army Air Force.

The mare, trained and driven by Harry Whitney, defeated, among others, Paxton Hanover and Pay Up. Paxton Hanover ran third and second in the two-mile dashes, and Pay Up finished second and sixth. Miss Thelma's best time was 2:07.

Joseph A. Neville's Hank Thompson and Thomas B. Graney's Austin Hanover each took a dash of the $5,000 Victory Purse for 2-year-olds, with Austin Hanover winning the race-off.

A crowd of 1,500 bet $42,728 through the pari mutuel windows.

Summaries:

The Championship Stallion Stake; purse $7,388; trotting; 1 mile for 3-year-olds:

WESTCLOX SWEEP CLOSE TO LEAGUE LEAD WITH 19-7 DECISION

Down Electrics To Score Seventh Victory

Westclox continued their winning sweep in the Girls' Softball League at the Bowl Tuesday night when they defeated the Electrics 19 runs to 7. It was the seventh win in succession for the Big Bens and puts them right in line to sew up the race for first place if they can overcome Generals in Friday night's battle between the two clubs.

Electrics had one big innings last night, the third frame, when they managed to score seven runs, their total for the night, on six hits, a walk and a couple of misplays. But Marg. Watson held the losers well under control for the rest of the distance and the Westclockers refused to let that one big frame get them down. They kept hammering along, scored four runs in the fifth to put them only a counter behind, broke out with a five-run barrage in the sixth to go well in front and then cracked the ball game wide open by manufacturing seven runs in a big seventh inning in which they combined four hits with several Electric defensive slips.

Westclox were without Catcher Isobel Bullock who is on vacation and Marg. Hawthorne moved in from third base to do the receiving, while Toots McLean had to play third and Doris Walker took over the second-base duties. The revamped lineup did a good job, with Audrey Armstrong in right field standing out with some fine catches and Eunice Armstrong also making a nice grab to contribute one of the fielding features.

Toots McLean led the Westclockers at bat with four hits. M. McIlwaine and E. MacKenzie came through with two each for Electrics.

Mary Larmer held Westclox in check for the first four innings but once they started rolling the Big Bens scored without a great deal of trouble.

Lights Cut Off As Dodgers Stage Big Rally

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer.

New York fans may never like "twi-night" baseball, but they now are ready to admit that the dimout plays no favorites.

Twice in two nights the gripping struggles of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants have been prematurely ended by the army orders that all floodlights must be extinguished an hour after sundown.

Monday this rule helped beat the Giants 7-4 when darkness smothered a promising rally in the last half of the ninth inning—to the violent displeasure of a crowd of 57,305 fans assembled for the benefit of army relief.

Last night, however, the switching off of the Polo Grounds lights erased a four-run 10th inning outburst by the Dodgers and gave the Giants a 1-1 tie which the teams will play off September 6. This time the 15,000 fans accepted the incident without a demonstration, although they had booed time-killing manoeuvres of the rivals throughout the game.

The fans' loss was slight compared to that of Peewee Reese, the Dodgers' little shortstop, who hit a home run with the bases loaded to knock Fiddler Bill McGee out of the box in the 10th. It didn't count because the inning wasn't finished.

The Giants had little chance of getting a turn at bat anyway, and they made certain they would not by some dexterous stalling.

The same teams meet in their third successive twi-night game tonight, but this time across the city in Brooklyn.

Lead Of 10 Games.

Although the Dodgers didn't win, their National League lead was extended to 10 full games, their largest margin of the season, because St. Louis Cardinals were set down 4-3 at Cincinnati.

Pittsburg Pirates captured a 2-1 decision over Chicago Cubs on Frankie Gustine's only hit of the day, a single with two on in the 11th inning. Bob Klinger held the Cubs to seven hits.

At Philadelphia Jim Tobin held the Phils to five hits, but was beaten 4-2 because the only runs Boston Braves scored were on Tobin's own home run with a mate aboard in the seventh inning. This was the big righthander's sixth circuit clout of the year and tied Hal Schumacher's National League record for homers by a pitcher. In winning old Si Johnson pitched seven-hit ball.

New York Yankees were beaten 4-3 in a night game at Washington, but received some consolation from the fact that their ailing left-hander, Marius Russo, rejoined the club and pitched two innings of no-hit ball in relief.

Phil Marchildon, of Penetanguishene, Ont., the standout hurler of the last-place Philadelphia Athletics, held Boston Red Sox to four hits to achieve his 13th triumph of the year by a 6-4 score. Marchildon caused himself uncommon trouble with six bases on balls, but his teammates thumped Charley Wagner solidly.

Rudy York hit his 16th homer but Detroit Tigers were beaten 5-4 by Chicago White Sox in a loose pitching battle between two old-timers, Ted Lyons and Tommy Bridges.

Cleveland at St. Louis was postponed.

Rookie Wins 12 Games To Gain Top Bracket

(By Central Press Canadian)

Without much fanfare, John (Nig) Beazley, tall rookie righthander of the St. Louis Cardinals, has pitched himself into the National League sports picture as "the" rookie hurler of the year.

Beazley was just another Cardinal hurler in the spring. Harry Brecheen, Murry Dickson and Howard Pollet were the big minor league names. But given a chance to make good, Beazley has come along until today he stands as the leading Cardinal twirler and one of the five top flingers in the senior circuit.

Beazley, 23 years old, pitched for New Orleans last year. He won 16 games before Cardinal scouts spotted him and brought him up to the St. Louis club near the tail end of the season. He did get in one game and hurled a victory on closing day.

Beazley, a Nashville, Tenn., product, has a terrific fast ball and ranked second in the Southern Association in strikeouts last year. He give Ray Blades, ex-big league manager, credit for developing him into a pitcher.

Many French Race Horses In Britain Are Causing Heavy Financial Strain On Trainers

By ALLAN NICKLESON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, August 5.—(CP).—Sport shorts from Britain:

The thousands of dollars worth of racing horseflesh left in Britain while their French owners remain in France raised a problem of keep. Here's the answer supplied by the Board of Trade:

When trainers decide they can no longer keep a French-owned horse they apply to the Board of Trade and are granted an order to sell. Proceeds are given the custodian of enemy property who pays the trainer the costs of keep since the last payment received from the owner. The balance is held by the custodian and ultimately will be included in the financial settlements of the peace treaty.

Three such valuable animals belonging to the wealthy Greek sportsman, S. Vlasto, were sold at Newmarket after the trainer said he hadn't heard from the owner since the war's start.

With the possible exception of two or three of the most outstanding, all horses purchased by A. E. Allnatt from the estate of Lord Glanely will be put up for public auction—which was the original plan before the London building contractor purchased the 134 animals in one of the biggest turf transactions for many years.

Here and There: Close watch is being kept by the Amateur Boxing Association on all boxing in which men from overseas participate and competitors must sign forms guaranteeing their amateur status. It's felt such supervision will guard the interests of both British and visiting competitors. A. B. A. rules also will be explained to visiting ringmen used to International Federation regulations......West Ham United Football club lost $2,145 last season compared with $8,360 the previous year.

Leafs Divide Games With Newark

By The Associated Press

Rochester hasn't much to boast about this International League season but it can sing the praises of Ira Kendall Hutchinson and you won't find many fans or players to disagree.

The big righthander has won 11 games. When you consider that Hutchinson is toiling for a tailend club and his victories represent one quarter of Rochester's total games won, you can easily see why he is held in such high regard.

Hutchinson turned in his 11th win last night as he scattered seven Jersey City hits for a 10-1 triumph. The Giants' only run came in the first inning on Joe Orengo's double and Gibby Brack's single.

The Wings assumed the lead in their half of the first by scoring five times. In the third, with the help of a home run by Harry Davis, they counted three more times. Bud Blattner drove in the final two tallies with a round-tripper in the eighth. Johnny Wittig went the distance for the Giants, giving up 12 hits and 13 bases on balls.

Hank Sauer walloped two home runs and a triple as Syracuse Chiefs and Buffalo Bisons split a double-header. Buffalo won the first game, 13-4, as the Bisons pounded Tom Delacruz and Lynn (Line Drive) Nelson for 15 hits, including homers by Dutch Meyer and Mayor Smith.

A 16-6 Win

The Chiefs reversed the procedure in the second, when they exploded 18 hits for 16-6 victory. Sauer drove in five runs. Five of Buffalo's tallies came as the result of four-masters by Johnny Melaj, Henry Steinbacker and Bob Garbark.

Newark Bears and Toronto Maple Leafs divided a double-header with the Leafs winning the first, 6-4, and the Bears the finale, 5-2 in 11 innings. Harry Shuman allowed one hit and one run until the ninth inning of the opener. Then the Bears slammed three more hits good for three more runs.

The star of the nightcap was Tommy Byrne, who pitched the entire distance for Newark and notched his 14th conquest. Byrne didn't issue a single pass and figured prominently in the scoring with three hits, including a triple.

Ken Trinkle hurled the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-3 victory over Montreal Royals in the lid-lifter, but Les McCrabb outpitched Pete Center to give the Royals a 3-1 victory in the wind-up of a twin feature. Gene Moore of the Royals hit safely in both encounters to run his hitting streak to 15 straight games.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Fast time pastime: While fans still are talking about the sudden end of the Giants-Dodgers benefit game the other evening it seems like a good idea to point out that clubs can and do finish games in a lot less than two hours and 25 minutes... The Sally League—"mother of the minors, cradle of the great"—has the same sort of dimout problem and President E. M. Wilder reports that by barring all stalling they have cut the average time to about an hour and a half..."As long as we can hold this record, the fans, the officials and everybody else concerned are satisfied," he adds...Only official action to bring about this speed-up was a ban on mass arguments, but we understand a lot of the wasted time between innings has been cut out, too.

Phil Marchildon Leads League By Winning 13 Games For A's

By STEVE O'LEARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON, Aug. 5 (AP) — Phil Marchildon's name won't be found anywhere among the American League's leading pitchers but every other Major League manager would part with a couple of eye teeth to have the Canadian-born ace of the Philadelphia Athletics on his side.

They might do all right at that for, in return for the pair of ivories, they'd be collecting one of the outstanding pitchers in the Major Leagues, even though he has been toiling in virtual privacy with the tenants of the American circuit cellar.

Take Phil and Roger Wolff away from the A's this season and they would be tunneling deep enough in the standings to come up somewhere around the Coastal Plains League. Phil has won 13 games and Roger 10, more than one-half of the 42 games the Athletics have marked down this season on the black ink side of the ledger.

That mystic 13 incidentally, makes Marchildon the first American League pitcher to gain that many decisions this season—an accomplishment the more noteworthy when one considers how often his team has labored in a losing cause. He has been defeated only eight times—another more than creditable feat when one reflects on what punching bags the once-mighty Athletics have become for the rest of the league.

Marchildon, native of Penetanguishine, Ont., came up to the Athletics from Toronto Maple Leafs near the end of the 1940 season. Before being signed by the Leafs he had made a name for himself in Canada on Ontario sandlots.

His four-hit verdict against the Boston Red Sox yesterday gave him two victories and one defeat against them this year, equalling his record against them for the entire season in 1941.

The Sox blasted him from the box in the opening game of the season but he's had their number ever since. He's been impartial, too, beating them both at home and on the road and each and every one of the heavy hitting Red Sox array concedes that he's one of the toughest pitchers in the business to face when he's really pouring it in there.

Phil is inclined to be really wild at times, as his six bases on balls, a hit batter and two wild pitches yesterday proved. But no one can laugh off his amazing record and such distinguished service makes him the envy of other big league managers.

They needn't worry about their eye teeth, though.

Phil has a date with the Canadian Army and expects a call almost any time for further distinguished service in a greater cause.

Britain's Home Guard Toughens Up

Britain's home guard, composed of men too old or otherwise ineligible for first line combat duty, is now going through the same toughening course given commando troops. These men are shown swimming across a river to establish a bridgehead. The men wear camouflage netting to cover heads and faces.

Police Probing Jew-Gentile Racial Scraps

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., Aug. 5 —(CP).—Municipal authorities here waited today for Provincial police investigation of disturbances between Jews and Gentiles, which resulted in the congregation of large crowds on downtown streets last Thursday and Friday and the request by Police Chief Floyd Gerrard for additional police aid because he had feared trouble between the two races.

Reeve N. L. Smith said last night application had been made and granted for police investigation of the disturbances.

One man is being held in jail here on charges of resisting an officer and assault occasioning actual bodily harm following a disturbanre last Friday night when a crowd of 3,000 persons filled down town intersections. Chief Gerrard said the same-sized crowd had congregated the previous night and following the trouble Friday he had asked for and received eight provincial policemen from the Niagara district to aid his men.

The officer said early Sunday morning a mob of men and boys smashed plate glass windows on a Jewish-owned store and hotel, then wrecked shelves and danced on counters.

Chief Gerrard said he feared last week a racial riot was being instigated by two antagonistic factions of Jews and Gentiles in Crystal Beach, whose normal population of 700 is swelled to thousands by summer visitors. The regular police force has been augmented by Provincial police since Sunday night, officials said.

Streets were cleared and places of business were asked to close three-quarters of an hour earlier Saturday night after a number of disturbances took place.

Officials of the Crystal Beach Amusement Company, which operates the concessions at the resort, said "the troubles are not happening at the park but in Crystal Beach Village."

stubborn resistance" of millions of Indians.

Propaganda Boomerang

While most British observers accepted as timely the release of the text of the seized Gandhi resolution, the Bombay correspondent of the London News Chronicle said in a message to his paper it might prove a "propaganda boomerang" that likely would close gaps in the ranks of Congress leaders and supporters.

(There was no indication in London what action the British were preparing to take to cope with the mass disobedience movement in India if the Congress gives the "Go-ahead" at Friday's meeting as expected. Observers there recalled the statement in the House of Commons by L. S. Emery, Secretary for India, on July 30 that the Government of India will "take every possible step to meet the situation.") situation in the Caucasus and the newspaper Pravda, in a message to soldiers and civilians alike, appealed: "More firmness and stuborness and the enemy will be stopped."

Dive Bombers Active

Izvestia described the situation as tense, with the Germans concentrating superior numbers of troops and large tank forces in the Belaya Glina area while dive-bombers rained bombs on the wearying Russian defenders. The paper added without explanation that Russian strength is growing and that the southern commanders realize the German offensive must be stopped.

Of the withdrawal at Belaya Glina, the mid-day communique said:

"In the Belaya Glina area our troops fought a heavy engagement with enemy tanks and motorized units which had broken through. Our troops withdrew to new defensive positions."

The German pressure was heavy too at Kushchevka, south of Rostov, where the Russians have fought stubbornly and unyieldingly and now face the possibility of being cut off by German troops moving southwestward from Belaya Glina.

One infantry formation at Kuschevka was credited in the mid-day bulletin with destroying six German tanks and much equipment and killing about 550 Germans. Three thousand in all were reported wiped out in engagements in this sector.

Fighting was likewise fierce in the Ketskaya sector, northwest of Stalingrad, with the Germans attacking repeatedly in an effort to bridge the Don but the trend of the fgihting was not indicated. Earlier the Russians had reported a setback here.

Furious Resistance

In almost all the important southern sectors, the Germans were reported making some progress against furious Russian resistance which took a heavy toll in German manpower and machines.

At Ketskaya, the Germans threw new reserves into the struggle and, in a bitter exchange of blows "pressed back somewhat" the Russian defenders, the midnight Soviet communique said. The vicious fighting in the Ketskaya sector has whirled about one populated place for several days, the communique reported.

To the south, the midnight bulletin said, the Russians were counter-attacking after blunting many enemy attacks. Russian tanks, it was said, crushed 270 German officers and men in one fight and Red Army fliers were reported to have destroyed 30 tanks, 90 trucks and other Nazi equipment in one day.

The German drive to Belaya Glina developed after the Russians had been forced to withdraw from Salsk, 40 miles to the northeast. The German push was aimed directly at Tikhoretsk, about 50 miles southwest of Belaya Glina.

(The German high command claimed yesterday that Voroshilovsk, 90 miles southeast of Belaya Glina, was in German hands.)

90 Miles From Oil Centre

Tikhoretsk is the junction of the Rostov-Baku railroad and the line running from the Black Sea to Stalingrad. It is only 90 miles north of Maikop, the oil centre in the foothills of the Caucasus mountains which supplies seven per cent of Russia's oil.

The most serious element in the German advance toward Tikhoretsk is the threat to the body of Russian troops fighting in the Kushchevka area to the north. But the stubborn defence of Kushchevka seemed to indicate the Russians were planning to defend a north-south line extending roughly along the Rostov-Baku railway from the Sea of Azov through Kushchevka and Tikhoretsk and anchored in the south to the Caucasus mountains.

Fierce Don and Kuban Cossacks were slashing at the invader on plains which have known the second of battles for centuries. But even their ferocity and skill were not enough to turn back the mechanized Nazi units with their protecting cover of dive-bombers.

American Oil Tie-up With Nazis Called Unwholesome By Attorney

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(AP).—A United States' attorney told Senators yesterday that Germany had now abolished—of which Standard a 'guiding and in a patent pool — Oil of New Jersey was a member.

Patrick Gibson, a special attorney for the Department of Justice anti-trust division, testified before the Senate Patent committee that the C.R.A. (the initials, he said presumably signify Catalytic Refining Association) covered the broadest field of any of 'the oil patent pools promoted by Standard exploitation of the combined patent assets of itself and I. G. Farbenindustrie,' huge German chemical trust.

'It is, of course, notorious that for the last several years German business enterprise has been German government enterprise,' Gibson said.

'But it certainly should be expressly pointed out that this agreement upon C. R. A. processes, which was international in character, and which lay down the lines all over the world for enjoyment and licensing of modern catalytic processes, fixing economic advantage and prerogative therein, was promoted from the beginning under the control and direction of the German government.

'It is clearly an unwholesome situation that a foreign and, since 1933, a notoriously dangerous government should have a guiding hand in the creation of such international and domestic arrangements, while the government of this country did not even know the terms of the arrangements under negotiation—and, indeed, was not informed of the terms of the underlying basic relations that had existed since 1929 between the two principals, who were the largest industrial corporations in Germany and the United States respectively.'

Gibson said the first partner in C.R.A. under a 1938 agreement with the 'Standard, I.G. Indiana and Kellogg" companies, and that Anglo-Iranian, a British concern, was to join in the exchange of information and patent rights and to have favored royalty rights without he said, Shell, Texas and Universal participation in royalties. By 1939, firms had come in. (No further indification of these companies was given.)

Rev. G. Kelly delivered an inspiring sermon Sunday morning on "A Life of Prayer." He exhorted his hearers to pray more in their daily lives, putting into practice such words as "give us this day our daily bread" by going out to earn it in God's strength. No better example could be found than the Lord Jesus, who was constantly in prayer. He closed by quoting that beautiful hymn written by James Montgomery, "Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, Unuttered or expressed, The motion of a hidden fire, That trembles in the breast.

ing for more Allied naval and air aid to crush the Gona-Buna foothold east of Kokoda. The area has been subjected to a steady Allied bombing attack since the Japanese first landed July 22.

The Japanese were reported to have shelled and machine-gunned Gona and Buna before landing. A few white officers and native troops in the district withdrew toward Kokoda, but the Japanese were right on their heels. In one place the Japanese even caught up with the retreating Allied troops by swimming a mountain stream whose bridge had been destroyed.

Each time the Australian patrols made a stand the Japanese fanned out into the jungle, cutting paths with axes and bush knives, to encircle the Australian positions.

The Japanese jungle fighters were described as wearing green uniforms to blend with the forest, and green mosquito veils over their heads and shoulders.

PARKING CHARGES.

For double-parking on local streets, S. Crozier, Lakefield, and Mervyn Preston were fined $2 and $1 costs when they entered written pleas of guilty in police court this morning.

UNDER NEW REGULATIONS.

Hector Brown, on a written plea of guilty to driving faster than 40 miles an hour, was fined $15 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning. The charge was laid under the new war-time regulations.

WARRANT ISSUED.

At the request of Provincial Constable Price Morris, Magistrate E. A. Gee issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Stillman Guyette, formerly of Apsley, this morning. Guyette was to have appeared this morning on liquor charges but failed to answer when his name was called.

20 POUND MUSKIE.

Arriving back Sunday night from Connaught Ranges where he had put in two busy weeks with the 4th field battery, Denny Norris salesman for the Imperial Tobacco Company, went fishing Monday at Rice Lake and came home with a 20 pound muskie.

"A DARNED LIE."

An elderly citizen who appeared in police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy apparently did not understand the meaning of the charge. "It means you are charged with being a bum," explained Magistrate Gee. "It's a darned lie," returned the accused, who was remanded on the charge.

MUNICIPAL HEALTH

People of the city and county who are interested in the promotion of municipal health service are asked to make a note of a broadcast on this subject Monday, April 17 at 8:30 p.m. over CBL. The subject will be the story of the operation of the health service established in the municipality of McKillop, Sask.

CATCHES TWO MUSKIES

Napoleon (Paul) Vinette, a former resident of the Auburn district and now living in Toronto is spending a week with friends here. Last night he nabbed a 12-pound maskinonge while trolling in the Otonabee just south of the waterworks. It is 13 years since he met many of his old friends and he hopes to renew acquaintances this week.

TRANSPORTATION HEAD.

Lawrie Mitchell succeeds Roy Parsons as head of the transportation division of the Civilian Defence Committee. He was appointed Tuesday night. Mr. Parsons felt that he had more than enough work as city engineer, and that some one else would be willing to take his place. Mr. Mitchell was appointed by the council.

A NUISANCE.

Residentsof Rogers street north of Douro and south of Hazlitt are complaining that the stench from the sewer on Rogers street is almost unbearable. One man stated that on two or three evenings recently his family could not even sit out on the verandah. No explanation has been obtained as yet to indicate why such a condition should exist.

FORTY THIS TIME

About forty men responded to the call for transfusions when they appeared at the Blood Donors Clinic Wednesday morning for the regular weekly donor work. Due to the holiday there was no Clinic held on Monday so that they are working extra hard to make up for lost time. Very shortly it is hoped that they will reach their objective of handling 50 persons a morning.

HE WANDERED OFF

Officials of the House of Providence are enlisting the aid of police and civilians in an effort to locate William Kelly, elderly inmate of the House, who left the grounds at one o'clock on Tuesday and has not been seen since. He is over 70 years of age, short and stout, with dark hair slightly grey, clean shaven, and is wearing a peaked cap pulled well down on his forehead. The cap is dark grey. His suit is dark blue and he has a light colored shirt on. He may be headed for Grafton, Colborne or Cobourg where he has relatives. Anyone finding the man is asked to phone the police or the House of Providence. Kelly talks well but has mental lapses.

VOTE OF THANKS

For the time he gave to arranging details and also for the use of his automobile and gasoline in accompanying the representatives of the National Film Board here last Friday and Saturday, Alderman Glover received a vote of appreciation from the council Tuesday night. "Thanks but it hardly deserved that," he replied. "They were very pleased with their reception here," Mayor Hamilton said.

A NEW SIGN.

A motorist reaching the top of a hill on Highway 28 shoved his left arm out the window with clenched fist and thumb pointed upward, the usual thumbs up sign. The motorist following watched closely to see what it meant, and soon discovered that the man ahead had cut his motor and thrown out the clutch and was coasting his car down the hill to conserve on gasoline.

FINE RESPONSE.

Eric Howard, local merchant, voiced the thanks of the Y's Men's Club this morning to the public for the fine response to their appeal for magazines for the Prince of Wales Rangers on the west coast. A barrel was placed in front of Howard's store four days ago, and already more than 100 pounds of magazines have been placed in the barrel. The first 100 pounds of reading matter will be shipped to-day to the Rangers.

Drunk Driving Charge Dropped Today

Declaring that police had been lax in not securing a definite statement from the accused that he was driving the car at the moment of the accident, Magistrate E. A. Gee this morning dismissed a charge of drunken driving against Edgar H. Young.

Evidence was heard in the case last week and Magistrate Gee reserved judgment until this morning.

In stating his decision today His Worship stated the only evidence as to who was driving the car that collided with two other parked cars had been an admission by Young to the police and Magistrate Gee said that in his opinion that admission did not go far enough because it did not say that Young was driving at the time of the accident.

In dismissing the charge Magistrate Gee told the youth that he had been lucky in securing a dismissal by reason of the fact that the evidence had not been presented as it might have. The officers should have found out whether you were driving at the time of the accident, he said.

W. J. Arthur Fair appeared for the accused.

Two Sisters Sever Ties With City

Thirty years ago, two sisters from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., who married two brothers there, came to Peterborough where they have lived ever since. Now both brothers are dead, and today the two sisters who have stuck together through thick and thin, have packed up their furniture and are leaving for the old home in Poughkeepsie.

When John I. Allen came to this city so many years ago he brought his wife and her sister, and his brother, who as connected with the plumbing business, arrived later. Mr. Allen established and opened up this district for the Prudential Insurance Company thirty years ago and he was beloved by all his associates. He took a very keen interest in the affairs of the city and was always ready to lend his support to any worth-while cause. He also was a president of the Kiwanis Club at one time.

About two years ago this month Mr. Allen, who resided at 529 Weller street, died, and both sisters were left together in their adopted city, and they lived quietly enjoying the companionship of their friends. But old ties are strong, and the two ladies are anxious to return to the home containing memories of happier days, where they can call upon old friends and see the familiar spots of their childhood. The Allen family has contributed a great deal to Peterborough's welfare and it is with a sense of deep loss that citizens see them depart.

Tea Grabbers Swamp Local Grocers

The unexpected incidence of tea rationing Tuesday reacted in the grocery stores with a uniform and belated effort to overreach the new regulation and at least catch it by the coat-tail.

"I got so annoyed at the persistence of people to grab something for themselves in the face of the government's order that I took every pound of tea off the shelves and put the whole supply in the back shop," said the manager of one of the big stores. "They were trying to cover up packages with a lot of other goods, and trying to get away with it at the front counter. Some people must have thought we hadn't heard about the order. They'd put a lot of tea in a basket thinking they could get away with even that.

And the amusing thing about these people was their attempt to appear dumb, a kind of smartness that stooped to pretence that anybody could see through. On some orders in the early morning packages of tea slipped through in the checking, and the clerks had to repeat the addition at the cash register, so finally I decided to remove our entire display out of sight. After that we paid no attention to anyboy who did not have a ration card."

Another store mentioned the appeal to acquaintance. "You know Mr.——— I've been dealing here for the last ten years, and I just want a pound. We've got only half a package on hand."

That approach did not click either. One woman sent her little girl to a corner store for a pound of tea. That sidling failed, too. The 'grabbers' tried about every cheap ruse they could think of. Some of them began telephoning Monday to grocers and clerks they knew.

"Please put away a pound (in a few cases a larger quantity was mentioned) of tea for me, and I'll call for it first thing Tuesday."

P. G. Towns of Douro told the Examiner today of one incident in his store. It is touched with humor and unusual circumstance.

A man came to his store Monday urgently asking for a pound of tea, at the very least. "Can't do it," Mr. Towns said. "You can get just the rationing allowance."

"But this is special," the customer said. "I'm not trying to get something for ourselves. We've got the threshers coming, and we've got to have tea for them, and we haven't got enough. We never thought they were going to ration it."

Mr. Towns was quietly sympathetic, and remarked that the rationing plan made no exception for threshing crews and their demand on the family larder, especially the tea caddy.

"The only thing you can do, as I see," he said, "is to tell the threshers to bring their own tea. Each man bring his own."

And that seems to be the only solution, and it never happened before in Douro, probably at any rate. Imagine the starting out in the morning each with a spoon or two of tea in a paper bag.

Blame, Mr. Moto, or to be more specific Premier Hidaki Tojo of Japan whose latest utterance proclaimed to the democracies: "Japan is determined to destroy the United States and Great Britain." And that goes for Canada, too, and grocers and farmers and all the rest of us.

City To Engage Three Firemen

Engagement of three permanent firemen to bring the Gimblett staff up to ordinary strength was authorized by the council Tuesday night on Alderman Sullivan's motion, seconded by Alderman Mark. Their wage will be $100 a month without cost of living bonus.

"We couldn't get men on a temporary basis, and the Department has been going along with three men less than normal strength," Alderman Sullivan said.

At the end of a period of probation the three men who are appointed will also receive the cost of living bonus.

The Fire and Light Committee's report was read as follows by Alderman Sullivan:

"The chairman of this committee reported verbally on an inquiry he and Ald. Sands had made into conditions at the Fire Hall, and submitted recommendations for the welfare of the members of the Department, which included an estimate of $18.50 for repairs to the electric stove, repairs to the radio, new dishes, magazines and table tennis, etc.

"We recommend that Mr. Humpage, city auditor, be instructed to obtain a list of all contributions made to the Firemen's Pension Fund and the Firemen's Benefit Fund during the last ten years, with the dates and amounts and names of persons or companies making the contributions.

"We recommend that the Fire Department officers deliver to the city treasurer all the papers, vouchers, receipts, cancelled cheques and bank book, and balance of monies in the Firemen's Benefit Fund.

"We recommend that the officers of the Firemen's Pension Trust Fund be asked to attend the next meeting of the Fire and Light Committee to discuss the affairs of the fund."

Non-Support Charge Brings A Chuckle

When a local man who was charged with non-support this morning told the court that he was about to take a new job at $20 a week and commission working for a tea company, there was a general smile.

Magistrate Gee intimated that working on commission selling tea and coffee did not look like the best proposition in the world just now with those beverages under drastic rationing.

The accused said that he would be selling tea and coffee in the country districts.

"But the farmers are on rations, too," pointed out His Worship.

The charge against the accused was adjourned for a month to see how he gets along on the new job and how much in the way of support he supplies his wife during the period of adjournment.

Accused said that he had been suffering from fits since he was discharged from the army and blamed the blowing up of a gun for his condition.

"If his story is true he should have had a pension from the Government before this," commented Crown Attorney McElderry.

Sunday School Picnic Is Huge Success

The annual Sunday School and Corps picnic of the local Salvation Army was held on Monday afternoon at Nicholls Oval.

A large number of children and parents gathered to make the gathering a splendid success. The arrangements were in charge of Adj. Norman Buckley and Young People's Sergeant-Major R. C. Braund and his hard working staff of Sunday School teachers, who also ran a canteen.

In the afternoon various races were run off after which the families sat together for a basket lunch. Each child of the Sunday School who was present at the picnic received 3 free treats from the Sunday School.

In the evening the married men of the Corps played a snappy game of ball against the single men of the Corps in which the former won with a score of 10 to 3.

The results of the races were as follows:

Girls 5 and 6—Nola Reid, Marian Butcher.

Boys 5 and 6—Gerry Frizelle, Bob Downer.

Girls 7 and 8—T. Cross, Madeline Butcher.

Boys 7 and 8—Ross Withers, Carlos Braund.

Girls 9 and 10 — Doris Manley, Rita Reid.

Boys 9 and 10—Len McConachie, Jack Storey.

Girls 11 and 12—Doreen Johnston, Eilleen Gibbs.

Boys 11 and 12—Harry Davis, Carlos Bowes.

Girls 13 and 14—Mae Cox and Joyce Thomas tied, Nina Craig.

Boys, 13 and 14—Bob Storey, Wallace Panter.

Girls 15 and 16—Nola Smith, Ruth Thomas.

Boys 15 and 16—Len Slaughter, Reg Jones.

Unmarried women—Ruth Smith, Helen Long.

Unmarried men—Joe Craig, Len Slaughter.

Married women—Mrs. Adj. Buckley, Mrs. Frizelle.

Married men—Major R. Bamsey, Lorne Wicks.

Three-legged race, mixed—Ruth Smith and Joe Craig.

Wheelbarrow race, mixed—Ruth Thomas and Art Shadgett.

Needle and thread race, mixed—Nola Smith and Len Slaughter.

Americans Foster Wartime Economy

In the residential sections of Milburn, N.Y., some of the people have unearthed the old brass handbell that used to be warning calls at hotels when the bus was leaving for the 'depot' and other summonsing, such as at schools. They have been dusted off and suspended from a corner tree, and when somebody is taking off to drive down town he (and she) gives the bell a loud ring, inviting any other folks in the neighborhood to ride and especially to save gas and rubber.

"It has been a development of community spirit this war-time summer, and has been working so agreeably that Lowell Thomas mentioned it in one of his broadcasts," Fred Allen, a visitor to Peterborough said today.

Now don't quote me on this one, but it seemed to me there were more cars stopped below the red light on George Street at Hunter Street the other day than at Market and Broad in Newark, and they say that's the third busiest corner in the world," Mr. Allen also commented.

Mr. Allen, a former Examiner reporter, is now with the Prudential Insurance Co. at Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ARNOLD CROUGH

One of the saddest funerals held in this district in many years was that of the late Mrs. Arnold Crough, which took place from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Killen, 346 Dublin street, to St. Peter's Cathedral where Solemn High Mass of Requiem was offered by Reverend J. T. Finn, with Reverend Dean O'Leary as Deacon and Reverend V. J. Gillogly as Subdeacon.

A most eloquent sermon was delivered by Reverend J. V. McCauley of Campbellford, who stressed the imperative necessity of always being prepared for death. He also expressed his deep sympathy for her bereaved husband, her parents, the immediate members of her family, and her friends, following which the funeral proceeded to St. Martin's Cemetery, Ennismore, where interment was made.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Maurice O'Connor, David Scollard, Clem Haggerty, Daniel Crough, Pat Killen and J. K. Sheehy.

Those who attended the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Clem Haggerty, Miss Agnes Killen, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice O'Connor, Mr. Dan Sullivan and daughter, Mrs. Ann Headlee, Mr. and Mrs. John Cavanagh, Mr. Thomas Murphy, Mr. Philip Crough and Miss Mamie O'Connor, all of Detroit; Mrs. Edna LeCour, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. D. Scollard, 'Phone Scollard, John and Joseph Skyrock, all of Brantford; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crough and Percy Killen of Toronto; Miss Loretta Crough, Ottawa; Mr. Elmer Crough, Kingston; Mr. M. D. Sullivan of Pembroke, and Mrs. James Doran of Lindsay.

JAMES P. JACKSON

The funeral of the late James P. Jackson was held on Saturday morning from his former residence, to the Sacred Heart Church, Madoc, where Mass of Requiem was offered by Reverend Father F. Hyland.

Mr. Jackson is survived by his wife, two sisters, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Detroit, and Mrs. Peter Sheridan, Marmora; two sons, Vincent at home, Bernard of Toronto; one daughter, Mrs. W. T. Toal, Peterborough; and four grandchildren, Marilyn Jackson, Patricia, Edward and Michael Toal.

The many spiritual offerings received from his intimate friends and neighbors were gratefully accepted by his sorrowing wife and family.

Bearers were Messrs. Robert O'Riordan, Robert Bristol, Edward D. O'Connor, William Stewart, Colen Ross and Percy Caverley.

Interment service in Sacred Heart Cemetery was conducted by the Reverend Father F. D. Hyland.

MRS. MARGARET J. NEWNHAM.

The death occurred recently of Mrs. Margaret J. Newnham in her 78th year. Her maiden name was Margaret Jane Dodds, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dodds of Dummer. She was married to the late John J. Newnham and resided in Smith township for many years, until she moved to Oklahoma, U.S.A., in 1924. She returned to Canada two years ago, and has resided in Dummer and Emily townships since then. Mrs. Newnham had been ailing for about two months, and was a member of the First Baptist Church of Oklahoma City.

Her funeral was conducted from the home of her son Hugh Newnham, of Omemee, by the Rev. R. M. Patterson of Omemee, thence to Lakefield Cemetery for interment.

Left to mourn her loss are one daughter, Mrs. John D. Houdin, of Oklahoma, and three sons: Hugh and Gerald of Omemee, and Leonard of Peterborough; also two sisters, Mrs. Anderson of Warsaw and Mrs. Mullen of Oklahoma City; two brothers, Arthur of Coleman, Alberta, and George of Vancouver, B.C., also several grandchildren.

Pall-bearers were: Alex. Elliott of Smith, Bruce Fitzgerald of Smith, Ted Bryant of Peterborough, Wesley and Allen Dunford of Dummer, and Leonard Newnham of Peterborough.

MRS. ROBERT WEBBER.

MARMORA, Aug. 5 (ENS). — Shortly after 3 o'clock on Tuesday Mrs. Susan Webber, widow of Robert Webber, passed away at her home on Madoc Street, Marmora, at the age of 64. About six weeks ago she was stricken with an illness from which she seemed to make good recovery, but on Monday she had another seizure from which she failed to rally.

The late Mrs. Webber, who was born in Huntingdon township, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kilpatrick. After her marriage, she resided in Marmora township for some years, but shortly after the death of her husband eight years ago, moved with her family to their present home. She was of a quiet and neighborly disposition, and will be missed by her many friends. She was a member of the United Church. She is survived by three children: Mrs. George Young, Marmora township, and Robert and Blanche at home. She is also survived by one brother Richard Kilpatrick of Marmora township.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

Blocks Proposal To Appoint Arthur Metheral

A clause in the report of the Board of Works Tuesday night recommending the appointment of Plumbing Inspector A. G. Metheral as building inspector was deleted on Alderman Gordon's motion, seconded by Alderman Curtis.

The Board's proposal was made without consulting Mr. Metheral who did not know anything about it until the following morning last week when he heard it at the city hall.

Alderman Gordon said he had no personal objection to Mr. Metheral, but he considered that the building inspector should be an experienced builder or contractor. He suggested Max Sloan and Bert Graham, jointly, for the post which is now one City Engineer Parsons' duties. They were both experienced men, Alderman Gordon said, and the work of inspecting buildings in course of construction or renovation might be of help to them in the detail of valuations and assessment.

The Board of Works thought of Mr. Metheral last Thursday night in a desire to relieve Mr. Parsons of one of the jobs that crowd upon his time.

"We felt that Mr. Metheral could always be in a position to consult Mr. Parsons and get the benefit of his technical knowledge," Alderman Dutton said, referring to instances presenting extraordinary difficulties.

The Board had given some consideration to Mr. Sloan and Mr. Graham, of the assessment department, but it was felt that one of the busiest periods in their year was also the most active in normal building operations. Alderman Dutton also said that he had every confidence in Mr. Metheral, and that he had done everything asked of him in a thorough and painstaking manner.

The council decided to refer this proposal of appointing a new building inspector back to the Board of Works. No mention was made of salary at any time.

West End Boys Give Aid To War Victims

Two weeks ago, a group of young boys living in the vicinity of Homewood avenue and Weller streets, staged an effort on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund which netted $5.00, at which time their satisfaction was great enough to give them an urging to do further work for the same cause, and they immediately planned to hold another event this Saturday past, for which they made plans in detail to beat their former record, and just how well they succeeded is evidenced by the $10.30 (double the former amount raised) which is listed in today's receipts for the fund.

This time, their effort took on the nature of a fish pond, which was held at 529 Homewood avenue, residence of Donald Cowan, who had Neal White and Ross Lawrence associated with him in the good work, for which they also gathered a basket of groceries and sold tickets at 5 cents each for a draw to further help swell the proceeds.

The draw was made by 5-year-old Helen Fine, and resulted in the winner being Kathleen Canning, herself a worker on behalf of the fund, from whom, in association with three other girls, this column reported a donation to the fund only just a week ago.

These lads deserve a pat on the back, for in matters of this kind it is more the exception rather than the rule, for youngsters to accomplish one effort and then immediately set to work to turn in the fruits from another in the short space of two weeks.

Two personal donations are listed, and a steady, constant stream of such, no matter how small, could do a great deal to help keep the fund moving on behalf of the victims of air raids in Britain during the holiday months, and even those who are going to be away for holidays could find much satisfaction in having given help to those in need, before they go on their own pleasure bent.

Softball Game Saturday

A short time ago the C.G.E. and Genelco all star players hooked up in a game of softball, which was in the nature of a comeback for the C.G.E. players, who took advantage of their opportunity in no uncertain manner, and evened the score for a former defeat, so now the real test to prove who really is tops has been arranged to take place this Saturday at Riverside Park at 6.30 p.m. and the play promises to be fast and furious with each side out to make it two out of three. A silver collection as at the former games will be taken in aid of the fund.

Council Passes Plan To Improve Oval

The following report of the parks committee, read by Alderman Curtis, chairman, was passed by the council Tuesday night:

"That the council be asked for an appropriation of $6,000 to improve Nicholls Oval and extend its facilities, and that City Engineer Parsons be authorized to prepare a plan of the Oval at once and submit an estimate of the cost of filling in the old race track and levelling it off with top soil.

That the Parks Committee purchase 25 picnic tables to be used in several parks."

City Clerk Outram's report for July included this information: "Of the 69 births for the month, 49 were those of families residing in the city, and 20 were of non-resident families; four babies were born to unmarried parents. Of the 32 deaths recorded, 20 occurred in hospital, and six who died in local hospitals were non-resident persons."

Twenty-eight marriage licenses in July amounted to $140. Other observations in Mr. Outram's report were as follows:

During the month two applications for Old Age Pensions were considered, and one application for Mothers' Allowance was also considered. These applications were approved by the local board and forwarded to the Commission in Toronto for final decision.

Police Court

During the month 76 cases were recorded in Police Court. Of the 44 convictions included, 20 were for offences under The Liquor Control Act, 10 for parking violations, 3 under The Highway Traffic Act and 3 under the local By-law for cycling on walks. Sixteen entered written pleas of guilty and did not appear in Court. There were two convictions for unlawful sale of liquor, and the offenders went to gaol for two months. One 'third' offender also was committed to gaol for three months, but the remaining 16 of those convicted under The Liquor Control Act paid fines totalling $203.50, which constitutes the larger proportions of total receipts. Under Code 255 (4) (intoxicated in charge of car) there was one conviction. The amount collected during the month was $303.00, of which the City receives $148.79 and the Province $99.21.

Veteran Master Is Laid To Rest

Remembered only by his surviving contemporaries, Algernon St. A. Smith, who died in Toronto on Monday, was buried at noon today in the Little Lake Cemetery.

Many years ago he was a clerk in the local branch of the Bank of Toronto, and subsequqently manager of the branches at Keene and Millbrook. He took an active interest in the popular sports of that time, especially cricket, as a member of the old Peterborough Cricket Club.

Mr. Smith was in his ninety-third year, and at the time of his death he was the oldest Past Member of Peterborough Lodge, A.F. & A.M. He held that Masonic office fifty years ago, in 1892. His wife was the late Mary Denne, a sister of T. H. G. Denne.

Mr. Smith is survived by one son, Henry D. St. A. Smith of Toronto. Another son, graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston, was killed in the last war. He was a popular young man in Peterborough who went overseas about the same time as some of his young local friends who also did not return.

Wartime Houses Services Completed June 8

The pumps at the waterwork have been loafing along this summer according to R. L. Dobbin's June report showing 103,668,000 gallons as compared with 126,334,000 gallons in the corresponding month last year. The decrease in outflow through the mains was caused by the consistent rains this season, Mr. Dobbin remarked. Householders have been leaving the watering job to the 'raining Jove."

Up to the end of June most water consumers had not used the hose on lawns and gardens, while last year watering began in May, Mr. Dobbin said.

"All work on mains and services for Wartime Housing at Park Hill Road site was completed on June 8. Since then we have concentrated on the 18-inch force main."

The electric peak for June was 11,200 h.p. in June 1941, "This is a very small increase in peak over the corresponding month of 1941 and a decrease of 1,000 from May of this year? There was also an 8 per cent decrease in the number of kilowat hours supplied from the station as compared with June 1941.

Last year the Quaker Oats Company was taking a considerable amount of power, and this may account for the drop in the peak, but why the peak should be less this month than in May is not apparent. As far as we know the industrial plants of the city are as busy as ever, and there are certainly more domestic users. There was practically no construction of electrical lines during June.

Saints Topple Cubs 6-4 In Fast Tilt

St. Peter's came back into the win column last night when they defeated last year's champs, the Cubs, 6 to 4 in a Catholic League game at Memorial Park. It was one of the best games of the season in the Catholic Loop.

The winners scored all their runs in the first two innings, getting four in the first and two in the next stanza. The Cubs pushed up three counters in the first and added their last in the third. After that the teams battled the rest of the way wihout another run being registered.

Gordon for the victors and Hayes for the Cubs both pitched good ball. The former allowed six hits, walked three and fanned one while Hayes also yielded six hits, issued two passes and struck out three.

Rev. Father Wolff led the hitting for the Saints with two singles and Herr had a double. For the Cubs Leonard came through with two singles and R. Garvey hammered out a four-bagger.

Conroy's catch of a long fly by Brady close to the trees in deep left was the fielding feature. Caccavella at second for the Cubs turned in a neat card.

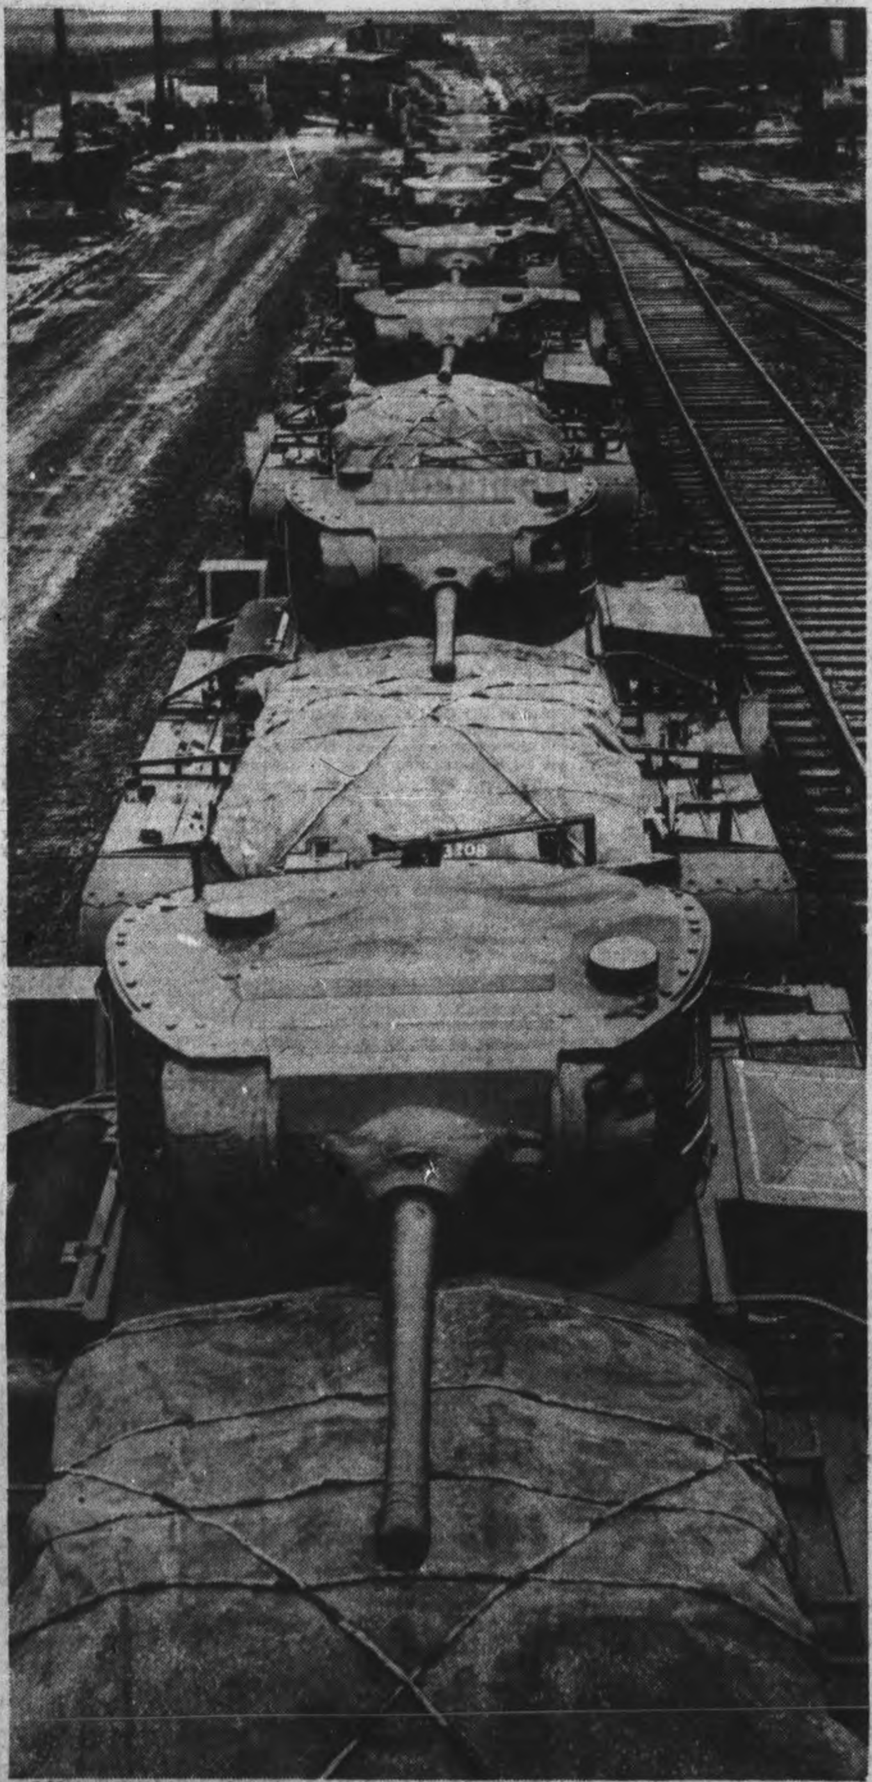
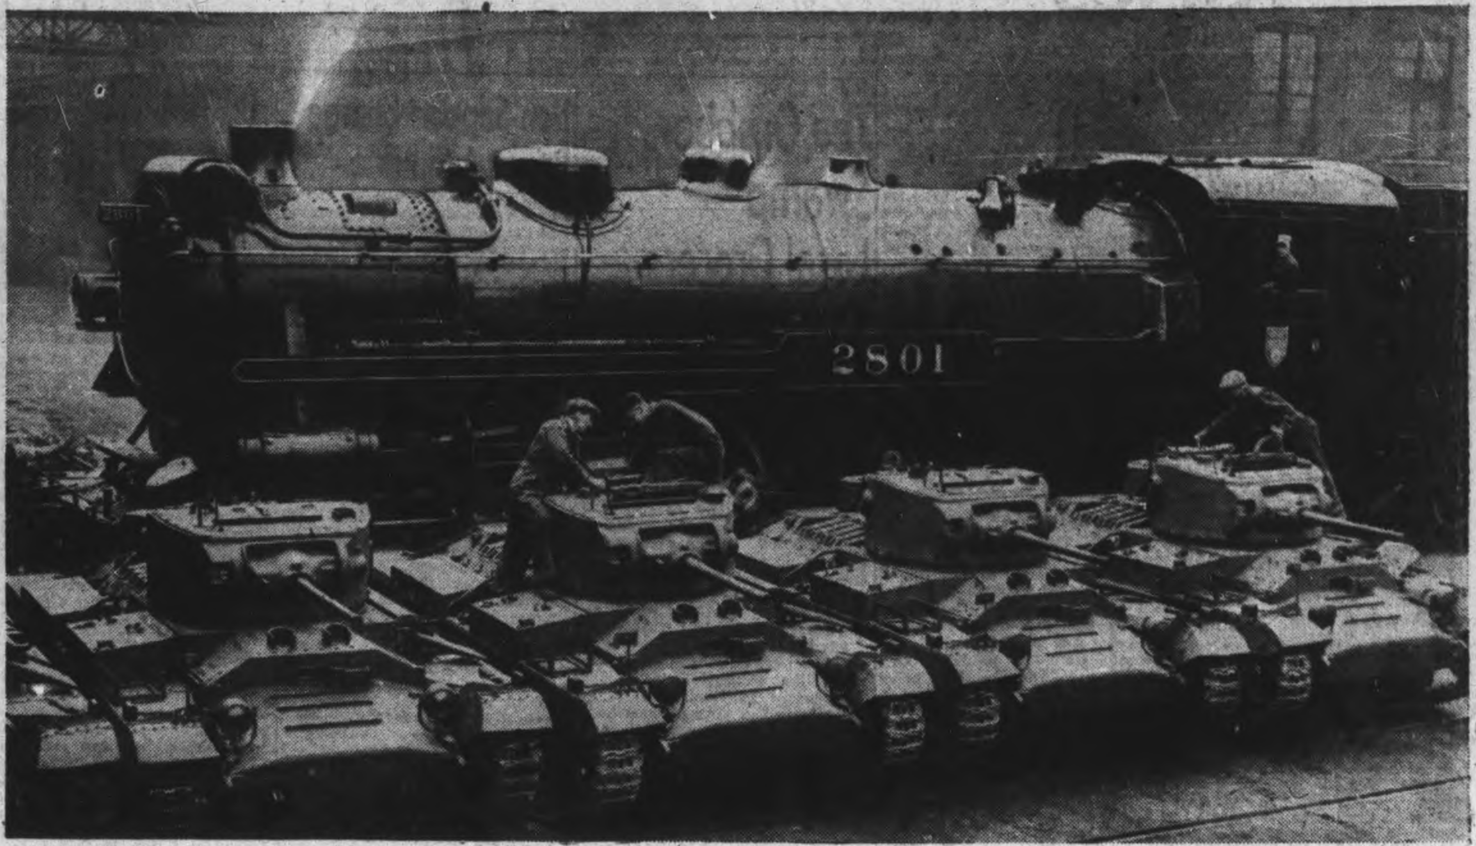
Canada's Tank Troops Advancing to War in Mighty Juggernauts of Steel



Off to the wars. Hundreds of Canadian-built Valentine tanks are fighting the Nazi horde in Russia, where this trainload of 18-ton monsters is heading. As big as a living room in an average home, the Valentine travels at 20 m.p.h.



Out of a famous locomotive works which a few months ago produced its first tank, a steady stream of Valentines is going out every day to the world's battlefronts. Swift conversion of the plant to a tank arsenal is an adventure in wartime industry. This line-up of completed Valentines contrasts strikingly with the locomotive giant in the background. The plant is meeting a rigorous schedule.

A trick of the camera gives the interior of this Ram tank a cavernous appearance. By the time all armaments and fittings are installed there will be just enough elbow room to permit the crew to operate efficiently. Rotary turret on a Ram tank gives gunner a maximum range. The girl is checking installation of equipment.

Among toughest army jobs is that of this commander. He directs tanks in action.

These stacks of Ram tank treads are one example of many wartime uses for rubber which dictate the policy of conservation of auto tires, other rubber products.

These heavy infantry tanks of a bilingual battalion from Quebec are part of the Canadian Army Tank Brigade, photographed during intensive manoeuvres in England. The outfit has been built into a powerful, effective striking force.

Part of the production line in the Ram tank factory, second largest arsenal for tank production in the world. Heavily armed with machine guns and cannon, the Ram is powered with a Wright Whirlwind engine, a versatile war machine.

Forsythe-Menzies

COTTESLOE, Aug. 5.—(ENS)—A pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the Knox Presbyterian Church manse, Galt, the Rev. W. J. Walker officiating, when Ella Cowan, daughter of Mrs. A. Menzies, Glen Morris street, Galt and the late Mr. Menzies, became the bride of Aircraftsman Donald W. Forsythe, R.C.A.F., Dunnville, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Forsythe, Douro, Ont The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Alan Menzies of Kitchener, wore a street-length dress of heavenly blue, silk jersey, with matching turban, a corsage of Talisman roses and beige accessories. The attendants were Airwoman Grace Child, R.C.A.F. Women's Division, Ottawa, and Maitland Forsythe of Peterborough, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Iroquois Hotel, the bride's table being attractively decorated with summer flowers and centred by the three-tiered wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe left for a wedding trip to Muskoka and Peterborough, the bride travelling in a tan and white print, suit dress with white accessories.

Peterboro Women Believe New Rations Not Severe

The new tea and coffee restrictions are almost bound to create a problem for the average meal-getter, at least for a while, but in most cases the women feel that they will not find it as severe a hardship as might at first be imagined.

Mrs. L. J. Pettit, Benson avenue, who has a family of four thinks they will manage very nicely. As regards tea, the two tea drinkers, one of whom prefers her tea very weak and the other of whom is learning to like his tea weaker, do not use a great deal, and the two coffee drinkers like their beverage on the weak side. They are cutting down their coffee-drinking to once a day and Mrs. Pettit said that she felt they would find that they would not be obliged to cut down much. Even if they did, she said that she considered that it was a very small sacrifice to make when she considered what the people in Britain had to forego.

The three or so guests that Mrs. Harold Scott, Benson street, is entertaining along with her regular family are the right type of patriotic citizens. When they came visiting they brought their sugar ration cards with them, so that their drinking rations will now be taken care of. She said her family were not great tea drinkers and they have coffee once a day, although perhaps more than one cup, and if their rations prove it necessary they can easily make an adjustment. However she is going to keep a watchful eye on the larder.

Mrs. George Coleman, Aylmer street, finds that the coffee will not present much of a problem, but that they will be hard hit by the tea situation. She says where possible they will switch off to a substitute like cocoa or postum or milk. She said that since sugar is rationed that does away with a number of cold drinks that might ordinarily have been used. However even though they do like quite a bit of tea, they don't make it too strong so they feel it won't be too difficult to make the change.

Mrs. A. A. Giles, 303 Elias avenue, has a family of three and her family are not much on tea drinking, and lots of days they only have coffee once a day. At any rate they drink the rationed beverages the Giles' feel that their rations should go a long way and that even if it is restricted somewhat they will not be suffering.

For business girls who sometimes feel that perhaps they waste considerable of their tea or coffee in the morning, Miss Ethel Rae, Rubidge street, has a good idea. After she has her tea in the morning, and there is usually quite a bit left in the pot, she pours it into a thermos and then she is able to have hot tea for dinner and she is not using any more and is saving on what she used to have to throw out.

Many families are switching more and more to milk, or water drinking and others who were strong drinkers of one or the other drinks have resolved quite agreeably to cut down on their quota so as to fit the government requirements. All seem to feel that the really died-in-the-wool tea drinkers will find it something of a sacrifice to do with a little less, but all are willing to make the effort.

Red Cross Bazaar Very Successful

A very successful supper and bazaar followed by a social evening, was held recently here by the Lakehurst Red Cross Society.

After a baseball game between Lakehurst and Deer Bay teams a program was given in the Community Hall. The chairman, George Cunningham, introduced the speaker of the evening, the Rev. Austin Huston who showed slides taken during his five years of mission work among the the Indians of Northern Manitoba.

The musical part of the program included guitar selections by Mrs. S. Cowling and Miss Grace Hunt, and songs by Miss Alicia Langley of Peterborough and Mr. John Rutherford of Toronto, with Miss Phyllis Rutherford also of Toronto, at the piano.

During the evening tickets on a draw were sold by Miss Glen Allen who turned in the sum of $18. The first prize, donated by the Robert Simpson Company, was won by Bobby Rlynn, and the second and third prizes, given by the T. Eaton Company, were won by Mrs. H. Hook and Edgar Hunt.

Total net receipts amounted to $117.79.

Seymour Bride To Live In Peterborough

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5 (ENS)—On the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Rylstone, a very pretty wedding took place at noon on Saturday when their daughter, Catherine Jean, became the bride of William Franklin Donaldson, only son of Mrs. Donaldson and the late Frank Donaldson of Peterborough. Rev. J. Holden of Springbrook officiated. The bride was lovely in a street length dress of white sand swept crepe with picture hat of white lace straw and corsage of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Vera Stewart, who wore petal pink sheer and hat similar to the bride's. Her corsage was pink roses. Mr. Albert Holland of Madoc assisted the groom.

A wedding breakfast was later served in the dining room at the home of the bride's parents, which was beautifully decorated with gladioli and sweet peas. The bride's mother received tre guests wearing a navy blue printed sheer, while Mrs. Donaldson, mother of the groom, chose a black sheer, with white accessories.

Later the happy couple left on a wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara and St. Catharines. For travelling the bride donned a redingote dress of symphony blue crepe with white accessories. On their return they will make their home on Aylmer street, Peterborough.

Gladioli Feature Of Pretty Wedding

St. James' United church was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday when Mildred Eva Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Martin became the bride of Percy Raymond Sweeting, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sweeting of Springville. The Rev. F. W. Craik officiated. The church was decorated with gladioli and soft music was played throughout the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a smart street-length white lace dress with puff sleeves, with pearls and white accessories, and she carried a bouquet of gladioli. Miss Florence Sweeting was bridesmaid, wearing a pale blue sheer street length frock.

The bride's sister Jean was flower girl and she wore a pink ensemble with white accessories and carried a bouquet of gladioli. Irwin Emery was best man, and Maxwell Bebee and Leslie Perry were ushers.

At the reception at the Paragon Hall, Mrs. Martin received in a navy and rose crepe ensemble with a corsage of gladioli and she was assisted by Mrs. Sweeting in a queen's blue crepe alpaca and white accessories and a corsage of gladioli. Mr. and Mrs. Sweeting left for Springville, the bride travelling in a robin's egg blue crepe alpaca dress with matching hat and white accessories. On their return the couple will reside at 527 George street.

Moose Ladies Go To Convention

The annual convention of the Loyal Order of Moose was held at the Royal Connaught Hotel, Hamilton, with about 300 delegates present. This annual affair is usually a three-day convention, but due to war restrictions it was condensed to one day.

All members were entertained at a dance and social evening at the Moose Hall on Saturday night.

Sunday morning at 10 a.m. the sessions got under way. The ladies met at the Mural room when registration took place, and the honored guests were welcomed, Hamilton Chapter in charge.

At 1 p.m. a luncheon was served in The Messineur ball room, when all present were guests of the Grand Lodge of Ontario.

At 2 p.m. the formal opening took place, Hamilton ladies in charge. The ritualistic ceremonies were exemplified by Windsor, St. Catharines and Kitchener chapters, Hamilton the closing exercises. The reports of the various committees were most gratifying. The Moose Fund for the reconstruction of the bombed areas of Britain has been over-subscribed. The amount of over $30,000 in clothing and money had been sent. The appeal for boots for the children of Britain had been fulfilled. Approximately 12,000 pairs were acknowledged. Each Chapter present reported on purchasing war bonds.

Regional Director Norman J. Heyd addressed the gathering and reported over 16,000 Moose members on active service, and kept in good standing.

Mrs. Anna Hill, Hamilton, was general chairman, Miss Margaret McGee, Toronto, associate regent, was general secretary, Mrs. Margaret McElvey, associate dean, had charge of the panel discussions. A most educative and enjoyable time was spent and plans made to attend the next, when Toronto will be the visited city.

Ladies Hold Field Day At Golf Club

The ladies of the Peterborough Club held a field day Tuesday. The money realized will be added to the fund for the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union War Services Fund.

The results for the 18-hole players were: Mrs Fred Roy, winner of the spoon for low net; Mrs. F. J. A. Hall, winner of the spoon for kickers' handicap; Mrs. D. Pocock, winner of stamps for the best putts on the 1st nine; Mrs. O. A. DeGraw, winner of stamps for the lowest score on even holes in 1st nine; Mrs. V. Selkirk, winner of stamps for the lowest score on the odd holes, 2nd nine; Mrs. J. Blaiklock, winner of stamps for the approaching and putting contest. For the nine-hole players, Mrs. Stan. Northrop was the winner of the spoon for low net; Miss M. Rush was the winner of golf ball for the kickers' handicap; Miss Mamie Rogers was the winner of stamps for the bridge prize.

WAR WILL GIVE CHILDREN CHANCE TO KNOW PARENTS

With Gas and Ti· Shortage Families Will Be Inclined to Stay Home

Out of evil good not infrequently comes, and one of the blessings out of this war is that it will give parents and children an opportunity to get acquainted with one another, a pleasure which they have not heretofore enjoyed.

What with Mom and Pop doing a lot of stepping out themselves, and the youngsters being sent off to schools in winter and camps in summer and rushed with sub-deb parties during their vacations, and there being two cars in too many garages, home has come to mean merely a halfway station between dates to thousands of families whose members scarcely know one another by sight. No sort of intimacy exists between them, and it is a literal truth that many a woman talks more freely to her manicurist than she does to her own daughters; and many a man knows far more about the hopes and ambitions of his office boy than he does about his sons'.

Change this party to the tempo of modern life, which has given us too many things to do and too little time in which to do them, and to the curious barrier which their very relationship raises between parents and children and which none of them knows how to break down. For fathers and mothers feel that they must pose as little tin gods before their children, and children know that they must pretend to believe in their infallibility. Hence it is the hardest thing in the world for them to find any common get-together ground on which they can be intimate friends who can say what they think of each other.

So when Junior comes home from college and Mary returns from a finishing school they and their parents are as much strangers to each other as though they had never met before. And, as of the past, neither one has seen in the other anything that made them very keen about getting to know the other better.

Did Not Appreciate Parents

The children have seen in their mother only a fussy, middle-aged woman whose clothes were all wrong who didn't know how to put on her complexion and whose nosiness they resented when she asked them where they were going, who they were going with and how long they expected to be out. And father to them was just another ordinary, commonplace business man who had in some way—they couldn't imagine how—managed to get along in the world, but whose opinions were of no importance, and whose chief function, so far as they were concerned, was signing checks.

And to the parents John and Mary were a source of mingled pride and disappointment. They were proud of their good looks and their sophisticated airs, but they resented their patronage and condescension and inwardly wondered whether it was worthwhile to spend so much money on two such snobs.

There the situation has stood ever since home ceased to be a place where the family gathered about the evening lamp, and became the point of dispersal where they took to the automobile and got as far away as posible. But now, what with our tires being taken from us and gas rationed and our stream-lined sport cars jacked up, we will have to stay at home because there will be no way to get anywhere else.

This will give parents and children and brothers and sisters the first opportunity they have had really to know one another and to revise their opinions of each other.

Will Have New Respect

For mother will find that Mary under her veneer of worldliness is just the same sort of girl she was herself and that she is just as silly in love with her sweetheart as she was with Mary's father when she married him. Mary will have a new respect for mother when she finds out that under her do-funny hats there is a shrewd executive brain that runs half the charities in town.

Father will disover that John isn't the young fool he thought he was, and John will sit up and take notice when he realizes that father's wisecracks are better than any he ever hears over the radio, and that his old man is a prize story-teller and that he hears more good talk at his own dinner table than he ever heard at a college banquet.

It will be queer, won't it, if it took Herr Hitler to introduce out parents and children to each other?

LADIES GROUP CONSERVE TEA AND COFFEE

Try Different Drink at Meeting

Neither coffee nor tea were served, as is the usual custom, at the quarterly meeting of the local Ladies Aid, but an excellent beverage was used, and the guests commented upon its delicious flavor. The president explained that the ban on tea and coffee was in deference to the request of the Government. Expressing satisfaction at the success of the experiment, the chairman said Postum,—the beverage used,—had taken less sugar than would have been used for tea and coffee. It had cost less than either tea or coffee and so was a saving to the treasury, as well as a saving on tea, coffee, sugar.

Whether it's a meeting of a society or a meal in your own home, Postum provides the easy way to conserve tea and coffee. Grand, heartening flavor—economical—so easy to make.

Chart a Quick Way to Learn the Piano

How To Join The Magic Circle?

Not enough attention? One way to get attention is to deserve it! Playing the piano you always have admirers.

Not that the piano is hard to learn; it isn't. You can learn to play entertainingly with the aid of a keyboard chart that shows at a glance which keys to play for which music notes.

So that from the very start you know how to read music! And our diagram shows how you can play popular pieces without long hours of practice. Just simplify by playing the melody line with your right hand and with your left some easy harmonizing chords.

Yes, those numbers below our melody line represent chords. Each number corresponds to a numbered key on your chart. Look at your chord numbers, then at your chart —and play.

You soon learn all the basic chords you need this way—and you know so many pieces that people think you've played for years!

Our 24-page instruction book has tables of chords and full-size keyboard chart. Gives lessons in rhythm, elements of music, has three pieces for practice.

For your copy of "Quick Course In Piano Playing" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to The Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of instruction book.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

SUIT LENGTHS A GUIDE

IN MANY hands, the guide to correct play is the length of the various suits in the holdings of your opponents. By keeping track of them, you can sometimes save yourself from taking a chance on a finesse which would not win, and substitute for it a sure-thing play which either makes your contract for you or beats the enemy's project.

North: ♠ 10 9 3 ♥ A J 6 2 ♦ A Q ♣ A K 7 2
West: ♠ Q 8 7 4 ♥ Q 9 8 2 ♦ 8 5 3 ♣ 9 8
East: ♠ 6 5 2 ♥ 10 4 ♦ J 10 7 4 ♣ J 10 6 4
South: ♠ A K J ♥ K 7 5 ♦ K 9 6 2 ♣ Q 5 3

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 NT

That was just natural bidding by North and South. If they had used some one of the artificial conventions, which could have shown that the side held all of the aces and all of the kings, they might have lodged themselves in a grand slam, especially since they also held two queens and two jacks. It is a good thing they didn't, as South worked like a Trojan to make his small slam.

West's lead of the diamond 8 could not possibly have been a fourth-best, as only two higher ones were out of sight to South. Hence he counted East for at least four diamonds. With some breaks needed, he took the heart K and tried the J finesse successfully. The drop of East's 10 made him count West for an original four of this suit. Planning a lead-thrower, he then set out to get West out of all suits except spades, if possible, in case clubs did not break.

The diamond Q, club to the Q, diamond K discarding a spade from dummy, and the club A and K bringing a spade discard from West, showed that East originally had four diamonds, four clubs, two hearts and three spades and West the remainders. Hence West now had the heart Q and three spades. So South abandoned the idea of any spade finesse and led his heart 6 to the Q. West had only three spades left and had to lead into the A-K-J, giving South the last three tricks and his contract, with exactly three tricks in each suit.

650 Girls Are Needed In Fruit Belt

There are 650 additional girls needed in the Farm Service Force to assist in harvesting the peach and tomato crop in the Niagara Peninsula and they will be most urgently needed from August 10 to the end of October. The girls will be accepted for two weeks and all who can remain three weeks or longer will be given free tarnsportation one way to their destination in the Niagara district.

The girls live in government camps supervised by the Y. W. C. A.; in private camps supervised by the Red Cross and in private houses inspected and approved by the Ontarion Farm Service Force. Already 1300 girls have served in this way to help harvest the early fruit.

The wages will be 25 an hour for a 9 hour day and the board $4.50 a week. Those who are interested can apply to the Department of Agriculture Office, Peterborough, or the Ontario Farm Service Force Parliament Buildings, Toronto. E. R. Hall is in charge of the Ontario Farm Service Force.

Newlyweds Feted By Many Friends

LIFFORD LINE, Aug. '—(ENS).—A large crowd of neighbors and friends gathered at the farm home of the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lang, Lifford Line, on Friday evening. A jolly time was spent in playing a variety of games, including bingo. Dancing was also enjoyed, a number of musicians being present to assist in piano and violin numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lang were asked to occupy a prominent place in the gathering. An address, decoratively typed and be-ribboned, expressing the heartfelt sentiments of all present, was read by Mrs. Gibson Lowery, a neighbor whose home before marriage, as in the case of the bride, was Omemee.

Goven Chimes.

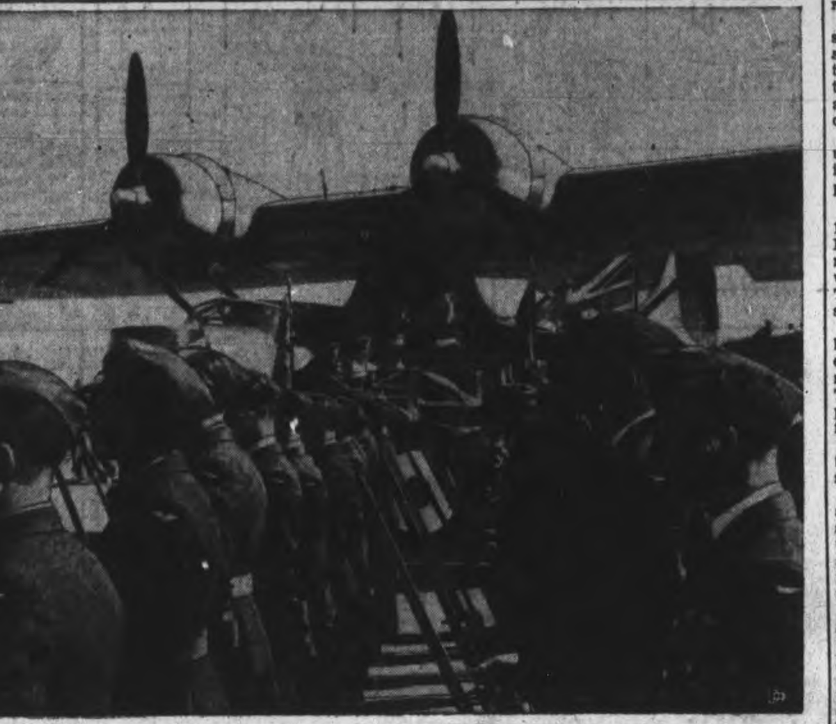
Mr. D. Deyell, Doctor of Pedagogy, of the North Bay Normal school staff, who is a summer visitor at Lifford, was responsible for the excellent composition and arrangement of the address.

A beautiful chime clock was then presented to the happy couple. The groom appreciatively thanked the donors for their kindness, his bride adding her thanks in her usual pleasing manner.

A very enjoyable lunch, including lemonade and ice cream, sandwiches and cake was served by the competent committee in charge.

Guests were present from Cavan, Bethany, Brunswick, Fleetwood and Lifford.

Successful Catalina Test Spurs Mass Production



When Test Pilot Pat Howard brought in his report on the first PBY Catalina flying boat produced in Canada he signalled full speed ahead on mass production of these magnificent flying juggernauts. Catalinas are now rolling along the assembly lines at Boering's Sea Island plant, in British Columbia. In the UPPER photo Test Pilot Howard is shown at the controls of the ship; and BELOW is the scene at the ceremony preceding the test, photographed while Ralph Bell, director of aircraft production, was making his address. In the foreground is the R.C.A.F. guard of honor. The Catalina has the greatest range of any two-engined bomber in the world. Its maximum speed at 8,000 feet altitude is about 200 miles per hour. It weighs 14 tons and its wingspan is so great that 10 automobiles can be lined end to end along the length of each. The Catalina is propelled by two Twin Wasp 1,200-horsepower engines and it has gun pits in the nose and rear fuselage, with installations for bombs and aerial torpedoes.

Warped Philosophy Of A Killer Revealed In Death Cell Talk

By ELLIOT CHAZE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAKE CHARLES, La., Aug. 5.—(AP).—Toni Jo Henry balanced her chair against the bars of her death cell and said she might as well "kick the lid off."

Toni Jo Henry is a 26-year-old, slim brunette sentenced to die here August 10 for the 1940 St. Valentine Day slaying of a Houston, Tex., salesman.

"The victim doesn't return to haunt me," she said. "I never think of him.

"Another thing: I have a brother going overseas with the army; any day now.

"I hope he gets off before I'm electrocuted. I think he might try to stop a bullet over there, and I wake up at night, you see, and my nerves yell and jerk at me: because he might try to stop a bullet.

"And this is funny, too. I'm worried a little about 'Abie's Irish Rose.'

"I never saw many stage plays, see. 'Abie's Irish Rose' is a radio serial every day I used to listen to it. Get the damndest laugh trying to reconcile a Jewish father and a mother as Irish as Paddy's cow.

"But they discontinued the serial until September. I won't be here in September."

Husband Gets 50 Years

It was in San Antonio, Tex., in 1939, that she met claude (Cowboy) Henry, a former boxer. They were married and Henry subsequently was sentenced to 50 years in a Texas penitentiary for the fatal shooting of an officer of the law.

Toni Jo has testified that she and her accomplice, Finnon Burks, killed Joseph P. Callaway, 42, that they might use his car in robbing a bank. The money, in turn, was to be employed in effecting Henry's release from prison.

Explaining her husband's place in the pattern of her crime, Toni Jo said:—

"I was a prostitute at 13; a drug addict at 16. No one ever cared about me before him. That guy is the king of my heart. He gave me a home and he got that drug monkey off my back—and that drug monkey is a big strong thing.

"The nights here are mean. Sometimes I pray he can get a letter through to me. He's smart. He's no Luke McGluke from Kokomo, that one. They say some condemned prisoners get a lot of grace from eating all the things they want just before they go, but me—I'd rather read a letter from him."

Later in July, after Governor Sam Jones had signed her death warrant, officers cautiously confiscated Toni Jo's scissors and a wealth of other sewing implements.

"They expected me to blow my top," she said, then, waving at the mirror over her death-cell dresser:

"I could cut my throat out with that stuff. It never occurs to me. I don't even think of harming Burks any more. He blamed everything on me, Burks did. But now we're both going to die, I wish he didn't have to go. His mother is alive and mine isn't, and the Bible says an eye for an eye; it doesn't say two eyes for an eye."

No date has yet been set for the execution of Burks. He, too, was sentenced in 1940.

Toni Jo, with Burks, was hitchhiking along a Texas highway when Callaway picked them up. They admittedly threatened him with guns, crammed him into the luggage compartment of his car and drove to a rice field seven miles south of Lake Charles. Dragged across the bleak frozen stubble of the field, the salesman was told to pray. Toni Jo shot him above the right eye as he knelt naked beside a straw stack.

"I'm still not sure why we took his clothes," she said.

"I said once, and I say now, it seemed that would delay pursuit. I'm telling you I shot him, because it's no good lying now. Burks didn't do it. Sometimes I wonder why I didn't knock the man unconscious instead, but it was like being drunk, real drunk."

With the State's new portable electric chair waiting for her in the death chamber of this jail, Toni Jo still wisecracks.

When the photographer had come to take perhaps the last picture of her, as he wrestled with focus-pocus rituals peculiar to cameramen, she said:

"I've smiled twice, mister. You haven't shot yet. Have you any idea how much talent is being wasted here today?"

KEPT FROM WORK BY BACKACHE

Suffered for 3 Years

Backache may be just bothersome; on the other hand, it may creep on and become chronic. Such was the case with the man who wrote the letter below—until he was induced to try Kruschen. To-day he has a different tale to tell:—

"For three years I was badly troubled with my kidneys. They caused me such severe pain in the back that I had to quit working. I tried many prescriptions, but they did me no good. One day I saw a Kruschen Salts advertisement. After using three bottles, my backache was entirely gone, and I can now work as well as ever. I shall never be without Kruschen Salts again."—J.E.

Unless the kidneys—or body filters—function properly, certain acid wastes, instead of being expelled, are allowed to pollute the blood-stream and produce troublesome symptoms; rheumatic pains for one, excessive fatigue for another. Kruschen Salts is one of the finest diuretics or kidney aperients available for assisting the kidneys to excrete acid impurities.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c and 75c.

Unusual Service Held At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 5—(ENS). — An unusual service was held at Grace Gospel Chapel Sunday night. A group of young people from the Kawartha Christian Camp took charge of the service. Miss Dora Bronson of Peterborough sang "Precious Jesus" as a solo and the group san, "Wonderful Name." Mr. W. Watson, an architect of Belleville, first testified to the saving power of Christ, quoting Romans 10:9. He was followed by Mr. G. Grant, a watchmaker of London, who gave as his text Ephesians 3:1. Mr. E. Slack, a member of the Air Force, next told of the joy of being a Christian, and of Christian fellowship in different parts of the world; then Mr. E. Fish, son of Dr. Fish of Toronto, missionary of China, told of beng saved when young and exhorted his hearers to consider their ways. Evangelist C. E. Tatham led the song service, and Mr. J. D. Annan of London, Ont., formerly a missionary in the British West Indies, gave a closing address, dealing with the leprous man whom the Lord cleansed. There was a good crowd in the hall and many cars parked outside, as the service was broadcast over the public address system.

Missing Airmen Found Alive

ARMSTRONG, Ont., Aug. 5 (CP)—The three members of the crew of a Royal Canadian Air Force bombing plane, forced down on a shallow, muddy lake 100 miles north of here, were found alive and apparently uninjured yesterday, it was learned Tuesday.

Names of the crew members were understood to be Sgt. Verdoun, pilot in charge of the plane, and leading aircraftsmen Beardmore and Smith but their initials and hometowns were not available.

The plane, missing since Sunday, was reported located yesterday by R.C.A.F. and Ontario Forestry Air Service planes.

130 Cheese Factories Closed In States

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—(AP).—More than 130 cheese factories throughout the United States have either shut their plants or changed to the production of butter and dried milk within the past two months, a department of agriculture statement disclosed today.

The abandonment of cheese, the bonanza product of the dairy industry at the start of this year, reflects lowered prices, a glutted market and smaller government purchases, trade sources said.

A total of 131 plants have stopped producing cheese.

The department said that approximately 174 plants started making cheese for the first time in 1941. Out of the 131 which have quit the field, 56 were among this 174.

Soviet Reserves Move Up Into Line

Sagging Line Bolstered By New Units

New Nazi Threat On Stalingrad In Two Directions

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 6 (AP)—Russia's carefully saved reserves were moving into the battle today as Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's troops fought back bitterly against a new threat to Stalingrad on the battleground where the fledgling Red Army made history in the 1917 revolution.

Dispatches which indicated for the first time that the reserves were going into action against the terrific German offensive said the battleline apparently had been stabilized at both flanks—near Kletskaya, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, and Kuschevka, on the Yeya river 50 miles south of Rostov.

The line still sagged, however, under the weight of Nazi numerical superiority in the Belaya Glina sector, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, and near Kotelnikovski, south of the Don 95 miles southeast of Stalingrad.

Where Threat Greatest

At Belaya Glina the threat to the North Caucasus was greatest. At Kotelnikovski the menace to Stalingrad was sharpened by the danger of a by-passing drive toward Astrakhan on the Caspian Sea 240 miles to the east or by the possibility of a squeeze on the important Valga stronghold of Stalingrad from the northwest and southwest simultaneously.

Meanwhile, however, all Nazi assaults northwest of Stalingrad, in the Kletskaya area, were being stopped dead. Similarly, the Russians reported a firm stand near Kushchevka where they said reckless Don and Kuban Cossacks held a waterline (apparently the Yeya river), repulsing attack after attack by German tanks and infantry.

The necessity for blows in return was emphasized by Red Star, the army newspaper, which said "in order to halt the enemy it is necessary to reply to every attack with counterattacks."

(Nazi military sources claimed the capture of Tokhoretsk, on the Caucasian railway 40 miles southwest of Belaya Glina and about the same distance southeast of Kushchevka.)

On the Stalingrad front, Kotelnikovski itself still was in Russian hands but was under German attack. The fighting switched there from Tsimlyansk where the Red Army for two weeks had held the Nazis on the banks of the Don.

Situation Is Grave

The army newspaper Red Star said the situation on the southern flank below Belaya Glina Dn Kuschevka continued grave, with the Germans making new dents in Russian defence lines. It said enemy gains there, however, were achieved at great cost in Nazi lives and equipment.

The most violent battle was in progress in the Belaya Glina sec-

Jewish And Arab Battalions Are To Be Mobilized In Middle East

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(CP Cable)—War Secretary Sir James Grigg announced today in the House of Commons that a Palestine regiment of Jewish and Arab infantry battalions will be created immediately for service in the British Army in the Middle East.

Existing Palestinian companies will be incorporated into the force, he said, and it is hoped that at least 10,000 additional recruits will be obtained. Normally they would serve in Palestine or adjacent lands.

The question of organizing a Jewish army was raised in Commons by Ian C. Hannah (Conservative, Bilston) who said he felt Britons should pledge themselves to find new homes for Jews, persecuted in Europe, "if they'll stand side by side with us in this terrible emergency."

Position Is Delicate

A member of the English committee for a Jewish Army, Mr. Hannah declared the position of Palestine is "most delicate" and no one could believe that Britain has a quarrel with Islam because she is fighting to hold inviolate from inhuman foes Cairo, a city which above all others is the capitol of the Moslem faith.

He added that Britain "ought to hold out the hand of fellowship to the Moslems and if the Arabs fought side by side with us they should be promised definitely that they should be allowed to remain in the majority in the Holy Land."

14,000 Jews Serving

Maj. Victor Cazalet (Conservative, Chippenham) said that excluding the 2,000 recruits who joined the army in July, there are some 14,000 Jews serving in the armed forces in the Middle East, but for the most part they are doing static jobs and none are in the fighting units.

Apart from these 14,000, Maj. Cazalet said, there are some 7,000 out of 23,000 home guards working full-time along with 15,000 in the Auxiliary Territorial servcie. This, he declared, was the whole of the effective contribution the Jews in Palestine have been allowed to make.

Somerset de Chair (Conservative, Southwest Norfolk) who returned recently from Palestine, said that while he was aware of the Jews' determination to play a part in the defence of the Holy Land he felt it would be dangerous to create a purely Jewish army in Palestine because of the highly exciteable state of Arab opinion.

Daniel L. Lipson (Conservative, Cheltenham) drew attention to the fact that British Jews are liable for service and are playing a part in all countries where they have a right to serve.

If the knowledge that everything the Jews stood for was threatened

No Surrender Motto Of Dutch

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 —(AP)—Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, the first queen in her own right to visit the United States, told Congress today that "no surrender" remains the motto of her people, suffering though they are under the alien rule of an inmadec Asia and in Europe.

The Queen, addressing a joint session of the House of Representatives and Senate, said: "Imagine what it means for a liberty-loving country to be in bondage, for a proud country to be subject to harsh alien rule.

"What would be the American answer if an invader tried to cover his wholesale systematic pillage with the firing squad, the concentration camp and the abomination of the hostage practice?"

Resistance Ever

The 61-year-old Queen, who issued a proclamation of "flaming protest" and sent her armies into battle when the German forces invaded Holland in May, 1940, continued:

"I doubt not that your answer would be: Reistance, resistance until the end, resistance in every practicable shape or form.

"This is exactly the answer my people have given, and are giving every day. Inside occupied territory and outside, the fight goes on."

Force Of Super-Specialists Is Organized By U.S. And Canada

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—(CP).—War Under-Secretary Robert P. Patterson today announced creation of a new American-Canadian force of super-specialists in offensive warfare.

The new unit designated the 1st special service force, was described as a unique combat unit composed of specially-qualified men skilled in all offensive operations, including marine landings and mountain and desert warfare.

Camp Established.

The super-commando force will operate directly under direction of the United States deputy chief of staff, Lt.-Gen. Joseph T. McArney. A training camp has been established at Helena, Mont., with Col. Robert T. Frederick of the coast artillery commanding.

The Canadian contingent will be the first to serve as a part of a United States army unit, Patterson said. Canadian officers are already helping form the outfit. Canadians and Americans will wear the same uniform.

Patterson also announced that a group of six Canadian officers and 20 non-commissioned officers have arrived at Fort Benning, Ga., to train as parachute instructors for Canadian parachute troops.

Air-Borne Units.

He further disclosed the formation of the first two of an undisclosed number of entire divisions of United States infantry to move to a battle front by air.

The 82nd and 101st infantry divisions at Camp Claiborne, La., will be the first of the air-borne units, which will be streamlined down to a strength of about 8,000 men each. All their weapons and equipment will be moved by planes and gliders.

In action, the air-borne divisions will fight as infantry after the manner of similar German army divisions.

Command of another new United States fighting force, the engineer amphibian command, which has been training at Camp Edwards, Mass., for special assault missions landing operations has been given to Col. Daniel Noce, he reported.

The engineers are recruiting motor and sail-boat operators, diesel and automobile mechanics for the unit.

Patterson also announced formation of a board of army officers, to be known as the inter-allied personnel board, to handle the exchange of nationals between the American army and the armed forces of the other United Nations, and creation of a new transportation corps in the services of supply, concentrating in a single command all of the army's transportation functions except air travel.

"Play ball? Shucks no, we'll finish shocking this grain."

The young harvesters, aged 13 and 14, shocked 10 acres of grain on the nearby farm of I. McClure and finished the job in an hour and 10 minutes.

Lamb And Reith Two Under Par

Aided Nazi Flier In Flight Who Escaped From Prison Camp, Bowmanville

Court Should Not Be Hesitant In Taking Life Of Traitor Judge Says In Passing Sentence

DETROIT, Aug. 6—(AP).—Max Stephan, first person in 159 years to be convicted of treason in the United States, was sentenced tin Federal Court today to be hanged.

Judge Arthur J. Tuttle directed that Stephan, German-born American citizen, be hanged on November 13, 1942, within the walls of the Federal Detention Prison at Milan, Mich.

Stephan was convicted in Federal Court here of aiding the flight of a Nazi flier, Lieut. Peter Krug, escaped from a Canadian war prisoners' camp at Bowmanville, Ont.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Tuttle said that since "the lives of millions of our boys will be taken in the course of this war, the court should not be hesitant in taking the life of one traitor for the sake of the cause."

Judge Tuttle said that before he pronounced the sentence he asked himself, "Will the sentence of death be a greater deterrent than any other to fifth columnists who also want to adhere to Germany?"

Only One Answer

"The court sees only one answer," the Judge said. "It is the affirmative. Disloyal citizens know even better than the court does that a prison sentence to life is eligible to pardon after 15 years and also that after the war such prisoners usually are paroled or their sentences commuted."

Judge Tuttle said it was impossible to impose a sentence that would "teach Max Stephan a lesson so he

Reds Must Soon Counter Attack

LONDON, Aug. 6 —(CP)— The new German thrust to Kotelnikovski, southwest of Stalingrad, and the continued drive toward the Caucasian foothills have resulted in an increasingly grave situation in Southern Russia, a British military source said today.

This source said the Germans apparently were attempting to take Stalingrad in an assault from Kotelnikovski after having been stopped by fierce Russian resistance west of the big city of the Volga.

To the south, Field Marshal Ewald von Kleist's drive toward the Maikop oilfields appeared to be meeting little opposition, he said. The deep-driven German salient toward Armavir and Voroshilovsk (the Germans claim the latter town), northeast of Maikop, was described as more than 100 miles long and 40 to 50 miles wide.

Such a salient, it was pointed out, would be extremely vulnerable to counterattack, particularly from the east.

Although there was no sign that such a counterattack was imminent, this source said it was clear that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, Russian commander, could not wait much longer to strike back.

The possibility was cited that before pushing on to the foothills of the Caucasus mountains, Von Kleist might swing west to seize the Black Sea coast opposite the Crimea in a move to ease his supply problem.

India Placing Britain In Tough Spot

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BOMBAY, Aug. 6 (AP)—The issue of Indian independence approached a new crisis today as the All-India Congress Committee assembled for a meeting tomorrow prepared to put teeth in its demands by asking Mohandas K. Gandhi to lead the masses in a passive struggle for independence.

Actually, the proposal ready to be put before the committee boiled down to this choice for Britain—make India independent now and win her 350,000,000 people as fighting allies or withhold independence and face "a mass struggle on non-violent lines on the widest possible scale."

The working committee sent its proposal to the main body with an expression of hopelessness in appealing again to Britain and the United Nations and all sources here agreed that the program virtually was certain to be ratified.

Will Not Yield

(Britain's stand was reiterated last night in London by Sir Stafford Cripps, who headed an unsuccessful mission to India last spring. Britain, he declared, intended to "preserve law and order" in India until after the war, then give the Indian people an opportunity to attain self-government.

(Britain, he said, was as determined as the Indians themselves to see the vast sub-committee self-governing but asked them to be patient "not because we want to delay but because the hard facts of war make a complete change impossible at the moment.")

Padit Jawaharalal Nehru, former president of the Congress party, took the stump himself last night to explain the "quit India" resolution. At the same time he denounced again the British government's

MacArthur Is Under Fire In Australia

First Open Criticism Of General MacArthur Delivered By W. M. Hughes

By DON GILBERT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The first open criticism of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's direction of the defence of Australia has been made by the veteran William M. Hughes, who was Prime Minister of the Commonwealth during the first Great War. He asks why the Japanese have been allowed to occupy Buna and Gona in New Guinea practically without opposition when strong air forces were presumably available in Port Moresby 120 miles away.

Prime Minister John Curtin was quick to come to Gen. MacArthur's defence, declaring that the high command in the southwest Pacific was influenced neither by "unwillingness nor incompetence." He pointed to repeated conference between the Australian government and Gen. MacArthur on every aspect of the war as it affects Australia.

Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander-in-chief of land forces under Gen. MacArthur, also defended Allied operations in New Guinea, declaring that topographical considerations had been against the United Nations forces in preventing the Japanese incursion along the Papuan peninsula.

An Allied military spokesman in Australia at the same time replied to Mr. Hughes with a statement that the Buna-Gona area could not have been defended without exposing Allied troops to unwarranted sacrifices. Anyway, he contended, no special danger is involved in the new Japanese thrust.

Mr. Hughes sees things differently. He finds, contrary to the military spokesman, that Buna and Gona are of strategic importance.

He believes the occupation of the area has improved the Japanese position in New Guinea immeasurably, giving them a foothold on the flank of Port Moresby, the main Allied base on the huge island northeast of the Australian mainland. He estimates that the enemy is now within 30 minutes flying time of the Allied base.

The former Prime Minister, now Deputy Leader of the Opposition, contends that the Japanese invasion force which moved down the coast from previously established footholds on the island could have been scattered by bombs and machine-gun fire from the air forces based at Port Moresby.

"It is difficult to understand why the Japanese were allowed to occupy these strategic points without opposition," he declared. "Did those controlling our military defences not know, why did they not occupy and defend them? Were they not warned by reconnaissance planes that the enemy convoy was approaching.

Accidents Hurt War Effort

Every 14th Person Killed Or Disabled In U.S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP).—It would take a lot of enemy bombs to do as much damage in the United States war effort as Americans themselves are doing with accidents that kill them, cripple them or keep the from work.

The National Safety Council figures that in 1941 accidents:

Killed or disabled every 14th person in the United States; cost $4,-000,000,000, enough to pay the cost of running New York city six years; were the first cause of death among all males from 23 to 38 years of age; cost 480,000,000 man-days of labor time.

Those 480,000,00 lost man-days, translated into terms of production, could have turned out 23,000 flying fortresses.

Accidents last year left 102,500 Americans dead, twice as many Americans as were killed in the First Great War in battle, plus 360,000 permanently disabled, and 8,950,000 lesser casualties.

The toll among workers this year, according to the council's estimates, will be at least 18,000 killed on the job, 33,000 killed off the job, and 43,000 permanently disabled.

Brooklyn Girl Gets Her Wish

Obscure Girl Will Christen War Vessel

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The dream of an obscure Brooklyn girl, expressed in a letter to the President of the United States, will come true Saturday for 22-year-old Elsie D. Papajohn when she sponsors a new naval vessel.

"Is it necessary for a person to be well-known to christen a ship?" she asked in her letter. "You see, sir, I am asking this question because I've always had an ambition to christen a ship even before the war, but more so now that I know our ships are going out to help destroy our enemies.

"I watched well-known persons christen them and each time wished with all my heart that it was I that was doing the christening. Not only because it would be an honor I would never forget, but because I feel that the prayers I have in my heart will help bless it and help it to destroy that which brought death and destruction and hunger to my parents' people..."

Miss Papajohn said her father, Michael, an artist, and her mother, were natives of Greece, although she was born in Brooklyn.

Elsie Papajohn will wield the champagne bottle when the new navy minesweeper YMS 185 is launched at Greenport, Long Island.

GROWING TENSION IN EUROPE AS TALK OF 2nd FRONT INCREASES

Tide Of War Is Turning Tip To Dutch

European Capitals Are Exhibiting Growing Tension

LONDON, Aug. 6—(CP).—European capitals exhibited growing tension today as official quarters combined with the press and radio to keep the second-front issue a dominant theme.

Broadcasting from London, Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy of the Dutch Government in London, told his countrymen in the German-occupied Netherlands last night that the tide of war is turning and urged them to "await with wise patience the moment when the call comes from here not only to take a passive but also an active part" in the opening of a new front.

At the same time the Moscow radio declared that "every day brings nearer the time when the agreement signed between Britain and the U.S.S.R. on the urgency of establishing a second front in Europe will be put into effect."

Anxiety over the situation, the Russian broadcast said, "is driving the Hitler gangsters to furious and frantic efforts in South Russia," where the Nazi armies are making a desperate bid to win control of tre vital Caucasian oil fields.

German preoccupation with the second front issue was reflected in a fresh flood of propaganda from Nazi sources emphasizing the strength of the defences being completed in Western Europe.

Alleged details of these defences also were reported in the Swiss press in Berlin dispatch written for the Zurich Die Tat by one of a party of neutral journalists permitted to tour the coastal zone under Nazi guidance.

The dispatch told of "mighty fortifications of concrete and iron" extending deep inland. The cor-

The Old Remedy For Children

Few people, especially children, escape an attack of summer complaint during the hot weather.

Summer complaint begins with a profuse diarrhœa very often accompanied by vomiting and purging. The matter excreted from the stomach has a bilious appearance, and that from the bowels watery, whitish, ill-smelling, or even odorless.

When the children show any sign of looseness of the bowels the mother should administer a few doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry so as to bring quick relief.

This medicine has been on the market for the past 94 years. Refuse substitutes. They may be dangerous.

Bancroft Soldiers Tops On Rifle Range

BANCROFT, Aug. 6 — (ENS). — Sunday evening terminated a two-week training at Connaught Ranges Camp near Ottawa for over ninety officers and men of "A" Company 2nd Battalion, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment Reserve under command of Captain D. F. Bleecker. The bronzed youths and middle-aged men returned to Bancroft by motor convoy, comprising four passenger cars and four trucks. During the intensive training the men received a much better training than they did at Petawawa the first year as more equipment was available to train with. The Bancroft boys were very keen when it came to range work and their scores were indicative that they were men from the northern part of Hastings county and knew their rifles. The weatherman was more than kind in that the rain fell only on one day during the fifteen-day period, altering the syllabus but slightly. "A" Company expect to resume night training this coming Friday.

by the Nazi menace was not a sufficient motive for the Jews to go all-out into the fight, no political argument about a Jewish army was likely to carry any weight, Lipson said.

Sir D. W. Gunston (Conservative, Thornbury), said he did not believe the formation of a Jewish army would help win the war but would only make more difficult the post-war settlement of the Jewish problem and would create the erroneous idea that Palestine alone could take care of the many Jews who were dispossessed.

Cmdr. Oliver S. Locker-Lampson (Conservative Handsworth) said:

"I am in favor of a Jewish army because the Prime Minister, Roosevelt and Smuts want it and because Hitler doesn't want it. Arm your friends."

Wing Cmdr. A. W. H. James (Conservative, Wellingborough), declared, however, the movement for a Jewish army was an attempt to stake an exclusive claim to Palestine and expressed the fear that Mr. Hannah was acting on the inspiration of extreme Zionist organizations when he raised the subject.

won't do it again."

He said, "there was nothing more that Stephan could have done in the way of helping Hans Peter Krug get back to Germany."

The courtroom was packed as the first man convicted of treason since the famous "whiskey rebellion" was brought before the Federal Judge for sentence.

Stephan, wearing the wrinkled gray suit in which he had sat through his trial four weeks ago, gave no evidence of emotion when he heard his fate pronounced.

Claims His Innocence

When he was summoned before the bench, he rose quickly and came forward. Asked whether he had anything to say, the convicted traitor, in gutteral tones, asserted:

"All I have to say is that I am not guilty of treason. That is all."

When the Judge read off the sentence that gives Stephan only a little more than three months to live, a hush descended on the courtroom. There was no demonstration.

At Lansing, Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner of Michigan said that he would make no move to intervene in the death sentence. Michigan law does not provide for capital punishment, and in 1938, when Anthony Chebatoris was hanged by the Federal government for violation of the National Bank Robbery Act, Frank Murphy, then Governor of Michigan, contended that the hanging should take place in some other State.

"If Stephan has got to die, Michigan soil is no different than any other," Van Wagoner said today.

Krug after being aided by Stephan in Michigan was picked up by the Federal Bureau of Investigation at San Antonio, Texas, and returned to Canada. He was a witness at Stephan's treason trial.

Found Guilty July 2.

The 49 year old Detroit restauranteur who boasted that his love for Germany was stronger than that for his adopted country was found guilty July 2 by a Federal court jury of aiding the Nazi Air Force prisoner of war.

"Although I have become an American citizen," he once said, "my blood in German. I am not sorry for what I have done and I would do it again."

Stephan was taken into custody April 21 by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents after 21 year old Oberleutnant Krug passed through Detroit in an attempt to reach Mexico and thence Germany after his escape.

He was first charged with unlawfully harboring an alien, a misdemeanor, but at direction of Attorney-General Francis Biddle, he subsequently was indicted for treason which accused him of 13 overt acts which gave 'aid and comfort' to an enemy in time of war.

Krug was the Government's most important witness. He told of his escape April 16 from the camp at Bowmanville, of reaching Windsor and crossing the Detroit river in a stolen rowboat. Arriving here April 18, he made contact with a German alien, Mrs. Margareta Bertelmann, whose address he obtained from packages she had sent to the camp. Mrs. Bertelmann informed Stephan, who feted Krug and took him on a sight-seeing trip of the city, before placing him aboard a Chicagobound bus from where he began his argosy to New York, Philadelphia, Memphis and finally San Antonio.

Port Hope Citizens Strive To Bring Comfort To Sailors

PORT HOPE, Aug. 6 (ENS)—At Rotary Park yesterday afternoon Mr. Herman Smith turned over the comforts and supplies donated by the citizens of Port Hope and surrounding district to the men of the minesweeper H.M.C.S. Port Hope to the ship's commander, Lt. W. Turner.

These materials were as follows: 218 pair of regular socks, 80 pair of 18 inch socks, 42 pair of 26 inch socks, 67 leather vests, 74 turtle neck sweaters, 70 scarves, 62 balaclava caps, 94 helmets, 68 pair mitts, 22 pair gloves, 2 sweater necks, 1 toque, 6 afghans, 12 pair sheets, 6 pair pillow cases, 5 radios (one for each mess), 2 special toasters, 2 special irons, 1 washing machine, 5 waste baskets, 1 box assorted files (made at Nicholson File Co., Port Hope), 214 books, 1 box games, 5 boxes of magazines and scrapbooks, 1 box medicinal supplies, 2 pictures (one of King and one of Queen), 1 fancy pillow.

All these supplies, plus up to the present time $1,847.27 has been raised by the town.

To Continue

Mr. Smith declared that these were not the last things to be donated to the men of the H.M.C.S. Port Hope by the town. The town has taken on the supplying of the ship's company with comforts for the duration and will not slacken in its task.

Mrs. Strong when called on to present the ditty bags said that all the work she and the other members of the committee had done in preparation for this day had given much pleasure to them all.

Mrs. J. L. Sheehan read the names of the sailors and the donors of the ditty bags while Mrs. Strong gave them out.

Hottest golf of the first dozen to finish the first lap of the 72-hole event was played by 19-year-old Bill Ezinicki of Oshawa, Ont., who shot four successive birdies from the 15th to the 18th for a second-round score of 32. But he had been in trouble in the first nine—into the Credit River twice when a couple of booming drives went wrong—for a 41, so finished with a 73.

Ezinicki is a former Winnipeg Junior hockey player who moved to Oshawa a few weeks ago.

Joe Kirkwood of Abington, Pa., was first of the big name professionals to finish his first 18. He had a 72. Paul Runyan of White Plains, N.Y., had a one under-par in 35 for the first nine, the same as Frank Stranahan of Toledo. Stranahan blew for a six on the first hole but recovered with three consecutive birdies and was going well at the halfway mark.

Drunk Driver Convicted; Gets 30 Days

Convicted of drunken driving, George Tapscott, 35, of Port Hope, was sentenced by Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court here Wednesday afternoon to thirty days in jail. It was his second conviction for the same offence.

Tapscott, who was arrested by Provincial Officer L.A. McClure soon after a Toronto car had been sideswiped by a hit-and-run machine on Highway 28 on the night of July 31, pleaded guilty to driving while his license was suspended and was also given thirty days on that charge, the sentence to run concurrently with the other thirty-day term.

On a third charge of failing to remain at the scene of the accident to which he had previously pleaded guilty Tapscott was fined $25 and $2.50 costs or thirty days in jail to start at the end of the thirty-day sentence in the other cases, in the event the fine is not paid.

Abraham Schacht, Toronto upholstery manufacturer, testified that he was driving his car on Highway 28 back to Toronto after a holiday trip to the Kawartha Lakes when it was sideswiped by a northbound car which came over unto his side of the road and did not stop after the crash. He said that there was a man driving the other machine and that there was a woman in the front seat with him. Schacht picked up a head light rim and a piece of headlight glass on the road at the scene of the accident and later as he was riding into Peterborough on a truck he saw a parked car on the side of the road and when it was examined it was seen that the left headlight glass had been broken.

Schacht said that he saw Tapscott near his parked car apparently looking for his keys and swore that when Officer McClure arrived Tapscott tried to "run away." He came back, however, when the officer called him.

"A Little Drunk"

"I would say he was a little drunk" said Schacht when asked as to the condition of the accused at that time.

Jack Lovat, Toronto, who was a passenger in Schacht's car, corroborated his evidence as to the accident.

James Stokely of Dundas, holidaying at Buckhorn, testified that as he was driving toward Peterborough on the night of the accident either Schacht or Lovat told him their car had been sideswiped by another machine that did not stop. He had gone on a mile and a half when he saw a car standing on the right side of the road with a man apparently monkeying with one of the headlights. Williams noticed that the glass in the headlight was broken.

Mrs. Mina Peters, of Port Hope, who was in Tapscott's car when the police arrived and who was arrested at that time on a charge of drunkeness, was called by the crown. She said that her cousin, Norman Trumbull had borrowed the car from Mrs. Tapscott on the night of the accident and that she, Trumbull, Tapscott and her two children had started out from Port Hope. She swore that she had been drinking and that she fell asleep almost at once and did not remember anything more until the police arrived at the spot where their car was stopped at the side of the highway. She did not know what had become of Trumbull, she said.

Officer Is Positive

Provincial Constable McClure swore that Tapscott was drunk when he was arrested.

"I have known George Tapscott for six years," he said, "and I know when he is drunk and when he is sober. There was no doubt that he was drunk that night." Witness said that he only saw Tapscott and Mrs. Peters when he arrived. Sergt. John Thompson of the city police who was in the police station when the accused was brought in testified that Tapscott was drunk then.

In his defence Tapscott, who had no counsel, called his wife. She stated that Norman Trumbull and Mrs. Peters had come to the Tapscott house to borrow the car which was her property. Her husband was asleep in the back of the car at the time and witness said that he had apparently been drinking. She intended to take him out of the car but when she went into the house to turn off the phonograph the others had driven off. To Crown Attorney McElderry Mrs. Tapscott admitted that her husband had driven the car sometimes although his license was suspended.

In the witness box Tapscot stated that he did not remember anything from the time the car left his house until he "came to" when it was parked by the side of the highway. He couldn't tell what had become of Trumbull he said. Accused admitted that he had not seen Trumbull since the accident.

"Why didn't you have him here?" asked Magistrate Gee. "If it is true that he was driving that would have let you out." Tapscott couldn't explain why Trumbull had not been called as a witness. He admitted a previous conviction for drunken driving and an earlier one for careless driving and also that he had been driving occasionally, although his license was suspended.

Magistrate Gee in finding Tapscott guilty of the drunken driving charge said that the evidence was too strong to warrant any other finding.

Tapscott asked that he be allowed to serve his sentence in the Cobourg jail but Magistrate Gee told him that would not be possible. His offence had been committed in Peterborough county he said.

5 Men Killed In Alberta Mine

CADOMIN, Alta., Aug. 6.—(CP).—Five coal miners at the Cadomin mine, about 150 miles southwest of Edmonton in the coal branch district, were killed last night when trapped in a huge fall of wreckage caused by the fall-in of part of the workings under No. 9 level.

Details of the disaster, described as the worst in the history of mining at this centre, were not immediately available.

The body of one man has been extricated from the wreckage and although the others have been located officials said it is impossible yet to recover them because of the difficulties in removing rock and timber.

The accident is believed to have been caused when pent-up water from an old working re-inforced by recent rainfalls, burst under the No. 9 level.

Several other miners in the working at the time escaped.

Those killed were one fire boss, a mucker and three miners. Names of the dead were not immediately available.

Officials said the crash knocked coal, timber, rock and rubble in all directions and it was this wreckage that was causing the delay in extricating the bodies.

Bad Weather Does Not Stop Flight

Pilot Officer Stuart Of Peterborough Takes Part In Raid

By LOUIS V. HUNTER, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON August 6. —(CP Cable) —The Canadian "Moose" Squadron of the bomber command joined a small force of R. A. F. aircraft to attack the industrial Rhur Valley of Germany during the night, flying through bad weather in emphasis of the British pledge to scourge Nazi cities regardless of flying conditions.

The Canadian squadron, which returned to report they had had more "hectic times" on other raids, is named for Wing. Cmdr. John (Moose) Fulton of Kamloops, B. C. Fulton has been missing since the attack on Hamburg last week.

Five British planes failed to return from the raid, the second in succession on the Rhur war arsenal.

Raids on Britain Isolated.

Isolated Nazi raids on Britain, which caused few casualties and only minor damage, streaked from evening to the hours before dawn this morning.

The Canadians reported sighting only one night fighter over Germany. From his post in the rear turrent of a Wellington bomber, Flt. Sgt. Ken Galalaas of Camrose, Alta. sighted a JU-88 but his captain, Sgt.Pilot Maurict McLaughlin of Edmonton, had dived into cloud cover before Gaalaas could bring his guns to bear.

Flying in the same aircraft were Sg. Andy Holmes of Campbellton, N. Y., and Sgt. Basil Saunders of Granville Ferry, N. S.

The flight was the first operational trip for Sgt Phil Owen of North Bay, Ont. 'I saw only three searchlights," he said, "but they were accompanied by flak."

Sgt. Pilot Walter Sherk of Ridgeway Ont., eluded the ack-ack fire without trouble. His crew included Po. Roy Morrison, Vancouver, Po, George McGladrey, Chaimus, B.C. and Sgt. Brure Basley, Montreal.

FO. John McCormick of Estevan, Sask., veteran navigator who rejoined the squadron after serving temporarily with the United States Army Ferry Command, summed up the raid as "a piece of cake." This sentiment was shared by his crew-mates, Flt. Lt. J. D. Pattison of Toronto, and Flt. Sgts. Lorne Fleming, Montreal, and Gord Craddock, Toronto, and Sgt. Bill Wakeman, Selkirk, Man.

Not The Hottest

"We've all seen much more hectic times," they agreed.

Injured Police Officer Appeals For Aid

COBOURG, Ont., Aug. 6.—(ENS) Cobourg town council is considering the proposal that counties should have a new equalization of the assessment. Mayor Jack Burnet holds the view that town property has decreased in value since the war started, and farm property has gone up and in addition there has been a considerable alteration in property values all over the counties of Northumberland and Durham since the last assessment was made. Upshot of the discussion was the agreement that Cobourg should ask for a complete new assessment of the united counties. The town clerk has been notified by Mrs. Arthur Ernshaw that she felt that the town should pay some compensation for the injuries received when her husband was a police constable here. Shortly after he started to work in the police department, Ernshaw was injured in a scuffle and spent some weeks in the hospital. Later he resigned.

At a recent meeting of the town council, members of the council expressed sympathy in the matter but it was felt that if the town compensated the former constable it might be admission of liability on the part of the town. The suggestion was left with the police committee that he might be granted a months or two extra pay in lieu of a settlement which might commit the town to liability in the matter.

H. Ferguson, who was told to erect a fence around his lot when he started an auto wreckers business, has so far failed to do so, council was informed and he was accordingly given five days to explain satisfactorily why the fence was never built. Failing that, council will cancel his license.

No Tenderness For Italy

LONDON, Aug. 6—(CP Cable).—Clement Attlee, Dominions Secretary and Deputy Prime Minister, assured the House of Commons today that "there is no policy of treating Italy with tenderness."

His statement was in reply to he question of Cmdr. Sir Archibald Southby, Conservative, who pointed out that Italy was a supply base for the Axis in North Africa, and asked whether Britain would bomb military targets in Rome and elsewhere in view of the enemy bombings of Cairo and Malta.

Cmdr. Southbay said the public is unable to understand why Italy is treated with such "tenderness."

Villages Vacated, Army Moves In

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Army motor lorries, heavy-laden with barbed wire, their camouflage paint dry and cracking in the hot July sun, trundled into this East Anglian area over the winding country lanes.

Against this army tide moved a stream of English country folk, all of them wayfarers for the moment at least, refugees in their own country, people seeking new homes and farms for those they were leaving in the hands of the army.

They were the people of five East Anglia villages and the surrounding countryside, ordered to evacuate as the army took over 8,000 acres for use as a battle training ground.

At one point news reporters watched the Army move in as the villagers moved out. Soldiers hopped down off their trucks, stripped to the waste and unrolled the barbed wire that was to seal off the area from the rest of Britain.

In one village the work of removal progressed solemnly, almost tearfully. Some villagers were leaving picturesque gabled cottages where they were born. Some, even among the old timers, had not been more than a few leagues from their home village in their life.

Almost as much as they hated to leave their homes, villagers said they hated leaving their friends of a lifetime. "It's like cutting strings and starting again," said Alfred Chambers, 60-year-old village postman in a village which must now be known as "X". "My father and my grandfather had the village post-office before me."

In another village where civilian life ended for the war's duration with the advent of the military, newspapermen arrived a few jumps ahead of the army. They found the place being stripped of virtually everything moveable.

In a little cobbler's shop a nine-year-old terrier stood guard over a pile of boot lasts that belonged to Horace Holmes, grocer and shoemaker. Holmes was 75. Just after he received his notice to quit he died in a little upper room of his shop.

Friends, sorrowfully but pluckily packing their own belongings said he died of a broken heart. He couldn't face the prospect of moving away.

Parade Sunday

CAMPBELLFORD, August 6.—(ENS).—Sunday will be a day of parades in Campbellford according to reports from the local I.O.O.F. and Legion headquarters here. Both organizations will stage their annual decoration of graves in the cemeteries and of the Cenotaph during the afternoon. Legion members will parade to the Cenotaph at 3.30 in the afternoon and there a short address will be delivered by Major Price. It is understood that members of Loch Lomond Rebekah Lodge will join with Oddfellows in their parade and decoration ceremony. They will meet at the lodge rooms at 2 o'clock to begin the parade.

Port Hope Adopts Ship And Crew As New Minesweeper Christened

PORT HOPE, Aug. 6 (ENS) — Ghosts of doughty warrior sea dogs, long since dead, must have smiled benignly from their heavenly seats on Wednesday as sailors of another generation girded themselves for battle in a new ship at the tiny inland port of Port Hope on Lake Ontario. It was a memorable occasion for the citizens of the little village which nestles on the north shore of the lake, and has been noted for more than two centuries as a safe berth for mariners whose tall masted ships graced the well protected harbor on many occasions, for on Wednesday the sturdy Minesweeper, Port Hope, fresh from the ways of the Toronto shipyards, slipped into the harbor for its formal christening.

At exactly 2 p.m., as arranged, the flag bedecked ship sailed into the harbor with practically a full crew on board as well as members of the H.M.C.S. Minesweeper committee, and Capt. J. H. Peacock, who is one of the town's oldest residents, and was a former master of sailing ships on the Great Lakes for the past fifty-four years.

Naval Salute

As the ship rounded the harbor the salute was given and the Naval Band welcomed the ship with music. The music played by the naval band was quite different from the usual band music, being played on a range of five notes on the trumpet and with extra crooks which gave a two-tone effect.

After the gang plank was lowered and the sailors on shore a parade proceeded to Rotary Park, headed by the Provincial Police car, after which several cars followed with the officials and officers, Mayor Gifford and members of the council, the Bugle Band, followed by the ratings and crew, the Port Hope Citizens' Band, committee and guests.

Mayor Gives Welcome

Mr. J. B. Holland introduced Mayor Sherman Gifford, who extended a welcome to the Honorable Colin Gibson, Capt. F. N. Lay, Lieut. W. Turner, officers and crew, Frank Rickard, M.P., Cecil Mercer, M.L.A., and other distinguished guests. Mayor Gifford in his address expressed the honor the town felt in having this ship named after Port Hope, and assured the crew they would have the prayers of the people to speed them on their way.

Frank Rickard, M.P., was the next speaker introduced. He congratulated the committee on their untiring efforts and splendid equipment now ready for the ship. Mr. Rickard also voiced his appreciation to Ottawa for their part in having the ship named after the town.

Mr. Rickard in introducing the Honorable Colin Gibson, the son of Sir John Gibson, said that he attended the Royal Military College and received his degree of barrister from Osgoode Hall.

Col. Gibson was twice wounded in the first World War, receiving the Military Cross and the Belgian Order of Leopold. On July 8, 1940, Col. Gibson was made Minister of National Revenue.

Navy Grows

Although the Canadian Navy was composed of but fifteen ships and had a total strength of 1,800 all ranks when war was declared in 1939, it has expanded rapidly and at the present time there are more than 400 ships of various types, from destroyers down, and more than 41,000 officers and men, Honorable Colin Gibson, Minister of National Revenue, informed the gathering at the park.

"The Canadian Navy, which not so long ago was somewhat humorously classed as a 'tinpot navy,' is now modern in every respect," stated Mr. Gibson. "The Navy has a three-fold duty; guarding our coasts, destroying enemy submarines and other warships and convoying ships laden with supplies and transports filled with men proceeding to Great Britain. It has carried on under the most severe conditions and when the story is told of the Navy's activities in the present war Canadians will realize the glorious role it has played.

"Today the people of Port Hope and district have adopted the members of the crew, as well as the ship, and I might tell you," he continued, "that Canadian shipbuilders are now turning out ships of certain types that are equal to anything of their size that are being built anywhere in the world. The 'Port Hope' is a small ship, only a minesweeper, but she is equipped for both offensive and defensive action and ready to carry out her assigned duties, either on coastal patrol, convoying or battling enemy submarines and raiders, in good weather or foul. She will live up to the traditions of the Canadian Navy, and the people of Port Hope will have cause to be proud of her.

"While she looks a fairly large ship in your harbor, the 'Port Hope' is really a very small ship on the Atlantic," Captain F. Nelson Lay, Director of Operations for the Navy, informed the assembled residents. "And I want to warn the members of the crew that their comfortable days are over. They and their ship will soon be on the Atlantic doing their duty, whatever it may be. We are very proud of the advancement of the Canadian Navy in the last three years. We are taking men from the farms and turning them into sailors within a year. That is a wonderful achievement."

Lieut. W. Turner was then introduced, and as captain of the ship gave the following address.

Captain's Speech

For the second time I am privileged to visit your town, this time in company with your ship so that you may have the opportunity of seeing your namesake, which I have the great honor to command.

She is just a little ship but she is already a proud ship, proud because her foster parents have opened their hearts and responded most readily in providing so many useful comforts for our benefit.

I can assure you we will always uphold the name "Port Hope" and in the hard days that lie ahead your generous gifts will brighten many a dreary hour.

With the knowledge that your town has wished us Godspeed we will endeavor to carry on the traditions of the Sea and do our job to the best of our ability.

While the town of Port Hope is far from the battle front may I state that we are all working for the same purpose, namely to establish a better world. A world in which we may worship as we choose. A world in which we have the right to think and say what we please, but mainly a world in which we are free.

I take this opportunity of thanking you on behalf of my ship's company for your kindness and the great welcome that you have given us, and I am positive that this day will live in our memory forever.

Guests Introduced

One of the most important parts of the ceremony then took place when Mrs. G. V. Strong, assisted by Mrs. J. Sheehan, presented each member of the crew with a ditty bag. Mrs. Strong in her brief speech won the hearts of the sailors when she told them she wanted them to think of her as their grandmother, and advised the crew to each write their individual sponsor so that they could know each other better, and if at any time they wished to spend a leave in Port Hope she assured them that many would be the homes to welcome them.

After the playing and singing of a song composed by Corp. C. V. Brown, 2nd Midlands Regiment of Port Hope, with the music written by Mr. Ed. Brandwood and sung by Mr. Jack Rowland, the procession proceeded back to the ship, where Rev. Terrence Crosswaithe said the dedication prayer.

After the ceremony was completed the ship was thrown open for inspection.

Heart On Wrong Side

BURLINGTON, Kas., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Horace Arthur Holstron, the husky youth who found his naval enlistment delayed when he recalled his heart was on his right side, is definitely in. Kansas City medical examiners said it made no difference where his heart was so long as it was in good condition.

Soldiers Get Dental Care Out Of Doors

Work Goes On

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6.—(ENS).—The hot weather and holiday season has had comparatively little effect on the output of work by members of the Salvation Army Red Shield Auxiliary according to a report of their activities during the month of July. Attendance at each of the weekly meetings has been maintained with an aggregate of 95 members on hand. The ladies completed 42 miscellaneous articles and in addition expressed their appreciation for the contributions of 2 quilts from the 6th Line and Seymour East Women's Institute; 2 quilts from Stanwood Sewing Circle and four from Zion Ladies' Aid.

Mission Circle Holds Pleasant Picnic

ROSENEATH, Aug. 6.—(ENS).—Contests, oral and written and various stunts featured the Mission Circle picnic on Wednesday afternoon. The picnic was held on the Agricultural grounds.

A short business session was held, presided over by the president, Miss Ruby Blodgett. Miss Blodgett thanked the members for Red Cross sewing done during the month. Jessie Linton was enrolled as a new member. The advisory president, Mrs. R. Crego, announced $12.00, one half of the allocation, raised.

A picnic supper was enjoyed, followed by a game of softball.

Personals.

Mrs. Fannie Blodgett visited her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ednel Blodgett, Norwood, on Wednesday.

Monty Jewell, of Brighton, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Nill.

Wants Name Changed

COLUMUBUS, Ga., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Ernest Pershing Raspberry has petitioned the Muscogee Superior Court to change his surname to "Berry." His petition said the change was desired because "when petitioner is introduced socially or his name is called in public or in private, he is instantly looked upon in the spirit of puns, jibes, jokes and jests—all to his humiliation and embarrassment and annoyance."

Christmas May Return

TUSCON, Ariz., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Christmas may return to Arizona. The Bureau of Mines reports that the copper mine which formerly supported the small post office of Christmas may be re-opened. If the mine prospers, the post office, once the country's favorite mailing spot for Yule cards, probably will be revived.

Gandhi And India

During the past twenty years the British Government has shown almost every sort of attitude toward Mohandas Gandhi save one of active tyranny; it has cajoled, threatened, reasoned and demanded, but it has been able to do nothing with this intansigent leader. Upon the whole it has shown great forbearance. Even when Gandhi was imprisoned he was treated with respect as a political offender, and not as a criminal. Britain had no wish to make a martyr of him, nor did she wish to deal harshly with a man who was, apparently, sincere. As a return for this treatment Gandhi repeatedly said that he had no desire to embarrass the British in their prosecution of this war.

Apparently he has changed his mind. Nothing could be more embarrassing than his present attitude. He does not want Dominion status for India; he declares that he "hates" it. India, he says, is not to occupy the same status as Australia and Canada; her place is bound to be much higher than either of these countries. In considering his opinion on this matter we must, of course, remember that the Asiatic view of history is not our own. To an Indian the continent of Europe is a mere peninsula of Asia, and our 1,500 years of civilization a mushroom growth compared with the ancient culture of the Orient. The fact that our mushroom civilization dominates the earth and that Indian civilization has been on the rocks for some centuries apparently escapes him. India, either as a part of the British Commonwealth or as a free nation, must adapt itself to western ways or pursue an incestuous, retrograde course which can only end in conquest by another power.

But Gandhi's curious attitude is best summed up in his recent statement:

> "Britain must hand over control (of India) without reservation except that Allied troops may operate to stem Axis attack, but with no interference in affairs of India, which would be as free as Britain."

Now that, we submit, is cool cheek if ever we saw it; the alternative, apparently, is that Gandhi will make overtures to Japan. Apparently he believes that the Japs will only attack India to spite the British; what optimism!

Meanwhile, British embarrassment can scarcely go further. Because it recognizes the moral right of Gandhi to say what he likes Britain finds herself being told that she may defend India but that she must not expect anything but hindrance from the most powerful of Indian leaders. Fortunately not all Orientals are afflicted with this blind perversity. Chiang Kai-shek could doubtless tell Gandhi a few things about the difference between Japanese occupation and Dominion status which would surprise him—if he ever listened to anything except the murmurings of his own tortuous mind.

Is There a Rapier In The House?

Our distinguished contemporary, the Ottawa Journal, thinks that one of the things wrong with Parliament is that it attempts to deal with a welter of modern affairs under rules more suitable to the comparatively leisured days of Macdonald and Laurier. "Parliament is not now a place where there is time for the powdered and rapiered style of oratory," it says.

We are inclined to agree with the Journal's obvious meaning, but we are startled by its choice of epithets. We have read Hansard with attention during the recent session, and in all that wordy hubbub we have found nothing which could possibly be described as powdered or rapiered, though there were some sweaty bouts with the meat-cleavers. Parliamentary oratory is decidedly at a low ebb.

Let no one despise the word "oratory"; it means merely the utterance of an accomplished speaker. A truly accomplished speaker knows when to be brief, he knows when to be blunt, he knows when to use figures and ornaments of speech and he knows how to make a point. Few of our Parliamentarians know any of these things. When they are given the floor they embark upon uncharted seas of speech, in which they sight land again and again without ever dropping anchor; how often they speak for thirty minutes without ever really making a point which might have been thrust home in five! Doubtless many of them think of themselves as plain blunt fellows, very Othellos in their innocence of oratory, but they might well learn the orator's secret, which is that the shortest distance between two points lies in a straight line. The line may be ornamented in places, but it is straight for all that; it never becomes a tangled skein.

Bernard Shaw recently celebrated his 86th birthday by uttering a few salutary rudenesses about our parliamentary system, and suggested that in future only persons who could pass stiff tests be allowed to stand for parliament. Certainly one of these tests should be for ability to speak. Muddled speaking is a sign of muddled thinking, and many a Parliamentarian who appears to be thinking on his feet is really trying to make up his mind on his feet; thinking is done when upon quite another part of the human form. It is not powder and the rapier which ails public oratory; it is merry-go-round thinking, which gallops furiously in a circle, blaring ancient and banal tunes till the machine runs down.

Half a Loaf

Half a loaf is better than no vacation at all, and those who direct our war industries are finding it out. Recommendations have been made that U.S. heavy industry limit itself to a 48-hour week in order that production may remain at the highest possible level. Not long ago the British shipbuilding industry shut down for 10 days in order that the workmen might freshen their minds and bodies. Men and women are not machines, and in order to get the best out of them they must have time to amuse themselves.

Human energy may be likened to a well, which will yield only if it is given occasional periods in which to fill up and recover itself. Driving workers without respite soon lowers the standard of their work; they can only give their best for eight or nine hours a day, six days a week. When the Battle for Britain was at its height the heavy industries and munitions plants worked their people 60 hours a week, but they lessened this cruel demand as soon as possible. British industry is working better than ever now, and this commonsense attitude toward human endurance may be given a great part of the credit for that fact. Germany, on the contrary, assumes that the desire for victory will make up for long hours and short rations; this is expecting too much of ordinary humanity.

This is vacation time, and while you are on your vacation banish any notion that you are loafing when you should be at work. If you are to work at top pitch during the next fifty weeks you need any rest that you can get now. No man need be ashamed of taking a well-earned rest. There are those who will be unable to have any vacations at all; these are in the main executives and Government officials. But most Canadian workers have either had a holiday this year or are about to take one, and it is entirely right and fitting that they should do so. It will make them all the more ready for the big effort which will certainly be demanded of us all in the near future.

The Irish Quintuplets

The people of Ontario have taken a special interest in the fate of the Leydon quintuplets of Dublin, for our own Dionne quintuplets give us a special interest in such multiple births. Only two of the Leydon children now survive, despite the efforts of skillful physicians. The fact that the children were born prematurely made the likelihood of their survival very slight.

These instances of multiple birth in which the children do not live serve to increase our wonder at the survival of the Dionnes. That was an amazing triumph for the general practitioner, a figure of declining prestige in these days of specialized medicine. No wonder Dr. Dafoe has become a sort of dean of all G.Ps.

For the Leydon parents we must express mixed feelings of regret and relief. To lose three infants at once is a bitter blow, but to be presented with five at a single birth brings up almost insoluble problems for a man with a twenty-acre farm.

Symphony For Beleaguered City

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

IT IS rarely that a musical event has such magnificent publicity as that which preceded the first performance on this continent of the Seventh Symphony of the Russian composer Dmitri Shostakovitch. A whole war led up to it. Shostakovitch wrote it while he was acting as a fire warden in his native city of Leningrad, and he himself said that his work was Russia's answer to Germany; in it he had attempted to put all the magnificent patriotism and fighting spirit of the people of the Soviet Union and particularly of his own beleaguered city. The Seventh Symphony was more than a musical score; it was a noble gesture; it was symphonic defiance; it was an assertion of belief in Russia.

The score of the work was flown to New York from Russia. It had been photographed on microfilm, and when it arrived it had to be carefully enlarged in order that the musicians might play it. Toscanini, who conducted the first performance, committed the whole thing to memory, as is his custom, and when he had completed this astonishing feat he gave his opinion of the work; 'Magnificent' was the single word which he is reported to have used. By the time the first performance was about to begin at Radio City on July 19 excitement was high; an audience of 12,000 was present to hear the composition and radio listeners all over the country sat in expectation before their loudspeakers. Not, alas, the present writer. As ill luck would have it my radio refused on that day to produce anything but ill-mannered squawks and belches, and so I was unable to hear the work. Perhaps some of my readers heard it.

THE enthusiasm of the audience at the first performance was enormous. The work took seventy minutes to perform and was remarkable for having two terrific climaxes; the second of these came at the end of the symphony, which is a conventional place to find it, but the first one came in the middle of the first movement. A march figure began very softly on a snare drum, and gradually other instruments were added to it until a tremendous volume of sound burst upon the audience, rousing them to a demonstration of pleasure and excitement; one critic compared the effect to Ravel's well-known 'Bolero', and predicted that the novelty would wear off just as quickly.

The critics were kind to the Symphony, but they refused to accept it as of any great musical importance. Olin Downes, critic of the New York Times, quoted from a review written by Ernest Newman, the great English music critic, which he wrote when the Seventh was first heard in Britain: "To the man Shostakovitch, writing with the boom of German guns in his ears, or any other artist working under conditions of similar dire distress, our hearts go out in sympathy and brotherhood; but let us, for heaven's sake, keep clear of the crude fallacy that a work written, conceived, and carried out in such conditions thereby acquires an aesthetic virtue of its own. The contrary is the case. Any long work conceived and carried out under such conditions is certain to be a work of the second or third order. Large-scale musical organizationisms do not develop in that naive way." The judgment of other critics was substantially the same; Shostakovitch, they felt, had failed to write a first-rate symphony. He had had some good ideas and he had made a lot of noise, but he had neglected form, and his work was loose and incoherent.

THERE is much that is magnificent in Shostakovitch's attempt to put the defiance of his country into a musical work. But there is something even more magnificent in the refusal of the musical critics both in the U.S. and in Britain to be humbugged by a poor work, merely because it had great political implications. Music critics are, upon the whole, as sincere a body of men as are to be found anywhere; if dramatic critics were as sincere (as and well educated for their jobs) we might see an improvement in the theatre. But Shostakovitch would certainly not agree with their opinion.

Dmitri Shostakovitch is a true son of the Soviet. He insists that his music springs from his 'Bolshevist ideology'; his second symphony celebrated the October Revolution; his third is called 'May Day'. Music cannot help having a political basis—an idea that the bourgeosie are slow to comprehend, he says. It is possible, after some pondering, to see what he means, but it is still impossible to agree with him. Music, thank God, may be used for something better than the expression of economic determinism. But as things stand, it seems that the Seventh Symphony will go down in musical history as a valiant attempt which did not quite come off, and it is even possible that the composer may think less of this work as he grows older for it does not appear to have been as good as he thought it was. Unless, of course, the critics are wrong, which is not impossible.

Unconsidered Trifles

A Negress was charged with assaulting another Negress.

"Luella Washington," said the magistrate, "what have you to say for yourself?"

"Your worship," replied Luella, "Ah neveh struck that woman. Ah nevah touched her. Ah had reprimanded er foh throwin' rubbish out back, an' she kept on doin' it an' this mawnin' Ah reprimanded her again. Ah was holding up mah right hand jes' like the Statute of Liberty, jes' like Ah'm holdin' up mah right hand now, reprimanding that woman, an' as Ah come close to her, that woman jumped head first ovah the railing. Ah neveh touched her."

"What did you have in the hand which you were holding up like the Statue of Liberty?" asked the magistrate.

"A hatchet."

Need Distinctive Markings

It was a good point made by Bob Bowman, broadcasting from London, Eng., over CBC, when he said that he would like to see Canadian navy men, air men and soldiers wear uniforms and insignia which would make them more distinctive to the population of the British Isles. It was, he said, easy to tell men from the United States and elsewhere but those in the Canadian services were rather obscure in comparison because of their uniforms and markings. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

WEEP NO MORE, MY LADY!

Russians Still Have Chance

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

FOREBODING despatches from Moscow on battle trends in the Caucasus are fully warranted, although they did not tell all the story.

Berlin announces that the Kuban River, main barrier protecting the Maikop oilfields and Russian communications with the Red Fleet in the Sea of Azov, has been reached on a wide front and crossed at some points. The Nazi bulletins place the fighting front from 50 to 100 miles south of the areas where Moscow tells of continued actions although admitting an enemy break-through and further Russian retreat. There is every indication, however, that the Russian advices describe events of two days or more ago and afford no exact picture of more recent and ominous developments.

The situation for Russian troops on the left flank is bad enough, even by Russian reports. It is acutely critical if the German version is accurate. The line of the Kuban has already been invested, if not turned to loose German armored spearheads westward below the river and in the rear of retreating Russian forces racing southward to escape entrapment.

FORMIDABLE OBSTACLE

The Kuban west of Kropotkin, which the Germans say they have captured, still offers possible refuge to Russian forces now north of the river in the triangular northwestern corner of the Caucasus between the Azov Sea coast and the line of the Aostov-Baku Railway. That line and its paralleling oil pipeline from Baku cross the river at Kropotkin.

From that point westward to its outlet into the Black Sea via the lake estuaries of the Taman Peninsula the Kuban is a formidable obstacle if the retreating Russians north of the Kuban and west of the railroad can reach it in time. There are few rail or highway connections to facilitate their retreat, however, and such as there are must be under constant air attack.

So far as Nazi strategic designs in this critical area can be discerned, they are following an expected course. The great bend of the Kuban seems virtually in German hands and doubtless Russian scorched-earth crews are standing by to blast Maikop oilfields installations at a moment's notice. Even its capture will not soon fill the tanks of Nazi warcraft of land, sea or air.

GOOD LINE OF DEFENSE

There is still a chance for the Russians in the Kuban sector to rally in defense of Maikop. Even with the Kuban bend lost, as indicated, they have another river front behind it, the Laba, a Kuban tributary. It curves closely along the Caucasus range foothills, following the general course of the Kuban from south to north and west and averaging forty miles west of the larger river.

Although a lesser stream than the Kuban, the Laba is backed to the west by the Caucasus Mountains so closely that it should be even better defensive ground than the Kuban bend area. The Nazi drive to the Kuban has consistently followed the open steppes, most favorable for mechanized operations and blizkrieg attack. That probably accounts for its speed.

The most hopeful outlook for the Russians lies in the fact that to reach any of the three great oil areas of the Caucasus Hitler must now fight among mountains peopled with hardy tribesmen familiar with every trail and bypath.

Whitehall Notebook

By DOUGLAS AMARON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 6—(CP).—This may just be gossip, but there is a feeling in some circles in Britain that R. A. Butler, President of the Board of Education, has a bright political future ahead of him.

In fact, Maurice Webb of the Daily Herald says Mr. Butler is being mentioned in discussions about the post-war Conservative leader, a job many observers predict is destined for Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary.

Highly-placed Tories believe Prime Minister Churchill, present Conservative leader, will decide that his exacting war services are the end of his public career. At 67, Mr. Churchill has devoted many years of his life to public service.

Mr. Eden, popular in Britain and a favorite with younger Conservatives, is labelled as the man to succeed Mr. Churchill if anything should force the Prime Minister to step down before the war is over. But many Tories feel he does not carry all the equipment they regard essential to long-term purposes.

Mr. Butler is a promising dark horse. Already he wields considerable power at the central office as directing brain behind its reconstruction policy committee. He was at one time Mr. Eden's lieutenant at the Foreign Office. His friends feel their relative political positions may some day change.

Mr. Butler's sister, Mrs. Laurence Middleton, is a new recruit to the Ministry of Information. She is in charge of Japanese counter-propaganda in the Far East section of the foreign division.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Ambassador in Madrid, who for two years has kept the British point of view before Spain's leaders, is expected home on leave soon. Some of his political friends suggest he now should return to Parliament, leaving the Embassy to a career diplomat...

There's a report, too, though very much in the gossip category, that Sir John Anderson, Lord President of the Council, may be the next Viceroy of India...

Viscount Halifax, on leave from Washington, is said to be preparing to return there shortly. Friends of the former Foreign Secretary have been amused by the colloquialisms he picked up during his stay in the United States. For instance, his invitation to questions after a statement is, "Now shoot!"

David Lloyd George is paying his annual visit this week to the Welsh National Eisteddfod, an event he has not missed for many years. "L.G." has a special interest in the choir finals, in which a choir from North Wales will sing. It comes from Caernarvonshire, his constituency.

It was a treat to listen to Brendan Bracken, during the House of Commons debate on the tricky subject of propaganda. The Minister of Information's breeziness sometimes is mistaken for flippancy, but there was no questioning the good effect is had on the Commons. His good humor was infectious and Mr. Eden and Sir Stafford Cripps enjoyed some of his sallies.

Mr. Bracken introduced phrases and words rarely heard in Parliament. "Sculdruggesy" was one term he used which let a number of members scratching their heads. He described the Foreign Office as "a violet which blushed unseen," the microphone as a "mike," and his own Ministry's output of propaganda as "artillery of words."

The Ministry, at its inception, was a "Heath Robinson construction," and so he went on, with references to two governors of the B.B.C. as "Casabiancas" and to "Socialities" whom he denied sending to the United States as propaganda.

The debate produced two maiden speeches, by Cyril Lakin, Conservative member for Llandaff and Barry, and Tom Driberg, Independent for Maldon. Both newspapermen, they were at home in a debate of this kind and spoke with more confidence than most members display in inaugural speeches.

Malaria Appears

A case of malaria has turned up in Stratford. Slightly more than a hundred years ago no disease was more common in this part of Canada. Malaria and ague overtook thousands of laborers engaged upon the construction of the Rideau Canal, to such an extent that at times the work was virtually suspended, and all too many of the men now lie in unknown graves along the route of the canal, especially in the "pestilential" sections between Jones' Falls and Kingston. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

Germans Have Nerves

A Bible Message For Today

Then cometh Jesus with them unto a place called Gethsemane, and saith unto the disciples, Sit ye here, while I go and pray yonder. And he took with him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and began to be sorrowful and very heavy.

Then saith he unto them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death: tarry ye here, and watch with me. And he went a little farther, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt.

And he cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them asleep, and saith unto Peter, What, could ye not watch with me one hour? Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.

He went away again the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup may not pass away from me, except I drink it, thy will be done. And he came and found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy.

And he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words. Then cometh he to his disciples, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.—Matt. xxvi, 36-45.

MOTHERS' ALLOWANCE CHEQUES

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—A recipient of a pension and with so much talk of helping soldiers' wives, I as a mother of four children, the youngest two years, receive fifty dollars a month to feed, clothe and shelter my four if this duty is not carried out there is danger of losing what we have. A soldier's wife I know is allowed to work and still draw fifty-five a month. No, I haven't a man in the army, but my boys may be called up before this war is over and without adequate food or milk, how could they be good soldiers?

Just recently I tried to get a pound of butter with two war stamps or till the next day, even tried at the dairy where we get our milk with tickets but was refused so we had to go without. Government regulations. Nor can I take in boarders as I haven't sufficient bedding for ourselves, with no chance to get any more. A soldier's pension always comes on the last day of the month, but the Mothers' Allowance cheque may be first, second or third of the month. How do some mothers make things go? Maybe you could enlighten me as a

Fight On as One People

Co-operation among our leaders, our public men is the great need of this democracy in its struggle against totalitarian might. To obtain co-operation there must be an all-round spirit of toleration and a general disposition to give and take. We all are Canadians and we must stand together. We must not shrink at renunciations in a time like this. If we are not willing to forget our political antipathies and move forward together we may lose everything. The people of this Dominion have made a notable war effort, in many respects a truly remarkable effort, and they do not want to be divided into party groups hostile to each other. They want to press on as one people.—Fort William Times.

Two Big Camps Are Freed Of District Ties

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 (CP)—Two of Canada's largest military camps have been made into separate military commands, the Department of National Defense announced today.

Petawawa Camp, west of Pembroke, and Camp Borden, near Barrie, have been separated from Military Districts 3 and 2, respectively, for purposes of administration.

"The change is designed to expedite and facilitate administration and improve efficiency," a departmental statement said.

Up to the present, Camp Borden has been administered through Headquarters of M.D. 2 at Toronto and Petawawa through Headquarters of M.D. 3 at Kingston, Ont. The commandants of the camps, which have grown into large and important establishments, will now report direct to National Defense Headquarters instead of through district headquarters.

Brigadier A. V. Tremaine, formerly of Windsor, N.S., a permanent force officer, is in command at Petawawa, and Brigadier A. C. Spencer of London, Ont., who commanded a brigade overseas in the present war, is in command at Camp Borden. There has been no indication that any promotion is planned for these officers as a result of the change.

Borden and Petawawa are very old camps which have been enlarged considerably to provide for the training of troops in the present war. They embrace large stretches of land and many hundreds of buildings.

Camp Borden was established during the First Great War as an army camp and also served as a training base for the Royal Air Force. Many Canadian fliers who won distinction in the first Great War obtained their wings there.

Between the two wars Borden was the principal air force training establishment in Canada, until development of the station at Trenton, Ont., drew some of the air force activity. It is still an important air station.

The army camp there was not much used between the wars, but now is highly important. The Canadian armored fighting vehicle training centre is there, where all troops for the armored corps go for their training. It was at Camp Borden that the 5th (Armored) Division—now overseas—took shape, as well as the overseas tank brigade still at Borden.

Major-General F. F. Worthington, now commander of the 4th (Armored) Division, worked at Borden in getting the present armored corps going. He used dummy tanks, old British tanks and old United States tanks before the new Canadian lines of modern fighting vehicles became available.

Petawawa Camp dates back prior to the first Great War and was, and is, the principal artillery training camp for Eastern Canada. It is also an engineer training centre and its wide stretches of timbered and cut-over country provide he gunners with ample space to shoot and the engineers with all types of terrain on which to practice bridge-building, demolition and their other special jobs.

Itching Toes Quickly Relieved

OR MONEY BACK

If you suffer with fiery itching of your feet, if they swell and burn; if there are tiny, inflamed cracks between or under your toes you should not neglect immediate treatment because these are symptoms of dreaded athlete's foot infection. Take quick action before the condition becomes acute and spreads to your hands or other parts of your body. Go to any drug store today and get an inexpensive bottle of Cortisol. The very first application will stop the iching and burning and a few days use will effectively destroy the athlete's foot garm that is causing your foot misery. Cortisol is a clean, pure liquid, quick and easy to use, no stain, no muss, no bandages. Just pat a little Cortisol on your feet night and morning. If in three days you are not pleased with the results—get your money back. You can not afford to ignore this generous and liberal offer. (Advt.)

Kidd Reunion Held At Nicholls Oval

One hundred and thirty people attended the second annual reunion of the Kidd family held on Civic holiday at Nicholls Oval, and the event was successful beyond expectations with an increased attendance and near ideal weather. Plans were made to hold the get-together every year on the first Monday in August at Nicholls Oval, and it is expected that in 1943 more than 200 will be able to attend.

Orville Kidd had charge of a sports program which was run off in an efficient manner. Prizes for nail driving went to Orville Kidd, Roy Kidd and Ivan Kidd, and the ladies who took this event were Mrs. Clayton Kidd, Mrs. Leonard Hannon, and Mrs. Allen Kidd. A jelly-eating contest added much fun to the program.

Following the evening meal Mrs. Vida MacNaughton distributed prizes as follows: to Annalene Hannon, the youngest member present; Barbara Kidd, whose birthday fell on Monday; Mr. and Mrs. J. MacNaughton, most recently married couple. Prizes for the men's beauty contest went to Dr. Donald Kidd, with Richard Tedford and David Nelson in a tie for second spot. Beauty contest winners in the women's division were Mrs. Kenneth Kidd, Mrs. Percy Kidd and Mrs. Mary Raddon.

Officers Named

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Leatha L. Kidd, president; Phyllis Kidd, secretary; and a social committee consisting of Jessie MacNaughton, Mrs. Richard Tedford, Jack Kidd and Rev. Clayton Kidd. Orville Kidd is to handle the booth.

The following persons were present from Peterborough:

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald MacMillan and Barbara; Mrs. Vida MacNaughton, Miss Jessie MacNaughton, Mrs. Allen Kidd, Mrs. M. Ferguson and Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ferguson and John, Dr. D. A. Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. Orville R. Kidd and Douglas, Ross and Beverley; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kidd and Ronald; Mr. Steve Miller; Mrs. F. A. Kidd and Phyllis, Kenneth and Jack; Mr. W. Earle Kidd; Mrs. Mary I. Sedgwick, Miss Geneva Sedgwick, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wilson, Miss Doreen Kidd, Miss Irene Kidd, Mr. David S. Calder, Mr. M. G. Forsythe, Miss A. Hiscox, Mr. Oscar Cromie.

From Peterborough district: Mrs. O. B. Earle, Mr. Dave Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kidd, daughter Leatha and Maxine, sons Ivan, Arnold, Ellison and Orland; Mr. Norman Lillico.

From Warsaw and district: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tedford and Alma; Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson and Laura and Sherman; Miss Mabel Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. Burritt Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kidd, Clare and Freda; Mr. and Mrs. James Hawthorne and Hugh.

From Lakefield and district: Mrs. Arthur Kidd, Mr. Roy Kidd, Miss Clarice Kidd, Rev. and Mrs. Clayton Kidd and Barbara and Jerrett.

From Norwood and district: Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Kidd and Norman and Dorothy; Mrs. Louis Fife, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Fife, Ronald, Kenneth, Yvonne; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. MacMillan; Mrs. B. Cassidy and Donald and Bud; Miss Isobel McMillan; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bongard; Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Ferguson, Mrs. Leonard Hannon and Annalene.

Havelock and district: Mrs. Alex Mathison and Isobel, Master Vernon Colby.

Port Hope and district: Mrs. Mary Belle Raddon, Miss Jean McCarthy.

Kemptville: Master Grant Taylor.

Toronto: Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Kidd; Mrs. Gordon Kidd and Shirley; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Earle, Douglas and David; Miss Margaret Murray, Miss Jean Hawthorne, Miss Pearl Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Kidd.

Ottawa: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Laycock, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Maxwell and Ross; Mr. Wallace A. Maxwell, Wallace Jr. and June.

Truax, Saskatchewan: Miss E. Jean Lewis, Reg. N.

California: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Kidd.

Canadians Seen Preparing For Invasion

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

Somewhere in England, Aug. 6—(CP)—Touring a section of the Canadian army area in southern England, Gen. Sir Bernard Paget, commander-in-chief of Britain's home forces, inspected the great airdrome being built by the Royal Canadian Engineers, watched armored division troops in battle practice and saw Canadian pilots make daring tree-top sweeps.

Regiments of medium and field artillery were massed for the British military leader and he visited reinforcement units where thousands of soldiers, fresh from Canada, are learning their jobs to back up line regiments for the push into Europe.

Expect Many More Troops

The general also passed through a 1,000-man hutted camp, one of many being erected by the R.C.E.'s for the flood of Canadian troops that will pour into Britain before the end of the year.

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, the army commander, accompanied Gen. Paget and throughout the day they had earnest discussions about the Canadian army's preparations for the big offensive.

The party included Capt. R. I. Agnew, head of the Royal Canadian Air Force overseas. There also were a score of major-generals, brigadiers and colonels.

Work at the airdrome was in full swing when the party arrived. Concrete was being laid on mile-long runways and the area resembled a huge construction camp in peace-time Canada.

A battalion of sappers, many of them stripped to the waist, worked

Stuart Visits Canadian Corps

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

Somewhere in England, Aug. 6—(CP Cable) — Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the Canadian general staff, and Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Letson, adjutant - general, drove through a Canadian corps area yesterday and saw training demonstrations by engineers, gunners, infantry, reconnaissance troops and air support control units.

They also inspected secret invasion developments.

Lt.-Gen. Crerar, corps commander, accompanied them and Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, commander of a division, spent the morning with the party.

The engineers, under Lt.-Col. Geoffrey Walsh of Oakville, Ont., took blitz buggies, Bren-gun carriers and guns across a river on rafts. The visiting generals watched the air support control unit commanded by Maj. Gib Stewart of Montreal demonstrate how it calls out squadrons to bomb targets.

Troops of the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards of Ottawa, under Lieut. Bob Pell of Edmonton, staged a battle drill show in Bren carriers. The party saw anti-tank gunner training and it was at a forward observation post as field guns under Lt.-Col. Ted Beament, Ottawa, fired live shells a few hundred yards away.

Brig. P. C. Tees of Vancouver outlined artillery training to the chief of general staff as he rode about in a blitz buggy.

The visitors finished the day with a Calgary tank regiment and saw special work being carried out.

Second Survivor Of Lake Michigan Tragedy Is Rescued After Being In Water 73 Hours

STANDISH, Mich., Aug. 6 (AP)—Another dramatic chapter in the Great Lakes' latest story of shipwreck and drownings unfolded today after the rescue of a second survivor from the tragic Sunday fishing cruise of 13 persons on Saginaw Bay.

Coast Guardsmen, patrolling the bay for victims' bodies pulled Abraham La Bean, 32-year-old Bay City welder, from the water at 3:25 p.m. yesterday—a rescue that bordered on the miraculous, the Guardsmen said, since he had been in the water 73½ hours.

A life jacket so water-logged that it weighed approximately 50 pounds when La Bean was rescued had kept the husky, six-footer afloat for three days and three nights from the time the fishing party's cruiser had struck a rocky reef and foundered.

Weary and badly burned by the sun on his back and shoulders, La Bean still was capable of an attempt at a joke when the Guardsmen's work boat found him.

"You almost caught me napping," he said, trying to grin.

Later he said he "hadn't slept a wink" during the ordeal.

Not long before, the body of La Bean's wife, Dorothy, 26, had been recovered. It was the ninth body to be found. The only other known survivor was 23-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Repkie, who swam seven miles to the shore. Her husband, Louis, drowned in an attempt to make safety with her.

LUCKIES NAB PREFERRED PLAYOFF SPOT BY DEFEATING SOLDIERS

Grab Five Runs Early To Win 11-9

Thanks to an early lead Luckies triumphed over Soldiers 11 to 9 at Riverside Park Wednesday night in their sudden-death battle to decide third place in the City League race. As a result the Military Training Centre team dropped back into fourth position which means they will have to meet the leading Plazas in one bracket of the playoff semi-finals while Luckies and Royals clash in the other.

Luckies won last night's argument by hammering Soldiers' starting pitcher in the early stages of the battle. The Military team selected Bennett, a slow ball left hander, and the winners gave him a hot reception. He managed to get by in the first inning but they broke through his delivery for five hits and four runs in the second session and after they had scored another marker and had the bases loaded with nobody out in the third, the southpaw was yanked and Powell, a right-hander went to the rescue. He had a lot of trouble getting the side out and eventually Luckies scored seven runs in that frame but for the balance of the game the newcomer held the winners scoreless and allowed them only three hits in the last six innings.

Lewis went the route for the Luckies and held the Soldiers to seven hits. Two of the blows however were homers by Nick Sero and Huck Herrick with a runner on in each case and then in the final frame a bunch of misplays helped Soldiers to make the final score close, three unearned runs coming across in that inning.

Joe Stewart with two doubles and a single led the Luckies at the bat while Tony McIlveen had a double and two singles to head the Soldier hitters.

The fielding feature was Frank McCormick's grab of a hard hit ball from the bat of Nick Sero.

Soldiers Score First

Soldiers broke into the lead in the first inning. Barnes opened with a hit to right and went to second on Mortimer's sacrifice. McIlveen singled through short to score the run but was out himself trying to go to third on the throw to the plate. He ran into Shortstop Loyst en route and fell. Sero flied to McCormick to end the inning.

Luckies retaliated with four runs in the second. Courneya opened with a double to left and scored on McCormick's single to the same field. Mowry rolled out but Jamison doubled to right and Woodcock and A Caccavella singled to drive in three more runs.

The winners came back with another big inning in the third. Stewart started with a double to left and Courneya walked. McCormick's single to centre scored Stewart. Mowry walked, filling the bases and Bennett was relieved by Powell who walked Jamison forcing in Courneya. Woodcock singled to right, scoring McCormick and Mowry. Jamison scored as Anderson tossed out Caccavella. Loyst walked. Lewis singled off the pitcher's shins, and then a wild pitch and Stewart's long fly to centre followed with the result that two more runs were registered before Courneya popped up to Barnes to end the big innings.

Luckies failed to scored again, Soldiers got one in the fourth. Mortimer opened with a single to right but was forced by McIlveen. Sero's hard smash to left was taken by McCormick. Thompson walked and both runners advanced on a wild pitch. McIlveen scored when McLaren bunted and Lewis threw home too late to get to the runner. Powell was out on strikes.

The losers got two more in a hurry in the sixth. McIlveen cut a double past Caccavella and Sero drove a long homer over Stewart's head in centre field, scoring McIlveen in front of him. The next three went out in order.

Another Homer

Another homer in the seventh gave Soldiers another pair. Anderson, first up, walked and scored in front of Herrick when the catcher drove a circuit clout over Woodcock's head in right field. Barnes popped to second. Mortimer walked but McIlveen struck out and Sero forced Mortimer.

Soldiers went out in order in the eight but in the ninth they made it close. Anderson got a life when he bunted and Lewis' throw hit the runner. Herrick hit to Courneya and everybody was safe when the throw to second went astray, Anderson scored on the play and Herrick ran to third when the throw in was wide, Herrick scored when Loyst missed Barnes' roller. Mortimer hit into a force out but went to second on a wild pitch and scored on McIlveen's hit past second. Sero however flied to Stewart and Thompson rolled to Courneya to wind up the ball game.

Luckies: A. Caccavella, 2b; Loyst, ss; Lewis, p; Stewart, cf; Courneya, 3b; McCormick, lf; Mowry, c; Jamison, 1b; Woodcock, rf.

The City League playoff setup is now all in the clear. Luckies arranged the stage for the semi-final brackets Wednesday night when they defeated the Soldiers 11 to 9 and grabbed off third place in the group race. That means that the Soldiers will meet Plazas in a best two-of-three series in one division of the playoffs and Luckies will clash with the second-place Royals in the other bracket, also a best two-of-three arrangement. The first game in the playoffs will be staged at Riverside Park tomorrow Friday night with Soldiers and Plazas clashing. The second game of that series will be played on Wednesday of next week. In the other semi-final series Luckies and Royals will tie into each other on Monday night with the second meeting of the two clubs scheduled for Friday of next week. The winners of the two semi-final rounds will meet in the league finals, likely in a best four-of-seven series.

The opening playoff game tomorrow night should be a honey. Soldiers uncovered a new pitcher last night in Powell, a big right-hander with an unusual delivery who went in after the Soldier starting pitcher had been given a mauling and after finally putting out the fire in a disastrous third inning, held Manager Fred Griffin's team scoreless for the balance of the game, yielding out three hits in the last six innings. Powell showed about enough in those last six innings to justify him as a pitching selection for the first game of the playoffs, although the Military Training Centre team may elect to send McKerrigan back at the Plazas. He made a fairly good job of it the other eve and may get another chance against them, but the newcomer looks like the logical starter. Plazas will have both Tom Parsons and Dave Wilson ready to toss in against the Soldiers and both clubs will have their strongest lineups in action. It looms up like the best battle of the season and should draw the year's biggest crowd. There is always something about a playoff game that makes it a magnet for the red-hot fan. Incidentally players and officials should make it a point to be on hand ready to start sharp at 7 o'clock. The nights are getting longer and it was noticeable at last night's game that it was getting rather dark before the final innings was completed.

Electrics and Generals will provide the program in the Girls' Softball League tonight and they should dish up a real lively argument. Electrics would love a chance to toss Generals for a loss and they will be out there trying all the way to perform that little trick. Generals with the acid test coming tomorrow night when they clash with Westclox who are riding on the crest of a seven-win wave may find that they do not need to wait until Friday night for a battle but have one on their hands tonight. Mary Larmer, southpaw hurler, will be the selection for Electrics while Norma Strickland is expected to get the call for Generals, although Marilyn McCarthy and Bea McDowell are also available for mound duty. Tonight's battle is billed for 7 o'clock sharp at the Bowl.

Hughson's Thirteenth Win

Tuesday Ontario-born Phil Marchildon of the Philadelphia A's became the first pitcher in the American League to win 13 games this season. There are two of them now. Yesterday Cecil Tex Hughson, big right-hander of the Boston Red Sox also grabbed of his 13th win as against three losses with a beautiful exhibition of twirling against the Athletics. Hughson who came up to the Red Sox from Louisville during the 1941 campaign is rapidly developing into one of the greatest pitchers in the American loop. He shut the A's out yesterday 7 to 0 and allowed them only three hits, which is twirling de luxe. Roger Wolfe who has won ten games for the A's was given a good combing on this occasion, the Red Sox pounding out fourteen hits. Incidentally there was another shutout in the American League yesterday, Thornton Lee, White Sox scuthpaw, making his second start of the year won a pitching duel from Newhouser of the Detroit Tigers, winning the argument 1 to 0. Lee lost his first start and has been out since through injuries. It was a brilliant comeback for a very fine pitcher who has had some tough luck.

* * * * * *

Brooklyn Dodgers, a club that looked as if it didn't need any strengthening has undoubtedly obtained some by the bringing up of Pitcher Max Macon from the Montreal Royals. The rookie left-hander proved that last night when he pitched a superb game against the New York Giants, holding them to two hits and shutting them out. As a matter of fact Macon only had to face 29 batters. The Bums won the argument 4 to 0 with the loss going to Sunkel. While this was going on St. Louis Cards were also scoring a shutout as Johnny Beazley pitched three-hit ball against the Cincinnati Reds. The Cardinals won the tilt 5 to 0 with Bucky Walters the victim. The veteran's first two pitches really settled the issue for Jimmy Brown hit the first ball for a double and Harry Walker cuffed the second for a single, scoring Brown and that one run was all that was needed for a Card victory in the light of Beazley's fine tossing.

* * * * * *

Pitcher Rip Sewell of the Pittsburg Pirates who would probably be near the top of the pitching list if he were with the Dodgers or Cards picked off his 12th victory of the season, shutting out Chicago Cubs 3 to 0 Sewell allowed Chicago only six scattered hits and started the winning rally himself with a single. And still another well-pitched game in the National loop was delivered by young Tommy Hughes, on the hill top for the Philadelphia Phils. Hughes held the Boston Braves to five hits as the Phils won the second game of the series 5 to 2. Earley and Sain did the pitching for the losers.

When Gallagher Shone

Older fans will enjoy the following by Bill Walshe in the Kingston sheet: "They talk a lot about Fireball Feller, now in the U.S. Navy and Bulletball Joe Bush of the First Great War baseball era, but while these big league hurlers piled up impressive strikeout records, there has been nothing in professional or amateur basebal to surpass the feats of Kingston's own Teddy Gallagher during the 1920 season pitching for Kingston Ponies, managed by Joe Daley, Gallagher struck out 152 batters in 118 innings, a remarkable feat indeed. That season Gallagher opened the season in a game at the Fair Grounds against Triple Links on June 3. The weather was terrifically hot and Gallagher was a mass of perspiration before the third inning. But nevertheless he proceeded to mow down the Triple Links and piled up a total of 22 strikeouts for the game, a record which still stands. "Flat" Walsh was Gallagher's catcher while Bert Daley was at first, Ted Saunders at second, Cecil Baker on third, Harry McNeill at short, Del Cherry, Jim Stewart and Chuck Coyne in the outfield. In addition Gallagher helped himself to two hits in the game."

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Nick Sero's homer in last night's Soldiers-Luckies game was really hit. Joe Stewart was playing the Soldier shortstop deep in centre field and ran back and made a good stab for the drive but it still went over his head.....Among the folk who will not be rejoicing over the victory of the Luckies last night are the members of the Royals who have to meet Manager Griffin's team in the playoffs..The Luckies have beaten the Royals three straight games during the regular season.... It looks as if the Soldiers have dug up a pitcher just when they needed one badly. Powell finished last night's game in good style....Toronto Maple Leafs didn't do much hitting last night and the result was the Newark Bears took both ends of a double-header, 3 to 2 and 7 to 1. The Leafs got only four hits in each of the two tilts....The Juveniles who will soon enter O.A.S.A. competition will practice tonight at 6.30 o'clock and Reg Kingdon expects a full turnout....Stealing bases is almost a lost art but not with George Stirnweiss, second baseman of the Newark Bears. He has already purloined 60 bases this season and is pointing to a new International League record....The O.B.A. playdown schedule is out but it doesn't mean a thing to Eastern Ontario, once the home of provincial baseball championships....Willie Spittal of the Peterborough Club and Lex Robson of Kawartha have both entered the Canadian open golf championship competition.

Two Local Pros Battle For Big Title

Ben Hogan, the 135-pounder from Texas, became the "little man that wasn't there," as the par-gunning forces mustered strength at Mississauga Wednesday in preparation for the 1942 Canadian Open championshiu.

What's Store Par?

"Mr. Golf," who is credited with an all-time record in links competition by finishing in the money in fifty-six consecutive tournaments, went shopping with Mrs. Hogan.

After limbering up for his second Canadian Open title bid Tuesday, Hogan decided he needed a holiday from the links. So he gave Mississaugua a wide berth, in favor of a gallop through downtown Toronto stores with Mrs. Golf.

While the continent's greatest coin-collecting golfer was hunting birdies and eagles along Market Row, Mississauga was welcoming to its fold five more of America's greatest golf-ball masseurs. They were Mike Turnesa, Ralph Guldhal, Jimmy Thomson, Ky Laffoon and Clayt Heafner.

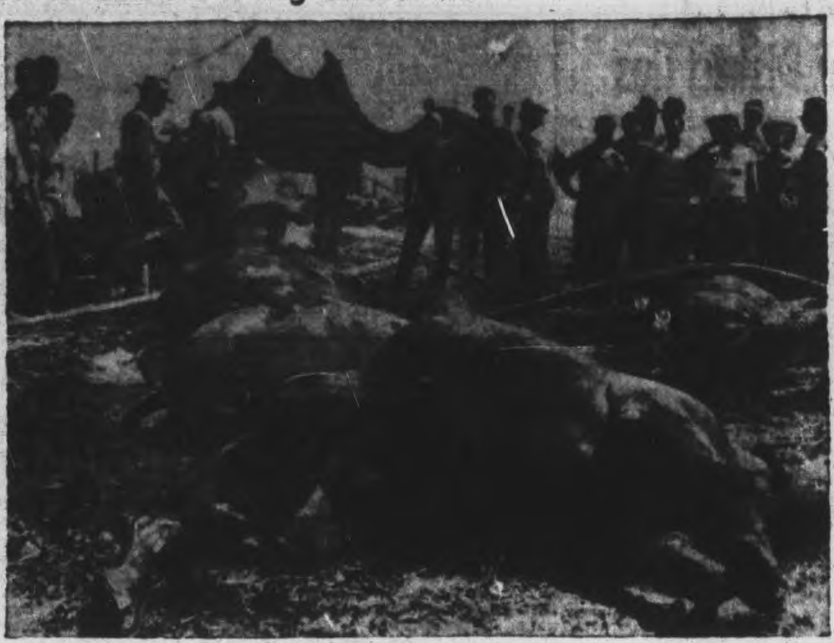
Last-minute appearance of this "Big Five," definitely provides the 1942 Canadian Open and Seagram Gold Cup golf derby with the most illustrious international field since the tournament was given a major uplift by Royal Canadian Gold Association authorities back in 1920.

Guldhal, Thomson and Laffoon have been runners-up for the title at one time or another. Guldahl knocked at the door twice, in 1937 when Harry Cooper won at St. Andrews and in 1939 when Jug McSpaden turned the trick at Saint John, N.B. Thomson chased Lawson Little in 1934. Mike Turnesa shared second place with Jimmy Demaret when Hogan galloped off with the Hale American United States Open in Chicago.

Among the late entries were Lex Robson and Willie Spittal of Peterborough. Lex led the Canadian pro contingent in the Open in 1938. He was second to Gray in the home-bred parade in 1936, and tied with Bob Burns for second in 1939.

Heafner, one of the big noises of tournament golf this season, was a surprise arrival. Last week, big Clayt suddenly quit the St. Paul Open in disgust, after missing a short putt at the sixth hole in his third round. A few days previous he had tied Byron Nelson for the $15,000 Tam O'Shanter Open, losing to Nelson's sub-par blasting in an eighteen-hole playoff.

100 Animals Die In Big Circus Fire



Dead elephants and camels photographed on the grounds of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey circus near Cleveland, after they had been shot as a result of serious burns inflicted on them during the menagerie tent fire. Fire, from an undetermined cause, razed the tent and destroyed thousands of dollars worth of equipment in addition to the 100 animals that were burned to death or that had to be shot.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Creating what we believe to be an all time record our club, last night, finished the first schedule. Notwithstanding all the wet weather, in the early part of June, Group No. 1 finished all their games on time and according to schedule. They have not one postponed game to play.

In group No. 2, while the schedule is over, yet there is one game to be played and that is the one rained out on Monday, June 1st.

This will be ordered, by the committee to be played on the first off night. So when you consider out of 34 schedule nights only one was postponed we think it is worthy of comment.

The official standing of the prize winners in Group No. 1 are: 1st—G. Gimblett's rink; 2nd—B. Chesler's rink.

We noticed in the Daily Examiner last evening, where it was 30 years ago that Dr. G. E. Marshall died suddenly down on the old greens while playing in an open tournament. While we were not a member of the club at the time, we remember the day. We were well acquainted with the late Dr. Marshall. We believe that Charles Seymour is the only present day member who was a member of the club at that time.

Now about this single competition for tonight. If you are drawn to play be out on time. If you are not playing please come out and act as one of the umpires.

The ladies staged a hurry up tournament all their own yesterday afternoon—they had 10 local rinks out and that is as many, if not more that some ladies' clubs have at their annual open tournaments.

The winning rinks were:

1st—Mrs. F. Hall, Mrs. F. Mowry, Mrs. J. Cullen, Mrs. W. Petrie, skip.

2nd—Mrs. L. Ackford, Mrs. Dr. Fulford, Mrs. M. Patterson, Mrs. H. Beatty, skip.

3rd—Mrs. A. Sproats, Mrs. C. Mowry, Mrs. W. Greenslade, Mrs. J. Arnold, skip.

TORONTO, August 6—(CP). — Main interest in the Canadian Open golf championship's first-round gallery today was on a question as old as the tournament itself—whether a Canadian could beat the top-notch imported talent to the $1,000 first prize and the Seagram Gold Cup.

The chances are as good as they ever were. Opposing such big-name Americans as Ben Hogan, Clay Heafner, Craig Wood and Paul Runyan is a battery of capable Canadians headed by Stan Leonard and Gordon Brydson among the professionals and Phil Farley in the amateur section.

Farley may be the most solvent hope, because his startling 67 in a practice round shows he knows his way around the championship layout's narrow fairways and well-trapped greens. But Brydson is the solid chance among the Canadian professionals, because Mississauga is his home course and he knows it as no one else does.

Brydson is co-holder with Walter Hagen of the competitive course record of 68.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard must be considered and Montreal's Stan Horne will be well up among the Canadians. The problem still is not which Canadian can win the event, but whether any Canadian can do it. Bob Gray of Toronto Scarborough was second to Sam Snead last year, with Brydson fourth, and Brydson's putts in the last two rounds—when the heat was on—were better than those of the long-hitting Gray.

Mississauga is a 6,543-yard layout, par 72, and is heavily trapped. Another potent hazard is the fast-running Credit River, which crosses five fairways and skirts 11 others. Only two holes of the 18 are free of the water menace.

Total prize money is $3,600. The field will play 18 holes to-day, another 18 tomorrow and the best 60 scores and ties will move into the championship 36-hole windup Saturday.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Aug. 6 (CP)—Latest Canadian city to feel the rejuvenating influence of R.A.F. men in soccer is Calgary...the sport was almost dead there—as it was in almost every other Canadian city—until the war brought R.A.F. schools to this side of the pond...To Canadians who have played these Air Force teams, it seems one of the prime requisites for enlistment is an ability to play soccer...The Maritimes and Western Ontario are among the other districts found teeming with soccer fans when the right kind of soccer came along.

Castilloux Dept.

Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson, speaking on the 1-1 tie in the Castilloux retirement league: "Get the real lowdown on Mr. Castilloux's fistic future by consulting the new manager, Mrs. Castilloux...The answer, incidentally, will be no."... Hal (Toronto Globe and Mail) Walker, commenting on Castilloux's statement that he would retire and Manager Raoul Godbout's rebuttal that Castilloux's statement shouldn't be considered official, says "Godbout has done much for Castilloux and if he says that Dave will fight again you can take it for as close to gospel as the ten commandments that dapper David will be in thar flicking leather again."

Incidentally:

Bill Carse, Chicago Black Hawk forward, has enlisted with the 31st Reconnaissance Battalion in Edmonton...Horsemen at the Regina Exhibition race meeting last week gave Judge George Schilling something to remember them by...Last Friday, when entries were being taken for the last day of the meeting, the boys gave Schilling a pair of Turkeys then entered 98 (count 'em) thoroughbreds in the seven-race card to assure a full field for every race on closing day...Eight starters was the maximum for each race, so 42 horses didn't get in... that type of situation is nothing short of heaven for a presiding steward.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 — (AP). — Short Ration Rushin'.—So many high school coaches have left Oklahoma for the armed services that the State High Scool Athletic Association has put out a manual, intended for women on how to coach...One big Prep. League there has lost all its basketball coaches in two months...And in Texas they made special arrangements at the annual football clinic for school superintendents looking for coaches instead of trying to find jobs for jobless coaches....And word from the South is that they may even run out of football officials, since attendance at Spring meetings of the Southern Football Officials' Association was off 20 per cent.

To-day's Guest Star

Howard Preston, Cleveland News: "It must be very comforting to St. Louis Cardinals to have historians recall that the Dodgers blew a late season 17-game lead and the pennant to the Cards back in 1930. And it must also be very comforting to the Dodger management to recall that those 1930 players no longer are playing with Brooklyn."

Recovered Fumbles

Because 16,000 officers and men soon will be in camp at the Lincoln, Neb., air base, Coach Glenn Presnell plans to have nothing but secret practices for his Nebraska footballers this Fall. There might be some alumni or amateur scouts of rival colleges on hand.

Giants Are Held To Two Hits By Max Macon

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

Pitching always is the mainspring of baseball, but yesterday it was almost the whole works in the major leagues.

In the greatest one-day concentration of pitching prowess this season, five of the seven games played ended in shut out and not a single home run was produced in the entire card. In fact, there was only one triple.

Rookie Max Macon, pitching his first complete game since joining Brooklyn Dodgers several weeks ago, muffled New York Giants to two hits in winning 4-0 and for the first five frames he had a no-hitter.

John Beazley of St. Louis Cardinals and Cecil (Tex) Hughson of Boston Red Sox each hurled three-hitters, the former in trimming Cincinnati Reds 3-0 and the latter in stopping Philadelphia Athletics 7-0.

But Hal Newhouser pitched five-hit ball and lost in the nearest game of all as Don Kolloway stole home to give Chicago White Sox a 1-0 decision over Detroit Tigers.

It was the second start of the season for Lefty Thornton Lee, the outstanding hurler of the American League a year ago and it apparently proved the mysterious arm ailment which kept him out of action for more than half the season had vanished. Lee allowed only seven scattered hits and fanned six.

Fifth Straight Win

It was the fifth straight triumph for the White Sox.

The Red Sox backed up Hughson's fine hurling with a 14-hit offensive spread over every inning and gained half a game on the New York Yankees, who were kept idle by weather at Washington.

The only other American League game was the one contest that developed into a batting melee, Cleveland curbing the St. Louis Browns 8-5 in a night tilt with a six-run rally in the fourth inning after being held to one hit for three stanzas by Denny Galehouse. The Browns outhit the Indians 12-11, but couldn't bunch their blows.

In the National League the Dodgers and Giants finally turned in a complete twi-night game at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn after having been halted twice by the dimout deadline while playing across town in the Polo Grounds. With Macon pitching swiftly as well as expertly, the contest was finished in one hour and 51 minutes. The Dodgers made good use of eight hits.

All the other National League activity also was at night. In one of the bes game Truest (Rip) Sewell blanked the Chicago Cubs, 3-0. The Pirates put an end to a scoreless pitching duel between Sewell and Les Fleming by getting all their runs in the seventh on a walk and four singles after two were out. Each team made six hits.

Although he didn't get a shutout, Tommy Hughes pitched five-hit ball at Philadelphia to lead the Phils to their second straight victory over the Boston Braves, 5-2, with the help of Danny Litwhiler, who hit a triple and double good for three runs.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Max Macon, Dodgers — Pitched two-hit shutout against Giants.

Tommy Hughes, Phils—Held the Braves to five hits for his eighth victory.

Tex Hughson, Red Sox—Blanked Athletics on three hits.

Don Kolloway, White Sox—Stole home in sixth inning for 1-0 victory over Tigers.

Johnny Beasley, Cardinals—Shutout Reds on three hits.

Rip Sewell, Pirates—Kept six hits scattered to whitewash Cubs.

Cris Hockett and Ken Keltner, Indians—They divided six of Cleveland's 11 hits leading to triumph over Browns.

Newark Bears Defeat Toronto Twice

By The Associated Press.

Stealing is a crime anywhere in baseball, and a good many International League catchers wish the law would be extended to the national pastime, at least for George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss of Newark Bears.

Stirnweiss had stolen 31 bases at mid-season when he realized he had an excellent chance to beat the modern record of 63 set by John Kelly of Baltimore in 1906 and tied by another Oriole, Fritz Maisel, in 1919.

Since the league's all-star clash he had swiped 29 bases in 33 games, with the climax coming last night as he pilfered four in a doubleheader with Toronto Maple Leafs to bring his total to 60 for the season.

Sharing the spotlight with Stirnweiss' brilliant larceny were the four-hitters turned in by George Washburn and Joe Page as the Bears won both ends of the twin bill, 3-2 and 7-1. In the second game, Page had a shutout until the ninth inning when Frank Coleman homered.

Buffalo Bisons ended their season's play with Syracuse Chiefs by taking a double victory, 5-2 and 3-1. The Bisons broke a 2-2 deadlock in the opener with the help of a home run by Jack Redmond with one aboard in the sixth inning.

In the nightcap, Tom Pullig bested Clayton Lambert in a pitching in duel as Buffalo scored twice in the eighth inning to break a 1-1 tie.

It was a battle of lefthanders at Montreal with Clyde Smoll of the visiting Baltimore Orioles coming out on top, 1-0. Smoll gave up four hits and his opponent, Jack Kraus, yielded only three, but one of these was coupled with an error and resulted in the only run of the evening in the fourth inning.

A blackout helped Jersey City Giants down Rochester Red Wings, 5-4. Hugh Poland doubled in the sixth inning to drive home Bobby Westfall who had walked, breaking a 4-4 deadlock just a few minutes before the lights were turned out at Red Wing Stadium in Rochester. This run proved to be the deciding one.

Letters From Home Cheer Airwomen

While Canadians at home are sending cheery letters overseas to their sons and husbands, men and women in Newfoundland are writing similar letters to their daughters "overseas" in Canada who are in training at the R.C.A.F. Women's Division Manning Depot. Here, LEFT to RIGHT, A.W. 2 M. M. Kennedy, Harbor Grace; A.W. 2 G. Harvey and A.W. 2 J. E. Adams, of St. John's, smile as they read the home town news. Letter-writing is one of the more pleasant tasks imposed by war upon stay-at-homes. Less pleasing but of vital importance are the various restrictions of war-time living such as sugar, tea, coffee and gasoline rationing which are also accepted with a smile.

disclosure of material seized in a police raid on Congress headquarters at Allahabad.

His audience of 10,000 seated on a grass park in the cotton mill section of Bombay applauded when he said he wanted the people's moral support for the United Nations. He stressed again ,however, that "the first step should be for Britain to withdraw." He added this did not mean that Allied armies should leave India.

Appeal Made To Heed Call

The new draft of the working committee proposal, to be voted upon by the main committee, renewed the appeal to Britain and the United Nations to heed India's call so that she can "assure success to the United Nations by throwing all her great resources into the struggle for freedom...."

"But," the draft resolution added, "the committee feels that it is no longer justified in holding the nation back from endeavoring to assert its will....

"The committee resolves, therefore, to sanction for the vindication of the inalienable right of freedom and independence the starting of a mass struggle on non-violent lines on the widest possible scale....

"Such a struggle must inevitably be under the leadership of Gandhi and the committee requests him to take the lead and guide the nation in the steps to be taken."

(This is the policy on which Gandhi has insisted. The Congress party, generally recognized as the political instrument of India's 240,-000,000 Hindus, is estimated to have a membership of 1,500,000. Whether it speaks for a majority of them or not, most are devoted followers of Gandhi.)

The Picobac Support Line

Home from the hay-field, weary and worn from his day of "Farming for Freedom," Mr. Picobac, Great War Veteran, Home Guard and Farm Corps Auxiliary, kissed his wife a resounding smack on her fresh, rosy cheek.

"That's because I've got such a nice little woman in the house," announced he.

"Want me to sew a button on or something?" inquired Mrs. Picobac, struggling unsuccessfully not to smile.

"What I want is a spell behind the lines," declared Mr. Picobac. "A good meal . . . a good place to put my feet up . . . and some good society. I'm TIRED!"

"You poor man!" exclaimed Mrs. Picobac, sympathetically.

"Poor nothing," retorted Mr. Picobac. "Wait till I have had my supper and a pipeful of mild . . . cool . . . Picobac and I'll be as good a man as ever. To-morrow's another day. Watch my smoke!"

"It DOES taste good in a pipe!"

Caucasus

tor where the Germans have driven closest to the oil fields of Maikop, some 120 miles farther to the southwest.

Stalingrad's defenders were spurred by the memories of the heroic and successful defence of the city in 1917 by troops under Joseph Stalin, who organized supply services there for the newly-created Red army. After the revolution the city was renamed in honor of the Soviet premier.

Fight Delaying Actions

Deep in the Caucasus, Russian troops fighting a delaying action below Belaya Glina, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, made a new withdrawal yesterday while in the Kushchevka area, 50 miles south of Rostov, Cossacks were reported inflicting particularly heavy losses upon Nazi air-borne tanks and parachutists who descended behind Russian lines in groups of 100 and 150.

The mid-day Soviet communique said today that during last night Red forces in the Belaya Glina sector made a fighting withdrawal to new positions and that in Kushevka area Soviet anti-tank gunners and "tank busters" destroyed eight Nazi tanks and 25 other vehicles.

Night-riding Cossacks charged into a Caucasus village, slaughtered more than 600 Germans and disappeared swiftly into the darkness, the communique reported.

3,000 Germans Picked Off

Soviet defenders continued to hold firmly to their positions on the Kletskaya front where the official announcement related one Russian unit picked off 3,000 Germans. Another 250 Nazis were reported slain by Soviet tank units in a dash against the enemy's rear.

Fighting has erupted on the long-dormant Bryansk front, 210 miles southwest of Moscow, and the Soviet announcement said Red Army forces recaptured a village there, killing 1,00 Germans in street fighting.

Fighting blazed without let-up throughout the night on the Stalingrad and other major fronts in the south, the communique said.

Enemy Units Encircled

Elsewhere in the North Caucasus the Russians said inclusive fighting continued. In the Don elbow the Germans broke through Russian defences in one sector but frontline dispatches said the enemy units were quickly encircled and exterminated.

The German advance to Kotelnikovski presented a new threat to the railroad spanning the isthmus from Stalingrad to Novorossiisk, Soviet naval base on the Black Sea. This line already has been severed in the Belya Glina sector.

From Kotelnikovski the Germans might strike toward Astrakhan, 240 miles to the southeast on the Caspian sea at the mouth of the Volga. A thrust across the comparatively flat country to that oil port would isolate the Caucasus by land from the rest of Russia.

Price Ceiling Must Remain Even With Bonus Increases

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 (CP) — A wide-spread extension of the simplified practice plan instituted by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board is expected to be adopted by manufacturers and other business men to help meet increased outlays on cost-of-living bonuses.

Board officials are known to be determined that the increased bonus shall not result in wholesale puncturing of Canada's general price ceiling, yet employers are going to have to pay out well over $1,000,000 extra in wages every week to meet bonus increases and new bonuses resulting from a higher cost-of-living index.

The extra bonus payments occasioned by a 2.4 point increase in the cost-of-living index since last October amounts to 60 cents a week for each employee, except those earning less than $25 a week who are paid an extra amount equivalent to 2.4 per cent of their earnings.

Some of this extra cost may be met by Government subsidies but it is already evident that the Government has no intention of paying subsidies unless all possible economies have been effected in businesses placed in a difficult position by increased costs and ceiling prices.

The simplified business practice plan is expected to be the first thing business men will be told to turn to in an effort to meet higher labor costs.

One example of simplified practice is the elimination of a number of buttons from men's suits. This will result, it is estimated, in a saving of 20,000,000 buttons a year, reducing both labor and material costs and making 100,000 pounds of bakelite, casein plastic or vegetable ivory available for airplane manufacture.

By packing six pairs of hose instead of three in a box, hosiery manufacturers have made a saving of 2 1-3 cents on a dozen pairs of hose. Elimination of cellophane envelopes and wraps has resulted in a saving of more than 11½ cents a dozen.

Almost 150 simplification-standardization orders have resulted from the first six months' activities of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's division of simplified practice.

Close to 1,000 executives have served on advisory committees in formulating these compulsory economy orders, which are regarded by the board as a necessary and logical development of price-ceiling administration.

The fundamental theory of simplified practice is to cut costs through the introduction of every possible economy. In practice, many firms have been able to absorb previous cost increases without applying for a subsidy.

The program has a double-barrelled effect in protecting the price ceiling and releasing materials, machines and manpower in civilian industries for war work.

While the branch has been largely concerned with problems of manufacturers it is also operating with considerable success in helping small retailers, officials said.

A dormant or surplus stock department is acting as a clearing house for thousands of items of stagnant stock lying idle in storerooms and warehouses. Last week this department received 225 inquiries and 25 lists of stock, bringing the total stock lists on hand to 175.

THEY'LL BE BACK

The Metropolitan Police College, Hendon, England, has been closed for the duration of the war.

Lettered Coupons Cannot Be Replaced

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 (CP)—Lettered coupons required for the purchase of tea and coffee cannot be replaced if they are erroneously removed from a ration card in the purchase of sugar, it was announced today by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The Board said reports had been received that, in isolated cases, lettered coupons instead of numbered coupons had been removed from the cards in the buying of sugar.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN

Frank Hopkinson, 52 St. James street, North Monaghan reported to the police this morning that his automobile had been stolen during the night. The machine had been parked on Albert Street while Hopkinson was at work in the C.G.E.

AT LEAST HE WAS THANKED

A visitor to a local beverage room yesterday walked out of the place, leaving his wallet containing $182 on a table and was about to board a bus when one of the beverage room staff picked up the wallet and returned it to the owner. His reward for honesty was a gruff "thank you" from the absent-minded visitor.

KEEPING EWE LAMBS

In Grey county 273 farmers having 5,110 ewes are increasing their flocks by 1,521 ewe lambs. That compact bit of information suggests a background of efficient fact finding, apart from the physical accomplishment these farmers are achieving this year.

Fewer beef cattle are in Huron pastures. Perth wheat has been yielding up to 45 and 55 bushels to the acre.

DELIVERY ASSURED

Persons who have ordered and bought tea from companies such as Ocean Blend are assured of deliveries according to a clause of the new regulations applying to that business, Wm. Inch of Ocean Blend Company told the Examiner today. "But we are not permitted to take any more orders until the new rationing cards are ready in September. People who have bought tea and coffee from us in the usual way will get those deliveries."

RUMORING FROST

Rumors of frost this week, particularly in several of the low-lying sections of the suburbs, can hardly be correct in the face of the weather report from A. O. Phillips, showing that the low for early Wednesday morning was 45 degrees. The summer's coolest night was July 3 when the official thermometer dropped to 43 degrees. Folks who have been talking about signs of frost this week must be misinformed.

GOOD WORK

The Fire Department had a call turned in from Box 51 at the corner of Brock and George street at 9.45 Wednesday evening, when a cigarette butt ignited an awning in front of Ingram's Shoe Repair store. All the apparatus turned out, and people were loud in their praise of the prompt action of the department. Damage amounted to about $30. At 11.02 a second call was received from 502 George street, and it turned out to be a leak in a refrigerator.

COSTLY TEA

Three ounces of tea sell for $6 in Italy, according to a news report in a newspaper that manages to wangle information out of Europe. Olive oil is $5 a quart, coffee has disappeared from the shelves of trade, and a canvas-topped shoe, with rubber sole, known as the "national shoe" sells at $8 a pair. Canada is still getting tea at a normal price for the only reason that the British fleet has been able to keep ocean traffic moving. And that, of course, includes, the fleet of the United Nations as a group. When you get your week's allowance of one ounce of tea a week, you might remember now and then that without the British navy you would have been all out of Oolong long ago.

TENNIS CHAMP ENLISTS

Roy H. Tranter, former city tennis champ has been accepted as a student pilot with the R.C.A.F. and reported for training at Manning Depot, Toronto, this week. He had been working in the C.G.E. office.

BIG HAY CROP

Haying on the Albert Hunter farm in North Monaghan was all wound up Wednesday. Most of the crop of ninety loads was packed in the barn, leaving so little room that the grain crop will have to be stacked.

TRANSFERRED HERE

About twenty Peterborough men who enlisted for active service and were posted to the depot at Kingston have been returned to the Peterborough Training Centre to get two months' basic training. They are naturaly quite happy about being posted for training to their home town.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION

Communications to the council Tuesday night included a letter from George S. Sloan and family gratefully acknowledging the floral wreath and expression of sympathy sent by the council on the occasion of the recent death of Mrs. Sloan. Their only son, Lieut.-Col. M. R. Sloan, is an assistant assessor.

FALLS INTO TRENCH

Jack McGinty, nine years old, of 273 Bethune street, fractured two bones in his right forearm when he fell into the trench being dug along Bethune street to carry the new water main being laid by the Utilities Commission. The boy was playing with several other children near the treach and toppled in. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

SOLD FOR TAXES

Nine vacant lots on Bethune street north were sold at $31 each, for arrears of city taxes up to the end of 1939 at the city's tax sale Tuesday. A house on McDonnel street was bought for approximately $1,000, and taxes on eight parcels of land shown in the list that was up for sale were paid for prior to the auction. Eighteen lots are left for the adjournment of the sale on Wednesday, August 12. Owners have a year to redeem the properties sold. City Treasurer Shaver said the entire list was comparatively small.

Band Concert Friday Night At King Edward

Salvation Army, Peterborough, Temple Band plan a new bit of entertainment for city and district music-lovers when they start the first mid-week band concert at King Edward Park Friday evening. For some time, the band has given thought to this mid-week program, and with permission of Alderman Curtis, chairman of the Parks Committee, the first concert gets underway August 7.

Many people in the south-end of the city will welcome an opportunity to hear this talented group of musicians, and if the attendance justifies it, the concerts will be held regularly.

With the kind permission of Adjutant Buckley the band will give the following program August 7, commencing at 8.15:

"Rule Britannia."

Desperate Plea For Help In Harvest Work

Many Durham farmers are worried about help for threshing and silo filling as a large percentage have no regular help, and day men are not available. The cutting of fall wheat is finished and early spring grains are now ready for the binders.

Yield of fall grain in Hastings was good, but not quite up to expectations, says the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Some second cut hay is being harvested, and there won't be much of the spring grain crop left after this week.

Weanling pigs are selling at $15 a pair in Northumberand. Mik production is fairly well maintained. Fall wheat is a good sample and some yields are around 50 bushels to the acre. Early potatoes have turned out well and are selling at $2 to $2.25 the 75 pound bag. Tomato fields are showing good growth. A lot of the oats and barley are cut.

Rain Does Harm.

Heavy rains in Ontario county have actually done considerable damage to the crop. Prince Edward says considerable hay has still to be handled. The picking of raspberries is at an end; yields have been disappointing, the crop having been reduced by hot dry winds. The red raspberry crop in the county was 40 p.c. and blue raspberries 60 p.c.

Wheat reached 40 bushels to the acre in Brant, and combines are in keen demand for custom work The Brant tobacco growers advertised in Toronto papers for harvest help and have received a spendid response.' This same idea has been mentioned in Peterborough both for city and county needs, but nobody has really made any serious use of that medium.

Haldimand wheat is running 30 to 40 bushes to the acre. Some of it has been moved to market at 85 to 95 cents; present indications in that county point to a greatly reduced acreage to be sown this fall.

Between 70 and 80 combines in Lambton have been whacking into the crop and rushing the harvest along. "Desperately short of harvest help" is the intimation from the county's agricultural representative.

Wheat opened at $1 for the new crop in Middlesex, and then dropped to 90c. Corn and roots have been doing well for the last three weeks.

Rubber From Alcohol Vetoed By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—A desire to save the country's grain reserves for food purposes and for industrial alcohol to be converted into munitions and other war needs may be cited by President Roosevelt as a reason for vetoing legislation that would promote the production of synthetic rubber from grain alcohol.

The President told a press conference Tuesday he expected to return the legislation to Congress by today with a message explaining why he opposed it. The measure rode through both Houses over administration objections.

OBITUARIES

ALEXANDER J. GRISDALE

The death occurred Wednesday night of Alexander Joseph Grisdale, 853 Water street. Although he has been in poor health for the past several years, his death came as a great shock.

The late Mr. Grisdale was a lifelong resident of Peterborough and was a devout member of St. Peter's Cathedral, the Holy Name Society and the Altar Society.

Surviving are his wife, the former Cecilia Crough, three daughters, Clara, Margaret and Cecilia, and one son Jack, all at home. There are also four brothers, James, Wilfred, John and Steven, and one sister, Agnes, all of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 8.40 a.m. from the residence, 853 Water, to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem high mass.

Interment will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

JOHN J. CROWLEY

After a long liness, John J. Crowley, R.R. No. 6 Peterborough, passed away at the home of his brother, Frank Crowley, Lot 18, Concession 12, Otonabee, Wednesday, at the age of 69.

Son of the late David Crowley and Ellen Sullivan, Mr. Crowley was born in Otonabee and lived there all his life. He was a member of the Church of the Sacred Heart and belonged to the Holy Name Society.

Left to mourn his loss are two brothers, Joseph and Frank of Otonabee, and six sisters, Sister M. Justina of St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough; Mrs. Florence Driscoll, of Peterborough; Mrs. P. J. Slattery, Mrs. Herbert Kylie, Mrs. Fred J. Kylie, of Otonabee, and Mrs. Joseph Carley of Toronto.

The funeral will be heild Saturday from Lot 18, Concession 12, Otonabee, to the Church of the Sacred Heart at 9 a.m. Interment will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Capt. W. H. Ackhurst Joins Active Unit

Four members of the 4th Field Battery, R.C.A. Reserve have enlisted for active service, following the steps of many others who have moved up into the active service bracket in recent months.

During the two weeks camp period at Connaught, Captain W. H. Ackhurst, of the C.G.E. engineer staff, and officer commanding the 4th Field Battery enlisted with the 119th Field Battery at Petawawa. 2/Lt. G. M. Ingersoll, of the headquarters staff of the 43rd Field Regiment, and an employee of the Unemployment Insurance Commission also went active with the 119th. Sgt. Ken Hoard, an employee of the Westclox and a member of the Battery was also accepted for active service during camp, with the same unit as the other two. A short time back five members of the Battery enlisted with this unit, and Sgt. Lloyd O. Grose, enlisted a short time later.

Several promotions are listed in Battery Orders, most of them becoming effective during the camp period. They are as follows: Sgt. W. H. Mortlock to be Troop Sergeant-Major; Gnr. W. E. Fanning to be L./Sgt.; Bdr. F. Worsencroft to be L./Sgt.; Gnr. J. H. Coones to be Bombardier in charge of first aid; L./Bdr. W. Aggas to be Bombardier, and Gnr. A. B. Jack to be Bombardier.

Reserve army training continues on Monday and Wednesday evening and any local man wishing to enlist for reserve training is invited to attend parades, and any information he wishes will be given without obligation.

7-Year-Old Boy Rescued At Trent River

HAVELOCK, Aug. 6 — (ENS). — Two small children who had been bitten by the wanderlust had narrow escapes from death in the Trent River at the summer resort of the same name late Wednesday afternoon.

The two youngsters, Frankie Hill, age 7, and Patrick Hill, age 8, left their home in Havelock, and hitch-hiked to Trent River, a distance of about five miles. Here they obtained a flat-bottomed row-boat and rowed out into the river. One of the oar-locks loosened, and one oar dropped into the water. Frankie, the younger of the two, reached in to retrieve the oar and toppled into the river. His brother screamed for help, and cottagers and villagers hurried to the rescue.

Several people were diving for the youngster when Howard Lloyd of Trent River reached him, in about 20 feet of water. Dr. Watson, of Toronto, who is holidaying at Trent River, applied artificial respiration for more than 20 minutes before normal breathing returned and the boy recovered rapidly.

The near-tragedy took place in front of Mrs. Bryans' cottage above the second pier, and Mrs. Bryans took the two children home in her car. The father of the children, Pte. Russell Hill, is serving with the Canadian Army in England, and the mother, Mrs. Mae Hill, had believed the children were playing near their home with other youngsters.

Tea Hoarders Warned Checkup Coming

W. E. Foley, local administrator for Wartime Prices and Trade Board, declined to say this morning whether records of grocery stores would be examined to ascertain whether consumers had purchased any excessive quantities of tea in recent weeks.

"We don't want to give the public an idea that we are unfair or too officious," Mr. Foley said. "The public has been informed of the tea rationing regulations, and they know what they are supposed to do That does not mean that on our part we are not going to look into retail records."

The official announcement of rationing declared that persons with more than two weeks' supply of tea or coffee on hand when the regulations became effective August 3 must report their total quantity to nearest ration office, and for Peterborough that is Mr. Foley's office on Hunter street. Such persons must also take along their ration coupons to cover the difference between the quantity of tea on hand and the quantity they are allowed under the new rule.

If the common value of the surplus exceeds the coupons attached to the temporary ration cards of all members of the household more than 12 years of age, the report should contain an undertaking to surrender the appropriate number of additional coupons when they are received.

This clause is manifestly aimed at hoarders, and if there are such persons and they feel like taking a chance on not being revealed by Mr. Foley's staff the responsibility rests entirely with themselves. However, they can hardly say that they have not been advised of the law.

Great War Comrades Meet Again

Major-General J. V. Young, master general of the Ordnance, is shown with William Barnacal, of Peterborough and Winnipeg when they met for the first time since they had been together in France in 1915. They were in Petawawa this week. Mr. Barnacal is superintendent of a division of one of Canada's largest factories.

Percy Campbell Given Heavy Sentence

For the second time within twenty-four hours Magistrate E. A. Gee this morning sentenced a drunken driver to thirty days in jail.

This time it was Percy Campbell, 35, whose home is near Bewdley but who has been working here as a hotel porter.

Campbell was arrested following an accident near the corner of Park and Elm streets, after a northbound car had smashed into two parked automobiles, damaging them both and had left the scene of the crash.

He was charged with drunken driving and with failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was released on bail to appear last week for trial. Campbell, however, failed to answer his name when it was called and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Yesterday he was taken into custody near Bewdley by Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher and Officer John Naples.

This morning he pleaded guilty to drunken driving and to a second charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and after Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., had related the circumstances to the court Magistrate Gee sentenced the accused to 30 days on the drunken driving charge and fined him $25 and $2.30 costs for failing to remain at the scene of the accident. If this fine is not paid Campbell will have to spend another thirty days in jail.

Magistrate Gee also suspended the accused's driving license for a period of six months.

"Drink has been the cause of this man's trouble," Chief Constable Newhall told the court.

RELEASED FOR NURSING

LONDON—(CP).—Labor Ministry officials have been told to release any woman who want to volunteer for nursing, no matter what her wartime job may be, which is hoped will relieve the shortage of nurses.

Pea Crop Yield Delights Emily Farmer

Roy Howden of the first concession of Emily sold to Canada Packers 12,579 pounds of peas from two acres of his farm for $330.50, netting him $282.90. And in the familiar agricultural idiom 'that ain't hay.'

A pea crop that yields more than three tons to the acre deserves the qualifying word superlative, according to Mr. Howden himself and other farmers who say that even two tons is excellent.

"Dave McAdam who drew the peas said he had never seen such a crop," Mr. Howden told the Examiner today, "and just jokingly I said perhaps it was the new Ford tractor, when he asked me how I had done it."

Mr. Howden planted Perfection peas, a variety not generally sown in this district. The season was an unusual one, but on the whole was favorable to peas that began well. Early cold and wet weather delayed growth at the outset, some land "soured" and quite a lot of seed peas did not grow. But, those whose timing happened to be more in tune with the weather garnered a big yield.

Leonard Henderson, R.R. 3, Millbrook, had a pea crop that averaged 4,240 pounds to the acre, in excess of two tons. Bert Arnott sold 6,880 pounds from an acre and a half, more than three tons.

Lopsided Score Features Game

In a wide-open game which only lasted four and a half innings, because of darkness the Cubs swamped the K. of C. by a score of 26 to 12 in a Catholic League game at the Memorial Park ball lot.

The K. of C. were held scoreless in their half of the first inning and Cubs followed with three. In the second frame the former chalked up twelve runs and the latter felt like calling for the towel. However when the Cubs came to bat they weren't satisfied till they scored an equal number of counters. They didn't stop after that until they put over the plate six in the third and five in the fourth, holding at the same time their opponents' scoreless after the second inning.

Although both ball heavers were little hit they were wild and walked plenty. Hayes doing the chores on the mound for the Cubs was nicked for nine safe blows and walked an equal number, while Mongraw allowed ten bingles and walked also a like number.

For the victors O'Donoghue proved himself again a mighty wielder of the willow by cracking out three single baggers. Brady came through with a single and a deuce and Heffernan picked up a pair of singles.

Herrington led his teammates by slamming out a single and double with Mongraw and Flint getting a double apiece.

The fielding sensation of the night was turned in by Brady when he nabbed a long fly into left field and heaved it to third to make a double play.

Cubs: F. O'Toole, c; R. Garvey, ss; Caccavella, 2b; Leonard lf; O'Donoghue, rf; Heffernan, cf; Hayes, p; Driscoll, 1b; Brady, 3b.

Knights of Columbus: Reilly, 2b; Tracy, 3b; Jones, cf; E. Wolfe, 1b; Mongraw, ss; Flint, c; Harrington, lf; Anthony, p; Baldwin, rf.

War 25 Years Ago

AUGUST 6, 1917—Russo-German positions north of Focasani were stormed by troops under General von Mackensen. General Ferdinand Foch was created a Marshal of France. Premier A. F. Kerensky of Russia formed a National Ministry.

Two Young Girls Make $18 For War Victims

There is probably no finer way for children to be spending the leisure time on their hands occasioned by the summer recess from school duties than to be doing some work for the benefit of others, and particularly to help those whom circumstances have placed in a bad position, such as those who have lost their homes or been injured through attacks from the air over Britain.

Since July 1, no less than 28 donations have been reported in this column on behalf of the Peterborough and district British War Victimes' Fund, which have come in directly as the result of work by the school children, among which the one reported today by two public school girls both of whom will go into the Entrance class this coming session ranks as one of the leaders in this respect.

Beatrice Kay and Joyce Bolton started by having a stand last Friday at the corner of Chamberlain and Park streets, for which they gathered donations of canned goods, cereals and desserts, and having still some goods on hand, they then occupied the market stall made available to the fund by the city fathers, at the market on Saturday, and in all gathered the nice sum of $18 together which appears under their name today, making a splendid return for their effort, and a nice boost for the fund.

One personal donation is listed from one who is shortly going on a short holiday, and by thus doing has presaged their own pleasure by giving something to help others first.

The box in the Robert Fair Ltd. Store adds another $1.55 to the day's list when collected by the secretary of the fund on Wednesday.

Regatta Wednesday

The Wallace Point Regatta has been an annual event of some years standing, and it chiefly seeks the promotion of swimming and boating sports, which in itself is deserving of support for the good it does in fostering the art of making young people self dependent in or on the water. For those year, they have added the objective of giving whatever they can raise over and above the necessary expenses of such an event, to help the people of Britain who have suffered through air raids over that country, which aside from all the other aforementioned advantages, is also well worthy of support of the public at large.

The event is being held under the auspices of the Wallace Point Canoe Club, and will be staged on the Otonabee River, 10 miles south of the city. The regatta will commence at 2.30 p.m., with the swimming events commencing at 6 p.m.; the major events in this being the mile swim for men for the Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., Trophy, who it is expected will be in attendance to present it in person, and the half mile swim for women for the Senator J. J. Duffus Trophy. Entries are open to all residents of the city and district, and to all visitors whether they be of U.S. origin or from other places in the Dominion. These should be sent in by August 10. In the evening, commencing at 9 o'clock, a regatta dance will be held to wind up the day's activities, and the committee in charge is working zealously to make the event a success in every way possible.

Local Soldier Returns For Commission

Opportunities for advancement in the Canadian army were mentioned a bright incentive to the man in the ranks by Sergeant G. M Flitcroft, 508 Bolivar street, who joined the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry regiment as a private and was recently sent back home to take the C.O.T.C. course at Brockville for a commission.

Sergeant Flitcroft was working with his uncle, Alderman Dutton, when he decided to enlist.

"There was quite a heavy response to the army at that time, and I hope it has been keeping up," he remarked. "We had the best lot of officers I think you could find and everything was most agreeable. For me it was a case of returning home, but as one of the men of a Canadian regiment I can say that everything was made very pleasant for us. Of course training is strenuous. The people are very hospitable. On our leaves we get free transportation anywhere in the British Isles. The men are invited to private homes. Half the battalion is out for tea every Sunday, and it is nothing to be invited to spend a week's leave in Scotland or somewhere else. We really have had a wonderful time, and I think boys joining up over there may not know that the army is just as attractive as any other branch of the service.

Five of us came back for the Officers Training Course. The other four were from Cornwall. I mention that as an encouragement to men joining up that promotions to commissions are being made from the ranks.

Our food has been good and the only thing the boys need is cigarettes.

Sergeant Flitcroft said that one of his impressions was generally that the damage to British cities by German air raids did not seem to be as extensive as he had expected from the news reports.

"Coventry and Portsmouth were bad," he added, "but London did not look to be as hart hit as I had expected."

Laborites Vote Confidence In Greenwood

LONDON, Aug. 6—(CP Cable).—Labor members of Parliament on Tuesday night gave Arthur Greenwood an overwhelming vote of confidence at a special meeting to discuss the "rebellion" of 49 members who defied their parliamentary leader and voted against the Government at the end of last week's debate on civilian pensions.

Greenwood, former cabinet member, made no attempt to censure or discipline the "rebels," but he made a strong appeal for more unity in the party.

The motion, expressing confidence in his leadership, carried 66 to 4.

The Press Association's lobby correspondent said there would have been an even greater vote for Greenwood, except that the motion expressed not only faith in his leadership but also the opinion that in all future emergencies the party leader should for the time being decide the course of action to be taken.

This proviso evoked considerable argument and some members abstained from voting, contending the leader was unable to know what the rank and file thought when a quick decision had to be made in the House of Commons.

The revolting members contended the Government's offer to increase the pensions and provide additional winter fuel and food allowances was inadequate but Greenwood accepted the administration's assurance, that it was planning to do more lated.

Refrigerator Cars To Be Rationed

MONTREAL, August 6 — (CP).—T. C. Lockwood, Dominion Transport Controller, said today that beginning September 1 there will be a serious shortage of railway refrigerator cars, and they will have to be rationed.

Mr. Lockwood made the statement when announcing that a directive to railways June 13 forbidding the use of refrigerator cars for certain classes of traffic has been amended to allow the use of available refrigerator cars for the shipment of early potatoes, onions and turnips until August 31.

"As the supply of refrigerator cars is short in Canada," he said, "shippers will probably not be able to ship all their products in these particular cars, in which case box or stock cars will have to be used in order to move the products offering."

He said there would be a serious shortage of the cars beginning September 1, and "undoubtedly the cars will have to be rationed to the best advantage."

At that time of year large quantities of fruits as well as vegetables and other perishable products are moving.

There's No "For Men Only" Sign In War Industry

As more women enlist in war industry, more jobs hitherto done only by men are filled by women workers. Latest estimate reports more than 125,000 women now engaged in industrial war work. The pretty lathe operator is "testing the cut" to make sure the machine is in shape as she performs one of the 50 operations required to turn a steel forging into a 2,000-pound 3.7 inch gun barrel.

Freak Accident Injures Farmer

CAMPBELLFORD, August 6. — (ENS)—Cecil Bertrand 35, a local trucker, is in serious condition in the Campbellford Hospital following an accident early Tuesday afternoon. He was standing besides the rack on the truck when cattle were being driven in and one reared, falling out of the side of the vehicle, taking part of the rack with it and striking Bertrand just below the right eye. He was knocked out completely by the force of the blow, which narrowly missed his eye. In addition to the facial laceration he is suffering from concussion. The accident occurred on Jim Bennett's farm in Seymour East.

Flier Arrested For Car Theft

TWEED, Aug. 6 (ENS)—Following a hectic three day chase by police during which he is alleged to have driven a stolen automobile nearly 500 miles throughout the Bay of Quinte district, LAC Frederick Marsden of the R.C.A.F. at Trenton, was arrested at Stoco by Provincial Police late Monday evening. According to police Marsden is said to have left the detention "brig" at his Air Force base on Saturday and later is alleged to have taken a motor car at the Bay of Quinte Country Club belonging to Jack Hartwick. In the car was Mr. Hartwick's gas rationing book, which contained authority for the use of ample gasoline. Today Marsden was arraigned in County Police court on the charge of stealing Mr. Hartwick's car.

Marsden is reported to have lead Provincial police on a merry chase throughout the Bay of Quinte area. Slowly the police advanced on the trail, until Monday night a police cordon swept down on Marsden as he was about to attend a chicken supper at Stoco, four miles from Tweed. The missing car, an Oldsmobile sedan, was recovered. Provincial Constables Batt and Duncan under Sergeant H. Storey, recovered the car and made the rrest.

Balfour Defends Harris Broadcast

LONDON, Aug. 6—(CP Cable)—Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, the man behind Britain's mighty fighter sweeps, and Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert, coastal command chief, will be able to add their voices to the 'scourge' threat pronounced against the Germans by Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris.

They will be able to do this 'if and when it is in the public interest to do so,' Capt. Harold Balfour, Under-Secretary for Air, informed the House of Commons to-day.

The Harris broadcast, criticized yesterday in the House of Lords, was brought up by Wing Cmdr. Norman Hulbert, Conservative member for Stockport, who asked if it was proposed to give facilities for the chiefs of the fighter and coastal commands to broadcast details of the potential attacking force under their command, in the same manner as Air Marshal Harris warned the Germans of the attacks they are likely to receive from his bomber command.

Capt. Balfour said facilities would be arranged for the fighter and coastal heads and other air officers commanding-in-chief, and added no detailed information which could be of the slightest operational value to the enemy about Britain's attacking force had or would be broadcast.

LOBLAW GROCETERIAS CO., LIMITED

Township Council Appoints H. Reid

KEENE, Aug. 6 (ENS)—The council met Aug. 3 with all the members present except A. Elmhirst, from whom the Reeve received the following:

Otonabee Township Council,

Dear Sirs: Having accepted a position in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan at No. 9 Air Observers School at St. John's, Quebec, therefore I am unable to carry out my duties as Township Councillor, and I ask you to accept my resignation of this office. I wish the council every success in carrying out the work of the township, and I trust that victory and peace soon shall be ours.

Sincerely yours, Arthur T. Elmhirst.

It was moved by Spears and Davidson that Mr. Elmhirst's resignation be accepted and on motion of the same men Harry Reid was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation.

On motion of Mr. Dawson and Mr. Spears the township rate for 1942 was set at 3¾ mills plus government subsidy of 1 mill. Moved by Mr. Dawson seconded by Mr. Davidson that the Reeve secure legal advice as to whether Otonabee is liable for an hospital account of $246.75, for services of George Crossen. The return of the 1941 collectors roll was extended to August 31. It's Great Day Aboard "H.M.C.S. Niobe" When Parcels Arrive

A place to relax between periods at sea, to write letters home, take a hot bath or any of the scores of things a man likes to do, that's H.M.C.S. Niobe, Canada's naval base in the United Kingdom. The comfortably furnished, well kept building becomes more than a haven of rest, however, when the mail brings a pile of parcels from home for the men of Canada's fighting ships. Then the plain, healthy diet prescribed by regulations is supplemented by a feast of soups, jams, puddings and other home-cooked delights. There are cigarettes in boxes, too, an item always in heavy demand. The ABOVE photographs show a couple of typical scenes aboard the Niobe. The seaman (LEFT) is taking advantage of a quiet corner to write to the folks at home. The two relaxing in the other picture are survivors of H.M.C.S. Spikenard, who find that the Niobe takes all their problems from their shoulders.

Shore Batteries, Night Fighters Protect Key City Of The Nile

By LARRY ALLEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Aug. 6.—(AP)—One of the hardest-hitting and most effective anti-aircraft barrages in the world is making Nazi bombers keep their distance over this key city to the Valley of the Nile.

The concentrated wall of fierce flame that spurts skyward from strategically-placed guns guarantees a hot reception for the enemy raiders who lately have been over Alexandria almost every night.

All shore batteries, going into action simultaneously, split the darkness like a series of giant sparklers, their light spreading fanwise into the sky and merging into a huge blob of white as projectiles explode in the area of the planes.

Night fighters also have been busy, and in the last few nights it has not been uncommon to see Italian or German bombers burst into flames and plummet into the Mediterranean.

The enemy thus far has failed to create widespread damage in this principal base of the Mediterranean fleet. There has been no indiscriminate bombing of the city itself.

Alexandrians, aware that the decisive battle between the British and Axis armies facing each other near El Alamein, 65 miles westward, remains to be fought, are taking every precaution to meet any big-scale air raids which might be the prelude or follow-up of any new Nazi push.

Hundreds of private and public shelters have been built in recent weeks.

Although the war is at the city's doorstep, and the rumble of artillery fire is audible, life goes on normally.

Night clubs, bars, restaurants, theatres and hotels are doing a rushing business despite the rigidly-enforced blackout.

Police On The Job

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—The Wallaceburg police department functions as a first-rate employment agency. Half an hour after arresting a transient for begging food, officers had hustled the man to a job on a district farm.

Knocks Self Out

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—Walter Campbell, Hillier Township farmer, knocked himself out with a hammer while fixing the roof of his barn. He had constructed a "bosun's chair" to do the work and this prevented him from falling during the seconds he was unconscious.

For Eczema—Skin Troubles

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well. Go to McDermid & Jury or any good drug store and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil—it lasts many days because it is highly concentrated.

The very first application will give you relief—the itching of Eczema is quickly stopped—eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of Itching Toes and Feet, Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum and other skin troubles.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue. Complete satisfaction or money back. (Advt.)

Canada's New Bomber Squadron Is Composed Of French-Canadians

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R.C.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 6. — (CP. — Canada's newest bomber squadron is a French-Canadian one but there is a sprinkling of Canadians of other extraction and they are undergoing a little 'French-Canadian—but they wouldn't think

There aren't many of them — a couple of English-Canadians, a Polish-Canadian and a German-Canadians—but they wouldn't think of asking for a posting to another squadron. They said 'these fellows are grand chaps and good boys to work with.'

Flying Officer Bruce Servos, 26-year-old Toronto airman, is the squadron leader. Veteran of the 1,000 bomber raids on Cologne and Essen and another smaller raid on Karlsruhe. The former Ontario Hydo draftsman likes being with the squadron and is anxious to 'get this thing cracking.'

Captains of two of the crews, 22-year-old Sgt. Pilot Frank Bauer of Waterloo, Ont., and red-haired Pilot Eugene Kuzyk, 24, a Polish-Canadian from Innsfree, Alta., explained they were with their crews and didn't want to be separated from them.

The German-Canadian with the squadron is Lac. Adam Deutcher, 22, of Odessa, Sask. He has six brothers in the air force. One of them is serving in the Middle East and the others are either instructing or in training in Canada.

"They are all air crew except me, but I hope to change that soon," said the young aero engine mechanic.

Married Again

Count Court Haugwitz Reventlow, the Danish nobleman who was once the husband of Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, is shown with his bride, the former Mrs. Margaret Drayton, of New York and Charleston, S.C., shortly after their marriage at Colorado Springs. The count's former wife is now Mrs. Cary Grant, wife of the motion picture star.

Charivari Greets Apsley Newlyweds

AJSLEY, Aug. 6 (ENS).—A marriage of local interest was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, Kipling, Ont., on June 24th, when Miss Hannah McAdams became the bride of Mr. Ralph Bodin. Rev. Engstrom performed the ceremony. The bride, attired in pink crepe with veil and orange blossoms, was attended by her sister as bridesmaid, while Mr. Eric Backstrom attended the groom.

They will reside in Apsley, where Mr. Bodin is employed by Johnson Bros. Construction Co.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bodin arrived in Apsley on Sunday and one evening soon after our village resounded with the clamor and din of a real old fashioned charivari. The bride and groom answered and told the crowd that they would give them a dance on Friday night.

On Friday night a large crowd gathered at St. George's Institute hall to welcome the bride and groom to the community. Dancing was enjoyed. Music furnished by Mrs. Herb Tucker, Messrs. Lloyd Lean, Leslie McColl, Harold Hall and Jim Scott.

The young couple received many individual presents. They were also presented with a purse of money. The presentation being made by Mr. Dave Burke. At midnight lunch was served after which dancing was resumed.

Mr. Fredenburg and Mr. Tweedy are both teachers in the Oshawa Vocational School.

Construction Of The Alaska Highway Brings Back Days Of The Golden Era

By HERBERT JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Somewhere in the British Columbia Interior, Aug. 6 (CP)—A tornado of wartime prosperity is roaring across a section of British Columbia's interior.

The war has brought soldiers and construction workers by the thousands in a giddy whirl of ringing cash registers, quadrupled populations, a rush for supplies—a prosperity boom such as the area has never known.

Been Booms Before

There have been other booms in this rugged mountain country, like the land rush of the early 1900's when high-powered real estate men sold lots for $6,000 apiece. But oldtimers will tell you there never has been anything to equal the present wave of business, with accommodation unavailable and cafes hard pressed to meet demands.

Sleepy railroad towns—some the product of another boom era — awoke one morning to find themselves re-living the hectic days of the past. Thousands of construction workers had moved in with tons of heavy equipment to put through roads here and build airports there. Then the army came. Row on row of soldiers' tents sprang up overnight in hurriedly-cleared patches of forest land.

Demand far surpossed supply and transport became a major problem.

Hotels Filled

Dusty little 20-room hotels hadn't had more than a half-dozen guests in months, are filled to capacity, with even a chair in the lobby at a premium as a sleeping place. Private homes rent out all available beds and even barns and garages are turned into sleeping quarters at some centres.

Restaurant owners even in the larger centres find themselves forced to close their doors periodically because their establishments are jammed. Others lock up for the night at 8 p.m. And earlier because they are sold out.

At night the men from the army camps stream into the towns by the hundreds, on foot, on motorcycles and army trucks. They jam the local beer taverns and lunch counters and cafes do a land office business.

The big question in the interior is "how long will it last?"

Almost any oldtimer will tell you, if you give him a chance, of the boom eras of the past which eventually faded having barely scratched the possibilities of the country in mining, lumbering and agriculture.

But most believe now that with the wartime building of roads that 50 years of peacetime appeal failed to bring, the country will be opened up and prosperity will stay after the soldier's tents and construction gangs have disappeared.

Salvaged for Victory

This mother and daughter overall set is made from small salesman swatches of drapery fabrics. A discarded Mexican sun hat makes a fine arm basket.

By PRUNELLA WOOD

IF YOU want to pick up a bit of slack for the war effort during your leisure between jobs or career hours, get on to the salvage sewing plan. Nearly 300 units are already organized over the country, centres sponsored by Bundles of America, where scraps of fabric, yarn, what not, are cut and patched and sewn into good clothing for man, woman and child. Finished articles go to the families of our fighting men for the asking, local units working for local neighbors. There is no Lady Beautiful subconscious at work in the plan; it's a real salvage project, a community potluck in which all share after all have contributed. Women love it ... it gives their inherent gift of making something out of nothing a great opportunity.

Pap's shirt tail can be made into a blouse for lad or lassie; old sweaters and other knits are ravelled and re-knit into new articles; warm mittens are made from scraps of big coats that have been cut down to junior size to get around the worn parts. Shower curtains make fine raincoats. Discarded drapes, window curtains, sugar sacks, sample swatches, worn blankets ... these are a few of the too-good-to-throw-away items in most houses which should be put to a job for victory.

Courneya—Murphy

A pretty July wedding took place on Thursday, July 30, at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Blanche Loretto, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murphy, became the bride of Leonard Charles Courneya, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Courneya of Stoco. The wedding mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Malane.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Adrian Devlin, and was charmingly gowned in a street length frock of pink chiffon and lace over taffetta. Accessories were in white and she wore a corsage bouquet of red Briarcliffe roses. Miss Zeta Courneya, sister of the groom attended as bridesmaid. She wore blue chiffon over taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of yellow Premier Supreme roses. Mr. Jack Murphy, brother of the bride attended as best man.

Following a wedding breakfast at the DeLuxe Cafe, the young couple left on a honeymoon trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls. The groom's gift to the bride was a mother-of-pearl rosary, to the brisemaid, a birthstone ring, and to the best man, a tie pin.

Baby Band Picnic

The Baby Band, mothers and children of Trinity United Church, held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at Riverside Park, where an enjoyable time was spent knitting and sewing on layettes, after which lunch was served picnic style. Mrs. V. Skitch, 555 Walnut street, kindly offered her home for the September meeting.

Armstrong—Connolly

A pretty wedding took place in Toronto Saturday, when Miss Patricia Connolly, daughter of Mrs. Estelle Connolly, 343½ George Street, Peterborough, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Armstrong of Toronto, by the Rev. Father Bouvier in the Sacred Heart Church. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Eileen Kervin, and the groom by his brother, L.A.C. Bernard Armstrong. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left on a boat trip following the ceremony.

McVety—Wilson

WARKWORTH, Aug. 6—(ENS).—The marriage of Miss Evelyn Mary Wilson, older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robertis Wilson, Burnley, and Mr. James Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford McVety, Percy township, took place at St. Paul's United Church parsonage at 3 p.m. Thursday, July 30.

The bride wore a street-length dress of blue sheer with white accessories. Miss Jean McVety, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a street-length frock of grey sheer and white accessories. Mr. Jack McVety, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following a motor trip to Toronto the happy couple will reside on a farm near the groom's home in Percy township.

Two Sign Up

The Ontario Department of Agriculture are trying to enlist the services of 650 girls to help with the fruit crop from August 10 to October for any number of weeks during that period. Two girls, Miss Jean Castle and Miss Beryl Dobbin, have already handed in their applications for work around Winona, and it is expected that four or five more will be in shortly. The girls are permitted to choose the place where they wish to go, and as long as there is room, that is where they are sent. The age limit is 16-45. Other farmerettes are completely in love with their jobs, so it is not all work.

Mark Street W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the Mark Street W.M.S. was held recently, with Mrs. Alton presiding for the business part during the absence of Mrs. Rowland, president. A letter of thanks was received from the people of burned-out Kinmount who had received a bale from this society.

Mrs. Stanley Matchett took the chair for the devotional period and the theme was "Temperance." Mrs. James Hunter read the Scripture and short prayers were offered by Mrs. Alton, Mrs. Cecil Larmer and Mrs. Ernest Lillico. Mrs. R. Dooley sang "A Sinner Like Me," and Mrs. Gordon Eason read an address given by C. Aleta Smith on temperance at the London conference. Two readings, "Why Smith Sold Out His Saloon" and "The Story of the Two Glasses," were given by Mrs. S. Matchett and Mrs. John Hay, bringing to a close a splendid meeting.

A BLACK BEAUTY

By ALICE ALDEN

WHILE STRAW gives way to felt as the seasons go their appointed course, lace goes on forever. If you are dreaming up a hat that will make you memorable in the eyes of the man in your life, then consider the charming one worn by Barbara Britton and designed by Suzanne Gentry. Heavy black lace appliqued on horsehair is used for this wide-brimmed hat caught on one side high on the head and held by black veiling that ties in a dramatic bow at the opposite side. It is a perfect hat for a beautiful blonde but it's guaranteed to do things for any girl!

Many Boxes Given By Navy Group

After six months of operation the Peterborough and District Women's Auxiliary to the Navy has a very fine record to present to the public. For the sailors who have been home during this period, 28 parcels have been given out, each containing eight knitted articles, soap, tooth paste and brush. A large box was sent to Halifax to help the boys in difficulties after the fire in their barracks, which contained 28 parcels filled with the same things as were in the first 28. Three large cartons containing magazines and playing cards have also been sent to Halifax.

A garden party is being held at the home of Mrs. F. Kerr, Rubidge street, on August 28, and a coffee table, for which tickets are on sale now, will be given. Anyone wishing to fill a ditty bag for a boy in the navy for Christmas can procure a bag by phoning Mrs. Dorrington, president, at 4221.

The following contributions have been made to the Auxiliary since February:

Gun Shots, $335.00; W.C.W.C., $100; Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E., $25; Peterborough Softball League, $27; Catholic Women's League, $10; Mrs. Martin, $10; Mrs. Goheen, $5; Mrs. Hopgood, Chemong Park, $2; Brinton Carpet employees, $10; Mrs. M. Killoran, Wolfe, $4. Total $518.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, August 7

A DISCONCERTING and difficult day, with dangers and sudden issues of an unpredictable nature, is read from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. There may be much gained by travel, agencies, communications as well as writings, publicity, enterprises, but these should be pursued with equanimity and restraint and not jeopardized by violent, erratic or tempestuous acts. The emotional urges may impel to bursting all bonds of reason and common sense, and cause grief and regrets if not accidents. With care and discretion there might be pleasurable as well as profitable experiences.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of mixed influences with all depending upon their own self-restraint. Reasonable and governed conduct should subdue a tendency to the erratic, impetuous, rash, defiant and resentful course of impulse, waywardness and indulgence. Writings, correspondence, advertising, promotions, travel, communications and kindred mercurial pursuits would prove profitable. Social and artistic affairs are under auspicious stimuli. Litigation should be satisfactory.

A child born on this day while artistic, versatile in many literary pursuits, and with business ability, yet should be given early restraint in control of self and emotions.

Mark St. S. School Has Fine Picnic

A wonderful time was had by members of Mark Street Sunday School Saturday, when the annual picnic was held to Gore's Landing. The weather was perfect for the boat trip, and everyone from the youngest to the oldest enjoyed himself to the utmost of his ability.

After supper the races were run off and the results were as follows:

Up to five years—1, Allan Woods; 2, Gail Ferguson; 3, Ronnie Dooley.

Boys, 6 and 7—1, Gerald Stephenson; 2, Melville Stevens.

Girls, 8 and 9—1, Bendine Atchison; 2, Jean Smith and Joan Dooley.

Boys, 8 and 9—1, Claire Ferguson; 2, Ronnie Stevens.

Girls, 10 and 11—1, Helen Anderson; 2, Connie Butcher.

Boys, 10 and 11.—1, Bobby Gandy; 2, Harry Hanwell.

Girls, 12, 13, 14—1, Dorothy McNeely; 2, Catherine Butcher.

Boys, 12, 13, 14—1, Kenneth Anderson; 2, Gordon Stockdale.

Girls, 16 and over—1, Laura Storey; 2, Grace Pomeroy.

Boys, 16 and over—1, Keith Atchison; 2, Allin Stevens.

Thread the Needle race, for Men and Women.—1, Marie Cordery and Allin Stevens; 2, Mr. Rowland and Mrs. Eason.

Tie Race for Men and Women.—1, Marie Cordery and Allin Stevens; 2, Mrs. Eason and Mr. Dooley.

Nail Driving Contest for Ladies—1, Bernice Stevens; 2, Mrs. Eason.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

Dear Mrs. Moore:

Thank you for the headcheese recipe you sent to me—it makes lovely headcheese and has just the right amount of salt and seasonings.

I don't know if you will want the recipe I am sending—it uses kidneys—but my family is of English descent and likes kidneys very much.

Fricassee of Kidneys with Onion.

(Contributed by Mona Baird.)

Split pork kidneys (about six to serve six people) in flat halves and slice off the veinous portion. Soak half hour in salt water. Drain and dry. Meanwhile saute in bacon fat or cooking oil or the dripping 3 medium-sized onions (more if you like a lot of onions to show in the gravy) until the onions are soft. Add the kidneys which have been rolled in flour and cut into 1-inch pieces, and saute them, adding extra fat if necessary, until both the onions and kidneys are a little browned. Pour over 3 cups boiling water, add 1½ teaspoons salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper, cover reduce hetat and let simmer ½ hour.

Serve on hot platter which has been bordered with hot toast triangles and garnished with parsley.

I'll send you my recipe for hamburg biscuit roll one of these weeks. —M.B."

This dish is a great favorite with me, and I hope many of our readers try it. Will be watching for the hamburg biscuit roll. Sounds good.

HANDS NOT SO PALE

Blue vat-dyed cotton poplin makes this overall cut to fit the girl whose job is a dirty one for defence. No cuffs; cool neckline; fly closing.

By PRUNELLA WOOD

ONE good thing about the men's jobs that women are taking over in the emergency is that they dress for them. Far from being a rich woman's toy or an exhibitionist's town trotteur, slacks of all sorts have become casual, practical clothes which no one eyes with a titter. That is, if they fit. The overalls above are well cut to cover the feminine figure, with easy pleats above and below the front waistline, and a cinch belt. They can be worn over any shirt or pullover and protect the working girl plenty.

Curious Knicknacks Things Needed to Fill 200 Ditty Bags

The women of the Auxiliary Navy League in Peterborough really went on a buying spree Wednesday afternoon when they got 60 yards of cloth from which they expect to make 200 ditty bags for the sailor lads away from home, to help bring them a little cheer and break in the routine monotony aboard ship.

Many people wonder what they should send to the boys who are away from home, and Mrs. Dorrington, president of the Auxiliary who has a son in the navy is full of ideas. When she goes to fill a bag for her boy she is on the lookout for anything novel or something crazy that they will get a kick out of. Things like tea and coffee are no treat to the boys she declared. Many of the sailors are very fond of life savers, mints and particularly gum. They can always use soap, tooth paste or shaving cream, they like playing cards, and are very fond of the dime novels that can be gotten at the five and dime stores. Another specialty with the lads is the small tins of canned beans, not the large size. This smaller can is just right and gives them a real treat. They are also very fond of any kind of sandwich paste that they can spread on their bread when butter is rather scarce and it takes the curse off what might otherwise be a rather dull meal.

The whole point seems to be to get something unusual that the boys can get a kick out of. It doesn't have to be something elaborate as they like very simple things. More than the actual things the parcels contain is the delight in having something to open, and the contents are always a surprise.

Anyone wishing to fill one of these bags is allowed to put in whatever they wish and they are only asked to get them early so that they will be all ready to ship away by November. In such an undertaking as this not only do the men who receive the bags derive pleasure but also the ones who are filling them. Women love to shop for small things and with a project like this they can really let themselves go on a shopping binge.

Tin Of Cookies Will Always Fill Stop-Gap With Guests

By MARY MOORE

When a 28-month-old baby can think of, get, and pass the cookie box to company, I think his mother should be given 100 merit marks for "Training."

Last Saturday night I was giggle-silly I was so tired, but we were week-end almost next door to a friend so we dropped in for a moment's visit with her. Her son of early 2½ years had not yet been tucked in for the night and was wandering around in his pyjamas while we chatted. Finally, tired of being overlooked, he had the brilliant idea of passing the cookie box. I found out next day that to get it he had to pull down the steps of the kitchen stool, climb to the top, open a door that sticks, climb down again by stages of lifting the box from cupboard counter to stool top as he descended and pry off the lid, before he made his triumphal entry, grinning from ear to ear, passing his treasurer cookies.

That, Pals, is the essence of training in hospitality.

I vowed on the spot I'd move our cookie crock, down three shelves so my lanky 8-year-old could do likewise if the spirit moved him.

The cookies I've collected for this little offering today decidedly are not the sugar cookie type. Every one of them is bursting with character of some kind—health, flavor or interesting texture.

The assortment of Frosted Slices, Bran Brownies, and Filled Squares is perfect if you have enough cookie containers to hold them all,—personaly I think an assortment of two or three cookies is more than twice or thrice as good as one kind.

Frosted Slices

One-half cup shortening, ¾ cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cups pastry or cake flour, ¾ cup Graham flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon vanilla extract.

Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add beaten eggs and sifted dry ingredients. Add vanilla and mix well. Spread the batter onto a greased bading sheet as thinly as possible and frost with the following:

Beat 1 egg white until very stiff, and gradually add: 1 tablespoon at a time—¼ cup corn syrup, beating between additions. Spread this over the cookie batter on pan, sprinkle with 1 cup chopped nuts and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Cut in squares while quite warm.

The reason I call these "stop-gap cookies" is because they serve three important purposes: when the youngsters crave candy "stop the gap" with a good nourishing cookie; when casual guests drop in unexpectedly, you can serve a cookie on a plate—besides a cold drink in a tall glass it's pleasant indeed; and thirdly, when your slimming members are unsatisfied with the fresh fruit dessert you give them "stop the gap" by slipping them one small cookie and shoo them from the table, their sweet tooth is momentarily satisfied, and once away from the table temptation is removed.

Bran Brownies

Three squares unsweetened chocolate, 1/3 cup butter, 2 eggs, ¾ cup brown sugar (or ¼ cup honey and 1/3 cup brown sugar), and 2/3 cup flour, ½ cup bran, ½ cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Melt chocolate and butter over hot water. Beat eggs well, add sugar (or honey and sugar) and continue beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Add chocolate mixture. Stir in flour, bran, nuts and flavoring. Pour into greased baking pan, making a layer 1/3 inch thick. Bake in moderate oven of 375 degrees Fahr. for 25 to 30 minutes.

Filled Graham Squares

One-half cup shortening, ¾ cup brown sugar (or ¼ cup honey and 1/3 cup brown sugar), 1 egg, 2½ cups Graham flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup sour milk or buttermilk. Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly, add egg and beat well. Sift together the graham flour, baking powder, soda and salt (tippng the bran left in the sieve into the mix). Add to first mixture alternately with the milk. Spread half the dough in greased pan. Spread filling (see below) over dough and spread evenly. Cover with remaining dough. Bake in moderately hot oven of 400 degrees Fahr, about 25 minutes. Cut into squares or diamonds while still hot.

Filling (for Filled Graham Squares)

One cup of chopped raisins OR dates OR figs, ½ cup corn syrup, OR ¼ cup honey, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind. Combine ingredients, cook slowly, stirring to prevent burning, until thick.

Cool before spreading on cookie dough.

Toddler's Tidbits

One-half cup shortening, ½ cup brown sugar, 1/c cup honey, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup flour, ¼ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup quick cooking oatmeal, 1 cup packaged rice cereal, ½ cup cocoanut. Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and flavoring and beat well. Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt together. Combine with oatmeal, rice cereal and cocoanut. Add to creamed mixture and stir until well blended. Drop by tablespoons on greased baking sheet or roll to ¼ inch and cut with cookie cutter. Place on greased baking sheet and bake at 375 degrees Fahr. for 15 to 20 minutes or until brown.

How to make the most of your Coffee

WHATEVER type of coffee-maker you use, follow these rules to prevent waste and to use coffee to best advantage.

1 Use good coffee — correctly ground for your method of coffee-making.

2 Measure ground coffee and water carefully so as to provide just the number of cupfuls you need and no more. Use freshly drawn water.

3 Make coffee at just below boiling point. Boiling develops bitterness and spoils flavor. Remove grounds as soon as coffee is made.

4 Serve immediately, if possible. If necessary to keep hot, use only low heat.

5 Keep coffee maker scrupulously clean. Stale odors and sediment affect flavor. Preheat by scalding just before use.

MAXWELL HOUSE is a blend of the world's finest coffees, roasted by a special process to capture all its extra goodness. It offers precisely correct grinds for each type of coffee maker—Drip and Regular. Maxwell House reaches you absolutely roaster-fresh because it is sealed in a Super-Vacuum tin. This is important because roasted coffee, once ground, loses flavor rapidly when exposed to air. The best way to retain its aroma is to keep it in the tin.

DOROTHY DIX

SHOULD AMBITIOUS WOMAN MARRY EASY-GOING MAN.

She Is Apt to Love Ambition More Than She Does Husband

DEAR MISS DIX — I am the father of a lovely daughter of 22 who will soon graduate from a professional school in which she has been well prepared to follow the career of her choice. She is engaged to a fine boy who has lots of good in him. In fact, he worked his way through college and is now in the army. But evidently my daughter has doubts about the wisdom of marrying him. So she writes me, asking my advice on the subject and I pass the buck on to you. She says:

"Dad, do you think a girl who wants to get things done at once and who is intensely ambitious shauld marry a boy who is ambitious only to a small degree and believes in taking life as it comes, wanting a peaceful, average existence rather than getting to the top? Is it not true that the ambitious girl marrying a take-it-easy man might become one of those detestable, horrible domineering or nagging wives?"

What do you think of my daughter's problem? A FATHER.

ANSWER—I think such a marriage would almost certainly come to grief because the husband and wife would have diametrically opposite viewpoints on what mattered in life and what they wanted out of life. There is an old story that tells of a husband and wife who, when they were first married, sat down to discuss their future plans together.

The man said: "When I have made a hundred thousand dollars I will have enough and I will retire from business, and we will enjoy life." The woman said: "Oh, don't wait until you get a hundred thousand dollars. Retire when you have made enough for us to be comfortable on." The man made a hundred thousand dollars and he wanted to retire, but his wife wanted still more. He made two hundred thousand dollars and eventually a million, but still he had not made enough to make her comfortable.

That is the way with an ambitious woman. She is never satisfied. She never reaches her goal. And she has no patience with a husband who isn't willing to strive, as she is; who isn't willing to sacrifice everything to get on in the world. No one is such a penny-pincher as the woman who is determined to lay up a fortune. An ambitious wife is not a restful companion. On the contrary, she is a goad in the side of her husband, and there are very few men who can take it, and like it.

Her Ambition Drove Him Away

I have in mind a couple of youngsters I knew well. They were much in love when they married. The man was a gifted writer and his wife was inordinately ambitious and eager for him to succeed. So as soon as he began to be successful she made herself a task-mistress. She drove him to his desk every morning, whether he was in the mood for writing or not, and kept him imprisoned until he turned out what she thought was an adequate amount of copy. Always she hounded him to do more and more and make more and more money, until finally he could stand it no longer and he left her for an easy-going woman who would play with him and let him enjoy some of the fruits of his labor.

I think it doubtful whether an ambitious woman ever loves any man as well as she does her ambition, so I think your daughter would make a great mistake to marry a man whose idea of a successful life is just to be happy.

Her Girl Friend is Too Glamorous

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a girl, 17 years old, and my best friend is the same age. We are together constantly and I am very fond of her, but there is just one trouble. If we meet boys, I never get anywhere because she is so beautiful and has such a wonderful personality that the boys fall for her immediately. So what am I to do?

I am not beautiful and, although I try to be pleasant and a lot of fun, I don't have a chance. I am not jealous because I realize it isn't her fault that the boys like her, but I am getting tired of just having her leftovers. Please tell me what I can do. JANE.

ANSWER—Well, Jane, there are two ways of looking at your situation. One is that on the principle that half a loaf is better than no bread at all, any kind of a date is better than to sit at home and suck your thumb. Many girls who lack the come-hither look deliberately choose as their running mates girls who have it and who act as their stalking horses. The glamor girl draws the boys and the unglamorous one gets in on the killing, because when Beautiful Susie is asked to go places Plain Susie can't be left out of the party.

That seems to be your case and probably you will be foolish to break away from your beautiful friend, for among the many boys she has in her trail there will be someone who will find how sweet and amiable and pleasant you are, and that you make a mighty nice consolation prize.

On the other hand, you can break away from your attractive friend and go only with girls who are no better looking and have no more personality than you have. That avoids an invidious camparison, but it has its disadvantages because nothing is more dangerous to a girl's chances with boys than to get side-pocketed with a bunch of girls who always go together and never have any masculine attention. It takes more courage than the average lad has to try to horn into such a feminine organization.

Many War Brides Are Mercenary

DEAR MISS DIX—The reason so many girls are anxious to marry boys who are just going into the army is because they are looking forward to that insurance money in case their darlings don't come back, or the alimony they can collect if they don't like them when they get home. My girl friend tried to inveigle me into marrying her before going into the service, so I gave her the air for good, and I mean for good. I have no use for racketeers and that is just what women are. Do you think that men will ever get wise to them? I don't. DRAFTEE.

ANSWER—I am afraid not, son. Men have been knowing women and their wiles ever since the dawn of creation and they don't seem to have learned a thing about them.

No doubt there are plenty of girls who are rushing into war marriages with a weather eye on the possible profits they may get out of them, but many others are carried away by war hysteria and the romance of having their pictures taken as they walk out of church under an arch of swords. And many others because they are honestly in love with the boys and believe that a marriage ceremony will bind them more securely than an engagement ring.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: In some of the "slick" paper magazines I read a menu for a trousseau tea. The first course was Cream of Garden Vegetable Soup. The very name of it made me hungry for it. How should you make it, Mrs. Moore? Do you think it should have meat stock?

I always like your recipes for soup and think you must be extra good in this department. In anticipation. —"Wibby" Anders.

ANSWER: I think for a trousseau tea I would want veal or chicken stock in a garden vegetable soup—and if you ever have this, you can make an extra nice pot of soup but a good one can be made without meat.

Cream of Garden Vegetable Soup

Two cups milk and 1 cup stock or 1 cup whole milk, 1 cup vegetable stock and 1 cup chicken-bone or veal-bone stock, 1½ tablespoons flour, 1½ tablespoons fat (butter or chicken or cooking oil), ½ cup each finely sliced spring onions, small new green peas, finely sliced yellow snap beans, shredded or sliced young carrots. (One tablespoon chopped sweet red pepper is an attractive addition.) Salt, pepper and seasonings such as curry, celery salt, finely chopped parsley, very small amount of mint and celery are all optional. Add little bits of them according to taste.

Cook the vegetables until barely tender in 1½ cups water. Drain reserving the liquid for the 1 cup you require for your stock. Make a white sauce by melting the butter, stirring in the flour, then all the liquids, until it thickens.

Add the vegetables and the seasonings: heat through in top of double boiler and serve very hot with croutons.

QUESTION: I want a recipe for Salmon Salad made in moulds and the dressing is mixed with the salmon and the fish looks creamy. I want to serve this at garden party in the middle of August so please print it before then. Thanks for the letter Spring.—Mrs. M. H. Spraule.

ANSWER: I think you will like the following recipe—other flaked fish beside salmon may be used.

Moulded Salmon Salad

One tablespoon gelatin, 1 egg, 2 cups milk, ½ cup vinegar, 2 cups flaked salmon (cooked or canned), ¼ cup cold water, 1 teaspoon flour, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar.

Mayonnaise: mix flour, mustard, sugar and salt, and add to beaten egg, then add milk and vinegar. Cook 10 minutes. Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes, and add hot moyannaise. When lukewarm add the cooked flaked fish, and pour in moulds which have been rinsed in cold water.

WOMEN PAY BIG PRICE FOR POOR "BLOOD MAKE UP"

You women who feel and look "washed out"—limp and droopy—may be paying the price of hemoglobin shortage in the blood.

The demands of monthly "periods" pregnancy, etc. all conspire to bring about this shortage of the vital red coloring matter in the red blood cells. Try Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

They help increase hemoglobin where there is a shortage of it due to iron deficiency and help chase away that "leaden" feeling of tiredness so often due to this condition. Start your course of Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. Ask your druggist.

Canadians Seen

with giant trucks and shovels rushing the job to completion in record time. The Canucks stood on no ceremony for the distinguished visitors, but went right ahead with their work in billows of dust.

Gen. Paget drove around the airdrome on the completed runways in a "blitz buggy" and marvelled at the task being done by the Engineers.

Wireless Used

At the artillery demonstration, where nearly 100 guns were massed in fields under camouflage nets, the new Canadian air support control unit showed how air support could be rapidly called up by wireless to take on targets chosen by army commanders. Fighter-reconnaissance aircraft of Canadian army co-operation squadrons received orders while they were in the air miles away and came swooping down on the targets.

In the armored division area, Gen. Padget watched an attack by American tanks, driven by troopers of the Lord Strathcona's Horse from Winnipeg and Calgary followed up by infantry of the Westminster Regiment from New Westminster, B.C.

At the reinforcement units, the party watched soldiers training an ordnance workshop men, saw enthusiastic new gunner reinforcements doing gun drill on the square as if they were turning back a whole Germany army by their efforts, and viewed mimic infantry attacks.

with giant trucks and shovels rushing the job to completion in record time. The Canucks stood on no ceremony for the distinguished visitors, but went right ahead with their work in billows of dust.

Gen. Paget drove around the airdrome on the completed runway in a "blitz buggy" and marvelled at the task being done by the Engineers.

Wireless Used

At the artillery demonstration, where nearly 100 guns were massed in fields under camouflage nets, the new Canadian air support control unit showed how air support could be rapidly called up by wireless to take on targets chosen by army commanders. Fighter-reconnaissance aircraft of Canadian army co-operation squadrons received orders while they were in the air miles away and came swooping down on the targets.

In the armored division area, Gen. Padget watched an attack by American tanks, driven by troopers of the Lord Strathcona's Horse from Winnipeg and Calgary followed up by infantry of the Westminster Regiment from New Westminster, B.C.

At the reinforcement units, the party watched soldiers training an ordnance workshop men, saw enthusiastic new gunner reinforcements doing gun drill on the square as if they were turning back a whole Germany army by their efforts, and viewed mimic infantry attacks.

Simple Exercises Help Ease Aching Feet

Feet Affect the Figure Too

"Let me sit down!" gasps the woman with aching feet.

Even her oldest shoes haven't relieved the strain on her tortured foot muscles. Severe pain, a haggard expression and poor posture are the result.

Simple exercises for the feet would do wonders for her—enable her to step gaily along like her smartly shod companion.

Usually the metatarsal region in the ball of the foot is the first to give trouble. Undue pressure on this part strains the muscles that hold the bones in place.

To strengthen your metatarsal region so it can "take it"—do this simple exercise.

Lay a towel on the floor and keeping feet pointed straight ahead, place toes on edge nearest you. Keep heels on floor and, using gripping movements of the toes, pull towel back under the insteps. Repeat five to seven times.

With right exercises you can correct other body faults too—have a trim, young figure. Our 32-page booklet gives illustrated exercises to slim the waist, hips, legs to improve bust, shoulders and arms, to relieve foot and nerve troubles, constipation. Has exercises to improve posture, a daily routine for whole body.

For your copy of "Best Exercises for Health and Beauty" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name and address and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

AVOID THAT DANGER

ANY MILITARY or naval commander tries to know what the enemy would most like to have him do, and then makes sure that he does everything else except that. Usually, in a doubtful bridge hand, there is some one risk which declarer must consider, and guard himself against that one hazard. In the case of a No Trump contract, he must not let the defender with a long suit gain the lead after it is set up. To prevent that, he may have to do all manner of things, including the overtaking of his own honors at the cost of wasting an obvious trick-taker.

North: ♠ Q 7 6 2 ♥ 9 ♦ 8 7 ♣ A Q 7 5 4 2

West: ♠ K 10 9 5 4 ♥ Q 3 ♦ Q 9 ♣ 10 9 8 3

East: ♠ J 8 3 ♥ A J 10 8 7 4 ♦ K 6 4 ♣ J

South: ♠ A ♥ K 6 5 2 ♦ A J 10 5 3 2 ♣ K 6

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣
2 ♥	2 NT	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	3 NT

Several players who like to play No Trump contracts got into that same spot on this duplicate deal, but only one of them made it. In every case, the first three tricks were in hearts, with the Q allowed to win the opener, the A taking the second and the J then going to the K.

Two declarers then went after the club suit, leading the K, then the 6 to the 8 and A. The J drop on the first of these disappointed both, and East's discard of a spade on the second confirmed the bad news that the suit would not break. One kept on with clubs anyway, cashing the Q and leading another to West's 10. Back came the spade 5 to the A. With only diamonds left, South took his A and led the J, East overtaking West's Q with his K and finishing with hearts, setting it three. At the second table, after the club Q, the diamond 8 from dummy was sent to the J and Q, a spade returned to the A, and the diamond A was South's last trick, the hand ending with East cashing hearts for three down.

One declarer, after the first three hearts, saw he wanted to lead diamonds twice toward West. He led to the fourth trick the club 6 to the Q, lost a finesse of the diamond J to the Q, took the returned spade with the A, led the club K to the A, finessed the diamond 10, dropped the diamond K with the A and took three more diamonds, making his needed nine tricks and giving up the last one with his heart 6 to the 10.

How many tricks can it cost East and West if, after two clubs, West, failing to notice his partner's high-low signal, switches to the heart J?

Education Costs Climb At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, August 6. — (ENS).—By virtue of their higher per pupil cost per day the Campbellford Board of Education had their grants from Northumberland, Peterborough and Hastings counties shaved by approximately $150, according to Board Secretary Wesley Stephens. It was revealed at the monthly session of members that the Special School committee for the United Counties had chopped $140 off the $9,505.00 account rendered by the local board. This difference was accounted for by the 2.1 cents per day extra which it was costing to operate the Campbellford High School. Since all such grants are paid according to the Department's fixed rate of 62½ cents, the local Board will take no action to recover the difference. However, by not replacing one teacher who has been granted leave of absence for the duration, it is hoped to bring the per pupil cost down to the average. When questioned by The Examiner as to what Hastings county did about paying the extra cost, the secretary explained that this only amounted to about $10 since there were only eight or ten pupils from that county. Nor did Peterborough county, from which only one pupil came last year, overpay the Board. They likewise chopped off the few cents to bring the rate down to the average.

Black Market In Steel Said To Exist

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6—(AP).—Two investigations were promised today into charges made before a Congressional subcommittee here that a "black market" in steel existed where "immediate delivery was made" from "bulging warehouses scattered over the nation."

Price Administrator Leon Henderson in Washington ordered an immediate probe by the office of price administration of charges made yesterday by Frank Higgins, associated with his father, A. J. Higgins, in shipbuilding here, that his company bought steel from such markets at higher premiums.

Prior to Henderson's order, President Roosevelt at a Washington press conference said he thought persons who sold steel in such markets should go to jail and that the charges should be investigated.

The second investigation was promised by Rep. J. Harden Peterson (Dem.-Fla.), chairman of the House sub-committee investigating the Maritime Commission's cancellation last month of the A. J. Higgins contract to build 200 Liberty ships because of an alleged steel shortage.

Numerous Warehouses

"We got the steel from warehouses all over the country," Higgins said. "They know even before we do that we'll get certain contracts and they send us lists of what we'll need to fill the contracts. They send us these lists before we know what contracts we will get."

A. J. Higgins said there was no way of knowing what the premium price of such steel would be, adding that sometimes the bill carried "delivery charges" or charges for "wear and tear on tires."

"I don't see what all the excitement is about," he asserted. "Everyone who knows anything about steel or building knows of this market, and of the fact that warehouses are bulging with steel which is sold in slightly less than carlots at premium prices and the buyer's priority rating used to replenish the supply."

Frank Higgins told the committee there was nothing illegal in the transaction.

"It's legal profiteering, but it's as black as the ace of spades," he said. Adding that priority ratings were needed but that immediate delivery was made, whereas he said his company could not be sure of delivery on specific dates on war production board commitments.

War Savings Certificates May Be Bought Direct From Banks And Post Offices

OTTAWA, August 6 — Special to the Examiner). — War Savings Certificates go on sale to-day over the counters of all chartered bank branches and post offices throughout Canada in denominations of $5, $10 and $25.

For the first time, citizens will be able to put down their money and receive a registered Certificate without going through the process of mailing the money or War Savings Stamps to Ottawa and then wait for receipt of the Certificate.

Under the new, over-the-counter plan where sales are made for cash in the $5 $10 and $25 denominations the chartered banks and the post offices will henceforth make delivery of the Certificates themselves, sending appropriate records to Ottawa.

The new departure does NOT conflict in any way with, but is in addition to the system of bank pledges and the payroll savings plan. These not only continue but will be intensified as major operations of The National War Finance Committee in enlisting the savings of the population to help finance Canada's huge share of war costs.

From now on the staff of the branch postmasters and the bank branch managers will be added as an important section of the valuntary sales staff for War Savings Certificates from coast to coast.

The sponsors wish to acknowledge the many encouraging reports recently received and are happy to know that this great herbal compound is bringing better health and happiness to so many local men and women whom readers of this page know personally. To-day, we take pleasure in quoting the experience of Mr. Freeman W. Morlock, well-known shoe merchant of Crediton, Ontario. Read his sincere statement:

MR. FREEMAN MORLOCK

"In the past year or so, I suffered greatly with acid indigestion, gas and heartburn. I was subject to sharp cramps and there was almost constantly a full uncomfortable feeling in my stomach and chest. After eating, there seemed to be a lump in my throat and sour liquids would rise from my stomach and make me feel nauseated. More recently, pains set into my shoulders and arms and my nerves began to trouble me, so I couldn't sleep well.

"I was advised to take a good tonic and having heard about how Syntona helped friends of mine, I began taking it a few weeks ago. In that short time, Syntona has done for me everything that was claimed for it. I can eat heartily now and my food digests without any of the former trouble. I got relief from the rheumatic pains in my shoulders and arms, my nerves are more relaxed and I sleep better. I think Syntona is a grand medicine, and I have already recommended it to many of my friends."

Get yourself a treatment of Syntona to-day in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. See how much better you, too, will be feeling in just a short time.

3 Submarines Sunk By Canadians

Canada's Warships Are Credited In Official Records

By The Canadian Press.

Canadian warships have sunk three of the 11 destroyed Nazi submarines whose numbers have been officially announced since the war began, it is shown in the war loss section of Jane's Fighting Ships, 1941, authoritative British publication on the world's navies.

H.M.C.S. Levis is credited with two of the sinkings and H.M.C.S. Chambly annd Moosejaw are credited jointly with the third.

Jane's makes no attempt to estimate the number of German U-boats destroyed in more than two years of hectic Atlantic warfare, but says:

"When war began, Germany had about 70 submarines available. Frequent announcements were subsequently made of the destruction of U-boats by British naval and air forces, but it is probable that few of the above 70 still remain in service. Russian naval forces claim to have sunk a number of the Baftitc, Black Sea and Arctic Ocean, and U.S. naval forces have also accounted for a few."

The Levis got both her 'name' submarines in 1941. The first was the U 26, a 712-ton craft built in 1936. The second was the U 556, 740 tons, built the same year she was sunk.

The U 501, another 740-tonner built in 1941, was sunk by the Chambly and Moosejaw Sept. 11 last year.

AN EAST CANADIAN PORT, Aug. 7—(CP)—More than 50 survivors of an Allied ship have been landed here by a Canadian warship and reported their vessel was ambushed and sunk by three submarines.

The survivors said a fourth submarine was shelled by a Canadian warship but escaped in fog. Ten members of the crew were lost in the sinking, but the others were adrift in lifeboats for only a few hours before they were picked up.

Only Canadian among the rescued was Able Seaman Percy Lambert, who moved with his family from Halifax to Newfoundland three years ago.

Laborite Elected

LONDON, Aug. 7 (CP Cable)—T. J. Brooks, for many years a coal miner, today was elected by acclamation Labor member of Parliament for Rorthwell in a bye-election caused by the death of William Lunn, Labor.

Under the wartime truce among the governmental parties, the Conservatives did not contest the seat and no Independent challenged the Labor nomination. In the 1935 Bye-Election Mr. Lunn polled 31,472 votes to 17,352 for Mrs. G. Beaumont, Conservative.

Praise For Navy

LONDON, Aug. 7—(CP).—A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, told a London audience today that the Canadian Government "may very well be proud of the part which the ships of the Royal Canadian Navy are taking" in the fight against U-boats.

"We are continuing to take a very heavy toll of Axis submarines," the First Lord said, but explained that strategical considerations forbade publication of details.

Giant Raiders Visualized Six Years Ago

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 7—(CP)—Behind Britain's big bombers, the high-speed Lancaster, the heavy Stirling and Halifax and the slightly smaller twin-engine Manchester, is a story of careful planning that dates from 1936, when the Giant raider of today was just a number.

It isn't generally realized that the "new" bombers of 1942, whose very existence was a secret until fairly recently, were visualized as far back as six years ago by the aircraft designers and the British air staff.

The new type four-motor bomber pictured by the air staff as the bomber of the future was born at a conference held in the Air Ministry in May, 1936. It was held to consider a specification, then known only as a number—B12-36—for a heavy bomber land plane. The air staff officer behind that specification was Air Vice-Marshal R. D. Oxland, C.B.E., who now commands a bomber group.

Australia Carrying Own Load

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 7 — (CP). — United States equipment sent to Australia is a "trickle" which could be replaced by three days of American war production, according to an authoritative source who cannot be specifically identified.

He was unable, he said, to disclose the exact figures because of military secrecy, but he declared Australia is carrying her own load and any view that great sacrifices are being made in war areas elsewhere for Australia's defence are unwarranted. Other areas are not being stripped of war goods for her benefit, he said.

The Australian and American public has been somewhat confused concerning the situation because of necessary secrecy, he continued, but he said he could disclose that the greatest part of the defence forces of Australia are Australian. The addition to this defence from abroad would scarcely compensate for Australian troops that are in other war theatres, he added.

Although in the air a much greater relative percentage of strength in the southwest Pacific is American, it is "insignificant" when compared with American potentialities, he added.

Ships Serve Abroad.

As to United States ships, he said, these would little more than balance the loss of services of Australian ships abroad.

Norman Stockton, the Melbourne Herald's war correspondent, asserted today that the time had come for some very plain speaking on the subject of military aid to Australia.

"We do not want another Malaya, another Java, yet I say all the potentialities are here," he declared. "Our capacity to defend Australia depends upon the aid we receive from the United States.

"For the time being, at least, MacArthur, the most offensive-minded of all Allied generals, has been placed in the position where apparently he cannot take the offensive.

"The United States has considered that this country, in the wider strategy of global war, must play a secondary role for the balance of 1942—perhaps longer."

British Rule Must Go Is Objective

General Strike Is One Of Forms Disobedience May Take

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BOMBAY, Aug. 7 (AP) — The working committee of the All-Indian Congress Party voted today to appeal to President Roosevelt, Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek and Ivan Maisky, Russian Ambassador to Britain, to support its demands that Great Britain grant India immediate independence.

Maulana Abdul Kazan Azad, president of the Congress, was authorized to dispatch the appeals as soon as the congress committee passes upon a resolution calling for a mass campaign of passive resistance to continued British rule.

Endorsement of the resolution, backed by Gandhi, was regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Azad opened the meeting with a speech calling for immediate Indian independence but saying the committee did not want British or American armies to leave India.

Gandhi, who followed him and received an ovation, told the committee he did not want the Japanese in India because that would mean the end of China and perhaps Russia.

"As a matter of fact I am a greater friend of the British now than I ever was," Gandhi said. "My friendship demands that I make them aware of their mistakes.

"Never believe, as I have never believed, that the British are going to fail," he told the assemblage. "I do not consider them a nation of cowards. I know that before they accept defeat every soul in Britain will be sacrificed.'

Gandhi himself sent a message to the Chinese today to "let China know that this struggle is as much for her defence, as it is for India's liberation. He declared that India's "ability to give effective assistance" is dependent on her freedom.

No Hint of Wavering

They had Gandhi's own word last night, on the eve of the conference, that now is the time for non-violent action and that time would show what strength the congress could marshal from his masses of disciples. There was no hint of any wavering.

All Bombay was asking: When would mass disobedience begin? how widespread would it be? what forms would it take? boycott? highway stoppages? the shunning of dealings with foreigners? even a general strike?

Dutch Queen Decorates Five Americans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 —(AP)—Queen Wilhelmina, a guest at President Roosevelt's press conference, said today the contribution of press and radio to the efforts of the war leaders was of "immense value" in helping to lead mankind "toward a brighter morrow."

The Queen of the Netherlands engaged in no question-and-answer exchange with reporters, but read a statement after Mr. Roosevelt had introduced the members of his press conference to her in a group.

"The mission of the press and radio is one of great responsibility—more so now than ever when the future of the world and civilization is in the balance," she said. "Its fulfillment is dependent upon freedom of speech and a free press, two conditions no dictator ever grants.

Restored With Victory

"In this country like in all the parts of my country both rights are constitutionally guaranteed and deeply engrained in the life of the nation. Where occupation has temporarily abolished them, defeat of the enemy will see them restored."

Mr. Roosevelt also had said that the constitutions of both the Netherlands and the United States guaranteed freedom of expression and of the press, and that these rights are a fundamental part of government.

Not only are the United States and the Netherlands allies, Mr. Roosevelt said, but they hold most of their ideals in common.

After reading her statement, the Queen and Mr. Roosevelt sat down and the President shifted into the routine of an ordinary press conference, passing along information and answering questions.

Save Russia And Win War Topic Being Discussed As Huns Move Into Caucasus

Cast Being Assembled For Strategy Talks Of Utmost Importance

By E. C. DANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Representatives of major United Nations were reported assembling in Moscow today for a "save Russia and win the war" conference, the urgency of which was accented by the increasingly desperate plight of the southern Soviet armies.

This information came from sources whose identity could not be disclosed. The British authorities themselves maintained dead silence on the movements of their own leaders except for their ambassador to Russia, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, who has gone from Kulbyshev to Moscow along with the United States ambassador, Admiral William Standley.

As reports streamed into London from both Axis and Allied sources indicating that the cast was being assembled for grand strategy talks of the utmost importance in the Soviet capital, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard coupled these black faced banner lines:—

"Allied diplomats reported gathering in Russia."

"Germans speed up oil field drive."

In the same edition Cartoonist David Low pictured the hope and belief of many Britons with a cartoon showing Premier Joseph Stalin, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek seated side by side in a truck with four steering wheels.

Germans Speed Drive Into Caucasus With Air Transports

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 7—(AP).—Hurling its own huge tanks against the mechanized Nazi onrush, the Red Army checked the Germans today along the whole Stalingrad front in one of the great tank battles of the war, with infantry crushed by the hundreds under the treads of the steel war wagons, battlefront dispatches said today.

Only in the critical Belaya Glina sector 100 miles into the North Caucasus were the Russian defences still reported sagging before the big Axis offensives. There dive bombers blasted ceaselessly at the Russian lines as they battered the way for German gains.

Hard Counter Attacks

The Russians reported rolling the Nazis back in hard counter-attacks at the Don Bend approaches to Stalingrad, and said fierce-charging Don and Kuban Cossacks sabred more than 3,000 Germans as they beat off the assault of two tank and two infantry divisions in a fight for a Cossack town south of the Don. Reports from this front said the Russians were driven from the town twice, but each time won it back.

(The German high command took significant cognizance of the arrival of Red Army reserves in the battle, mentioned large-scale Russian use of tanks in the Caucasus for the first time and said the bolstered Soviet forces were counter-attacking against German and Rumanian troops between the Sal and Don rivers in the Don Bend and in the Rzhev salient, northwest of Moscow.

(The Germans said they had thrown large air forces into a heavy defence in the Rzhev area, indicating that the scale of the Russian attacks there was considerable.

(The Berlin communique said Axis forces had penetrated deeper into the Caucasus, driving across the Kuban River to a point 30 miles northeast of the Maikop oil fields which produce seven per cent of Russia's oil.)

Some Key Points

The Russian communique gave this account of operations at key points on the battlefront:

"South of Kletskaya (80 miles northwest of Stalingrad) our troops launched a number of counter-attacks and pressed the enemy back.

"In the Kotelnikovski area (95 miles southwest of Stalingrad) the Germans are sending in large numbers of tanks in an attempt to smash our defences. Our troops have repelled these attacks.

"South of Kushchevka (50 miles south of Rostov) the Germans launched repeated attacks against our positions, but were repulsed with heavy losses."

The Germans were reported landing troop-laden air transports and dropping fresh swarms of parachutists behind Soviet lines in a costly expenditure of men and machines.

In one clash on the Kletskaya sector of the Stalingrad front it reported the Germans were forced to retreat after losing 22 tanks and Soviet forces were credited with killing 800 Germans and knocking

Jap Outposts Are Isolated

By DANIEL DELUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

On the Indo-Burma Frontier, by Air Courier to Calcutta, Aug. 7 — (AP) — Along the monsoon-swept coast of Arkan, in lower Burma, Japanese army outposts are isolated and appear powerless immediately to seize any military advantage from India's threatened civil disobedience movement.

Some of India's finest troops, liberally supported by crack infantry from the British Isles, guard the Bengal-Burma border and coastal approach to Calcutta.

Last spring the Japanese might have advanced by a small show of force during dry weather but now a sweep through the mangrove swamps, with high winds blowing continuously, would require a full-scale naval and land operation.

Although the Monsoons and torrential rains are due to end in less than two months, Japanese forces in Burma have given no indication as yet that they are gathering to attack India in October.

The Japanese garrison nearest the Bengal frontier is at Akyab, 60 miles to the southeast.

Occasionally harassed by the Royal Air Force and cut off much of the time by storms from its supply bases, this garrison is reported low in spirits.

Indian Verdict Vital To Allied Win

Rash Move By Committee Working In India Could Wreck Entire War Effort

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

As one reads Queen Wilhelmina's unadorned but inspiring address to the United States Congress, with its renew promise of a free and better world under the Atlantic Charter, there comes the feeling that perhaps the course of history would have been changed if Her Majesty could have delivered this speech before the All-India Congress committee, now meeting in Bombay to consider ways and means of enforcing its demands for absolute freedom from Britain.

The Congress committee is struggling with the greatest political problem that any people can face—their independence. There are few measures, no matter how extreme, which world sentiment would deny to any race to achieve its sovereignty, but in the present instance we have an unique situation in which rash action by the committee might jeopardize the while Allied cause.

A rash move by the committee might not only wreck Indian chances of achieving independence but bring the entire Allied world under the bondage of the Axis. This is no exaggeration, for India is a vital strategic base for our cause.

They Seek The Same

Under those circumstances Mohandas Gandhi, the Nationalist leader, and the committee might find inspiration for a new line of endeavor in the promises reaffirmed by Holland's Queen. They might find what they seek in the pledge of the Atlantic Charter that it respects the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live. They might recall that only a few days ago State Secretary Hull declared:

"We have always believed—and we believe today—that all the peoples, without distinction of race, color, or religion, who are prepared and willing to accept the responsibilities of liberty, are entitled to its enjoyment."

In short, Gandhi and his followers might reach the conclusion that it would be better to trust the British promise of independence after the war than to precipitate a situation fraught with danger to the entire Allied world.

"But," the Nationalists demand, "why put the whole burden of concession on us? Why shouldn't Britain grant our independence immediately rather than make us wait?"

That's a legitimate query and it is the crux of the whole position. Why shouldn't the British Government be the one to give ground?

Would Bring Chaos

Well, the answer is that no mat-

Out Of War But Feels Pinch

Fuel Shortage, Motor Travel Cut In Argentina

By J. F. McEVOY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 7—(AP)—The economic effects of the war are being felt more acutely day by day in Argentina despite the government's effort to insulate itself by a policy of isolationism.

Winter winds sweeping through heatless houses have brought home clearly to the average citizen the decided shortage of fuel. Motor travel has been cut by rationing of gasoline and tires, and building construction by the parcelling out of available iron and steel. In step with the scarcity of vital necessities is a rapidly rising living cost, which has the government scratching to provide an answer to mounting public protect.

Newspapers, forced to cut corners because of a vanishing supply of newsprint, have used some of their precious space to point out that Argentina's problem was due largely to Axis attacks on ships bringing goods to Buenos Aires.

They have said, too, that the government's decision to recognize the German blockade zone off the eastern United States might cause additional difficulties since coal, one of Argentina's principal needs, is not ordinarily loaded on foreign ships at Gulf of Mexico ports.

Saboteurs' Fate Is Unknown

President Has Not Completed Reading Evidence

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—(AP).—The White House said today that "the President has not yet concluded his reading of the testimony" in the case of the eight alleged Nazi saboteurs.

This statement was read to reporters by William D. Hassett, an assistant secretary, in response to inquiries about reports that Mr. Roosevelt had decreed death for six and clemency for two Nazi agents tried by a military tribunal on charges that they came to this country to sabotage vital war activities.

Mr. Roosevelt had disclosed Tuesday that he expected to spend at least two or three days reviewing the evidence and findings of the military trial commission. He is the sole reviewing authority who will pass on the commission's sentence.

White House officials declined to amplify the brief statement by Hassett which said:

"The President has not yet concluded his reading of the testimony in the saboteur case."

There remained a possibility that Mr. Roosevelt himself might discuss the case a bit more fully at a press conference later today.

STRONG FORCE OF RAF AND RCAF BOMBERS VISIT RUHR VALLEY

Three Canadian Squadrons Part Of Force Raiding Duisburg

LONDON, Aug 7.— (CP).— A strong force of R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. bombers last night attacked the big German industrial centre of Duisburg, target of repeated raids in July, and other points in the Ruhr Valley, the Air Ministry announced to-day.

Three Canadian squadrons participated.

Nazi airdromes in the Low Countries also were attacked by British raiders, six of which failed to return from their night missions, a communique said.

The size of the strong force was not disclosed officially but a British source said that in the days before the 1,000-bomber raids, last night's total would have been considered 'a whopper.'

Duisburg, an important communications centre at the junction of the Ruhr and Rhine rivers as well as the site of many vital war industries, was last bombed by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. on the night of July 25—the fourth attack on the city in six nights.

Last night's foray was the third successive night assault upon the Ruhr region.

New Type of Fire Bomb.

German raiders also were busy over Britain again during the night, dropping high explosives and incendiaries—including a new type phosphorous fire bomb—at scattered points in East Anglia and on the east coast of Scotland.

DNB, the German news and propanganda agency, said Nazi bombers attacked Edinburgh and the University town of Cambridge.

The raids were not on a heavy scale, however, and although there were some casualties frist reports indicated the number was not large.

Minimum of Damage

Britons had been prepared for the new phosphorus bombs by a bulletin from the Ministry of Home Security, which gave explicit instructions for dealing with these incendiaries. As a result fires were extinguished with a minimum of damage.

In one southwest coast town the Nazi raiders demolished a section of a hospital, causing several fatalities and trapping a number of patients in the debris.

A coastal resort, crowded with vacationers, was attacked by a single low-flying plane which sprayed the streets with machine-gun fire. Several persons were injured.

A few planes were heard over London and searchlights fingered the sky, but no alert was sounded and there was no gunfire. Apparently the planes were British aircraft, continuing a test of the capital's strengthened defences. The test was begun Wednesday night, when R.A.F. bombers and fighters swept over the city single and in mass formation, dodging and twisting in an effort to escape searchlight beams.

The air ministry issued a summary of aerial operations in all theatres for July which placed British losses at 432 planes and credited the R.A.F. with destroying 420 Axis aircraft.

Although weather conditions were described as "unexpectedly unfavorable," British bombers attacked European targets on 18 days and 16 nights. German planes were over Britain on 16 nights and 19 days.

ter how the British Government feels, it is helpless to make the sweeping change the Nationalists demand without precipitating even a worse situation in India. Personally I feel very sure of this, having studied Hindustan's probems for 25 years, and discussed them in India with the leaders of all sections.

There's nothing more certain than that if Britain suddenly should withdraw entirely from government, and without thoroughly preparing the ground, turn the rule over to a provisional government, it would create a chaos which would be as bad or worse than anything that can grow out of the Nationalist program of civil disobedience. The 560 native rulers would be at sixes and sevens; the great Moslem minority would defy the effort of the Congress party to establish a government; and there would be other complications.

Going to Moscow

A German-inspired report regarding the reported second front conference said that Laurence Steinhardt, former United States ambassador in Moscow, was on his way there from his present post at Ankara.

(For the past week the Axis radios have been circulating "unconfirmed rumors" that Prime Minister Churchill was in Moscow along with Maj.-Gen. Follett Bradley, of the U.S. air forces; Roger Garreau, head of the fighting French mission to Russia; and Maj.-Gen. William Steffens, Norwegian military attache at Kuibyshev.)

The Moscow consultations were interpreted in London as an effort to give fuller recognition to the indispensable part being played by the wearing but unbeaten Soviet legions in the world-wide strategy of the United Nations.

There was little doubt in London that wherever and whenever Allied leaders gather these days their deliberations are centred on what Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, called at one time in the Anglo-Russian treaty negotiations "the urgent task of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

In the background of the United Nations talks were repeated warnings from Allied quarters that Japan intends to knife Russia soon in the Far East.

These warnings were reiterated today by Dr. George Yeh, London director of the Chinese Ministry of Information, who said the Japanese appeared to have deployed their forces on the Rusian frontier both for attack and for defence against Chinese-Soviet flanking attempts.

Dr. Yeh said that more Japanese troops were moving north to reinforce upwards of 500,000 already reported there and that 1,000 Japanese planes had been concentrated in the northeast.

the Queen the privilege of standing on Dutch soil and decorating five Americans for distinguished service.

One of those to be cited is Admiral Thomas C. Hart, 65, whose request last February to be retired as commander of the United Nations sea forces in the South Pacific caused a flurry of comment.

While the Japanese battered at Singapore, his second-in-command, Vice Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich of the Royal Netherlands Navy, was elevated to his place. The change in command was occasioned, it was officially announced at the time, by the illness of Admiral Hart.

A few days later the army and navy journal ascribed Hart's removal to a desire to "mollify the Dutch Government." The Netherlands Indies Government, said the unofficial service periodical, "has insisted that it is entitled to representation on the staff of General Wavell" in general command of the defence of this fighting front.

Anyway Admiral Hart came home in March, and three months later President Roosevelt nominated him to be placed on the navy retired list with the rank of full admiral, a distinction shared by few other naval officers.

Another fighting man, it was understood the Queen wished to honor was Vice Admiral William A. Glassford, Jr., formerly on the staff of the Allied High Command in the Western Pacific and now naval district commandant at Charleston, S.C.

The identity of the three others was to be disclosed at the ceremony scheduled to take place on Dutch soil—the Netherlands Embassy.

Last night the Queen gave a dinner at the Embassy for 60 guests, including the Vice President and Mrs. Wallace, members of the cabinet and others.

decisive conference includes names which since have become famous as leaders of Britain's air forces in war. Air Chief Marshal Sir Wilfred Freeman, now Vice-Chief of Air Staff, and Air Marshal Sir Christopher Courtney, Air member for Supply and Organization, were there. Air Marshal Sir Arthur Harris, C.-in-C. Bomber Command who then was a Group Captain, also took part in the discussion. There was a squadron leader, now Group Capt. O. R. Gayford, D.F.C., A.F.C., who held the long distance record and later commanded the team of R.A.F. pilots that made a world record flight to Australia.

The specification which resulted in the modern four-engine bomber of R.A.F. called for an aircraft with a certain range and bomb load. Its wing span was to be not less than so much. It had to be able to defend itself from any angle, have accommodation for so many crew. Above all, this masterpiece of the future had to be capable of taking off and landing within given distances.

Another requirement was that the aircraft should be "buoyant"—capable of floating should it be forced down into the sea. For such a "solid" aircraft as the new, high performance bomber had to be, that last requirement was a designer's headache.

That specification—and a later one for a somewhat similar type—No. B 13/36—were passed to the aircraft industry and the selected firms were asked to build aircraft that would measure up to those far-reaching requirements. Short, Avro and Handley Page were the firms chosen.

Certain details about the resulting types of four-engine bombers, Stirlings, Halifaxes and Lancaster, were released recently, but speed and load still are service secrets. The new bombers are about the fastest and hardest hitting in the world.

William Lamb dropped one stroke bock on his second round today, with a 74 for a 36-hole total of 144.

Ben Hogan, the leader, with a record smashing 65 in his first round yesterday, was among the last matches in the draw today. So were Ralph Guldahl and Clayton Heafner. Guldahl had a 66 yesterday to tie Craig Wood for second place, and Heafner shot a 68 for fourth. Tony Penna of Dayton, Ohio, was fifth with 69.

$3,600 Prize

Third and fourth rounds of the 72-hole competition for $3,600 in prize money and the Seagram Gold Cup will be played tomorrow by the low 60 scorers, and ties, after today's round.

Bill Kerr of Toronto Cedar Brae swept into a tie with Willie Lamb by shooting a 71 on his second round for a 36-hole total of 144.

Reith again had trouble with the second 9 holes of this 6,543-yard par-72 layout. He was out in 34 but took 39 on the back nine. Yesterday he had a 33 going out, 37 coming home.

Joe Kirkwood, the trick-shot artist from Abington, Pa., continued to disappoint his gallery with mediocre golf. A serious golfer when he isn't putting on an extra-curricular exhibition, Kirkwood shot a 75 to add to his 62 first round for a total of 147.

Airman Given Prison Term

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 7. — Fred. Marsden, R.C.A.F., was not satisfied to stay twenty-eight days confined to barracks because he had gone for a joyride in an Air Force truck, so now he will have to spend a year in the Ontario Reformatory.

Magistrate J. L. Lloyd imposed the sentence of one year on the airman after he had pleaded guilty to the theft of a motor car. Marsden was confined to barracks on August 1 by Air Force officials. As he was being escorted to the barracks, Marsden escaped and later in the day stole a car owned by J. Hartwick, Wellington, parked at the Country Golf Club.

During the holiday week-end he drove the car approximately 500 miles before he was apprehended at a chicken supper held in a church at Stoco.

Steel Workers Back On Jobs

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 7—(CP).—On strike since Monday when they walked out of the Ontario Steel Products plant here in protest of the dismissal of Ross Gordon, whom they claimed was discharged because of his union activities, 190 workers went back to their jobs today after voting to return to work at a meeting last night.

At a conference between the Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario Minister of Labor, employees and plant officials, it was decided that the men would return to work without Gordon's reinstatement. But representatives of the workers and officials agreed that Mr. Heenan should make the final decision in the dispute and both parties said they would accept his verdict.

Mr. Heenan will come here during the week-end and review the whole labor dispute which has tied up work in a war production plant for the past four days.

Some of the 190 workers stayed to complete their work before going out on strike but only between 30 and 35 employees remained at the plant during the week.

Labor officials claimed Gordon was dismissed because of his activities in the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.)

Bombers Blast Axis Boats

By LARRY ALLEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

With the Royal Naval Air Force in the Egyptian Desert, Aug. 7—(AP)—Royal Navy bombers blasted a concentration of Axis motor torpedo boats and barges in the outer harbor of Matruh early yesterday.

Pilots reported sticks of bombs fell squarely amid 10 or 12 torpedo boats and five "E-boats" or barges which they spotted while still "fairly close together."

They said the vessels sent up a large number of multi-colored flares so that full results of the attack were difficult to determine, but they knew definitely that one barge was set afire and a big blaze was started on a quayside.

Axis shore bases threw up heavy anti-aircraft fire but all planes returned safely from the half-hour raid, which began at 3 a.m.

One pilot said the fact that bombs fell amid the flotilla made it likely that several boats and barges were destroyed by the blasts

The boats apparently were being used to escort oil barges into Matruh for the Axis army.

C.W.V.S. Heads Meet Mrs. West

The new director of the Women's Voluntary Service Division of the Department of National War Services, Mrs. E. West, and the secretary-treasurer of the Provincial executive of the C.W.V.S., Miss Muriel Gladman, were in Peterborough Thursday to meet members of the C.W.V.S. and discuss plans for a future course of action.

Those present at the meeting were members of the Executive of the Civil War Service Council and the Advisory Council and Executive of the C.W.V.S. of Peterborough. Senator Iva Fallis acted as chairman as the women talked over the women's voluntary war effort of the community. There were no definite decisions reached, and the discussions tended pretty well along the lines of the work being carried on in Peterborough at the present time.

Mrs. James Wharry, head of the Peterborough C.W.V.S., said Friday that for the present work here would continue along the same lines as they have been carried on in the past. Everyone present worked in a co-operative spirit and it is hoped in the near future that a definite announcement of future policy will be made.

16 Tiny Nations Are Found In Caucasus

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 7 — (Special)—When the war hits Russia's Caucasus, it will bring into the headlines some strange dwarf nations and pint-size republics whose names have been buried in footnotes for years, predicts the National Geographic Society.

Abkhazia, Daghestan, Nakichevan, Checheno-Ingushia, and Kabardino-Balkaria are samples of the autonomous states that crowd the Caucasus area, left stranded in high mountain valleys by some change in the tides of forgotten history.

The mountainous Caucasus Isthmus, washed on the west by the Black Sea and on the east by the Caspian, covers an area slightly smaller than that of Montana. Yet its 137,160 square miles contain sixteen separate units and part of another, all members of the Soviet Union somewhat as the States are members of the United States.

North of the Caucasus Mountains' snowy saw-toothed range, which includes Europe's highest peaks, lies Russia proper—the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic, which is by far the largest of the eleven principl Union Republics of the U.S.S.R. On the south side of the Caucasus mountain wall, comprising what is known as Transcaucasia, are three smaller Union Republics, which share the green mountainsides and hot lowlands stretching to Turkey's frontier — Georgia, Armenia and Azerbaijan.

Minority "Islands."

Each of these four Union Republics except Armenia is spotted with from two to eight "islands" of minority peoples, distinct in race or language, every island forming a semi-independent nation with a separate Government. Some of these are Rhode Island's size; the smallest—the Adzharian Autonomous Rebublic in Georgia—has about 1,100 square miles. Others are larger than Denmark or Ireland. There are eight of them in Russia on the north side of the Caucasus, five of them in Georgia and Azerbaijan on the south side.

The minority islands in Russia proper consist of five smaller semi-independent Republics and three autonomous Provinces.

The Kalmuk Republic, beside the Caspian Sea south of the Volga's mouth, is a waterless stretch of sandy steppe, where nomadic Buddhist shepherds of Mongol origin drive their flocks over the dunes in search of grass. Nearly a quarter of a million slant-eyed Kalmucks live there, moving their felt tents from well to well.

In Daghestan, adjoining the Kalmuck Republic on the south, the Caucasus Mountains subside into the Caspian, leaving a flat coastal passageway at Derbent that has been one of history's oldest gateways between Europe and Asia. This republic shelters some 930,000 mountaineers, some of them still medieval in dress and custom when the Soviet Union undertook their education.

Contributes Lead and Zinc

Checheno-Ingushia, larger than Connecticut, is a mountan Republic of Moslems adjoining Daghestan on the west. There former shepherds are beginning to raise corn and wheat in addition to their goats and sheep. Many of the tribesmen work in the oil fields of Grozny, administrative centre of their Republic.

North Ossetia, the next to the west, barely 2,250 square miles in area, is a little nation of mountain miners who have produced a quarter of Russia's lead and a third of its zinc. West of that lies Kabardino-Balkaria, twice as large, with a third of a million inhabitants. This Republic unites the mountain valleys of Balkaria, in the shadow of Europe's highest peak, glacier-draped Elborus, with the irrigated plains of Kabardia around the growing city of Nalchik, the capital.

The three autonomous Provinces of the North Caucasus, which give self-government to about a half-million tribesmen chiefly of the Circassian clan, are Adighe, Karachaev, and Cherkess, spreading down the northwestern slopes of the mountains and the Kuban valley.

Largest Republic

In the less complicated patchwork of Transcaucasia on the mountains' south slopes, the largest of the three Union Republics is Azerbaijan, on the Caspian side of the isthmus, with its capital at the oil-rich City of Baku. This region, long under Persian domination, is about the size of Austria. Rugged Armenia to the west, with its high mountain lakes and roving flocks, is smaller than Switzerland. Subtropical Georgia beside the Black Sea, the former source of manganese for the United States steel industry before war cut off supplies, is no larger than Costa Rica, yet has a history reaching back to Biblical days.

In addition to the small autonomous Republic of Adzharia, bordering Turkey and governed from the city of Batumi, Georgia contains also Abyhazia, a similar governmental unit centred at Sukhumi and known for its string of popular health resorts along the Black Sea coast. High in the deep valleys of the Caucasus, inside Georgia's frontiers lies the autonomous province of South Ossetia, a first cousin to the North Ossetian Republic on the north side of the mountains.

Azerbaijan contains the small Nakichevan Republic and the autonomous province of Nagorno-Karabakh, both larger than Rhode Island but counting fewer than 200,000 inhabitants apiece.

The Soviet Union's principle of self-government for minorities has necessitated the subdivisions, to allow for variations of speech, religion and race. Each unit has its representatives in the U.S.S.R.'s Council of Nationalities, which, like the United States Senate, has a fixed number of representatives from each unit, to balance the delegates apportioned according to population in the Union Council (as in the United States House of Representatives). In the Union Council, Russians predominate. In the Council of Nationalities, the Caucasus region is represented by Georgians, Armenians, Azerbaijans, Kalmucks, Ossetians, Adzhars, and others, as well as Russians.

Germans Make New Gains In The Caucasus

Nazi forces gained 50 miles to reach Belaya Glina (1), threatening Tikhoretsk and encirclement of Red troops forced back slightly at Kushchevka (2). At Tsimlyansk (3), Germans reached the lower Don River but were apparently in a pocket. The Russians also admitted slight losses in the area of Kletskaya (4). Germans claimed capture of Voroshilovsk and indicated an advance to the Kuban River (indicated by broken arrow).

Instant Sense Of What And When To Shoot Demanded Of Air Gunner

By CHARLES BRUCE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

R.C.A.F. BOMBING AND GUNNERY SCHOOL, JARVIS, Ont., Aug. 7—(CP).—When a couple of planes converge at 400 m.p.h. it is handy to have a man around who knows in a split second whether the stranger is a Merlin-engined Beaufort, a Heinkel, or a Messerschmitt 210. The handy man governs himself accordingly. The Beaufighter gets only an unspoken "Pass, Pal." The Nazi gets twin jets of something else.

Those are the two chief skills of an air gunner—an instant sense of what to shoot at and the instant ability to let it loose—on the target.

Aircraft Recognition and Armament they call these practical matters at the gunnery schools where wireless air gunners (WAGS) come to get familiar with Brownings and Vickers Gee-Os after their wireless course and where straight air gunners can be turned out in 12 weeks from scratch.

The Aircraft Recognition room at this Bombing and Gunnery School is a place where you find potential air gunners sticking slides into a magic lantern and naming in a few second the aircraft that flashes on the screen. On its walls are pasted the shapes of practically every known aircraft, and models of Wellingtons, Dorniers and Hurricanes project from brackets, with lights in their wings to simulate guns.

Flew With The R.A.F.

The presiding instructor here is Flt. Sgt. Crawford Steiss, once of Kitchener, Ont., more recently of the 76th Squadron R.A.F., whose forwarding address was Norway and way points.

Flt. Sgt. Steiss sat in the tail-end spot on Whitley bombers through 157 hours of operational flying. When you ask him whether he saw much action, he says "mostly flak" and grins. That 157 hours gave him plenty of opportunity to catch onto the ways in which to distinguish a Junker 88 from a Blenheim.

"The boys have to know everything from a Hurricane to a Breda 65," says Steiss. "We given them the slides of about 80 aircraft, nose on, rear-end views, silhouettes—everything. They get about 30 hours of this in the first six weeks of the course."

Recognition, of course, is only one of the many subjects taken to turn, say, a fellow who signed up for general duties, into an air gunner who will get his sergeant's stripes, his wing, and a chance for a commission. After six weeks of this, along with map reading, a bit of administration, a brush-up on mathematics, and work with revolver and rifle on short ranges, he goes on to ground shooting from actual turrets, then gets into the air to polish up on "splash targets"—floats fired at from the air—and drogues, targets towed by aircraft, which are the closest thing to enemy planes yet devised. A bit of navigation, along with signalling and map reading, keep these boys busy from reveille to tattoo.

New Course Available.

There is no question that they like it. The formation of the course for straight air gunners has opened up new possibilities to many youngsters who may have feared they had no chance of getting on as air crew.

There is L.A.C. Gavin Nichols of Blenheim, Ont., 21. Flying was an ambition with him even before the war. "I joined up as soon as I got out of school," he says. "Straight navigation was what I was chiefly interested in but here I am now and liking it."

L.A.C. Louis Eadie of Toronto is 25, and worked for some years as a gear cutter. He signed up a year ago with the idea of getting machine shop work, but now is interested in aerial navigation and plans to stay in it, if he can, after the war. "I was never much interested in guns, either," he says, "but it sure gives you a kick to get behind a V.G.O. and pour it on."

It isn't necessary to ask any of these boys about the principle of the thing. It would probably be as embarrassing to them as to the asker. The answer to that one cannot be explicit. It is the grin-lines cut in their cheeks, the easy familiarity between them and their instructors, with never a heel-clock heard. And it is implicit in the face of the land over which they fly now, the land they seek to keep—amber and blue and gold under the August sun.

Some Sport Shorts From Britain

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(CP)—It was just like a bit of Canada down Horsham way when Canadian hospital units from throughout Britain took part in a full day's program of sports that included softball, tennis, swimming, diving and horseshoe hurling. More than 1,000 were present including scores of local folk who voted it their most enjoyable day since war began.

Twice member of a Canadian Olympic swimming team, Capt. Munro Bourne, R.C.A.M.C., was the outstanding competitor. The Montreal natator splashed to easy victories in the 100-yard free style and breast stroke events, then led a hospital unit to triumph in the 200-yard relay.

That smashing sergeant, Freddie Mills, interrupted a boxing tour of the armed forces' camps to shout that he wanted to get cracking against anyone who wanted to get cracked.

An immediate reply to the British and Empire lightheavyweight champion's challenge came from Jock McAvoy, Britain's middleweight king, whom Mills beat when he was working up to his recent title-winning fight with PO. Len Harvey. The veteran Jack London, who tips the scales at 220 pounds, is another who wishes to get Freddie in the same ring—in a heavyweight bout. Mills, roughly 45 pounds lighter, beat London on points the last time they met.

Meanwhile, as a charity aid and, incidentally to keep Mills in shape for any title go, Manager Ted Broadrib comes out with the suggestion that his snub-nosed smasher meet the best heavyweights in the Canadian and United States forces stationed here.

Cobourg Briefs

Alan Field of Cobourg is acting as Crown Attorney during the absence of Harry Deyman on vacation.

Cobourg Rotary Club have put the finishing touches on their arrangements for their annual carnival which will be held on the George Street Public School grounds on August 12 and 13. Proceeds are for welfare work.

Cobourg Town Council has drafted a resolution which will be sent to Mayor Conboy of Toronto, asking him to organize all the municipalities along the north shore of Lake Ontario in a strong protest in connection with proposed further diversion of water by Chicago into the Mississippi system. The protest would be sent on to Ottawa for action.

LIQUID MERCHANDISE

Play-Offs Soon

COBOURG, August 7 — In their final game of the schedule, St. Michael's girls lost to the Hospital nine by the score of 28-19 in a six inning contest. St. Michael's used up three pitchers, Mary Hogan, Margaret Chapman and Joan Burge. Frances Clement's snappy fielding at short stop was a feature of the contest. The Hospital nine were too strong at bat for the St. Mike's pitching staff. The standing at the close of the present schedule is Ed. Campbell's team, Dye Works, Hospital and St. Michael's. Dates of play-offs will be announced after a meeting this week.

Prison Labor

COBOURG, August 7. —Work is being rushed on the alterations to the McCook residence which is to be used by the Ontario Government as a girls' training school similar to the Bowmanville boys' training school. Prison labour is being used to clean up the grounds and they are being quartered at night in Cobourg jail. The contract for remodelling of the residence has been awarded to Charles Jackson of Cobourg.

General Freyberg is now in action again.

Wooing A Wife

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)

ALL'S fair in love and war, thought Julius Steiner, 22, so, although a civilian, he donned the uniform of a naval gunner's mate to impress his estranged wife and help affect a reconciliation. This explanation won Julius a suspended sentence on a charge of illegally wearing a service uniform after he promised that hereafter he would woo his wife in civilian clothes.

John Blake Crawford, Hotelman, Dies Suddenly

Old-timers throughout the Peterborough, Port Hope, and Cobourg districts heard with regret today of the death of John Blake Crawford, Toronto, hotelman, who was associated several years ago with baseball in this district, and who operated several hotels in the district. He suffered a heart attack at Port Credit while driving to the races at Hamilton. He returned to Toronto and died a few minutes after reaching the Fairbank htoel. He celebrated his 69th birthday last Wednesday.

Born at Clinton, Ont., Mr. Crawford was proprietor of hotels at Cobourg, Port Hope, Trenton and Newcastle before coming to Toronto in 1912. He was former owner of the Savoy and other hotels here and latterly in partnership with his son, Stan Crawford, was proprieto of the Fairview and the Broadview Hotels. He was a member of both the Ontario and Toronto Hotel Associations and for some years served as president of the Toronto Hotel Proprietors' Association. He was also a member of the Blue Lodge, A.F. & A.M., the Preceptory and Rameses Temple. He had been keenly interested in racing.

Surviving are a son, Stan Crawford, and a sister, Mrs. Anthony Cummings of Toronto.

Put Out Fire With Milk

Manpower Crisis—Solution?

It has been clear for some time that Canada was approaching a point where the manpower problem would have to be solved in a drastic manner. Since the outbreak of war individual government departments have approached the matter of personnel as though they alone were concerned with it. There has been no unity of action or information; each department has its own statistics and its own experts, and each has been determined to do its utmost for its own particular end, devil take the hindmost. It was obvious that such an uncoordinated scramble for the available manpower of the country would bring chaos, and the press of Canada has repeatedly urged that a coherent manpower scheme be adopted. For some reason this has not been done; now, at the beginning of our fourth year of war, there are signs of action.

The action, we are promised, will be drastic. Workers will be taken to industry, and industry will be brought to workers. Men and women must be prepared to serve where they are needed, in whatever capacity they can be useful. Every effort will be made to use the country's manpower in such a way that each citizen will be making his or her greatest contribution to the national effort. The direction of this vast national reorganization will be in the hands of the National Selective Service Board, of which Mr. E. M. Little is the Director.

In making this move the Government is following, and not leading, public opinion. The average Canadian wants desperately to help in the war-effort and he wants to be told how best he can do so. Various voluntary jobs have been open to citizens, some of which were important and some of which were not; voluntary services are organized, and the Governmental departments have encouraged some of these and rebuffed others without explanation. The Canadian citizen will do anything which he is asked to do, but he wants the assurance that his effort will not be wasted, and that he is not bein[illegible] given some sort of wartime job merely to keep him busy and quiet. Here, as in Britain, we want the Government to realize that this is a people's war and not a governmental war.

The new manpower regulations will be the most sweeping in effect ever to be introduced in this country. Individual choice in the matter of occupation will be limited, but men and women will be set at work for which they are best suited. This will be congenial to those who have specialized training or ability, but it will be less agreeable to those whose work is not immediately useful to the national economy. Some people will be ordered to stay at their present jobs; others will be transferred to new jobs for which they have special aptitude; others will be placed in the armed forces.

This is a sweeping charge, but it is a change in the right direction and it should make possible a far more effective war effort than we have had until now. We must have in this country as large an Army, Navy and Air Force as we can supply with the best of everything they need. In order to accomplish this we must have a well-manned, well-planned industry. As well as these two things we must have civilian services which will keep the country supplied with necessities, and for this reason agriculture and certain other fields of activity will be protected. When once the scheme is in effect there will no longer be such a thing as a civilian in Canada. Every man and woman will be doing whatever it has been judged best for him to do, contributing to the war effort directly or indirectly as the case may be. It would have been better if this scheme had been put in operation twenty months ago, but now that it has come let us all determine to accept what it brings to us, knowing that only in this way dare we hope for victory.

Second Front Arguments

No one disputes the need for a second front. The question is: can we establish a second front successfully? The British and American press hum with discussions of the problem and it is interesting to observe the way in which the papers split into two distinct camps. The conservative, weighty papers, like the Times both in London and in New York, incline toward caution; the opinion which they express may be taken as that of the conservative, well-educated, tolerably well-off people who read them; they know how costly a failure would be. The rampageous demands for a second front come from the sensational papers whose readers are apt to feel deeply but think shallowly and spasmodically; they want action and they are disinclined to count the cost.

Everyone knows the arguments against opening a second front now. The arguments in favor of such action have been less frequently heard in Canada, and it may do no harm to sum them up. They may be grouped in three sections.

First of all, the principal reason for postponing a second front is that we shall be better equipped some time in the future—perhaps in a year. But if Hitler subdues Russia and is able to withdraw most of his forces from the Eastern front, will our gain be equal to his? It seems most unlikely.

The second point is a psychological one. So long as we defer opening a second front we leave the initiative of the war in Hitler's hands. We know that it is a part of his policy to destroy his enemies one by one; shall we give him a chance to work according to his own scheme or shall we force him to work on ours?

And the third point is this: Hitler's decision to fight Russia was a God-send to us, for it gave us a respite and a powerful and unexpected ally. This decision of Hitler's was hailed at the time as his greatest mistake, but will it continue to be a mistake if we do nothing to take advantage of it? If Russia should be knocked out of the war there will be only one front, and that will be against us. Are we prepared for that?

These are the lines along which the second front advocates argue, and we can see that there is much good sense on their side. The decision will lie with statesmen and strategists, and nothing that the press or public can say will influence that; much mischief was wrought in the last war by yielding to public demands for action. The weight of argument in favor of action, however, is heavy.

Shorts

The summer resort at Burbidge, in the Province of Quebec, does not approve of women who wear shorts; indeed, there is a by-law there which provides a fine of $10 for any woman who has the hardihood to do so. It is extraordinary how these prejudices persist. Do you remember how summer resorts fought against the one-piece bathing-suit? They little thought that there would one day be a two-piece bathing suit which would prove even more dangerous to their peace of mind.

One wonders just how shorts endanger public morals. The village council at Burbidge announces that "economy in cloth is no excuse for women wearing shorts"; do the village fathers really imagine that women wear shorts to save cloth? What a quaint idea! They wear them because they think that they look nice in them.

Sometimes they are right. Sometimes not. This business of wearing shorts is primarily a problem in aesthetics. If men stare at you and other women glare at you go right on wearing your shorts. If vice versa you had better give them to the salvage.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Julius Caesar, a contemporary tells us, originated the one-way street. The one-track mind, of course, is even older than that.

Recently at a circus in Calgary a Bengal tigress gave birth to three cubs while she was performing in the ring. The show must go on.

Regarding Caesar Petrillo's recent shenanigans, the Windsor Star asks whether he can can canned music? If he does, it will be off the record.

Max Schmeling is now boss of a Nazi internment camp at Oswiecim, Poland, and reports say that he is particularly brutal. Which should shame those who used to flock to see the bruiser in the ring.

Last week Parliament passed financial estimates at the rate of more than a million dollars a minute. Considering how long it took some of us to raise our part of that money they might at least have made it ninety seconds.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

THE storms made a sorry mess of some Ontario crops wherever the wind hit the grain. Oat crops four feet high on W. A. Dryden's farm were flattened and whirled about—about fifteen minutes did the job. One field, cut since, with pea harvester guards on the binder, did a very clean job, and cut on all four sides of the field. The cutting had to be done carefully, but it was not nearly as difficult a task as the stooking. The sheaves are as flat as devil fish and nearly as troublesome to handle. It is to be hoped that the stooks will not get much rain as they cannot be put up to shed water, and if they required restooking, it would be just too bad.

Some districts escaped these storms and while the crops are heavy, there is very little lodged grain in Bruce County, Chesley and Paisley way. Heavy crops of both hay and grain will make abundance of feed. Already the farmers are turning their attention to the western provinces for cattle. Feeders will be in keen demand and may be difficult to get.

Forty-five cars of cattle left Toronto for Buffalo on July 27th and it is well we have an outlet such as this. When the demand is quite up to the supply the farmer has a much better chance of coming into his own. Beef cattle will always be an important feature of farming in Ontario, and a good part of the Prairies. The meat eating public are useful customers for farmers here, and even in times like these we cannot afford to forget quality. Good food will always sell itself.

I have seen a few fields where the grain is cut and if they were seeded to grass or clover the "catch" seems to be very good. There was plenty of moisture and though the grain crop was heavy that didn't seem to hinder the grass and clover seeds from bringing on a good crop. This is one year when a farmer can treat his new seeding, as it should always be treated, by keeping every beast off it for the balance of the year and giving the grass seeds a good start. Pasturing a newly seeded field, after the crop is harvested, is simply punishing next year's hay crop. Sometimes a farmer is pushed for feed and reluctantly turns the cattle on it but with the abundance of grass in every pasture there could be no excuse for doing it this year.

Keeping all grazing beasts off new seeding in the autumn always pays well and promptly. You get your return in the following summer. The grass or clovers if allowed to grow undisturbed until winter will form a good anchorage of roots, grow a good top to comfortably cover these roots, go through the winter without much, if any, injury and get a "head start" in the spring. The yield of hay will be much improved by this method, and the grass plants will get established so as to give you a continuously better yield while the field is down to grass. No matter how strong the growth is, on no account should you allow new seeding to be grazed in the autumn. I was on a farm last autumn where the few cattle had the run of the place. Two fields were new seeding in the spring and had a good growth. I called the boy on the farm and told him to close the gates on these two fields. I saw a neighbor from the adjoining farm today and he began telling me of the amazing growth on one field. It was one of these fields. It was wet this year, but wet or dry this is good farming practice, as it is simply giving a grass crop a chance.

AN English farmer had some bunches of nettles in a pasture field and thought to sprinkle them with salt to kill them. He was surprised to find his cattle discovering the salted nettles and eating them off. He made some further experiments and found that the cattle could smell the salt on the nettles and eat them before the leaves turned black from the application of the salt. He says that at the same time the cattle had access to salt in bulk, but they seemed to prefer the salted herbage.

This farmer then in looking over his pasture noticed some small areas of coarse grass which the cattle were avoiding. He salted these bunches of coarse grass and they were immediately grazed off, and the fresh grass that came up was finer and better. This scheme is of little value this year as whole fields are covered with grass too mature and coarse for the best of grazing. It is a good scheme, however, to keep in mind. By sowing a little salt on coarse patches if they are eaten off, this feed will be useful bulk for the cattle, and the uniformly close grazing will greatly improve the pasture. This idea could often be made quite useful.

From time to time I have been giving some British farm news, by way of information for Ontario farmers as to how farm affairs are going in the Old Country. When this war ceases it will be highly important for our farmers to know a good deal of conditions and prices with respect to British farming. For some of our exports of farm products we have no other market than that of Britain so we must keep close tab on what goes on in the Mother Country.

Livestock prices have been increasing very rapidly in both England and Scotland. A rather astonishing sale took place recently in England when a dispersion of Dairy Shorthorns was held. These were Bates cattle and trace their lineage back to the times when Thomas Bates took great pride in the pails of milk yielded by his choicely bred milking Shorthorns.

This herd was owned by Cyril A. Brown, Manor Farm, Wootton, Oxfordshire, England. Reducing the guineas to dollars, at present rate of exchange, the top cow in the sale brought $4,620. There were 40 females sold at an average price of $910 which was rather high for a herd sale which included, not only several cows with some age on them, but a fair number of young heifers.

A sale of yearling ewes was held in Aberdeen where 2,020 were offered as store sheep, mostly cross bred. Prices ran as high as $17 each, with quite a number bringing $11 and $12. These are the prevailing prices for commercial animals.

It appears that the price fixers are going to put a floor as well as a ceiling on cattle prices. I am afraid this job is not being done by very experienced carpenters. Their operators in the yards get a good many laughs from the experienced cattlemen on the market. Canadian cattle have to pay 1½c duty to get into the U.S. market. The United States is shipping beef across the ocean. Canada is not. Surely our cattle raisers are entitled to this U.S. market less 1½c. The present plan of valuators of our cattle in the yards just looks silly, and the idea of fixing a ceiling on the price and then breaking through that ceiling at will when the committee want beef and have the taxpayer pay the difference, is the kind of bungling that is going to make this war cost the taxpayer many more millions than it should. If these fixers had kept their hands off the cattle business both the producer and the consumer would be better off, and we need have little worry about those in between.

TRAILER TINTYPES

Hun Still Far from Objective

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

DESPATCHES from Moscow indicate that a new Nazi lunge toward Stalingrad between the Don and the Sal Rivers is giving the Russians the most concern at the moment. It is far down in the Central Caucasus, however, that Berlin claims a more immediately dangerous penetration.

At that point, below Voroshilovsk, never yet mentioned in Moscow war bulletins as a battle area, Berlin says that Nazi spearheads have cut the main rail route across the Caucasus connecting the Black Sea and Caspian coasts. That means that they have crossed the Kuban River at or south of Armavir.

Armavir is an important junction on the Rostov-Baku Railroad. A branch line runs from Tuapse on the Black Sea to Armavir, connecting these with the railroad running to the Caspian coast at Makhach Kala, 400 miles southeast of Armavir and 300 miles south of Astrakan at the mouth of the Volga. That is the only Black Sea-Caspian rail route north of the Caucasus range. It is likely that the Nazis may try to follow this route to the Caspian thus splitting the Caucasus off from the rest of Russia.

ACCEPT NAZI CLAIM

Authorized military spokesmen in London accept the German claim of having captured Voroshilovsk and crossed the Kuban south of its great bend though Moscow has not admitted these advances of Nazi flying columns. It is pointed out by the British observer, however, as is apparent from the maps, that the German thrust from Belaya Glina to Voroshilovsk is dangerously deep for its width. In so far as its outlines can be sketched, it is a corridor forty miles or less wide and more than 100 miles deep. Surprise that Marshal Timoshenko had not already struck from the east to pinch it off was expressed in London.

If the Germans have crossed the Kuban River south of Armavir, as Berlin claimed, that spearhead is now probably 150 miles from its Belaya Glina jump-off. The Nazis appear now to be trying to widen the base of the wedge being driven down the central steppes to the Kuban River before the Russians can shift forces to attempt a flanking drive to close the neck of the sack.

It is increasingly certain from the speed of its advance and the recklessness with which it is being hurled southward, despite dangers of being cut off, that the Nazi spearhead on the upper Kuban below Armavir must be a self-contained panzer unit. To what degree the Germans have been able to back it up with larger and heavier forces to consolidate footholds gained west of the Kuban is not clear. There is ample evidence, however, that the Russians still are holding in the Kushchevka region, 250 miles north of Armavir.

MAY SEVER RUSS LINES

If the Nazis succeed in pressing their advantage, and spear their way down the Rostov-Baku railroad to the Caspian, the result, at worst, will be a severance of the Russian lines. It would leave the southern wing of the Red Army, if it escapes entrapment north of the Kuban, standing along the 10,000-foot wall of the Caucasus range from Taman Peninsula to the Caspian and still in possession of the great Baku oil fields, well sheltered even from air attack by the tremendous mountain bastion.

There are adequate rail and pipe-line connections from the Black Sea to the Caspian south of the mountains. That southwest corner of the Caucasus also is the entry port for British-American war supplies arriving via the Persian Gulf and Iran. Some traffic with the rest of Russia via the Caspian also would remain possible.

Great as Nazi gains have been in Southern Russia, grave as is Red peril, the battle of the Caucasus is not yet decided. Hitler's forces still are hundreds of miles from their objectives.

Washington Spotlight

(By ELMER DULMAGE Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (CP)—Washington has entered the mid-summer silly season in a large way over the New York State struggle for the governorship. While the fight goes on in New York, Washington is practically pop-eyed with excitement.

As the machine politics explain it, New York's squabble within the Democratic party is a titanic struggle for control of the machine between President Roosevelt and his former campaign chief and postmaster-general, James A. Farley.

Actually, Mr. Roosevelt probably hasn't given 10 minutes of his time to worry about New York. Mr. Farley wanted John J. Bennett, state attorney-general, as the Democratic candidate, [illegible] Roosevelt didn't. He thought Bennett couldn't beat Republican Tom Dewey. So he suggested Senator James Mead.

The net result is that Farley is mad at the President, Mead is making a determined bid for the Democratic nomination with Roosevelt approval, Bennett is saying nothing and the anti-Roosevelt press is having a high old time egging on the combatants.

The few political authorities who are keeping cool about the thing believe Mead will achieve the candidacy over Bennett and then, with further Presidential support, defeat Dewey. But election day is three months away and the silly season has at least another six weeks to run, so anything can happen.

EMPTY THAT PLATFORM

The beating up of Waldo Frank by pro-Nazis in Buenos Aires may result in the United States State Department discouraging Americans from making speeches abroad unless they are government spokesmen.

Brendan Bracken, British Minister of Information, clamped down recently on British speakers stumping the United States where they accomplished more harm than good.

Frank, 53 and author of 40 books, was provided with an airplane for his personal use by the Argentine Government when he first visited that country on a speaking tour in 1929. The present government in Buenos Aires ordered him to leave the country. His song of democracy may have been welcomed by the majority of Argentinians but not by a fence-straddling government.

Second-front talk here always develops into a contest to guess who will be appointed supreme commander for the great offensive. And these three names always come up—Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Chief of Staff; Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British Commander in India, and Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander of Canada's Army in Britain.

Gen. McNaughton's often-stated declaration that Germany must be invaded by land forces has impressed Americans, who have been told many times that the Canadian Overseas Army is one of the best equipped and trained in the world.

THE NEGRO SOLDIER

The negro problem keeps coming up in the news, even on the sports pages.

Senator John D. Bankhead, Alabama, proposes that negro soldiers from northern states be quartered only in northern camps. Their presence in the south causes resentment, Bankhead says. There's no indication the army is listening to the senator.

Only recently were negroes permitted to join the United States Navy except as kitchen help.

Baseball's High Commissioner, Judge K. M. Landis, has announced there is no rule or understanding barring negroes from big league clubs. That's nonsense, of course, because there always has been such an understanding between club owners.

Now, however, the New York newspaper PM is leading a campaign to open the gates to negro ball players. There's much double-talk by such bosses as Larry MacPhail of Brooklyn Dodgers—and pretty clear indication already that baseball isn't likely to follow in the footsteps of the Navy.

A Bible Message For Today

Hear ye this, O house of Jacob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come forth out of the waters of Judah, which swear by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousness... Thus saith the Lord, thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel; I am the Lord thy God which teacheth thee to profit, which leadeth thee by the way that thou shouldst go. O that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments! then had thy peace been as a river, and thy righteousness as the waves of the sea.... Go ye forth of Babylon, flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of singing declare ye, tell this, utter it even to the end of the earth; say ye. The Lord hath redeemed his servant Jacob.—Isa. 48: 17-20.

China's Danger Is Ours

The truth is that whatever danger there is in China is not merely China's danger but our own danger. Good-will toward the Chinese is no longer enough. Japan may have as many as 1,000,000 men in China. The Chinese have about 6,000,000 under arms. The reason why the 6,000,000 do not push the 1,000,000 into the China Sea is that they lack planes, tanks and artillery. In China the second front exists. It is not being supplied. It may cease to exist if we do not find a way to supply it—and if this happens the disaster will not be China's alone.—New York Times.

On Getting the Right Men

As the years go on and old formulas of government change or disappear there is bound to come increasing expansion of the State's activities in many spheres of life, with that expansion in turn demanding delegation by government of wide powers to boards and commissions. Obviously, therefore, the efficient functioning of our democratic system, perhaps its very survival, is going to depend in large measure upon whether we have the wit to make those boards and commissions the strongest and best we can summon. Public questions and problems are not solved by the mere setting up of machinery to deal with them; there must be the right individuals to run the machinery. Canada may have the finest Civil Service Act in the world, but that will avail us little unless the right men are provided to administer the act.—Ottawa Journal.

It Is Happening Here

The Navy Minister's confirmation of the report that three more ships have been sunk in the St. Lawrence emphasizes the need for still greater realism on the part of Canadians, including those living on the big river's banks. "It can happen here"—and does. —Brantford Expositor.

Land On Your Toes Soldier

By the time these Canadian Army men have completed the physical training schedule set for them they are a tough body of men. This 10-foot leap is only part of a gruelling obstacle course at Camp Borden which men in training are expected to cover in record time. They climb poles and swinging ropes, leap streams, clamber over hazardous frameworks and stone walls—in fact, prepare themselves for operations under any conditions and over any terrain. Many of these Canadians may be chosen for commando work after they reach Great Britain.

Seminary Head Dies In 62nd Year

WATERLOO, Ont., Aug. 7—(CP)—President of Waterloo College and Seminary for the last 11 years, Dr. Frederick B. Clausen died at the K-W hospital last night after an illness of seven weeks. He was 62 years of age.

Ordained at Philadelphia in 1903, Dr. Clausen had served in the Lutheran ministry nearly 40 years. His first charge was in the Harlem district of New York where he served for nine and a half years. His second charge was at Wilmington, North Carolina, where he served for six and a half years. He then took charge of St. John's church, Brooklyn, were he remained for 13 years before accepting the presidency of Waterloo College and Seminary in 1931.

Dr. Clausen was president of the seminary professors of the United Lutheran church in Amerca and a member of the Inner Mission Board of the U.L.C.

He was a prominent Rotarian and was vice-president of the Kitchener-Waterloo club.

Surviving are his wife, one son, Frederick R. Clausen of New York City, one daughter, Mrs. C. D. Little of Greenville, South Carolina, and three grandchildren.

Church Elder Is Guilty Of Murder

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 (AP).—A jury of nine women and three men convicted Oscar Albertson, 43, San Pedro blacksmith and church elder, of first-degree murder in the "death by mail" of John Kmetz, 54, last Oct. 12.

The first jury to try Albertson disagreed. Yesterday's verdict made the death penalty mandatory.

The state charged that Albertson was infatuated with Mrs. Esther Kmetz, 33, church school teacher who formerly had lived at his home. It accused Albertson first of trying to beat Kmetz to death in a mystery attack and then mailing him poison capsules labelled "vigor restorers."

Sweater Girl Jarred By Price Board

OTTAWA, Aug. 7—(CP). — The Wartime Prices and Trade Board moved in on the "Sweater Girl" today with an order limiting to eight the colors or shades which may be used as body colors in the manufacture of any one line or style of knitted outwear—and the eight include Air Force blue and khaki.

The order applies to all kinds of knitted goods except underwear, lingerie, knitted seamless basque berets, jersey cloth, hosiery and fabric gloves.

A schedule of 33 shades has been prepared from which manufacturers may make their choices. In addition to such old stand-bys as Air Force blue, khaki, white, orange, navy, and grey there are such exotics as goldenrod, pebble sand, peach beige, conch pink, alpine rose, victory red, teal, sea aque, light sky, and monet.

Manufacturers are permitted to complete goods in process of manufacture in any shades not named in the order, and also to use up stocks of yarn now on hand or on order and specified as to color. Manufacture of knitted outwear from yarn containing shoddy is not affected by the order.

Any manufacturer who has on hand a stock of wool or worsted yarn in shades other than those allowed by the order, or who actually has such yarns on order and specified as to color, and who requires cotton yarns on matching shades to level out his stock for knitting purposes, may purchase such cotton yarns, providing he reports all such stocks to Knit Goods Administrator H. G. Smith of Toronto not later than August 15.

Much Sought After Police Evidence Found In Leg Of Man Charged With Murder

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 — (AP).—Sam (Golf Bag) Hunt, erstwhile Capone gangster, charged with murdering a negro, finally agreed in court to submit the evidenc esought by police for an entire month.

The evidence—a 38 calibre bullet—was lodged in Hunt's left leg since last July 4 when a traffic accident led to an altercation in which Michael Wade, negro houseman, was wounded fatally.

Hunt explained he waited until he got into court to have the bullet removed because "he didn't want those coppers switching bullets on me."

So Judge Harold Ward yesterday adjourned the trial while two surgeons in the jail hospital removed the bullet with which Hunt hoped to bolster his plea of innocence. Witnesses at the operation included Hunt's personal physician.

The bullet was important because differences of opinion had developed on the subject of who shot whom. The state contended the bullets were fired from different guns. The defence insisted the bullets came from the same gun and were fired by Wade or a negro companion.

Findings of a ballistics expert will be submitted in court today.

Young Hoodlums Beat Youth To Death

LOS ANGELES, August 7—(AP).—City and country authorities have united in a rigorous campaign to wipe out sporadic warfare between juvenile gangs which was climaxed by the fatal beating of one youth in a clash of rival mobs at a birthday party.

More than a score of youths have been detained for questioning in the death of Jose Diaz, 22, in a gang fight on a ranch near here Sunday. The fight took place, police were told, when one mob attempted to break up a birthday party being staged by another group of youths.

The fatal battle took place after months of less serious uprisings among youthful neighborhood gangs, composed chiefly of boys and girls from 14 to 22.

RCAF Members Reported Safe

VICTORIA, Aug. 7 (CP).—Western air command disclosed today that five members of the Royal Canadian Air Force previously reported to be missing after flying operations had been found safe, although injured slightly, while two companions were dead.

Western air command gave no details beyond stating: "On July 21 an R.C.A.F. ircraft was unreported. Subsequently the aircraft was found to have been involved in an accident in the mountains."

The seven were reported missing in an R.C.A.F. casualty list issued at Ottawa last Monday.

The dead are: Cpl. Thomas Brown Donald, whose widow lives at New Westminster, B.C., and A.C.1 John McIntosh, whose widow lives at Penticton, B.C.

Injured slightly in the crash were FO. Peter Hamilton Gault of Baltimore, Md.; Sgt. Francis Martin Baily of Vancouver; Sgt. Richare Bush Roberts, North Bend, Wash.; AC Edward Woodroffe Naylor, London, Ont., and AC. Samuel Silberman, Port Kells, B.C.

Sub Chaser Is Given Dutch

WASHINGON, Anug. 7—(AP)—President Roosevelt turned a swift new submarine chaser over to Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands today with a prediction that once more the Dutch people would "win and maintain" their independence.

In a ceremony at the Washington Navy Yard, the Stars and Stripes were hauled down from the mast of the little craft while the National Anthem was played, and the colors of the Netherlands government were hoisted while the Netherlands National Anthem resounded across the water.

Bunting was removed from the name plates on the PC-468 and her new name—the Queen Wilhelmina—was revealed.

The President transferred the ship to the Netherlands Queen, under provisions of the Lend-Lease Act, as a "tangible expression of our admiration for all that the Netherlands Navy has done, and is doing."

State Dinner Given Queen

WASHINGON, Aug. 7—(AP).—President Roosevelt rose last night at a state dinner in the White House to toast the ruling Queen of the homeland of his ancestors, Wilhelmina of the Netherlands. She responded with one to his health as head of a great country, and to the success of its armed forces.

"I think that all of us at this table tonight"—the Roosevelts had invited 38 guests to honor the Queen—"realize the symbolism of the visit of Her Majesty to this country of ours," President Roosevelt said.

"The friendship between our great nations has never ceased. It has been the friendship of peoples who lived for the same kind of human rights and the same kind of national independence."

Obviously moved, the 61-year-old Queen, who made her first trip to the new world in a bomber, responded that she was greatly touched by the friendly welcome extended her at the White House.

"This visit to this capital city is to me the culminating point of my stay in the United States," she said.

"I know," she said, "that when you make me feel a welcome guest, your thoughts are, like mine, with my country, where at this time, in east and west, oppression breeds resistance, and cruelty increases determination to hold out."

Apparently on the theory that if "a cat can look at a queen," a Scottie can too, the President's dog, Fala, selected a vantage spot on the White House lawn where he sat and watched the arrival of the Queen.

Airgraph Service Extended At Once

OTTAWA, Aug. 9 (CP—Airgraph service from Great Britain to Canada and Newfoundland is being instituted immediately, Post Office officials said today. The service is already in effect from Canada to Britain.

Rates on Airgraph messages from Britain will be the same as those here—15 cents when addressed to civilians and six cents to members of the forces. Announcement of the British service marks the success of lengthy negotiations between the two postal services.

Airgraph messages are written on special forms provided at Post Offices and are photographed on Micro-film which is flown across the ocean, developed and enlarged there and forwarded to the destination.

NAZIS CONFIDENT

STOCKHOLM—(CP).—Copies of the Frankfurter Zeitung received here said British leaflets dropped on German-occupied territory are encouraging the population to rebel and added that "Germany is strong enough to maintain order by all necessary methods."

B. McDOWELL ROBBED OF SHUTOUT BY SINGLE ERROR; WINS 22-1

Generals Swamp Electrics In Loose Game

Hard hitting by the Generals and Bea McDowell's fine pitching proved too strong a combination for Electrics in last night's Girls' Softball League game at the Bowl, and the league leaders won a seven-innings affair by 22 runs to 1.

The score is a fair indication of the play.

Bea McDowell allowed Electrics only three hits, struck out 12 of them in seven frames and only three of the losers got on bases. The side was retired in order in the last four frames and Electrics would have been shut out if it had not been for a bad throw to third, incidentally the only error chalked up against the Generals.

Mary Larmer pitched for the losers and in the six innings in which they batted the winners came through with no fewer than 18 hits. Phyllis Bigelow with a single, double, triple and homer in four official trips to the plate, and Norma Strickland with a double and four singles in six appearances, led the Generals' attack. Norma Strickland, Phyllis Bigelow and Marilyn McCarthy, who had three hits to her credit, all crossed the plate four times during the engagement. Ruth Hewitt contributed a homer and two singles and it was a great night all around for the Generals' batting averages.

M. Hunter, Mary Larmer and Shirley Milburn were the only three Electric players to get a hit and the only three to get on bases.

Generals started the scoring in the first frame when singles by Norma Strickland and Ruth Hewitt, a double by Phyllis Bigelow, a walk to Phyllis McQuade and a couple of errors gave them three runs. They came right back in the second with six more on three hits and a similar number of errors. The crowning blows in that big inning were a triple by Phyllis Bigelow with two on, followed by a home by Ruth Hewitt.

Four hits, a walk and two misplays gave Generals five more in the third and four hits and a walk added three more in the fourth. Generals filled the bases with no one out in the fifth but did not score. However they were back in the sixth with a four-run rally started with a homer by Phyllis Bigelow.

Electrics went out in order in five innings and wasted two of their three hits in the second. They got their only run in the third when M. Hunter singled with one out, stole second and scored when A. DeCarlo threw high trying to stop her stealing third. She was the last Electric batter to get on bases.

Presented by Bob Pearce, world's professional sculling champion, a trophy for competition in England has reached London and is in custody of Bert Barry, former world titleholder. A race for the silverware will be arranged shortly over a mile course. It's understood the trophy came over on a Canadian troopship.

Wartime International soccer matches in Britain are to continue. The games will be arranged within a few weeks and the first English-Scottish battle will take place at Wembley Stadium early in the new season with the return tilt at Glasgow in April. International fixtures will also be arranged between England and Wales.

A news service story from Stockholm says that Gunnar Haegg, Swedish fireman who recently broke Sydney Wooderson's world record for the outdoor mile, has cracked the world record for two miles with the time of 8:47 8-10. That's 5 9-10 seconds better than the record set by Finland's Taisto Maeki in 1939. Neither of Haegg's marks have been sanctioned by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

Invalided from the R.A.F. two years ago, Tonypandy's Tommy Farr is lecturing the troops on boxing. He says he's keen on getting into one of the services and that he won't fight in the ring "as long as the war goes on."

"For one thing," he adds, "my health wouldn't permit it."

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Everything is set for the first game in the City League playoffs at Riverside Park tonight with the first-place Plazas tangling with the Soldiers, who wound up in the fourth slot. This is the first game in a best two-of-three series between the two outfits in one of the semi-final brackets and it promises to be a thriller. Undoubtedly the biggest crowd of the year will be on hand to see the Military Training Centre outfit battle with the hockey squad. The Soldiers are popular with the fans and although they have lost two games this week, their following stuck with them throughout both tilts and will be on hand tonight to support them in the first game of the playoffs. This will be a clash between two strong outfits and promises to furnish plenty of excitement. Either Tom Parsons or Dave Wilson will be on the firing line for Plazas and the Soldiers will start either Powell, the new twirler, who finished so strong against Luckies or McKerrigan who pitched good ball against the Plazas Tuesday night. Plazas have won two out of three from the Soldiers during the regular schedule but when playoff time arrives previous performances do not mean every much and so tonight's game is very much a matter of speculation. One thing however is sure. It will be a battle all the way.

* * * * * *

Both sides have considerable power and a long hit may easily win tonight's argument. For Soldiers Nick Sero and Tony McIlveen have been powdering the ball consistently and either one of them is likely to spill the beans while Plazas have their power houses too with such long ball hitters as Joe Blewett, Julian Wade, Eddie Starr and company likely to break up a ball game any time. Neither club has announced its exact lineup for tonight but it is sure that both outfits will have all the available talent out in an effort to get the jump on the opposition in this short series that means elimination for the season for one club or the other. The game gets under way at 7 o'clock sharp, with a record attendance certain.

* * * * * *

Generals disposed of Electrics easily last night and now are ready for the long-awaited clash with Westclox tonight in a battle upon which first place in the league race depends. The Big Bens have been sailing right along in the face of all opposition and have now galloped through seven victories in a row. The girls in the new green and white outfits have been playing smart, steady ball and have steadily improved during the summer both defensively and at the plate. They have gained a lot of confidence since the season got under way. Generals, of course, have a strong club. They have plenty of pitching talent, and a lot of hitting strength and while they have been guilty of some bad ball on a few occasions this season they undoubtedly can come through with better stuff when there is need of it. In tonight's game at the Bowl, the two rivals should dish out the best girls' game of the season. It will start at 7 o'clock sharp.

Will Settle the Argument

The British War Victims Fund will benefit by reason of the argument between Genelco and C.G.E. as to softball supremacy. It has been arranged to hold the rubber game tomorrow Saturday evening at Riverside Park, starting at 6.30 o'clock and all the proceeds will be turned over to the War Victims' Fund. Genelco defeated the C.G.E. at the annual picnic and that started the argument. C.G.E. came back with a team composed almost completely of City League stars and walloped Genelco in a second game. Now the two clubs are going to settle the controversy with a third tilt. Roy Parnell of the C.G.E. team will use about the same lineup as defeated the team from the other division of the big plant two weeks ago but word leaks out from Genelco that some of the players not used in the second game have a hunch they can make a better showing than the original lineup and they will get their chance tomorrow. It should be a real battle and produce a sizable contribution to the War Victims' Fund.

Ben Hogan broke from the barrier at the opening of the Canadian open golf championship at Mississauga, Toronto, yesterday and blazed over the course in a seven-below-par 65 to lead the classiest field that ever started in the Canadian event. And right at his heels, only one stroke behind were Craig Wood and Ralph Guldahl with 66. Three Canadian golfers were close up, Jerry Proulx of Montreal, Jules Huot, Quebec and Bobby Reith of Windsor going around in 70 and Gordie Brydson and Albert Hulbert of Toronto in 71. Lex Robson of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club made a good showing with a neat 73, one above par for the Mississauga course while Willie Spittal of the Peterborough Club did not fare so well. His first round required 80 strokes.

* * * * * *

There was some more superfine pitching in the big leagues yesterday to add fresh evidence to the contention that this is really a pitcher's year. The latest to break into the limelight in this respect was big Wilburn Butland, former Louisville right-hander who has been used almost altogether in relief roles by the Boston Red Sox this season but was given a starting assignment against the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday and responded by shutting out the A's with only three hits. Christopher pitched good enough ball for the losers to have won an ordinary ball game, holding the Red Sox to six hits but Joe Cronin's men took the decision 2 to 0. It was the second shutout in a row scored by the Boston pitching staff and that is worthy of comment.

* * * * * *

Meanwhile in New York the Giants were having their most enjoyable afternoon of the year. The Brooklyn Dodgers were their guests and there is nobody the New Yorkers would rather beat than their metropolitan neighbors. And they really beat them yesterday. Hal Schumacher held the Bums to seven scattered hits and shut them out while the Giants were saying it with home runs at the expense of Pitchers Allen and Head, two of the most brilliant members of the Brooklyn hurling staff. Manager Mel Ott helped himself to two, his 17th and 18th of the season. Billy Werber hit his first of the campaign and Witek and Buster Maynard also kicked in with four-masters. Home runs exploded so often that Manager Leo Durocher must have blown his top before the engagement ended with the Giants on the big end of an 8 to 0. The Bum rooters wouldn't like that one at all.

* * * * * *

New York Yanks have dropped their second game in a row yesterday but no one seems to be worried about that. The McCarthyites have such a long lead now that the loss of a game or two doesn't mean a thing at this stage of the doings. It was old Buck Newsom who stopped them yesterday as Washington Senators took the second game in succession from the leaders. The final count was 6 to 3. The Senators collected fourteen hits off the delivery of Hank Borowy who suffered his second defeat of the year and of Fireman Johnny Murphy who went to his assistance in the sixth inning. Newsom yielded eleven to the Yanks but held them under control after Senators broke a 3 to 3 tie in the second half of the sixth. The Cleveland-St. Louis game was rained out.

Older fans here will remember him as a good fellow and a great baseball enthusiast.

Rascals Prolong Play-offs With 3-2 Win

PORT HOPE, Aug. 7.—(ENS)—Behind the steady pitching of Harold Blow, Rascals prolonged the semi-finals of the local baseball league by defeating the Grill 3-2 Thursday in the third game played at King's Field. There was steady fielding on both sides with the outfielders having 11 putouts, 5 for the Grill and 6 for the Rascals.

The Grill scored a run in the second inning on two successive hits by Hagerman and Cancilla. The second and last tally was in the sixth when Macleod walked and scored on Hagerman's triple.

Brockenshire only allowed three hits but two walks, two hits and an error in the second inning gave the Rascals two runs. Huffman, the winners' catcher who has been hitting the ball hard in the playoffs tripled in the 6th and when Sid Wakely missed Hagerman's relay, Lawrence came all the way home for what proved to be the winning tally.

Hagerman, Cancilla and Huffman all collected a pair of hits each. Many fans expressed the opinion that this was the best game of the season and it only required one hour and five minutes to play.

The fourth game of the series will be played on Tuesday evening, August 11.

Convict Signs With Ball Team

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Considering that he's a lifer in the Oregon State penitentiary, Keith (Big Luke) Crosswhite was doing right well today toward realizing his ambition to be a major-league pitcher.

He's a long way from Yankee Stadium and Warden George C. Alexander still has plenty of strings attached, but "Big Luke" is now a full-fledged member of the mound staff of the Salem Senators in the Western International Baseball League.

Crosswhite, a model prisoner during the 11 years he's served since being convicted of the murder of a state policeman at La Grande, Ore., signed on the dotted line last night with business manager Al Lightner—and with Warden Alexander's consent.

The Warden didn't go all the way, however. Crosswhite will be permitted outside prison walls just long enough for the Senators' home appearances.

Allie Stolz Given Decision Over Chalky Wright

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 —(AP)—It is still a matter for argument, but the Jacobs' beachcombers were pretty much convinced today that there'll be a couple of new bosses ruling the featherweights and lightweights as a result of the cuffing around Allie Stolz handed Chalky Wright in the latest neighborhood beak-busting.

Stolz, from Newark and loaded with "class," cuffed the current featherweight champion—New York State version — all over Madison Square Garden's ring for the last five rounds of their fight last night, and was so much the winner that he galloped off with a 10-round decision.

From his showing, for the evident enjoyment of 9,468 of the faithful, Allie impressed even the oldest inhabitants that the next time he tangles with Lightweight Champ Sammy Angott, probably around Oct. 2, he'll likely wind up taking the 135-pound crown away from Angott. The last time they fought Sammy came out with a disputed, split decision.

At the same time, the ageless Chalky was given such a going over down the stretch of this bristling brawl that the old-timers figured he had too much taken out of him to recover in time to withstand the challenge of young Charlie Costantino, of New York, whom he fights Sept. 26. The Los Angeles negro's half of the featherweight championship will be on the line that night.

Longest Golf Drive

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 7 — Bill Farr of Brantford is credited with the longest drive in history. Teeing off on a hole next to the Canadian National Railways, his golf ball landed on a gravel car westbound for Windsor, 180 miles away.

A Great Canadian Tournament

THAT WILL HELP

A GREAT CANADIAN CAUSE

• This year, the Canadian Open Golf Championship has a significance far beyond its status as a major sport event. It will again present a spectacular struggle for the Open Championship and the Seagram Gold Cup; it will again foster international goodwill by bringing together famous golfers from Canada and the United States; but, in addition, the entire net proceeds of this year's tournament will be donated to the Canadian Red Cross Society.

The House of Seagram is especially glad to be associated with the 1942 Open, which will be held at the Mississauga Golf & Country Club, Toronto, August 6th, 7th and 8th. And, as donor of the Seagram Gold Cup, the House of Seagram welcomes the golfers of both Canada and the United States to the fairways of international friendship.

BEN HOGAN SETS COURSE RECORD AND LEADS IN CANADIAN OPEN

Toronto Drops Two Games To Baltimore

By The Associated Press.

Although Rochester Red Wings are mired in International League cellar there still are a few members of the team who are likely candidates for the major leagues.

Among them is Ervin Dusak, hard hitting infielder-outfielder who is on aption from the parent St. Louis Cardinals. Dusak and Hooper triplett represent virtually all the team's punch.

Dusak has been going at a terrific clip the past few weeks, bringing his average over the .300 mark to be one of the few batters in the circuit in the charmed circle.

The Wings split a doubleheader with Syracue Chiefs last night, winning the first game behind the five-hit pitching of Jean Roy, 32; and losing the second, 3-1. Nate Andrews turned in a five-hitter in the nightcap, with the only run being Dusak's 13th homer of the campaign.

Buffalo Bisons put on a storybook finish to capture the opening game of a twin bill from Jersey City Giants, 4-3. Trailing 3-0 in the last frame and with one out, Mayo Smith hammered a home run with the bases loaded to give Andy Sierra his 14th conquest of the year.

The Giants took the aftermath behind the six-hit pitching of Dave Koslo, 4-0.

The rampaging Baltimore Orioles captured both ends of a bargain bill from Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-0 and 9-7. Elmer Barkart, in the opener, gave up only six hits. Ted Sczepkowski led the eight-hit attack against Bill Brandit with a three-run homer, double and single. The wind-up was a nightmarish affair, especially for Eddie Leip of the Leafs.

Leip made four errors, three of them in the fifth inning which gave the Orioles four runs. Leip partly made up for this by getting four hits in four trips to the plate. Hank Edwards and George Staller cracked out homers for the Orioles. The double triumph placed the Orioles in a virtual tie with the Leafs for third place.

The league-leading Newark Bears divided a twin feature with Montreal Royals, winning the opener, 13-4 and losing the closing encounter, 2-0. Russ Derry and Bud Metheny led the 13-4 attack in the first game with four-masters. Chet Kehn turned back the hard-hitting Bears with six hits in the nightcap.

Birdie Finish Puts Ben Up On Guldahl

By SCOTT YOUNG,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MISSISSAUGA GOLF CLUB, PORT CREDIT, Aug. 7—(CP).—The gallery which follows little Ben Hogan over the second round of the 72-hole Canadian Open golf championship here today won't be as skeptical of his ability to come from behind as the gallery he had yesterday.

When Hogan came up to the 16th tee yesterday he was five under par. He needed a 66—six under par—to tie Craig Wood and Ralph Guldahl for first place, or a 65 to take the lead himself. He was faced with two holes that are good par fours, one that could be birdied with a little luck and a lot of good golf.

His gallery thought—and out loud—that he couldn't, but he got his 65. He shot a par four on the 16th, leaving him still five under par. The 17th is only 310 yards, but is a dogleg to the right around a clump of short, tought fir trees. The clump is about 220 yards along the fairway—a sure target for the average drive. Hogan cleared the trees, dropped his second close to the pin and sunk the putt. That made him six-under-par. If he could par the 18th he would be in a three-way tie for first place, and most of the spectators in his large gallery thought that's the way he would finish.

The 18th is 390 yards. On the right the fairway drops almost 100 feet to the Credit River Valley. On the left is out of bounds. Down the middle about 270 yards is a tough bunker. About 50 yards before the green—directly before the green—is a huge chestnut tree. Hogan birdied that hole, with a long drive, a perfect approach and one putt. It was one of the only two birdies of the day on the 18th hole (Bill Ezinicki of Oshawa, Ont., had one), and it gave him the lead.

It also gave him the competitive course record, for this 6,543-yard championship layout. And it left Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Ralph Guldahl of Santa Fe, Calif., in second place with 66's. Clayton Heafner of Durham, N.C., was four with 68, Tony Penna of Dayton, Ohio, fifth with 69. Four Canadians were tied for sixth place with 70's—Bobby Reith of Windsor, Ont., Willie Lamb of Toronto Lambton, Jules Huot of Quebec City, and Gerry Proulx of Montreal. Skee Riegel of Miami, Fla., and Frank Stranaham of Toledo were low amateurs with 71's.

The low 60 golfers, and ties, after today's 18 holes will go into the 36-hole windup tomorrow for the $3,600 in prize money and the Seagram Gold Cup. The cup and $1,000 will go to the winner.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MISSISSAUGA GOLF CLUB, Port Credit, Ont., Aug 7—(CP).—Freak of the week: Montreal's Stan Horne banged a long two-iron tee shot into the left hip pocket of Sheriff Fred Graves, St. Catharines, Ont., on the third hole of the first round in the Canadian open yesterday....It was a cushion shot—off the umbrella the sheriff was carrying, then off a program he had jammed into his pocket and finally to rest....The way Horne played his first nine yesterday, it's no wonder the ball wanted to get away from it all....He recovered brilliantly after an outgoing 40 to score 33 coming in for a 73.

Only important pros missing from the open field are Sam Snead, Jug McSpaden, Jimmy Demaret, Dutch Harrison and Byron Nelson....Maybe after looking at yesterday's scores they're glad they stayed at home....The first hole here, only 325 yards long, was hard for the boys to birdie....Roland Huot of Ottawa Chaudiere was one of the few to do it....Brother Jules Huot of Quebec City made one of the best putts of the day on the third—a 15-footer along a slope calling for plenty of something the pros call borrowed speed, whatever that is

Bill Ezinicki, the Winnipeg hockey player who recently took up residence at Oshawa, Ont., shared the nine-hole honors with Clayton Heafner and Ben Hogan....Heafner had the best first nine, 31, and Hogan and Ezinicki each had a 32 on the second nine to lead the field....Ezinicki finished with five threes, a par and four birdies....His total of 73 puts him in a good spot to catch Skee Riegel and Frank Stranahan, the two leading amateurs (71's), if they can be caught....Len Jones, Windsor amateur, had the doubtful honor of the highest score on the first nine, a 49...Amateur Bob Barringer of Timmins, Ont., and Bill Freeman, Toronto York Downs pro, had their scores mixed on the official board....Barringer was horrified when he noticed it, and was heard to wonder out loud: 'The people back home will think I've gone crazy.

Stan Leonard, the steady Vancouver pro, impressed the gallery although his 74 was far off the pace....The wise men believe he'll get close yet....There was terrific confusion around the score board all day, with about 20 concellations and 25 post entries....In addition, some of the post entries didn't turn in cards....You wouldn't know there was gasoline rationing or a tire shortage by the crowd—the same old prosperous group of blonde, tanned babes and miscellaneous tanned men.

Patsy Brandino Whips McLarnin

FALL RIVER, Mass, Aug. 7—(CP). — Canada's former amateur featherweight champion, Patsy Brandino of Hamilton, Ont., was marked to-day by ring-wise veterans as a promising newcomer to United States' fistic ranks.

Brandino last night scored his sixth consecutive victory via the knockout route since turning pro a few months ago by gaining a technical knockout over Jimmy McLarnin of New Bedford, Mass., in a scheduled six-round bout in the Casino here. He weighed 130 pounds to McLarnin's 131.

The Hamilton youngster smothered McLarnin with lefts and rights in the first two rounds and continued his attack in the third. Just before the bell ended the round, McLarnin went down for a count of nine and was unable to answer the call for the fourth round. It went into the books as a technical knockout in the fourth.

Brandino now makes his headquarters a Providence, R.I., where two other Hamilton battlers, Jackie and Angelo Callura, are established.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

Sir Walter Raleigh visited Trinidad in 1575.

Yeah, White Sox! Come On!

Banished from the players' bench by President William Harridge of the American League, young Charles Comiskey II., who will own the White Sox some day, still roots for his favorite team from the stands. Harridge ruled that only players could be on the bench. Charles has been accustomed to sitting there and yelling for White Sox to whip 'em.

Yankees Beaten By Senators, Tigers Whipped

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

With practically no fanfare two of the American League clubs suffering from sleeping sickness as the result of staying too near the contagious cellar zone suddenly have shown unexpected signs of life.

Chicago White Sox have won half-a-dozen games in succession in recent days and Washington has won seven out of nine in the last couple of weeks for what amounts to a sizzling spurt for the Senators.

Last night, led by the irrepressible Bobo Newsom, they set down New York Yankees 6-3 in a free-hitting affair in which Washington made 14 blows and the Yanks 11. In addition the usually flawless Yanks contributed a couple of errors to Rookie Hank Borowy's second defeat of the season. It was Newsom's sixth victory against 14 defeats.

The White Sox whipped Detroit Tigers 4-1 with Edgar Smith pitching six-hit ball and losing a shutout because Jim Bloodworth belted a home run in the eighth.

In the only other American League game Boston Red Sox scored their second straight shutout as Bill Butland, ordinarily used for relief chores, pitched four-hit ball to beat Philadelphia Athletics 2-0.

Cleveland's doubleheader at St. Louis was postponed.

Only one game was scheduled in the National League and in this New York Giants released all the pent-up fury of their last three days to overwhelm Brooklyn Dodgers 8-0 with five home runs and a steady seven-hit pitching performance by Prince Hal Schumacher.

Mel Ott hit two of New York's circuit blows, bringing his total for the season to 18, and Bill Werber, Mickey Witek and Buster Maynard accounted for the others.

Girl Shell-Fillers Keep Fit And Eat Right

Because good, nutritious food, proper exercise and recreation make for happier and more efficient war workers, war industries are now installing cafeterias and canteens and are paying particular attention to workers' meals. ABOVE, LEFT, young women war workers in a shell-filling plant enjoy a restful and healthful lunch in the company cafeteria; BELOW, the popularity of salads on the lunch menu is indicated. Served often, salads provide a good way to stock up on necessary vitamins, and topped off with a glass of milk and pie they make a filling lunch. ABOVE, girl workers learn good posture. It's part of the recreation program.

British Rule

And Gandhi gave the word simply that a general strike is "not outside my contemplation."

His statement was issued last night in the form of written answers to questions from newspaper correspondents.

Appeal To Viceroy

Before he would begin a mass movement, he said, he would write to the British Viceroy "pleading for avoiding conflict" and that a basis for negotiations might be found in a favorable response.

He said bluntly that once India were freed he would, with the approval of the United Nations, be prepared to go as an emissary of peace to Japan—a project which he granted might be "the effort and optimism of a visionary."

His replies reflected his own assurance that the Congress would approved his long-contemplated movement for the removal of British rule from India in order, as the resolution put it, that India may put her soul into the United Nations' fight.

The first question, noting doubts in the United States over his attitude toward Japan, asked Gandhi whether he could give assurances that "even if there was a time when you thought of dealing with Japan you would not consider it now."

He replied:

"I can give no such assurance because if I deal with Japan and if I am allowed to do so by the contemplated free India, I should do so in the interest purely of the Allied cause.

"It may be the effort and optimism of a visionary but it can do no harm to the war effort. It will discredit Japan if a friendly gesture on the behalf of groaning humanity is repelled...Independence has first to come and then I must have permission of a free India government which will, as a new ally, seek approval of the United Nations for my humanitarian mission."

The second question was whether any assurance of postwar freedom would be acceptable and Gandhi answered:

"1.....Waiting is harmful. The attainment of independence after the war would lose its charm. India would not feel that it had made any real effort to win independence and it must be humiliating for a big nation like India not to be able to help....ensure victory for the Allied cause."

Answering question No. 3, whether he could divulge osme of the non-violent steps to be taken, he said "wait and see."

Asked next how quickly he thought he could win and whether he regarded a total general strike as essenital for speed Gandhi gave this reply:

"....In non-violent action God is the decisive factor....You are right, however, when you say that for a swift ending a general strike is necessary. It is not outside my contemplation."

He added that he would "move with utmost caution" because the struggle is conceived "in the friendliest spirit........ but if a general strike becomes a dire necessity I shall not flinch....History will regard what amazing restraint will have been exercised now over forces which history would also record were within control of the Congress."

It was in answer to the final question, whether he contemplated negotiating with Britain before initiating the movement that Gandhi said he had planned an interval in which to write to the viceroy, Lord Linlithgow, and await his reply.

Germans Speed

out nine tanks in another battle.

Repeated German attacks were declared repulsed south of Kuschevka in the northern Caucasus.

Red Army units were forced back in several sectors of the Belaya Glina front, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, yesterday by a German thrust parallelling the Rostov-Baku railway.

In the Kuschevka sector 80 miles south of Rostov, Don and Kuban Cossacks charged into German lines at numerous points and were declared to have inflicted enormous losses upon the enemy.

Stalingrad Threat Increased

To the north the threat to Stalingrad was increased by new German gains in the Kotelnikovski area, 95 miles southwest of the steel city on the Volga. There German anks tore holes in Soviet lines, forcing the defenders to withdraw in several sectors.

Red Star, in a dispatch from Kotelnikovski, said the Germans had taken the railway in that sector and now were seeking to develop a broader offensive.

Kotelnikovski is located on the railway running southwest from Stalingrad to Tikhoretsk, where it connects with the Rostov-Baku line. Belaya Glina also is on the railway, between Kotelnikovski and Tikhoretsk, so the line already had been cut by the Germans.

Above Stalingrad, Russian forces in the Don elbow around Kletskaya accounted for the one bit of cheering news from the battlefronts by throwing the Nazis out of several sectors, Russian advices reported.

Last night's Soviet communique said this counter stroke in the Kletskaya sector, 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad, netted the Russians "an advantageous defence line." It thus eased somewhat the developing German threat of a pincer threat about Stalingrad, it was indicated.

Elaborating on the action there, to-day's communique said the Russians were continuing their counter-attacks, forcing the enemy back still farther.

Fresh waves of Nazi tanks were hurled against the Russians during the day in the Kotelnikovski sector but the Moscow announcement said the enemy failed to make further headway there.

Red Star said German forces which crossed the Don in the region of Tsimlyansk, 80 miles west of Kotelnikovski, had occupied the big Cossack village of Krasnoyarsky after 20 days of bloody fighting.

The noon communique told of increasing activity by the Soviet air forces. It listed 18 Nazi planes downed and 13 damaged in dogfights.

Artillery duelling continued in the Volkhov sector of the Leningrad front where the Germans were reported dislodged from a small inhabited place in a surprise Soviet attack.

Stephan Starts Last 68 Days

DETROIT, August 7 — (AP) — Max Stephan began to-day in closely-guarded confinement the 68 days of life that remain to him before he must go to the gallows for treachery to America in time of war.

Guards of the Federal prison at Milan, from which Stephan was brought yesterday to hear his death sentence, resumed their 24-hour watch over the man from whom time is running out because a court of his adopted Government fould him guilty of treason.

That was the only word from the prison. True to a custom of years standing during which little has ever been said of prisoners at Milan, officials of the institution gave out no advices about Stephan.

A Deputy Federal Marshall, however, said that Stephan still boasted that he would not hang.

"I'll bet all the tea in China I won't hang," Deputy John W. Ingram quoted the prisoner as saying on his way to Milan.

Thus the 50-year-old German born tavrn keeper a naturalized American, returned to the cell-life which has been his since he broke into headlines last April for having aided Lieut. Hans Peter Krug, a prisoner of war who escaped from a Bowmanville, Ont., prisoners' camp, in his attempts to get gack to Germany. For this he was sentenced to hang on Friday November 13.

Judge Tuttle, in pronouncing the historic sentence, declared that Stephan's "entire interest was to aid Germany's cause" when he provided food, drink, lodging and transportation to Krug, who escaped April 16 and was recaptured in Texas after having visited in Detroit April 18.

An appeal from the death sentence is permissible. Verne C. Amberson Stephan's attorney, said he had made no decision on an appeal adding: "remember, attorneys sell their services, not themselves."

Lawyer Quits After Evidence

TORONTO, Aug. 7 —(CP)— A Royal Canadian Mounted Police constable testified in county police court here yesterday that John Sievert Christiansen of Toronto, charged under the Defence of Canada Regulations, had in his possession printed maps of several sections of Ontario, snapshots of bridges and Ontario industrial plants, as well as a carbon copy of a letter allegedly sent by the accused to the German Ministry of Defence in Berlin.

The constable, Walter Fast, said the snapshots included pictures of the International Nickel Co. plant at Copper Cliff, Ont., and of the nickel plant at Falconbridge, Ont., along with others showing railway yards.

Christiansen pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to register as an enemy alien and not guilty to a charge of having in his possession papers of value to the enemy.

Before the case was adjourned until Aug. 19 for further hearing, M. W. Kellerman, counsel for the accused, said he was withdrawing from the case.

Withdraws from Case

"In view of the circumstances and information presented by the R.C. M.P., I have no choice but to withdraw from this case," said Mr. Kellerman.

The carbon copy of the letter addressed to the German Ministry of Defence, dated May 16, 1939, accompanied plans for a new type recoil rocket plane allegedly designed by Christiansen.

"It is not possible for the address of the Ministry of Defence to appear on letters," said the letter. "Please indicate reliable cover address."

The letter also said "a suggested use of the plane is as an aerial torpedo steered by radio from two following planes. Destruction of enemy squadron takes place without explosive charge."

Constable Fast said Christiansen "told us he is an engineer. He worked for the Hamilton Bridge Co., the C.N.R., the Falconbridge Nickel Mines, the Truscon Steel Company and for Franklin Brothers. He has designed bridges and buildings. On the wall of his room we found a cross-section plan of a cruiser."

Bombers Flatten Jap Airdrome

CHUNGKING, Aug. 7—(AP). — United States army bombers attacked a Japanese airdrome near Canton yesterday, destroying at least 10 grounded enemy planes, Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell's headquarters announced today.

"The Japanese were taken completely by surprise," a communique said.

Besides the destruction of grounded Japanese planes, the bombers scored hits on the airdrome runway, it said.

All of the American planes, including bombers and fighter escort, returned safely.

Officers From Overseas Are Returning To Join Canada's New Paratroop Force

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 7.—(CP Cable.)—A select group of officers and non-commissioned officers from the Canadian army in Britain will return to Canada to join the new paratroop force being organized here.

The majority will be from infantry battalions although some will come from armored units. All will be volunteers and probably will be under 30.

Asking for men from field units, senior officers stressed the qualifications of youth, determination, energy, initiatve and skill with weapons.

The paratroops will have to know how to live under primitive conditions and must be robust, sturdy soldiers who can endure the worst physical ordeals. Their job will be tougher even than that of the Commandos.

It is probable the new unit will receive extra pay.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

MAIN STREET TOPICS

FOUND DRUNK IN CAR.

Found drunk in a parked car last night, a local young man pleaded guilty before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court this morning to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

CAMERA RECOVERED

While a local man was swimming at Chemong Park Sunday, his parked car was entered and a camera was stolen. Later however the missing camera was discovered in a clump of bushes where it had been hidden or thrown by the sneak thief.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN

An automobile belonging to Gertrude Halpin, 496 Rogers street was stolen from the parking lot of the Hotel Champlain, Thursday night. This was the second stolen car in two days, a machine belonging to a C.G.E. worker having been taken from Albert street the previous night.

CATCHES BIG MUSKIE.

Hugh Fetters, of Canton, Ohio, and Alfred Fielding of Akron, Ohio, landed a 22-pound maskinonge near Hiawatha on Thursday evening. The Americans are staying at Dan Cowie's resort, and were using a pikie minnow when the muskie hit. It was their first big one in four days, but they had taken six pickerel and a large bass in the meantime.

IS IT TRUE.

A rumor has been hedge-hopping through the downtown business section about a 40-pound muskie supposed to have been caught in Stoney Lake. Reporters have been unable to run the story down, and if anyone has first-hand information about any such catch, he or she is requested to call the Examiner Office, editorial department.

COTTAGE IS ENTERED

Sneak thieves are still busy around district summer resorts. At Buckhorn on Wednesday night while the occupants were absent for a short time, the cottage of A. Watts of Toronto was entered and $6 in cash, a ladies' wrist watch and a pendant were stolen. Provincial Constable Price Morris is investigating.

ON THE AIR.

"Greetings from the Beaver Club" overseas broadcast which will be heard over the CBL station on Sunday between 12.30 noon and one o'clock will carry messages from two Peterborough soldiers. Sapper R. Foster of the Engineers and Gnr. R. Foster of the Artillery are the two Peterborough boys.

RICE CROP RUINED.

Indians in the Hiawatha district report that the wild rice crop in the lake very poor. Strange as it may seem the Indians say the heavy spring rains flooded the rice and brought about the crop loss. Many spots that had large beds last year have not even the sign of rice this summer.

FISHING IS GOOD.

Americans staying at Rice Lake summer resorts report the fishing at the present time is near perfect. Harold Chellitoe of Grove City, Pa., staying at Robertson's, caught a 9-pound muskie Thursday morning, and his partner caught one about the same size and lost one twice as large. Pickerel fishing is good too. Frank Zanders of Canton, staying at McGregor's cottage in Hastings, and Stafford O'Keefe of St. Catharines got seven pickerel in Rice Lake Wednesday morning.

DUST LAID

The streets in the Burnham's Point and Jackson Park temporary housing areas were treated with calcium chloride this week. The work was done by T. Doughty.

BUYS CITY LOT

The city has sold a lot on Maria street at the end of Engleburn avenue to Herbert Bradley for $100. It has a 50 foot frontage, but only 20 feet at the rear. A condition to the sale was a covenant that the land would not be used for building purposes.

MORE AMERICAN CARS

More American cars were seen in the down town district today than at any time this summer. At one time there was a dozen in one block, which is something of a record for this lean season. Ohio markers predominated.

REMANDED FOR WEEK.

An elderly man, changed with vagrancy, appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court to-day and at the request of the Crown was remanded for a week. It was intimated that a medical examination of the accused was required.

"PRIVATE BANK"

Assignment of a constable to a main street tobacco store while workers' cheques are being cashed late Friday afternoons does not seem to be an authorized duty, Alderman Bradburn said the other night. "It looks like protecting a private bank" he said, and traffic duty at that hour should come first.

BELIEVED DEAD.

Aircraftman John Sydney Legon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Legon, Sophia Street, Peterborough, is listed in the Air Force casualty list today as "presumably dead." This flier had been previously reported as missing in Newfoundland some months ago. He was serving on the Atlantic coastal patrol when the ship he was flying disappeared.

GET ANOTHER SITE

Insisting on closing the waterfront dump at the foot of Simcoe street, the council directed its property committee Tuesday night to find another place for that purpose. Some members contend that it is not an obligation of the city to provide a property on which material outside garbage classification may be disposed. Ald. Sullivan declared that the present dump was a fire hazard and a nuisance.

NO PAPERS

Because more space is needed for war essentials on transports going overseas, beginning August 10, complete newspapers or periodicals cannot be accepted from the general public for shipment overseas. It is suggested that those who are accustomed to sending papers should forward clippings of special interest instead. It has also been announced that postal service has been opened up with Hong Kong and other eastern points.

A BUDDING CHAMPION.

Five-year-old Murray Seymour, of 310 Rubidge Street, was a mighty surprised boy when he tied into a fighting black bass in Lake Chemong on Thursday evening. The little fellow was fishing from a boat with live bait, and was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Seymour. The bass didn't have time to cut many figure eights, for the young lad heaved it into the boat, and first examination indicates the fish will weigh in the neighborhood of five pounds.

Tea For Two - - - Soldiers!

Not from St. Hyacinthe is this expression; nor from Riviere du Loup nor from any other town beyond the Ottawa River, although perhaps it could be. This comes from right here at home, from a main stem spot where youths foregather with much palaver.

"If they want me they've got to come and get me." That was what some lad at the end of the long narrow shop was subversively broadcasting, and nobody had enough courage to tell him that the army or the navy would be in a tough spot when they had to go about lugging that kind of fighting spirit into their forces.

And it wasn't the first time such beefing has been heard.

The memory of it would have been passed over had it not been that a woman told a reporter about a young Nova Scotian not yet twenty who was discharged from Morrow Camp that morning, the day of the "they've got to come after me" tough guy was declaring his undying loyalty to his king and country.

"He was one of the nicest boys! He came around to thank us for a little hospitality, and he told us that the military authorities had gone over his health record back home and the ultimate verdict was that they didn't want him. He had enlisted six months ago. I think he told us he was making about $46 a week as an expert welder. Whatever it was he seemed almost broken hearted that the army was turning him out. His father was in the last war and is now a lighthouse keeper somewhere off the coast of Nova Scotia. He has a brother in the Canadian Navy on convoy duty, and he said he liked the army and was keen about staying in.

I met him late one afternoon a short time ago. He and another boy were seated on the grass in the park. They had bought a bag of sweet plums and Yellow Harvest apples, and they looked such attractive young lads, and I was thinking of ....over in England and wondering whether folks there would invite him into their homes because he is likely to get lonely....and any way I asked them would they come home and have a cup of coffee with me. My, how I was glad afterward that I had thought of that.

And so I heard a great deal about two young men of our army, the one from Nova Scotia and the other from Timmins. Not many boys I thought would be content to buy some fruit and sit in the park rather than a loll about some raucous beer parlor. (I wonder who thought up that word parlor?) They made themselves at home in the sun porch, and they told me about themselves as young men do. Each of them had a picture of his mother in his pocket, and I heard about these two Canadian women so far apart, not knowing each other, but so close together in their two sons. Instead of coffee I got supper. The boys had done a seven mile march that day and they were hungry, although I believe they had something at the camp. I don't mean they said anything disparaging about the camp, because they didn't. But they were hungry by the time we had supper. And the four of us sat down together, and the boys stayed until ten o'clock....My, they were nice boys, and especially our Nova Scotian. He came back to say goodbye one morning this week, and he said one of the first things he would do when he got home was to have his mother write us because she would be so appreciative of what he called our kindness ....I just thought that perhaps a lot of mothers don't know just how deeply their sons do love them, especially the undemonstrative lads... I think the army lost a real man in that boy, he was so upstanding and frank and bright. Maybe we don't half try to make the soldiers feel at home....but maybe every instance might not turn out so well as ours."

The two boys are mentioned in contrast,—the one beefing that he was going to wait until somebody came after him, possibly Hitler, the other dressed in civilian clothes after six months in uniform and reluctantly starting off for his home down by the sea, in his pocket the military pay that was due him, and his army service ended before it had really begun.

"I don't see why it took them six months to find out that he was not fit," his recent hostess remarked with motherly resentment.

Hastings Chief Mauled During Scuffle

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., August 7—(CP)— Despite the fact that he suffered a broken right arm during a scuffle while rounding up two drunks in Hastings village Thursday night Constable William Wellman succeeded in holding one of the men until Provincial Constable Donald Carruthers came to the rescue.

Kenneth Kensley of Trenton and Nicholas Parcels of Campbellford are in jail, charged with creating a disturbance and assauting police. Both were taken to Cobourg pending trial.

Constable Wellman is receiving treatment in Peterborough hospital.

District L.O.L. Gives $25 To War Victims

On Dominion Day, the three Loyal Orange Lodges in the Emily District held a street dance in Omemee, which turned out to be quite a successful event, and from it they were able to vote $50.00 to War Charities, of which $25.00 was voted to the Peterborough and District War Victims Fund, and appears in todays list of receipts for the fund, having been handed in to the funds representative in Omemee, Rev. R. M. Patterson by Harold Harrison who is the district treasurer for the three lodges.

This is but one of a number of nice contributions which have come in to the fund from Omemee and the Township of Emily, most of which have passed through the hands of Rev. R. M. Patterson, and when bringing this particular donation in, it was accompanied by a further one from the penny box located at the Supertest Service Station in Omemee of which the propretor is W. Kingsboro and marks at least the fourth time that a donation to the fund has come by the same means. To the members of the District L. O. L. in Emily, the fund management expresses its thanks for this nice donation and also to Rev. R. M. Patterson and W. Kingsboro of Omemee, for their continued interest and work on behalf of the fund.

Ever since the penny boxes were put into circulation, the one in the Examiner Office has been a steady producer on behalf of the fund, and in to-days list a further $1.10 is credited to it.

Softball Saturday.

This Saturday evening at 6.30, the C. G. E. and Genelco All Stars will stage another of their softball tilts, which judging from former records promises to be even more hotly contested than ever with each team out to make it the best two out of three, so as to clinch an argument over the merits of their respective teams which has been going the rounds for some considerable time now. This game will be played in Riverside Park, and a silver collection will be taken to add to the help that they gave in a similar manner to the fund at the game two weeks ago. This is the true spirit of sportsmanship, when they utilize it not only as a means of serving their own pleasure, but also through it of giving help to those in need.

Fire Protection For Big Staff House

The Utilities Commission is engaged in another job for Wartime Housing Limited, this one only a minor service at the Monaghan Road staff house.

The buildings are being ringed with a water main supplying four hydrants which are being set up for fire protection. The work is now in progress.

As the dining and dormitory buildings are mostly of wood it was felt that some extra precaution should be taken to facilitate the fighting of any fire which might break out.

Number Came Next

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP).— Edmund Nealis, carrying out his duties of his job as deputy sheriff, took a parolee, Joseph J. Reilly, 36, to the draft board for induction yesterday. Reilly was turned down, the Board noting a detainer had been lodged by the state for violation of his parole. Nealis, instead, was inducted. His number had come up next.

War 25 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

AUGUST 7, 1917—Russians took the offensive in Volhynia but evacuated two centres in Podolia. Austro-Germans under Gen. von Mackensen began an offensive against Russo-Rumanian armies in Moldavia and stormed positions north of Focasani capturing 3,000 prisoners.

Lindy On Stand

Charles A. Lindbergh and U.S. Marshal Julius Wichser are shown as they departed from the Federal Building in Indianapolis, where Lindy took the stand as a defence witness in the sedition trial of William Dudley Pelley. He was on the stand only 10 minutes during which time he stated that since America entered the conflict he has devoted his time and his energy to helping out in any way he could in connection with the war. Lindbergh is a technical adviser on war plane production for the Ford Motor Company.

OBITUARIES

MRS. DOROTHY PRESTON SCOTT

Mrs. Dorothy Preston Scott of 26 Sussex street, Lindsay, passed away at her home after a lingering illness.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Preston, she was born in Port Hope and lived in Lindsay for almost a quarter of a century. For a number of years Mr. and Mrs. Preston resided on Gilmour street in Peterborough, where for a long time he was the baggage man on the Grand Trunk run from Peterborough to Belleville. Mr. Preston was known to all his friends as Scottie."

Left to mourn her loss are a daughter, Mrs. Emma McKaskill of Lindsay and a son Fred of Toronto. There are also three sisters, Mrs. R. J. Begley of Peterboorugh, Mrs. Joseph Cranfield of Toronto, and Mrs. Anne Drake of Rochester.

The funeral will take place Saturday from the home in Lindsay and interment will be in Union Cemetery, Port Hope.

MRS. A. LAIDLEY.

The death of Mrs. A. Laidley, the former Mary Ellen Feir, occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Langdon, Lindsay, Thursday after a short illness.

Daughter of the late Alexander Feir and Jane Best, she was born in Ops township at Feirs Mills, and until now was the surviving daughter of the Feir family. The late Mrs. Laidley resided for over 50 years in the Omemee district and attended the old red school house in Ops township from which such people as the Rev. Harry Sherin, Rev. W. G. Mills and the Rev. J. Feir, Dr. Alex and Dr. Bella Nugent came.

After her marriage, Mrs. Laidley moved to Omemee and her home became the gathering place for many years of the young people of the district. Her kindly disposition and thoughtfulness made her beloved by all. One of her former friends still living is Mrs. T. Patterson, of Newberg, Orgeon, her bridesmaid.

Left to mourn her oss are two sons, Ross, C.N.R. agent at Burk's Falls, W. S. Laidley, Toronto, and two daughters, Maude I. Laidley of Toronto, and Mrs. Langdon of Lindsay. There are also three brothers, Walter Feir, of Basswood, Man., the Rev. H. Feir, New Westminster, B.C, and J. Albert Feir, of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place Saturday at 2.30 from the home in Lindsay and interment will be in Emily cemetery.

Two Churches Buy Parsonages Both On Park Street In Active Real Estate Period

Trustees of two United Churches in the city have purchased parsonage properties during the last two months.

The Board of Trinity United Church bought from W. Wilfrid Stratton of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, the house at 371 Park street, recently occupied by Laroy E. Cutting, general manager of the Quaker Oats Company until several months ago. The sum involved was $12,000.

The trustees of Knox United Church paid $4,300 to Mrs. Mary Logan for the house at 305 Park street, south of Charlotte street. Incidentally these two parsonages are about only a city block apart. They are both on the west side of Park street, one north and the other south of Charlotte street.

Malcolm McIntyre sold to Arthur F. Stenson of North Monaghan the house at 230 London street.

Norman Layton bought the house at 368 Park Hill Road from M. H. Hynes.

Bruce Eakins sold the double house at 199-201 Murray street, opposite the armouries, to James A. and Mary Gordon.

Francis H. Bruce and Pearl Hillier were the buyers from the Woods Estate of the house at 269 Charlotte street, south side, between Bethune and Stewart Streets.

Mrs. Jennie Fine bought from Mrs. Rose Eano the building at 186 Hunter street, formerly occupied by Lane and Eano.

Robert Vernon Dawson sold to William and Agnes Armstrong the house at 483 Donegal street.

Victor and Edward O'Toole sold to William G. and Eileen Russell the house at 271 Prince street.

Albert J. Weames bought the house at 620 George street from Everett English.

Bruce Eakins sold to Stanley and Dorothy Pogue the house at 702 Ross street.

Mrs. Jennie Fine sold to Miss Jessie Marie Hicks the house at 573 Homewood avenue.

J. K. Sheehy sold to William J. and Martha Kennedy the house at 205 Rutherford avenue.

Apartment House

J. Herbert Jamison bought for $11,500 the house of four apartments at the northeast corner of Hunter and Rubidge streets from the Mary Montgomery estate.

Mrs. Edith Allison sold the house at 634 George street to Reuben and Mary Mills.

Elias A. Stinson sold to Eldon and Ethel Ward the house at 52 Murray street, at the top of the Court House hill. It was owned for years by Mrs. Edith Hall, and Mr. Stinson converted it into a duplex a few years ago.

Roy Dunlop sold to Russel and Edna Riches the house at 223 Rink street.

Harry Morgan sold a lot at the southeast corner of Burnham and Robinson streets to Sylvester J. Hickey, who has begun construction of a house on the property. Mr. Morgan sold an adjoining lot to Achilles Turner.

Harry Shearer sold to Mathew and Gertrude McIlwain the house at 815 George Street.

Basin Crough sold to Abraham and Ellen Youngs the house at 500 Sherbrooke street, north side, west of Park street.

Charles Griffin sold to Frank and Elmira Leach the house at 504 Water street, near the Central School.

Rev. Joseph C. Moloney sold to R. V. Dawson the house at 122 Gladstone avenue, corner of Lock street.

William J. Koster sold for $6,000 the house at 601 Gilmour street to Dr. H. Addison Mitchell.

Two Terraces

William J. Clancy and Miss Mary Clancy sold to Roy Dunlop the three-house terrace at 281-285 Townsend street, on the south side immediately east of Stewart street.

The three-house terrace on the east side of Donegal street, 476 to 480, south of Murray street, was sold by Mrs. Margaret Weir to William E. Perdue.

Mrs. F. J. A. Hall sold to George Chaloupka the house at 454 Chamberlain street.

Earl and Harriet Turner bought from the James Drain estate the house at 76 Robinson street.

Frank and Pearl Hogan sold to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith the house at 602 Charlotte street, north side, at Monaghan Road, for $5,600.

Thomas Ephgrave sold to the Quaker Oats Company part of the old Wm. Hamilton Company factory on the west side of Reid street. It was probably part of the boiler shop of the old plant. Harold Scott has the front part of the building.

Miss Emma Clementi sold to Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick the house at 335 Stewart street.

Margaret Rodney was the purchager of the house at 62 Ware street from Mrs. Sarah Waterman.

Miss Estelle Cuffe of St. Catharines sold to James and Catherine Scollard the house at 672 Armour Road.

Canadian Ventilation Shades Limited sold two lots on Donegal street to Samuel F. and Gordon Wainwright.

A $7,800 Property

Noble J. Wooton sold to Clare G. Collins the house at 528 Hunter street, corner of Walton street, for $7,800.

The Harry Foote Estate sold to Bert Lockington the house at 809 George street.

Mrs. Ida Hobbins of Hamilton sold to Wm. J. Burbille the house at 509 Chamberlain street. It was owned years ago by David Casey.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bradshaw sold the house at 518 Weller street to Mrs. Doris Griffin.

Herbert J. Withers sold a property on Rogers street, consisting of two houses and a land frontage of 275 feet, to John J. Casey.

S. H. Mithell sold to William and Ruth Edworthy the house at 525 Weller street, at one time the home of Thomas Robinson, grocer on George street in the premises now occupied by Mason's Groceteria.

Walter Nugent sold to George P. Graham the house at 561 Weller street, south side west of Walton street.

Robert J. and Gertrude Wright bought from William Stubbs of Toronto the house at 661 Water street.

The Angeline Hall Estate sold to David Fleming the house at 320 Maitland avenue.

William H. Rew sold the house at 97 Crescent street to Laura J. Parks.

James Kennedy sold the house at 506 Patterson street to Keith Fairbairn.

Harold Hamilton bought a 50-foot lot on Monaghan Road, north of Queen Mary school, from the Toronto Savings and Loan Company.

Miss Mary Morton bought the house at 485 Albertus from the Toronto Savings and Loan Company.

Norman Elliott bought from Mrs. Helena Packenham the house at 300 Boswell avenue.

George Goheen sold to Harry and Gertrude Race the house at 202 Dublin street.

Mabel and Jennie Paul bought from the S. R. Armstrong estate the house at 578 Stewart street, north of London street.

Elias Stinson sold to Reginald and Elizabeth Whitehead the house at 174 Lansdowne street.

Charles Pogue sold to James and Marjorie Hill the house at 318 King street. William G. and Florence Crooks bought the house at 553 Albert street from Michael McAlpine of Rochester.

Joseph L. and Anice Rowe bought from Albert E. Thompson the house at 580 Aylmer street.

Property Active

In spite of wartime restrictions relating to occupancy of houses, activity in real estate in Peterborough this summer has been fairly active. The fact that present occupants of a house may retain tenancy for a period of three months is a factor tending to obstruct transactions. However, the incomplete list of sales and transfers for the last two months is an indication that demand remains steady and values firm.

Major Garden Party Cancelled This Year

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 7. — An annual event for the past thirty-nine years the garden party sponsored by Zion United church is being cancelled for 1942. This announcement was made following a meeting of the executive when members went carefully into the many problems coincident with such an affair this summer. In their official announcement the busy season together with rationing were given as the reasons for the decision. Each year in the past the social has been held at Simpson's Grove and was always considered one of the leading events of this type held in the district since in addition to the supper and sports program which always formed a part of the evening, the executive nearly always arranged for music by the Regimental Band stationed here. Last year the affair was said to have yielded well over $100 profit to the church.

An Opportune Burn

SEATTLE, Aug. 7.—(AP).— Mrs. Emil Last, wife of the Ballard Baptist church janitor, burned her hands at exactly the right moment. Seared by paraffin she was using in home canning, she started to run to a neighbor's for first aid—then stopped abruptly. The church, next door, was afire. Her warning enabled the pastor to lead 65 Bible school children to safety.

Cadi Dismisses Assault Charge

A charge against Clair Callaghan of assaulting Martin Hickey, occasioning actual bodily harm was dismissed by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court this morning.

Hickey, who said he was 83 years of age, said that he had gone to Callaghan's place to try to get $5 that he claimed the accused owed him and that Callaghan had struck him on the jaw and knocked him down. He said that his jaw had been swollen as a result of the blow and that his hip had been injured.

Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer swore that when Hickey had sworn out a complaint against the accused on Tuesday, there was a lump on the complainant's jaw.

Callaghan swore that the elderly man had been gothering him about owing money for years and that on the day in question he came to the house of the accused when the latter had company and caused a disturbance. Callaghan denied that he had struck the complainant but said that he had merely shoved him and Hickey had fallen down.

"I picked him up and told him to go home," the accused said.

Magistrate Baxter said that it was a weak case, reduced the charge to common assault and then dismissed the case. He warned the accused that in similar circumstances he should call the police instead of taking the law in his own hands.

John Martin, advertising manager of Massey-Harris Company, has been named co-ordinator of Government advertising. A man of lengthy and extensive advertising experience, he is regarded by newspaper men as well fitted for this important post.

Seventeen More Boys Join The Navy

Peterborough city and district youths continue to flock to the Canadian Navy in ever increasing numbers, and many of them with specialized training are finding their proper niches with the boys in navy blue.

J. Ward, senior caretaker at the Peterborough Collegiate, an engineer with second-class papers, and one of the most competent men ever hired by the local Board of Education, is listed as a recent enlistment with the Navy, with the rank of Stocker Petty Officer. He came to this city from Hamilton, and would be grabbed quickly by any industrial plant in the city if he was available. William C. Neck, genial red-haired foreman of Grant and Loucks, electrical shop, is also in the navy now, and has a preferred rating in view of his training. G. A. McCarthy, 212 Perry Street, a graduate male nurse, has also donned the sailor's garb, and gets a special rank because of his qualifications.

Joe Rochetta, well-known junior hockey player and softball star, of 474 Donegal Street, joined this week along with Tommy F. Deforce, former employee of Plaza billiards. Others who have been accepted by the Navy include: C. D. Mundon, 279 Park Street; W. Robinson, Keene; L. W. Batten, 216 Wolsley Street; M. C. Crowe, Lakefield; J. H. Stuart, 138 Albertus Street; R. J. Wade, River Road; D. I. Dunford, Mount Julian; F. J. Kelly, Norwood; Wm. Guppy, 94 Bennett Street; J. W. Loucks, R.R. 2, Keene; R. B. Lacey, 153 Rubidge Street; R. C. Holloway, 492 Monaghan Road; F. T. McCartney, 223 George Street.

The Navy needs men who have machinist or fitters training, or men who are skilled at steam engine repairs, and any boy or man with these qualifications will be given preferred treatment in the matter of rank should he meet the tests given at the recruiting base in Kingston.

Capt. E. Morley Honey Promoted To Major

Capt. E. Morley Honey, Canadian Dental Corps attached to the Royal Canadian Air Force at Trenton, has been promoted to major. A veteran of the First World War, he was twice wounded while serving with the Canadian infantry, first at the Somme and again at Vimy Ridge.

He entered the Royal Dental College after the war and was graduated in 1923, practicing at Schumacher until 1930 when he came to Toronto. In May, 1940 he closed his North Toronto practice to accept appointment in the Canadian Dental Corps.

Dr. Lee Honey, Timmins, and Major Ralph Honey, Peterborough, are brothers.

Adding More Lumber To Moldaver Piles

"It would be a different matter if they wouldn't put any more lumber there, but they are," said Mayor Hamilton in a comment on a letter from S. Moldaver regarding the piling of lumber on his property at Bethune and Simcoe streets.

Mr. Moldaver wrote that heavy transportation of scrap iron and other metals used in foundries is keeping his trucks busy, leaving no time to move the lumber he has accumulated. He asked that the removal order be suspended until after the war. His letter was referred to the finance committee.

Authorities decided that the Moldaver lumber in the heart of the city was a central fire hazard.

One Quint Remains

DUBLIN, Aug. 7—(CP)—Teresa, last remaining girl among the Leydon quintuplets who were born last week in County Sligo, died today, leaving her brother, Thomas, the sole survivor. Two other girls died soon after birth, while a boy, Joseph, died Sunday in Dublin hospital.

Bicycle Parade Planned By Lions Club

Boys and girls of the city and district are invited to decorate their bicycles and compete for cash prizes at a decorated bicycle parade being held next Thursday night by the Lions Club of Peterborough. The parade will start from the corner of Sherbrooke and George streets early in the evening and will proceed to Riverside Park, where the judging will be done, and where the Lions Club Carnival will be in progress.

Faced with the need of raising more money than ever before to meet the expense of local service work and to aid British child war victims, the Lions have decided to run their annual summer carnival for three nights, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. During the carnival three draw prizes will be given, a 1942 Chevrolet car, a new bicycle and a fur neck piece. These major prizes are all on one ticket and tickets are on sale at the present time.

Booster Awards

As a further incentive to patrons to come early, the club will give a ten dollar prize each evening as a booster prize. To qualify for this persons attending the carnival must clip the coupon which will appear in the advertisements in the Examiner next week, sign name and address, and deposit the slip on the grounds. The draw for this cash prize will be made sharp at 8.30 each evening, and the person called must be on the grounds to win.

There will be rides, games, refreshment booth, and all the usual novelties that go to make a summer carnival a real attraction for young and old alike. The bicycle parade will be headed by a 30 piece boys' band under the direction of Sgt. Parnell, who is well known to local music lovers. The bicycles will be decorated with a view to boosting the sale of War Savings Stamps, and entrants may use their imagination on this theme. First prize is ten dollars, second prize $5.00, third prize $3.00, fourth prize $2.00. There will be about fifteen consolation prizes of $1.00 each in War Savings Stamps which are being donated by local merchants, and already McLeod's Drug Store, Kingan Hardware and Archibald and Richmond have offered to co-operate. Millards Sports Shop have given the second prize of $5.00.

Judging of the decorated bicycles will take place in the Ashburnham Bowl, and a competent trio of judges will be named later next week. Information concerning the contest may be obtained from Frank Edgar, Sherbrooke street, or Pete McGillen at the Examiner.

Havelock Man Faces Charge

Charged with vagrancy, Kenneth McGill, who said that his home had formerly been in Havelock and that he had three times been discharged from the army, was remanded until Monday when he appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court today.

Chief Newhall said that the man had been hanging around for some days. "He should be at work," he said. "He could get a job in ten minutes if he wanted one."

McGill said that he had an infected toe and had just started to walk on it again yesterday.

Chief Newhall suggested a remand in custody would give the foot a chance to get better.

"It's all better this morning" replied the accused. "It doesn't hurt me at all now."

"It bothered you a lot last night but got better overnight' remarked Magistrate Baxter, remanding the accused until Monday.

He questioned McGill about his military record and McGill said that he had enlisted a year ago with the Midlands at Havelock.

"Who was your commanding officer' asked the magistrate.

"I don't know but Barney Quinn was the captain was the reply.

Young Farmerette Delighted With Her Summer Spent On A Niagara Fruit Farm

Although her back ached for a while picking raspberries and she got rather tired sitting on an orange crate picking currants, Betty Blewett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blewett, 717 Elcome Crescent, said she never had had such a grand time as she had had so far this summer as a farmerette at Winona. She liked it so well in fact that in a few days she is returning to the Camp to go to work on the peach crop.

The girls are supposed to rise at 5.45, but they're lucky if they are fully dressed when the breakfast bell goes at 6.15. Judging from Miss Blewett's sly chuckle it is probable that she was among the large number who trailed into breakfast at the last minute. The girls at Winona all live at one camp and the farmers call with cars and trucks at 7 o'clock to pick up the number of assistants they require.

Camp Former Country Club

The girls work from 7 to 12 and then they have an hour for dinner, and work until 6 o'clock. This is an average of a ten hour day, and to date they have thinned peaches, picked cherries, raspberries, black and red currants. Some girls have even been helping with potatoes. At six the farmers bring the girls back to camp.

The camp is a former country club and is, of course, properly supervised for the farmerettes. According to Betty Blewett, the Camp Mother is very popular among the girls and she takes good care of them. In the busy season there are usually about 50 girls stationed at Winona, but when the Peterborough girls first went, there were 19 girls there. Besides the house, there are barns that have been made into excellent dormitories, and the girls think things are pretty well fixed up for them.

In the house, the number of girls to a room varies according to the size of the room, but Miss Blewett's quarters were typical of all the girls quarters. In her room there were ten girls each equipped with a hospital bed, with an orange crate beside it, for "some of their stuff," and nearly every bed had a mirror beside it. In this particular room there was a cupboard the full length of the room, but this was rather unusual.

When it was suggested that they wouldn't need to take much in the line of clothes when they had their uniforms, this cheerful member of the Farm Service Force just remarked "Oh Yes?" Everybody takes about everything they can carry and then the problem is that of where it can be tucked away.

Besides the bed rooms there is a very charming living room with a piano, couch, chairs and tables. Here the girls write their letters, fool around the piano and generally relax. The kitchen is kept in a fine state of cleanliness, and the girls are not allowed in unless accompanied with one of the staff.

How about homesickness she was asked? "Oh sure, sometimes, but with all the girls laughing and kidding around, you can't stay sober and lonesome for very long. It's simply impossible," Miss Blewett laughed.

Residents Very Kind

She said that people up in that district were simply grand to the girls and nothing was too much trouble for them. She gave one illustration which she said was typical of the kindness and interest people were showing. The girls often hike to Hamilton, Grimsby or St. Catharines in their spare time, and one evening a group of 12 girls were pushing along the road when a lady who was driving in the opposite direction stopped and asked where they were going, and insisted on turning around and taking the girls to their destination. The girls scrambled in and hung onto the running boards.

"The girls have no difficulty putting in their leisure hours. They write letters, or go swimming when they come back from work, and a few brave souls even get up a little earlier in the morning for a plunge in Lake Ontario, but they are small in number. Then there is a dance hall about a mile from the camp and the girls, properly supervised, often go there. When the big Farm Service meeting was held recently in St. Catharines, all the Winona girls were taken up in the back of a big truck, and we had more fun," Betty continued.

When asked about meals she said they had had a feast every day and that the meals were simply grand. A typical dinner was that they had the day before they came home. The menu consisted of hot beef, brown potatoes, peas and carrots mixed, bread and butter, tea, coffee or milk and lemon pie. She said they had pie about four times a week, and puddings the remainder of the time. An average breakfast consists of grapefruit, apple or tomato juice, cereal, hot or cold, bacon or eggs, sometimes toast, always some kind of hot biscuits or muffins and milk. Everyone certainly puts on weight. Also, the girls can have an evening snack of bread and jam and once, they had weiners and buns.

"It was a real holiday and the average wage for most girls was $10 a week, although some made $18. Out of this $4.50 is paid out for board, and the rest is for the girls to do with as they please. But somehow we never seem to have very much left, and I don't know where it goes. However I can hardly wait to get back next week and get on the job once more," this eager Farmerette concluded.

Neighbors Honor Bride-Elect At Norwood Farm

NORTH SCHOOL, Aug. 7. — (ENS).—Miss Ruby Peoples, bride-elect of this month, was guest of honour at a tea held at the home of Mrs. Chas. McConnell on Monday afternoon. About forty of her neighbors and friends gathered to express their good wishes to her.

Miss Clara Jenkins assisted the hostess in receiving the guests.

A short program consisted of a piano solo by Mrs. Robert McMillan, a humorous reading by Mrs Harry Morgan and two contests won by Mrs. E. McLaughlin and Miss Donna Gardiner.

At the conclusion of this Mrs. McMillan played Lohengrin's wedding march, while little Miss Margaret Fuller, dressed as a bride, entered the room and delivered a telegram to Miss Peoples which read, 'Prepaid parcel has arrived for you. Please collect on front lawn immediately.' The little bride escorted Miss Peoples to the place, followed by the guests, where she found on a table an English plate, round wall mirror and a piece of enamel kitchenware, the gift of her friends.

Although the whole affair was a total surprise to her, the bride-elect replied in a pleasing manner, after which all encircled her and sang 'For She's a Jolly Good Fellow.'

Assisting with the serving of lunch were Mrs. W. Gardiner, Mrs. J. Dallman, Mrs. W. Buck, Miss Reta Buck and Miss Donna Gardiner.

The guests included: Mrs. Thomas Thompson, Mrs. Harold Thompson and family, Mrs. Eugene McLaughlin, Mrs. J. McNeely of Peterborough, Mrs. Jennie Patterson, Mrs. F. Buck, Mrs. James Dallman and Teddy, Mrs. Williamson Burgess and Miss Ruth, Mrs. Frank Jenkins and Miss Clara, Mrs. Jacob Gardiner, Mrs. John McLennan and Ruth of Peterborough, Mrs. Roy Leeper and son Jim, Mrs. Ralph Cuthbertson and Ruth, Mrs. Irving, Miss Florence Nevins, Mrs. G. Peoples, Mrs. Bert Scott, Mrs. Robert McMillan and Maragret Ann Fuller, Mrs. S. Buck, Mrs. Wilfred Buck and Miss Reta Buck, Mrs. Waden Gardiner, Miss Donna Gardiner, Mrs. Ida Leeper, Mrs. Harry Morgan and son Freddie and Miss Lila Burgess, Miss Margaret Burgess, Reg. N., and little friend of Oshawa, Mrs. T. J. Peoples, Misses Bessie and Dorothy and Ruby Peoples.

Lakefield

Miss Helen Peel and Miss Pauline Butcher have returned home from Oakville Farm.

Mrs. S. Edward Grigg of Brooklin, Ont (Mrs. Campbell's mother) is visiting Dr. and Mrs. Campbell for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Butcher spent the week-end in St. Thomas.

Sunday School children of the Grace Gospel chapel with their parents enjoyed a delightful trip on the "Islinda" up the Kawartha lakes. Several gallons of ice-cream added to their enjoyment.

Ideas Needed

The Local Council of Women, who are selling space for the names of service men and women on a quilt, have 355 names out of the 500 needed. This is their only war effort to date and when the 500 names have been reached Mr. Gordon K. Fraser is going to auction the quilt off. The money from the auction will be used to pay for the material used and the $50 will be donated to war work. The ladies are asking for suggestions as to where they will give the money, and all the ideas will be placed in a hat and a draw made. Anyone wishing to make a suggestion is welcome to do so and needs only to contact Mrs. T. Wand or any of the other ladies of the organization.

All Canned Salmon For Britain Existing Stocks Available Supply

There will be no more canned salmon available once present stocks on grocers' shelves are used up. This year's entire output of canned salmon and herring is going to feed Britain.

Canadian housewives who for long have thought of fish mostly in terms of canned salmon, will prove as adaptable at substituting as they have in other directions, officials believe. And, since pilchards, mackerel, trout, whitefish and fresh water herring are all in the same oily-meated class as salmon, salmon recipes may be adapted to these varieties.

"Try mackerel instead of salmon steaks," urges Miss Hazel Freeman, demonstrator-lecturer, Department of Fisheries. Quick-frozen mackerel is delicious when kept frozen till it is cooked and thawed in the same process, when both food value and flavor are retained. If allowed to thaw the tasty, nourishing juices are lost and a flavorless product results.

Here's a substitute for Salmon Puff, a wholesome casserole dish in which leftover haddock, cod, whitefish or similar type may be used.

Mix 14 crushed soda biscuits, three eggs and one and a half cups of milk (two cups if the sodas are large). For color add a tiny bit of tomato sauce, tomato soup or finely chopped raw tomato pulp. Strive to have the mixture the same consistency as when the oil from the salmon was used.

Place layer of cracker mixture in the bottom of a greased casserole. Next add two cups cooked flaked fish, and then the remainder of the mixture. When cooked a tempting golden brown dish that is good served hot or cold results.

Any kind of fish can be used to replace salmon in salad combined with vegetables.

Victory Receipes Planned For Canadians' Health

By LAURA C. PEPPER
Chief, Consumer Section
Department of Agriculture.

What shall we have for dessert? Most households are unanimous for fresh fruits, now about their juicy best. But remember they like variety.

A meal with a simple first course affords an excellent excuse for serving one of the more substantial desserts with a fruit basis — pudding, cobbler, dumpling. The more substantial first course calls for something light—a fruit cup, cream or whip; berries or peaches with cream; or sun-ripe grapes or cherries without any trimming.

For economy in time and effort, and with an eye on the sugar ration, Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture recommends these healthful fruit desserts:

Peach Cobbler.

2 cups sliced peaches
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter

Follow recipe for Fruit Shortcake (below), increasing milk to ¾ cup (to make a drop batter).

Place peaches in baking dish; sprinkle with sugar and lemon juice; dot with butter. Drop dough in 6 mounds over peaches. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F) for 15 minutes, then in moderate over (350 F.) for about 30 minutes. Serves 6.

Variations:

Apple Cobbler—Substitute 2 cups thinly sliced apples for peaches and use ½ cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg.

Blueberry Cobbler—Substitute 2 cups blueberries, cooked, for peaches.

Fruit Shortcake.

2 cups flour
1 tablespon sugar
1-3 cup shortening
2-3 cup milk
⅛ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg, well-beaten

Sift dry ingredients; cut in shortening until like coarse crumbs. Add combined egg and milk; stirring just until blended. Turn out on slightly floured surface and knead lightly ½ minute. Pat out in halves to fit 8-inch layer pan. Brush 1 round with melted butter and top with second round. Or pat dough ½ inch thick and cut with biscuit cutter. Bake in hot oven (425 F.) for 20 minutess.

Spread either with crushed or sliced, slightly sweetened fruit between and on top of layers. Serve warm or cold with plain or whipped cream. Serves 6.

Uncooked Fruit Whip.

2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 cup fruit pulp
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ to ½ cup sugar or half sugar and half honey

Beat egg whites stiffly. Add sugar or honey and continue beating until it stands in peaks. Fold in fruit pulp and pile whip lightly in individual dishes and serve cold.

Fresh Fruit Cup.

1 cup melon balls
1 cup diced fresh pears
¾ cup marshmallows (optional)
1 cup diced fresh peaches
½ cup diced apple

Prepare the melons — either as balls or cubes. Dice other fruits and combine with melon balls and quartered marshmallows. Chill and garnish with blue grapes or mint sprigs.

Raspberry Mousse.

3 cups fresh raspberries
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
½ cup fruit sugar
Pinch of salt
½ pint whipping cream

Press berries through sieve to remove seeds. Add sugar and salt. Soak gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Stir into fruit pulp. When mixture is partially set fold in cream, whipped until stiff. Allow to set. Serve 6. A nice company dessert.

Bernice Aldridge Weds R. Grant, Maynooth

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 7. — (ENS).—A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. George's-on-the-hill on Wednesday afternoon of Bernice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aldridge, Goodenough Farm, Rice Lake Blvd., to Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant of Maynooth. Rev. Allan Johnson performed the ceremony and Miss Ina Rosevear played the wedding music.

The church was beautifully decorated in pink gladioli with the guest pews marked by bunches of flowers tied with pink and white streamers. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father and was gowned in a white sheer floor length dress. A long tulle veil with halo and orange blossoms and a bouquet of deep red roses and baby's breath completed a lovely bridal costume. Her only ornament was an heirloom gold locket belonging to her great grandmother.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Wm. Stokes, was dressed in a shell pink sheer gown with large picture hat and carried a nosegay of blue flowers with touches of pink. The bridesmaid was Miss Kathleen Grant, a sister of the groom, who was dressed in sky blue sheer with tiny pink flowered hat and carried a pink nosegay arranged with blue flowers. The attendants received costume jewelry as a gift from the groom and the ushers, Messrs. Ron Lawton, Osler Burrison and A.C.2 Joe Walker, and the best man Mr. M. J. O'Neill received tie clips. The groom's gift to the bride was a new car.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the 'Old Homestead' pavilion,' Rice Lake Blvd. Mr. and Mrs. Grant, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Aldridge received with the bridal party. Mrs. Aldridge was dressed in Queen's blue with navy accessories and shoulder bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Grant wore a navy printed crepe with hat to match.

The bride's table was centred with a three tiered wedding cake, iced in a 'V' design. Red gladioli and a white ball with pink streamers made pretty decoration. Four girl friends of the bride assisted with the luncheon, Misses Ferris Cheyne, Sheila Burrison and Evelyn Thackeray. Mrs. Lawton and Mrs. Thomas Cheyne poured tea.

The bride's going away costume was a biege figured crepe dress, beige coat and brown accessories. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Grant will live near Maynooth for the summer.

Among the many guests present were Mrs. Peever, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. O'Neill and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Grant and daughter Bernice, Mr. Dan Denault, Mr. Walter Scott of Maynooth. Toronto guests were Mr. and Mrs. Nunn and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. Scott and son, Mr. Wm. Stokes, Mrs. Andy Bain; Mr. Ronald Lawton, Ilderton; Miss Jessie Hunter Cobourg; A.C.2 Joe Walker St. Thomas; Mrs. James Deviney and Ruth, Miss Marion Deviney, Mrs. A. T. Wait, Misses Dorothy Mann and Marjorie Warner, all of Vernonville; Mr. and Mrs. Minifie, Plainville; Mrs. Earle Shearer, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rosevear, Miss Ina Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawton, Norwood; Mrs. Burrison, John Polly, Mrs. Thomas Wallace, Mrs. A. Smart, Mrs. Louis Harris and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. MacKenzie, Rev. Allan and Mrs. Johnson.

Corporal English Marries Helen Schiarizza

A pretty August wedding took place at St. Peter's Cathedral on Thursday morning when Helen Schiarizza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Schiarizza, became the bride of Corporal Leo Joseph English, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael English, Bethune street. Corporal English is now serving with the Prince of Wales Rangers and has special leave for his honeymoon. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Finn, Miss Marion Best, A.T.C.M. played the wedding music, and during the mass, Kenneth LeMaire, sang Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a white georgette frock with slight train, long bishop's sleeves, fitted waist and high round neckline. The gown was embroidered with satin, and the bride wore a gold chain and cross, a gift from the groom. She wore a white tulle veil caught in Juliette cap, and a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book and Bettertime roses, and white accessories completed the wedding costume.

Miss Anne Schiarizza, sister of the bride attended as bridesmaid, and she wore a blue georgette frock, with shirred waist and long bishop's sleeves. She had a wreath of tiny blue flowers and short blue veil, and her bouquet was of Talisman roses. Gerald Dyreen attended as best man.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at Hooper's Palm Rooms, where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a dress of rose crepe and blue felt hat. The groom's mother who also received wore a smart looking dress of blue crepe and a blue straw hat.

For travelling the bride chose a summer ensemble, consisting of printed silk dress, with gold fitted jacket, and brown tone accessories. On their return they will take up residence in Peterborough.

Mrs. W. G. Morrow Celebrates 80th Birthday

The family of Mrs. W. G. Morrow are gathering this week-end at the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. G. Wallace, 187 London street, to celebrate Mrs. Morrow's eightieth birthday which took place on Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Morrow is the mother of ten children, eight of whom are living. The eldest son, Wilfred, died in 1914, and one son, Orland, was killed at the Battle of Paschendaele. Two other sons gave their services in the last war and returned safely. Her husband died in 1931.

Those of the family who will be present for the occasion are Mr. and Mrs. T. Alvin Morrow and son Paul, and daughter Joyce of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. C. Roy Morrow, with their two sons, Don and Bill, of Toronto; Mr. A. W. Morrow, of Waterloo; Mrs. Wilfred D. Morrow and son Ross of Lindsay; Mrs. James Fitzsimmons and son Jack of Windsor; Miss Norma Wallace will be home from the Farm Service Camp at Winona; Mr. and Mrs. A. Melville Morrow and daughter Donna; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Coombes and son Wayne; Mrs. H. Ballard and daughter Dorothy; and Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Wallace and son Gordon, all of this city.

Mrs. Morrow has 16 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren. Another son, Ormond, lives in Saskatoon and a daughter Lillian, Mrs. G. A. Johnstone, in Regina, Sask A grandson, Jack Morrow, of Toronto, is serving now in the army and is in training at Petawawa.

Mrs. Morrow has been a member of George St. United church for over 40 years, is in fair health, and outside of her family her main interest has been in the welfare of the church. Her hearing is going to some extent, but her memory is quite bright and she can recite many passages of scripture from the Book she loves so dearly.

Gates–McCarthy Nuptials Held

A pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday morning, August 1, at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, of Margaret, youngest daughter of Mr. E. J. McCarthy and the late Mrs. McCarthy, to James David Gates, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gates. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Joseph Walsh.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and she entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. C. O'Donnell. She looked charming in a dress of white net and lace over taffeta with a lace yoke, and a shoulder length veil with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of pink roses and Adianatum.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Loretta McCarthy as bridesmaid, who wore powder blue sheer over taffeta with matching hat and shoulder veil. Her bouquet was of Briarcliffe roses, Larkspur and gladioli. Mr. William Gates, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were William and Joseph McCarthy, brothers of the bride. During the ceremony Mrs. D. Campanaro sang Ave Maria.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Hooper's Palm Rooms. Mrs. Daniel Dwyer, sister of the bride, received, wearing navy sheer with matching accessories, with a corsage bouquet of pink and white roses. Mrs. Gates, mother of the groom, received wearing mauve shadow sheer with white accessories and wearing a corsage of Rapture roses.

Later the happy couple left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto. The bride chose as her travelling costume a tan and white two-piece frock with white accessories. On their return they will reside at 154 Hunter street.

The groom's gift to the bride was a mother of pearl rosary, to the bridesmaid a necklace and to the best man, a leather billfold.

GIRLS CHANCES OF MARRIAGE ARE BEST WHEN SHE IS 15.

Statistics Also Say They Are Only Half As Good at Thirty.

According to statistics recently colected by an insurance company a girl's chances in this country of getting married are 90 out of 100 at the age of 15 years. At 30 her chances are just onehalf as good. Up to the age of 22 gris have a beter chance of marryng than have boys. After that age men's chances are better until the age of 45 is reached. After that the matrimonial chances are about an equal break between the sexes, with about 1 out of 10 old bachelors and old maids securing a mate.

That girls of 15 are tops in the matrimonial market is surprising news to most of us, for few of us have ever personally known any of these child-brides. Nor can we understand why men in their senses would deliberately choose an adolescent girl. Probably they don't. The likelihood is that it is only boys who are as immature and as lacking in worldly wisdom and judgment as the little cuties whom they lead to the altar, who take this reckless plunge into domesticity. Doubtless this also explains why divorce is so much more frequent among youngsters than it is among grown-ups.

I should have guessed that the best time for a girl to make her matrimonial hay would be between her 19th and 21st birthdays. It is then that she is in the full flower of her youth and beauty. She has developed whatever brains the good Lord saw fit to give her, and has added the charm of intelligence and culture to the allure of a peaches-and-cream complexion and naturall wavy hair.

She has acquired personality and tact and knows how to handle men. She has ceased giggling and jumping around like a monkey on a stick. She has been around. She has had her little fling. She is tired of dancing and wants to settle down.

In a word, a girl between 19 and 21 is an adult, and the man who marries her knows, as well as any one can know before marriage, what he is getting if he takes her for a wife. Whereas the kind of a wife that a 15-year-old will make is pure guesswork. She may turn out to be a helpmate whose price is above rubies, but the chances are that she soon will have lost her taste for her husband. She will be sick and tired of keeping house and being tied down by babies and will want to kick up her heels a bit. And when a married woman does that it makes messy complications.

According to the statistics quoted above a woman's chances of getting a husband are slipping when she gets to be 30, and she has only half the likelihood of getting married that her kid sister has; and that fact doesn't entitle men to cast any bouquets at themselves as wife-pickers, for marrying a woman of that age is as safe an investment as putting your money in Government bonds.

She still has most of her attractions of youth, plus the super attractions that age and experience give, such as commonsense and livability as well as lovability. She doesn't expect too much of life, nor demand the impossible of marriage and of men. The man who marries a woman of 30 may be very certain that he is getting what he pays for; that she will never go fat or striny on him, or bore him to death, or nag him, for having been on the anxious seat she will be in the proper frame of mind to appreciate her blessings.

Again according to statistics, after the forties it is anybody's race to the altar and men and women have an equal chance of reaching it. This is easily understood because middle-aged and elderly people nearly always marry for the same reason — because they are lonely and because they want a home of their own, and heart-hunger is a malady from which both sexes suffer.

And that is what makes Grandpa sometimes make as foolish a marriage at 70 as Grandson does at 17.

Checking Diet New Game On Nutrition Color Chart

Would you like to know whether you're getting exactly the right amount of vitamins every day? Of minerals? Of calories and proteins? You can check up on yourself by learning to play a new game. It's called "Check Your Foods by the Color Test," and you can get it by writing to your provincial department of health.

This is the way it's played. Each important food element has its own color: red for calories, yellow for minerals, blue for proteins, and green for vitamins. Everything you eat has traces of all four elements, but some foods are particularly rich in one or more elements—vitamins and minerals, for instance. So rich that one serving gives you a substantial part of all the vitamins and minerals you need for one day. A food that is rich in all four elements—vitamins, minerals, proteins, and calories—is a four color food.

All right, now what did you eat to-day? A glass of milk for breakfast? That's a four-colored food. On your score card mark one point under red, one under blue, one under yellow, and one under green. Dark cereal? That's rich in calories, minerals, and vitamins; so you get a point under red, yellow and green.

At the end of the day, total your score. Are there as many yellows as reds? No? Then you didn't get enough minerals. Better eat more spinach, liver, lean meat, whole grain cereals, or other mineral-rich foods. Were there as many greens as reds? Good, that means you're getting enough vitamins to balance your consumption of calories. Were there at least four blues? If not, you'd better be sure to have meat or fish to-morrow, and perhaps soup made from dried beans or peas. Were there at least eight greens? All right, you're safe on vitamins.

You may be surprised at your score. If you can't answer 'Yes' to all the questions, your meals aren't correct for health-protection. But you can soon improve your score by following the colored food-chart. It tells you exactly what you should eat for more calories, more proteins, more minerals or vitamins.

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 7—(CP).—Hints for wartime living from folk who ought to know:

FRUIT: The variety of canned goods is likely to be reduced next winter and the home product will be in greater demand than ever...Here are some ideas from Laura Pepper of the Agriculture Department's consumer service: Uniformity of size and maturity make a more attractive product so sort your fruit carefully...To prevent discoloration of peaches, pears and apples drop them into a brine of one teaspoonful of salt to a quart of water as soon as they are peeled...Prevent fruit from floating in the jars by not overprocessing and not using too heavy a syrup.

RAYON: The staff of S. G. Dixon of Montreal who is administrator of rayon has some hints for ironing rayon without injuring the cloth... Use a warm—not hot—iron and press when dry, on the wrong side.. Use a slightly damp cloth between iron and material...If the material is a mixture of rayon and other fibres, except wool, iron when slightly damp...Crinkly rayon is best ironed over a Turkish towel to help retain the crinkle.

BUTTER: There's no shortage of butter yet but the government pays a subsidy of five cents a pound to producers so the retail price stays under the ceiling...The Wartime Prices and Trade Board urges housewives to cut consumption...The home economists say meat fats can be used to advantage in frying, for sauces and even for baking...The nutritionists admit butter is a good source of Vitamin A but green and yellow vegetables are being advocated as a substitute.

FUEL SAVER: Marion Harlow of the Pensions and Health Department's nutrition department had this fuel and labor-saving tip: Serve raw vegetables as appetizers or in salads..."It means," she says, "more vitamins for the family, more fuel diverted from home use into war industry—and more time for mother to spend in war work."

CORNED BEEF: Byrne Hope Sanders, "Mrs. Consumer" of the prices board, is asking housewives not to use corned beef—even if they know a grocer who still has some in stock..."Remember that the lads in the services and our Canadian prisoners of war need it more than you do," she says...That's why more than 60,000 food retailers and 800 wholesalers are co-operating with the government to bring back to central points as much as possible of the corned beef distributed all over the country.

FATHER'S SUIT: The clothing administration in the prices board, trying to save material for more vital uses, is urging that the best possible care be taken of men's suits ..The better they're kept the longer they wear...Two or more suits worn in rotation will outlast the same number if each is worn constantly until it is worn out...Proper hanging cuts down on pressing...Street dust is harmful to fabrics and careful brushing to dislodge it pays dividends...Guard suits from shabbiness by keeping up minor repairs ...And remove spots or stains while they're fresh, because it's easier on the material then.

For Saturday, August 8

A PARTICULARLY lively and interesting day is forecast from the prevailing astral operations and all should move under high tempo, and along entirely constructive lines. The mentality should be alert, clever, as well as subtle and shrewd and should push the energies to important goals of accomplishment. Investments and real estate should increase, with elders lending solid support.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an unusually lively and exciting day, with all manner of affairs moving under stress if not tumult and turbulence. This would be hazardous to excellent constructive accomplishments, under the spur of fine mental abilities of a versatile, brilliant and also subtle quality. Property, investments and possessions should accumulate, with elders, relatives and sound organizations assisting.

A child born on this day should be versatile in intellectual and social talents, with sound abilities and judgment.

Chart Helps You to Learn Typing

Bad Typist Loses in Business

Rub, rub, rub! She'll soon rub out her job if she doesn't learn to type "G" when she wants "G" and "T" when she wants "T"!

Time, money and jobs are lost regularly by girls who don't know the accurate touch-typing system. And yet it's easy — you cain start learning at home.

A chart like the one in our sketch shows you just how to place your fingers on the keyboard and what keys each finger should strike.

The eight dark keys, or "home keys," are where your eight fingers rest when not typing. When one finger moves to strike another key, the others stay "home," keeping out of trouble; then the typing finger quickly returns to its base.

In addition, the keyboard is divided into eight sections, one to each finger. Your right forefinger can type "j" and "m" but can never jump out of its section to "e" or "i."

That's how mistakes are prevented! Our 32-page instruction booklet includes chart, diagram of typewriter and daily drills. Also describes good usage in typing English; how to type social, official and business letters, statistics. Helpful as an aid for a business college course.

For your copy of "Teach Yourself Touch Typewriting" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

SOME WILL NOT SEE

TWO GREAT players, who have had no eyesight for years—Sir Clutha Mackenzie, Anzac hero of the Dardanelles, and J. Patrick Dunne of our own country—never have been accused of failing to "see" their partners' high-low signal. As each card is played, and its denomination called out to them, they take careful account of its meaning. Other players, with good eyesight, sometimes just naturally will not notice the size of the little cards, and consequently cost their side plenty of tricks.

North: ♠ Q 7 3 ♥ A Q 9 8 2 ♦ J 7 4 ♣ 6 4

West: ♠ A K J 8 6 ♥ J 6 4 ♦ K 8 3 ♣ Q 5

East: ♠ 9 5 ♥ K 7 5 3 ♦ Q 10 6 2 ♣ 10 7 2

South: ♠ 10 4 2 ♥ 10 ♦ A 9 5 ♣ A K J 9 8 3

South	West	North	East
1♣	1♠	2♥	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♥	Pass
4♣

That contract was plenty high, and it was set three tricks at the table where an alert West paid attention to his partner's signal on the K and A of spades, the 9 being played first and the 5 second. The spade 8 to the Q then was ruffed by East, who switched to the diamond 2 to the A. South then ran five clubs and desperately tried the heart finesse, which failed, whereupon his opponents took two diamond tricks and he had the last with his final trump.

Where the signal on the first two tricks went unnoticed by West, he failed to lead a third spade, picking the heart J instead. The A won this, the Q came through uncovered, the 9 was covered faultily by the K and ruffed by the club 9, three high clubs followed, then the spade 4 to the Q and two more hearts and two final trumps, making the contract plus an extra trick. West's failure to notice the signal and obey it cost his side exactly four tricks and bottom score in place of a tie for top.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ Q 10 3 ♥ Q J 10 4 ♦ 7 ♣ A 10 9 7 2

West: ♠ A K 6 4 2 ♥ 9 ♦ A 10 8 6 ♣ J 5 4

East: ♠ 9 7 5 ♥ 8 5 3 2 ♦ K Q 9 2 ♣ Q 6

South: ♠ J 8 ♥ A K 7 6 ♦ J 5 4 3 ♣ K 8 3

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

What principle, regarding ruffing as against leading trumps, is vital on this deal, for both the declarer and the defenders, with South striving for 4-Hearts?

30,000 Tons Of Scrap Are Expected To Be Salvaged From Sunken Ships

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, Aug. 7 — (AP).—The Great Lakes, which have claimed thousands of ships and an untold number of lives since Lasalle sailed his "Le Griffen" from Niagara to Green Bay and to her doom in 1680, have begun to contribute to the war production effort of 1942.

Searching out scrap metal essential to the uninterrupted operation of United States steel mills, the special projects salvage section of the War Production Board is giving impetus to salvage operations on all the wrecks that can be raised.

Thomas Little, director of the salvage section, and William J. Spicer, his assistant, saw the first of the old ships, victims of wind, explosions or other mishap, brought to the scrap pile here recently. It was the twisted hull of the oil tanker J. Oswald Boyd which foundered in upper Lake Michigan in 1936 while carrying a cargo of more than 900,000 gallons of gasoline.

Out of the ship the Great Lakes Steel Corporation expects to reclaim more than 1,200 tons of metal. The scrap metal brings $17 a ton.

30,000 Tons.

The entire shipwreck salvaging project is expected by experts of the War Production Board to yield upwards of 30,000 tons of scrap metal within the next two years. Before winter closes navigation, salvage experts hope to bring down several craft lost off desolate Keweenaw Point in Lake Superior during the last decade and more.

One of these is the steel-hulled 438-foot City of Bangor which went down November 30, 1926, while carrying a cargo of automobiles.

One of the richest cargoes ever to go down in a lake mishap was in the hold of the steamship Pewabic, which had 300 tons of copper and other valuable material aboard when it sank August 9, 1865, following a collision with the steamship Meteor, off Thunder Bay, Lake Huron. The crash carried 125 persons to death. Many attempts at salvaging have been made, but lying in about 200 feet of water the Bewabic is not easily accessible.

One salvaging operation in 1918 brought up 72 tons of the copper but the cost of the undertaking was too great to justify it, and the W.P.B. salvage experts aren't thinking seriously now of attempting to recover the cargo.

Some Of Ships.

Among the ships salvage experts believe may be brought up and reconditioned for service are the Canadian steamship Novadoc, a 253-foot pulpwood-carrier, and the 36.-foot sand boat, Material Service.

The Novadoc went down in Lake Michigan, off Pentwater, Mich., in the storm of Armistice Day, 1940, after breaking in two. The Material Service carried 15 men to death when it sank in a storm off South Chicago, July 29, 1936.

The W.P.B. neither finances nor supervises actual salvaging operations. It seeks out the wrecks and encourages commercial salvage companies to undertake the operations, brings owners and possible purchasers of the scrap material together and aids in details connected with clearing title to the abandoned vessels.

Murder-Suicide Muddle Ends Romance

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 7—(CP)—While detectives were "cleaning up a few loose ends" in a tragedy which claimed two lives, funeral arrangements were being completed today for 40-year-old Mike Vargo of Hamilton who died by decapitation under the wheels of a street car and 20-year-old Annette Maley, whom police say Vargo bludgeoned to death Tuesday night.

A note written in a Slovak dialect was found in Vargo's pocket and in it he said "I loved her and she loved me but that's all finished now. I'm going to do away with both of us... I leave enough money to pay for both funerals."

Although Vargo died instantly under the wheels of a street car in Hamilton's east end shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday night, the Maley girl did not die until midnight. A soldier returning to barracks heard her moans and found her lying in bushes covered with blood. She died while being taken to hospital in an ambulance.

Late yesterday detectives found a heavy piece of scrap iron they believed Vargo used to beat the girl.

John Maley, father of the dead girl, who worked with Vargo at the Hamilton Bridge Company plant, said Vargo seemed worried in recent months. Maley said he befriended his fellow-worker in 1931 when he was destitute. Vargo lived with the Maleys until 1936.

People living near the Maleys said they had seen Vargo in the district during the past few days, watching the Maley girl whenever she left her house. The night she was killed she left home at seven o'clock, telling her parents she was going to visit friends.

W.A. Members Honor Pastor's Wife

BONARLAW, Aug. 7—(ENS)—On Sunday evening after the service in St. Mark's Church the members of the Women's Auxiliary gathered at the rectory and presented Mrs. Quarman with a silver cake-plate. In making the presentation Mrs. A. V. Brown, president of the W.A., expressed the regret of the W.A. members and of the entire community that Mrs. Quarterman and family are leaving, and wished them success and happiness in their new home. Mrs. Quarterman, in a few well-chosen words, thanked all for the beautiful gift and their kind words. They left Monday morning for their new residence in Portsmouth, Ont.

Mr. Isaac Brown, who suffered a slight stroke several days ago is very much improved. He received a pleasant surprise on Tuesday morning of this week when a committee of two, Mr. James W. Risk, roadmaster, C.N.R. of Trenton and Mr. J. F. Baker, local agent C.N.R. called on him and on behalf of the employees of the division presented him with a purse of money. In making the presentation Mr. Risk spoke of the esteem in which he was held by all the employees with whom he had associated before his retirement on pension several months ago, and wished him health and happiness for many years.

Mr. Brown replied feelingly, thanking them for the generous gift and expressions of friendship.

Mr. Brown completed 24 years with the railway this year and retired on account of ill health.

Clergy Appeal On Behalf Of French Jews

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug 7 (AP)—Leading Catholic clergymen in France, with the support of the Pope, have made a serious appeal to the Vichy government in an effort to alleviate the condition of the Jews and curtail an anti-semitic program, it was reported today, but indications in reliable foreign quarters were that deportations to the east, at least of foreign Jews, would continue.

The Papal Nuncio himself was said to have seen Chief of State Petain and a delegation of French clergy appealed to Pierre Laval and Fernand de Brinon, Vichy Emissary in Paris, their efforts being spurred by the recent arrests in the Paris area of about 3,000 Jews.

The Nuncio conveyed, it was said, a Papal expression of regret at sweeping measures under which Jews are deported, presumably for the German work program.

Petain was reported to have sought the assurance of the German occupation authorities that only non-French Jews would be deported, as has been the general practice thus far.

Policy Will Continue

Foreign observers thought it likely that this policy would continue, with arrests of French Jews being avoided for the most part.

De Brinon, in discussions with the clergymen, was said to have made it clear, however, that the anti-semitic program was a definite part of the present government policy and must be carried out.

Laval, it was pointed out in this connection, has agreed to deportation of foreign Jews from the occupied zone along with several thousand now residing in the unoccupied area of France.

Preparing Second Front

In a declaration in Paris yesterday De Brinon indicated the present arrests of Jews in Paris and Lyon were connected with preparations for a second war front, which he described as one of the "principal matters" now before France.

De Brinon spoke of "terrorist acts" in Paris and the need of combating "terrorist missionaries" he said were serving "Bolshevism and the Anglo-Saxon Allies."

The current reported representations by the Catholic clergy are among the most serious in several months. The clergy expressed opposition to the government's anti-semitic policy when it was first announced, and has protested regularly ever since.

A group of young priests now is said to be working on a documented declaration of opposition to all that France thus far has done in carrying out anti-semitic decrees.

First Tag Day Is Huge Success

BEWDLEY, Aug. 7 — (ENS). — Monday was Tag Day in Bewdley in aid of the Institute for the Blind and the very gratifying amount of $37 raised shows that the people here were very responsive to this worthy cause in our own land.

Mrs. Harry Goss was responsible for the success of this probably first tag day in Bewdley and her five young taggers worked most faithfully. They were Misses Ann Erwin, Ruth Halstead, Nancy Lambe, Buddy Goss and Garth Manley.

The boys also tagged through the surrounding community the previous Saturday.

This holiday week-end was the busiest of the season when a great many people came to the village. All the hotels were filled and all cottages occupied. Every available boat was taken and in every way it was a very successful week-end.

Personals

Mrs. Erwin and Ann of Colborne have been spending the summer at Rice Lake Inn.

Miss Beatrice Thompson of Toronto was a guest all last week of Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn Benson.

Miss Nancy Lambe of Chicago, U.S.A., has been a summer guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Halstead.

Harry Goss returned from Camp Connaught with the Midlands on Sunday evening.

Pte. George Richards of Kingston is spending a leave with Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn Benson.

Miss Eleanor Halstead of Toronto was a week-end and holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Halstead.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Manley and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Barnard, Bensfort.

Miss Arleigh McAllister is spending a few days with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. P. Smith in Peterborough.

Miss Margaret Forbes of Mather's Corner, near Keene, is visiting for a week with Miss Marlyne Bray.

NAZI COLUMN SMASHES AT GATE TO OIL FIELDS

BURNHAM'S POINT WARTIME HOUSES ACQUIRE THE LINEAMENTS AND ASPECTS OF HOMES

H. S. Longhurst, manager of the Wartime Housing enterprise at Burnham's Point, is quite proud of the response of most of the tenants to the suggestions and co-operation by the company for the improvement of the community in its first year of occupation. With that Engleburn background and the sweeping grace of nearer Elms the house occupied by Ewart I. Gale (CENTRE), formerly of Head Lake, near Kirkfield. It is situated nearest the new gateway over the C.P.R. at the east end of the railway bridge. That lawn was seeded and tended this year. Note the tree and hedge, and the climbers at the front door. J. G. Armstrong, previously of Toronto, has something to show for his work on the house at the LEFT. It is also on Edgewater Boulevard. He has tomatoes ripening in his garden at the RIGHT and dahlias in flower along the house. The house at the RIGHT is occupied by Richard J. Doran, who came here from Geraldton in the mining country near Sudbury. His lawn is trim and neat, brightly striped awnings are his own accessory together with the trellis for climbers at the front door.

German Forces Are Nearing First Major Goal In Drive Into Caucasus

Axis Armies Believed To Have Crossed Kuban River Above Maikop About 45 Miles From First Oil Centre

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 8—(AP).—German columns are smashing at the approaches of the Maikop oil fields, first major goal of their Caucasus drive, from both the north and east after a major breakthrough in Red army defences and the situation is "very tense," frontline dispatches said today.

The army newspaper Red Star said Soviet defenders had made a heroic but unsuccessful attempt to stem the Nazi tide in the loop of the Kuban River above Maikop, in the Armavir area and east of Khasnodar.

Krasnodar is 48 miles northwest of Maikop at a point where the Kuban curves northward and Armavir is 60 miles northeast, at the bottom of the river's loop.

This indicated the Nazis had swept across the Kuban on a wide front, although today's mid-day Soviet communique said only that fighting during the night was above Armavir and south of Kushchevka, which lies farther north.

Red Star itself emphasized the gravity of the situation faced by the Russian forces as German troops pounded closer to the derrick-dotted Maikop fields which produce seven per cent. of Russia's oil supply.

The mid-day communique said of the overnight action: "Our boys fought the enemy in area of Kletskaya (75 miles northwest of Stalingrad, to north of Kotelnikovski (95 miles southwest of Stalingrad) and Armavir and south of Kushchevka."

Fighting Spreading North

With the fighting spreading to the north of Kotelnikovski, the Germans thus were matching their Caucasus gains with a push that brought them closer to Stalingrad, but the extent of their progress toward the big Volga steel centre was not disclosed.

Swarms of German tanks and automatic rifle men were reported stabbing into Red Army ranks in the Armavir area while Nazi planes dive-bombed and strafed the hard-put Soviet defenders fighting gallantly under great odds.

The Germans moved upon Armavir after one break-through below Belaya Glina, some 75 miles to the north, and another below Kushchevka.

Spurred by these successes, the Nazis threw still more tanks and bombers into action as they hammered their way southward toward the Kuban.

Red Star said that a serious situation had developed in the Armavir district. It reported that in one sector the Nazis knifed into the Russian positions, forcing the defenders back to new lines.

Don and Kuban Cossacks bore the burden of massive enemy attacks south of Kushchevka and at one place the attackers broke through. The Cossacks reached new lines and warded off subsequent assaults.

The Soviet communique said that Russians fighting a German group which broke through in the Armavir area destroyed 17 enemy tanks and 48 trucks.

Reds Counter-Attacking

On the northern wing of the German drive upon Stalingrad, counter-attacking Red units were credited with occupying a populat-

Allied Airmen Strike At Guinea Base

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 8.—(CP)—Striking their mightiest blows yet at Japanese-held Rabaul, Allied airmen unloaded 15 tons of bombs on that New Britain invasion base yesterday and churned up destruction at Lae, New Guinea, with 2,000-pound demolition bombs.

Seven of 20 challenging Japanese Zero fighters were reported shot down over Rabaul at a cost of only one Allied plane, although other raiders were damaged and there were some casualties.

This daring and destructive assault, by heavy bombers in daylight, was aimed at Vunakanau airdrome, the main enemy air base in New Britain. An Allied communique said every one of the bombs hit the target area.

Something New For Japs

Medium bombers carried out the attack on Lae, also by daylight, and the communique's reference to the use of 2,000-pound bombs was the first disclosure that such potent explosives were being dropped on the Japanese.

Direct hits were reported on the Lae airdrome. The daylight raid there was coupled with extended harassing raids at night against enemy positions.

Activity in the northwestern sector was limited to reconnaissance activity on both sides. Allied scouts presumably extended their operations to include the islands of Kei, Aru and Tanimbar, which the Japanese now have occupied.

A headquarters spokesman said the situation in the Bun-Gona area of New Guinea, where Japanese land forces now are within 60 miles of the Allied base at Port Moresby, is unchanged.

United States War Effort Lagging

Gandhi Appeals To Americans To Act Quickly

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BOMBAY, Aug. 8—(AP).—Gandhi appealed to the United States today to act "while there is yet time" to bring about recognition of Indian independence and permit Indians "to use their liberty in favor of the Allied cause."

Gandhi made his appeal in a letter "to American friends" before the All-Indian Congress convened for a session which may give the Indian leader the "Go-Ahead sign" to launch a campaign of civil disobedience designed to end British rule in India.

The letter, which will be published in Gandhi's newspaper tomorrow, was delivered exclusively to American correspondents today. Although Gandhi had said earlier that he would give Britain time to make further proposals before launching the campaign, little hope of such intercession was held after yesterday's meeting.

Request Is Necessary.

Gandhi appealed to Americans to accept as sincere his statement that the request for Britain to withdraw from power and grant freedom to India was done with the purpose of vitalizing Indian defence.

"I would not have asked my country to invite Great Britain to withdraw her rule over India," he said, "had I not seen at once that for the sake of Great Britain and the Allied cause it was necessary for Britain boldly to perform the duty of freeing Indian from bondage.

"Without this essential act of tardy justice, Britain could not justify her position before world conscience, which is not vocal, but which is there nevertheless."

Disaster Repeated.

The Nationalist leader said that "Singapore, Malaya and Burma

Looking For Fur Hat

Toronto, Aug. 8 (CP)

THE temperature was soaring here yesterday afternoon when a man, dressed in a heavy, roll-necked sweater and overcoat stepped of a street car to transfer to another tram. A few minutes latter he hurried back. "Have you seen a fur hat around? I lost one."

Croix de Guerre Man Graduates

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 8.—(CP)—John James of Cambridge, Mass., is a lieutenant in the Canadian Army today after serving with the French Army in the Battle of France, winning the Croix de Guerre and rising from the ranks of the Canadian forces overseas.

James, a tall husky lad in his early twenties, graduated from the officers' training centre here and will return to England shortly to rejoin his unit, the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars, once a cavalry regiment but now part of the armored corps.

He said he was "just loafing around" in France with a friend when the war broke out and so joined up with the French army.

He got a place as an ambulance driver in a unit largely composed of Americans and attached to the French army. The Croix de Guerre was for work in the evacuation of wounded from Amiens during the fighting around that city but James brushes off his efforts as "not" very much.

After the armistice he and his fellow Americans quickly got into civilian clothes. He still had his passport and so escaped the attentions of the German authorities.

He lived for months at a boarding house near Biaritz while that resort was used by the Germans as a rest spot for troops and finally came out through Spain and Portugal to return to the United States and enlist at Montreal.

6 German Spies Held In U.S. Likely To Die

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 —(AP)— Arrival of the District of Columbia coroner at the closely-guarded jail holding eight Nazi prisoners furnished evidence today that all or a number of the alleged saboteurs soon would pay the death penalty for their crimes against the United States.

The coroner, Magruder Macdonald, reached the district jail shortly before noon. A few minutes earlier virtually all lights of the brick building were extinguished. A guard told reporters that six army chaplains and three doctors entered the jail.

Several additional army officers arrived at about the same time as the coroner.

Talking to reporters, a guard said that six stretchers had been put in the prison.

How many of the saboteurs might receive the death penalty continued President Roosevelt's secret, but there had been indications during the progress of the trial before a military commission that two of the accused might receive clemency.

The district electric chair was in readiness if the military custodians of the prisoners demanded its use.

R.A.F. Airmen Sink Two Italian Ships While Rome Claims 15 Planes Bagged

CAIRO, Aug. 8—(AP). — R.A.F. airmen sank two Axis ships and damaged others off the occupied Egyptian port of Sidi Barrani, a joint general headquarters R.A.F. communique reported today.

Announcement also was made here that United States Air Force bombers sank a 10,000-ton ship in the Mediterranean during an attack on a big convoy.

On the land front the communique reported artillery activity in the northern and central sectors and increased aerial operations over the entire battle line.

The Italian high command claimed today in a broadcast that 15 British planes were shot down out of formations raiding Axis positions in Egypt yesterday.

(The British headquarters communique from Cairo noted an increase of aerial activity on the Egyptian front and announced the destruction of one Axis fighter in battles with R.A.F. fighter formations).

Shore Lights Aided German Sub

LONDON, Aug. 8—(CP Cable).—A Nazi submarine commander who claimed he sank 21,000 tons of shipping in 10 days in the "happy hunting ground" at the mouth of the St. Lawrence and 'stopped' traffic in the river, said in a German broadcast quoted by the Evening Standard today that lights on shore "helped us find our bearings."

He bragged he penetrated inside the mouth of river and "stopped our engines only about three miles from the nearest bank."

"We could see on land blazing headlamps of motorcars speeding along a coastal road... From one biggish building, evidently some place of amusement, we could hear dance music...

"And as we left to return to Germany we watched a strong American coastal patrol and anti-submarine force carrying out trials and manoeuvres with all their searchlights full on, turning night into day. We watched and made notes on American anti-submarine tactics."

'We Could Lose' OWI Warns American Nation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—(AP). — A gloomy picture of America's war effort to date was laid before the country today in a warning by the Office of Uar Information that materials are failing to reach the fighting fronts in the time and volume needed to win the war.

Reviewing the military and production situation, O.W.I. asserted last night that output of fighting planes, tanks, most types of artillery and naval vessels fell behind schedule in June and expressed doubt that "all of us realize how hard we are going to have to work to win."

(A similar tone was expressed in Australia where War Correspondent Norman Stockton of The Melbourne Herald asserted "our allies have got to realize the grim fact that we are still fighting a losing war and that there is no possibility of an offensive from this country until real material aid is forthcoming."

(Stockton described Gen. Douglas MacArthur as an "offensive-minded" leader who apparently could not take the offensive because of a lack of material aid.

("Australia has been told too many rosy stories about United States military aid," he said. "The American press has fed the American public similar lines.")

Atlantic Charter Grows In Importance

New Bill Of Rights For Man Is Pillar Of Fire To Lead Allied Armies

By DE WITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

What guarantee stands back of the Allied war aims as thus far expressed?

Daily the Atlantic charter, designed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill last August in their dramatic conference somewhere at sea, grows in importance as representing the probable fundamental principles upon which the new world order will be built after the war.

This new bill of rights for man, endorsed by 26 other nations, is a pillar of fire to lead the Allied armies. It is likely to form the basis of any peace treaty. If any of the Axis peoples should decide to break away from their leaders and make a separate peace, they certainly will be drawn to considerable degree by this magnet.

Of more immediate concern, should a compromise be reached between Britain and the Indian Nationalists in the great crisis which now threatens the security of the whole Allied cause, it doubtless will involve some guarantee to the Nationalists that they will receive the freedom which Britain promises to give them after the war.

There's no indication at this writing that a compromise is possible, but but the Atlantic Charter certainly offers encouragement to the Nationalists when it says that the United States and Britain "respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live."

Still, we are told that the Atlantic charter isn't bonded. Lord Bennett, one-time prime minister of Canada, has raised this question by telling the House of Lords that the charter "is nothing more than the expression of hopes and aspirations on the part of the President of the United States and our Prime Minister."

Lord Bennett pointed out that American legislation giving force to operation of the charter declarations could only become effective after senate approval, and he called attention to the senate's refusal after the first Great War to accept the League of Nations which President Wilson had sponsored and included in his famous 14 points. Lord Bennett added:—

"Nothing could be more fatal than to make a declaration of views with respect to peace and then have our enemies, defeated, saying they relied upon statements which we made but to which we could not give effect because they were our declarations and not the declarations of everyone concerned with us.

"Here the prime minister could bind the government and country or else go out of office in the endeavor to give effect to his conclusions. In the United States this is not so."

Grocers Break Rations

Winnipeg Merchants Sold Tea, Coffee On Sunday

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8 — (CP). — George R. Cormack, regional foods officer, is investigating charges that a number of Winnipeg grocers continued last Sunday and Monday to sell unlimited quantities of tea and coffee after the radio announcement Sunday that there would be rationed, "effective immediately."

The charge was made in a statement yesterday by H. Moore, secretary of Food Distributors of Manitoba, Inc., a retail merchants' association. Mr. Moore said the stores had "flagrantly violated" the regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and that a number of the grocers had sold out their entire stocks of tea and coffee.

He said he had urged a proclamation be issued prohibiting these grocers from replenishing stocks un-

5,000 Cadets Graduated

Important Milestone Marked At Brockville Camp

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 8 — (CP).—Out of the officers' training centre here today marched the 5,000th cadet to qualify for a commission at the school.

Along with 368 other young officers went Lieut. Byron E. Fowler of Brockville, who held certificate No. 5,000 from the training centre commanded by Col. Milton F. Gregg, V.C.

Formerly men chosen from the ranks for commissions overseas qualified at a Canadian officers' training centre in England which was commanded by Col. Gregg before his return to Canada. Now all return to Canada, and today the first large group received their coveted diplomas.

Emphasizing the bilingual character of the officers' school was the presence of 101 French-speaking officers in the graduating class.

Of the 5,000 graduated to date, 1,315 are French speaking and Lt.-Col. Edmond Blais, chief French instructor, hopes to maintain or better a recent average of one-third in each class as French-speaking.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD GIRL RUSHED EAST ON PLANE FOR OPERATION

Key Lodged In Throat Of Small Girl

Trans-Canada Plane Rushes Child East For Operation

VANCOUVER, Aug. 8.—(CP)— A Trans-Canada Air Lines plane roared east toward Montreal today, bearing four-year-old Sharon Bell toward a hospital where an emergency operation can be performed to remove a key lodged in her gullet.

Daughter of a Vancouver policeman, the child swallowed the key, of the type that opens tins, last Monday. Specialists here said that only at Dr. Jackson Hospital in Philadelphia can be found instruments delicate enough for a successful operation. The key is an inch across at the handle.

The T.C.A. plane is due to arrive at Montreal at 11.55 A.M. E.D.T., where transfer will be made to another aircraft.

However, T.C.A. officials at Toronto said the plane was two hours late due to "poor flight conditions."

In the meantime the child is being fed by a tube through her nose. Sharon is making the trip seated on the lap of her aunt, Mrs. A. Murchison, who obtained a seat in the filled plane after a group of army officers drew lots. One of them, 2nd Lieut. H. Soule, of Hamilton, Ont., volunteered his seat and then in the draw that followed drew the only marked slip that meant he had to stay behind.

Soule was en route east after having received his commission at Gordon Head, near Victoria, earlier in the day.

The departure of the child and her aunt was so hurried that they boarded the plane with little more than the clothes they wore. Today the father, Constable Gordon Bell, plans to follow by plane with baggage for the trip.

MORE ABOUT—

Atlantic Charter

Lord Bennett didn't explain the unusual circumstances surrounding the rejection of the League of Nations. One of the senate's objections was to the famous article 10 under which members undertook to "preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league." Coupled with that far-reaching commitment was the fact that the British Empire had six votes as against one for the United States. Furthermore, opponents of the league charged that Mr. Wilson had approved the league covenant without proper consultation with senate leaders.

However, Lord Bennett has created in the public mind the question of why, if the Atlantic charter is merely an "expression of hopes and aspirations" the legislatures of both the United States and Britain don't consider the charter formally and vote their approval or disapproval of it. That would be calculated to clear up any doubts.

We Could Lose

Only Ankle Deep

O.W.I. cautioned that "we could lose this war," and declared that while some individual Americans had made great sacrifices, "as a nation we are not yet more than ankle deep in the war."

"Too many people," it continued, "seem to feel that we are fighting this war out of a surplus—a surplus of resources and productive capacity, a surplus of time. That is not true. We have plenty of some resources; in others we are a have-not nation."

The review referred indirectly to demands for a second front in Europe by asserting that "popular pressure for action on this front or that of the many possible fronts can serve no useful purpose."

"Our forces are being disposed as and where the military commanders believe they get the maximum of results according to the best professional judgment," O. W. I. added. "When we cannot be strong and hit hard everywhere, we must be able to hit hard where it counts most even at the price of leaving other areas inactive."

The review asserted that our Allies have carried most of the load and "we have not given them as much help as we had led them to expect." It added, however, that it was expected 1942 would be "largely a year of preparation" and "our Allies would have to do most of the fighting during most of the year."

"We are deep in what may be the decisive year of the war," O.W.I. observed, "but 1942 will be the decisive year only if our enemies do not succeed in inflicting crippling blows on our Allies before the year is out."

The review asserted that if Russia's striking power is paralyzed, British power in the Middle East broken or China's endurance ended, "The war will be decided in some later year not now foreseen and victory will be far more costly."

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

PROPHETS DECLARE MARRIAGE WILL SOON CEASE TO EXIST. But Human Nature Indicates These Gloomy Persons Are Wrong.

Dear Dorothy Dix: As an institution wedlock is in its decadency, irrespective of your well-meaning column trying to repair the rifts in the chimera. It is sad but true that mariage is going streamlined with the consequences which go with it. A MAN.

ANSWER: I know that many people believe with you that marriage is passing into what Mr. Cleveland called "innocuous desuetude" and that in a few more years it will have become just one of the quaint old customs of which people will tell their children—if the Government isn't rearing all the children by that time—when they get out the family album and show the picture of Great-grandmother in the queer conglomeration of white satin and orange blossoms and veil that they used to call a wedding dress. Some pessimists have even gone far enough to prophesy that within fifty years the institution that we now know as marriage will be abolished.

I canot agree with these gloomy prognostications for you have only to read the vital statistics and cast an eye over the society column in any newspaper to be cheered up by the ringing of merry wedding bells. Undeterred by the number of divorces and by the experiences of their friends and families, the young appear to be rushing pell-mell into the holy estate just as blithely and with as little concern for consequences as they have always done.

Perhaps more so; for whereas in the past a man felt that he had to put off marrying until he could support a wife, now he rushes to the altar with Georgianna and lets her support him if he loses his job. Wives are no longer a liability; they are an asset. Hence more desirable.

You may say that marriage has lost much of its sacredness, that it is no longer regarded as a binding tie and that men and women do not marry until death shall them part, but until they lose their taste for each other. No one can deny these allegations. But even at its worst marriage hasn't gone into bankruptcy yet. It is still a going concern, which is proved by the fact that every starry-eyed young couple who marry believe they are going to make a success of it, and a lot of them do, for only one ocuple out of six land in divorce court; that isn't such a bad percentage in the most risky gambling game on earth.

Offers Best Solution.

Heaven knows marriage is full of imperfections from whatever angle you regard it. It is jam-packed with injustices, with incongruities, with all sorts of faults and weaknesses, but for all of that it is the best solution of the relationship of the sexes that the ingenuity of man has ever been able to work out. It doesn't always bring happiness, but only a daily miracle would keep any two people who had to live together from getting on each other's nerves.

Thousands of husbands and wives break their marriage vows and part, but hundreds of thousands of others find peace and happiness and love and comfort in living together. Golden weddings are common but a liaison that lasts five years becomes a romantic tradition.

The very possessiveness of human nature makes me believe that marriage will never cease to exist. Each of us wants somebody who belongs exclusively to us and to whom e belong. We want the privacy of our own homes. We want a place in which to rear our children, and this we can secure only by subscribing to some established ritual such as marriage.

When we abolish marriage we abolish civilisation. And we are not ready for that yet.

Too Proud To Admit Her Mistake.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Our daughter, who is now 16, ran away and married when she was only 15. The boy she married was from a family far beneath her in every way, and although they have been married a year he hasn't even attempted to find any kind of work. He seems to be perfectly happy and satisfied to live on us. He has no education, no morals, no character and his reputation is very bad.

He is dragging our daughter down to his level, but she seems infatuated with him and more determined to continue living with him and more bitter toward us all the time. She resents everything we say about him and seems almost to hate us, although we have been the most devoted of parents to her. The situation is breaking our hearts. What can we do?—Mother and Dad.

ANSWER: Your daughter's attitude toward you is the result of her humiliation at the situation in which she finds herself and her passionate regret at her own folly. She realizes she has wrecked her life. She is bitterly ashamed of the uncouth lad she has chosen for a husband. She knows people deride her for being such a fool and have a contempt for the man who marries and settles down on his wife's people to support him, and it simply burns her up.

She is bitterly unhappy, and she is taking out her unhappiness on you. She heaps on you the abuse she'd like to give her husband. She sticks to him because she's too proud to admit her mistake. She gives you ingratitude for all your kindness because it's killing her that she has to be dependent on you and that her husband is so lazy and trofling he won't even make an effort to support her.

The best thing for you to do under the circumstances is to send the young man packing. Tell him that you will support your daughter, but you won't support him. That will rouse the manhood in him, if he has any.

If you haven't the courage to do this, put them on their own. Give them a small allowance and let them work out their own salvation. There's not much that you can do to save a headstrong girl from having to pay the price of her determination to do as she pleases regardless of how it will hurt others. She has to learn her lesson from experience. But it's pity that her parents have to suffer with her.

Army Leaders Visit Waddell's Squadron

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 8.—(CP Cable.)—With a party of senior Canadian officers, Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair, Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, Chief of the Canadian General Staff, and Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Letson, Adjutant-General to-day inspected a new airdrome being built by the Royal Canadian Engineers.

The airdrome is nearing completion and the Canadian sappers have established a record for this type of construction in Britain.

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian Army Commander, Air Marshal Harold Edwards, Air Vice-Marshal George Brookes, Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Turner, Maj.-Gen. C. S. L. Hertzberg and Sqdn. Ldr. 'Bunt' Waddell, Peterborough, Ont., commander of an R.C.A.F. army cooperation squadron, accompanied the visitors.

Earlier the party lunched at Canadian Army Headquarters.

Dies Of Wounds

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 8 — (AP).—The Swiss Telegraph Agency reported from Clermont Ferrand, unoccupied France, today that Henry Gachelin, secretary of Jacques Doriot's Fascist National Party in the Seine et Oise Department died of wounds received as the result of a plot.

(The German radio yesterday said Gachelin was attacked by "Communists" in Paris Tuesday night and seriously wounded by a revolver shot.)

DIES IN PRISON

TOKYO (from Japanese broadcasts), Aug. 8—(AP).—A Miyako dispatch, quoting the Italian news agency Stefani said today that U Saw, former Premier of Burma, who was arrested by British authorities several months ago while en route from England, had died in prison in Egypt.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Walker, 774 George street, have as their guests their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Walker, and daughters, Genge and Gail, from Charleston, West Virginia. Miss Margaret Walker is also visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Walker, for a month.

Assault Charges Bring Severe Fines

CAMPBELLFORD, August 8. — (ENS) — His right arm in a sling and his hand bandaged, Constable William Wellman of Hastings appeared in Campbellford Police Court on Friday afternoon testifying that his sparring partner Kenneth Kemsley, 29, Trenton, was by no means drunk at the time of the encounter. Kemsley, who is an electric welder by trade told Magistrate R. B. Baxter that he was visiting in Campbellford and he pleaded guilty to charges of assaultin an officer of the law, resisting arrest and creating a disturbance in a public place. He was taken into custody on Thursday evening and with the assistance of Provincial Constable D. M. Carruthers was lodged in the Campbellford jail over night. Constable Wellman testified he had heard some "loud talk" on Bridge Street, Hastings and went over to "check it." The boys quieted down but fifteen minutes latter were wound up again and this time when he went over Kemsley followed him back to the opposite side of the street and started an argument. The Constable said he succeeded in putting him under arrest but 'I broke mgy right hand and arm in the scuffle." In reply to a question by the Magistrate, Constable Wellman replied, "I wouldn't say he was intoxicated. He was able to handle himself pretty well." Kemsley, who had a bandage on his left temple and under his eye by way of repairs declared he had some beer and by way of defense added he didn't know he was tangling with the village constable. After warning the accused that he could be given two years for the offense, Magistrate Baxter let him go with $20.00 and $8.50 costs or 15 days.

Nicholas Parcels, 30, Campbellford was charged as a second offender with being intoxicated in a public place. He also was booked by Constable Wellman as a result of the trouble in Hastings on the preceding night. Parcels was granted an adjournment for one week and allowed to go on bail.

Robert Montgomery of Seymour Township pleaded guilty to having liquor in an illegal place and following his plea of guilty was assessed $10 and $2.50 costs. The charge was laid by Provincial Constable D. M. Carruthers.

Cobourg Teacher Lauds Cadet Training

COBOURG, Aug. 8.—(ENS)—R. N. McKenzie, principal of Cobourg Collegiate Institute, addressed Cobourg Rotary Club yesterday at their weekly luncheon, on compulsory cadet training in secondary schools. Mr. McKenzie returned recently from the Y.M.C.A. camp at Geneva Park, Lake Couchiching, where he took a special course in preparation for the teaching of the form of cadet training which is now part of the curriculum of secondary schools.

He emphasized that the new training is for girls as well as boys. He was confident, he said, that by spring the collegiate pupils here would be able to march correctly and would have an extensive knowledge of wartime subjects.

The new studies will include drill, engine mechanics, air frame mechanics, aircraft recognition (30 types), air raid precautions, gas protection and the theory of flight and navigation of planes. The Cobourg Rotary Club was doing a good job in taking over the training of a number of high school boys as air cadets, the speaker said.

The balance of the program was devoted to completing plans for the Rotary Carnival with chairman of the carnival committee, Reuben Freeman, leading the discussion.

to reporters:

"On the question of the eight prisoners in the district jail there is as yet no news for you."

Early would not indicate when there might be some news. Yesterday President Roosevelt said he had not yet completed his review of the findings.

Since 8 a.m. a curtain of strict military silence had hung over the building. Correspondents on the inside were directed not to attempt any outside telephone calls.

Inside the execution chambers, two dozen shiny aluminum chairs were placed in rows before the windows in the witness room which look upon the plain wooden chair. The chair itself had been cleaned and covered over.

Rumors that clemency might be accorded one or two of the prisoners persisted, with reports indicating it probably would be for George John Dasch and Ernest Peter Burger.

Dasch, leader of the four-man group which landed from a submarine on Long Island, was assigned a special counsel and was the only one of eight who did not join the habeas corpus petition to the Supreme Court.

Hepburn Blasts At Ottawa As Grand River Project Opens

FERGUS, Ont., Aug. 8 (CP) — Premier Hepburn of Ontario wants the Dominion government to "forget political considerations" and the people of Canada to awake from "apathy."

"I don't know what will awaken the people from their apathy short of bombing," he declared here yesterday at the official opening of the $2,000,000 Shand Dam, key point on the Grand River construction project.

"Paid propagandists at Ottawa conceal the truth," he asserted. "We are not told the true facts. I say to the bigoted leaders of our country, forget political considerations. This is not a political battle you are fighting. It is a fight for our every existence."

Mr. Hepburn, speaking at a big dam, a few miles from Fergus, warned also that Canada faces a two-ocean attack "in the near future."

Atlantic Attack

"I believe we are going to have an attack on the Atlantic coast very soon," he declared. "There will be a two-ocean attack in the near future. I believe our fate depends on the disposition of the French fleet in the Mediterranean and the German drive into the Caucasus."

Premier Hepburn said the white people of the world were faced with the greatest threat in history and urged a crowd of 4,000 persons "don't listen to these men at Ottawa, these men with Vichy minds, who tell you we are winning the war comfortably."

"Let the men at Ottawa talk in straightforward language and act the same way," he continued. "All this discussion about postwar policies merely distracts from the vital problems of today."

Halt All Shipping

One successful bombing of the Sault Ste. Marie Locks, through which passed 90 per cent of steel shipments, would halt all shipping and the railways would not be able to carry more than 50 per cent of the ore, he said, adding that a successful air raid on Niagara Falls "could put us in darkness."

Continuing his criticism, he said "Let these political bigots, these autocrats with their stupid drifting, become a little more broad-minded and try to fight this war on a National and not a partisan front."

Premier Hepburn said Ontario already had done a great deal for the war effort and "there is nothing we won't give them if it will help win the war."

Hitler had boasted he would conquer the world and "he is making a pretty good job of it," he said.

State of Apathy

"We must arouse ourselves from this state of apathy, this fool's paradise...I ask you to view this situation with great solemnity. The greatest power in the land is public opinion, once it becomes aroused; it must demand an end to half-measures. Ottawa boasts of the money it is spending on the war. I don't doubt money is being spent lavishly. But it is not how much is spent, but how it is spent."

The Premier criticized "arm-chair generals" and "Land Admirals who obtained high rank through political favors, and said he had been informed at a Hamilton, Ont., Training School there were 43 commissioned officers and only nine pupils at the beginning of the course. The number of pupils had grown to 19 since then, he said.

Hastings Needs More Police Reeve Declares After Battle

HASTINGS, Aug. 8 (ENS)—Aftermath of a fracas on highway 45 in front of a local hotel Thursday night in which Police Chief William Wellman broke his hand, the local council lost no time in taking direct and drastic action at their regular meeting last night, to prevent any future recurrence of such scraps.

"These miniature riots are becoming all too common in this village" stated Reeve Lewis E. Kelley as council unanimously instructed the clerk to write Attorney General Gordon Conant requesting the immediate stationing of a provincial police officer in the village.

Members were quick to point out that this was no reflection either on the village constable or the two hotels. "Chief Wellman is to be commended on the way in which he is carrying out his duties," pointed out the Reeve, adding that the Chief just couldn't cope with the conditions arising from the fact that the village has two licensed hotels.

"Both hotel-keepers are carrying on their business in a very satisfactory manner, but it seems to me that Hastings has become a dumping off place for all the riff-raff of the surrounding district," continued the Reeve. "Hardly a night passes that a bunch of hoodlums don't head for town and then think they can run the place.

As a result fights break out all over the place."

Blame Bootleggers

"One policeman can't do it all" interjected Councillor William McEachnie as he stated that "I for one am done taking the rap for such deplorable conditions."

"Yes and the hotels have to take the rap for the bootleggers" said Councillor John Bonds.

"We have the only beverage rooms within a radius of 25 miles, and if beer is good for Hastings it should be good enough for Norwood or Campbellford" commented the Reeve as he climaxed the heated discussion on the posting of a permanent provincial to be stationed in the village.

The three men who precipitated the whole affair were subjected to severe fines in Campbellford police court by Magistrate Baxter of Port Hope Friday afternoon.

Kenneth Kemsley of Windsor was assessed $20 and $8.50 costs on a charge of resisting arrest. John H. Gay of Campbellford was fined $10 and $8.50 costs on a charge of drunkenness, while Nicholas Parcels, also of Campbellford, was remanded for one week on $100 bail.

Regarding the Unemployment Insurance Act council declared that none of their employees were eligible for such insurance. A request from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind to hold a tag-day here on September 12 was granted.

Special Units To Be Made By Red Cross

PORT HOPE, Aug. 8.—(ENS). — The executive of the Port Hope Red Cross Society held their monthly meeting Friday at the local Red Cross rooms, with the president, Mrs. M. C. Wotherspoon in the chair.

This was followed by the treasurer's report given by Mr. J. Reynolds in which he stated that the proceeds of the tea held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Scultz, Penryn Park, in July were $202.89. By the sale of tickets on a baby doll given them by their brother, Margaret Harwood and her sister, with the help of Jayne Halford, gave the society $6.00 to help the little English children.

Big Shipment.

The convener of the work rooms, Mrs. J. Foote reported the shipping of 34 woollen articles for the army and airforce and 100 articles for the navy. She stated that this shipment was very small due to the lack of certain types of wool to make other articles. A much larger shipment is expected to be sent out on Monday.

Mrs. J. L. Sheehan, convener of the refugee committe, reported that during the month of July 32 large quilts, 1 crib quilt, 5 complete layettes consisting of 170 articles and 122 articles of civilian clothing. In addition to this there were 131 miscellaneous articles of clothing shipped, which makes a total of 423 articles. The layettes and 122 articles of civilian clothing were donated by the local High school at the end of the present school term, and also a sum of $10 was given to further the work. Mrs. Sheehan took that opportunity to express her thanks to the women members of the staff for the time they gave up to aid the children in this work.

To Serve Tea.

A special concession was made by the government to allow tea to be served in the Red Cross tea rooms as the money obtained is used in war work.

In case a serious emergency should arise the Red Cross must have on hand 25 emergency units, consisting of bedding, towels and hospital supplies. These are to be distributed in different parts of the town within the next two months. If necessary the smaller branches in the district will be helped by the main branch in Port Hope.

There was a lengthy discussion regarding the obtaining of blood donors to go to the clinic in Peterborough. An advertisement will be inserted in the local paper to ask for blood donors.

The next meeting of the executive will be held on the first Friday of October.

Red Army's Left Wing Threatened

Extensive Use Made Of Fighting Forces Of Satellite Nations

Written for the Canadian Press. By Maj.-Gen. Sir Charles Gwynn.

LONDON, August 8. —(CP Cable) —The German drive in the Rostov region is still unchecked, at least, in the centre where the thrust southeast towards the upper waters of the Kuban river has made rapid progress.

The position of the left wing of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's army also is very critical. The Germans claim to have reached the river at several points and to have captured Voroshilovsk.

On both sides of the river progress has been much less marked and the Russian rearguard evidently is offering stout resistance. The German advance has therefore created a pronounced salient and it seems probable that the deepest penetrations have been made by panzer formations. It remains to be seen whether the salient will be broadened by a fanning-out process of the slower-moving main bodies before it is pushed further.

Timoshenko's Tactics.

So far, the main achievement of the Germans has been the capture over a wide front of the Novorossisk-Stalingrad railway leaving the left wing of Timoshenko's army without rail communication except to the Caucasus. From Voroshilovsk even that line is threatened.

Timoshenko has kept the left wing of his army intact, to a large extent, and he does not appear to have committed it to a decisive battle. Hoping to wear down the strength of the Nazi drive by rearguard action before it reaches his main defensive line, which appears to be in the Kuban river.

I seems probable that he is husbanding his reserves to make a determined stand for the naval base at Novorossisk, the oil refinery at Krasnedar and the oil fields at Maikop.

Satellite Troops.

The failure of the Germans to make progress in the Don elbow has made it more necessary for them to exploit their footing at Tsimlyansk. Since the Nazis have failed thus far to disrupt Marshal Timoshenko's army or destroy any large part of it, it must be somewhat of a problem for them whether to concentrate on gaining their objective in the north-western Caucasus or to endeavor to obtain control of the lower Volga.

The latter would appear the more urgent objective, especially as the Nazi failure at Voronezh has made it easier for the Russians to reinforce their armies protecting the lower Volga.

The resistance of the Russians at Tsimlyansk, and in the Don elbow coming after their success at Voronezh might have caught the Germans in two minds. The fact

Sister Mary Othelia, of the Order of St. Francis of Christ the King, at Lemont, Ill., is shown at the wheel of one of the farm's tractors, where the black garbed, white coifed sisters perform all the farm-work except the plowing, due to the shortage of farm labor.

Abraham Asks of God To Not Destroy Sodom

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Aug. 9 is Genesis 18, the Golden Text being James 5:16, "The supplication of a righteous man availeth much.")

ONE DAY, Abraham was sitting in front of his tent enjoying what shade he could get there from the shadow of the tent as the day was hot. Coming toward him were three men, and Abraham must have recognized that they were no ordinary visitors. It is customary in the Orient for a man to greet visitors by first falling to his knees in front of them, then touching his forehead to the ground. Abraham did this, and also hastened into the tent, told his wife, Sarah, to take three measures of fine meal and make cakes of them.

You notice we spell his name Abraham now, while last week we spelled it Abram. God had entered into a covenant with him and told him that his name should no more be called Abram, but Abraham.

Abraham also ran to his herd and caught a calf and gave it to a young man to have it killed and dressed for a feast. He took butter (curdled milk) and milk, and when the feast was ready he served it to the three men under an oak tree, and they did eat."

One of these men was the Lord, for the account speaks of "them," or "the men," and sometimes "the Lord said." On this occasion "they said" to Abraham, "Where is Sarah, thy wife?" Abraham said she was in the tent. Then He (the Lord) said He would return again and that Sarah should have a son. Sarah was listening inside the tent, and she could not help laughing inside herself to think that she, an old woman, could have a son.

Nothing Too Hard For God

"Why does she laugh?" the Lord asked Abraham. "Is anything too hard for the Lord?" At this Sarah denied that she had laughed. She did not have the courage to acknowledge her fault, for it was a lack of faith that had made her laugh, and when she was found out, she was afraid.

The three men then rose and started toward the wicked cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, and Abraham went with them for a way.

"And the Lord said, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do; seeing that Abraham shall surely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him?"

Then the Lord told Abraham that he was planning to destroy those cities because they were so very wicked. Now Lot, Abraham's nephew whom he loved, lived in Sodom, and Abraham said, "Wilt Thou also destroy the righteous with the wicked? Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the city: wilt Thou also destroy and not spare the place for the fifty righteous therein? That be far from Thee to do after this manner, to slay the righteous with the wicked: and that the righteous should be as the wicked, that be far from Thee: Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?"

The Lord answered that if he found fifty within the city that were righteous He would not destroy it.

Emboldened by his success, Abraham suggested that there might not be fifty, but forty-five that were good, and the Lord promised to spare the city for the forty-five. Then, said Abraham, "Peradventure there shall be forty there. And He said, I will not do it for forty's sake."

Pleads for Thirty

"Oh, let not the Lord be angry," said Abraham, "and I will speak: Peradventure there shall be thirty found there. And He said, I will not do it if I find thirty there."

Abraham next suggested that there might be twenty good men in the city, and got the Lord's promise that it would not be destroyed if there were that many. And finally he asked the Lord not to be angry, but if there were only ten good, would He spare it for their sake? and the Lord gave His promise.

"And the Lord went His way, as as soon as He had left communing with Abraham, and Abraham returned unto His place."

We know, of course, that God would not have destroyed the cities, even if Abraham had not interceded, and that He led Abraham on to plead with Him, showing the Lord how good and courageous was this man. Eventually, when the cities were destroyed four people were saved, Lot, whom Abraham loved, his wife and two daughters. Who knows what we may do for our loved ones by interceding for them as Abraham pleaded for those who might be righteous in the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, especially his beloved nephew?

And finally, the lesson teaches us hospitality. How do we know what those whom we entertain in our home are? May they not prove to us, "angels unawares?"

W.M.S. Postponed Bazaar

FENELLA, Aug 8—(ENS).—Mrs. G. Montgomery was hostess to the Fenella W.M.S. on Wednesday, August 5. There were 14 ladies present.

During the business session it was decided to leave the bazaar until later. Quilts are to be made for war work. By motion, the lunch is to be sandwich or fruit loaf until the end of the year, to conserve sugar.

Mrs. H. Macklin sent appreciation for flowers she received from the society during her illness.

Papers were given from the heralds, Mrs. C. Harper and Mrs. S. Leach.

Mrs. L. Hope, program leader, will have charge of the study book for the September meeting, which will be at the home of Mrs. F. Down. Mrs. Jewell, Mrs. Childs, Mrs. Knox and hostess lunch committee.

Mrs. Knox conducted a program on the theme, "The Bible in the World To-day," Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. C. Leach, Mrs. McNaught, Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Childs taking part.

The following program was given: Mrs. Harper as leader, a reading by Mrs. Montgomery, a duet by Mrs. McNaught and Mrs. Childs, and a reading by Mrs. Harper.

Indians Stage Sun Dance

RAPID CITY, S.D., August 8—(AP). — The mighty Sioux tribe, once the terror of the plains, started fasting last night to go on the war path again wih the long-forbidden sun dance.

With special government permission, braves and squaws and their children will conduct a rigorous 48-hour ceremony to pray for destruction of their Axis enemies and safe return of some 2,000 Sioux boys fighting to-day.

Not since the Battle of the Little Big Horn, known by whites as Custers massacre in 1876 in Montana, have the Indians staged the great ceremonial which starts with a fast and after two days of frenzied dancing and tom-tom beating ends with a feast.

Changing Man's Character One of Greatest Works

REV. E. R. JAMES

I will pray the Father and He shall give you another Comforter that He may abide with you for ever. The Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost.—St. John 14:16.

A small band of Jews, plain, ordinary men, are listening in an Upper Room to another Jew, a Carpenter. He tells them that He is to died on the Cross. For perhaps three years they have followed Him up and down the country. They have been thrilled by His teaching and strengthened by His Personality. While He is with them they are sure they will not fail Him. They are but a handful of working men, weak and helpless. Therefore He utters a word which brings a new light into their eyes and a new hope into their hearts. "I will pray the Father and He will give you another Comforter." What is there about the word "Comforter" to cheer and encourage them?

Today the word means softness, pleasantness and luxury. Such a word to those helpless, weak, poor men would bring very little hope. Their lives had always been hard. They looked for very little softness, luxury or comfort, as we understand the word. But the word in those days meant to make strong, to strengthen. "Advocate," which you find in the margin of your Bible, is another translation of this Greek word. An advocate is one who stands up for you and pleads your case before the Judge or King. It is a word only found in the Gospel of St. John and in his Epistle. It is a word which enables a man to lift up his head and take courage in the hour of peril. His advocate is standing at his side to help, encourage and plead for him.

In the days of His earthly ministry Our Lord was always ready to stand up for His Apostles. Even in the Garden of Gethsamene He pleads for them. "Let these go their way." Calmly He yields Himself to the Officers of the High Priest. His quietness and calm impresses the Roman Judge, Pontius Pilate. He lays Himself upon the Cross and prays for His murderers and at eventide He dies with the Prayer: "Father, into Thy Hands I commend My Spirit." He is an apparent failure. But the third day "God raised Him from the dead" and He ever liveth to make intercession for us. In due time He fulfilled His promise and sent the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, to abide with us for ever. Two outward signs were given. The mighty rushing wind and the fire.

It is hard for us to keep in mind the real meaning of some words. SPIRIT. GHOST. What does it mean? Spirit come from the Latin which means to breathe. "God breathed into man the breath of life and man became a living soul." When you breathe out your last breath you are dead. Your body will crumble into dust and ashes. It is the spirit, the breath within you that tells men you are alive.

GHOST comes from the German, which means to gush forth, to blow as the wind blows—a soft breath or a terrible sound, irresistible in its power. At Pentecost such a breath came upon the assembled Apostles and Disciples. Moreover the Spirit was seen by the outward signs of wind and fire. The wind is very powerful; the fire is very terrible. But the fire driven by the mighty wind is irresistible.

Fire as you know cleanses. But fire gives fresh life. The Spiritual Fire is given to cleanse our hearts and thoughts. It also gives men the gift of fiery eloquence in the Lord's service. Three thousand were converted at Pentecost by St. Peter's preaching, the proof of that spiritual power and energy.

From whence the wind; the fire? We cannot tell. They are the elementary and primary needs of life. The Wind of the Spirit blows into a man's heart and drives out evil and makes room for the new Invader. The fire of the Spirit gives a man courage and wisdom to testify for the faith that is in him. It does not mean that he to be always talking about religion. When the opportunity occurs he will be given the word to say. But the greater work is the changing of man's character, transforming a man so that Christ may be seen in him. It is proof of the indwelling of the Spirit. It is infectious; it is catching.

THE SPIRIT ITSELF BEARETH WITNESS WITH OUR SPIRIT THAT WE ARE THE CHILDREN OF GOD.

Harlem's House of Mystery Brings Forth Story of Love

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP—All the bizarre legends circulated for years about Harlem's "house of mystery" have been scotched at last with the story of one of the two hermit-like Collyer brothers who told what went on behind the boarded windows of the grumbling old mansion.

It was a story of brotherly love that Langley Collyer related—a love so intense that an able-bodied man equipped with all his senses cut himself off from society to live in a kind of lost world with his blind and paralyzed brother.

A reporter had gone to see Collyer to inform him that he and his elder brother. Homer—both in their 60's—were to be evicted next Monday because of failure to pay installments on the mortgage on their home. This is the story Langley Collyer told:—

Descendants of one of New York's oldest families, the brothers moved into Harlem House in 1909 to live a quiet life.

For a time Homer pursued his occupation as an admiralty lawyer and Langley went about his business as a piano dealer, but in 1933 Homer went blind and later became paralyzed as a result of inflammatory rheumatism."

Would Not Have Doctors

"Homer and I decided we would not cal lin any doctors," Langley said. "You see, we know too much about medicine. Doctors would remove Homer's optic nerve and he would be blind forever, and they would treat his rheumatism with drugs that would shorten Homer's life.

"No, we decided to do it our own way—by diet and rest. Homer eats 100 oranges a week, and is improving. He can sit up a little now. We believe in letting nature take its course.

"I cook his meals and have to cut up his meat into little cubes so he can eat it with a spoon. I have to bathe him and tend to all his wants. I used to read to him. We have all the classics in our library. I used to read Shakespeare and Dickens, but my eyes went bad, and I stopped. So now we just talk and listen to the radio.

"When Homer first lost his sight he used to see visions of beautiful buildings—always in red. He would describe them to me and I would try to paint them just as he directed. Some day when Homer regains his sight, I will show the paintings to him."

Langley said he and Homer long ago gave up gas and electricity, cooking on a kerosene stove and generating their own electric power with an automobile engine.

How does the radio work?

"It's an old crystal set," said Langley. "I made it."

Abraham's Intercessory Prayer — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Genesis 18.

As Abraham sat at the door of his tent in the heat of the day, he saw three men to whom he bowed low,

Abraham went into the tent and told Sarah, his wife, to get three measures of meal, knead it and make cakes.

He also had meat dressed and prepared, and butter and milk, and stood by the men under a tree while they did eat,

The men told Abraham that Sarah should have a son, and Sarah, hearing, laughed. (GOLDEN TEXT—James 5:16)

New Deal For Wales

The ancient Principality of Wales wants better treatment from England when the war is over. The demand for a new deal for Wales has been heard many times, but there are indications that this time it may have its effect, for the war is sweeping away many of those things in England which have caused dissatisfaction among the Welsh.

Lloyd George, the greatest of living Welshmen, gave voice to the demands of his countrymen on Thursday, when he spoke at the Royal National Eisteddfod. The Eisteddfod is the great annual meeting of Welshmen, at which musical and literary contests are held and matters of national import are discussed; the name means "a session" and the Eisteddfod usually lasts for five days or more; the attendance runs into many thousands and the meetings are conducted primarily in the Welsh tongue.

"We are tired of being governed from Whitehall," said David Lloyd George, and in those words summed up the greatest grievance of his countrymen. Wales has for years been asking for a Welsh Secretary, who will understand the special problems of the Principality and deal with them in an authoritative manner. These problems are neither simple nor unimportant. The distress in the coalmining districts of South Wales, for instance, has been repeatedly called to the attention of British government officials by Welsh spokesmen during the past fifteen years, and has been shelved or abruptly dismissed every time. King Edward VIII., during his brief reign, protested against the monopoly which kept the mines closed and hundreds of thousands of miners idle, and his outspokenness in this matter did nothing to endear him to officialdom. Meanwhile Welshmen earned the reputation of being idle rogues because they were forced to sing in the streets for pennies.

The Welsh have never felt themselves oppressed by England—at least, not during the last three centuries—but they have often felt themselves slighted. Urbane officials in Whitehall can be less diplomatic in their dealings with farmers and miners than with semi-savage tribesmen; they appear to look upon a Welshman as a stupid fellow who has not seized his opportunities to be an Englishman. The Welsh, who treasure their ancient language and culture, regard the English as an agreeable but decidedly dull race, and have no desire to be like them. And they resent the fact that the English are propitiatory toward the Irish and almost deferential toward the Scotch, whereas they are brusque and impatient with the Welsh, who have shown them more courtesy than either of the other Celtic races, and have made a contribution to British culture and British arms quite out of proportion to their numbers.

Everyone seems to be agreed that much British snobbery and pretence will have disappeared by the end of this war. It is from these elements in British government that Wales has suffered. Wales was conquered by England in the physical sense many centuries ago, and since that time has given Britain one of her most intelligent and colorful reigning houses; but Wales will not be conquered spiritually until she is approached with courtesy, and it is to be hoped that this ending to an age-old struggle will come at the close of the present war. Meanwhile, Wales shows the quality of her spirit by awarding the Eisteddfod prize for the best short story of the year written in the Welsh language to a German refugee; it is that sort of integrity, in art and in living, which has kept Wales alive in good days and bad.

The War Of Cultures

The destructive Nazi armies are still on the march in Russia, and the no less destructive Nazi ideas of culture advance with them. A few months ago we commented on the German destruction of the Tolstoy museum at Yasnaya Polyana; a fortnight ago another of these cultural destructions took place at Sorochintsky, where the great Russian humorist, Nikolai Gogol, was born and where his birthplace was preserved as a national shrine. It was burnt to the ground, and its valuable collection of books burnt with it; a handsome collection of marble statuary, which would not burn, had to be smashed. What lovers of culture these Germans are!

We can understand why the Nazis hate Tolstoy, for he described the attempt of another conqueror to subdue mighty Russia; there is good reason why they should hate Gogol also. He was one of the great humorists of all time, and his play, The Government Inspector, is a truly great satire on officialdom. And, in spite of its somewhat forbidding title, his novel Dead Souls is an excruciatingly funny study of the Russia that was.

A sense of humor is a dangerous and expensive possession even for a free man but for a totalitarian it is an impossible luxury. Few of the Nazis will have read the works of Gogol, but they know the kind of man he was; one of those scoundrels who laughs at serious matters such as governmental dignity and encourages others to laugh with him. The Nazis know what laughter leads to. Gogol himself has been dead these ninety years, but his books live. To the flames with them! Silence the man who dares to laugh! Nazi culture, we would have you understand, is a serious business.

Seen In Perspective

It would be a good thing if every Canadian, in addition to his own local newspaper, were able to read a British and an American newspaper every day; as this is not possible we do what we can by reprinting selections on this page from British and American papers, as well as from our Canadian contemporaries, which have a bearing on problems which are of interest to us all. By reading what British and American papers have to say about us we gain a valuable perspective on Canadian affairs.

For instance, the rumpus in Parliament over the amendment of the National Mobilization Act excited—we might almost say inflamed—Canadian opinion to the point where it was almost impossible to see the issue clearly; those who wanted overseas conscription at once and those who did not want it at all were wildly vocal, and those who attempted to express moderate opinions were subject to attack from both sides. It is interesting and salutary, therefore, to read an editorial which appeared in the London Times on July 11 which, after a general discussion of the matter, speaks thus:

> "It does not follow that man-power can be best applied by indefinitely increasing the Canadian Army overseas. Colonel Ralston, the Minister of Defence, said on June 23 that voluntary enlistment was meeting all the requirements of the present year's program. The situation might at any time be radically altered, for instance by the participation of Canadian troops in a second front in Europe. It is against the occurrence of such radically new circumstances that the Government has obtained powers to use all means to fill the possible gaps."

And then it continues with these remarks, which were the gist of the moderate argument expressed in the press and by private citizens at that time:

> "But meanwhile the men of Canada can fill and are filling many other roles, which for the time being at least are not less important. One outstanding contribution to the fighting strength of the Empire is made through the Imperial air scheme, and is being devotedly maintained. In addition, Canadian industry and Canadian agriculture are sustaining a prodigious burden in the common cause. At present the most insistent demands for replenishment come from the arsenals rather than the barrack-rooms of the Commonwealth."

Naturally it was necessary for Parliament and the press to examine the matter in greater detail than this, but even so a more accurate perspective on the matter might have speeded the debate and taken the bitter edge off its tone.

Perhaps the root of the matter lies in the concluding sentence of the Times' editorial: "Mr. Mackenzie King can be trusted to judge wisely the moment for introducing the more drastic method with the largest possible degree of assent." That is apparently the belief in Britain, and we think that it is the belief of the majority of Canadians also, but a determined attempt to discredit the Prime Minister for political reasons did much to give an impression of disunity in Canada. If we took more trouble to see ourselves as others see us we might simplify some of our problems and correct some of our faults.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A new insect is known to science called the golf moth. It does 18 holes a day.

The latest bum's whine: "Brother, can you spare a twelve-sided nickel for a cup of rationed coffee without sugar?"

An American public man has said that in these times we are looking for men and not for party labels. The trouble is, of course, that unless most men are clearly labelled it is a waste of time looking to see what they are.

Choosing Your Ten Favorites

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

AS A PART of the publicity attending the first showings of the film "Mrs. Miniver" which is causing a sensation at present, a number of people who are very much in the public eye have been asked to make up a list of the ten best movies which they have seen in all their screen experience. The results are interesting and the game is a good one; try it yourself.

Walter Winchell, for instance, contributes a list which shows remarkable discernment for a man who makes a living by minding other people's business. "Mrs. Miniver" is on it, of course; all the celebrities invited to join in the game did their duty by that film. But so is "Intolerance." Do you remember it? It was one of the earliest Griffith pictures, and it was being shown in Canada during the last war. My recollection of it is hazy, but people who have seen private showings of it since declare that it is deeply moving, for all the crudity of its photography. Winchell also lists "The Long Voyage Home," made from Eugene O'Neill's play of that name. It was seen in Canada about a year ago, and although it was a magnificent film it did not prove popular; the sugar in it was too strictly rationed. Also on the Winchell list is the wonderful French film, "Carnet du Bal," which was seen here only in a few large cities. It was a great example of the French genius for the film, of which too little was known on this side of the water.

AMONG the savants who made a list was Kate Smith, the Songbird of the South. She complemented Winchell's "Intolerance" by choosing "The Birth of A Nation," another old-timer, and the first of the films about the American Civil War. All I remember of it is the scene in which Lincoln is shot, but that was a great thrill. The Songbird also puts in a chirp for "The 39 Steps" in which Robert Donat made one of his most popular appearances; she also named "Good-Bye, Mr. Chips," another Donat film. Don't you know that Donats are fattening, Miss Smith? "Ninotchka" is also on her list; do you remember how it was advertised as the film in which Greta Garbo laughed? What has happened to Garbo lately; she is undoubtedly one of the best of our screen actresses but she is rarely seen.

Fred Allen, the radio comedian, made his choice also. "Gone With The Wind" is on his list, and so is "Here Comes Mr. Jordan." This latter film enjoyed a wide popularity because it presented a comforting and in no way awe-inspiring picture of the hereafter. Most people are aghast at the idea of an after-life in which they will be expected to behave with a dignity and circumspection which they never possessed in life on this earth. But if heaven is merely a glorified landing field with Claude Rains and Edward Everett Horton in charge, they feel that they will be able to manage somehow. Allen also chooses "The Informer," which was made from Liam O'Flaherty's book of that name. It was undoubtedly a great film, and certainly one of the most successful attempts to transfer a novel to the screen which has ever been made.

TED HUSING, the sports commentator liked "Cavalcade," as who did not? And "It Happened One Night" is on his list; it was in that film, if I am not mistaken, that Clarke Gable made one of his earliest big hits. The charm of Gable has always been hidden from me, and in films such as "Parnell," in which he was expected to play a man of intellect and education he always seemed woefully inadequate. He too, has not been seen very often recently. "Berkeley Square" is on this list also; it was one of the first films to be based upon a cyclical concept of time. It was also the first film to reveal that Leslie Howard had unfortunately shaped legs.

Deems Taylor, the music critic, also said his say. He chooses "Fantasia" (how could he do otherwise?) and "All Quiet On The Western Front," which should have been a better argument against war than it was. He also chooses "The Way Of All Flesh," and it may be that he means the fine film which Emil Jannings made in the silent days. "The Grapes Of Wrath" is on his list too, and Charlie Chaplin's great picture "City Lights." The choices are many, and I have only been able to give you a few highlights, but from these lists one fact may be deduced: most of the films listed were made during the past eight years. Now is this because films have improved enormously in that time, or because we do not remembered them for long? People remember theatrical performances for decades; why not films? Can it be that the art of the film is more evanescent even than that of the theatre? Certainly these lists lead one to that conclusion.

Unconsidered Trifles

A traveller connected with a cycle company was expecting an "interesting event" in the family and before going away asked the nurse to wire "Gent's model arrived" if a boy came, and "Lady's model" if a girl.

The wire he received staggered him. There was one word—"Tandem."

The officer was giving a lecture to some militiamen on the advantages and methods of taking cover, and employed a map to illustrate his remarks.

"Now, Jones," he said, pointing to the map, "suppose you were on this ridge and could see the enemy advancing towards you in large numbers, what steps would you take?"

The reply of Private Jones was emphatic and to the point, "Deuced long steps, sir!"

A certain couple, having been married about ten years, lived a life made up for the most part of quarrels and bickerings. One day the husband visited a friend whose home life was entirely different.

On leaving he said to his friend, "I've enjoyed my visit. You seem so happy; how do you do it?"

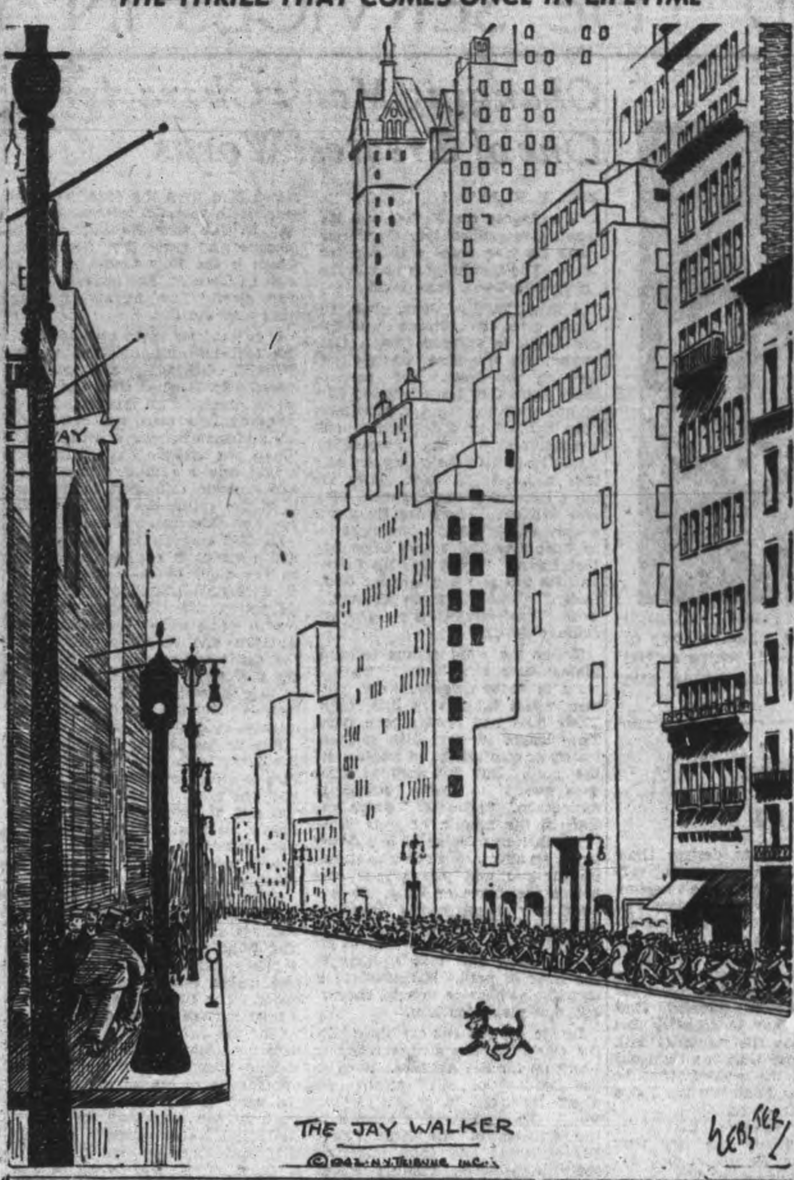
"It's quite simple," replied his friend: "I make a fuss of my wife, and kiss her quite often."

The husband decided to try this method, and when, on arriving home, his wife opened the door, he kissed her. His wife burst into tears.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"Oh, dear!" sobbed the wife. "Everything has gone wrong today. I fell down and broke a lot of china, and the maid has given notice, and now you come home drunk!"

THE THRILL THAT COMES ONCE IN LIFETIME



Fear Soviet Wing Trapped

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

A GRAVE possibiltiy that the left wing of the Russian Army of the Caucasus, which Moscow says is still battling Nazi invaders south of Kushchevka, has been trapped was indicated by Berlin versions of the South Russian battle.

The Germans claimed also capture of important Armavir Junction, more than 100 miles to the south, and penetration of Russian lines across the Kuban to within thirty miles of the Maikop oilfield.

It still seems possible, however, that the fighting along Yeya River, south of Kushchevka, is a rearguard action to cover Red retreat below the Kuban in the sector between the Azov Sea coast and the line of the Rostov-Baku Railway.

German claims of the capture of Yeisk, Azov Sea port seventy miles due west of Kushchevka on the lower end of the Bay of Taganrog, tends however, to confirm the impression that the main body of the Russian forces in the northwest corner of the Caucasus above the Kuban may have made good its escape to the Yeya River line.

GLEAM OF ENCOURAGEMENT

If that be true, it seems obvious that the front the army of the Caucasus still hoped to hold on the left was the Kuban-Laba line, backed by the foothills of the northern end of the Caucasus Range. This front would cover all approaches to Maikop and the oil pipeline from Maikop to Tuapse on the Black Sea, important as an advance fueling base for Russian Black Sea warcraft.

Berlin asserts, however, that Nazi units not only are approaching Krasnodar on the Kuban, seventy miles northwest of Maikop, but have pushed to within thirty miles of Maikop in that sector. If that is true it means the Kuban defense front has been breached east of Krasnodar as it has already been crossed from Armavir northward to Kropotkin.

Dark as the outlook is on the Russian flank and in the centre, where the deepest Nazi spearhead is reported astride the Black Sea-Caspian railroad below Armavir, there is on bleam of encouragement. Berlin admits that heavy Red reinforcements have entered the battle in the sector between the Don and the Sal Rivers. That Nazi thrust northeastward up the Krasnodar-Stalingrad railroad gravely menaces the great Volga industrial centre of Stalingrad. It is a Nazi attempt to turn from the south the Russian Don bend front through which Germans have failed to crash in repeated attempts.

CONFERENCE ON STRATEGY

Moscow indicated several days ago that Red Army reserves, withheld from action for a crucial moment, were being thrown in west of Stalingrad. It it from that sector, too, that London military observers seemed to anticipate a Russian counter-attack aimed at pinching off the narrow wedge driven into the centre of the line up the Kuban above its great bend to Vorshilovgrad and beyond.

German admission of heavy defensive fighting between the Don and the Sal with Russian "new forces" confirms the Moscow advices. The situation to the southwest seemed too critical for a Red counter-attack southwest of Stalingrad to relieve it greatly.

There is no discernible defensive front behind the Kuban-Laba line except the Caucasian foothills. If German forces are within thirty miles of Maikop to the northwest, they have already thrust deeply beyond the Kuban into that tumbled, peak-dotted terrain.

The only other comforting aspect of the war news from Russia were reports of an Anglo-American-Russian high strategy conference in Moscow. These reports lacked authoritative confirmation although London buzzed with whispers that Prime Minister Churchill was in the Russian capital and that second front plans were nearing completion.

Unquestionably Russian-American conversations regarding increased aid for Russia or plans for meeting the rising threat in the Caucasus to the Persian Gulf-Caspian supply line are in order if not in progress in Moscow. British participation would be essential.

Capital Closeups

By JOHN DAUPHINEE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 8 (CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley's budget seems to have been a bit too "tough" for some Canadians and the National War Finance Committee is worried.

Before budget day, June 23, sales of War Savings Certificates were running between $6,500,000 and $7,000,000 a month, with redemptions between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000. In the month after the budget—up to July 22—sales dropped sharply to $4,791,920 but the value of certificates redeemed held near the highest level at $1,439,320.

That means that every time a certificate was sold for $4, more than $1 of the money had to be paid right out again to somebody who was cashing in a certificate bought previously.

To help build up certificate sales—they were over the $8,000,000-mark last January—the War Finance Committee has turned to three new revenue channels. There are "over-the-counter" sales in banks and post offices, sales in retail stores and the "Miss Canada" campaigns from coast to coast.

Over-the-counter sales have just started and there's no report on how they're going. But the stores sales of savings stamps are progressing nicely and the "Misses Canada" are officially described as "the best of the lot."

A bulky white figure slouched on an operating table spends the day in one of Ottawa's temporary office buildings staring blankly at a 3.7 anti-aircraft shell.

It's part of a new showroom set up by the munitions and supply department's purchasing branch to give manufacturers a quick look at some of the things Canada is buying to fight a war.

The big white figure is a heavy Royal Canadian Air Force asbestos suit. Around the walls are uniforms, pots and pans, gas masks and skiis. Drawers and cupboards store articles—1,600 altogether.

At the rate of three or four a day manufacturers' representatives, many of them from firms which have had their business curtailed by material shortages, visit the exhibition. Looking over the exhibits they can determine quickly just what articles their plants can make.

The showroom was opened only a few weeks ago and is growing rapidly. The purchasing branch is pleased. And there's talk that the display may become a permanent record of the equipment supplies to Canadian forces.

Odds and ends:

Agriculture Minister Gardiner practices what he preaches....For two years he has been urging farmers to grow less wheat....He owns two farms himself and hasn't grown a bushel in that time....Finance Minister Ilsley is another and his family doesn't run the car any more....His young daughter's candid opinion: "Daddy's pretty tough."

What with all the new taxes on things we buy we thought the run on pennies would be pretty terrific....Looking for a paragraph we telephoned the Bank of Canada...."Oh, no," said the expert, "there hasn't been any demand for extra bronze"....That's the way they say it down there.

Carillonneur Robert Donnell plays everything well but the piece which really takes the fancy of the crowds on the lawn in front of the Centre Block is his arrangement of "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair."

In this day of war financing the treasury board gets lots of mentions but its members don't get much individual publicity....In case you've ever wondered, here's the board's makeup: Finance Minister Ilsley, Trade Minister MacKinnon, Resources Minister Crerar, Revenue Minister Gibson, Justice Minister St. Laurent and Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

Hard To Believe How Time Flies

A Bible Message For Today

And while he yet spake, behold a multitude, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them, and drew near unto Jesus to kiss him. But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?

When they which were about him saw what would follow, they said unto him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword? And one of them smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear.

And Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far. And he touched his ear, and healed him.—Luke xxii, 47-51.

Say not thou, I will recompense evil; but wait on the Lord, and he shall save thee.—Prov. xx, 22.

By Popular Vote

That irrepressible institution, the Gallup Poll, reports a change in British war sentiment since June, a sharp decline in Prime Minister Churchill's popularity, growing dissatisfaction with the Government's conduct of the war, and an overwhelming demand for an Allied invasion of Europe this year. Last June the Gallup Poll found only 49 per cent of the people of England in favor of a second front on the Continent during 1942. Now, it reports, the vote for such an expedition has risen to 60 per cent, as against a negative tally of 12 per cent, and an undecided minority of 28 per cent.

The inference is inevitable. As soon as the British Government can persuade itself that this war can be won by popular vote, it should launch an invasion of the Continent with all convenient dispatch.—Sydney Post-Record.

Education and Knowledge

In the American schools and colleges we have gone very far toward abandoning the idea that an education should be grounded upon the deliberate training of the mind and upon a discipline in the making of moral choices. We have been told to jump over these ancient preliminaries and induct the pupil directly into the study of the burning issues of contemporary life.

That produces a little learning with no wisdom, some acquaintance with a few books and no knowledge of human experience, a thin intellectualism which is not reason. It turns out reformers without moral restraint, humanitarians without human respect, philanthropists without philosophy and enthusiasts without religion.

This century, we have been told, will belong to the common man. We may be certain, I believe, that it will belong to tyrants, demagogues and mediocrities if the schools do not restore to the common man the heritage of his culture. For men cannot remain free if they are not educated in the things which have caused men to conceive freedom and to cherish it and to enhance it.

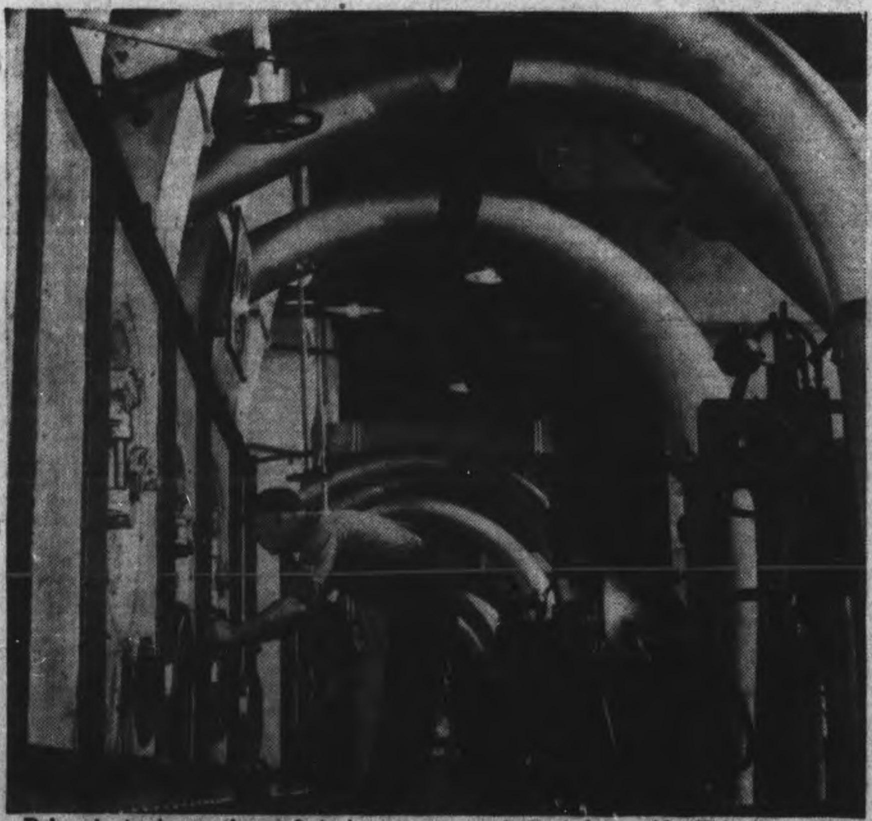
If Western civilization is to survive and renew its vitality, we shall have, therefore, to revive and renew our schools.—(By Walter Lippmann).

Canada's Pulp and Paper Mills Lead the World in Production of Newsprint

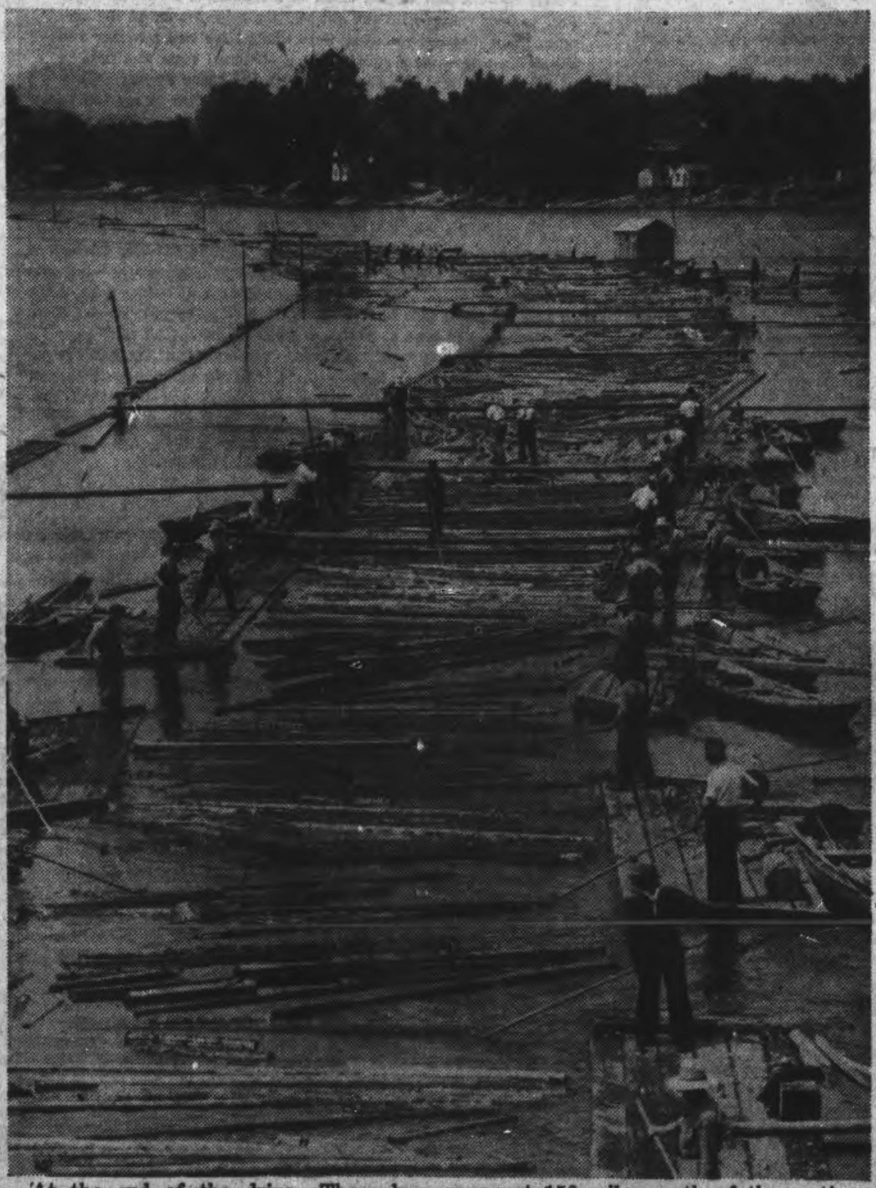
Since start of the war Canada has again become the world's major source of pulp and paper. The log driver in this photo has enlisted junior's help in fixing the caulks in his boots. They give him a better grip when he's riding a log.

The industry spends millions yearly fighting fire, insects, fungus. In towers like this one rangers guard vast timber limits, report fires to headquarters. Flames consume 404,000,000 cubic feet of timber yearly, despite precautions.

Overhauling a boat which cruises the lakes and rivers, drawing huge booms of logs to main waterways. Chutes of northern streams are fine, natural conveyor belts.

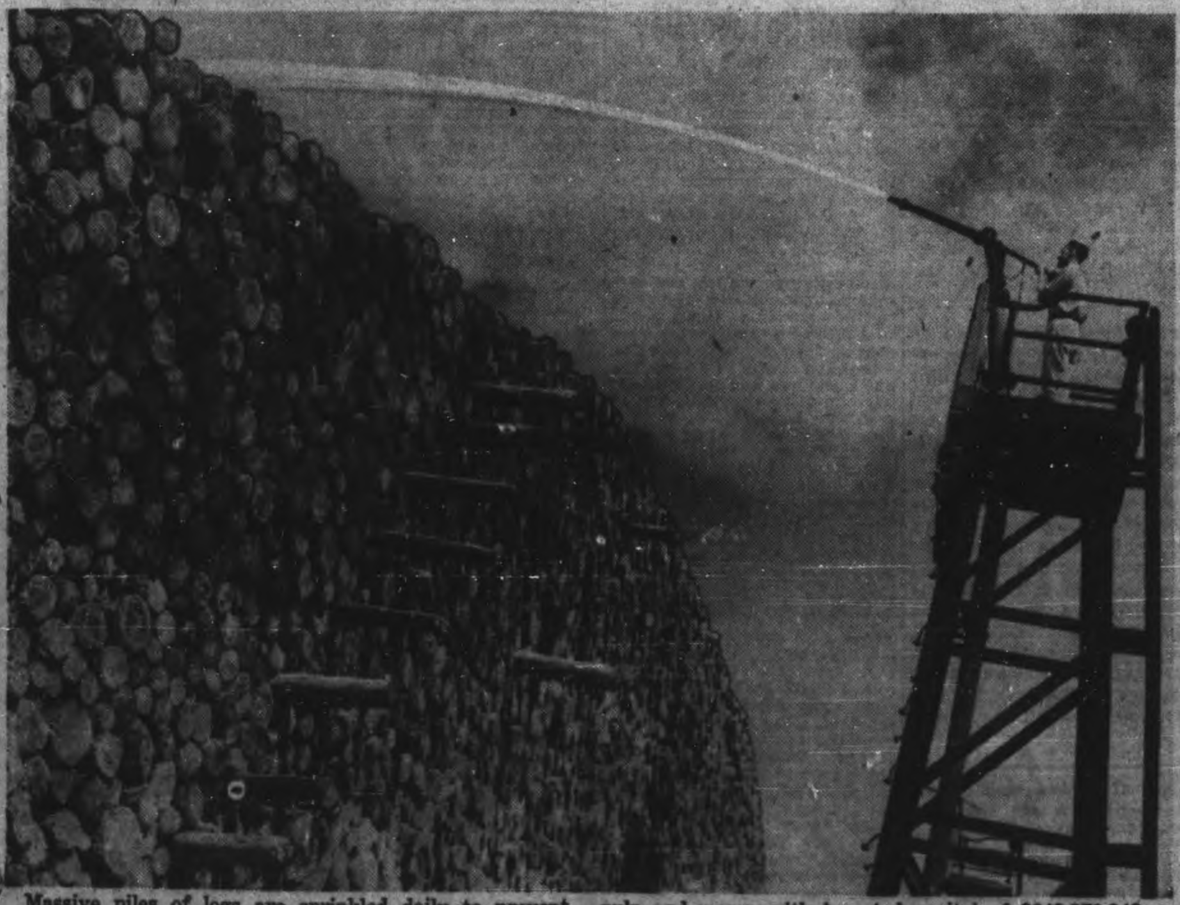


Pulp plants in northern Ontario are among largest in world. This is section of power plant. From standpoint of number employed and wages paid, pulp and paper industry is greatest in Canada. It supports a half million Canadians.



At the end of the drive. These logs were cut 150 miles north of the sorting gap through which they are being run. Identified by paint marks, the logs are claimed by the several companies, whose men cut them, and floated to the mills.

A logger can lose his job for doing this. Prevention of fire is every logger's responsibility. Canada has 1,200,000 square miles of forest, mostly accessible.



Massive piles of logs are sprinkled daily to prevent fire, check fungus growth and to facilitate handling, as wet logs slide freely. Canada has 103 firms making pulp and paper, with invested capital of $642,979,942. Sales of newsprint in the United States bring over $107,000,000 in U.S. exchange, its greatest source.

Tons of paper roll off the presses hourly in mills, providing material for many uses. When other sources of paper cut into Canada's markets after war, science should have many more uses for wood to keep production up. Wood is used in munitions, many materials of war. Cellulose and plastic products are being developed.

LATE RALLY GIVES PLAZAS WIN IN FIRST OF SOFTBALL PLAYOFFS

Garrison Finish Defeats Soldiers 5 to 4

Plaza power, held dormant for eight frames, cames to life in the last innings of Friday night's City League playoff battle between the league leaders and the Soldiers and as a result the hockey squad pulled the game out of the fire by scoring four runs in the final session to win 5 to 4.

It was a sweet win for Plazas and a mighty tough one for Soldiers to lose. For the fans it was about the best ball game of the season.

Powell, the Gananoque boy, who pitched for Soldiers, held the winners to one run and seven hits in the first eight innings and the Camp team took the field in the last of the ninth with a 4 to 1 lead by virtue of a big seventh inning when on four infield hits, a walk and a couple of errors they scored a quartette of markers.

However the Plaza bats started to swing in the ninth with Don Crowe supplying the big punch with a long home run deep along the left field foul line. Heal started the rally with a double with one out and Kingdon singled him home. Then he ran in himself ahead of Crowe on the second-sacker's mammoth circuit clout to sew up the ball game. Blewett flied out but Wade drew a pass and Ellis and W. Starr singled, the latter's sock to right allowing Wade to gallop home from second with the winning counter.

Tom Parsons pitched fine ball for the winners, holding Soldiers to eight hits, five of them of the infield variety. In the first six frames the losers only got one blow, Sero beating out a tap to short and in the seventh Soldiers collected four hits and as many runs without getting the ball out of the infield.

Powell Goes Distance

Powell went the distance for the Soldiers and outside of the fifth when they bunched three hits for a run, he had the Indian sign on Plazas until they broke throught with their five-hit attack in the final frame to stage a Frank Merriwell finish.

Both teams fielded smartly with Joe Blewett, Plaza centre fielder supplying the feature plays when he twice tore far back into centre to pull down hard drives from the bat of Nick Sero. On the second occasion the bases were loaded with two out when Sero got hold of a fast ball and really drove it in the general direction of the score board. the ball game was riding out there on that rap but Blewett timed the play nicely and made a beautiful catch.

Both teams had openings but there was no scoring until the Plazas broke into the lead with a run in the fifth. The league leaders tossed one away in the third when Kingdon hit a long fly to right which Mortimer dropped. Kingdon was sent in to score on the error but was easily caught at the plate on a relay and Don Crowe's hard-hit single which followed was wasted.

Art Heal singled to left in the fifth with one out and paved the way for the first counter. Kingdon popped to McKerrigan but Crowe singled to short, sending Heal to second and when Blewett singled on the ground past first Heal ran home from second on the hit. Wade ended the inning with a fly to McKerrigan. That was all the scoring until Soldiers staged their big inning in he seventh. Up to that stage Parsons had held them to one hit, an infield single by Sero in the second.

Soldiers Score Four

It was Sero who started the trouble in the seventh. He bounced a single to short. McKerrigan's bounder past third was good for a safe blow and Herrick filled the bases with a single to second, Crowe making a diving stop to prevent the roller going through. Parsons lost control and passed Thomson, forcing in Sero with the tieing run. Powell hit to Web Starr at third and Eddie Starr dropped the throw to the plate. Everybody was safe, McKerrigan scoring. Parsons fumbled McLaren's bunt and again all hands were safe with Thomson crossing the plate. Anderson's single past third sent Powell in with the fourth run and there was still nobody out. However Parsons levelled away, struck out Mortimer, and forced McIlveen to roll weakly to third for a forceout at the plate and finally Joe Blewett ran far into centre field to pull down Sero's hard drive to retire the side.

Plazas went out in order in the seventh and eighth but the Soldiers threatened in the latter frame when Thomson walked and Powell singled to right with two out but McLaren flied to Kingdon to end the menace.

The losers had a chance again in the ninth. Anderson fanned but Mortimer singled to centre and after McIlveen had flied to Crowe, Sero bounced a single over third and McKerrigan walked, loading up the runways but Crowe ran out and made a nice catch of Thomson's popup to kill the Soldiers' opportunity.

The Plazas big ninth started tamely enough when Parsons, first up, went out on a bunt to Powell who tagged him on the line. Art Heal who began the other scoring inning rifled a double to right field. Bun Kingdon singled to right centre sending Heal in. Then came Don Crowe's mighty smash deep along the left field foul line for a home run, Kingdon scoring ahead of him and the ball game was all tied up. It still had to be won however and when Blewett flied to Mortimer for the second out it looked like an extra innings. Powell paved the way for his own defeat by walking Julian Wade. Ellis got a single on a slow roller to McKerrigan, Wade going to second and a moment later the ball game was over when Web Starr singled on the ground into right field to send Wade home with the winning marker.

ATHLETES AT WAR

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

(News of Canadian athletes in the armed forces will be welcomed for inclusion in this weekly feature and should be sent to "Athletes at War," The Canadian Press, 44 Victoria St., Toronto.)

TORONTO Aug. 8.—(CP)—Jack Galbraith, former Ottawa baseball star who also did a stretch with the Oswego club of the Canadian-American loop three years ago, made an impressive debut with the Montreal Royal Canadian Air Force baseball team a short while ago.

Up at bat for the first time in the local Intermediate Baseball League at Atwater Park, he asked "Has anyone ever hit the building on St. Catharines Street?" As if to provide a partial reply to his own question, Galbraith proceeded to blast the ball onto the aforementioned thoroughfare for a homer.

Another football-playing Toronto schoolteacher has joined the army. Jack Casson, one-time lineman with the University of Toronto football team, who has been teaching the rudiments of rugby to aspiring high school athletes ever since his graduation, has been commissioned in the Canadian Army.

Jud Snell, 24-year-old right wing ace of Ottawa Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers, Allan Cup winners, started his hockey career with the University of Manitoba Juniors in 1936. He enlisted in Brandon, Man.

Maritime boxing fans will remember Sgt.-Major Frank (Marshall) Taylor, formerly of Moncton and Halifax and once Maritime welterweight boxing champion. Taylor added to an active ring career quite a spell of boxing promoting, instructing and managing. Another Maritimer well-known in ring centres, is Gordon Wendell, who is with the R.C.A.F. at Moncton. As Kid Hart he was Maritime featherweight and lightweight champion.

Mel Wilson, 25-year-old snap of the champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has enlisted as an ordinary seaman with the Royal Canadian Navy Volunteer Reserve. A star of the national champions of 1939 and 1941, Wilson was a master at handling lateral passes. He scored a touchdown in last year's final against Ottawa Rough Riders which the Bombers won 18-16.

Gene Homer-Dixon, at present with a British Columbia Regiment, recently spent a furlough in Vancouver where he was noted as a tennis player with the Vancouver Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club.

Lou Somers, now a pilot officer overseas with the R.C.A.F., is remembered by Toronto Varsity football fans as one of the fastest little halfbacks and forward pass receivers in the pre-war inter-collegiate football days...Cam Gray, who played on the half-line with Lou, now holds a commission with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Much interest is coming to the front regarding Group No. 2 of our men's schedule. It seems that there are three rinks in a deadlock for second position, and as this group has a postponed game from Monday, June 1, yet to play it certainly does add spice to the contest. Most likely these game will be called next week.

We notice in the morning's paper that C. Renaud of our club has a rink entered in the provincial tournament. He is drawn against E. R. Pound of Canada Club. He is supported by H. Darling, C. Williamson and E. Sackville.

There was a nice crowd out for the men's treble tournament, eighteen rinks in all. This was the first of its kind this season. The winning skips were P. Moore, G. Coleman, C. Williamson and J. Harrison.

Tonight will be mixed. It's just the usual Saturday night gathering. The draw is made at 7:30 o'clock. The fee is very small. So come out and enjoy bowling at its best.

The men's singles will continue on Monday evening according to the draw as appeared in last night's Examiner.

Refuses To Close California Track

SEATTLE, August 8.—(AP)—Longacres, only major race track operating on the West coast since the outbreak of war, will remain open "unless closed by some authority," Joseph Gottsteein, president of the Washington Jockey Club, declared today after a heated conference with Gov. Arthur B. Langlie.

Langlie had requested the track operators to end their racing season as soon as possible in the interest of the conservation of gasoline and rubber.

Gottstein reported that "if the state wants to close the track they'll have to do it" after Langlie rejected his counter proposal that the season be cut 40 per cent, with the racing days reduced from five to three a week.

Gottstein's legal counsel advised him against closing the plant voluntarily because of commitments which might lead to damage suits.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Nanny Fernandez, Braves — His triple in 11th inning led to victory over Dodgers.

Vince DiMaggio, Pirates—Hit two singles to drive in three runs during eight-run uprising against Cardinals, his second hit coming with bases loaded.

Carl Hubbell, Giants — Pitched perfect ball for five innings and received credit for victory over Phils, although needing help in ninth inning.

Chet Laabs, Browns — Hit 20th home run as contribution to triumph over Tigers.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

The other contestants in the City Softball League playoffs will swing into action at Riverside Park on Monday night when the second place Royals and Luckies who finished third will meet in the first game of a best two-of-three semi-final series, the winner of which will meet the Plaza-Soldiers winner in the finals for the league championship. Royals and Luckies should stage a real argument for the right to enter the final round. While Luckies have defeated Manager Roy Parnell's team in three straight games in the regular schedule, they were all close contests and experience has taught that in playoffs previous results may not mean a thing. On the season's record the two outfits are very evenly matched and the series between them should produce fast, clever ball with the breaks deciding the winner. Manager Parnell has Ronnie Akers and Bob Crowe, formerly of the Juveniles ready for action on the firng line while Fred Griffin of Luckies has Southpaw Bill Lewis and Right-hander Bill Moorhead in reserve. Monday's game will start sharp at 7 o'clock and should draw a big playoff crowd.

The opening game in the City League playoff series between Plazas and Soldiers last night was a honey. Soldiers who finished fourth in the league race came very, very close to pulling a surprise at the expense of the league leaders. Powell, new Soldier pitcher smothered the Plaza attack for eight innings and when the Military Training Centre team scored four runs on four infield hits and a couple of errors in the seventh and went into the last of the ninth leading 4 to 1, it looked as if they were out in front in the best two-of-three semi-final series. Don Crowe saved the day for the hockey squad by coming through with a slashing home run with a runner on the bags to tie up the score at 4-4 and then a walk to Wade and singles by Jim Ellis and Web Starr won the argument for Plazas with two out in the final frame. Joe Blewett shared the hero role with Don Crowe and Art Heal. The centre fielder made a hair-raising catch of a mammoth drive by Nick Sero to deep centre with two out and the bases loaded in the seventh. Had that one got away Sero would have had a homer and the Soldiers four more runs. Heal contributed some fast fielding at shortstop and at bat he started both the Plaza scoring efforts, with a single and double. The second game in the series will be played Wednesday night and it is safe to say that everybody who saw last night's game will be back.

The senior playoffs in the Girls' Softball League will get under way Tuesday night next when the Generals and Westclox who finished in the two top berths in the league race, with the former at the top, will meet in the first game of a best three-of-five series to decide the loop championship and also which team is to enter the Ontario playdowns. With both clubs striving to get the jump on their opponents the Tuesday night clash should be a fitting start to what is expected to be an exciting series. Marg Watson will be called upon by Westclox to hold the Generals in check while the latter will likely start Bea McDowell who pitched fine ball against them in last night's game. Both outfits will have their strongest possible lineups in action Tuesday night, although Generals will be weakened by the absence of Eleanor Craig who is out of the game with a broken thumb. The game will be played at the Bowl, starting at 7 o'clock. The two teams had a fine game last night but Tuesday's should be better.

A Good Game For A Good Cause

There should be a lot of excitement at Riverside Park this evening along about 6.30 o'clock when the revamped Genelco All Stars will clash with the C.G.E. team in the rubber game of the series between the two clubs for the championship of the big south-end plant. Each outfit has won a game and this battle will decide the argument. The C.G.E. will have Eddie Starr, Holly Mowry, Ronnie Akers, Don Crowe, Earl McNabb, George Hawks, Joe Stewart, Phil Pryde and other City League stars in their line-up while Genelco will toss out a number of new players who claim that they can really make the selects from the C.G.E. step to town if they want to grab off a win. The entire proceeds of the game will be turned over to the British War Victims' Fund so that fans who attend this evening will not only see a good ball game between two well-matched clubs but will make a contribution toward a fund that deserves general and continuous support.

The annual Wallace Point Canoe Club regatta and swim meet to be held at Wallace Point on Wednesday afternoon and evening looks like the only aquatic event of the season in this district and should draw a big crowd. The Wallace Point boys really know how to stage a regatta and the program of paddling and rowing events and novelty races starting at 2.30 p.m. promises to be one of the most entertaining staged in these parts in many a moon. There may be a number of special contests for members of the armed forces. Entries from various parts of the Kawartha Lakes are coming in and there will be plenty of high-class competition. Gord Minty, in charge of the swim events which start at 6 o'clock, following the regatta card, also announces that entries are coming in splendidly. Al Marshall who won the men's swim and the Gordon K. Fraser trophy twice in succession is expected to defend his title and he will have plenty of oppositon. A dark horse entry has been received from Pierce Timberlake of Daytona Beach, Florida, who is holidaying at Port Perry. The women's half-mile event for the J. J. Duffus Cup and the two contests for boy and girl swimmers will all draw many entries, it is anticipated.

Wood and Gudahl Tied For Lead.

Craig Wood and Ralph Gudahl scorched the Mississauga course in the second round of the Canadian open yesterday, with three-under-par 69's while Ben Hogan, first day's leader required a 71 with the result that the Mamaroneck, N.Y. and Santa Fe, Calif. pros start out today tied for first place with a total of 135 with Hogan a shot behind and Frank Stranahan, Toledo amateur, in fourth place with 138. Stranahan blazed around yesterday in 67 and was really hot. Top Canadian is Gordie Brydson of Mississauga who negotiated his home course in 69 yesterday and is now fifth with 140. Lex Robson of the Kawartha Club added a 74 to his first day's score of 73 and has a half way total of 147, three over par and 12 shots behind the leaders. Willie Spittal the Peterborough pro clipped five off his first day's efforts with a 75 for a total of 156.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Not once in last night's ball game did the Plazas succeed in getting the first batter up on base. That must be one for the book....Soldiers had a loyal crowd of rooters last night and their noise-making gadgets included a siren. They had a lot of fun, too—until the last half of the ninth....It was a real playoff game, packed full of excitement....Chet Laabs hit his 20th homer of the season last night and St. Louis Browns took the only game played in the American loop by 3 to 2 from Detroit....Johnnie Niggeling was the winning pitcher....In the National loop the Brooklyn Dodgers dropped an 11 innings game to Boston, Casey being the losing pitcher....However the Bums did not lose any ground for Pittsburg Pirates, grabbing off their fifth straight win walloped the Cards in a free-hitting game 13 to 6....Harry Shuman won his fourth game in a row for the Toronto Maple Leafs last night, holding Baltimore to seven hits as the Leafs won 2 to 1....Generals and Westclox played good ball in the final battle of the regular schedule in the Girls' League last night and the playoff series between the two which starts Tuesday night should be full of thrills....Plazas pulled off the only double play last night and it was smartly executed. Crowe threw out McIlveen at first base and Ellis fired the ball to Heal at second in time to head off the runner at that sack.

Generals Take Lead Defeat Westclox

Generals grabbed off first place in the Ladies' Softball League Friday night by defeating Westclox 7 to 5 in a well-played game, thus bringing to an end a Big Ben winning streak that had been extended to seven straight victories. The two team will play off for the Senior girls' championship, with the first game of a best-three-of-five series scheduled for Tuesday night at the Bowl.

Westclox did not go down without a struggle and they were a threat until the last player was out in the ninth.

Generals won the argument by a four-run rally in the second inning on four hits and an error, and with that promising start they were able to hold off the green and white team. Westclox did tie it up in the sixth, but Generals scored single runs in the seventh and eighth to win out.

Bea McDowell, who pitched against Electric Thursday night, was sent right back at the Westclockers last night, and came through with another nice effort, although the Big Bens broke through her service for a total of 11 hits, including a homer by Marg. Hawthorne.

Marg. Watson pitched for Westclox and outside of the second frame when Generals bunched hits for four runs she got along nicely until she ran into trouble again in the eighth. After Generals had scored a run in that frame and had the bases loaded with none out, Isobel Bullock went in as relief pitcher and retired the side, striking out Bea McDowell and Phyllis Bigelow and getting Ruth Hewitt on a fly.

Marilyn McCarthy led the Generals with three hits and Phyllis Bigelow, who had a homer the previous night, came through with another four-master.

Marilyn McCarthy came up with some nice fielding at second base for the winners and Aggie Anderson supplied a fielding gem by a fine catch of Bea McDowell's drive in the seventh.

Generals scored four in the second. Ruth Hewitt, May Wade and M. McCarthy all singled in a row; Elva Adamson was safe on an error and after A. DeCarlo had rolled out, Norma Strickland also singled, the net result being a quartette of counters.

Westclox got one back in their half on errors by Phyllis McQuaide and P. Bigelow and a wild pitch, Isobel Bullock crossing the plate. In the fourth the Big Bens made it closer when Marg. Hawthorne, first up, hammered out a homer.

Generals boosted the score to 5 to 2 in the first of the sixth on a hit, an error and a wild pitch, but Westclox staged a rally in the second half of the nnings, and sewed up the ball game by scoring three times on hits by Marg. Hawthorne, V McLean and Barbara Rome and three Generals' errors.

Phyllis Bigelow drove in the winning run for Generals in the seventh, with a homer and in the eighth, two bases on balls and two hits scored another for the winners and Isobel Bullock relieved Marg. Watson and retired the side.

Bea McDowell blanked Westclox in the last three frames although they had two hits n the eighth.

Playoff On Labor Day

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 8.—(ENS).—Bowlers from Campbellford and Stirling will play off for the right to participate in the provincial finals in Hamilton on Labor Day. Playdowns for district 15 are to be played in Campbellford on Monday as the result of the toss of a coin. President Bert Taylor of the local club tossed with H. R. Tompkins of Stirling on Monday last to see if they would play in Stirling or Campbellford. Bert Taylor won the toss and consequently Campbellford, representing the winners of Group A will meet Stirling who eliminated other clubs in Group B. The local singles, doubles and rinks are the same men who a year ago won the provincial play-offs. Monday's contest will be as follows: Singles, A. D. Bennett, Campbellford, vs. Earl Fox; doubles, W. S. Wiggins and J. P. Archer, of Campbellford, vs. F. Mallory and R. A. Patterson; rinks, Dr. O. C. Watson, C. W. Palliser, A. J. Meyers, H. J. Taylor of Campbellford, vs. W. J. Whitty, T. W. Solmes, H. R. Thompkins, S. L. Lucas.

R.C.A.F. To Enter Teams

MIDLAND, Ont., Aug. 8.—(CP)—The Royal Canadian Air Force will enter teams in the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's senior games series across Canada, it was announced today by George Dudley, immediate past president of the Canadian Hockey Association, following a conference here last night with Sqdn. Ldr. Lionel Conacher, sports director for the R.C.A.F.

"The Air Force will enter teams from every command across the Dominion," said Dudley, "and it is a matter of great satisfaction to C.H.A. officers. We would like to see the Army and Navy do the same thing."

Manual Ortiz Lifts Bantam Title

By ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8.—(AP).—(AP).—The new bantamweight boxing champion of the world is a 25 year old Mexican who a few years ago picked beans in his native Imperial Valley of California for $2 a day.

The ex-bean picker, Manuel Ortiz, lifted the bantamweight bauble off the weary brow of Lou Salica of New York last night in a 12-round match that kept 6,000 fans alternately excited and bored.

The El Centro lad won going away, but the game little New Yorker, a veteran of more than 10 years in the prize ring, gave his best when he knew from the outset that his crown was slipping away from him.

He tried to fight in close and got whipped. He stood off and let fly from long range, and the long-armed Mexican boy slapped him across the ring. Some of the rounds were close, but Referee Abe Roth gave Salica but one round, the first. The Associated Press card, along with two ringside judges, was more charitable. It scored three rounds for the dark-haired Italian.

It was revenge for Ortiz. Salica outpointed him in 1939, two years after Ortiz, winner of the national golden gloves title at Boston as a flyweight, emerged from the amateur ranks.

Salica almost won the bout last night in the first round. He walked out at the gong, missed a cautious left, fell into a clinch and Ortiz came out with blood streaming from the corner of his left eye. There was doubt whether it was from a punch or an unintential butt.

The going was rough for the next few rounds. The boys stood inside, clipping away. The partisan Ortiz crowd booed Salica. Both boys were tiring at the finish. Salica finished the stronger, but Ortiz by this time was in no danger.

Salica earned his guarantee of $6,000, Ortiz got $250. The card netted $17,298, and some $10,000 will be turned over to buy athletic equipment for army camps in this region.

Salica weghed 117, Ortiz 116¼.

Swim Record Rubbed Out

NEW LONDON, Conn. August 8.—(AP)—The annual revision of the record book for swimming reaches its midway point to-day with two new figures already posted.

A pair of Hawaiians, Keo Nakama and Billy Smith, Jr., started the 1942 National A. A. U. Outdoor Tank Meet of on the right tempo last night by rubbing out one world and one American record.

And today, Smith and Adolph Keifer of Chicago are expected to do the record breaking.

Smith, son of a Honolulu policeman and a student of Ohio State University, sped through 220-yards of blue-green water in the Ocean Beach Park Pool in 2.10.7 last night to erase the 2:13.1 clocking by Otto Jaretz of Chicago in 1940.

Nakama, now also a student at the Buckeye School, made a ghost of Jack Medica's eightyear-old mark in the mile, lowering the figures from 20:57.8 to 20:29.

Today Smith will focus his aim on the 440-yard free style standard with Nakam as a foe while Keifer will strive to retain his 110-yard crown. Smith is the defending champion in the quarter.

National League Hockey Still Doubtful

OTTAWA, Aug. 8 (CP)—The National Hockey League representing a conservatively-estimated $1,250,000 stake in the world's fastest sport, stands better than a gambler's chance today to survive the greatest crisis in its 25-year history.

President Frank Calder still isn't talking, except to say that any comment would hurt the League, but the National Selective Service officials who will decide its wartime fate strongly hint the N.H.L. will be allowed to continue, for the 1942-43 season at least.

Selective Service Director Elliott M. Little, fresh from a Thursday conference with Calder, reduced the issue to a straight decision between morale and manpower requirements when he disclosed yesterday that Calder is preparing a list of Canadians playing in the league, their age, marital status and eligibility for armed service, for submission to the Selective Service office.

Stressing that no decision has been made on how deeply war requirements will dip into manpower available for the professional circuit which was organized in 1917, Little said it may be necessary "to give some consideration to maintaining the N.H.L. in some form, or on some basis, or else we would face the problem of replacing what it at present means to hundreds of thousands of Canadians in entertainment and maintenance of morale."

Plenty Of Comment

Sport items were popping like firecrackers all over the landscape yesterday. Little's statement that he is "entirely sympathetic with the repatriation to amateur standing by teams in the armed forces of hockey players from the professional teams" looked like the opening wedge for what everybody has been expecting—some kind of military service set-up beside which even the National League would be a poor relation.

This was given further color by reports circulating in Ottawa that the Senators will withdraw from the Quebec Senior League and support a team in a service loop embracing clubs from Cornwall, Kingston, Petawawa and possibly some other centre.

There is enough high-test talent in the neighborhood to make such a set-up the strongest league in Canada, N.H.L. or no N.H.L. Ottawa presumably could draw on such players as Mac and Neil Colville, Ken Reardon, Jack McGill, Joe Cooper, Allan Kuntz, Gordie Bruce and a host of other professionals wither in the services here or reported on their way. Kingston, Petawawa and Cornwall all have their quota of name players.

Meanwhile, Sqdn. Ldr. Lionel Conacher was hatching plans with George Dudley, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, for some kind of Air Force hockey team. If the director of R.C.A.F. athletics succeeds in producing another team like R.C.A.F. Flyers, which dropped only two games en route to the Allan Cup last year, and if the Army league materializes, hockey will provide an unscheduled test of air strength vs. land power.

Shuman Breaks Toronto's Losing Streak

By The Associated Press

"Say it with home runs." That's the slogan of Buffalo Bisons for the 1942 International League season, and now they have added a Frank Merriwell touch.

In the first game of the Thursday twin bill with Jersey City the Herd was trailing 3-0 going into the last inning, when Mayo Smith, with the bases loaded, hit a winning homer.

This scene was almost duplicated last night. With the score tied at 2-2, Jim Levey drove one out of the lot in the last frame to give the Buffs a 3-2 triumph in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Bisons also won the nightcap, 7-2, to advance to within half a game of fourth place. Frank Heller led the 11-hit attack on Adrian Zabala with a homer and two singles. Smith also clouted one for the distance to bring his total to 11.

After an absence of one year, Gene Lillard returned to the mound as a starting hurler for the last-place Rochester Red Wings. Lillard hurled a 4-1 two-hit victory over Syracuse Chiefs in the first game of a twin feature.

In the finale, Red Barrett, ace of the Chief staff, shut out the Wings, 2-0, for his 16th conquest. Barrett gave up only four hits, struck out seven and didn't grant a walk. Barrett retired 16 of the last 17 Red Wings he faced.

Harry Shuman broke a five-game Toronto losing streak by scattering seven Baltimore Oriole hits, for a 2-1 victory. The former relief specialist struck out nine and lost his shutout on an error.

A five-run uprising in the eighth inning, highlighted by Aaron Robinson's triple with the bases loaded, gave the league-leading Newark Bears a 6-4 triumph over Montreal.

Steve Roser was credited with the victory although he gave way to Al Gerheauser in the last of the eighth when the Royals threatened.

They Didn't Have Many Winners

One thing about this picture, it proves these two jockeys at Arlington Park, Chicago, didn't have many winners this day. At least, from appearance, we'd say they were following, not leading other horses home. At the LEFT, is L. Balaski and, RIGHT, F. A. Smith, both leading riders in the Midwest.

Cardinals Bumped In 8-Run Rally

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just when Pittsburg fans were becoming resigned to having their Pirates finish in the second division of the National League and friends of Manager Frankie Frisch were feeling fluttery about his future, the Buccaneers have launched a five-game winning streak. However, they still are a good stone's throw from fourth place—five games to be meticulous.

Last night they bumped off St. Louis Cardinals 13-6 with one devastating eight-run blast in the second inning. The Redbirds were scrambling, using five pitchers themselves and making Frisch remove Hank Gornicki in the third during a three-run rally.

But there never was any doubt of how the game was going to end because the Pirates made 16 hits and Lefty Aldon Wilkie pitched winning ball in relief.

Champs Beated 2-1

This kept Brooklyn Dodgers from losing any of their ample first-place margin, although the champions were nosed out 2-1 in 11 innings by the lowly Boston Braves. The trick was turned through a triple by Andy Fernandez after two were out. A few moments after Fernandez had perched on third, Shortstop Peewee Reese fumbled Max West's grounder for the only error of the game to let in the deciding run.

New York Giants downed Philadelphia Phils 6-4 with a 14-hit attack that had plenty of authority. However, the fans' interest in the game centred around Carl Hubbell, veteran southpaw star of the Giants. He pitched perfect ball for 5 1-3 innings, allowing no hits and no runner to reach first. Then he tired and was touched for a two-run homer by Tommy Livingston in the seventh and another two-run circuit clout by Albie Glossop in the ninth, after which Ace Adams was called in to relieve him. Hubbell got credit for his seventh victory.

In the only American League game St. Louis Browns beat Detroit Tigers 3-2 with Chet Laabs' 20th homer of the year helping provide the impetus.

Weather forced postponement of the other games on the schedule, which originally called for one two-night and six night engagements without a single daytime game.

Second Round 71 Puts Hogan Back Of Leaders

MISSISSAUGA GOLF COURSE, Port Credit, Ont., Aug. 8—(CP)—The Canadian Open Golf Championship field of 120 golfers was narrowed today to 61 who qualified with 36-hole scores of 155 or better for the final 36 holes of the 72-hole annual classic.

Leaders in the $3,600 tournament as it swung into its last day were two men as opposite as the poles—Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Ralph Guldahl of Santa Fe, Cal. Wood is tall but heavy, a long-hitting, impatient golfer. Guldahl is the lad the gallery goes for, an easy-going Southerner with a temperament that can stand hard going, but would rather not.

Wood and Guldahl shot 66's Thursday and 69's yesterday for their 36-hole deadlock at 135. One stroke back was Ben Hogan, whose record-cracking 65 in the first round was not good enough to stand up under all the bad golf he played yesterday. He fell off to a 71 in the second round, one underpar, for a 36-hole total of 136.

Low Amateur of 138

Frank Stranahan was fourth in the tournament and low amateur with 138, fashioned from the 71 he shot the first day and a 67 yesterday that was best score of the second round. Stranahan is a husky blond from Toledo, Ohio, whose forte is hitting. He's one of the best hitters in the tournament and when he's putting well there are few men in the field who can match him.

Low Canadian was Gordon Brydson, Mississauga professional, who added a 69 yesterday to his first-round 71 for 140. Bill Ezinicki of Oshawa, Ont., and Phil Farley of Toronto Scarborough club were tied for the low Canadian amateur position.

The big disappointments yesterday were Hogan and Clayton Heafner of Durham, N.C. Hogan had a gallery of approximately 500 following him until it became apparent that there were better golfers on the course that day, and although some left hundreds stuck with him until the finish. Heafner, whose 68 Thursday came after he slipped to a 37 on the second nine, was expected to tear the course apart. He didn't, coming in with a 73.

The golfers found this 6,543-yard layout generally more difficult yesterday than it had been on the first day. The qualifying score was two strokes higher than most observers expected.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG,
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ont.,

MISSISSUGA GOLF CLUB, PORT CREDIT, Ont., August 8. —(CP). —The natural thing for people to do after watching Joe Kirkwood of Abington, Pa., go through his amazing routine of trick golf shots is wander over to the scoreboard and find out where Mr. Kirkwood is in the tournament. It takes them quite a while to find him if they start the top and work down. The best idea is to start in the middle, because in most major tournaments that's where trickshot Kirkwood winds up.

You'd think a golfer who can hit two balls at once with a standard iron and make them cross in mid-air by putting a slice on one and a hook on the other should be able to do something better than average in actual competition. But Joe is only average playing straight golf. He bears down like everyone else, misses iron shots and putts, drifts along well out of the big money.

At the halfway mark in the 72-hole Canadian Open Kirkwood was 72-75-147. After he shot that 75 he went out and did things with a golf club no other golfer in the world can do. He hit 325 yards down the middle with a driver that weighed 10 times an average club's weight. He hit a ball straight and long with a rubber-handled club. He stood one ball on top of another hitting one along the fairway and the other up in the air. Then he took one step and caught it.

The payoff, as far as S. Young is concerned, was when he lined up five golf balls, turned his head away and dropped all five straight down the fairway. His head was turned so far he couldn't have seen the balls with a rear-vision mirror. But he hit every one right on the nose, and told the crowd of 1,500 persons watching that obviously this stuff about keeping one's eye on the ball is a lot of boloney.

That was last night. To-day he'll be out on the course with the rest of the boys, keeping his head down, watching his feet, playing serious golf. And he'll probably wind up with another 75.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—(AP)—Although most of last year's young big league players are in the service, Madison Square Garden is definitely counting on having hockey this winter. "Hasn't been explained yet how teams will be rounded up, except that there will be plenty of 18 and 19-year-old Canadian boys in the lineups . . . Anyway, the boys who make the arrangements have been given the go-ahead signal . . . and what goes for the Garden probably goes for the other National League cities . . . Minor league rinks likely will have to depend on those profitable skating shows.

One reason for those fancy scores in the Canadian Open is that practically all the U.S. pros are playing the small-sized ball, illegal here.

Gridiron Grapevine

After giving out with the usual quota of sobs, North Carolina's dope sheet tells something about the Navy pre-flight school team and concludes: "The entire picture adds up to the fact that this fall Chapel Hill should be the football centre of the Sou'h."

Hard Luck Harrys

Jimmy Johnston, who is old enough to know better, took a holiday at Indian Lake, N.J., the other day, fell off a bicycle and fractured two ribs. But if you think that's a tough break, Freddie Sommers (1) wants to raise a big squawk over the decision they handed his boy, Cleo Shans, at Holyoke, Mass., the other night; (2) He has to explain to his Los Angeles draft board why he couldn't report there the same day the notice reached him in New York; (3) He wants to tell all about his new fighter Billy Strauss of Wilkes Barre, Pa. . . . and Freddie has a busted jaw all wired up so he can't talk above a painful whisper for six weeks.

U.S. Destroyer Sinks U Boat in Atlantic

Geysers of water are shown shooting into the ozone as this U.S. destroyer sows her depth charges. After dropping the charges, oil slicks and bubbles (arrows) appeared, indicating that a lurking enemy sub had been destroyed. The sub had been first sighted by a coastguard plane which dropped its depth charges and then called for assistance. The destroyer rushed to the scene of action, somewhere off the Atlantic coast, and took over. Part of the coastguard plane is visible at the UPPER LEFT of the photo.

U.S. Engineers Raise Scuttled Dock

By HARRY CROCKETT.

CAIRO, Aug. 8 — (AP).—United States workmen engaged in one of the greatest mass salvage operations in naval history have completed the raising at Massaua, Eritrea, of a dry dock capable of handling 10,000-ton cruisers. The work was done under United States Naval Captain Edward Ellsberg of Westfield, N.J., salvager of the United States submarine S51 off Block Island in 1925 and author of many books on diving and salvage work.

I first met Captain Ellsberg, then a reserve commander, at Portsmouth, N.H., during rescue work on the United States submarine Squalus in 1939. I had not seen him until Thursday, during his brief visit from Eritrea

The Massaua Harbor, under Mussolini, was the biggest Italian naval base outside Italy. Just before it fell to British forces more than a year ago, Italian and German captains scuttled all ships and drydocks and sabotaged harbor shops.

They boasted that they did their job thoroughly but Captain Ellsberg said, "I wish the Italian captain who sank it (the drydock) and boasted it never could be raised could see it now."

Twenty-six ships and a similar floating dock capable of handling destroyers and ordinary freighters were sent to the bottom in that mass scuttling.

Within an hour after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor last December 7, Ellsberg headed for Washington. He went on active naval duty the next day.

In February he left New York and arrived in Eritrea in March. Then he put on a diver's suit and descended to the ocean floor for a look at the big drydock.

Ellsberg then had thirteen American civilian divers under the command of Captain William Reed, a former naval officer. They had only two diving suits among them and no salvage ship or other equipment.

They found the dock had eight watertight compartments. Into each the Italians had dropped a 200-pound bomb, one a dud.

They began diving May 11 and had the dock afloat May 27, completing "the impossible" in nine days.

The task had to be accomplished with unorthodox means. None of the holes except those on top air-tight locks was repaired.

With pumps and air compressors borrowed from the British Navy, Ellsberg floated the dock and, lacking other workers, used the salvage men to repair the damage.

Although now 50 years old and much greyer and thinner due to the Eritrean heat, which he recorded personally at 149 degrees at the centre of the dock and 168 degrees on the steel plates where the men were working. Ellsberg still dives regularly.

He said he considers all the Italian and German vessels in Massaua can be salvaged.

Most of those vessels were of the 8,000-ton freighter-passenger class. There were also two big 14,000-ton German passenger ships, the Liebenfells and a former Hansa liner.

Tied Up 18 Street Cars

CHICAGO, Aug. 8—(AP).—Fined $5 on a disorderly conduct charge filed after she tied up 18 street cars by refusing to get off a car that had passed her stop, Miss Rose Kane, 48, wasn't going to be pushed around even in court.

"This is a holdup," she cried. So the court reduced the fine to $2. Still she protested. The Judge offered to reduce it to $1. "That's too much," she replied and then offered $10 "if the city needs the money." Bewildered, the Judge ordered no commitment on a $1 fine.

Isolated Stump Ranch Has Become Steadily Expanding RCAF Station

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A WEST COAST CANADIAN AIR STATION, Aug. 8 — (CP). — Two years ago it was an isolated stump ranch on the widerness coast of British Columbia—to-day it's a steadily expanding Royal Canadian Air Force station from which flying boats roar out to patrol the Pacific sea lanes.

The story of this base is typical in the development of west coast defences in the past months. At strategic points along the coast the forest is being pushed back to make way for stations manned by personnel drawn from all parts of Canada.

The men who fly the planes and those who service them are on a war footing around the clock. Lights burn in the hangar workshops through the night and work crews carry on their endless task of repair and adjustment.

Repair Flying Boats.

Minor repair jobs are performed on the flying boats while they ride at their moorings in a sheltered anchorage but for major repairs they are hauled from the water into the hangars.

Beaching an aircraft calls for four men who don't mind chilly water, such as Lac. H. Reading of Millet, Alta., Ac. W. G. L. Inch of Alliston, Ont., Ac. J. A. Struthers of Haney, B.C., and Ac. A. W. L. Reid of Thornton, Ont.

Clad in bathing and 'Mae West' life jackets, they waded out to a plane which had taxied inshore and under the glare of searchlights fixed 'dollies' under the wings and tail.

Towed by a tractor driven by IAC H. F. Copp of Grand Falls, N.B., the big flying boat slowly emerged tail first from the water. In the hangar it was turned over to a night crew which included Cpl. R. Penwill of Windsor, Ont.

A visit to the same worshop during the day found a crew busy regrinding valves. Hurrying to take their places on pay parade were AC. R. M. Snelson of Brockville, Ont.; AC. J. D. Mowat of Toronto; AC C. M. Alton of Brockwood, Ont.

No smoking is strictly the order in and around the hangars with the exception of an asbestos-lined room to which men can retire and light up for a 10-minute break twice on each shift.

Well Guarded

To enforce such orders as well as to keep unauthorized persons away, security guards, especially trained for the task, are on duty at all approaches to the station. They carry out their instructions so thoroughly a reporter recently was picked up and detained until they were satisfied of his purpose on the premises.

Maintenance of the station and its equipment are not the only purpose for which the R.C.A.F. needs men. In the mountains behind here a work construction crew is bulling its way through the forest to link up the station by telephone with the nearest town some 70 miles away.

Members of the crew include IAC R. H. Drinnan of Toronto.

Wing Cmdr. R. Mair of Edmonton is station commander, with Flt. Lt. Eric Beardmore of Montreal, who survived a ducking in the Thames River when his fighter plane was shot down during the Battle of Britain, second-in-commend.

POLISH-SCOT MARRIAGES

GLASGOW—(CP).—In the two years that Polish troops have been training in Scotland there have been 700 marriages between Polish soldiers and Scots lassies.

It's Good—If It Works

Inventor Andrew Sedlmeier, of Oakland, stands beneath movable engine of the low-winged monoplane which he has spent 12 years in constructing. When the pilot wants to go up, all he has to do (according to Sedlmeier) is move the motor until it points upward. This gives propeller more pull, inventor claims, and speeds rise. The tail flaps go up at same time, helping immediate rise. All of the plane is in his back yard; it has never been in the air.

18-Pound Muskie Tows Boat Anglers Claim

TWEED, Aug. 8 — (ENS).—Wallace Moon, Tweed, and Stan. Kerr, Belleville, have the prize fish story of the season, and they secured the goods to prove it. They were fishing for bass in the river-mouth leading to the West Branch Bridge, when they had their "lucky" strike. Mr. Kerr tossed a gutted hook, having as bait a comparatively small minnow, into the weeds near Still House rock when he saw his line carried in toward shore. Then the fish swerved and headed for deeper water. The two men realized that they had hooked more than a paltry bass and the big problem was, how to land it. They had no gaff-hook for battling a big fish. However, Mr. Moon quickly lifted the anchor and pulled for the river channel. By this time the fish had taken most of the silk line from the reel, and Kerr expected to see it snap any minute. He managed to regain part of it by manoeuvring the fish carefully, and they planned to head for the beach on the south shore where they could abandon boat and probably get their hands on the fish which they realized was a muskie. Tom Beatty and Laurison Ketcheson were coming up along the shore and they were attracted by the shouts of the two anglers. Mr. Beatty turned his boat around, gave the motor full speed and headed for Gordon's cottage. Carman Atton, an angler of note himself, responded to their pleas within a few minutes and produced a gaff-hook. During this time, Kerr and Moon were being towed around the lake by the fish and were losing hope of holding it until help arrived. Finally the trio returned with the needed weapon and Kerr slowly hauled the game battler close to the boat. In one last effort for freedom, it arched out of the water and dove beneath the craft, but Mr. Moon managed to pull it aboard with the gaff. The scales revealed 18 pounds of battling muskie.

Many Being Taken

The muskies are really going for anything in Stoco Lake and adjoining streams during the past week. Bill Beatty, an ardent fisherman landed a 17-pounder last evening, while using a plug just east of Stoney Point.

Mrs. Thomas Orr, Belleville, while casting from Kerr's Bridge in the Moira River, hooked an 18-pound muskie.

Apparently worms are just as good as the fancy flies used by most anglers, as bait used for ordinary still fishing at the present time are attracting the large species of the local waters.

Mrs. R. A. Woods took a 4½-lb. bass from the lake, while the editor of the Tweed News, S. R. Curry, landed a three-pound bass while casting along the river near Lost Channel

Joan and Glenn Connor, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Connor, accomplished a natatorial feat of note when they swam across Stoco Lake from the Memorial Park dock to the Watson cottage at the eastern end of Sugar Island. The distance is about 1¾ miles and the time taken was 1½ hours. Neither of them were tired when they walked up the shore at the island. Their parents accompanied them in a boat, remaining within a few feet of the young swimmers.

Peace With Russia

LONDON, Aug. 8—(CP). — BBC said today that Dr. Julio Passikivi, former Finnish envoy to Russia, told Danish journalists in Copenhagen that in Finland the question of peace with Russia is often discussed.

NEW PRESIDENT TAKES OVER.

BOGOTA, Colombia—(AP).— Dr. Alfonso Lopez Pumerajo, president of Colombia from 1934 to 1938, returns to office to-day for a second term.

A banker turned Social Reformer, Lopez came back only laht week from a 26-day visit to the United States, during which he conferred with President Roosevelt.

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS FOR TAXES

COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

TO WIT:

BY VIRTUE OF A WARRANT made under the hand of the Warden and Seal of the County of Peterborough and to me directed, bearing date the 8th Day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-two I am commanded under the authority of the Statutes in that behalf to levy on the land hereinafter mentioned and described, for the arrears of taxes due thereon with the costs as hereinafter directed by the said Act. Therefore I give notice that unless the said arrears and costs are sooner paid I will proceed to Sell by Public Auction at the Court House in the City of Peterborough on the Sixth Day of October, 1942, at the hour of Ten o'clock (D.S.T.) in the Forenoon, the said Lands or so much thereof as may be necessary for the Taxes, and all lawful charges incurred in and about such Sales, and the collection of the Taxes.

A List of the Lands for Sale for Arrears of Taxes will be published in The Ontario Gazette on Saturday, July 4th, 1942. Copies of the List of Lands for Sale may be had in my Office.

FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS.
Having secured a remand when he appeared before on a charge of drunkenness a local young man changed his plea to guilty in police court this morning and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

GET COMMISSIONS.
Two well known Peterborough boys, another from Lakefield and one from Bowmanville, are among the cadets graduating from Brockville Officers' Training College this week. The Peterborough boys are Cadet Lionel E. Tomkins, 483 George street, south; and Cadet 2-Lt. William Cranford, 305 Elias avenue. Cadet Philip J. Goldsmith comes from Lakefield and Cadet 2-Lt. Aleck Birks lives in Bowmanville.

ON THE AIR.
Sgt. Gerald Haig of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, will be heard on the radio broadcast from London on Sunday. He is listed on the program, 'Greetings from the Beaver Club,' between 12.30 and 1 noon, over the station CBL.

SIR ELLSWORTH FLAVELLE COMING
Sir Ellsworth Flavelle of Toronto, chairman of the Ontario branch and a director of the Federal Committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada will address the members of the Peterborough Rotary Club on Monday on 'The Air Cadet League of Canada.' This timely subject is expected to be of great interest to the Rotarians.

Dependents' Board Of Trustees Set Up To Aid Soldiers' Families

The Dependents' Board of Trustees that was set up all over the country a few months ago was formed with the idea of lifting a burden of worry and responsibility from the shoulders of the man who is serving his country. It is an organization set up to supplement married allowances and allowances approved by the Dependents' Board, with the sole idea of helping out when an unexpected crisis arises in the home where the allowance is not sufficient to cover it.

The new board is not a charitable organization. It is simply a board created to supplement the earnings of those families who have released the breadwinner to the army. The powers of this board are very wide and the conditions under which it operates are very flexible. There are three sets of conditions under which it operates. The first is that the benefits of the plan are restricted to the families of servicemen below the rank of Warrant Officer, Class 1. Secondly, the family must be receiving an allowance before it can apply for assistance. Thirdly, every request for additional money must be accompanied by proof that it is needed.

The financial assistance given is not a loan. The money is handed over outright, and there is no obligation to pay it back. It has already helped many who were in difficulties. All requests are investigated through recognized local welfare organizations, but it should be stressed that this is not "charity."

Applications for these supplementary grants should not be made to Ottawa, but to the regional branch, which in this case would be the Dependents' Advisory Board Committee, Peterborough. When a case is reported to one of these committees, it issues a form to be filled out by the applicant. A consultant from one of the local social organizations is then assigned to check and discuss the application with the applicant. If the request is a fair one, action is taken at once to help the family over its difficulties. Amounts not exceeding $30 may be issued at once by this Committee and larger sums or regular monthly allowances, must be approved by the Board in Ottawa. But it should be remembered that applications should not be made directly to the Board itself, because they will be sent back to the nearest regional Dependents' Advisory Committee.

War Workers May Enter Fair Show

SELWYN, Aug. 8—(ENS).—At the War Workers' meeting held this week, there were 17 present and there were 12 pair socks and two scarves turned in. In the day's work the ladies completed five quilts. The children from S.S. No. 7 Smith gathered a lot of rubber, sold it as salvage, and donated the funds to the War Workers. Duncan Seymour is their teacher.

At S.S. No. 9 Smith, under the direction of Miss Graham, the teacher, the children pieced together a beautiful quilt-top which they kindly donated also.

The Lakefield Fair Board has written this branch, asking if they would consider entering an exhibit in the competition for the Red Cross branches at the Fair this Fall. This exhibit is to be made up of one cloth quilt finished, one man's pullover sweater, 1 pair seaman's socks, 1 pair short socks, 1 pair gloves, 1 scarf, 1 helmet (ribbed).

It is to be decided at a later date whether or not they will enter.

Personals

Mr. Ray Crapp of Hamilton called on relatives here on Wednesday, before leaving to enter the Air Observers' School for training navigation students at Chatham N.B.

Miss Marion Elliott is holidaying in Peterborough with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Blewett.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bell left for Toronto this week, where she will spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. John Steiner.

Mrs. Mary Vansickle and daughter Mildred of Toronto visited with relatives here recently.

Mrs. Lynley Pratt and son Bobby and Tommy of Kamloops, B.C., arrived at the home of Mrs. Pratt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott on Saturday last for a month's vacation. Mr. Pratt is to arrive later.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Redden and family, accompanied by Mrs. Redden's mother, Mrs. Nixon, all of Trent River, spent last Wednesday with relatives here.

Banker Outlines How The War Affects Banks

Merely as an observation of fact and without a suggestion of complaint, T. T. Rodger, manager of the local branch of the Dominion Bank, told the Kiwanis Club at luncheon Friday that war conditions have variously affected banking business and to a considerable extent adversely.

Since almost the beginning of the war dealings in foreign exchange have been absorbed by the Federal Government with the banks virtually as agents on a fixed small commission basis, thereby removing "a vast expanse of terrain from which business might arise for Canadian banks," Mr. Rodger said.

"The recurrent war loan bond issues, with which we are all familiar, have placed a heavy responsibility and much labor upon all Canadian banks and their branches, to such an extent that some members of the various staffs of most branches have required to specialize and give substantial time and effort in this field of work, the remuneration to the bank being quite inadequate in ratio to work and responsibility involved. This condition applies even to a greater extent in the case of War Savings Certificates sales wherein there is no compensating remuneration."

Domestic Banking.

"In the department of domestic banking the war has resulted in substantially changed conditions, and while the volume of work has materially increased the return for much of this increased service has not kept apace. In most branch banks a larger staff is required than was the case in the piping times of peace and I question very much whether many individual branches are maintaining a net return equal to that which they enjoyed prior to the commencement of the war.

"To be more specific and give you data regarding the domestic banking situation as it has been affected by the war, take the instance of weekly bank clearings—figures for week of July 23, 1942, $833,840; corresponding figures for week of July 27, 1939, $511,319. While these figures are subject, as you likely are aware, normally to some fluctuation, and on that account any conclusion which an analysis brings out must be taken with this fact in mind. You will say banks have a 60 per cent. increase in business as revealed by the increased clearing figures.

"Quite true, we are cashing more cheques but these for the most part are local cheques, and for this 60 per cent. increased work I doubt very much if we get any added revenue. You have all noticed the crowded state of Peterborough banks during the end and beginning of each month when Government wage, war allowance and assigned pay cheques are being encashed. It should not be hard to convince even the most sceptical, in which category perhaps one or two of our membership might be included, that this added work is unprofitable —particularly when it is known that all Federal and Provincial Government cheques are negotiable without charge at any bank in Canada, irrespective of the point upon which they are drawn.

"Charles Saunders told us last Friday how beneficially at least one of the measures of the Wartime Prices and Trades Board reacted for his type of business, and whereby charge accounts were now in much lesser volume. Develop that situation further and you undisputably find that the merchant who may have needed some banking accommodation previously can now get along without it because he has fewer accounts receivable. This situation would create a reduction in local bank loans and the banks' earnings. Further, general manufacturing business wisely, and with a view to improving its liquid position, and as a further outcome of reduced inventories which also applies to retailers in general, now find very much less need of its line of credit. This situation, pleasant as it must be for the manufacturer and retailer alike, may not be viewed in the same light by the bank who sees its loans in lower figures.

"It is unnecessary to add that irrespective of the worries which any enterprise may experience in the continuance, during the war, of its operations, these are but a trifle and must be looked upon as such, compared to the humiliation which even the thought of the country's war effort being retarded by the reluctance of business to co-operate. The fighting forces hazard life for the cause—any lesser sacrifice is therefore incomparable."

Pacific Coast Shangri-La's Point At Japan

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

SOMEWHERE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA Aug. 8.—(CP).— I've just been shangri-la building.

That's as closely as President Roosevelt identified the take-off base for the United States bombers that raided Japan and it's as close as military authorities will permit identification of this big new airfield:

There are lots of these shangri-la's along the Pacific coast—built, building and as yet on paper. They're thorns pointed at the side of Japan.

The base I visited is in the building stage. A few months ago virgin timber in solid ranks over the rock ground. But the big 'cats' have been busy and to-day it's a sea of churned-up dirt and roots on which broad flat runways already are appearing.

Step into the forest a few hundred yards off the airfield and you wonder how they did it, so wild and rugged is the wilderness. All supplies had to be freighted in by boat to the nearest landing point several miles away, and then brought over a dirt road which itself had to be built as the first step in construction.

Seasoned Builders.

A miniature town to house the construction workers has sprung up—row on row of neat wooden shacks on one flank of the field. Most of them are men who have been in this work since boyhood, building railways and highways, or cutting logging roads through the timber. They draw good pay for their labor in this isolated spot.

An advance party of the Royal Canadian Air Force already is on the scene, living in a cluster of tents beside a gravelled runway on which aircraft stand in readiness night and day.

Surprisingly, they enjoy living in this outpost, despite its necessary hardships.

"I haven't had as much fun since I was a kid," remarked a red-headed flight sergeant, gazing around at the barren scene with a grin.

For diversion there's a canteen where beer and soft drinks are kept cool in a hole in the ground. There's a gramophone that grinds out popular music, and there's a dart board on which the boys are becoming skilled marksmen. They have to be—if they miss the target and puncture the tent with their darts, they're stuck for a round of drinks.

Directs Canucks

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(CP).— This really happened at Waterloo station. Two French-Canadian soldiers approached a man in a dark blue raincoat and began to ask directions in halting English. The man smiled, replied in fluent French, made inquiries and directed the Canadians to their train. Later the obliging 'official' took off his coat—he was a rear admiral.

NAZI BOMBER SHOT DOWN.
MOSCOW, Aug. 8.— (AP).— A German bomber was shot down on the distant approaches to Moscow as Admiral William H. Standley, United States ambassador to the Soviet Union, and Maj.-Gen. Follett Bradley of the United States Army Air Corps conferred here, Red Star reported to-day. Gen. Bradley arrived in Moscow Wednesday to discuss American war aid for the Red Army.

SHORT BLAZE
Considerable excitement was caused Friday night when flames shot into the air for about six or seven feet from a drain at the corner of Reid and McDonnel streets. The alarm was turned in at 9:50 and Chief Gimblett reported that there must have been some gas escaping there and when a cigarette was thrown in there was prompt igniton. Firemen quickly made things ship-shape again.

Must Protect Cheque Cashers

"We would be falling down on our job if we didn't protect those places," said Chief Constable Sam Newhall this morning in regard to the criticism voiced by Ald. H. I. Bradburn the other night that police were detailed to guard private places of business on pay days when they might better be looking after traffic.

"If one of those stores that handle a lot of pay checks were to be held up," said Chief Newhall, "we would certainly be accused of neglecting our duties and of being asleep. The fact is that there are many transients of doubtful character wandering around and we have picked up a number recently on vagrancy charges and in most cases they were found to have a long criminal record. Naturally places that handle many pay-roll cheques would be targets for some of those criminals if they were not given protection.

Fewer Pockets

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—(AP).—From now on American workmen will wear clothes with fewer pockets and buttons and no unnecessary material. The War Production Board issued an order yesterday setting the styles for workers to save needed materials. At the same time, W.P.B. set a minimum yardage "to prevent skimping which would interfere with a worker's freedom of action." W.P.B. predicted the order would result in a yearly saving of 21,000,000 yards of cloth.

Chief Constable Likes Dahlias

Chief of Police Bill Carey of Cobourg goes in for dahlia raising in a big way. So big that some of them measure eight inches in diameter. Just to prove to some of the skeptics at the town hall that his dahlias were not just ordinary flowers, the Chief had an 'independent survey' made and in the ABOVE picture Ford Lindsay, former Cobourg editor, now editor of the Oshawa Times, holds a ruler alongside one of the blooms, which shows a span of eight inches.

Many Wartime Homes Taking On That Home Touch Which Goes With Flowers And Gardens

A year of tenancy and every day use superimposed by the graces of domesticity have cast upon the wartime houses at Burnham's Point the semblance of permanence.

Maybe the domestic influence upon home surroundings is not always a light and enhancing touch, but in the ideal atmosphere a quality of hominess is created by husband and wife that is bound to glow both outside and in.

You see this emanation and reflection of the spirit of the home up and down the roads that came into being a year ago when the government entrusted to its emergently formed agency, Wartime Housing Limited, the construction of eighty-two houses overlooking Litle Lake for the accommodation of incoming families attracted to Peterborough by its munitions industries.

The sceptical layman beheld the work in its various stages of progress with much shaking of the head and other manifestation of doubt and considerable condemnation. However, the houses popped up along the streets that were marked only with pegs in the grass. Carpenters, painter, plumbers and electricians followed each other, and the rows of houses became a reality. Roads were graded and gravelled, but they lacked sufficient hard substance to offset the saturating rains of fall and spring. Meantime winter and the frost provided durable surface for coal trucks, and eventually the frosts were gone again, and a new life stirred in the ground.

Somebody on Wartime Housing's planning committee must have known that some of the temporary tenants would not be happy merely living in a house without doing something about summer beauty and neatness outdoors. And so they arranged for lawns to be rolled and seeded with grass. Possibly the rolling is just an impression and imagining; but at any rate many of the lawns seem to be as level as rolling would have left them. And the naturally endowed horticulturalists found time to make flower beds and plant them, spade the bit of ground for kitchen gardening and set them out with tomato plants and other vegetables.

Wartime Housing planted young trees and some shrubs, and generally encouraged the folks to make the overnight community look like a neighborhood that was going to stay indefinitely. But even Piggots and Goggins and the other executives of the temporary housing company could not give one of those buildings that final seal of family occupancy and contentment and attachment signified by morning glories blooming against the wall and petunas smiling their approval from window boxes and elbowing each other in beds along the walk around to the rear.

The Burnham's Point community is a cross section of the kind of people you meet up and down this province. Some take pride in beautifying their premises. They gain satisfaction and inspiration from neatly clipped lawns and flowers and shrubs; the delicate embellishing things about the house. Others are indifferent about all that sort of thing, and in between are other folks who are sufficiently appreciative, but not so active themselves. They may emulate, partly because they don't want the place next door looking so much gayer and generally attractive. And so the first summer in the Burnham's Point community has produced some folks whose work of improvement deserves first awards, if any prizes were being given. Others are quite commendible seconds, and so on down the scale to obvious slackness and lack of interest.

Some of the tenants have their sensibilities of color and bright surroundings a little additional flourish by buying awnings for the windows and the front door "stoop." Those are the kind of people whom you are likely to find up around the top of the classification of tenants on the broad basis of desirability. They add value to the property by their own efforts. You can distinguish those kinds of homes not only on Burnham's Point but up and down all the other streets in the city. The one tenant combines energy with ideas, but the other chap just doesn't give a damn. The word should not give offense because it implies something more than just not caring; something fairly positive on the side of indifference.

Any way Burnham's Point really looks as if it has settled down not only or the duration, but even beyond. And there are some of the folks over on the south and east waterfront who are entirely content with the location and their roof, and would be happy to buy it, and continue enjoying the water scene from the living room windows.

The dust on Edgewater avenue and the other streets was laid with calcium chloride this summer, and although there are still some signs of incompletion about the community even the adversely critical observers of this wartime expedient in housing might be persuaded that it has already become a fair estate in so short a time.

PLEASE I'M SORRY

A particular tame mouse belonging to one of the men working in a fruit store on Charlotte street has a rather sore head because of his own particular brand of snobbishness. It is a regular small gray mouse that has been tamed and its owner can do almost anything with it. A young lad who came into the store picked it up, but he didn't hold it long. The mouse didn't like being handled too well, so he just up and bit the boy. With a very quick movement Mr. Mousie went sailing through the air and landed kerplunk on his head on the floor. However when last seen he had still lived to tell the tale, but is probably a sadder and wiser mouse now.—J.S.

Park St. Group Gives Aid To War Victims

The splendid manner in which children are continuing to utilize their freedom from school duties, to work on behalf of the sufferers of air raids over Britain, continues to unfold itself day by day.

The latest of these comes from three girls aged 10, 11 and 12, all living in the vicinity of Park street North, who held a Bazaar at 593 Park street N., residence of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Luther, whose two daughters, Barbara and Lillian, together with Barbara Hall, were the good workers on this particular occasion.

Their first day was marred by considerable bad weather so they extended it over to a second day, and among their activities was a draw for a cake which had been made and donated by their paternal grandmother, for which they sold tickets at 5 cents each.

The draw for this was made by Mrs. Foster, and the winning ticket was nomber 11, which was held by Mrs. Dobson.

In addition to this they had a stand from which they sold candy and soft drinks with Mr. Goodfellow helping them along by paying $1.75 for the Coco Cola they had secured to sell.

Mrs. George Goodfellow of 266 Bonacord street also donated a cake which was sold to help swell the proceeds, which in all amounted to $11.85 and appears in today's receipts under their name.

Robt. Neill Ltd. office girls are once more on the scene with a $5.00 donation, which marks their 9th contribution to the fund which for such a small group is a really worthwhile achievement, and they are keeping right on at it. One personal donation is also listed from a friend.

Wallace Point Regatta

Next Wednesday the annual regatta under the auspices of the Wallace Point Canoe Club will take place rain or shine, commencing at 2.30 p.m. with the boating events. Boats will be supplied and contestants only need to bring their own paddles. Swimming events will commence at 6 p.m., chief among which will be the mile swim for men for the Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., trophy, who it is expected will be in attendance to personally present the cup to the winner, and the half mile swim for the ladies for the Senator J. J. Duffus trophy. Admission for spectators is only 25 cents, and all the net proceeds will come to the fund. The O'Dette brothers are giving some concession in the way of boat rentals in order to help in the matter of expenses. At 9 p.m. the Regatta Dance will commence, and all in all, a fine opportunity is presenting itself to all lovers of boating and aquatic sports to have a fine time and finish the day with a dance, and also to assist in the worthy cause which the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund is carrying on for the relief of air raid victims in Britain.

Ganeraska River Survey Is Now Underway

J. D. Thomas of Goderich, district manager for the Imperial Oil Company, whose hobby is promoting conservation and reforestation, was a visitor in Peterborough today on his way to Pontypool to enquire into progress with the proposed Ganeraska scheme now in its preliminary stage of survey.

President of the Ontario Conservation and Reforestation Association, Mr. Thomas is frankly looking for recruits to support and encourage the broad policy of post-war enterprises which are being devised to assimilate men from the armies even in temporary and intermediate occupations until they are absorbed again into civilian life.

Not only is he interested in conservation of natural resources but as a veteran of the last war he is greatly concerned about the men who will be released from the new armies as soon as this war is won. Mr. Thomas said today that some persons are inclined to regard post-war schemes as premature, but in conversation with the Examiner he pointed out that plans may take two or three years for their fullest preparation.

Floods Port Hope

"The Ganeraska River is the Durham county stream that floods downtown Port Hope some springs," Mr. Thomas said. "A system of control of its watershed has been advocated for years. This is a work that requires doing, and A. H. Richardson of the Ontario Department of Forests is in charge of the survey which is extending back to places in Manvers and Cavan where the little tributary streams rise.

A conservation scheme of this kind contemplates even restoring the country, as much as practicable and possible, to its original state of nature say a century ago. Man has simply stripped it of its timber; left the hills bare with consequent erosion of the soil, and a great acreage has gone to waste as a result of our disregard of the idea and ways of conservation.

We have the support of the Federal and Ontario governments; the Canadian Legion is keenly interested, and we want to tell the public what we are setting out to do.

The present Ganeraska survey is to be used as a prototype, something to be a model for similar schemes in other parts of the country. We have been asked to go out and get a formula as it were, providing such information as what would have to be done, how many men would be required and all that sort of information."

Mr. Thomas said he found conservation and reforestation a delightful hobby, something that invited effort because of its promise to the future of the country as soon as its possible achievements are fully visualized by the public.

Artillery Duel In Desert

A British gun crew is shown in action in the desert on the El Alamein front where artillery duels are in progress almost all the time. The gun crew is under enemy shellfire as they blaze away with their 25-pounder. The gun is said to be very effective as a tank stopper.

Back From Dead In 1916 Pilots In Charge '42 Callup

By JAMES McCOOK

OTTAWA, Aug. 8—(CP).—Twenty-six years ago his comrades thought Leo Richer LaFleche was dead. He was one of those who had fallen in the bloody fighting at Mont Sorel, France, and it was accepted that a man who had suffered so many wounds could not live.

But he did live—to hear the guns rumbling in France in the Second Great War, to preach the creed of Canadian preparedness when such advocacy was unpopular, to be deputy minister of national defence and, later, officer in charge of the call-up of young men for compulsory military training under the policy decided by the Dominion government.

Today, Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, the man they left to die, ignores his wounds and his memories. He has plenty of both. His face is scarred and an arm is slow to move. But he smiles like a boy and his lame arm is good enough to present quickly to his visitor two cigarets—always two for this genial man goes on the assumption that there will be time to smoke two during the conversation, although his decisions are swift and his information precise.

An associate deputy minister of national war services, Gen. LaFleche has been in direct charge of calling up men under the National Resources Mobilization Act. War Services boards throughout the country deal with local problems, but in the end the major troubles flutter to the desk of Gen. LaFleche.

"Looking back over two years I can remember lots of problems, but it has not been difficult..no, it has not been difficult," he said. "You see, young Canadians are all right, so it has not been difficult."

Gen. LaFleche works on the basic assumption that Canadians liable for compulsory service want to do their part for their country. It is a basic belief, the frame of mind with which he looks on all the numberless problem cases that come before him. It makes him tolerant.

Good Reasons Needed

"If a young man gives good reasons for not being able to report for training immediately, then we must look on his application for postponement as kindly as we can," he said. "Tens of thousands of call-out notices bring to the surface thousands of individual problems. Those in charge of the call-out try to be humane. But the man who is just trying to dodge his responsibility...that is different.

"When someone attempts to dodge his duty, then we act swiftly and justly."

When Gen. LaFleche reaches his office in the morning, he is there for the day. They even bring his lunch on a tray and he works as he eats. He leaves, often late in the evening, when the day's work is done and not before. But he keeps his youth.

A sturdy, broad-shouldered man with thick dark hair, he sits at his desk in shirt-sleeves, with his tunic in a cupboard and put on only when he leaves. Behind him, through the wide windows of the new supreme court building which houses the war services department, his visitor can see the towers of Parliament Hill.

Once the man who is all soldier now was a bank clerk. When the war came in 1914 he was 26. Without delay he laid aside his pen, enlisted and went overseas in 1915 as a captain in the famous 22nd Battalion. He was born at Sorel, Quebec, and he suffered his wounds at Mont Sorel, France, a coincidence that leaves Gen. LaFleche utterly unimpressed.

His tunic today bears two long rows of colored ribbons, emblematic of his heroism, ability and long service. Britain gave him the Distinguished Service Order and France made him a member of the Legion of Honor.

Appointed in 1932

A forthright speaker, Gen. LaFleche has not always chosen the popular side. In 1932 he was appointed deputy minister of the National Defence Department when appropriations for the department were at their lowest level, and all the democratic nations called for disarmament. But the years that followed saw the rise of Hitlerism, and the aggressive tactic of Italy and Japan.

LaFleche became uneasy, and he began to call for preparedness and more preparedness in Canada. He drew up a program for obtaining armament orders from the United Kingdom so factories set up in this country could produce for the Dominion as well as overseas customers.

Gen. LaFleche readily took responsibility for his steps to provide the armaments he believed essential for Canadian security. Beyond armament, he worked on the organization of all Canadian defence so it would be in readiness for immediate service when the hour came. And then, in 1939, heavily burdened with work and responsibility, he was overtaken by illness and resigned as deputy minister.

With his health partially restored, he was appointed military attache at the Canadian legation in France, with wide powers to report on war activities on the western front. He heard the guns draw closer to the Channel and, when he left, France was staggering in defeat. He brought home to Canada a concise soldier's report on what had happened, and his words spurred the efforts of the Dominion to meet hard days ahead.

Bilingual himself, he looks on Canada as a country without divisions, a country where all must work together for a common end. His photograph appears in unexpected places, usually beside the desk of some soldier turned businessman and who looks on LaFleche with a kind of reverence. Some have clipped the photograph out of magazines and had it framed; others, who count themselves more fortunate, have badgered LaFleche into letting them have an original.

"Just be sure of this—the modern young Canadian is all right," he says. "It's a good many years since the last war but the young men are just the same—as good as ever. And fine young women are joining up this time, too. Why, we have had the best co-operation you would wish for. Yes, young Canadians are all right."

Women Fire Watchers

LONDON, Aug. 8—(CP). — Compulsory fire-watching by women 20 to 45 years old was introduced today with a statement by Home Secretray Herbert Morrison that the measure was taken on the assumption that the weight of German air raids will increase and "because of the seriousness of the manpower situation." Millions of women will be affected, he said.

Moving In Britain In Wartime Has Many Problems To Be Met

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 8 (CP).—Finding a new home is only one of the worries for a housewife who has to change residence in Britain during wartime.

Once the new home is found there's the business of curtains for the windows. It will probably cost more clothing coupons to get new curtains than the housewife has to keep herself clad all year. Then comes the question of carpets in case, as is likely, the old ones won't fit the new house. Prices are sky high for carpeting. So to buy new ones is out of the question and cutting up of old but serviceable rugs is considered waste.

Refrigerators and stoves add to the worry. You just can't buy them though they can be rented. But if all these difficulties are overcome there is still one more left—the actual moving. A "rush" job is one that is done in six weeks. Most movers just aren't in the moving business any more.

Refuse to Wear Caps

Labor Ministry officials are having a tough time getting women workers to wear caps to cover their hair in munitions factories. Statistics show that there are some 350 scalpings a year in factories because women let their hair get caught in machinery but even those figures, much publicized, don't seem to have had much effect. The ministry tried issuing caps with floral designs and various attractive colors—and the women just left them on the clothes pegs.

First A.T.S. Tank Mechanic

Sgt. Theresa Wallach of the A.T.S. is pioneering again. She was the first woman to race a motorcycle at Brooklands, the first to ride a motorcycle acros the Sahara and the first A.T.S. dispatch rider and motorcycle mechanic. Now she is the first A.T.S. tank mechanic. Theresa wants to be Britain's first woman tank tester, a bone-jarring job that most men would soon not have.... Girls in the W.R.N.S. are doing their bit of pioneering too. They now are serving the navy's machine guns... Getting into the W.R.N.S. isn't so easy—you have to have a close relative in the navy.

Discourage Priority Holders

People who have priority in the allocation of train sleeping berths are lucky and up until now a wife whose husband was one of these fortunes, was a lucky person herself. The various government agencies will reserve a berth for these people when they travel, but here's what has been happening: The man has turned the berth over to his wife and slept in an ordinary seating compartment. Now officials are discouraging priority holders from taking their wives on trips with them.

Whalebone Corsets

It wasn't long ago that the girls were laughing at the whalebone corsets, red-flannel petticoats and 17-inch waisted garments of the Victorian era. But not now. In Worcester a store, dipping into ancient stock, put a lot of these garments on sale and crowds of women jostled each other in an effort to make purchases. Most of the garments were bought for their lace trimmings.

Cripples Guarding Nazi Prisoners

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—(CP).—Prisoners of war in Germany now are guarded by cripples and old men and the camps are administered by women, France Forever said today in a summary of information collected from liberated prisoners of war.

The organization, United States centre of the Free French movement, said Russians, most of them civilians, were said to be the greatest sufferers in German camps. Liberated prisoners said the interned Russians aged from 18 to 65 were brought across Germany in cattle cars opened only twice a week for hygienic purposes and to give the prisoners food.

Among 2,800 who arrived alive at one camp, the majority weighed from 90 to 100 pounds. In each car, holding 50 men, 30 arrived dead. In camp, they died at the rate of 50 a day for the first eight days and 20 daily thereafter.

French prisoners, of whim 1,256,000 were said still to be in German custody, were given the job of burying the bodies in a common grave. They had no way of disinfecting themselves and an outbreak of typhus developed.

Accounts Show Small Reduction

Garage Owner Dies Suddenly

CAMPBELLFORD, August 8. — (ENS).—Harry Meiklejohn, age 50, a garage mechanic at Campbellford for the past 16 years, died very suddenly at noon Friday. Mr. Meiklejohn had been out at the farm home of Marshall West, about 1½ miles west of the town, when he complained of being ill, and was taken to the doctor by Mr. West.

The doctor ordered him to bed, but he had just been lying down at his home for a few minutes when he died. The late Mr. Meiklejohn was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meiklejohn of Seymour, and started in business first as a blacksmith. He spent four years at Detroit, where he became skilled as a car mechanic and returned to Campbellford, where he set up business. He was well and favorably known throughout the district.

Surviving is his widow, formerly Olive Thompson, and three daughters, Lorraine, 14; Jean, 13, and Lois 9. Two brothers, Stewart Meiklejohn of Peterborough and David of Seymour township, and one sister, Mrs. W. J. Hartley, of Campbellford.

Five Cousins Serving In Peterboro Unit

Fixed Price Ceiling Badly Needed On Cheese Boxes

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 8 (ENS) —Though cheese men of this district are crying for boxes and feel that now is the time they should be getting a few extra ones on hand for the fall, they are not going to be stampeded into paying a premium price for them. They looked askance at an offer made by a Penetang firm which wrote to the secretary declaring their desire to provide the necessary cases at 50 cents each delivered. Despite their need for them the factory presidents at the meeting were in no mood to pay 15 cents more than the ceiling price, and in fact some were even of the opinion that it was hardly a fair proposition to have to pay an extra 3 to 5 cents a box for trucking them in from Belleville this week. Speaking on the box question, which appeared still far from solved, District Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray told the meeting that the Timber Controller was sending in another shipment (to Belleville) next week and any factories requiring them should get in touch with the Secretary of the Association, J. L. Joss. Doubting the ability of the local box factory to turn out sufficient material within the next week to take care of all requirements several of those present expressed the opinion that a car load of boxes should be shipped direct to Campbellford for dispersal among factories of this district, thus saving the long truck haul from Belleville. However, if boxes are to continue coming from Belleville President Hector Arnold expressed the opinion that the Association should absorb the extra cost of shipment. He gained the support of the meeting on this question but it was decided to let the matter ride for a week "till we see if we can get enough boxes from the local maker." It was pointed out that although local box maker, G. W. Anderson, had sufficient veneer for 10,000 cases he was still waiting delivery of headings for them.

On behalf of the Seymour Agriculture Society J. A. Murray asked the Producer's Association to again make their annual grant of $15.00 which will provide special prizes for cheese shown at the fall fair. He recalled that this amount had been given to both Campbellford and Warkworth fairs last year. "We had a good exhibit of cheese last year and I believe such things as this are a stimulant to improved work." President J. E. Ferguson of the Burnley Factory then made the request that a similar contribution be made to the Roseneath fair "one of the biggest in the County." But he got little support for this request as other members pointed out that cheese had not been regularly shown at Roseneath in the past. They felt the entry list in this class would be too small to warrant the contribution. Hector Arnold pointed out there were more factories in the Warkworth district thus justifying the contribution there.

Stanwood's Chester Irwin made a motion that all three fairs be given grants of $10.00 for cheese specials but he got no seconder, and a motion by Percy Odie and Robert McCulloch to pay the annual grant to Warkworth and Campbellford carried.

Summer Fair Draw Gives Cash Prizes

Prize-winners at the recent Immaculate Conception Summer Fair draw were named on Friday evening when the draw was made at a card party and social evening held in the community hall in Ashburnham.

Joseph Garvey supervised the drawing of the tickets and chose Master Bob Dundas, and little Shirley Leonard to draw the tickets from the box. Following are the winners:

Men Of The Peterborough Training Centre Mourn Their Faithful "Pup" Brownie

Officers, non-commissioned officers and the troops at the Training Centre as well as the members of the Salvation Army hut are in mourning. Tre inhabitants at the Military Training Centre have lost one of their best friends in the death of "Brownie," the Cocker paniel who has been a member of the military family for the past 22 months.

The demise of Brownie took place Friday after Dr. Worton stated the dog would have to lose one of its front paws at the first joint if he was to live, and after all a dog's life on three legs is something that even Brownie's best friends hated to contemplate.

No officer or man knew where he originally came from. He had no long string of papers to prove he was a thoroughbred, but as a friend to man, Brownie had everything the greatest thoroughbred ever had in the friendship line. He had covered hundreds of miles on route marches. Until his last illness he never missed a march. Brownie liked soldiers, a few weeks ago when a draft was leaving the Centre one of the soldiers smuggled him aboard the train. After the train left the station Brownie was uncovered and he contented himself until Havelock was reached at noon. The dog discovered that the troops were not returning to Peterborough and off the train he jumped and started for the Centre. He covered the 25 miles in a little over seven hours and was in camp before eight o'clock, tired but happy.

Brownie was a dog of whom Albert Payson Terhune could have written stories that would have made interesting reading. He has gone to his happy hunting grounds and the troops were the first to note that he was absent from his native haunts. On enquiry they found he had passed on and from the commanding officer down, regrets were heard on every hand.

Lane-Irwin

A quiet pretty wedding took place recently in Toronto with the Rev. Father Caley of St. Joseph's Church officiating, when Mrs. Frances A. Irwin, formerly of Peterborough, was united in marriage to William Frederick Lane, V.G.O.C., of Saskatchewan. Mrs. Jack Irwin, daughter-in-law, acted as bridesmaid, and Pte. Percy Howard, V.G.O.C of Montreal was best man.

The bride looked charming in a street length dress of baby blue silk chiffon over taffeta with matching accessories. The bridesmaid was becomingly attired in pale pink silk chiffon over taffeta with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of pink and white Talisman roses.

After the ceremony, dinner was served at the Orchard Park Hotel with only the immediate family present. The reception was held at the home of the bride, 25 Jones Avenue, Toronto, where a number of the groom's comrades were gathered.

For travelling the bride wore a sheer ensemble of forget-me-not shade with white accessories, and the happy couple went to Niagara Falls and Buffalo. The groom's gift to the bride was a Victory Bond; to the bridesmaid, a gold hear compact, and to the best man, a pen and pencil set. On their return they will reside in New Toronto, until the groom's duties call him elsewhere.

Vinette—Dwyer

A charming wedding took place to-day in the Immaculate Conception church when Eileen Elizabeth, daughter of Pte. Jeremiah Dwyer and the late Mrs. Dwyer was united in marriage to Pte. Adelard Noel Vinette, son of Mr. Edward Vinette and the late Mrs. Vinette, by the Rev. Father Walsh.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of pale powder pink chiffon with pink lace insertions and had all white accessories. Her hat was a white halo with a short shoulder-length veil, and she wore a corsage of pink and white roses.

Miss Clara Dwyer, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and she wore a pale blue chiffon dress with all white accessories, and had a corsage of red and white roses. The best man was Cpl. Albert Vinette, brother of the groom.

The reception was held following the wedding at the Mayfair Cafe, where the bride's aunt received wearing a gown of navy silk crepe with a corsage of pink carnations, and the groom's aunt received wearing a figured crepe frock with a corsage of pink carnations.

The ushers were Vincent Dwyer and Richard Heffernan.

Women Officers In R.C.A.F. Keep Feminine Touch

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 8—(CP).—An officer's lot is really quite a happy one in the women's division of the Royal Canadian Air Force, and Brantford Service Flying Training School is no exception

Here, as at most other air stations, the women who rate being called "ma'am" by the rest of the girls live in what is cheerfully called "The Hen House."

Section Officer J. M. Clarke of Moose Jaw is proud of the Brantford "hen house" and has made a chummy home-away-from-home for herself. Section Officer Jean Brown of Toronto, one of the new "W.D." messing officers whose job it is to see that the R.C.A.F. can fly, as well as march, on what goes into its stomach, shares it with her. The other occupant is Assistant Section Officer Valentine Barrow who, as a civilian, lived in Edmonton and Ottawa

But the official greeter at the "Hen House" is A.W.2 Judy, a cheerful white Sealyham who seems consciously proud of the fact that she's the only mere airwoman in the midst of officers.

On a hot day, the officers' quarters are a nice change from the dusty roads of the station. There are pretty curtains at the windows and nice cool, blue leather furniture to relax in. The officers see that there are big bowls of field daisies around, too — and on the walls they have their favorite pictures.

There's nothing grim or masculine about the "Hen House"; neither is there about the two bedrooms with their chaste iron beds and loyalist maple furniture. And they have a little grill tucked away where they can whip up tea in the afternoon or an early-morning cup of coffee.

W.D. officers don't rate batwomen but a general duties airwoman keeps the "Hen House" tidy and the beds made.

R.C.A.F. officers eat well too. Take the noonday meal a Canadian Press reporter had with them in the mess where both men and women with commissions eat.

Dinner on that day was tomato juice or chicken soup; cold cuts attractively arranged with vegetable salad and asparagus, or, for those who like a hot dinner, roast pork or beef with creamed asparagus and mashed potatoes. Dessert was chocolate ice cream or cocoanut pie.

A.W.'s Recreation

The writer took another peek into the airwomen's quarters. In one room there was the pound, pound of ping pong balls as Cpl. Dorothy Carmichael of Toronto fought hard to beat L.A.C. Walter Thomson, also of Toronto, and now a pilot in training.

The airman-airwoman competition was going on in another corner too as A W.2 Hazel Hart of Kitchener, Ont., challenged L.A.C. Kevin Fayers of Winnipeg to a game of crokinole.

Some play in the recreation centre but a lot of girls study and read. A.W. Elizabeth Scullion of Toronto was kept busy distributing library books. The airmen and airwomen read everything, she said, but "Blood, Sweat and Tears" is the favorite of the moment.

It was only noon, on a workday. Obviously the W.D.'s were enjoying themselves.

"But you should see the place in the evening," said Section Officer Clarke. Besides the recreation centre activities the girls play baseball—there is an inter-station league —and they have a shooting club with about a third of the airwomen as members.

Pegtop Skirt Is New Style Introduced for Fall Tweeds Remain Popular

By JEAN STENTON

The most pressing question in every woman's mind whether she be young or old, is what are the new styles going to under the war restrictions that are tightening up all the time. But for a while at least, ladies, things aren't going to be very difficult.

One of the new ideas that is being introduced in fall styles is that of a pegtop skirt. This particular style is achieved by draping the skirt across the front in such a way that it suggests a widening of the hips, and gives the skirt a sort of square look at the waist, that is very smart. For those who could not stand to have this extra width there are modified styles with big pockets below the waist that give something of the same effect. The dresses will be given all the style possible with the limited amount of cloth. The limit for a skirt width is now 74 inches and the length is done according to a scale fixed up for every size.

One of the most popular fall styles for collegiate and college girls particularly, are the new woollen dresses in a variety of attractive slim styles. They are also showing a number of frocks with touches of fur at the waist or, fur pockets, or even around the neck. For afternoon and informal evening wear there are, like last season, many soft crepes in every colour of the rainbow, also silk jerseys and then there is a new crepe material that looks something like a corduroy, because it has ridges with definite spaces between them, that give it a very attractive appearance. There is another new material "corduroy crepe" that is even more like the corduroy in appearance. It has the ridges minutes the spaces and is equally smart.

Dresses, that have for the past few seasons been set off with lovely costume jewellry, will no longer appear, but for the present at least many dresses will be decorated with beading. Until the war intervened all the beading was imported from Czechoslovakia to the United States, and the Canada got her supply from the States. So as long as there is a supply on hand, the ladies need not be without some kind of ornament.

Tweeds Popular

How about coats? For fall wear tweeds are going to be very much in demand. Although the quantity may be limited, the same quality is being maintained, Mrs. Lyda Telford said. The only restriction are, that there are not as many being manufactured. There are still a fair number of real Harris tweed coats coming in, and although a number of cargoes are at the bottom of the ocean, England is still getting a fairly good supply through.

The winter coats are not having as wide skirts and they give the coats much slimmer lines than formerly. One of the new features is the very small neck piece that is appearing on many coats. It is detachable and can be worn with a suit or any other outfit that is desired. It adds that little touch of smartness that just sets a garment off and these little furs are generally mink, squirrel or Persian lamb.

As yet many details of the evening dress styles have been given out. However they will have the skirt width restricted, and like wedding dresses, will be minus a train. All the metallic fabrics that have been so popular will be missing too, unless some merchant just has the odd piece left in stock. But there should be plenty of net and taffeta gowns, according to Mrs. Telford. One thing that is very noticeable she said, was that most people are buying clothes with a view to their durability and are keeping strictly away from anything that savours of extreme style.

New Fur Styles

Although perhaps many do not realize it there is a very definite trend to fur styles, just as with any other garment, and some of the latest models are very smart. One of the most noticeable features is that the shoulders are narrower and are straight out, not raised as formerly, and they extend straight out from the neckline.

One very smart combination is a Hudson Seal coat trimmed with brown squirrel. The coat has long flowing bishop sleeves, with cuffs and neck trimmed with squirrel, and a squared shoulder in a sort of box effect. For dress occasions a coat like this is generally fitted along princess lines, rather than along the swagger lines that are so popular. The same type of coat in a swagger style, but trimmed with mink on the collar, buttons and pockets is verything that any girl could desire.

Another type that is gaining more and more popularity is the military style. This type of coat has the long bishop sleeve, and the military lapel and collar. The buttons and pockets have double breasted gray Persian trimming, which is very striking against the dark hue of the Hudson Seal coat. This model is fitted along princess lines too.

Not Seen Often

Another very lovely coat, and one that is not seen to any great extent in this part of the country, is an Alaska seal model. This is a lovely smooth burnished brown with a narrow yoke treatment across the back just below the collar. It is a swagger coat with the new rounded lapel that is becoming quite popular.

The hooded racoon coat was made to order for college and collegiate girls. They are smart in appearance and are just the thing for football and hockey games. Another smart swagger, it is made with contrasting light and dark stripes in the fur and has smart leather buttons and no lapel. It is a straight sport model and the hood in dark green velvet makes it "different."

That muskrat is going to be very popular this year, in the opinion of Wm. H. Hamilton. A swagger model in a lovely sable shade with wide full sleeves, and a rounded lapel and collar, is one of the richest looking and smartest coats that can be gotten. In so far as the furrier is concerned, the lapels that run down with the coat are a decided improvement, because when they run up they do not give as nice an effect and, in this new way they also present a slimmer appearance. The ripples that flow from the shoulders give it an extra touch of smartness.

Hip Length Jackets

The most popular style in fur jackets for the coming season is the hip-length model. Silver fox is always popular as well as the red and beige fox fur wraps. Some of the most beautiful furs that can be obtained are in the natural gray lynx and wolf jackets, but for some reason in these parts they are not very popular. They are very striking and offer the greatest possibilities for lovely outfits. At the present time they are all the rage in San Francisco and Hollywood where the fur styles are being set. In making their coats, Mr. Hamilton said they were influenced in the matter of style by the report from the Fur Consultant at the New York University.

So ladies, there is still plenty of variety to suit the individual taste, and the styles being created under the new restrictions are even more charming—if possible—than they have been all along. For the present at least, although there is not quite so much being manufactured in the dress line there does not appear to be any imminent rationing in store for the feminine contingent. Ladies it's all yours.

Bethany Man Weds Dobbinton Girl

The marriage was solemnized in the United Church, Keady, recently, of Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClelland of Dobbinton, and Mansel Eugene, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wright of Bethany. The bride's sister, Mrs. James F. Young, of Tara sang during the service and Capt. James C. McClelland ushered.

The bridal party entered the church and took their places in front of the alter banked with summer blooms and ferns. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John M. Carten, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, LAC. Kenneth McClelland of Toronto.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of pale blue triple-sheer crepe with long full sleeves, a halo of orange blossoms and blue net, and a shoulder-length veil of blue net. She carried a shower bouquet of rose colored Sweetheart roses and wore the groom's gift to the bride, a lovely gold wrist watch.

The maid of honor, Miss Rose Marie McClelland, sister of the bride, wore a floor-length gown of petal pink triple sheer crepe, a halo of pink roses and net to match, and white net gloves. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. The junior bridesmaid Miss Grace McClelland, wore a floor-length gown of yellow triple sheer crepe, the same as the bride's dress in style, a halo of yellow roses and net. She carried an arm bouquet of creamy-yellow Butterfly roses. The best man was Mr. Orme Wright, brother of the groom.

Following the wedding ceremony, the party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding dinner was served to twenty-five guests. Mr. and Mrs. Wright left for a trip in the Lake Huron district, returning to their home near Bethany by way of Orillia.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. James F. Young, Tara; Miss Ina Taylor, of Owen Sound; Mr. and Mrs. Orme Wright, Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wright, Bethany; LAC. Kenneth McClelland, Toronto; Capt. and Mrs. James C. McClelland, London; Miss Bernice Wright, Waterloo; Miss Annie McClelland, Tara; James V. McLeod, East Linton; Miss Margaret Rutherford, Leith; Mrs. Grace Quinn of Owen Sound; the Rev. J. McCasten and Miss Hazelwood of Keady.

Those assisting at the dinner hour were: Mrs. A. J. Sinclair and Mrs. Richard Sterritt of Keady; Miss Elizabeth Dryden, Paisley; Miss Irene Grunsell, of Annan; Miss Ethel Cooke of Chatsworth and Miss Kathleen McCundy of Tara.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, August 9

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds all the testimonies of a happy, prosperous and enjoyable day, with much festive celebration and merrymaking, probably in honor of a romantic or sentimental occasion. This should be indulged with unusual zest, albeit interrupted by a surprising occurrence.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of great enjoyment and happiness, in which some outstanding domestic, affectional, romantic or social event may demand paramount attention. However, any business in connection with such hospitality or celebration would prove profitable. The happy course of events might be temporarily interrupted by an untoward or sudden occurrence.

A child born on this day while having a profound and studious mentality may choose to devote itself to the pursuit of pleasure or the quest of happiness rather than exalted ambitions.

Garden Wedding Gown

By ALICE ALDEN

HERE is a wedding gown that while it would be beautiful for a church wedding, just calls for a garden setting to complete its charm. It is of crisp, cool and economical blue organdie and manages to be smart and softly appealing. It is made with cascades of ruffles on either side of the skirt and a ruffle edges the dainty neckline. The coronet is made of tiny blue organdie ruffles and has a matching veil.

Victory Receipes Planned For Canadians' Health

The Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, has recently received numerous inquiries regarding the canning of vegetables. Many of the housewives had their own gardens but some (perhaps assuming there might be a shortage of canned vegetables this winter) were contemplating buying the vegetables to put down for winter use and, in addition, were buying jars and other equipment. We have been discouraging this latter group of women from canning vegetables on the grounds of impractibility. However, for those with a plentiful supply of vegetables in their gardens, it is certainly wise to can the surplus, especially of those vegetables, such as peas and beans, which cannot be satisfactorily stored. We also warn that proper precautions must be taken and methods followed accurately. It is poor economy to go to all the work of picking and preparing vegetables and then neglect to give them sufficient time for sterilization — and this seems to be a general fault throughout the country. Then too, the jars must be in perfect condition and air-tight.

Although there are several methods of canning vegetables, the best method is to use the pressure cooker since, for the most part, vegetables are non-acid and therefore require a long sterilization at boiling temperature. When the pressure cooker is used, a much higher temperature is achieved and the sterilization time is reduced considerably. Unfortunately, comparatively few housewives have this piece of equipment and nowadays with the "priorities" etc., it is well nigh impossible to buy one. However, if you haven't a pressure cooker the water bath method can be used satisfactorily, but greater care must be exercised owing to the ever present danger of spoilage through insufficient sterilization.

In canning peas—and these are really one of the most difficult vegetables to can—the intermittant method of processing in the water bath is the most satisfactory since peas canned by this method keep better than when boiled for the straight three hours. We also advise keeping the jars completely covered with water throughout the processing. This makes for a more thorough sterilization.

Mixed vegetables for soup or salad may be canned if the sterilization period of that vegetables requiring the longest time is used.

We are including the method of putting beans down in brine. Many housewives have followed this practice for years and found it satisfactory. It must be remembered, however, that the beans should be soaked for 10 to 12 hours in cold water before being used. Otherwise they will be extremely salty. The fact that the beans are quite salty is one disadvantage of this method.

Canned Beans

Wash, string and cut the beans in desired lengths. Cover with water, bring to boiling point and boil 4 minutes. Pack hot and add ½ teaspoon salt to each pint jar. Fill with boiling water. Process in steam pressure cooker at 10 to 15 pounds pressure for 40 minutes or in water bath for 3 hours (counting time from when water begins to boil).

Beans in Brine

Wash, string and cut beans in desired lengths or leave whole. Place a layer of beans in a crock; sprinkle generously with ordinary coarse salt. Place another layer of beans and cover with salt. Continue until all beans are used. Place plate or board (cut in shape of crock) over beans and put weight on top. In this method beans make their own brine and will keep for several months. It is necessary that they be soaked for 10 to 12 hours in cold water before being used.

Canned Peas

(Pressure Cooker)

Use only young tender peas. Shell and wash. Cover with water and bring to boil. Pack, add ½ teaspoon salt to a pint jar and fill with boiling water. Process in pressure cooker for 60 minutes, at 10-15 pounds pressure.

Canned Peas

(Intermittant Method)

Follow above method for canning peas but instead of processing in pressure cooker use water bath method and boil jars for 60 minutes for three consecutive days. The jars may be removed from the boiler, the tops tightened, and allowed to cool after each sterilization, or they may be allowed to remain in the boiler. It is not necessary to complete the seal if jars are kept submerged in the water between sterilization periods.

"Daddy's always using my playroom!"

Remember, Little Lady, it was Daddy's furnace room before those lovely Donnacona Board walls and ceiling made it into a charming playroom for you.

Many cellars—even very small ones—can be made to do double duty, as furnace room and playroom with the aid of Donnacona Insulating Board and its specialties and trim.

Ask your Donnacona Dealer or write us for suggestions, prices and details of financing such projects under the Home Improvement Plan.

Partitions and ceiling of this lovely 9' x 12' playroom were installed for only $45.00 for material and labor.

Stern Warning Given Eligible Men

TORONTO, May 8.—Men who are eligible to be called up for service under the National War Services Regulations and who have failed to notify the authorities of a change of address are liable to arrest, imprisonment and heavy fines. The warning was issued yesterday by James Butler, assistant to the Divisional Registrar of National War Services, who said that such men must notify the Divisional Registrar 200 Bay Street, Toronto, in addition to informing the Postoffice and the Dominion Statistician.

"Any single man or widower, between the ages of 20 and 40 years and without children must notify the Divisional Registrar of a change in address," Mr. Butler said. "This should give the name, date of birth, address at the time of original registration, present address, electoral district on registration card and any change of marital status. Failure to observe these regulations can result in a fine of $100, 30 days in jail, or both."

All persons eligible in Division 'B' are affected by the warning. This division includes all of Northern Ontario with the exception of Port Arthur, Fort William and the Rainy River district; Eastern Ontario to the Quebec border and Western Ontario to Niagara and Grey County.

Robbed Church Box

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—(AP). — Mathias Stonitsch, 53, a former church sexton, must recite the life of St. Francis of Assisi, patron saint of the poor, in court next Thursday. Convicted of robbing a church poor box of $1.22, he was given a suspended sentence of six months by Magistrate J. Roland Sala and ordered to read and memorize the life of the saint.

Nazis Claim Fifteen Ships

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, Aug. 8 —(AP)—The German High Command claimed today in a special communique that an American destroyer and seven ships, totalling 49,000 tons, had been sunk from a convoy in the North Atlantic.

(There has been no confirmation of these reported sinkings from any Allied source.)

"Among the ships sunk (elsewhere than in the North Atlantic) was a large vessel carrying munitions and another ship laden with tanks and aircraft bound for Alexandria," the communique asserted.

The communique said German submarines in sinking the 15 cargo vessels listed in the communique, had struck a "severe blow" to American supply shipping.

Victory Recipes

fruit; green portions impart bitter undesirable flavors. Artificially ripened fruit is not so rich in vitamins as that ripened naturally. Wash and remove core and cut tomatoes but do not peel. Cook slowly ½ hour in a closely covered kettle. Press through a coarse sieve extracting all pulp; then through a fine sieve to remove seeds. Allow 1 tablespoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper to 2 quarts juice. Pour into sterilized jars. Seal and sterilize 10 minutes.

Canned Tomatoes

Scald and peel tomatoes. Pack in jars and cover with tomato juice made from irregular, very large or broken tomatoes cut in small pieces, cooked over slow fire for 5 minutes. Strain. Allow ½ teaspoon salt to each pint jar of tomatoes. Process in water bath for 22 minutes, counting time from when water begins to boil.

Impersonated Officer

DETROIT, Aug. 8—(AP).—Harry Eugene Gleason, 30, was fined $100 and sentenced to serve 22 months in prison by a federal court today for impersonating an army officer and a private was credited with an assist in the case. Gleason, who pleaded guilty, said he unthinkingly saluted the private on the street without waiting for the latter to salute, the startled private reported him.

Cannot Buy Food

LONDON, Aug 8.—(CP).—British soldiers will have to endure those long route marches without a snack here and there along the way. The War Office has forbidden them to buy food from local shops when they call out for a rest because of complaints they had caused an acute shortage in some areas of bread, cakes, tobacco and other unrationed foods.

Lands 18-Pounder

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 8 — (CP).—While other members of her family were out fishing with expensive tackle in Stoco Lake, 61-year-old Mrs. Thomas Orr on the shore calmly cast in a line attached to an old bamboo pole. She landed an 18-pound muskie, and the others failed to make a catch.

NOTICE

TENDERS WILL BE RECEIVED UNTIL 12 p.m., Friday, August 15th, 1942, for the position of Part Time Policeman for the village of Omemee. The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Monday, August 10

MONDAY'S astrological augury is for intriguing, irregular or unpredictable events of a surprising and probably dramatic nature. There are also undercurrents of mystery or novelty, which might be turned to good account by sound thinking or well-organized strategies. Secrecy prevails.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the threshold of a year of peculiarly subtle, novel and intriguing events and experiences, in which strange circumstances may be turned to successful and reasonable issues by shrewd, cautious and deep laid strategies. This curious and challenging state of affairs may demand circumspect and clever handling in order to fathom its mystery and subtlety.

A child born on this day may be gifted with talents of an exceptional or unique order, with subtlety, ingenuity and originality.

With Peterborough Red Cross Branch

Red Cross activity continues during the summer for the boys overseas are having no holidays, so Red Cross workers must not let up in their work or let them down in any way.

The Blood Donors' Clinic is arousing great interest, and the men who come to give their blood are very agreeably surprised that it is such a simple and painless operation — many of them ask when they can return and seem disappointed when they are told it will probably be three months before they are called again. They go back to work and tell their friends about it and encourage those who have hesitated to offer.

The workers at the Clinic report some most interesting experiences. Sidelights on the spirit of the donors.—One man on leave from the merchant marine, a veteran of the last war told of being through Narvik, Dunkirk and Singapore, and he was keen to give his blood to help his comrades.

Another told of having a letter from a relative in the Air Force, whose life was saved after a crash landing, by transfusions from blood serum, and his comment was "If I can keep my brother-in-law alive by giving my blood, I would come every day."

Women who volunteered for this service must not be disappointed that they are not called to the clinic. They are doing a noble work right here at home, and are being used in the hospitals for transfusions and so releasing men who come to the Clinic. There are many stories being told of this service—one of a young mother who lost her baby and would have lost her life but for the donations of blood from five or six young women of our community. So the work goes on quietly and with no fanfare of trumpets. Where there is suffering, the Red Cross will be found.

This Week In Radio

Canada's army is to be in the radio limelight for the next few weeks with the new series, "Men of War," beginning Sunday at 7.00 p.m., CBL. The first will be the story of the Canadian Armored Division, a story of the tanks, the men who make them speak for democracy. It will be produced by Mavor Moore.

Sir Ernest MacMillan will this week perform two services for the CBC music-lovers. He will give a brief talk about the work of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra on Sunday at 9.15 p.m., when some of the first recorded works of the orchestra will be played and he will conduct le Concert du Chalet from Montreal on Thursday at 10.15 p.m., CBL.

Political, economic and social problems of the future are being discussed under the general title, "The Post War World," in a special series of four University of Chicago Round Table broadcasts on Sunday at 2.30 p.m., WEAF. This week's subject will be "The Political Reconstruction of the Post War World."

Four crack British writers will prepare future "Britain to America" programs heard Sundays at 5.30, CBL, and this week from the BBC studios in London Monica Dickens, great-granddaughter of Charles Dickens, who is now employed in a British aircraft factory, will take the theme, "Women in Britain."

Russian music will take the spotlight in the variety program on Monday at 8.30 p.m., WEAF, when Alfred Wallenstein directs the Firestone Symphony Orchestra in Rimsky-Korsakow's "Capriccio Espagnole" and the waltz from "Eugen Onegin" by Tschaikowsky.

In the role that ranges from a young bride to an aged lady, Madeleine Carroll will make her second consecutive appearance as a star of "Cavalcade of America," WEAF, Monday, at 8.00 p.m.

The role of 3-year-old Tommy, new character in "Helpmate," WEAF, Mondays through to Friday, at 10.30 p.m., is played not by a child but by a grown-up, Actress Dolores Gillen.

"Cheers from the Camps," CHEX, 9.30 p.m., Tuesday, will this week come from Camp Crowder, Missouri. The talent in these broadcasts is drawn from the enlisted personnel at each camp visited.

Sixteenth renewal of the Hambletonian Stakes, Kentucky Derby of harness horse world will be described by Jack McCarthy in two periods Wednesday, 3.00 to 3.15 and 3.45 to 4.00 p.m.

The Aldrich Family with cast unchanged returns to CBL on Thursday at 8.30 p.m. after a five-week vacation. Henry was left parked on a farm on July 2 and now he returns to his family and his best girl, Mary Shipp.

Lining up with some 50,000 U.S. Coastguardsmen in their recently launched drive to make a hit song of their "Semper Paratus," Dr. Frank Black and the Cities Service Concert orchestra will spotlight the number Friday at 8.00 p.m., CBL.

The Examiner Carriers have volunteered to do their bit for the Defense Program by bringing War Savings Stamps right to your home.

25c WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

This Makes It Easy For You To SAVE ENOUGH MONEY TO BUY A WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATE

Buy War Savings Stamps Now!

To those who ask, "What can I do to help in the present emergency" the Government answers—"Make the continued purchase of War Savings Stamps a regular part of your budget. Start now to invest in the future safety of your country." In offering these Stamps, our Carriers are co-operating with the Government—without profit or remuneration. For your convenience, you may buy one or more stamps each week—they are 25c each. You will be given an Official Folder that will hold 16 twenty-five cent War Savings Stamps that can be exchanged, for a $5.00 War Saving Certificate.

EACH WEEK you can buy from your Carrier one or more 25c War Savings Stamps. You pay him when he delivers the Stamps to you.

Fill in this Coupon and give it to your Examiner Carrier.

Order Blank for War Savings Stamps.

THE EXAMINER CARRIER:—

I want to do my bit for Canada by buying War Savings Stamps regularly. Bring them on your regular collection day.

I would like to have......War Savings Stamps each week.

Popular Girls Know Card Games

"Slapjack" Is Rough, But Fun!

Friends are grateful today for casual, informal fun. Be ready to entertain one, two or more with such popular card games as "Michigan," "Russian Bank" and "Slapjack."

"Slapjack" is a simple card game but full of wild suspense. Two players, with a pack face down between them, take turns flipping up cards and laying them on the table—fast!

A Jack turns up? SLAP! BANG! You both try to be first to slap it—you both miss—the game goes crazy!

For a group, stunt games are especially fun. Here's one—"Uh Uh Woof Woof"!

In time to a hot, fast radio tune, you all count "One, two, three four five six, uh eight, nine woof, eleven, etc.," in unison. All sevens and multiples of seven are "uh" and all multiples of ten are "woof." When a player makes a mistake he must drop out!

In our 32-page booklet are 47 games and stunts—for two, three or more—to make you a welcome guest, an appreciated hostess. Includes card games, pencil-and-paper and nonsense games, puzzlers, and games of skill.

For your copy of "Games and Stunts for Two or More" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

USE THEM SEPARATELY

IT IS important to be able to recognize when a declarer must use his trumps separately, for ruffing, instead of using two on a trick to draw out those held by the defenders. To count up a hand with extensive ruffing possibilities, you first add up the number of tricks available with high cards in the side suits and then pile onto that the number of trumps which can be employed one at a time. Always bear in mind that the defenders, if they sense your plan and are on their toes, may lead a trump at you whenever they can, thus making you use up two trumps on those occasions and cutting down by one the number of ruffing tricks.

North: ♠ Q 10 3; ♥ Q J 10 4; ♦ 7; ♣ A 10 9 7 2

West: ♠ A K 6 4 2; ♥ 9; ♦ A 10 8 6; ♣ J 5 4

East: ♠ 9 7 5; ♥ 8 5 3 2; ♦ K Q 9 2; ♣ Q 6

South: ♠ J 8; ♥ A K 7 6; ♦ J 5 4 3; ♣ K 8 3

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
4 ♥

At one table that contract got made because of logical play by the declarer and a single defensive slip by the defenders. West opened the spade K and, seeing the ruffing situation, switched to his lone heart. South took this with the A and, wishing to set up the spade Q for a club discard, led the spade J. West came in with the A and led the club 4 to the K. The A followed, then the spade Q for discard of the last club, and a ruff of the club 7 with the heart 6.

Now the defenders made their slip. When the diamond J was led, West feared the old gag of such a lead from a K-Q-J combination and came in with his A. Having no trump to return, he led a diamond for a ruff by the heart 10. Then the club 10 was ruffed by the heart 7, the diamond 4 by the heart J, the club 9 by the heart K and the diamond 4 by the heart Q. East winced each time he had to under-ruff, as, if his partner had played low when the diamond J was led, he could have won the trick and returned a trump, compelling the declarer to use two and beating his contract.

At another table South, after winning the trump lead to the second trick, also tried one round of trumps himself. When he shortly thereafter led a diamond, West let East win it and return another trump. There the contract was downed two tricks.

Your Week-End Lesson

If your side has two major suits containing a total of eight cards each between your own hand and the dummy, which is usually the preferred choice as the trump? Why? Can you furnish an example or examples of the reason or reasons?

Omemee Police Constable Resigns Office

OMEMEE, Aug. 8 — (ENS). — Omemee Council met in the council chambers on Monday night, August 3. Reeve J. A. Bent, Councillors Parsons, Douglas and Burgess present.

Treasurer's report showed a balance in bank of $3,944.47.

Moved by Douglas, seconded by Parsons, that county rates, $1,907.66, be paid.

Parsons-Burgess: That municipality bid in property at adjourned tax rate if said property is not bought at regular rate and that intention to bid be advertised.

Owing to certain names being inadvertently omitted from assessment roll, a correct voters' list could not be compiled. Court of Revision was re-opened, with a view to rectifying this condition. A motion was passed that approved list be added to roll.

Parsons-Douglas: That a by-law authorizing annual fall assessment be received and read.

By-law No. 657 provides for assessment to be conducted in the fall of each year and permits 1942 assessment roll to be used for 1943 tax roll.

Constable Dixon tendered his resignation owing to his leaving the village.

Burgess-Douglas, that above resignation be accepted.

Burgess-Douglas: That tenders be advertised for part time constable, said office to include road superintendent, fire chief and sanitary inspector, also advertise in Peterborough and Lindsay papers.

The following accounts were read and ordered paid:

Street lights, $82.17; Dunlop Rubber Co., G. Lloyd, $8.75; J. Dixon, salary, $83.34; J. Dixon, account, $2; telephone, $2.31; D. Smith, $12.60; W. Kinbsboro, 81c; county rates, $1,907.66.

Moved by Burgess and Douglas, that council adjourn to meet Monday, August 17, at 8 p.m. Carried.

Five Lake Freighters For Ocean Service

TORONTO, Aug. 8—(CP).—Five lower lake canal-sized freighters from Toronto and other Great Lakes ports have been requisitioned and will sail shortly for deep-sea service, shipping officials said.

All five ships, officials said, will join other lake freighters in the coastal trade for the duration of the war. Since the war began more than 50 lower lake freighters have seen service in the war zone.

On The Ground And In The Air These Guns Promise Sudden Death To Nazis

Every day more of these vicious guns are coming off the production lines in Canadian munitions factories. The weapons shown in the photo at LEFT are Boys anti-tank rifles. A highly efficient weapon, the Boys fires a .55-inch armor-piercing bullet which immobilizes tanks by striking at their vulnerable points. The worker in the photo is inspecting finished guns. Whenever you hear the angry rat-tat-tat of a Spitfire fighting plane you may be sure it is produced by a Browning aircraft .303-inch machine gun like the ones in the photo at RIGHT. The girl munitions worker is gauging barrels for Browning guns. Both weapons are in quantity production at Canada's great Bren gun factory, one of the largest machine gun manufacturers in the world.

ed place, while in another sector 1,500 Germans were reported killed in three days. There the Russians said they were stopping German tanks with point-blank artillery fire.

In the Don River elbow Red Star said both sides captured and lost several populated points in shifting and violent battles.

Below Voronezh, at the northern end of the blazing front, the communique said Soviet forces which crossed the Don had captured several additional points.

Brisk fighting of a local nature broke out on the Leningrad front and in the Bryansk sector, 200 miles southwest of Moscow, the communique said, resulting in the killing of 280 Germans and destruction of 10 tanks.

One Soviet unit was credited with destruction of more than 100 tanks in throwing back 17 separate German attacks south of Kletskaya.

At the northern end of the flaming Don River front, the Russians reported Red Army units forced a crossing south of Voronez, and then repulsed three German counter-assaults. Hand-to-hand fighting developed in the initial atttack and the Germans were reported put to flight by bayonets and hand grenades.

In another battle in this sector Hungarian troops were declared routed. The Russians said a large number of Hungarian officers and men surrendered.

taught me that disaster must not be repeated in India."

"I want you to look upon the immediate recognition of Indian's independence as a war measure of first-class magnitude," he said.

Gandhi's appeal came after the British Government already had taken steps to assure the flow of essential commodities to India's millions in the event of a general closing of stores by Gandhi's followers in a non-violent revolt. The Congress' approval of the resolution authorizing the disobedience campaign by the Congress was regarded as certain.

Gandhi said a repetiton of the disasters of Malaya and Singapore could not be averted in India "unless Britain trusts the people of India to use their liberty in favor of the Allied cause."

"By that supreme act of justice," he said, "Britain would have taken away all cause for the seething discontent of India....I submit that it is worth all the battleships and airships hat your wonder-working engineers and financial resources can produce."

American Ears Poisoned.

Asserting that "false propaganda has poisoned American ears," he added: "You have made common cause with Great Britain. You cannot therefore disown responsibility for anything that her representatives do in India."

The letter ended with the salutation: "I am your friend."

An order, prohibiting the closing of shops and restaurants during a Hartal (days of mourning), empowered District Magistrates to operate stores if the owners refused to open and to sell at fixed prices a number of products including grain, sugar, milk, vegetables and meat.

The British action came a few hours after 8,000 Indians heard Gandhi, addressing the Congress Convention in support of a resolution demanding India's immediate independence from Britain, declared:

"Now is the occasion when we will have to rise."

U.S. Planes Raid

Still another enemy aircraft was listed as probably shot down in combat, though its destruction could not be confirmed.

The raid was the second on the Japanese air base at Canton in three days. Thursday American fliers were credited with destroying 10 grounded enemy planes in a surprise assault without loss to themselves.

The communique said extensive damage was done to the "White Cloud" airdrome as well as to docks and harbor buildings in this morning's raid. The bombers operated with a fighter escort.

Nine Jap Fighters Went Up.

At least nine Japanese fighters rose to challenge the raiders, but only after they had dropped their cargoes of high explosives in the target area, the bulletin declared.

The exploits of the American army fliers, who have been nicknamed the "Sky Dragons" by the Chinese, brought a glowing tribute from the newspaper Ta Kung Pao.

"They are sowing the seeds of hope in the people in occupied areas," the paper said. "They provide a stimulus for Chinese soldiers at the front and heighten the morale of our people behind the firing line.

"The American Government and people can well recognize the fact that the United States army air forces in China represent the maximum gain for the smallest price."

Red Army's

that the Kuban river, fed by melting snow, now is at high water mark may have an influence on the German decision for it must be an obstacle as formidable as the Don.

One curious feature of the recent fighting has been the extensive use the Germans are making of the troops of Satellite countries. That, combined with the fact that no strong diversionary operations have been opened on the northern sector of the front, makes it appear as if Germany may either be feeling the strain on her manpower or that a considerable part of her army may not have recovered from the effects of the winter war.

There have been no indications of failure of the Satellite troops to fight well but it may be doubted that they have the staying power of the German army.

The Calendar

The Calendar soon will bear watching if the Germans fail to maintain the impetus of their offensive. Last year the first phase of the final offensive opened Oct. 2 and was brought to a standstill by Autumn rains and mud the third week of the month. We may be certain that the German General Staff will not consent to repeat the second phase which opened when frost had hardened the ground and was stopped by sheer cold.

The Nazis, therefore, have not more than two months in which to gain decisive results this year.

In Egypt, the lull has been practically unbroken for the last week. Reports of strenuous efforts being made, with considerable success, to reinforce Field Marshal Erwin Rommel may be accepted as true. There is, however, a definite limit to the size of the force he can employ; a limit imposed by the nature of the country and his land communications.

When that limit is reached and he has accumulated reserves of material in the forward areas he may be expected to strike.

Although Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck may be slower to develop his maximum strength, with shorter communications he ultimately could maintain a larger force than his opponent. For offensive action, Gen. Auchinleck, with further to go to produce decisive results, needs a numerically-superior force if he is to maintain his momentum after starting.

Glancing Back 25 Years

British troops in Flanders Aug. 4, 1917 marked the third anniversary of their nation's entry into the first Great War by fighting through another progressive phase in the Battles of Ypres.

Prime Minister Lloyd George renewed and strengthened Allied confidence when he likened the war's progress to mountain climbing.

He said, "No one has any idea how near the top we may be. A mere crag may hide it from our view and we are staggered for a moment into a crevice (current Russian reverses). But we will climb again. Climbing with strong limbs and firm purpose and together we shall reach the summit of our hopes."

Three Airmen Killed

Macleod, Alta., Aug. 8—(CP). — Three members of the Royal Canadian Air Force were killed last night when their twin-engined Anson training planes collided in mid-air and crashed a few hundred yards from their home landing field at No. 78 Service Flying Training School here. Their names were withheld pending notification of their next-of-kin.

New Officers

Cadets graduating Friday from the officers' training centre at Gordon Head, B.C., include four district men: R. M. Hamilton, Lorne C. Bateman of Peterborough; J. H. Morrow, Brighton; A. W. White Lindsay. Most of the class receive the rank of second lieutenant in the Canadian (active) army. A few received lieutenants' commissions.

10 Percent Score Considered Good At Jarvis RCAF Gunnery School

By CHARLES BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

R.C.A.F. bombing and gunnery school, Jarvis, Ont., Aug. 8.—(CP)—Flying Officer Jimmy Simpson waggled his wings and a tube of canvas crept back into view, a couple of hundred yards away, 2,000 feet or so above Lake Erie.

Flying Officer Alf Wood slipped off the safety catch and as our old Fairey Battle came abreast of the Drogue, gave out with a burst from his Vickers G. O. For the benefit of the visiting newspaperman FO. Wood had spaced a few rounds of tracer in his magazine and we could see the sparks lighting up around the Drogue.

An air gunner gets the chance to shoot, 2,800 rounds in the air; first he fires tracer at the water, to get an idea of curvature, drift and the feel of the thing. Then come "splash targets," cones of wood also in the water, and finally the Drogues, fired at from different speeds and angles.

Closest Thing to Actual

Shooting at Drogues is the closest thing to combat a potential air gunner gets before he draws his wing and sergeant's stripes (or commission) and goes to an operational training unit on the coast or overseas. Considering the field of fire, variation in turrets and gun mountings, the instructors consider a 10 per cent. score on the Drogues pretty good. Note: For the record, FO. Wood got something over four per cent.

LAC. Chesley Lockhart of Coldbrook Station, N.S., and LAC. Arie Fox of (35 Henrietta St.) Toronto, had just come down from basting away.

Every five minutes, in flying weather, a plane takes off with two students, one firing plain ammunition, the other using colored bullets that leave a red-rimmed hole in the Drogue for the totting up of individual scores.

New Opportunities

Formation of a straight air gunner's course has opened up new opportunities for fellows who may have been on general duties, or who may not have the educational qualifications for wireless air gunner, pilot or observer. Right now at Jarvis a bunch of youngsters from all over Eastern Canada struggle with Aircraft Recognition, Armament, Signalling and Navigation, a smattering of mathematics—to get the hang of the theory—and numberless odds and ends of information necessary to make a competent air gunner.

Flt. Lt. Godfrey Senior, former Toronto construction engineer, says: "In some ways, air gunners may have felt they were almost 'forgotten men'; unquestionably more attention has been paid to the other branches. But actually, the air gunner is just as important a man as any other; in a pinch, he may be much more important. This course is a chance for a man who might otherwise be used on general duties to come through as air crew, and for a man who really seeks to make good at air gunnery to go as far as he wants."

Here at Jarvis, FO. Good puts the boys through their armament paces and FO. George Wills, former Toronto departmental store man gives them navigation.

Then the youngster buckles on his parachute harness and gets into the turret of a Bolingbroke or behind a Vickers in a Fairey Battle and one of Flt. Lt. D. W. Sayles' pilots takes him up to perforate a Drogue. Note: Flt. Lt. Sayles (naturally, the nickname is Chic) left a private flying business in Red Bluff, Cal. to come to Canada when war started. He's officer commanding gunnery flights at Jarvis.

Kingston Employer Is Heavily Fined

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 8—(CP).—Issuing a warning to employers who fail to observe the law in respect to the Unemployment Insurance Act, Magistrate J. B. Garvin today levied fines totalling $150 against J. H. S. Derry, operator of a Kingston tailoring and drycleaning establishment, when the latter was found guilty of six charges laid by the Employment Insurance Commission. The six accounts concerned the unemployment insurance payments of six employees.

Besides the fines of $25 in each case, Derry must pay the penalty of unpaid contributions and counsel fee of $25.

German Soldiers Sail For Britain

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—(CP)— All Germans in occupied countries are not confident of victory or of the justice of the Nazi cause according to a strange story reaching the Norwegian information Bureau here today.

Last April three German officers boarded the schooner "Luna" at a quay in Bergen. They offered the crew spirits containing a sleeping draught, the Bureau said, and ordered the skipper to sail for a spot where more Germans were taken aboard and they put out to sea. Subsequently the Norwegian crew of the schooner was ordered into a small boat and sent back to Norway.

The schooner then set a westward course—for England.

Hospital Costs Increase Council Learns

Local hospital accounts paid by the city during the 18 year period from 1924 to 1941 inclusive amounted to $131,047.59 according to the information compiled for the relief committee Thursday afternoon.

Nicholls Hospital received $61,026.18 and the total paid to St. Joseph's was $70,021.41.

The statement was prepared in the detail of annual hospital costs for the purpose of scanning the trend in the expense as comparatively indicated from year to year. The relief committee has known that in the last year or two hospital bills paid out of the municipal treasury have been on the increase while local relief has dropped to a hardpan minimum.

The hospital bill to the end of July this year was $3,134.46, an increase of $654.86. Payment to Nicholls Hospital was $1,991.76 and to St. Joseph's $1,142.70. The most of this expenditure was incurred in the care and treatment of old age pensioners.

The details of these accounts were: Nicholls: relief patients $337.75, indigent patients $1,654.01. St. Joseph's: relief $231.80 and indigents $910.90.

Of the total for seven months $569.55 was paid for relief patents, and $2,564.91 was paid for other indigents, persons receiving old age pensions.

Home Nursing

The relief committee of which Alderman Glover is chairman has been informed that some pensioners, health gone with their age, remain in hospital four and five months. The committee has been concerned about avoiding unnecessary cost without adopting any policy that might seem parsimonious or harsh. For the present they are going to enquire from other cities about their respective experiences and also send along to them copies of Peterborough's hospitalization outlay for 18 years.

The city has cut down hospital expense for relief patients by means of public nursing service in the homes of those who were not so ill that hospital care was the only help for them.

The committee also received yesterday the July statement of relief $874 last month and $1,831.13 for the same month last year. The per capita cost was $7.82 as against $5.75 a year ago. It was learned from the relief office that the drop to three figures last month was partly explained by a circumstance of bookkeeping, and is not quite so favorable to the treasury as it would seem.

Reds Begin Scorched Earth For Maikop Oil Fields As Caucasus Defences Crash

Russ Hold Own In Stalingrad Tank Battles And On Violent Voronezh Front While Huns Claim New Black Sea Ports

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 10—(AP).—Driven back by relentless, hard thrusts of German motorized troops and Alpinists, Red army defences before the oil fields of Maikop and in spurs of the Caucasian foothills appeared to be cracking today.

Front line dispatches telling of tremendous explosions roaring over a broad area seemed to indicate the Russians were carrying out with ruthless abandon the scorched earth policy in the first oil regions the Germans have been able to penetrate in their Caucasian thrust.

(The Germans, suddenly extending their drive eastward along the Baku Railway toward the Caspian, claimed the capture of Pyatigorsk, 110 miles southeast of Armavir and midway between the Black Sea and Caspian. They already had claimed to have reached the Caucasin slopes on a 250-mile front and captured Maikop and Krasnodar in the northwest Caucasus.)

In large-scale tank battles in the Kotelnikovski area of the Don elbow, southwest of Stalingrad, the Soviet machines appeared to be as strong as the Germans, and the Red Army was counter-attacking with some success.

Reds Widen Bridgeheads

Five hundred miles north of the Caucasus, in the Voronezh flank, the Russians were making further headway, expanding their bridgeheads on the west bank of the Don, taking several populated places in violent fighting, and repulsing German counter-attacks between the Don and Voronezh.

The Germans were bringing up reserves and still maintaining commuications with their groups before the city, however.

In the oil-bearing Maikop-Krasnodar area of the Northwest Caucasus, said today's communique, the Germans were "striving hard to advance," and dispatches from the front said great shroulds of dust and smoke were draped over a broad landscape already baked by a broiling summer sun.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said roaring blasts seared a wide area, and it was reasonable, observers said, to believe that the Russians would destroy the oil installations before the German reach them. The Maikop fields produce about seven per cent of Russia's petroleum.

Carve Up Rumanians

The newspaper Pravda reported that Kuban Cossacks were in action in the Armavir area and said that "in a series of vigorous cavalry attacks in co-operation with attack planes they cut up over 1,000 Ru-

RAF Lambastes Rail Centre Of Osnabrueck

LONDON, Aug. 10.— (CP).— A strong force of British bombers, returning to the offensive against Germany after two nights of bad weather, attacked he railway and industrial centre of Osnabrueck and other objectives in Northwest Germany last night, the Air Ministry announced to-day.

Docks at Le Havre, France, and air fields in Belgium and the Netherlands also were bombed.

Six bombers were missing from the night's operations and one fighter from offensive patrol yesterday, the Air Ministry said in its communique.

In scattered light attacks by the German Air Force on Britain during the night, three invading bombers were reported shot down.

A Key Junction.

Osnabrueck is a centre of great railroad yards through which virtually all the traffic from the Rhineland and Ruhr is shunted. It has been mentioned in R.A.F. communiques 39 times previously, but some of the raids were light. It was last mentioned on the night of June 19.

Negotiations Advance

MOSCOW, August 10, —(AP) — Maj.-Gen. Follett Bradley of the United States army air forces, who is here on a special mission for President Roosevelt, today expressed satisfaction at the progress of his negotiations after four meetings with Soviet military authorities.

Here to expedite the flow of American supplies to Russia he said "the general attitude (of the Russians) has been one of sincere friendship and co-operation."

Great Yank Air Force In Britain Now Ready For Joint RAF Hammer Blows At Hun Cities

LONDON, Aug. 10—(CP).—Maj.-Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of the United States Army Air Forces in Britain, declared today that the American Air Force is ready to begin attacks against Germany "within the immediate future."

"The American Air Forces and the Royal Air Force have worked in such full co-operation that we are proceeding ahead of the actual schedule," he said.

"Within the immediate future operations in accordance with plans that have been in the making between the Royal Air Force and the American Air Forces will commence."

Declaring his gratification at the helpfulness of "our British ally," Spaatz added: "Our enemy at the appointed time will feel the might of a thoroughly co-ordinated British-American Air Force."

Canada's First Paratroops To Train In Manitoba—Ready In 5 Months

OTTAWA, Aug. 10—(CP).—Canada's first parachute battalion will be organized and trained at Shilo military camp in Manitoba, Brig. E. G. Weeks, deputy chief of the general staff, annonced at a press conference today.

Since only fully trained soldiers are being taken into the parachute formation it is expected the unit should be fully trained and ready for action in five or six months.

Maj. H. D. Proctor, 31, of Ottawa, has been designated commanding officer fo the paratroops and will head a group of six officers and 20 non-commissioned officers who will be assembled in Ottawa and sent to Fort Benning, Ga., for paratroop training with the United States Army.

This group will return to Canada in October to act as instructors and officers for the unit which will then be organized.

Another group of officers and non-commissioned officers is being selected from the army overseas and some, if not all, of these will go through a parachute training course with the Royal Air Force in England.

The overseas group will return to Canada, bringing with them experience in overseas service and knowledge of British methods.

Uses Best Of Two Tactics.

"So we will have a group of experts not only in United States methods but in British methods," said Brig. Weeks. "We propose to pick out the best features of the two methods and adopt them as the Canadian system."

Consideration is being given to a special rate of pay for paratroops. Maj. Proctor has under study the designing of a special badge for the battalion. A study is also being made of the uniforms and other equipment used by both British and American paratroops, with a view to deciding on Canadian equipment embodying the best features of both.

"The department of national defence believes that Canadian soldiers in the last war and in this one have shown that they have the guts, the intelligence and the endurance needed for this type of work," said Brig. Weeks.

"The department is not going to leave any stone unturned to see that our paratroops get the best possible training and equipment. And we are satisfied the Canadian parachute troops will be second to none."

While the first group is getting training at Fort Benning the department will proceed with erection of a jumping tower and installation of other training equipment at Shilo. It is hoped everything will be ready when the group returns from Georgia in October, but should any delay occur the United States Army has agreed to train another group.

A weekly allotment of men will be fed into the school at Shilo after it opens and the battalion will be organized soon after.

R.C.A.F. Cooperating

"We have a complete understanding with the Royal Canadian Air Force and they will have their side of the show ready as soon as we have ours," said the Brigadier.

He said the Air Force has to carry the paratrops and so must be in complete control while the troops are in the air. One of the advantages of the Shilo Camp is that there are two airdromes nearby.

"Although foreign armies have been using paratroops for some time," he said, "there is still much to be learned about their use.

"We propose to experiment because we believe Canadians may be able to improve on the experience and developments of others."

Training of paratroops is progressive. The men first go through a hardening course. Then they learn to jump, land and tumble from walls. Next comes jumping from the tower which is 250 feet high. The first tower jumps are "controlled"—that is, the parachute is guided by guy wires. Then come free jumps, then individual jumps from aircraft, and finally unit-training or mass-jumping from aircraft

Paratroops work is strictly voluntarily. Not only are the men volun-

Batter Japs' Bases By Air, Sea

Believed Beginning Of Major Push; Heavy Force Involved

By C. YATES McDANIEL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 10 —(AP)—The United Nations' first powerful offensive of the Pacific war flamed into its fourth day today by sea, air and possibly land against savagely resisting Japanese in the Solomon Islands with supporting assaults by Allied airmen on enemy positions in New Guinea and the Bismarck Archipelago.

Latest word on the continuing action in the Solomons, while scant, indicated the initiative remained in the hands of the Allied fleet and other Allied forces which joined the battle Friday.

This information was relayed from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, late Sunday by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, United States Pacific naval commander. He gave no details as to the scope of the area under attack or the extent of the operations but all signs were that the drive might be developing into a major offensive operation.

Admiral Nimitz said the attack, on the Tulagi area in the southeast part of the Solomons, 600 miles off northeastern Australia, was being pressed by sea and air against Ja-

All Not Dark

LONDON, Aug. 10—(CP), —The Russians are holding all thrusts at Stalingrad and have taken the offensive at Rzhev and Voronezh but the scale of their counter-attacks is not yet known here, British military sources said today.

The surprise German drive at Stalingrad through Kotelnikovski a few days ago has been slowed, these quarters said, and the enemy has been checked "throughout the Don bend in bitter fighting."

In the extreme north, it was said, the Russian position "has still further deteriorated."

Just Stretching Into Stride Says Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP).—Twenty major United States war plants received new army-navy production awards today following President Roosevelt's declaration that battle needs demand "an unceasing flow" of weapons and materials.

"The united efforts of our army and navy striking at the enemy on every continent and every ocean, and of our people at home workign without interruption to turn out the weapons of war," Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday, "cannot fail to produce the victory which will again establish the tradition of free men throughout the world."

In a message read over a special broadcast, the President said "great progress" had been made on the production front, but added that "in terms of what will be required to defeat our enemies, we have only just begun to egt into our stride."

The President's message featured a broadcast during which top government and labor officas pledged their united efforts to speed war production.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Commander-in-Chief of the United States Pacific Fleet, told of a "crucial need for more raw materials" and warned that victory would demand "undreamad-of sacrifices and privations," winning the war will be "a long and bloody task," he said.

Lt.-Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commanding American forces in Britain, said the United Nations await materials from the American war arsenal.

"We pledge to you we will use them effectively," Eisenhower said.

Court Martial Texan In U.K.

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN, Aug. 10 —(CP)—Private Travis P. Hammond, 25, of Texas, the first American soldier to be tried by general court martial in Britain, pleaded not guilty today to a charge of assaulting a 16-year-old English girl.

If convicted he is liable to a death sentence or life imprisonment as a violator of the 92nd article of war under which it is charged that Hammond "forcibly and feloniously against her will did have carnal knowledge" of the girl on July 17.

Smartly dressed, the tall, dark-haired shop girl whose name was not disclosed, appeared before the court to testify against Hammond.

Strikes Spread Over India After Gandhi's Arrest; Crowds Burn, Loot Stores

Government Clamps Down Curfew Law Outlaws All-India Congress, 150 Arrests Made—Tear Gas Beats Riot

BOMBOY, Aug. 10—(AP).—Soldiers and police, fighting to control widespread riating on the second day of Mohandas K. Gandhi's civil disobedience campaign, have fired upon crowds in Bombay 10 times yesterday and today as strikes and disturbances spread throughout the country.

Bloodshed ushered in Gandhi's "non-violent" campaign yesterday when the police were forced to fire six times. Though deprived of leadership by the arrest of Gandhi and his aides, the party responded to his will of do or die."

A Bombay Government communique said casualties on Sunday totalled eight killed and 159 wounded, but said it had no tally of today's casualties in clashes in which demonstrators stoned trains and automobiles, and burned government grain shops. Strikes closed some factories and schools.

Police at New Delhi have turned back a small crowd of demonstrators who managed to get through an obstructon to the foot of the hills on which the house of Viceroy Lord Linlithgow is situated.

Mainly Students Shot

Twenty-three were sent to hospital with bullet wounds after police fired twice into groups in the Dadar district of Bombay, in Poona police fired on a crowd, mostly of students, near Parsurambhau College and two were removed to a hospital. Schools and colleges were closed. Goondas, the Hindu name for hoodlums, threw bottles through windows.

The work stoppages in some Bombay mills were in response to Mohandas K. Gandhi's "do or die" call for a "complete deadlock" by strikes and all other non-violent means.

As the campaign entered its second day amid shootings, showers of bottles and shouts of demonstrators, there were portents of even greater trouble ahead.

Bands of Hindus stoned some Moslem shops in the "trouble area" of South Central Bombay. Police have the greatest fear of repetition of the communal disobedience campaigns. These riots often were the bloodiest and the most difficult to suppress.

Throughout the city troops were stationed in groups ranging from a dozen soldiers to a full platoon.

They evidently were being shown largely for moral effect, however, for they were not participating with police in breaking up disturbances. They carried rifles, however.

The All-India Congress and its Provincial Committees were officially designated as unlawful organization dangerous to the public peace and police seized party headquarters in Bombay, New Delhi and elsewhere.

At least 149 persons were arrested yeterday in Bombay where police resorted to tear gas and revolvers to quell disorders after they had failed to disperse rioters with bamboo staves. More than 30 were arrested in New Delhi and numerous arrests were made in other cities.

The most serious disorders in Bombay occurred last night when police broke up a mass meeting of some 30,000 persons in Shiva-Ji park Tear gas employed for the sixth time since dawn in this city, finally

New Contingents Of U.S. Troops Pouring Across

LONDON, Aug. 10 (CP)—Additional contingents of United States troops have been arriving in Britain for some time past to strengthen the forces expected here to swing one day into action in Europe.

The dates of arrivals always are kept secret for some time in the interests of security, but it is permitted to state without disclosing when they got there that the forces gathering in Britain constantly are growing.

Troops which are arriving include all kinds of combat units and air force contingents.

The organization of the United States forces in Britain now is so systematized that these soldiers are scattered to stations and absorbed without creating even a ripple in the routine.

Arrivals are expected to increase still further as transport facilities improve.

Pipe Hits Wire 2 Officers Die

CAMP DEBERT, N.S., Aug. 10.—(CP). — Lieut. H. H. D. (Bob) Covert, 31 year old son of a former Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, and Lieut. Gordon Hutton, 21, Halifax, were killed to-day when a piece of pipe they were handling came in contact with a high tension wire at this military camp.

Both officers were members of the Princess Louise Fusiliers, a Halifax outfit.

Lieut. Cover was a son of Hon. W. H. Cover of Darmouh, N.S., Lieutenant-Governor from 1931 to 1937.

Lieut. Hutton was a son of a prominent Halifax tobacco merchant.

A third P.L.F. officer, Lieut. W. P. Bayne of Halifax, was slightly injured at the same time and is being treated for shock at Debert Military Hospital. Bayne was able to summon assistance soon after the accident, but Covert and Hutton failed to respond to several hours of artificial respiration and other treatment at hospital.

The three were walking towards their quarters when they noticed a pipe lying across the walk. While they were moving it aside it came in contact with the high tension wire.

2,500 Miles, Key In Throat

Tot Rushed Across Continent By Plane, Train

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10—(CP).—Blond Sharon Bell, four-year-old daughter of a Vancouver, B.C., policeman who was being fed through a nasal tube to-day while surgeons pondered the question of performing a delicate operation to remove a key from her larynx.

Sharon was reported resting 'comfortably' in Temple University following a 2,500-mile week-end plane and train trip from her home. Dr. Chevalier Jackson, whose bronchoscope has saved the lives of more than 2,000 persons, said the operation may be performed 'in a day or so.'

A week ago Sharon swallowed a key used to open a peanut can in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bell. Three operations failed to remove the obstruction and a tube was inserted in the throat to aid her in breathing. Two dolls clutched to her chest, Sharon was placed aboard a Trans-Canada plane, Philadelphia and Dr. Jackson her destination.

That was Friday night. She and her aunt arrived in Toronto Saturday morning—there was no room in the plane for the anxious father. From Toronto the woman and child flew on to New York where a taxi was waiting to take her to Pennsylvania station. The trip to Philadelphia was made by train and she arrived at the hospital Saturday night. In Vancouver the father managed to obtain plane accommodation yesterday and he reached Toronto last night.

Solomon Coup to Keep Japs off Russia

Action Needed Now To Offset India Unrest—Give Chinese New Heart

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The week-end has developed three major crises which, although in widely separated theatres, seem to be close related—(1) The American offensive against the Japanese in the Solomon and Aleutian Islands, (2) the further German gain in the Maikop oil zone of the northern Caucasus, and (3) the inauguration of the Indian Nationalist civil disobedience movement.

While we have no official interpretation of the strategic purposes of the new drive against the Japs, I think we are warranted in assuming that it probably is intended to serve in part as a "second front" to protect Russia from the Nipponese during the height of the Caucasian pressure. There is danger that the Japanese may take advantage of the Soviet difficulties to attack Siberia, and the Allied offensive may be intended to create a sufficient diversion, especially in the air, to discourage them from sticking a knife in Russia's back.

The Indian tragedy provides further incentive for the Japanese to duplicate their Pearl Harbor treachery and strike at Russia. With India thus stricken, and the Allies in danger of seeing this vast arsenal and vital strategic base rendered useless—or perhaps much worse—the hand of the United Nations against Japan will be weakened.

By the same token China loses striking power against the Japs. Since the Nipponese cut the Burma Road she has been getting most of her supplies from the outside world by air from India and over primitive trade trails through the mountains from that country.

However, while the Pacific offensive does protect Russia, either by deisgn or by circumstance, it undoubtedly is calculated to do more than create a diversion to help our Soviet ally. The Solomons and the neigboring Bismarck archipelago which the Japs hold, togethtr with Northwestern New Guinea, not only constitute a threata to sea communications with Ausralia and New Zealand, but they provide the enemy with an enviable base for attack on the Australia mainland.

Whether this offensive will develop into a major operation probably depends on what success meets with the intial efforts. The chances are that the command is figuring on ousting the Japs entitrely from this whole group of islands if things go well. That would be a great achievement and one which would create a threat against the whole structure of the Nipponese island conquests.

Apart from the strategic considerations, this offensive may provide a

Sacrifices By Australia

Curtin Gives Supplies Needed Worse Elsewhere

MELBOURNE, August 10. —(AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin told an audience Saturday night that "some of the overseas supplies allocated to Australia did not come because I consented to their diversion to more urgent places for more urgent purposes."

"We cannot expect to be placed in special sanctuary while those associated with us are having their territories ravaged," the Prime Minister declared.

"We have not enough planes," tanks or ships. Neither has China, the Middle East or any of our Allies. There is no surplus of anything and inadequacies exist everywhere."

Curtain said the original allocations for the Pacific theatre were greater than eventual arrivals and that some non-arrivals were caused by shipping losses.

"It is not our place to ask for more airplanes at expense of Russia, China and the Middle East than can be allocated to use by the combined chiefs of staffs," he said. "The more planes you have in one place the less you have in another. But we are unconquerable. Britain is undefeatable. The United States will stay with us to the end. Russia will never agree to a separate peace and China will fight to the end."

SIX GERMAN SABOTEURS PAY THE PRICE IN U. S. ELECTRIC CHAIR

Secrecy Shrouds Burial Place For Gang

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP).—The same strict secrecy which surrounded eight Nazi saboteur specialists during their trial for life before a military tribunal continued today to shroud six of them in death and the two who didn't die.

Office of War Information officials said that details of the disposition of the bodies of the six who were executed in the district jail's electric chair Saturday must come from the White House. Sources there said President Secretary Stephen Early, from whom such an announcement would normally be expected, probably would not be available today.

Thus, an official curtain was drawn over the likely resting place of the half dozen who landed from U-boats on a mission of sabotage but met instead swift and deadly justice.

But Berlin knew that Heinrich Harm Heinck, Richard Quirin, Edward John Kerling, Herbert Hans Haupt, Werner Thiel and Hermann Otto Neubauer were dead. The BBC took care of that Saturday night, broadcasting the news in several languages to the Nazi-dominated European Continent.

Snug in iron-barred safety, George John Dasch and Ernest Peter Burger continued to live today. The help they gave the Government in sealing the fate of the other six brought commutation of their death sentences—Dasch's to thirty years and Burger's to life, both at hard labor.

Attorney-General Francis Biddle, chief prosecutor, said the leniency shown the two was "perfectly justified" bacause "they helped considerably" in preparing the case against the other six. It also was evident that the mercy granted the two would be of value in sowing seeds of distrust in any espionage, sabotage or fifth-column group that still might be in existence. The publicity given the Dasch-Burger commutations was a bid for any member of enemy bands who might choose to turn tale-bearer.

Ten Held as Accomplices

With ten persons jailed in Chicago and New York, charged with being the saboteurs' American accomplices, this point took on a new import.

The first of the saboteurs to pay with his life was led from a cell at the District of Columbia Jail to its execution chamber at noon Saturday. In grim succession, the five others followed.

Just before 1:30 the White House, several miles away, announced that President Roosevelt had approved the findings and recommendations of the military commission, and that the six had been executed. The record of the case, containing much information of an important military nature, it was said, would be sealed until after the war.

Outside the jail a small crowd saw army ambulances enter the jail yard, presumably to remove the bodies. A group of young women, huddled under umbrellas on a nearby roof, could see over the wall.

On the sidewalk an elderly grey-haired woman waited for four hours. She told reporters she had one son in the army and one in the navy. When she learned that the men had been executed, she said:

"I'm glad. I don't see why they waited, though. Of course this is the United States, but they would not have waited all that time over there."

Later the coroner, Dr. A. Magruder MacDonald, left the jail with a military escort, refusing to say what disposition would be made of the bodies. Brigadier-General Robert L. Cox, Provost Marshal for the District of Columbia, left soon afterward. Reporters attempted to question him, but he placed a finger on his lips, and would say only:

"All mum."

The ambulances bearing the bodies left the jail at midafternoon bound apparently a morgue and burial preparations. A score of soldiers, armed with sub-machine guns, guarded the prison entrance, holding back a lingering crowd of 100 or more. Inside the walled yard the bodies had been carried to the ambulances on stretchers borne by soldiers.

Meanwhile, Stephen Early, the President's secretary, called White House reporters to his office and gave them copies of the announcement.

"The President completed his review of the findings and sentences of the military commission appointed by him on July 2, 1942, which tried the eight Nazi saboteurs," it said.

"The President approved the judgment of the military commission that all of the prisoners were guilty, and that they be given the death sentence by electrocution.

"However, there was a unanimous recommendation by the commission, concurred in by the Attorney-General and the judge advocate-general of the army, that the sentence of two of the prisoners be commuted to life imprisonment because of their assistance to the Government of the United States in the apprehension and conviction of the others.

"The commutation directed by the President in the case of Burger was to confinement at hard labor for life. In the case of Dasch the sentence was commuted by the President to confinement at hard labor for thirty years.

"The electrocutions began at noon today.

"Six of the prisoners were electrocuted. The other two were confined to prison.

"The record in all eight cases will be sealed until the end of the war."

The electric chair is located in a chamber on the top floor of the jail. The chair itself, newly cleaned, stood in the middle of the room. Two dozen shiny aluminum chairs had been placed in the adjoining witness room, separated from the death chamber itself by a partition of glass and screening.

In advance it was said that a crew of four from the regular staff of the jail would manage the executions.

The four, their names not announced were an executioner and an assistant executioner, who receive $50 for each person put to death, and two assistants, each getting $25.

All eight of the would-be saboteurs, although German-born, had spent considerable periods in this country, and one, Haupt, was a naturalized American citizen.

Guardsman's Tip-Off.

In landing they encountered an unarmed coast guardsman, John C. Cullen, on beach patrol. They attempted to buy his silence with a bride of $300, for his death or disappearance would have unleashed a determined hunt Taking the money, he went to his station and reported the event. Then he discovered that he had been short-changed by $40.

The four others landed three days later on a beach near Jcksonville, Flo. By what method they were apprehended has never been revealed, but o n June 27, a week to ten days later, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents had arrested all eigh in New York and Chicago

Announcing their seizure the F.B.I. said the men brought with them enough explosives for a two-year campaign of destruction. These they had buritd on the beach The ahes inluded quantities of T. N. T., inendiaries, time fuses, aids, and bombs disguised as lumps of coal..

They had a list, too of the piants railroads, aterways and bridges which they had been instructed to destroy.

Bombers Score Hits At Bengasi

CAIRO, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Allied heavy bombers made a sharp attack yesterday on the Axis supply port of Bengasi, scoring a direct hit on one ship and registering near misses on others, British Headquarters reported today.

British light bombers simultaneously attacked enemy shipping off the North Africa coast and bombarded grounded Axis warplanes at airdromes in the El Daba area west of El Alamein.

A slight increase in enemy fighter plane activity was noted.

There were no developments on the land front yesterday, British headquarters said, though patrols were active during the preceding night.

Two German fighter planes were reported shot down yesterday during minor activity over Malta.

Find Few Men Working On Crops Sunday

TORONTO, August 10. — Farmers in the Toronto area forsook their work in the harvest fields yesterday despite the emergency of the crop situation and despite the general feeling among clergymen that present conditions justified farm work on the Sabbath.

Seated comfortably in front of his home, one farmer summed up the general attitude. "Most of us feel that six days of heavy labor call for a day of rest," he said. "It isn't so much a question o freligion; it's more a matter of sheer physical necessity. And beides, a farmer simply can't get his hired men to work on a Sunday. Naturally, there isn't a great deal of useful work that he can accomplished by himself."

Weather conditions over the week end hampered the few farmers who had planned to carry on with harvest operations, but there were hundreds of fields where stooking was incomplete. Farmers agreed that stooking could have been done yesterday without too much difficulty, but most of those interviewed felt that farm work on Sundays presented them with too heavy a burden.

In the meantime, the labor problem was becoming more acute. Civilian volunteers were being recruited in Toronto, but not in sufficient numbers to materially affect the shortage. An organizer charged with securing transportation for farm help said he had had the use of thirty-five cars offered to him, but "there isn't anybody to put in them." Only three people had come forward, he said, to contribute a few days' work to the farmer. Rounding out the picture spokesmen for the farmers became more bitterly insistent on their plight, and predicted that tremendous quantities of food would go to waste within the next month unless the labor shortage was relieved.

Straw will not be salvaged in farm operations this season, district farmers said yesterday, and thousands of dollars' worth of traw will have to be burned this fall because of the trouble involved in storing it.

Although there is likely to be a shortage of fodder before next spring farmers believe that burning of straw will be forced on them by a scarcity of help. As it is they say, most of them will be fortunate if they can gather the bulk of their crops and the waste of straw is unsignificant beside the proable waste of more important items.

Swimmer Rescued After Diving Mishap

Billy Holland, age 14, of 27 Braidwood Avenue, is reliably reported to have saved his chum, 11-year-old Gerry Sutherland, of McGill Street, from drowning in the canal over the week-end.

According to the story, five or six boys were swimming at the lock above Nassau, when Sutherland dove into the water, struck his head on bottom, and came to the surface in an unconscious condition. Holland grabbed him, but the other boy came to, and almost dragged Holland under. As they neared the iron ladder in the cement wall, Lindy Carson grabbed hold, and between the two they were able to get the boy ashore. Bystanders gave first aid, and the young swimmer is none the worse for his near brush with death.

This is the second time that Holland has been instrumental in saving the other boy from drowning.

Drownings Cost 5 of 12 Toll Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Drownings claimed five of the lives of 12 persons who met violent deaths in Eastern Canada during the week-end.

A youth in Quebec City was accidentally killed when a fellow worker swung a knife at him, a Montreal girl died of injuries suffered in what police said was a fall from a car, two persons died in traffic accidents, one man was fatally injured in a plane crash and an elderly farmer died of gunshot wounds.

In a drowning at Leamington, Ont., two Detroit men lost their lives in Lake Erie after a rowboat capsized. They were Andrew Nibli, 45, and Harry MacLeah, 50. Four other persons reached shore safely when waves overturned the boat.

Robert Scott McDonald, 17, of Horning's Mills in Dufferin county, was drowned Sunday in Georgian Bay at Wasaga Beach when a boat he was sailing with a girl companion capsized. The girl swam to shore.

At Antigonish, N.S., 33-year-old Angus Cameron was drowned Sunday while swimming at Southside harbor. He disappeared while wading out in deep water. Charles Eugene Gendron, 37-year-old longshoreman, was drowned at Three Rivers, Que., Saturday when he fell from a barge.

Killed In Plane Crash.

Leslie Gregory, 35-year-old theatre manager of Hamilton, Ont., died in hospital Sunday of injuries suffered when his light plane crashed during a forced landing near Georgetown, Ont.

Police at Montreal said last night they were holding a man in connection with the death there early on Saturday of Anita Anne Laplante, 22-year-old photographer's assistant. The girl's body was found in a vacant lot in northeast Montreal and she died of a fractured skull. Police said they believed the injury was caused in a fall from a moving vehicle.

John Fox, 19-year-old employee of an uptown cigar store at Quebec City, was fatally injured Sunday when pierced through the chest by a knife a fellow worker was holding. The accident occurred when the employee holding the knife turned suddenly, not knowing Fox was standing behind him.

Nineteen-year-old Marcel Favreau was killed Saturday at L'Epiphanie, Que., when a car crashed into the abutment of a small steel bridge. Three-year-old Leon Naud was crushed to death by a truck Sunday at St. Roch de Mekinac, 50 miles north of Three Rivers, Que.

James Davidson, 70-year-old resident of Keppel township, near Wiarton, Ont., died Saturday of gunshot wounds.

Truck Overturns Spills Gasoline

PORT HOPE, Aug. 10.—(ENS). The police car with the siren wide open raced through the downtown streets on Saturday afternoon causing quite a little curiosity for which Constable Broughton gives the explanation of a large oil company truck overturning.

This truck, driven by Allen Wilbur, of Oshawa, who escaped without injury through a small opening in the cab, was travelling east when it went out of control and turned upside down in the ditch two miles west of Welcome corners.

About 50 gallons of the 1,000 gallons of gasoline on the load were lost when the damaged truck overturned.

On Wednesday last a truck of the Harris Transport Company of Toronto, containing fifty kegs of beer, distributed two kegs along the ditch when the trailer became detached. This truck was driven by Clinton Turcott, of Toronto.

The arrest of two Toronto lads took place on Friday on Highway No. 2, by Provincial Constable Broughton, near Newtonville, where they had stolen cigarettes from a booth operated by Mrs. S. Burley. The boys are being heud for trial in Cobourg.

COBOURG, Aug. 10—(ENS).—Another large crowd came over on the car ferry on Sunday, when some thousand excursionists made the trip from Rochester to Cobourg. This year has seen the largest numbers on ferry trips in many years. Victoria Park was also thronged with visitors who came down early in the afternoon, parked their cars and spent the rest of the day. Tables dotted the park with families who brought their suppers with them.

Brawn Not Gold To Win The War

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 10 (ENS)—In a fighting speech in which he called upon his listeners to prepare themselves for a long war and harden themselves to the sacrifices that they are almost certain to make before it is won, Major the Rev. Merritt Price of Actinolite addressed a large gathering before the local Cenotaph on Sunday afternoon. Major Price was the guest speaker at the annual decoration services arranged by the local branch of the Canadian Legion and observed likewise by Oddfellows, Rebekahs and Orangemen, all of whom chose the same day to pay tribute to their comrades by laying flowers on their graves in local cemeteries.

The address before the Cenotaph climaxed a parade led by the Midland Regiment Band, who marched with the I.O.O.F. to stage their annual decoration ceremony at Mount Pleasant cemetery. Stopping briefly at the Church of England cemetery where flowers were placed on graves of former members, the Oddfellows were joined by Rebekahs at Mount Pleasant where after a short address by H. R. Tompkins of Stirling flowers were placed on the graves. Sister Ella Abar read the list of Rebekah members deceased and as each name was read a member of the lodge placed a bouquet of flowers on the ground in their honour. Marshall P. Sherwin acted in similar capacity for the Oddfellows and was assisted by N. G. Morely Tanner and Acting Chaplain C. W. Palliser. For the Orangemen and L.T.B. who marched to the accompaniment of their own Fife and Drum Band, W. M. Marshall Keir was in charge of the ceremony at the grounds with Chaplain Joseph Brethour and Recording Secretary Florence Robinson assisting with the ceremony.

On returning to town the Oddfellows and Band were joined in the parade to the Cenotaph by the Legion and following the placing of wreaths the Last Post signalled the beginning of two minutes silence in honor of those who had fallen in the last war and for the three men from this district who have died in the present conflict. Three small Union Jacks stood on the ground in front of the Cenotaph as a special tribute to those three men who gave their lives in the present battle. Major J. M. Bygott, who was in charge of the Veterans explained the significance of these flags at the beginning of the service, during which Captain Alex. Turnbull and Rev. G. N. Maxwell assisted.

In introducing the speaker Mayor F. F. Long told briefly of his record in the last war in which Rev. Price enlisted at the outset as a private and ended it commissioned a Major on the British General Staff. Major Price laid strong emphasis on the fallacy of believing gold would win the war. He recalled that although the U.S. had sixty per cent of the world's gold supply buried at Fort Knox, Germany which had practically none, had been winning the war for the past three years. Urging Canadians to "wake up" he pointed to the defeats suffered in France, Norway, Crete, Singapore and the Phillipine Islands, "the only thing that has saved us is that we are so bull headed we don't know when we are licked." Major Price forecast the war would last another four or five years and warned "We can't get off with Russia doing all the fighting... nor will the gold in Fort Knox buy victory."

Pedestrian Hit

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 10 (ENS)—While driving North on Front street late Saturday evening when traffic was at its peak for the day, William McArthur collided with a pedestrian, Edward Wilson, 67, of Seymour township. The accident occurred just south of the parking lot and according to the story Wilson told Police Constable George Hardy, he was thrown 8 to 10 feet by the force of the impact. Though he recevied a bruised hip and back injuries Mr. Wilson was able to proceed to his home following medical treatment.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

For Tuesday, August 11.

JUDGING BY the lunar transits affecting the affairs of this day there should be a moderate degree of activity in connection with expansive and ambitious programs, in which others may be expected to lend more than ordinary support and approval. This may be in connection with public or community advancement or well-being, in which those in high places as well as elderly persons or old-established institutions lend hearty cooperation.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a year of muh accomplishment, progress and happiness, with many interests under a most expansive and productive impetus. Association of plans in conjunction with public or group welfare, in which those in position and power are ready to cooperate, should be pushed toward ambitious goals. Elders and old institutions may also be willing supporters.

A child born on this day should be capable and ambitious, with sound judgment, profound insight and practical constructive ability.

Many Take Part At Oddfellows Decoration Day

COBOURG, Aug. 10.—Cobourg Lodge I.O.O.F. No. 136 held their annual Decoration Day yesterday when graves of departed brethren were decorated in Cobourg Union and St. Peter's cemeteries. The beautiful service was attended by many from Port Hope, Orono, Lindsay and other centres.

The lodge members assembled at the lodge rooms at 2:30 and then proceeded to the Union Cemetery, headed by Cobourg Kilties Band. A large number of citizens witnessed the ceremony and although cars were fewer than last year many went out on bicycles or walked. Fine weather usually marks the Oddfellows decoration day and yesterday was no exception. The service was held just beyond the entrance to the cemetery under the shade of towering pines which led an extra touch of solemnity to the occasion. The Oddfellows formed a circle for the ceremony which preceded the decoration of the graves.

The service opened with the Doxology after which Rev. Gordon Hern of St. Peter's Anglican Church, gave the opening prayer. Then followed the hymn, "Sun of My Soul."

Rev. W. C. Watson of Camplain, New York, who is relieving Rev. W. P. Woodger of Trinity United church gave a brief but inspiring address on the significance of the occasion. He pointed out that the departed brethren had by their lives left fine examples for the present members of the lodge to follow.

He referred to the story of Christ being help with His Cross on his journey to Calvary. In that fellowship of suffering had been contributed much to the world. God cared only for the man who contributes by sacrifice to the uplifting and support of God's Kingdom here. By the example shown by the departed members of the lodge whose memory was being honored this day, stated the speaker, was given the opportunity to live better tomorrow than today.

Brother Roy Dodge announced that there were two additions to the list of departed members, Bro. H. Campbell and Bro. Harry McGuire. Brother Larry McGuire was the first of the Lodge in the present war to be killed in action, death coming while carrying out his duties with the R.C.A.F. As a special tribute to his memory, Brother William Dermeddy, R.C.E., stood at attention at the grave with four other members of the Lodge while his grave was decorated.

After the decoration of the graves, the hymn "O Safe to the Rock" was sung, after which the closing prayer and benediction was given by Rev. W. O. Nugent of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Electric Stoves Ordered Frozen

OTTAWA, Aug. 10—(CP).—The Department of Munitions and Supply announced last night that stocks of electric stoves in the hands of retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers were frozen under an order effective at midnight Saturday, and that no further sales may be made except under special permit.

"Rationing regulations now are being formulated by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and will be announced shortly," Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson said in a departmental statement.

"In the meantime, the freezing order will prevent hoarding, and will assure delivery of available supplies of stoves to those who really need them."

Munitions and supply officials said the action was taken to preserve metal supplies and assure a fair distribution of available stoves.

The new order, issued by Mr. Williamson, affects stoves sold and not yet delivered, but does not affect second-hand stoves. All new electric stoves and ranges of more than 35 amperes, all new combination coal and electric ranges, and all new electric rangettes come under its terms.

The order provides that, without a permit, no person may manufacture after August 31 any electric cooking stoves or ranges of more than 35 amperes, any combination coal and electric range, any electric rangette or electric cooking plate, grill or heater.

Production of these items until August 31 may continue up to 75 per cent. of the monthly average during 1940.

Mr. Williamson said permits may be issued to manufacturers who wish to clear up inventories of parts fabricated before August 31.

Continued manufacture of repair parts will be permitted.

Bulging Shirts Bring Arrests

COBOURG, Aug 10—(ENS).—Two juveniles from Toronto appeared in police court Saturday and were remanded until today. They were arrested on Saturday by Provincial Constable Gordon Broughton near Port Hope. They are charged with breaking and entering and theft of the canteen operated by Mrs. S. Burley at Newtonville. Their behavior aroused the suspicions of the officer while he was patrolling his highway beat on Saturday and when he started to question them he noticed that their shirts were bulging. The constable found that they had secreted some packages of cigarettes and chocolate bars, and on questioning them learned that they had taken them from Mrs. Burley's canteen at Newtonville. They were brought to Cobourg and locked up.

Believe Model 'Taken For Ride'

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—Believed to have been "taken for a ride" after having had her fortune told in tea leaves, Anita Anne Laplante, 22-year-old photographer's model, lies in the morgue here.

Police hold a suspect who, it is believed was the driver of a car from which she was ejected early Saturday morning. Her body was found in weeds at the side of an east-end street, and it is believed that she crawled, in a semi-conscious condition, into the tall grass after being thrown from the moving car. She died of a skull fracture.

Friends of the girl said they saw her entering an automobile the night before she was found dead.

From the girl's mother it was learned that her fiance was on his way to this city to arrange for their marriage. He comes from Saskatchewan. The romantic type, she left her home for the last time to have her fortune told.

It is believed that she entered the car, and, objecting to advances of the driver, leaped or was pushed from the moving vehicle, the force of the fall causing death.

Use For Cannon

PICTOU, N.S., Aug. 10 (CP)—The old cannon which once pointed their muzzles over Pictou Harbor from Battery Hill are to return to Pictou on war service. Turned in as salvage a few months ago, the old guns are being made into 50 bending slabs at New Glasgow. The bending slabs will be used at the Pictou shipyard, which is building 4,700-ton merchant ships.

Canadian Downs Hun Bomber Firing From Hip

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, August 10. —(CP)— Lance-Corporal Ronnie Plant of Jarvie, Alta., is credited with shooting down a German fighter-bomber with a Bren gun which he fired from the hip in Commando fashion.

Bullets from Plants Bren blasted the tail off the Jerry, which lost height and crashed a few miles away. The action, which occurred recently but was only disclosed yesterday, probably surprised Plant, a member of the Edmonton Regiment jut as much as the Nazi pilot.

Plant is getting to be an old hand at the game. In June 1940, while serving with an ack-ack crew aboard a British trawler in the North Sea, his ship was attacked and he and his mates shot the aircraft into the sea.

After this latest action British ack-ack gunners near by put in a claim to have destroyed the Nazi but witnesses said there was not much doubt that Plant would get official credit.

Riding yesterday morning in a convoy in the back of a truck with his trusty Bren beside him, Plant told of the action.

"The plane came whooping in low and at first I couldn't believe it was Jerry," he said. "Then I saw the markings and didn't lost any time. I opened right up from the hip. I got away a magazine and a half with my Bren and I really do not know myself what happeneod. They're giving me credit but there were other boys in the regiment firing too."

Those who were with Plant, however, said it was his accurate firing that did the trick. He smashed up the tail of the plane, and it broke off in a shower of wreckage.

Doing Good Work

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1. —(ENS.— Meeting at the home of Mrs. Owen Brahoney on Thursday afternoon seven members of the 10th Line Victory Club put aside thoughts of threshing and other farm activities long enough to complete a quilt as a part of their monthly contribution to the war effort. In addition to the quilt work was also done on little girls' dresses and two of these were completed during the afternoon and will be turned over to the Salvation Army Red Shield Auxiliary. Mrs E. Shorter contributed several baby's dresses which were turned in at the meeting. They hope to finish up the work now on hand and start another quilt when they meet on September 3rd at Mrs. Alex. Green's.

Not So Bad, After All

Recently we looked into the matter of our personal income tax and forced savings. Or, to be quite accurate, we enlisted the help of someone whose arithmetical skill is greatly superior to our own and watched the tax being worked out. It was considerably less than we had thought it would be. As a result, we are enjoying a pleasant, though probably deceptive, feeling of wealth.

We suggest that you take the plunge and look into your own situation if you have not already done so. The recent Budget was admittedly a stiff one, but Mr. Ilsley has not picked the country clean; he knows that there must be a certain amount of money left after taxes are paid, or we shall not be able to live. He has left us enough to live on, if we are careful. Indeed, he has done better than that; he has left us enough to be able to save, and to buy war savings certificates, which are undoubtedly the best investments offering these days.

Fear of taxes, like the fear of death, can cast a shadow over every hour of the day if we allow it to do so. The taxes which we are about to pay are stiff, but they are bearable. Let us pay them therefore, without complaint. There is no doubt that the new system of deducting the tax from the pay envelope before it is handed out will make taxpayers of many people who were not in that category before. Without any conscious wish to cheat the country many workers pay no attention at all to the Income Tax regulations, assuming that they are not taxable. This new system will bring them into the fold, and there will certainly be some of them who will not like it.

We may expect September to be a month of irritation on this account. The deduction of taxes at source is indistinguishable in effect from a wage cut, and every care must be taken to explain that nothing of the sort has occurred. What is more, every effort must be made to prevent a drop in the purchase of War Savings Certificates. The best way to prevent such difficulties is to meet them now, by looking thoroughly into the tax situation and arranging a budget for the approaching twelve months. Many people have done this already, but there are many more who have not done so, perhaps for fear of what such an investigation would show. Let them try it; they may find things much better than they anticipate.

Keeping Record Straight

Just to keep the record straight and to clear a wrong impression that is being spread throughout the county concerning this newspaper's recent criticism of the county council, we want to state that the Examiner is not out to defeat any member of the county council at the next municipal elections. We are solely interested in seeing public affairs administered in a businesslike way and we feel sure that is what the ratepayers desire.

On several occasions we have said that there are men in the council capable of giving good businesslike leadership but unfortunately some of these are taking the attitude of "Why Should I Do It?" In this we feel that they have failed to accept their responsibilities as county councillors.

Instead of the midyear session lasting seven days the council actually was in session six and in this we were mistaken. The tax rate is increased this year and the increase is due to the extra cost of educating pupils in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational Training School. This increase was known to the members of the county council early in the year but we were not able to see an effort put forth to reduce other expenditures as was made by numerous other municipalities in Ontario. Every municipality in Ontario was faced with increased educational costs mostly through the quitting of students attending the secondary schools to go into war work. The school boards had teachers hired and all expenditure made to run the schools at the September peak. Peterborough Collegiate alone showed a decline of nearly three hundred in attendance between September, 1941, and June, 1942.

Tea, Coffee And Beer

We print in our third column today a letter from a correspondent using the pen-name "I Wonder," who asks why tea and coffee should be rationed when beer is not. The answer is simple. Tea and coffee are not rationed for any moralistic reason, but because they are hard to get. Tea comes from the Orient, and the risks of shipping are so great in the Pacific that we cannot ask men to risk their lives in order to bring us our accustomed quantities of tea. We lack shipping, also, to bring coffee from South America. Beer, which is made on the spot, creates no comparable transport problem, and so it is still available in its usual quantities.

We have stated our views on the liquor question in these columns before, and have made clear our dissatisfaction with the problems created by excessive drinking and disorderly beverage rooms. But in fairness we must point out to our correspondent that a physician might dispute his claim that tea and coffee induced "strength and clear thinking" any more than beer does. Doubtless beer dulls the brain when it is capable of further blunting, but we have heard some pretty queer views expressed over the teacups, too.

H.M.C.S. Peterborough?

Our neighbor, Port Hope, recently covered itself with glory by launching its own contribution to Canada's rapidly growing Navy. Many towns and cities throughout Canada have done the same thing and, after they have put their corvette or minesweeper on the water they continue to keep an eye on the welfare and comfort of the men who sail in her. It is one of the best and pleasantest contributions which a community can make to the war effort.

Have we, as a community, given any thought to H.M.C.S. Peterborough? She could be built and launched and manned; she could do her part in the breaking up of Hitler's U-boat packs; she could be a visible symbol upon the seas of the patriotic ardor of this city and its environs. Peterborough is an inland city, but she has shown that her sea-legs are good; enlistments in the Navy from this district have been large and young men are leaving here in greater numbers every week to take up the battle on a sea which many of them have never seen. We have given men; could we not give a ship too?

Irony

Irony is a handy weapon, and it is some time since we have seen it used with such skill as in this letter, which was published in the British weekly, New Statesman and Nation, recently:

"Sir,—Surely the birth of another son at this juncture to the Duke of Kent solves a burning problem for us as a nation, and is yet another proof, if such as needed, that God does fight on the side of righteousness.

"Here is the Commander-in-Chief the need for whom was so startlingly brought home to us by Sir John Wardlaw Milne in the House of Commons.

"By the time this Prince has finished his course at Eton and the University, our production will be reaching its peak, and the vast resources of the great American nation will be fully mobilized. In such a hope, let us go forward, etc., etc.—Dorothy Hawkin."

The effect of this letter may be judged from that which follows, which appeared in the same publication the following week:

"Sir,—Congratulations on publishing Dorothy Hawkin's superb letter. At least one journal shows still a little punch. What the workers of England need is the fierce scorn of an Aristophanes to counteract the slimy rubbish which the millionaires hand out. That letter on the young Kent has place of honor on our wall newspaper, and the whole factory roared with delight at it. Actually it increased production.—A Worker, Bradford."

We have never, in this country, taken whole-heartedly to the British pursuit of writing letters to newspapers. Certainly we have never seen a letter in a Canadian paper which cut as deep as this. Doubtless many of our readers will not agree with the appreciative 'Worker' that the letter is "superb"; they will think it offensive and bitter. Still, we think that it speaks well for wartime Britain that people have the independence of thought to write and appreciate such sharp criticism of the government. Perhaps Canadian political criticism would be improved if we used the scalpel more and the bludgeon less.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The members of the Sarnia township council are going to have their parks and beaches patrolled to prevent petting parties. When a township council opposes itself to the irresistible drive of nature we know where to place our bet.

According to the British department of the all-knowing Gallup Poll, Winston Churchill's popularity is waning, as only 78 per cent. of the population approve of his conduct of the war. That of course, is the opinion of a few hundred people who have nothing better to do than answer questions for the Gallup Poll.

Letters To The Editor

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I have been a reader of the Examiner for many years. I would like to have this letter printed in your worthy paper, if it is worth the space.

It seems to me that tea and coffee are beverages that are most essential to many people who rely on this drink to give them added strength and energy and especially to our war-workers.

I know and believe that every person must sacrifice till it hurts in respect to win this war. But when a temperate person can see that amid the sacrifices the sale of beer has not been restricted in quantity or price, and a great many of our young people appear to be the heaviest drinkers.

Which is the best beverage, tea and coffee that gives strength and clear thinking, or beer that slows up the system and dulls the brain?

I WONDER.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Would you please allow me a space in your paper to say something about the damage being done to bicycles in our city.

One young girl had her bicycle stolen and when found had the front wheel missing. Perhaps the one who did this low-down, mean trick will read this. It might bother their conscience and they would put back the stolen wheel. But anyone who would do a thing like that hasn't got conscience.

A boy had the front fender and the license on his bicycle cut in half. Both of these bikes were practically new.

A second boy left his bicycle parked outside of the factory where he works. Coming out to find both tires flat, and on taking them off found both tubes punctured in holes in several places by a sharp instrument. This is only three cases. There are dozens like them all over the city. In a time like this when everyone is trying to save tires and everything else that will help our boys win this war I am amazed that anyone should be so low as to deliberately destroy bicycles that are so hard to get. The material that is used for them is needed for war, and anyone that is deliberately destroying this material is helping Hitler kill our boys, besides robbing the boys and girls that have worked hard to get their bicycles. Some work in factories, some go out to help our farmers that are in such need of help these days. But with all this destruction going on, it's a waste of time and money. What can we do to stop this deviltry?

A VICTIM.

COUNTRY VERSUS CITY

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—We think that if city people as a whole had more information about conditions on the farms, they would be more willing to help work out a co-operative system that would cut out city middle men and enable farmers to receive incomes on a par with those received by city dwellers.

Official figures show that the cost of living is higher in the country than in the city. We quote: "The latest index figure shows the cost of farm family living is 116.4 while that for city families is 115.7." That is something to think about, isn't it?

From a reliable source we read this: "The cash income per farm in the period from 1926-29 averaged $791. For the eleven years from 1930-40 inclusive, the income averaged only $329." Perhaps that will explain to our city friends the reason so many farms are heavily mortgaged, and why so few farm homes are equipped with hydro, bath-rooms and running water, and other facilities necessary in our present day standard of living. Will some one please supply the exact percentage of farm homes with the above conveniences? We read recently that in the larger cities of Ontario, over 90 per cent of the homes had these and other luxuries. Those income figures explain the comparatively low salaries paid to rural teachers and the low incomes of lawyers, doctors, etc., in villages and smaller towns, who also serve in the country districts. The low incomes explain the low wages offered by farmers, and the fact that 'agriculture entered this war in a seriously depressed condition.'

I have not figures for farm incomes for the last two years, but here is some interesting information. Dr. Reynolds, ex-president of the O.A.C. has worked out from a survey of farm incomes, brought up-to-date, that it costs a farmer $2.84 to produce a hundred pounds of whole milk for city consumption. In that same district the farmer receives only $2.40 per hundred for his milk. How can he live under those conditions? When an attempt was made to raise the price to the farmers, the middle men fought it but continued to use far more men and equipment than necesary to deliver milk in war time. The city consumers pay 13c per quart for milk and 51c per quart for beer, nearly four times as much. They grumble about the prices of meat and eggs and many pay out 20c to 50c per day for cigarettes. They fight about the comparatively low prices asked on the markets for fresh fruit and vegetables and pay for cosmetics, unnecessary clothes, and shows in a war time when we are fighting greed and selfishness.

The production of milk for cheese is supposed to be a paying proposition. The farmer is supposed to receive 20c for cheese but the middle men put over a 'fast one' and the farmers get 19¾c and the farmers have to pay shipping costs to Montreal, which the buyers used to pay. A farmer estimated milk for the factory cost less than whole milk and allowed $2 per hundred as cost of production. In his factory the average price paid for June milk was $1.45 per hundred plus 25.5c bonuses, making an income of about $1.71 per hundred. Interesting, isn't it? The production for milk for butter has been bonused but only if the cream is sold to a creamery, not if butter is made in the home. Looks like more attempts by the government to help urban middle men to get a soft job at the farmers' expense. The farmers do not know whether the grading of eggs helps the consumer or middle men more, but the average farmer's wife knows that there is little if any profit in raising chickens for broilers or eggs at present prices received by them.

Here is a quotation from the president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture in regard to farmers' comments on the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and other Boards: "There are practically no farmers on these boards. The great majority of these officials are drawn from other occupations, and they haven't a practical understanding or knowledge of the farmer's position." I should like to add that they want cheap food. Why is sugar selling for 9c per pound if there is supposed to be a ceiling? Why are there no ceilings on the incomes of lawyers, I mean those who ask fees of thousands of dollars for work that simply isn't worth it? Must the government (which is all of us who have low incomes) pay what they ask? City doctors' fees are so high that one might just as well die a natural death as one from shock at the size of the bill after an operation. Other incomes are rising too. Here's another quotation that throws light on the incomes of factory workers in the United States: "The average pay of factory workers during the month of August, 1941 was just 74½c per hour, the average work hours for the week being 41." Compare that with the wages and most of all with the working hours on the farms, it isn't the farmer's fault that he can't pay higher wages. Also, farmers and their families are working far beyond their strength.

It would be much better if farmers would forget about the existing political and think only of Urban and Rural Parties. The Rural Parties would include the villages and even the smaller towns, which cannot secure factories even in this war time. We have heard the boast of a large city that 200 more factories had been secured to add to the large number already located there. Someone hoped for a bigger and better city. We can understand the 'better' part but not the 'bigger.' But we know that this same city added to itself a business firm which was built in an adjoining township. And the amusing part is that when the cities have most of the factories and war industries, the latter kept up by rural as well as urban funds, there is opposition to farmers or their sons going to work in the cities at better pay than they can ever make on the farms. Farmers can never become wealthy and they do not ask exorbitant prices for their produce.

It is unfortunate that stores have not been established where farm produce can be sold direct to all city consumers, similar to the market but open continuously and including all farm produce. We believe they would solve our problems not only in war time but in the period of uncertainty which we fear will follow.

"RURALITE."

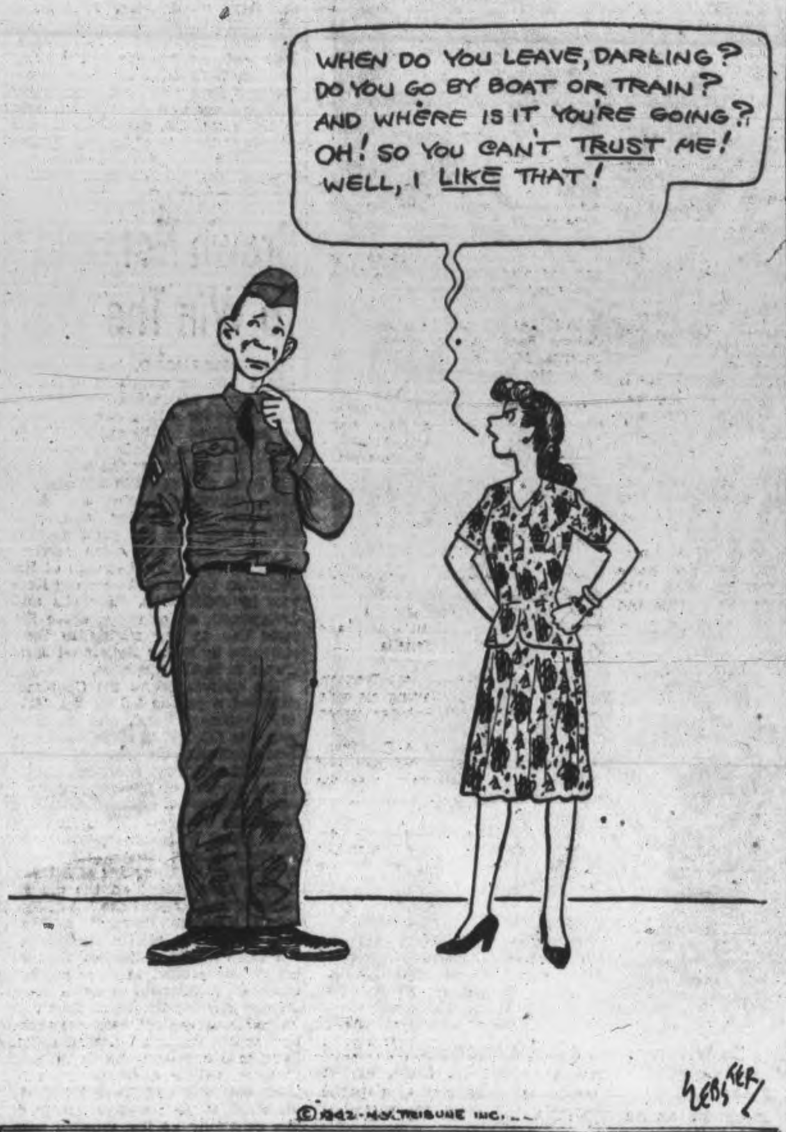
LIFE'S DARKEST MOMENT



Time Near for Jap Siberian Blow

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

ANOTHER week, bitter with defeat and retreat for Red armies, closed with heightening prospects that a second-front attack is impending—but it may be launched in the East and by Japan before Russia's Anglo-American Allies are able to strike effectively in the West.

If Japan, still without a decisive victory in China, bruised by American air-sea blows and at least checked in the Southwest Pacific, is to move at all against Russia under her Axis commitments the time seems ripe.

Weather conditions for a Siberian assault are right as they will not be again for twelve months. Chungking and London [illegible] with rumors of Japanese preparations. The German-trained Nipponese conqueror of Singapore and Corregidor now is reported in command in the North. Tokyo has called up all males from 16 to 50 years of age for military service.

Drastic new dim-out measures along the west coast of the United States indicate that Washington expects Japanese diversion forays. They might be designed, like the Japanese toe-holds in the Western Aleutians, to balk or impede American aid to Russia in Siberia.

CHANCE FOR U.S. PLANES

If that front is opened, Siberian bases could afford expanding American air power opportunity to strike at Japan itself. That possibility still is the most powerful influence upon Tokyo not to jump on her traditional Russian foe prematurely.

Yet beyond a shadow of a doubt Tokyo has two-way commitments with her European Axis mates concerning Russia. That the Japanese war lords are merely biding their time until Hitler and his Italian and Balkan satellites have fulfilled their part of the conquest bargain goes without saying.

The Axis offensive in Russia has obviously reached a point where Tokyo must be weighing the question of joining the attack on the Soviet. Hitler is so close to having driven Russian armies in the West behind a short line from the Baltic to the Caspian and to seizing the rich Caucasus resources that Berlin pressure upon Tokyo to fulfil Axis commitments must be imperative.

The British-Indian political crisis adds to the argument for Japanese attack on Russia. Indian troops in Egypt and elsewhere in the Middle East form a substantial and hard-fighting element of British armies. Whether their loyalty and battle zeal would be affected by a non-violent, passive resistance effort to Britain's hand in India, even without the Japanese appeasement aspects, is a grave question.

It could account in part for failure of the British army in Egypt yet to turn on the stalled Axis army that has driven its way close to Alexandria. So far, although there is every indication that General Sir Claude Auchinleck has succeeded in bringing up troops and supplies for a major counter-offensive and also retains control of the air, he has been content with skirmishing for position. He may have been awaiting the outcome of the crisis in India due to uncertainties as to its effect on Indian contingents of his armies.

If this argues against Japanese strong-arm methods against India for the moment and in favor of intensive Nipponese political intrigue to foment British-Indian discord, it does not apply as to Japan v. Russia. A smashing Japanese invasion of Siberia might have disturbing psychological aftermaths in India for the United Nations.

Russia is India's most powerful neighbor. The spectacle of little Japan, once before Russia's conquerors, harrying Red armies in Siberia as Nazi troops and their allies are blasting them in the west, might build up a conception of Axis invincibility in India. British, American and Netherlands defeats in Malaya, the Philippines, Burma and the Netherlands East Indies have helped set the stage for that.

Taking Bad With Good

Throughout this war the British, Canadian and American public have demonstrated that they can absorb bad news just as they have absorbed staggering taxes. They realize, in spite of the rosy hopes portrayed at the beginning of the war, that we are up against formidable adversaries. The people of the United Nations are prepared for a long, hard fight, for discouraging reverses and heavy losses before victory can be won. Optimistic spokesmen who continually encourage hopes of short-cut victories, and especially so when news of the opposite nature is in the making, are only adding seriusly t urhrddhi the making, are only adding seriously to our troubles and damaging rather than boosting our morale. Nothing is to be gained by fooling ourselves. Much is to be gained by hearing and digesting the disagreeable facts.—Financial Post.

As Others See Us

There is something very congenial between the Chinese and the English. An Englishman was describing the virtues of the Chinese people, but he ended with saying: "Of course, the poor little fellows, they can't help having those ugly cat faces with no eyebrows." But in talking with my friend, the Chinese said: "What infuriates us is that we have been civilized for thousands of years, and you have only been civilized for a few hundred years, and when we see you we say, 'Look at their great hollow eyes and their shaggy eyebrows; you seem to us like chimpanzees'." We have an uncivilized attitude of calling the Chinese "chinks." Did you know that they call us "chimps"?—Maude Royden in The Churchman (New York).

A Bible Message For Today

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever tho uhadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God.—Ps. xc, 1, 2.

One Generation shall praise thy works to another, and shall declare thy mighty acts....They shall abundantly utter the memory of thy great goodness, and shall sing of thy righteousness... The Lord is good to all: and his tender mercies are over all his works.—Ps. cxlv, 4, 7, 9.

They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever. As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from henceforth even for ever.—Ps. cxxv, 1, 2.

"How much for the puppies, Eddie?" asked the customer.

"Sixpence for the one and a shilling the other, sir," replied the young fellow, who had just started business.

"But why is one sixpence more than the other?"

"'Cos he swallowed a sixpence this morning," explained the young salesman.

Here is a recent story from irrepressible London, published in the current issue of This Week Magazine:

Winston Churchill was visiting friends in the West End of London on the afternoon of a recent broadcast. He left rather late and stepped up to a cab stand, telling the driver to go to the BBC studios.

"You'll have to take another cab, sir. I can't go that far," the driver told him.

The Prime Minister was rather surprised and asked the driver why he was limited in the distance his cab would travel.

"Mr. Churchill is broadcasting in an hour and I want to get home and tune in."

This pleased Churchill and he pulled out a pound note. The driver took one look at the note and said:

"Hop in, sir. 'T'hell with Mr. Churchill."

We Have Them, Too

In some sections of the United States where gasoline is being rationed, the authorities are stopping motorists and asking them where they are going and why.

These questions, it is said, are proving very embarrassing to many motorists who often drive without destination or purpose.

We have quite a few of that kind here to whom such questions of where? and why? would not only be embarrassing, but would be entirely unanswerable as well.—Huron Expositor.

Petty Officer Jim White, R.C.N., spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. G. White, in East City.

Those serving at the canteen at the Military Training Centre Sunday were: Mrs. R. Pearson, Miss Irene Battle, Miss M. Payne, Miss M. Youdell, Miss H. Wilson, Miss E. Abraham, Miss C. Long, Miss D. Dawson, Miss H. Lytle, Sgt. Eileen Biddle, Pte. Mary Harvey and Pte. Beatrice Curtis.

The engagement has been announced of Emma Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham, to Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goodenough and son were visitors at the Salvation Army Temple Sunday.

LAC. Les French, stationed at Collins Bay, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. French, R.R. No. 3.

Misses Frances and Genevieve Murray have returned from Roseneath Manor, Beaumaris, Muskoka, where they enjoyed their vacations.

Lac. K. Bolan was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bolan, George street, over the week-end.

Mr. R. Kenneth McKee and daughter Carolyn, McDonnel street, have returned home after a visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Leach, Fenella.

Lac. Victor Smith, of Trenton, spent the week-end visiting his wife, Mrs. V. Smith, 179 Rubidge street.

Lac. Stanley Lee, R.A.F., Trenton, was visiting Adjt. Norman and Mrs. Buckley, King street, over the week-end.

Mrs. W. Houghton is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Norman Buckley, King street, for a few days.

Pledge Cards

The National Council of Women has received 500 pledge cards which are available to any housewife who calls at 382 George Street any afternoon during the time from 2 until 5. These cards are done in attractive blue, red and cream colors and are a pledge for the women to manage their homes on a wartime footing and contain a quotation from one of the inspiring talks given by Queen Elizabeth. The Council reports that the names for the service quilt are within 60 of the required 500 and that by far the vast majority of suggestions for use of the $50 have been for the "Milk For Britain Fund."

Range Pal Meeting

On Friday evening the Range Pals met at the home of Misses Edna, Reta and Shirley Butler. During the business meeting Miss Daisy Bell stated that a permit had been granted the Range Pals for the holding of their carnival on August 21 in aid of British War Victims.

The recreational period was in the form of an impromptu program, with Mr. Art Sayer acting as chairman. It began with community singing, followed by a violin solo by Ray Clements, a piano solo by Allen Worsencroft and a guitar solo by Miss Dorothy Larmer. Miss Shirley Butler sang, and Miss May Thompson played a violin solo. The program finished with community singing and games.

Lunch was served and the club was asked to the home of Misses Lorraine, Marion and Blanche Quinn, Douro, for their next meeting.

Eight Sign Up

The Department of Agriculture office is well pleased at the response of Peterborough girls to the call for fruit pickers. Already thirty applications have been handed out and eight more girls have turned in. They are Shirley Sisson, 302 Hunter St. W., Marjorie Pearse, 594 Harvey street, Joyce Jeffries, 480 George street, Shirley Jeffries, 480 George, Sheila Maguire, Charlotte street, Judith Clarke, Homewood avenue, Audrey Phillips and Edith West, both of Hastings.

35 Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wheeler of McFarlane Ave., celebrated their 35th wedding aniversary on Friday. Their daughter, Mrs. J. Elliott, Elias avenue, who was with them for the day, was married two years ago, on the same day as her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler have lived here for forty years, although Mr. Wheeler was born in Monaghan township, and his wife in Cobourg. This couple were married in Cobourg.

Years ago, Mr. Wheeler worked as a newsboy for the Examiner and then in the office, but for a number of years he has operated a butcher shop in East City, which his father had before him. The anniversary was spent very quietly and both Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler are in good health.

WOMEN WILL STILL BE WOMEN AFTER THE WAR
Feminine War Workers in Britain Say They Long To Be Mothers

There has been much speculation about what women will do after the war and whether, after having known the excitement of working at high pressure in large groups, and especially after having experienced the thrill of earning large salaries and having earned their own money, they will be willing to return to the domestic grind, which is performed mostly in solitude, and carries no bonuses or pay envelopes with it.

This question has been answered, to a large extent, by a questionnaire which has been sent out in England to the women war workers, asking them what they wanted to do after the duration. Almost with one voice they replied that they long to go back to the normal life of women again. They want to be just wives and mothers. They want to fill the baby's bottle instead of filling shells in an ammunition plant, and to push a perambulator instead of driving a truck. They have even planned the little house they are going to have, with its bit of garden in the back and its flower beds in front, and curtains in the kitchen.

So that's that and we need lose no more sleep in worrying over whether the war has defeminized women and wrecked the home as an institution. Apparently women will still be women under any and all conditions, and still wedded to their immemorial dream of a vine-wreathed cottage and a house in which they can surround themselves with their own belongings and putter around to their hearts' content.

This report is interesting because it leads us to hope that one of the valuable by-products of the war will be to make women better satisfied with their lot as women. Deep down in the heart of practically every woman has been a drop of envy of men and a feeling that when God created Adam he gave him and his sons the best of everything, and poor Eve and her daughters only got the leftovers.

They're Married After Third Try

PORTSMOUTH, England August 10.—(CP) — Miss Alice Smith and Petty Officer Albert Champ of Hastings are married at last but it took tries to do it. On attempt No. 1 the bride was in her bridal dress and the bridal cars were waiting when the ceremony was called off because the bride was a minor. Attempt No. 2 ended when the bridegroom was suddenly called back to his ship. This was one year after attempt No. 1. For attempt No. 3 everything went well. The bridegroom got two hours special leave and they were married in a registry office.

Blankets—English China Selling to Americans

Stores report that there is a fairly good sale of woollen blankets going on even with a smaller number of Americans on this side of the border, and with the restrictions that have been imposed on the quantity obtainable. Some firms are allowing the stores only half of what they purchased last year, some one-fifth and others have reduced it to pounds. For example in this latter case, the store might be allowed one blanket and two motor rugs to make up the required weight.

Although there are not as many Americans here, there is a definite increase in civilian buying of these woollen blankets. When asked why this was so the two most popular suggestions were that there were more people getting married and more people moving into town. In some cases stores report that they have had to limit the sale of blankets to one person because that one might wish to purchase 10 to 11 blankets, and whereas in former years they might have 40 to 50 on hand this year a sale such as that would almost completely deplete their stock. Another thing merchants pointed out is that the new civilian output which will be manufactured during the winter will no longer be pure wool. The new blankets will have 80 per cent wool and 20 per cent mixture.

Another item of interest to women who are buying thread in quantites for war work, is that at times it is rather difficult to obtain large quantities of cotton thread. Some women who went shopping last week, who needed about 20 spools were only able to get two spools at any store. Some merchants explained this as being simply near the end of their quota and not wishing to get completely cleaned out, they limit the amount sold to any one person. Thread is, like everything else, being given out in restricted quantities, and as with the lisle hose. with cotton shipments being held up from Egypt, the thread may in time become harder to get.

The sale of china to tourists and civilians has not fallen noticeably several stores report and, surprisingly, a large amount of English china is still on the market. One dealer said that they had regular shipments of Spode china arriving. Of course the shipments go to the bottom, but on the whole they come through regularly, and the wares are of just as high quality as before the war. That is another way in which England is carrying on.

St. John's Church Scene Of Twilight Wedding

A charming twilight military wedding of wide interest took place Saturday at St. John's Anglican church when Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil D. Hall, was united in marriage to 2nd Lieutenant Lawrence Archibald Craig, Governor-General's Foot Guards, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Craig, Ottawa, with Canon W. P. Robertson officiating. The church was beautifully decorated with gladioli in soft shades ranging from white to a deep rose, and pink and white tapers threw out a soft light. Mr. Fred Mann played softly throughout the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a white silk jersey gown with a slight train in juliet style, with three quarter sleeves, and it was close fitting with a wide flowing skirt. Her white net veil was caught with gladioli and was also in juliet style. She carried a bouquet of gladioli in soft shades of yellow and pink.

Miss Martha Louise Hall, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a dusky pink silk jersey gown, modelled on that of the bride, and a matching bandeau with veiling, and carried a bouquet of gladioli in soft shades. Miss Agnes Richardson, of Calabogie, wore a dusky blue silk jersey frock, also patterned after the bride's and wore matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of gladioli. Sally Hall, six-year-old niece of the bride, was dressed in white dotted swiss with a polk bonnet in palest pink and carried a nosegay of sweet peas with a rose. She was escorted by Peter Hall, a nephew of the bride, of the same age.

The best man was Lieut. Orville Burke and the ushers were Lieut. Cameron Grant and Major J. Keir.

During the signing of the register, Miss Gwen Bond sang 'O Fair, O Sweet and Holy.'

After the ceremony a reception was held at the hom of the bride's parents and the bride's mother, Mrs. Basil Hall, received wearing a smart beige gown with a close fitting jacket, and hat in shades of mauve and rose with a small veil. Her corsage was composed of flower in the same shade as her hat. Mrs. Craig, the groom's mother, received, wearing a black and white lace outfit with black accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses.

Later the happy couple left for a short trip, the bride wearing a beige suit with brown accessories.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Mackenzies, Major Bruce Mills, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. J. H. Hogan, Major and Mrs. S. H. MacLaren, Capt. and Mrs. Mel. Del Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. McIlraith, Lieut. and Mrs. A. C. Burke, Lieut. H. C. Herring, Major and Mrs. R. W. CUBS CAN CATCH LEAGUE LEADERS IN CATHOLIC LOOP SCHEDULE

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Royals and Luckies who clash tonight in the first game of their City League semi-finals series are likely to stage just such another battle as thrilled the fans Friday night when Plazas nosed out Soldiers in the final frame. Royals finished in second place, higher up the ladder than Luckies, but Manager Fred Griffin's club, nevertheless, has beaten the second-placers three times in a row during the regular season. This is playoff time however and past performances often count for little when the checks are down. The two opponents have staged some great battles during the season and with so much at stake tonight's fixture should prove a thriller-diller. It looks like Ronnie Akers doing the pitching for the Royals and Lefty Bill Lewis getting the call for Luckies. The lineups have not been definitely announced but Luckies will likely have Luke Jamison, A. Caccavella, M. Caccavella and Al Courneya in the infield and Joe Stewart, Bill Moorhead and Frank McCormick in the outfield posts while Royals will use either Smith or Niziol at first, Giardino at second, McNabb at short and Hawks at third with Pryde, Gatfield and Don or Lionel Holmes in the garden. The game will start sharp at 7 o'clock and should be a lively affair all the way.

The playoffs in the Girls' Softball League start tomorrow night when Generals and Westclox will resume their feud in the first game of a best three-of-five series for the senior title and the privilege of playing in the Ontario series. Generals finally stopped the upward surge of Big Bens by defeating them 7 to 5 Friday night but it was anybody's ball game until the finish. Westclox came from behind to tie it up but the Generals had punch enough left to score two more counters in the later stages and took the decision. Both teams played snappy ball and Friday's game was one of the snappiest girls' games of the season. With the championship at stake in the series that opens tomorrow night, the games should be close all the way and provide plenty of thrills for the fans. Nothing has been given out from either camp as to the pitching choices. Generals have three hurlers ready to work, Bea McDowell, Marilyn McCarthy and Norma Strickland, while Westclox can start Marg Watson or Tommy Bullock, who has pitched very effectively in relief roles this season. She, of course, is the regular catcher and when she goes to the hilltop Marg Hawthorne moves in from third to do the backstopping. Tomorrow night's game is at 7 o'clock and players are warned to be on hand early.

They're Getting Scarce

Peterborough's athletic population is rapidly dwindling as players in various lines of sport leave to begin training in the armed forces. Over the week-end two well-known athletes have said good-bye for the present in the person of Julian Wade, left-fielder of the Plazas softball club who has enlisted with the Navy and Gordie McIntyre, one of the members of the Outboard Marines basketball squad who has gone to an anti-aircraft battery on the Atlantic coast. He is the second player of the Marines to go within a week, Doug McPherson left last week to report to the Royal Canadian Air Force. The Marines and basketball in general have been hard hit. In addition to McIntyre and McPherson other former members of the Outboards now in uniform are Harry Marsh, Ross Pulkinghorn, Jack Gemmell, Lloyd Grose and Don Sedgewick. As for the City Basketball teams of last season they are being riddled by enlistments. Another well known athlete who begins training with the R.C.A.F. this week is Al Marshall, Dominion and Ontario breast stroke swim champion. Al will swim in the Wallace Point mile event Wednesday and leave next day for Manning Pool, Toronto. Don Crowe, hockey, lacrosse, rugby and softball star, also enters the Air Force in the near future to train as a pilot.

* * * * * *

There promises to be some keen competition in the various paddling and rowing events at the annual Wallace Point Canoe Club regatta Wednesday afternoon and in the four swim events that follow. There have been no regattas in the district all summer and a lot of the paddlers who have been looking for an opportunity to show their stuff will be on hand for the big card Wednesday. Among the competitors will be that well known pair of crack paddlers from Crowe's Landing, Clarence McIlmoyle and Nona Whetung who will enter their respective singles competitions and will hook up together in a doubles team that will take a lot of beating. The committee expect large fields in every contest and with their ability to stage a worthwhile aquatic entertainment a big time can be expected. The regatta gets under way at 2.30 o'clock and the swim program will start at 6 o'clock. Feature of the swim card will be the attempt of Al Marshall to take the men's swim for the third time in succession and thus become the permanent holder of the Gordon K. Fraser trophy. This will be Al's last crack at the trophy for some time for he reports to the Royal Canadian Air Force Thursday to begin training as a pilot. Entries have been coming in well, Director Gord Minty reports and the list will be published tomorrow.

This Was A Marathon

There were a lot of interesting ball games over the week-end, not of the least remarkable of which was the long drawn-out struggle between Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs which Chicago finally took 10 to 8 after eighteen innings. That was an epic with the Reds coming from behind three times to tie up and finally losing out after nine extra frames. Cubs were 4 to 0 in front when Cincinnati sewed it up with four in their half of the ninth. Chicago pushed over two runs in the first of the 10th and the battling Reds retaliated with a pair in their half. In the 12th the Cubs again scored twice making it 8 to 6 but once more Cincinnati evened it up with two in the second end of the frame. The teams battled on until the 18th when once more Chicago opened up a two-run lead and this time held it. Bithorn, the last of six Cub pitchers to get into the game was credited with the win while the loss went to Elmer Riddle who was the sixth Red pitcher.

Lex Robson of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club had the satisfaction of winding up tied with Bobby Gray of Weston for the honor of being second Canadian in the Canadian open golf championship. The only Canadian player to do better in the big event was Gordie Brydson who had the advantage of playing over his home course and who finished up three strokes better than Robson on the 72 holes. Craig Wood won the event with a total of 275, the third lowest score in the history of the Canadian open. Four shots back in second place was Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N.Y., who staged a strong finish with a score of 135 for the last half. Robson had four consistent rounds to finish well up in the list, doing the 72-par course, in 73, 74, 70, 74, only three above par. Willie Spittal of the Peterborough club picked up in the last round.

Race Tightens As Teams Take Last Lap

The Catholic Softball League schedule is rapidly drawing to a close and in another week the ground should be cleared away to start into the playoffs. Teams finishing in second and third positions play a two-of-three series to meet the team holding down the leading slot. Standing of the league to August 7 is as follows:

	Won	Lost
St. Peter's	12	7
Cubs	12	10
Sacred Heart	7	9
K. of C.	7	12

St. Peter's have five more games to rattle off whereas the Cubs have only two. The former has a better chance of finishing in first, a 5 to 2 chance with last year's champs. K. of C. with five games to go can possibly tie Cubs or even the Sacred Heart depending how the remaining games go. Again they can probably beat out the Sacred Heart out of a playoff position. The southend team on the other hand with eight games to account for can easily beat out both the teams tied for first place, providing they come through with wins. For all teams the closing tilts of the schedule are important and anything can happen.

Due to the fact that the Sacred Heart have six postponed games. They are having two four-point games this coming week against St. Peter's, which are Monday and Thursday night. Incidentally Monday's scheduled game of Sacred Heart vs Cubs has been set ahead to Friday night. The Tuesday and Wednesday night games are regular scheduled two-point games. Another four-point game is coming up next Monday when Sacred Heart meets the K. of C. These two meet again the following night for two points. However these latter two games will not be run off unless the standing of either team will be affectd.

The executive is making an effort to get league matters cleaned up by the end of the month, including schedule, postponed games and playoffs.

K. of C. have lodged a protest against the Cubs in the game of last Wednesday and should a replay be decided upon it will not be carried out unless it affect the standing of either team.

Testing Love 'Em To Death Theory

BOSTON, Aug. 10—Casey Stengel, sail-eared pilot of the Boston Braves, now bombards major league baseball with the most unusual theory the sport has encountered in years.

And since the Braves downed the champion Dodgers, 2 to 1, in eleven innings Friday night—right after Casey revealed his new philosophy, it must be given consideration. A second consecutive victory over the Dodgers yesterday gave added weight to Stengel's theory.

No Team Hatreds

Th eccentric Mr. Stengel says, "Kiss 'em, and hit 'em on the chin." He adds: 'Like 'em while you larrup 'em. Smile while you smack 'em."

In other words, says Stengel, let there be an end to team hatreds as far as the Braves are concerned. He says the Braves have hated everybody, and particularly the Dodgers, and nothing happened—but bad. So now they're going to go one up on the Golden Rule and love their neighbors even better than themselves, and particularly the Dodgers.

Equipped with this new victory formula, Stengel—one of the game's most stentorian and ribald jockeys—promised the startled writers that he would praise the opposing team every time it got an advantage over the Bostonians. In other words, if Pee Wee Reese smacked a questionable double just inside the foul line, he would yell: "That's the old eye, Pee Wee; "That's really drawin' the line. Congratulations." This instead of barging out with both fists doubled, yelling at Pee Wee and the deciding umpire, "Why, you blankety-blank so-and-so's, you make Jesse James look like a choir boy, etc."

Will Remain Cool

Stengel promises also "nothing that Leo Durocher of the Dodgers, nor any other manager, pops off with their big mouths will get me mad—I hope. None of those lousy jockeys — and you have plenty on every club—will get a rise out of me. I will remain cool of head, and by my very coolness, which will be reflected in the indifference of my boys—we will make those other so and so's so blankety-blank mad that they will begin pressing and beat themselves."

"We Braves are not as bad as we seem, and the Dodgers are not nearly as good as they look," he contended. "But we have been getting mad at everybody, particularly the Dodgers, while Smoothie Durocher and his Brooklyn upstarts have been making everybody mad at them. Hence the lead that the Dodgers have got. It's psychology that's holding them up there. Reverse psychological English on other clubs. The Dodgers are not as good as they look. They're just laughing up their sleeves at the rest of the league. But it'll be different from now on."

If Stengel's new system of Emily Posting your way to victory catches on in the majors, it will be a sorry day for holler guys like Jimmy Dykes and Frankie Frisch. Instead, the magnates will be seeking polite pilots whose cultivated sweetness will make the other team stink.

Sheriff Has His Pocket "Picked" By Stan Horne At Canadian Open

During the first day of the Canadian open competition at Missisauga, Sheriff Fred G. Graves, Lincoln county, St. Catharines, was an interested and peaceful spectator when a two-iron tee shot by Stan Horne landed the ball right smack on the sheriff's large sun umbrella. The ball rolled off the umbrella and lodged behind a newspaper in the sheriff's hip pocket LEFT. The much-surprised Mr. Horne discovers his ball, CENTRE, and removes it from Sheriff Graves' pocket, RIGHT.

American Enters Swim Next Wednesday

Entries for the big swim on Wednesday, Aug. 12 are coming in fast with nineteen entries already signed and many more expected. It is hoped that the event will bring the total number to over 400 for the five years of the swim.

Heading the long list is Allan Marshall, Peterborough's Canadian champion, who will endeavour to secure permanent possession of the Gordon K. Fraser trophy with a third consecutive win in the men's mile event. Marshall have been able to postpone reporting to the R.C.A.F. for one day, thereby allowing him to swim.

Stiff opposition will be offered by Den Pinch, tall speed swimmer of Peterborough, who placed second last year; Andy Brown, who was a member of the local squad at the Canadian championships at St. Adele, Quebec; Jack Blewett and Rob Roy, who is entering his fourth swim. A dark horse entry will likely provide the chief worry for Champion Marshall in the person of Pierce Timberlake, 23 years of age from Daytona Beach, Florida. Timberlak is spending a holiday at Port Perry, Ontario and, although he isn't known in local swim circles, may be able to cut a mean course in the water.

Also entered in the mile are Bill Morgan and John Murphy of Peterborough and Keith Kaye, a newcomer from Milford Bay, Muskoka. Anything is liable to happen in the boys' 15 and under half mile event with entries so far from Edwin Pattison of Gil-Mar Lodge and Toronto and Hugh McFadden, Doug Plunkett, Ronald Buchan, Don Campbell and Don Pearse, all of Peterborough.

Last Year's Winner.

Orma Bowen of Pine Point and Toronto, who has held the Senator J. J. Duffus trophy for the last year will be back again to defend her title in the ladies' half mile, while Carol Horsburgh of Keene and Mount Royal, who at the age of 13 won the 15 and under event last year is going to jump out of her class to give Miss Bowen a tussle for the coveted Duffus trophy.

Marion Murphy and Peggy Blewett are entered in the girls' 15 and under half mile.

Competition in the paddling events will be first class with many new artists in town and a complete program of canoe races for boys 14 and under, 16 and under, ladies and men have been arranged for the afternoon starting at 2.30 p.m.

Edward A. Gilroy Past Prexy C.A.H.A. Passes

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Aug. 10 (CP)—Hockey lost one of its staunchest supporters when Edward A. Gilroy, 61, past president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, died at his summer home at Delta Beach, Man., Saturday night after a lengthy illness.

Born at Carleton Place, Ont., Mr. Gilroy played hockey for teams at Smith's Falls, Ont., and Ottawa before coming to Portage La Prairie in 1906 to coach the city's professional sextet.

Coaching in the old Western Canada Professional circuit, which included teams from Winnipeg and Brandon, was no easy chore but old-timers say he served faithfully until the team disbanded in 1909.

Players on the Portage La Prairie roster included "Newsy" Lalonde, "Cyclone" Taylor, Donald Smith, Art Sevriss and Hughie Ross, but the most famous of these was Taylor whose speed and wizardy still lives when followers of the game 40-odd years ago get together.

Mr. Gilroy took an active part in the formation of the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association in 1914, held various executive positions, and was president for seven years. He retired as head of the M.A.H.A. to head the C.A.H.A. in 1934.

The following year he was re-elected and in 1936 he retired. The two years Mr. Gilroy headed the C.A.H.A. were "transitory and troublous" for the association said Cecil Duncan of Ottawa, a past president.

Hockey disputes reared their heads on several fronts and it was recalled here that his opponents frequently disagreed with Mr. Gilroy but never questioned his integrity of purpose.

He was the second Portage La Prairie resident and third Manitoban to become head of the C.A.H.A. Preceding him were Dr. W. F. Taylor of Winnipeg and W. R. Sexsmith of Portage La Prairie.

Inaugurated Several Changes

Mr. Gilroy's work on the C.A.H.A. rules committee resulted in several innovations to hockey.

E. A. Armstrong of Winnipeg, secretary-treasurer of the M.A.H.A. said: "Many of the rules which are in the book today were Ed Gilroy's brain waves. He pressed for them but was turned down. Years after many of them were incorporated into the code... and then someone else received credit for the innovation.

Mr. Gilroy also was keenly interested in other sports. He played lacrosse for a Nelson team in British Columbia for a short time.

He started his business career here as a clothing merchant, associated with Ernie McPherson. Later he was the first commissioner in Portage La Prairie for the Manitoba Liquor Commission and a purchasing agent for the Manitoba government in Winnipeg for two years.

Twice he contested the provincial legislature seat for Portage La Prairie, losing both the 1933 by-election contest and the 1936 general election campaign to Mr. Sexsmith, a Conservative.

Surviving are two sons, Rex, with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, and Jack, at home. Mrs. Gilroy predeceased him last January.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

NATIONAL WAR LABOUR BOARD
GENERAL ORDER

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has found that the cost of living index number for July 2, 1942, of 117.9 (adjusted index 117) has risen by 2.4 points over the index for October 1, 1941, of 115.5 (adjusted index 114.6).

Accordingly, pursuant to the provisions of Section 34 (1) of the Wartime Wages Control Order P.C. 5963, and subject to the general provisions of the Order, the National War Labour Board orders that employers subject to the Order who are paying a cost of living bonus shall adjust the amount of such bonus payment, and employers who are not paying a cost of living bonus shall commence the payment of such a bonus, both effective from the first payroll period beginning on or after August 15, 1942, as follows:

(a) If payment of a cost of living bonus is being made pursuant to the provisions of Order in Council P.C. 8253 (now superseded by P.C. 5963):
(i) For employees to whom Section 48 (iii) (a) of P.C. 5963 applies, the bonus shall be increased by the amount of sixty (60c) cents per week,
(ii) For employees to whom Section 48 (iii) (b) of P.C. 5963 applies, the percentage of their weekly wage rates, paid to them as a cost of living bonus, shall be increased by 2.4 points:

(b) If no cost of living bonus is being paid, the payment of such a bonus shall be commenced:
(i) For employees to whom Section 48 (iii) (a) of P.C. 5963 applies, in the amount of sixty (60c) cents per week,
(ii) For employees to whom Section 48 (iii) (b) of P.C. 5963 applies, in the amount of 2.4% of their weekly wage rates;

(c) In no case shall the amount of a cost of living bonus adjusted as stated exceed a maximum of $4.25 per week to employees to whom Section 48 (iii) (a) of P.C. 5963 applies, and of 17% of their weekly wage rates to employees to whom Section 48 (iii) (b) of P.C. 5963 applies:

(d) (1) (i) For employees to whom Section 48 (iii) (a) of P.C. 5963 applies now being paid a cost of living bonus, not pursuant to the provisions of P.C. 8253, established prior to the effective date of that Order, in an amount exceeding $4.25 per week, the amount of the bonus shall remain unchanged,
(ii) For such employees now being paid a cost of living bonus of less than $4.25 per week, the amount of the bonus shall be increased up to sixty (60c) cents per week, but in no case to exceed a total weekly bonus of $4.25;
(2) (i) For employees to whom Section 48 (iii) (b) of P.C. 5963 applies, now being paid a cost of living bonus, not pursuant to the provisions of P.C. 8253, established prior to the effective date of that Order, in an amount exceeding 17% of their weekly wage rates, the amount of the bonus shall remain unchanged;
(ii) For such employees now being paid a cost of living bonus of less than 17% of their weekly wage rates, the bonus shall be increased up to 2.4 points, but in no case to exceed a total weekly bonus of 17% of their weekly wage rates;

(e) The adjustment or payment of a cost of living bonus calculated as ordered shall be to the nearest cent of any fractional figure;

(f) Employers in the construction industry shall adjust the amount of any cost of living bonus required by paragraph (a) of this order only for employees in respect of whom no special bonus arrangement has been made with the approval of a War Labour Board, pursuant to the provision of the Order for the conduct of the National Joint Conference Board of the Construction Industry

GULDAHL'S JINX RETURNS—CRAIG WOOD WINS CANADIAN OPEN

Baltimore Whips Leafs 13-12 10 Pitchers Used

By The Associated Press

Newark, on top, and Rochester, at the bottom, have a strong grasp on their position in the International League but each day brings movements among the six remaining clubs.

Only five games separate second-place Jersey City from the deadlocked Syracuse Chiefs and Buffalo Bisons in sixth.

The scrap for third and fourth, final playoff berths, is tighter than a new shoe with Toronto, Montreal, Baltimore, Buffalo and Syracuse all jammed within 12 percentage points of each other.

Syracuse tightened the battle yesterday by winning a doubleheader from the Orioles, each by a 1-0 score on the final play of the contests behind the pitching of Ewell Blackwell and Nate Andrews.

Blackwell hurled a three-hitter in the opener and Andrews a five-hitter in the nightcap.

The one-two punch of Rochester Red Wings, jolting Erv Dusak and Hooper Triplett gave the Wings a split with Buffalo.

Although getting only two hits, Rochester won the lid-lifter, 2-1. Tom Pullig was the victim. Walking George Fallon and then throwing a home run ball to Triplett in the fourth. Ira Hutchinson went the distance for the Red Birds, gaining his 12th contest of the season.

Dusak Chases in Three

Dusak provided the Little Cardinals with all their runs in the second game as he powered a three-run homer in the third inning. This wasn't enough as the Bisons won the game, 6-3, on the home run walloping of Fran Heller whose two circuit clouts resulted in four runs. Andy Sierra chalked up his 15th victory of the year as he limited the Birds to five hits.

The scheduled doubleheaders between Jersey City and Newark and Toronto Maple Leafs and the Montreal Royals were postponed.

Alex Kampouris' game-winning single in the 10th inning gave the Royals a 5-4 victory over Newark after trailing most of the way Saturday. In other games, Jersey City defeated Buffalo 4-1 and Baltimore knocked off Toronto 13-12 in nine innings of weird baseball. Ten pitchers saw service. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was postponed as was the scheduled Rochester-Syracuse encounter.

"Grand Slam," Home Run That Didn't Count

Pee Wee Reese, Dodger shortstop, avoids lunge by Giant Catcher Hank Danning to score on his inside the park "grand slam" home run in the 10th inning of the Brooklyn-New York twilight game at the Polo Grounds but Pee Wee's racing was in vain. Dim-out regulations ended the game before the inning was completed and the score reverted to the 1-1 tie at the end of the regulation nine innings. At the LEFT, bat in hand, is the Dodgers' Augie Calan and Umpire Lou Jorda. In the FOREGROUND, scoring ahead of Reese, is Arky Vaughan. Frenchy Bordagaray (No. 37) tallied in front of Vaughan.

Cubs Down Reds In 18 Innings For 10-8 Score

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most baseball teams will go to great lengths to win their games but few of them have to go as far as Chicago Cubs, who needed 18 innings yesterday to trip Cincinnati Reds in the opener of a doubleheader.

Twelve pitchers, the most ever used in a major league game, paraded to the mound in the extra-inning struggle, longest in the majors this season and the seventh for these two clubs in 13 meetings.

Three times the Cubs figured they had it in the bag, but each time the Reds tied it up. Finally Hiram Bithorn, last of the six Chicago hulers, blanked the Reds for six straight innings and the Cubs sandwiched the 18th inning blows of Stan Hack and Dom Dallessandro between a walk and an outfield fly for two runs and a 10-8 decision.

The game itself lasted five hours and was interrupted for another hour by weather in the 13th frame. That left only an hour of daylight for the second game, which the Reds won 2-1 in 4½ with Bithorn the starting and losing hurler.

A total of 37 players participated in the first game—three short of the record held by Pittsburg Pirates and Boston Braves. Some batters appeared at the plate 10 times.

By squaring accounts in the nightcap, the Reds preserved third place in the National League by a lone percentage point over the Giants, who swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia Phils.

Meanwhile, St. Louis Cardinals squeezed past Pittsburg Pirates, 4-3 and 2-1, to trim Brooklyn's lead to eight lengths. The Dodgers bumped into a postponement at Boston.

Stan Musial handled the clutch hitting for the Red Birds, driving in the winning marker in the nightcap and setting the stage for the tie-breaking tally in the curtain-raiser, each with a double.

At Philadelphia, the Giants tripped the Phils, 3-2, in the first game when Mel Ott laid down a 10th-inning bunt with the bases loaded, but Bill McGee made things easier in the second game, pitching a five-hit shutout as the Giants won 2-0. Buster Maynard clouted a home run and made 10 put outs, two shy of the major league record.

In the American League, New York Yakees increased their lead to a dozen games and Boston Red Sox moved into second place, although neither team lifted a bat.

"It all came about when Chicago White Sox clipped Cleveland Indians 11-1 and 3-2, streching their winning streak to eight games and dropping the Tribe half a game behind the Red Sox. Ted Lyons pitched four-hit ball in the opener for his 10th victory this year and his seventh in a row.

Bob Kennedy, who was sworn into the Naval Air Corps between games, won the nightcap by singling the winning run across in the ninth.

Detroit Tigers had the help of 11 St. Louis errors as they downed the Browns, 9-3 and 3-1.

Doubleheaders between the Yanks and Philadelphia Athletics and the Red Sox and Washington Senators were postponed until today.

Connie Mack threw the Athletics' ace, Penetanguishene's Phil Marchidon, at the aYnks Saturday, and the Bronx Bombers proceeded to thump him in a hurry. The Yankees included three home runs in their 13-hit attack, winning 8-4. In the only other American League game, St. Louis won 6-4 over Detroit.

In the National League, the Braves whipped the Dodgers 2-0 in a disorderly game in which the umpires twice had to break up promising free-for-alls between the clubs.

Pittsburg Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals battle 16 innings to a 5-5 tie, and Cincinnati and Chicago split a doubleheaded, the Reds winning the opener 2-1 and losing the nightcap 3-0.

St. Thomas Tech Softball Champs

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—(CP)—Led by Lou Lucky, who pitched the three games his team played, the Technical Training School team from St. Thomas, Ont., took the softball championship of the No. 1 Training Command, Royal Canadian Air Force, at the Exhibition Grounds here Saturday.

Six teams, all champions of their districts, met in the final. In the frist game St. Thomas defeated the 13-X team, Camp Borden champions 11-9 and in the second game the No. 1 "M" Depot, Toronto, smashed through the team from No. 4 Wireless School, Guelph, 19-10.

St. Thomas took No. 1 "M" depot, winning their second game 4-3 and in the other half of the semi-final series No. 5 Infantry Training School laced the pitching of Milt Schmidt, former Boston Bruin hockey star, and defeated the Jarvis nine 11-8.

The final contest found Belleville and St. Thomas paired and the steady pitching of Lucky provided the edge when he struck out the last two men in the ninth inning to win 3-2.

Turnesa Places 2nd With 279, Hogan Fourth

By SCOTT YOUNG,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MISSISSAUGA GOLF CLUB, PORT CREDIT, Ont., Aug. 10—(CP)—The jinx that tall, shambling Ralph Guldahl of Santa Fe, Cal., thought he had shaken when he scored a 66 and 69 in the first two rounds of the 72-hole Canadian Open may be back with him today as he prepares for this week's Rochester, N.Y., Open.

Two years ago Guldahl was considered one of the greatest golfers ever developed on this continent, but at the height of his success he lost his ability. For two years he didn't break 70, which meant his name was not be found in the upper brackets of golf's leading money-winners.

At the Canadian Open here last Thursday Guldahl shot a 66, and said he felt better about his game than he had since 1940. He got a 69 the next day, when almost all competitors exceeded their first-day scores, and that proved to him and most galleryites that Guldahl was in the groove again. But on Saturday, when the final 36 holes of the tournament had been completed, Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N.Y., was the winner of the $1,000 first prize and the Seagram Golf Cup with Guldahl back in a fifth-place tie with Tony Penna of Dayton, Ohio.

Guldahl just didn't have it over the last 36 holes hole. He had a starting 75 on his morning round Saturday and a 73 in the afternoon to blow his chances of soaring back into the ranks of the golfing great. When the final 36 holes began, he was tied for firs place with the big sandy-haired veteran, Wood, but there was no comparison in the golf they shot when the big chips were down.

A sore hip Friday may have started Guldahl on his way into the background. He favored the hip, pulling his putts, although it didn't appear to bother his other shots.

Weather No Drag

Wood drew a 68 and a 72 at the field on the final day, unfavorable weather conditions not affecting his masterful game. Like Guldahl, he had a 66 in the first round and 69 on the second.

In second place behind Wood's 275 was Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N.Y., who couldn't make his putter work on the first two days and was nine strokes behind the leaders when the last day began. He shot a 65 in the third round to equal Ben Hogan's competitive course record here and had a 70 in the fourth round for a total of 279. Clayton Heafner of Durham, N.C., was third with 281, Hogan—who slipped to 74 and 72 on the final day—fourth with 282. Gordon Brydson, Toronto, was 12th among the professionals, 14th counting the leading amateur, Frank Stranahan of Toledo, and the amateur runner-up, Skee Riegel of Miami, Fla. Brydson's 289 made him leading Canadian professional. Nick Wisnock of Burlington, Ont., was leading Canadian amateur with 299.

MISSISSAUGA GOLF CLUB, PORT CREDIT, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP)—There was a little long-faced talk here in the closing hours of the Canadian Open around the possibility that it would be the last for the duration of the war...It may be so, but the reason will be hard to find...Veterans like Craig Wood are the backbone of golf and his generation of golfers ranges about 40 years, it isn't likely they'll all be in the services by next year...The crowd obviously still goes for the game, with at least 1,500 on hand for the final day.

It's 1914 since a Canadian last won the Canadian Open...the winner then was Karl Keffer of the Royal Ottawa club..If the Canadian Open is cancelled for the duration, that will make Craig Wood United States and Canadian Open champ for the duration...He won the U.S. Open last year...Among his other accomplishments he holds the world record for 72-hole golf scoring at 264...he set that mark in the Metropolitan in 1940...In addition to winning the U.S. Open last year he took the Masters, the Wichita, Kansas Open and was captain of the United States Ryder Cup team...One of the big reasons he isn't up with the top money-winners this year is that he didn't tour the winter circuit with the others.

The United States P.G.A. War Relief Fund tour may be quite something...Fred Corcoran, P.G.A. tournament manager, told snapshots he would have 10 leading professionals and possibly Bing Crosby...the tour will be back to Toronto and Montreal in September.

Incidentally:

It's interesting to hear that the R.C.A.F. is going into amateur hockey in a big way...Now if the army would only tell us what they're going to do with all the hockey players in the R.C.O.C. at Ottawa and Cornwall the picture would be almost clear.

Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP)—To clear the track for the Hambletonian, Roosevelt Raceway has called off its Wednesday night harness races and will cancel the Thursday card, too, if the big race up at Goshen is delayed a day...Current figures for the World-Telegram hole-in-one tournament that starts today show that the 1,000 or so guys entered to take five shots each have almost a chance to make one ace...In 10 years the tournament has produced four aces in 30,380 shots, making the odds 7,595 to 1 against doing the trick...80-year-old Amos Alonzo Stagg and 63-year-old Bob Zuppke will sit on the bench together at the All-Stars vs Chicago Bears football game at Chicago Aug. 28.

Hit-and-Error

Philadelphia scribes say this actually happened, which probably explains the Phils' position in the National League standings...The other day Manager Hans Lobert flashed the hit-and-run signal to one of his players. The batter stepped out of the box, beckoned Lobert over from the coaching line and whispered: "You better try something else, Hans. In all the years I've played ball I never could hit and run."

Unintentional

Jimmie Cagney, the movie tough guy, will drive Bill Cane's trotter, Millie's Mite, an exhibition mile at Goshen tomorrow to boost the sale of war bonds and stamps...Lee Savold, who is bidding time to become an important heavyweight again, must whip Tony Musto in Washington tonight in order to get that scrap with Tami Mauriello in the fall...When Vern Hoschett, catcher for the Hoplin (Mo.) Western Association Club, gotta letter from his dad saying, "I'm paying $3.75 a day for farm hands now," Vern quit the club and went right home.

U.S. Grand Jury Probes Big Newspapers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP).—Publication by three metropolitan newspapers of what Attorney General Francis Biddle termed "confidential information" concerning the Battle of Midway, became today a subject for Grand Jury investigation.

The investigation, recommended by the Navy Department and requested by Biddle after a preliminaryq inquiry, will concern possible violation of any criminal statutes, particularly the Act of March 28, 1940, prohibiting unlawful communication of documents or information relating to national defence, the Attorney General announced last night.

The official announcement of the inquiry did not name the newspapers, but Robert W. Horton, head of the News Bureau of the Office of War Information, identified them as The Chicago Tribune, The New York Daily News and The Washington Times Herald.

The Tribune asserted in Chicago that War Correspondent Stanley Johnston "made up an estimated of the size and strength of the Japanese armada the navy defeated west of Midway Island."

"That Washington would attack The Tribune and other newspapers which have demanded an all-out war effort and the removal of high officials who have been fumbling the ball at home came as no surprise," The Tribune said. "The political pot has been brewing for months."

The Times Herald had no comment on the announcement. The New York Daily News stated merely that on June 7 it published the story to which the investigation referred.

Used Every Care.

A former United States Attorney General, William D. Mitchell, of New York, was appointed a special assistant to launch the grand jury investigation in Chicago and direct 'any prosecution which may result therefrom,' Biddle said.

Horton said the three newspapers published a story June 7 stating that the strength of the Japanese naval forces in the Midway battle was known in advance in American naval circles.

The story, he said, cited its authority as 'reliable sources in the naval intelligence' and listed both the enemy's striking force and the occupation force which were engaged.

The Tirbune said it was cited the day after the story appeared for violating the censorship code but later was assured by the office of censorship in Washington that it had furnished an adequate explanation.

The paper was told, the Tribune asserted, that the cenorship office 'had no further quarrel with the Tribune in this matter.'

The Tribune contended it had exercised extreme care to avoid violating the censorship code.

J. Loy Maloney, Tribune managing editor, said:

"In spite of repeated injustices visited upon the Chicago Tribune by Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy, in his efforts to favor his Chicago newspaper, the Tribune has meticulously refrained, in both its news columns and editorials, from printing anything that either reflected unfavorably upon the navy or might aid the enemies of the navy.

"So careful is the Tirbune in observing the rules of voluntary censorship that the record has been repeatedly commented upon by both Washington censors and local army and navy officers to whom stories are submitted."

Bailieboro News

Mrs. Dawson Rutherford entertained on Thursday afternoon in honor of her son, Arthur's birthday. The playing of games filled in the time happily until the tea hour, when many favors were found in the birthday cake. The guest of honor was the recipient of many lovely gifts. Those present were: Clarence Eagleson, Bobby Greer, David Dawson, Robert Caldwell, Jean Bickle and Margaret Dawson.

The Misses Betty Joan Howson and Yvonne Lea returned home Thursday from a week spent at Chemong Park.

Mrs. W. C. Jewison is spending a week in Peterborough with her daughter, Miss Elva. Mr. W. C. Jewison is spending the week with his sister, Miss Bertha at her summer cottage on Lake Simcoe.

Eight Down-Town Offices Entered

MAIN STREET TOPICS

R. C. A. F. TUNIC FOUND

A tunic belonging to a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, picked up on the River Road between Nassau and Lakefield has been left at the police station where the owner may recover his property.

ANTIQUES INCLUDED.

Antiques collected by the late Dr. J. W. de Courcey King will probably attract more than the average buyers to the aunction sale at his home, 564 Charlotte, Tuesday afternoon.

MANUFACTURE PROHIBITED.

Manufacture of vacuum cleaners after August 15 has been prohibited except by permit from the Controller of Supplies according to an announcement of the Department of Munitions and Supplies.

TRAVEL LIGHT.

Railways are requesting that passengers leave all unnecessary baggage at home. Rail facilities are bein gtaxed to the utmost to meet the rush of business, and as a result every bit of available space is required. It is recognized that a certain amount of hand luggage is essential.

LOTS OF EXERCISE

Reports from the West Coast reveal that several groups of the Prince of Wales Rangers have been called to fight forest fires, and when they reached the scene of operations discovered the fire was out. As a diversion they climbed a mountain close by, and the seven out of the 25 to reach the summit had a snowball fight.

BATTLED WITH IVORIES.

That Saturday crap game over near the Lift Lock created some wonderment about the response of that youths if they were asked to lay their two-bits and even their "saw bucks" on the counter for War Savings Certificates, or even for War Savings Stamps. It was a rather long engagement battle by the canal. Real battlers those lads.

TWO MORE ENLIST.

43rd Field Regiment Headquarters at the Peterborough Armouries reported this morning that two officers had been sent to Kingston for active service on coastal defence and anti-aircraft work. They are Gordon McIntyre, well known rugby and basketball player, a former member of the 4th Field Battery, and Clifford J. Staples a member of the 45th-56th battery at Lindsay. Both are 2-Lieutenants.

STARTING EARLY

Mrs. Harold Dean of Bailieboro is reported to have New Hampshire pullets laying at four months old. This is something in advance of the regular laying period at 5 or 6 months.

ONLY ONE TODAY.

The Monday morning crop of drunks dwindled down to one today. A local man who pleaded guilty to having been intoxicated yesterday was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning.

DRUNKEN DRIVING CHARGED

Arrested Sunday afternoon on Scott street by Constable C. J. McGillen, Harold Roach of Keene pleaded not guilty when he was charged before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning with drunken driving. John A. Bradshaw who appeared for the accused asked for an adjournment. Roach was remanded until next Monday with bail fixed at $200.

ATTRACTIVE SPOT

Bert McGill deserves a little word of commendation for those two crescent flower beds on the north lawn at the C.N.R station. It is understood that he also has section work too and that lawns and flowers are something added. It is a down-town beauty spot, and if a word of appreciation was mentioned now and then to the company that flower garden might get a higher rating with the C.N.R. officials.

TWENTY PRIZES

Reports from Frank Edgar of the Lions Club indicate there will be at least 20 prizes given on Thursday evening for the winners in the decorated bicycle contest. Boys and girls must decorate their bikes to boost the sale of War Savings Stamps, and posters may be obtained from the War Savings Office or from Mr. Edgar on Sherbrooke street. The bicycle parade will serve as the starting gun for the annual Lions Club Carnival.

COLLIDE AT TURN.

Nobody was hurt when two cars collided Saturday afternoon at the Lindsay turn on the Chemong Road. Milton L. Carson was driving in to Peterborough along the Chemong Road and German Morgan, 687 George street, travelling toward Lindsay when the two vehicles met in collision at the turn. After the crash the Morgan car turned over on its side. The damage done to the vehicles was not extensive, Traffic Officer L. A. McClure who investigated the accident, reports.

Obituaries

ALEXANDER J. GRISDALE.

Final tribute was paid by the many relatives and friends of Alexander Grisdale who attended the funeral Saturday, held from his home on Water Street to St. Peter's Cathedral, where Requiem Mass was said by the Rev. Father G. Wolff. The graveside service was taken by the Rev. Father G. Wolff. The graveside service was taken by the Rev. Father J. Finn.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Nicholas O'Toole, John Crough, Windsor, Vincent McCarthy, William Clancy, Charles Crowley and Thomas Dalton.

Out-of-town friends who attended the funeral were: Mrs. John Sheean, Allentown, Pa.; Mrs. Charles Headlee, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. John Crough, Windsor.

MRS. DOROTHY P. SCOTT.

Mrs. Dorothy Preston Scott, of 26 Sussex Street, Lindsay, passed away at her home after a lingering illness.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Preston, she was born in Port Hope and lived in Lindsay for almost a quarter of a century. For a number of years, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Scott resided on Gilmour Street in Peterborough, where for a long time he was the baggage man on the Grand Trunk run from Peterborough to Belleville. Mr. Scott was known to all his friends as "Scottie."

Left to mourn her loss are a daughter, Mrs. Emma McKaskill of Lindsay, and a son, Fred of Toronto. There are also three sisters: Mrs. R. J. Begley of Peterborough, Mrs. Joseph Cranfield of Toronto, and Mrs. Anne Drake of Rochester.

The funeral took place Saturday from her home in Lindsay, and interment was made in Union Cemetery, Port Hope.

HILDEGARDE BONNYCASTLE

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 10 (ENS) —With the passing of Hildegarle Bonnycastle at her home on Ranney street Sunday morning, Campbellford lost one of its leading public spirited citizens. The late Miss Bonnycastle had enjoyed fairly good health for the past few years and passed away following a brief illness. She was born in Seymour township, a daughter of the late Major R. H. Bonnycastle and Mrs. Bonnycastle, who were among the pioneer residents of this district. Coming to Campbellford with other members of the family in 1836 Miss Bonnycastle took an active part in the social and dramatic activities held in connection with the Church of England of which she was a lifelong member. While in latter years she assisted the church choir as soloist on many occasions she was in the past an active member of that organization. Her organizing ability together with her own talent, led her to arranging recitals in he Parish Hall which almost became a tradition, and her delight in doing things of this nature was only exceeded by her love for the Church istelf.

She is survived by one brother, Frank C. Bonnycastle of Campbellford. Another brother Judge A. L. Bonnycastle of Dauphin, Man., predeceased her ten months ago. The remains are resting at Bennett's Funeral Parlors on Frank street and the last rites will be conducted at Christ Church on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 by Rev. A. C. Herbert. Interment will be made in the Church of England cemetery.

MRS. RICHARD CARVETH.

Mrs. Richard Carveth passed away after a short illness at her home, 140 Robinson street, Saturday afernoon.

Daughter of the late Patrick Heffernan and Jane Fitzgerald, the former Ellen Theresa Heffernan was born in Asphodel, and has lived in Douro, and the last 18 years in Peterborough She was a faithful member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception and also belonged to the Altar Society.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Alfred DeNoble of Peterborough, and Mrs. Francis Devlin, of Indian River, and a son, Arthur Carveth, of Indian River. There are also two brothers, William of Douro and John of Onawa, Alta., and three sisters, Josie and Jennie of Peterborough, and Mary of Douro.

The funeral took place Monday at 9 a.m. from the residence at 14 Robinson street to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where Requiem Mass was celebrated. Interment was in St. Peter's cemetery.

Found After 62 Years

STELLARTON, N.S., Aug. 10 (CP) —Funeral services will be held for Angus MacKay Aug. 16—62 years after he was killed in an explosion in the Albion Coal Mine. The body was recovered a few days ago and identified by his son, Angus MacKay, Jr., through a watch found near the body. Forty-four men were killed in the disaster.

Police Believe Gang Visited Guelph

Eight Peterborough business premises, six of them insurance offices were raided during Saturday night, apparently by the same gang who ransacked similar business establishments in Guelph and other cities recently.

The places entered were the offices of the London Life Assurance Company, the Confederation Life, Campbell Finance Company and the Consolidated Optical Company in the Schneider building, Charlotte street, the office of the Canada Life Insurance Company over Elliott's Drug Store at George and Hunter streets, the Mutual Life office in the Toronto Savings and Loan Building at George and Brock streets, the Manufacturers' Life office in the Royal Bank building.

Fortunately the amount of loot secured by the gang, believed by police to have been professionals, was not in proportion to their audacity in breaking into so many downtown establishments. It consisted of $85 taken from the safe in the Mutual Life office $6 or $7 in small change stolen from a cash drawer in the office of the Canada Life, $140 from the Manufacturers Life and $30 from the North American Life office.

The break-ins were not discovered until William T. Phillips, manager of the Consolidated Optical Company went to his office on Sunday morning. The door into the stairway connecting the offices over the A. and P. Store with the street was locked and there was nothing, either at the front or back of the building to indicate that anything was wrong. However, when Mr. Phillips went upstairs, he found that windows at the back had been broken and the place ransacked. He called the police.

Enter Through Window

An investigation indicated that the burglars had gained an entrance by getting to the roof of the Hotel Champlain beverage room apparently from a fire escape and then climbing a four foot wall to gain access to the roof of the back portion of the A. and P. Store, a one-storey annex. From there it was an easy matter to break the second storey windows and get into the offices. Those windows are not visible from the street level and the burglars could work at their leisure there, satisfied that their movements were not under observation.

Once inside the hall it was not difficult to force entrance to the offices but after all their work the gang got nothing in the Schneider building. In the office of the Campbell Finance Company, the safe had been pulled out from under the counter but had not been opened and the safes in the two insurance offices had apparently been too much for the intruders. A desk was pried open but nothing of value found anywhere and the chief loss was the damage done to windows and doors.

Safe Is Opened

Later in the morning it was discovered that the same gang had visited the Mutual Life office on the second floor of the Toronto Savings and Loan building at Brock and George streets. When E. G. Pridham, manager of the Mutual Life here, arrived at the office he noticed some cheques spread around and further investigation showed that the safe in the office had been opened apparently by manipulating the combination and about $85 in cash stolen. Afterward the safe had been closed again.

Executives of other insurance companies were called by police and asked to investigate their offices. Most of them reported them as showing no signs of having been entered but Sunday afternoon Phyllis M. Flett, cashier of the Canada Life reported that the office of that company had been entered. Here it is thought entrance was made through a door leading to the hallway of the building. The intruder had pried open a desk and taken $6 or $7 from a cash box. The vault in the office showed no signs of having been tampered with and nothing else was stolen.

Two More Discovered

This morning two other burglaries were discovered when staffs of the Manufacturers' Life in the Barrie building and the North American Life in the Royal Bank Building came to work. Police had been unable to get into touch with them yesterday for a checkup but this morning it was found that both places had been entered and robbed.

In both cases entry was made by opening the doorway from the hall into the office in some manner that left no trace. Inside the gang had forced open a cash box and taken the contents. Then the door was locked behind them as they left and there was no outward sign of trouble. From the office of the Manufacturers' Life $140, a small portion of it in warsavings stamps had been taken. The loot from the North American Life consisted of $24 in cash and $6 in war savings stamps.

Veteran Guide Dies

Campaign Starts To Reduce Plant Accidents

Bane of industry especially in factory operations, the preventible accident is coming in for special attention at the Canadian General Electric Company's plant this week.

"Not that our record is so bad that we have to put on a week's campaign," said H. A. Cranfield, "but a lot of new employees have come into the plant, and this is a special effort to make them and everybody else aware of accidents and the possibility of preventing them."

R. B. Morley of Toronto, general manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, and C. H. Kercher, also of Toronto, chairman of the general safety committee of the C.G.E., were luncheon guests at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club today. They came down to help Ian McCrae and his staff to set in motion this week's appeal to the thousands of employees of C.G.E. and Genelco.

Broadcast Warning

Broadcasting apparatus has been set up at all the gates of the plant by T. A. Lister, safety engineer of C.G.E., and by this means employees coming to work and also on their way out again will hear the gospel of safety every day this week. It will be a kind of personal haranguing in fifteen minute periods at 7, 8, and 12 a.m., and 1, 5, 6 and 7 p.m.

Mr. Lister has a central broadcasting office in the laboratory building for this use of vocal reinforcement to the campaign that is using every means to emphasize to the employees the importance of safety, and the attitude and habit of thinking of safety and vigilance while at work.

Slogan Winners

The two plants recently held a slogan competition, getting a lot of interest stirred up and consequent replies.

Fred Gray of the paint department won the C.G.E. electric clock with his inspiration—"Safety is a virtue, helps but doesn't hurt you."

The companion electric clock also went to the home of an employee of the paint department. It was won by Mrs. Mary McIntosh, whose husband is employed in that department. Her slogan was—"This time we are all in the front line; work safely and stay there."

The C.G.E. safety committee is composed of H. A. Cranfield, C. B. Muir, H. H. Grasswell, E. Menzies, John Barnes and T. A. Lister.

Genelco's safety promoters are: Ed. Foley, Harry Gadd, Stewart Cauley, R. M. Hardie, Leonard Vass and Miss E. Walker.

Rally on Friday

One of the incidental events of the week is a rally at 1 p.m. Friday on the main lawn at which the slogan prizes will be presented.

Big sign boards have been prepared on which accidents will be listed from week to week, as a continuing reminder of the idea of safety.

Urges Curfew

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 (CP)—Judge J. G. Nicholson of the Montreal Juvenile Delinquents' Court, in a radio address, urged that the city of Montreal inaugurate a curfew law. The judge suggested that children under 14 years should not frequent streets and public places after nine o'clock in the evening.

395th Casualty List

LONDON, Aug. 10 —(CP Cable)— The war office last night issued its 395th castialty list naming: killed 38, died of wounds seven, wounded 81, wounded and taken prisoner one, taken prisoner 50, died 21, reclassified four.

Five Children Give Aid To War Victims

Unconsciously, one good act always incites another, and in striving to do some good, there is no yardstick by which one can measure the final and ultimate good that will accrue, and this in itself makes the doing of good more than worth the effort.

A considerable number of children's efforts on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund have been noted in this column during the time the children have so far had leisure from school duties and undoubtedly one has led to another, and in this manner it is hoped that other children will be inspired by the example of others.

Five girls in the Chamberlain Street area, Dorothy and Nora Gabbutt, Marilyn Galbraith, Isobel Moffatt and Helen Daly recently had a stand at 533 Chamberlain Street, home of the first two-named girls, where they sold canned goods, cookies, cereals, soaps and desserts to raise the sum of $8.45 which is listed in their name today.

This represents the second effort put on by the Gabbutt sisters, and when one learns that their father is serving for the second time in a Great World War, one gets some idea of the inspiration these two girls have received from their forbears in the matter of patriotism, which always wishes to go into action when the country is attacked by enemies without its borders.

Of all the penny boxes located in various places of business in the city, those in the local theatres have been up among the best in the work on behalf of the fund. The box at the Regent Theatre has once again been filled, and this time it had the largest amount to-date with $11.30 of a total for its 677 coins which had been placed in it.

Lord Mayor's Thanks.

A further letter has come to hand from the Lord Mayor of London in thanks for the 19th donation cabled some time back, accompanied by receipt No. 94176. In part it carries this message of interest to all those who contributed in this district: "Once again I should like to say how grateful I am to the citizens of Peterborough for the splendid way in which they continue to support my fund, and I shall be glad if my sincere thanks can be conveyed to all contributors for the fresh evidence of their sympathy for air raid victims."

'Larry' Moher Is Killed In Egypt

OTTAWA, Ont., August 10. — Sergeant Pilot Lawrence Henry ("Larry") Moher, one of three brothers serving in air operations in Egypt, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Moher, 20 Kenora street, from R.C.A.F. headquarters.

Sgt. Pilot Moher had been serving in the Middle East since last November, after being in England for some months. He enlisted in the Air Force in September, 1940, after attending St. George's School, St. Patrick's College and Glebe Collegiate. Following training at Toronto and Malton, he received his wings at Dunnville in July last year, and proceeded to England immediately.

He is survived by his widow, the former Eva Allen, who resides with their three-months-old son, Michael Lawrence, 571 Broadview; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stan Moher of 20 Kenora; one sister, Flora, at home, and three brothers, Private Norman Moher, serving overseas with the R.C.O.C.; Corporal Frank Moher, R.C.A.F., stationed in Dartmouth, N.S., and Donald Moher, at home. Larry had many relatives in Peterborough, Douro and Ennismore, where he frequently spent his vacations.

Dump Garbage Four Are Fined

Four men have discovered that North Monaghan township has a by-law forbidding purposes to deposit waste material or garbage on the side of roads in the township.

The quartette, Charles Garside, 499 Dickson street; Vito Miccoli, 154 Morrow street; Norman McMurcher, 176 Lock street, and E. J. Freeman, R.R. No. 5, Peterborough, were all charged in police court today with having dumped waste material along the "loop" road, contrary to the provisions of a bylaw.

All four entered written pleas of guilty and were fined $2 and $1 costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee.

U.S. Sailors See London Sights

United States sailors on leave in the British capital, walk through some of the still-standing buildings damaged by the air raids of 1940 and 1941. Behind them towers St. Paul's Cathedral.

Cadet Training Gets Emphasis For Next Year

KINGSTON, Aug. 10—The first cadet camp of Military District No. 3 since the outbreak of war concluded early last month at Connaught Ranges, but already plans are under way to intensify next year's syllabus under a battalion headquarters set-up.

Capt. T. C. Holmes, district cadet officer, has revealed that reports coming in from the various centres in the district, which were represented at the camp, indicate a much larger attendance next year. Cadets who attended Connaught Ranges have been loud in their praises of the camp and have already interested many of their friends to join them under canvas.

As a result of the interest taken in the camp it is expected that in 1943 the cadets will spend either 10 days or two weeks in training.

Even though the attendance at next year's camp will be boosted as a result of the successful camp this year, it has been suggested that steps be taken to ensure that cadets not engaged in actual war work, will attend.

Officers who assisted in the administration of the cadet camp were Lt.-Col. J. H. Hogan, M.M., officer commanding the 2nd Battalion, G.G.F.G., of Ottawa, who was camp commandmant; Major Percy Hanaford; Capt. W. H. Agnew; Capt. H. C. Frick and C.S.M. Pullen.

One of the main items in making any army camp a success is the excellent food provided, and all boys were unanimous in their approval of the splendid way the messing and catering was carried out.

Good Instructors

The marked discipline of the entire camp resulted under the leadership of capable instructors. An example were the 113 cadets from Cornwall, the largest body of cadets from any centre, who carried the discipline learned in school to their lines and instruction periods during the camp.

The cadets took over the lines previously held by the 1st Battalion of the Brockville Rifles and the Lanark and Renfrew Scottish Regiments (A.F.), and their keenness to learn everything possible was shown in the zest for knowledge during the training periods.

Special interest was taken by the boys in the exhibition of two Fam tanks, in addition to the display of the 3-inch mortar, the Bren, Reising and Vickers machine guns and the artillery 18-pounders.

Cadets attending the Connaught Range camp were from Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Peterborough, Norwood, Millbrook, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Campbellford, Trenton, Belleville, Picton, Deseronto, Napanee, Kingston, Gananoque, Morrisburg, Cornwall, Williamstown, Iroquois, Cardinal, Brockville, Perth, Smith's Falls, Carleton Place and Ottawa.

Gives It All

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP) —When it comes to an all-out effort, it's hard to beat Douglas Hamlin of Brantford, who earned $1.60 delivering groceries and selling baskets. He gave 75 cents to the Red Cross, 25 cents to the prisoners of war fund and 60 cents to help crippled children. Total, $1.60.

18-Year-Old Youth Ruins Flowers

Constable Leo Murphy arrived in the vicinity of Water and Brock streets last Saturday night just in time to see several youths at the southwest corner of Victoria Park, with one of them engaged in the far-from-commendable activity of tearing plants and flowers out of the large, ornamental urn at the entrance to the park. The office took the misguided youth into custody and this morning Stewart McLaren, 299 Lewis street, pleaded guilty to doing damage to public property.

Commenting that it was the act of either a drunken or a crazy man Magistrate Gee fined the 18-year-old youth $5 and $1 and intimated that he was to make restitution for the damage that was done.

Car Jumps Curb, Hits Tree Driver Unhurt

When an automobile got out of control on Monaghan Road Saturday, ran over the curb on one side of the street and then crossed the road to climb over the sidewalk there and end up against a couple of trees damage amounting to $300 was done to the car and bushes, a telephone pole and several trees suffered.

Fred Revoy, 16, of 287 Park street, was driving an automobile belonging to Nick Orlando south on Monaghan road. Between Weller street and Homewood avenue the Board of Works street flusher was at work watering Monaghan Road.

Revoy told police that he was driving at about 30 miles an hour and that as he passed the flusher his car swayed and got out of control. It jumped the curb on the west side of the street, broke off two bushes, collided with a telephone pole, damaged two other shrubs and then veered in a southeasterly direction and shot over the sidewalk at the east side finally coming to a stop against two trees on the property of W. T. Regan, 600 Gilmour street.

Young Revoy was not hurt but the automobile was badly damaged. The right rear fender was torn off, the rear side panel torn, a wheel was bent, the two rear windows were shattered, the front bumper broken, the radiator was split and grill damaged, both fog lights and the windshield broken and the steering alignment twisted.

AIR MARSHAL AND OUT

BUDGET LOANS
FOR EMPLOYED MEN AND WOMEN

No endorsers or guarantors needed— Monthly payments to fit your own income— Quick, private service

DO YOU NEED some extra cash? Would you like to pay off old bills as part of your wartime financial program? This advertisement tells about a simple plan which is helping many men and women with their present-day money problems.

Repay out of income

Suppose you need $100 for an emergency or to pay off debts. You get the money in a quick, simple transaction. Then you may repay on a regular monthly payment plan. At the end of a definite time, you are entirely in the clear. The payment plan thus becomes a personal debt-paying program.

The cost of this service is reasonable. Suppose you borrow $100 and repay in six monthly instalments of $17.85 each, a total of $107.10. The cost of your loan is just $7.10. A $50 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $8.93 each, a total of $53.58, costs only $3.58.

You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit. The principal requirement for getting a loan is a steady position or other source of income. We consider character and regular income far more important than the value of your security. You can get your loan quickly—usually in twenty-four hours or even sooner.

Loans for many purposes

People borrow at Household to pay a doctor or dentist bill, general expenses, insurance, mortgage payments, down payments on homes, old store bills, car repairs, a training course, tools, moving expenses, coal for winter—and for expenses of many other kinds.

You may repay your loan on almost any plan you wish. The table shows how loans may be repaid in 2 to 15 payments. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Look in the table now for the loan you need. See how you may repay out of income.

If you can make good use of a loan, see us at once. Or just phone and tell us how much you need.

IN MEMORIAM

DAVIDSON.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Susie Davidson, who passed away August 10, 1941.

A wonderful mother, woman and aid;
One who was better, God never made.
A wonderful worker, loyal and true,
One in a million, that, mother, was you.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew;
A wonderful mother, that, mother, was you.

—Ever remembered by children, Doreen, Dorothy and Jack.

BROWN—In ever loving memory of my dear husband, W. F. Brown (late of 191 Dublin street), who died August 10, 1930.

Death, with his healing hand,
Shall once more knit the band
Which needs but that one link which none may sever,
Till, through the Only Good,
Heard, felt and understood,
Our life in God shall make us one forever.

—Inserted by his Wife, and son Lynn.

No wife ever believes that her husband works as hard as she does. She pictures him as leading a life of almost Sybaritic ease, as compared with hers and as spending most of his time gossiping with his companions, and telling and listening to good stories while she cooks and washes and mends and scrubs, and has no more entertaining company than the baby's walls and the children's squabbles.

And when she thinks that for all her hard labor she gets only her board and clothes, and those the worst in the family, she bewails her fate at having been born of the feminine persuasion.

But now, for the first time, she has had the opportunity to take a man's place in the world and do a man's work and really find out how the other half lives, and she has discovered that it isn't all beer and skittles, as she had always believed it to be. She has found out what it is to toil to the point of exhaustion, then force herself to drive on and do more; to work under conditions that fret her nerves to fiddle-strings; to be bawled out by foremen; to be too tired at night to eat or sleep, and to know that every dollar she earns is wet with her sweat and blood.

Out of this experience comes the knowledge that her old domestic life, when she could command her own time and be her own boss, and stop for chats with the butcher and gossip over the back fence with her neighbor, and put off the washing until tomorrow if she didn't feel like doing it today, wasn't such a bad life, after all.

So it is no wonder that in the clash and clamor and stress and strain of war work that women are planning to go back to the little homes they once disdained, and that they are going to give to their husbands an understanding and a sympathy and an admiration that they have never given them before. For they have tried out the man's world and discovered how much strength and stamina it takes to stand up in it.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

The schedule game for Group No. 2 that was rained out on Monday, June 1, has been called for Thursday of this week. Skips may play before that date if they can get together; if not, they must play on Thursday.

Wednesday night of this week will be open night. There will be nothing on specially. The members will be privileged to play what they like—singles, doubles, trebles or anything else. Arrange a game. There will be lots of room for all. And then, besides, it will give the boys on the committees a night off. They have been in attendance every night since May 24, and a little holiday is coming to them.

The singles competition continues this evening at 7.15 o'clock and 8.15 o'clock. The committee would appreciate it if members who are not playing would come out and act as umpires.

Two More Cases

HALIFAX, Aug. 10 —(CP)—Two more cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the Nova Scotia health department during the week-end, bringing the total number of cases reported in the province this summer to 18. The new cases, the first reported since July 28, were at Dartmouth, N.S., where there are also two suspected cases, and in Colchester County.

OBITUARY

H. M. MEIKLEJOHN

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 10 (ENS) —Funeral services for Henry Morrison Meiklejohn who died suddenly of a heart attack Friday were largely attended Sunday afternoon, as people from all walks of life came to pay final tribute to one of this town's highly respected citizens.

Rev. G. N. Maxwell of St. John's United church conducted the funeral service which was held from the family residence on Rear street, and he paid tribute to the deceased as a man who was respected and loved, "a young life only partially completed, a husband and father planning for the days that were ahead." Evidence of the high esteem in which he was held was seen in the many floral tributes and other expressions of sympathy received by the family. Following the service at Campbellford interment was made in the family plot at Burnbrae cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Murray Meiklejohn, David Meiklejohn, Stewart Meiklejohn, Paul Meiklejohn, George Westfall, and George Thompson. Flower bearers were Messrs. William Rowe, Fred Rowe, Gerald Kellogg, Cliff Cassan, Garlan Irwin, Frank Godkin, P. Butler, W. J. Sarginson, Charles Stephens, John Campbell, P. H. MacMillan.

Handsome Swag Curtains Are Amazingly Easy to Make

Swag Is Draped Through Rings

Luxurious swag draperies look so impressive, but the smart style shown in our sketch is really easy to make!

The triple festoon swag is just a length of pale rose crepe you drape through festoon rings (metal or glass) that are nailed to the window casing. The ends of the length are cut on a slant.

The side draperies are a lined wine-color crepe with a pale rose geometric pattern matching the swag; deep blue with light blue, or rich green with pale gold are equally handsome.

For trimming on the swag, fringe adds richness and is easy to apply. So are charming ball fringe and ruffly pleating—all sold by the yard.

In cutting draperies and glass curtains, allow extra width for rich folds. Cut heavy materials 50 per cent. wider than the space to be covered, fine fabrics up to 100 per cent. wider.

Our 32-page booklet shows with simple directions and diagrams how to measure, make and trim glass curtains, drapery-curtains, over-draperies. Also tells how to make fitted and swag valances, cascades, cornices. Suggests colors, fabrics, styles to give individuality to your room.

For your copy of "New Ideas in Making Curtains and Draperies" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

A VITAL PRINCIPLE

POSSESSING two fitting suits —such as four cards in your hand opposite four in your partner's, and five in your hand opposite three in your partner's—it is nearly always better to use the evenly divided suit as trump. This will enable you to use the unbalanced suit as a side suit for the discarding of losers in one of the other two suits. If, however, you name the unbalanced suit as trump, you cannot discard any losers on the balanced side suit.

North: ♠ J 7 3 2 ♥ A Q 6 ♦ A 5 3 ♣ Q 5 4

West: ♠ 10 9 4 ♥ 8 2 ♦ K J 6 4 ♣ J 10 8 3 2

East: ♠ 8 5 ♥ 9 7 4 ♦ Q 10 9 2 ♣ K 9 7

South: ♠ A K Q 6 ♥ K J 10 5 3 ♦ 8 7 ♣ A 6

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1♥	Pass	2NT
Pass	3♠	Pass	4♥
Pass	4NT	Pass	5♥
Pass	5NT	Pass	6♣
Pass	6♥

Try as he could, South had no way to avoid losing one trick each in diamonds and clubs. He won the opener, the club J, with the A, dropped trumps, cashed four spades and led a fourth heart. Then he scored the diamond A and led another diamond toward his own hand, hoping East or West had made a bad discard somewhere along the line, but neither had, so the diamond J and club K produced the setting tricks.

The side suit of spades, being balanced, was worthless as a means of discarding a loser in the minors.

When North heard South's bid of spades, after having opened with the lower-ranking hearts, he knew South had five hearts at least, and one less spade, or four. He therefore favored the hearts, in which he had some honors. The information from South's bidding, though, should have shown him that the correct trump was spades. At that, after winning the club opener, he could have dropped spades in three rounds and run five hearts, discarding the diamond 3 and 5 from dummy. He could then have given up a club trick, and used the last trump in each hand for cross-ruffing, trumping a diamond in the North and a club in the South. Thus he could have made 6-Spades easily, because the side suit of hearts was longer in one hand than in the other.

How many tricks can North and South make at hearts on this deal, with perfect defense by the opponents?

German Troops Capture Two Russian Towns

BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), Aug. 10 (AP).—The German High Command asserted today that its troops have broken through Russian tank and trench positions 20 miles to the north of Krasnodar, and north of the Kuban River loop.

The communique said that other Nazi columns had captured the towns of Armavir and Kurkannaya, 60 and 30 miles respectively from the oil city of Maikop and had reached the Laba River, a tributary inside the Kuban loop.

Krasnodar is on the Kuban River, and is 50 miles northeast of Maikop. Armavir is on the lower Kuban on the west bank.

The Laba River itself is inside the Kuban elbow and flows about midway between Kaikop and Armavir.

On The African Front

New Zealand troops battling the Axis forces on the Egyptian front made a successful attack on an Axis "leaguer"—a sort of corrall of guns and motor transport—capturing the lot, and returning with their loot. In the UPPER photograph a New Zealand trooper examines a damaged 37-mm. anti-air cannon which had been pressed into use as an anti-tank gun. The LOWER photograph shows some of the soldiers shooting at Stuka bombers after returning to their lines with their booty. The Stukas have learned to stay out of rifle range when attacking these men.

panese land-based planes and garrisons and that "the operations are progressing favorably" despite enemy opposition.

A brief communique issued in Washington late yesterday said "considerable enemy resistance has been encountered and it is still too early to announce results or to estimate either our own or enemy losses."

The Japanese—without confirmation from any Allied source—broadcast claims from Tokyo that they had sunk 22 Allied warships and transports and damaged more than six others. These enemy claims were considered fantastic in the light of their fanciful reports on results of the Midway and Coral Sea battles—both stunning Japanese defeats.

Land Fighting Indicated

Allied sources failed to mention the presence of any transports in the attacking fleet but Admiral Nimitz's reference to enemy land garrisons was interpreted as intimating that the operation was amphibious. This suggested the possibility that land fighting might be in progress on the Solomons.

Or the Allies might have beat the enemy to the draw to thwart another invasion attempt aimed at Australia. It was at Tulagi, on the fringe of the Coral Sea, that the Japanese asembled the invasion armada subsequently smashed in those waters.

Today's communique from Allied headquarters, without mentioning the Solomon Islands battle itself, reported Sunday attacks by Allied planes on three enemy bases in New Guinea and New Britain.

A spokesman said these raids, which were heavy in the last 24 hours, were aimed at tying up Japanese aircraft and preventing them from engaging in the action in the Solomons.

The Allied bombers struck both by day and night at the key Japanese base Rabaul, in New Britain, shooting down five enemy Zero fighters with the loss of one Allied bomber; raided Gasmata, also in New Britain; and inflicted new and heavy destruction at Salamaua, New Guinea.

At Salamaua, Allied medium bombers set a supply ship aflame with two direct hits, blew up several buildings, hit harbor installations and silenced anti-aircraft positions, it was announced.

Salamaua is the enemy's most important base in New Guinea while Rabaul is the chief Japanese base in New Britain, a part of the Bismarck Archipelago.

Few Jap Bomb Raids

The absence of Japanese bombing activity in the northwestern sector and the limiting of activity in the northeast defensive aerial fighting emphasized the effectiveness of the Allied attack in support of the Solomon Islands battle.

The communique said Allied ground patrols inflicted casualties upon the Japanese in the Kokoda area, on the Papuan peninsula, but this action was believed here to have been light.

Coinciding with the attack on the Solomons, a task force of the United States Pacific Fleet went into action thousands of miles to the north, bombarding Japanese ships and shore bases at Kiska, one of three enemy-occupied Aleutian Islands stretching southwest of Alaska.

A Washington communique indicated this attack was over but results probably will not be known until the attacking force returns to its base, possibly two weeks.

(Japanese headquarters claimed today that Japanese naval units "beat off a strong enemy naval force which appeared Aug. 8 in Aleutian waters," a claim that was without any confirmation.)

dispersed gathering, but not beforee speakers had read and distributed to the crowd this message from Gandhi:—

"Every man is free to go to the fullest length under Ahimsa (non-violence) for complete deadlock by strikes and all other possible means. Karenge Ya Marenge (do or die)."

Gandhi—who originally had planned to address the meeting — was said to have scrawled the message just before he was arrested at his home at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and hustled off to Poona, 65 miles away, for internment.

Gandhi's wife was arrested last night when she insisted on addressing the Shiva-Ji Park meeting and was taken to Poona to join him.

Other leaders arrested included Maulana Abdul Kalan Azad, president of the Party; Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru; and a faithful disciple, Madeline Slade, the daughter of a British admiral.

Azad, Nehru and many of their followers were held in Yeravda jail, six miles from Poona.

The Moslem minority, representing 80,000,000 of India's nearly 400,000,000 population, remained generally aloof from the disobedience campaign.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, leader of the Moslem League, which is to meet August 16 to discuss its policy, expressed his regret at the "dangerous mass movement" launched by the Congress Party.

Early Potatoes Prices Turn Downward

Potatoes were cheaper on the market at $1.80 to $2 a bag and 40 to 50 cents a peck. Growers who adopt commercial practices of regular spraying against spraying and one blight or another objected to paring from the $2 price. Some of them said the early crop such as Irish Cobblers was turning out only fairly plentiful but the stock looks up to standard. George Thorn said he had a splendid field of Katahdins coming on still green and promising. His comment on an enquiry about blight reports in the nearer district was to the effect that the men in the business of growing potatoes anticipate fungus attacks by their program of spraying.

A. Olan was one of those asking 40 cents for his Cavan Cobblers, and apparently he was on the way to selling at that price the big truck load he brought to market.

Several baskets of butter were noticed but that sample was being held for customers. Some of the women folk would be tempted to bring in butter if they could get over the 40 cent price. The price mentioned to the Examiner was 39 cents.

Imagine that outdoor darket in the eyes of a woman who was looking at it for the first time in fifty years. She was amazed at the crowd of people from both the country and city. Although she has lived here most of the time her orbit and affairs did not extend to interest in the things of the market. It may seem strange that any resident of the city had gone half a century without ever getting around to the market of a Saturday morning, but possibly this woman's absence is not unique and there may be more like her than might be imagined.

Egg Prices Firmer.

The range of prices of eggs was from 25 cents to 42 cents, from the smallest to the extra special large ones. The supply at both ends of the day's offering was small and the bulk of the buying of the intermediate sizes was from 33 to 38 centt almost to 40 cents. Jame Healey of Westwood on the outside market said he was selling all his at forty cents.

The number of buyers in the uptairs hall was fairly large, butt nothing like the crowd outdoors. One of those noticed along the gardeners' aisles was Alderman Swanston, chairman of the council's property and market committee, who said it looked like the biggest market he had ever seen.

Sunburned Turkey.

Chickens were 30 to 33 cents lots of them at 32 cents a pound, and hens averaged 28 cents. The ignorance of city folks about things agricultural seems without bound. A girl said she sold turkeys at 30 cents a pound, but she had one left at 26 cents, cutting the price because that bird had been sunburned. It seem some of them lose feathers and the sun plays on the bare or thinly protected spots, and it is not mere sun tan that result. These spots were a dark blue, the turkey counterpart of the tan-bunrs you see about town on backs and legs and so on.

Gardeners were asking 35 cents a dozen for corn on the cob and seemed to getting it, too, although Arthur Stenson was asking only 30 cents.

Apples a Feature.

Early varieties of apples, Yellow Harvest and Red Astrakhans, were more pentiful, probably at the peak of their brief season. Norman Moncrief's prices were 60c a peck for Duchess and Transparents and 75c for the Red Astrakhan. He said that although berry prices had been favorable this season the net income to growers was not much above the average. Labor was scarce.

"We haven't the help to get the work done now that should be done," Mr. Moucrief said, 'and you are going to see a shrinkage in the volume of berries next year. That's the way I see it."

Red raspberries were 15 to 30 cents the box, pint and quart. Ben Isaac of Norham had red raspberries at 33 cents and Astrakhan apples at 45 cents for the six-quart basket. He said the berry season had been exceptionaly long.

The Honey Crop

Allan Brown tagged his honey at 35c for two-pound tins and 65c for four pounders. Those prices are exactly the same as last year. The ceiling has been operating without any leaway, and buyers are offered a fine product.

"The honey yield from Bethany to Kingston is a little better than fair," Mr. Brown said, "but reports for Ontario as a whole indicate only a 40 per cent crop. The British quota has been cancelled, and that is quite a factor in the domestic market. I understand the reason for that action was the lack of shipping space, even for such a concentrated food as honey.".

Tomatoes were three pounds for 25c and two pounds for 15c. E. T. Minaker from Trenton asked 15 cents for two pound lots. A. Stenson's price was 50c for six quart baskets.

Odds and ends—cauliflowers 10 to 20 cents each; Healey Warba potatoes 40 cents a peck; yellow beans 10c a quart and three quarts for 25 cents; Fred Clifford's chard at 15c a peck; and Russian black currants 45 cents a quart. That was about the peak price of the market.

Bill Saltern was asking $1.50 for six quart baskets of huckleberries and 25c a quart.

Doig celery 10c a bunch; cabbage 5c each; beets and carrots 5c a bunch.

Vegetable marrows were 10 and 15 cents each. Gladioli were 25 to 50 cents a dozen. Pleasant View (Bowmanville) yellow harvest apples were a large variety. They also had cucumbers at 35 cents to 60 cents the six-quart basket.

Thimbleberries were 35 cents a quart basket, with only a small offering.

Growers had more selling help Saturday. The midsummer market would profit from more space to each vendor, but it probably is not available. Growers all reported brisk business, in fact one of the biggest mornings of the year.

Robert Macaulay Ex-Peterboro Resident Passes

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—Following a brief illness, Robert Macaulay, 83, father of Hon. Leopold Macaulay, M.P.P. for South York and former Ontario Minister of Highways, died Saturday at Elgin House, Lake Joseph, Muskoka. He was spending a vacation there with his wife, the former Agnes Jeroux.

Born in Markham, Mr. Macaulay spent his early years there. After his marriage he moved to Peterborough, and then to Lindsay, where he resided for many years. He came to Toronto and entered into the construction business, from which he retired about thirty years ago.

Mr. Macaulay lived at the Frontenac Arms, Jarvis Street, and was a member of Sherbourne Street United Church. For many years he had attended Trinity United Church.

One other son, Robert Vernon Macaulay of Montreal, also survives. Dr. V. Harold Macaulay of Calgary, a third son, died previously. There are eight grandchildren: Mrs. Gordon Paterson, Robert William Macaulay and Hugh Leopold Macaulay of Toronto; Helen, Joan and Donald Macaulay of Montreal, and Ruth and Gordon Macaulay of Calgary.

manian cavalrymen and put others to flight."

As the Germans forced back the Russians toward the Caucasus mountains and the Black Sea coast the defenders of the important Volga industrial city of Stalingrad were reported holding the invader in fierce engagements northeast of Kotelnikovski and in the area of Kletskaya.

Germans tanks and automatic riflemen were reported to have driven a wedge into the Russian defences northeast of Kotelnikovski, but the Red Army was delivering counter blows and defending every foot of soil. Progress has been much slower for the Germans in the two-pronged drive on Stalingrad than in the bitter battles to the southwest.

While the position of the Red Army grew more critical hourly, the Soviet radio told of aggressive moves in the Voronezh region of the upper Don and said a new crossing of the Don had been driven back and two populated places retaken. This report said the Russians were "forcing their way forward."

In addition to Novorossisk, the Russians have a secondary Black Sea naval base at Tuapse, about 75 miles to the south. Both have protection against attack from the land side in the form of the Caucasian foothills. Should both be threatened, any units of the fleet based in the port could be moved to Batum, near the Turkish border.

400 Huns To 205 Reds.

The Russians reported that during the week ended Aug. 8, the Germans lost 'about 400' aircraft in air fights and on the ground while Russian losses were 205 planes.

The mid-day communique reported that a number of populated places were retaken by Russian troops in the Voronezh sector and said more than 1,000 Germans were killed in the engagements. Russian troops fighting on the west bank of the Don at Voronezh were reported to have repulsed several enemy attacks, destroying 12 tanks.

Pravda reported, however, that the Germans had brought up many reserves south of Voronezh and had recaptured the western approaches to a place taken by the Russians two days ago. The Red army was fighting for every house and every street in that unidentified town itself, the newspaper said.

Soviet bombers rained bombs on the massing German forces by night and during the day a ground attack by the Russians resulted in the killing of 200 Hungarians, it was said.

The Germans were reported using Alpine units in the fighting near the Caucasian foothills as they used them earlier in fighting around the heights of Sevastopol.

As the Cossacks withdrew southward before the German mechanized units, they were executing many anti-tank ambushes and littering the wheat fields of the steppes with wrecked German tanks, Pravda said.

The Red army was also taking a heavy toll of German mechanized equipment in the defence of Stalingrad. South of Kletskaya, the mid-day communique said, 15 German tanks were destroyed in the past 24 hours and more than 400 Germans killed.

Peterborough Rural Schools

No. 5 Burleigh Was Built in 1891—S.S. 6-A Marked By Wild Roses Pupils Planted on the Old Site.

S.S. NO. 5 BURLEIGH

The original log school was built a mile north of the present school whose site was chosen by George Bullied, Robert Edgar and Patton Shewin on the property of George Defries. The white frame building now in use was constructed in 1891 by Mr. Defries. It is situated on concessions 2 and 3 in Anstruther.

The first teacher was Dr. Harry Anderson, gold medalist of Trinity College, Toronto. The next teacher was George Rose, now a minister in Owen Sound. There are still several persons around the village who attended this school at the time of its opening. Mrs. Archie Downing and Mrs. Albert Wilson were two of that group. In 1931 the rural school fair was introduced, this school winning the shield donated by Rev. C. A. G. Spence.

By 1932 the school was rather crowded with thirty-seven attending and several others ready to begin. This, with a fifth class, necessitated a change. Finally the section was divided. The new school is now the Apsley school. It was opened in January 1933 with Miss Boyce as the first teacher. Miss Bertina Beavis remained at the old school. Trustees at the time of the change were Frank Tanner, Albert Wilson and Robert Scott.

The numbers of the schools in Burleigh and Anstruther were changed in 1935 beginning at S.S. No. 1 at the lower end and coming north in order. This school was changed from A1 Burleigh to S.S. No. 5 Anstruther and Burleigh.

S.S. 6A Anstruther

The following sketch of the section is quoted as it was received from Public Inspector Copp. It was not signed.

"About five miles north of Apsley on the Bancroft Highway I noticed a clump of wild roses growing in great profusion. Having come to S.S. No. 6A Anstruther in 1939 I was interested in these roses and began to question 'old timers' about them. I learned that the roses had been planted by the children who used to go to school at this very spot. Here, when Anstruther was young, stood a log cabin school house. Here the school master held sway.

To the north end of the school stood a hill on which turnips were planted. One day, accidentally I hope, some of the turnips were loosened and came bumping down against the school. It is funny, but every once in a while, these turnips not wanting to grow in size, if they couldn't in knowledge, rolled down the hill to school.

In 1910 the ratepayers decided to build a modern school. It was rumored that age had made the old building shaky. This is strange. It was only some fifty years old. Maybe the turnips ruled the destiny of S.S. No. 6, Anstruther. The new school was built about a mile south of the Roses, a more central location. The grounds covered with some pines and maples are about an acre in size.

Miss Jean Kilborn was the first teacher, and the school trustees in 1910 were Esau Tucker, Abner Windsor and John Rickles. The secretary-treasurer was William Tucker.

During the last thirty-one years the building was many times used for Sunday School and church services, and also as a social centre. Those who took part in such activities will recall and always remember those times at Tucker's School.

Roseneath W.I. Formed 35 Years Ago

ROSENEATH, Aug. 10 (SNS) — Thirty-five years ago the Roseneath Branch of the W.I. was organized, and on Thursday afternoon the anniversary was fittingly observed.

The president, Mrs. Earl Waldie, presided and the meeting was held in the town hall. On the platform with the president were: Mrs. James Black of Warkworth, chairman of the Belleville convention area, Mrs. H. Wicks of Cobourg, representative to the federated board, Mrs. K. Hodgert of Port Hope, matron of the Children's Shelter, Mrs. Charlton Grigg, Roseneath district president, Mrs. Frank Nichol, Roseneath, and Mrs. S. Thackeray, secretary-treasurer.

A brief business session preceded the program period, when Mrs. J. W. Pacey, convener of the jam committee, announced that 60 pounds of strawberry jam and 60 pounds of raspberry jam were made, and along with 48 pounds of honey shipped to Red Cross headquarters. Fourteen pairs of socks have been distributed to local enlistments since May 1, and a letter of thanks for socks was read from Alvin Beaver, somewhere in England. These reports were presented by the secretary treasurer.

Mrs. C. Grigg extended a welcome to the guests, and at this time presented a history of the Roseneath Branch. This history was introduced by Mrs. Grigg with a brief description of the first farmer's institute organized in 1885.

land. They fell on fields but little damage was done as crops had been harvested.

As the R.A.F. methodically pounded German targets, the Air Ministry news service said photographs taken after recent British raids on Western Germany disclosed damage "which is certain to have far-reaching effects on the enemy's production of armaments and munitions."

Specifically, the news service reported, 150,000 square feet of roofing were damaged in the centre of the rolling mills of the great August Thyssen Steel Works in the Ruhr Valley, works which still were under repair for bomb damage suffered last March.

Five other steel works in the Hamburg - Duisburg - Ruhrot area also were shown to have been hit heavily by the R.A.F., it added.

British Troops Aid Indians As Dread Hindu-Moselem Communal Riots Threaten

28 Dead, 200 Injured With Riots Spreading Affecting Great Mill Districts; Soldiers Use Guns With Police To Quiet Mobs

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BOMBAY, Aug. 11—(AP).—British troops, some armed with machine-guns, came to the aid of police today as 13 more persons were killed and 30 injured in 10 instances in which gunfire was used to break up Bombay mobs participating in Mohandas K. Gandhi's civil disobedience campaign.

The toll of casualties since outbreaks began Sunday thus was brought to 28 dead and more than 200 injured, with disorders and mill stoppages spreading wider over India and indications that dread communal rioting between Hindus and Moslems might break out.

The Bombay Government announced that troops had participated in the firing on crowds on one or two occasions. Police marched in formation through the various disturbed sections.

In a radio broadcast to the nation, Sir Roger Lumley, Governor of Bombay, declared he could not allow the disturbances to continue, and said "police and troops have orders to take severe measures whenever necessary.

From Bombay on the west coast to Calcutta on the east coast came reports of demonstrations, hartals (the closing of stores) and goondaism (rowdyism) as the call for a total shutdown of trade spread to Mohandas K. Gandhi's turbulent followers with a promise from the leaders of victory in two months in what they called their "final struggle" against British rule.

Only A Spark Needed

Police said the slightest spark might touch off rioting between the sub-continent's opposing religious groups, Hindus and Moslems.

Two days of rioting already had brought the death toll in Bombay alone to 15—all Indians shot attacking police or attempting to destroy suburban railroad stations or grain warehouses.

There were new demonstrations this morning in the Dadar, Parel and Matunga sections of the city. Bonfires were started in the streets and fed with hats, neckties and other articles of European clothing snatched from passersby.

Police opened fire twice when mobs set fire to a wooden police guard post and attempted to halt traffic.

As the day wore on police fired several time smore, increasing the toll of casualties. Two were killed and several injured during the morning.

In many places the mere presence of troops prevented outbreaks. A regiment marched into Ahmedabad where students and mill workers had seemed on the verge of disorder.

Dig For 14 Hours Find One Of 12 Buried Men

MILWAUKEE August 11 —(CP) — Grime-streaked rescue squads, fighting their way inch by inch through tons of broken glass and debris uncovered today the body of one of the 12 men believed to have died when a warehouse collapsed in suburban Wauwatosa.

Frank Dreyer, warehouse employee identified the body as that of William Schaedlich, 47, Milwaukee. The body badly crushed, was found about 14 hours after the accident occurred.

Six other men, trapped with those feared deda, were rescued almost immediately and escaped with minor injuries.

Others of the 25-man crew working in the building when it collapsed said there was no warning. The men who were engulfed had been eating lunch just inside a loading door on the firts floor.

The Forsyth Leather Company leased the building to the Joseph Schilt Brewery a week ago, according to Sol Abrams the general manager. Abrams said that the building had been tested, and he had been assured it would carry double the load that was to be put in it.

50,000 French Troops for 150,000 Specialists Hun Offer, Says Laval Greeting 1,000 Freed

VICHY, Aug. 11—(AP).—Pierre Laval told the French today that the Nazis would return one French prisoner of war for every three specialized workers who volunteered to go to Germany.

The chief of government's speech, broadcast to the country, was made at Compiegne, northeast of Paris, where he welcomed home a first trainload of 1,000 war prisoners exchanged for workers already in Germany and saw off another worker group.

France, he said, still has 1,200,000 of her soldiers captive in Germany and the Nazi government, needing 150,000 specialists, will release 50,000 prisoners in return for them.

(A Reuters report in London quoted Laval as telling the released prisoners that France's hour of liberation would be the hour of German victory).

Huns Tiflis-Bound To Japs Split Loot Of 3 Continents

LONDON, Aug. 11—(CP).—A British military source said today that the Allied hold on the Middle East was gravely menaced by the onrushing German forces in the Caucasus and Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's German - Italian army in Egypt's western desert.

"Infinitely more" is at stake than preservation of Russian oil fields and British bases in Egypt, said this source.

"These objectives are only incidental to the German drive to isolate Russia and Turkey, dominate the Middle East and land bridge joining Asia, Europe and Africa, and unite with Japan to exchange the booty of three continents," this source said.

He expressed belief the Germans will try to drive down to Tiflis with special tank and mountaineer troops while the remainder of their forces in South Russia push eastward toward the Caucasus.

From Tiflis they would be within striking distanec of Iraq and Syria.

At the same time, the position in Egypt was causing some anxiety in military quarters, which said a drive through Alexandria and Cairo to Suez, then northeastward toward Syria and Iraq was an indispensable part of the vast German pincers campaign in the Middle East.

The German-controlled Vichy radio reported that separate German columns had driven to within 40 to 50 miles of Novorossisk, Black sea naval base, and in the area of Maikop, 60 miles north-east of Tuapse.

2 Way Assault For Stalingrad.

The Vichy radio added that fighting was in progress within Stalingrad's defence zone and there were indications that a 'general assault of the city will be launched shortly from the northwest and south.'

'The Russian forces defending Stalingrad will be very considerable and they were recently reinforced by fresh reserves,' the Vichy report said.

German sources were quoted as saying that the Russians had breached the German defence lines on the Rzhev front northwest of

Field Air Signs Hoax Says Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—The war department said today it had received reports indicating that a story released from Mitchel Field, N.Y., for publication Monday, about signs pointing to important defence installations, "may be untrue."

The story dealt with reported discovery of signs visible from the air, such as arrows created by plowing in a field or by cutting in woodlands, which could serve as guides to direct enemy bombers to American defence installations or other military objectives. Aerial photographs also were released in connection with the story.

The department said that Lt.-Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding the Eastern Defence Command with headquarters at Governors Island, N.Y., is investigating the story.

(At Mitchel Field today, the public relations office of the first air force said the story and pictures about the markers were approved in writing by the Bureau of Public Relations of the War Department in Washington before being released.)

The Washington Evening Star said that it and other newspapers "were the victims of over-zealous army press-agentry, and as a result, participated unwittingly in what appears to be the great air marker hoax."

Allied Gains Outweigh All Losses

Rabaul Is Handed 3rd Battering, Destroyer Hard Hit

Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 11 (AP)—Allied forces thrown into the air, land and seaborne invasion of the Solomon Islands are under strong Japanese counter attack but "we are holding our own," Prime Minister John Curtin announced today.

Mr. Curtin said that an announcement yesterday by Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of the United States fleet, indicated Allied gains so far have greatly outweighed losses despite its listing of the loss of one Allied cruiser sunk and two cruisers, two destroyers and one transport damaged.

Admiral King spoke of "a large number" of enemy planes destroyed and "surface units put out of action," and referred definitely to the Tulagi operation as "our first assumption of the initiative and of the offensive."

The prime minister's brief statement was the first word from an official source in Australia on the main operations in the Solomons. Communiques issued by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific Headquarters have dealt only with

Total Of 140,000 Draftees Now In Army

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Two years after Canada took the first steps in compulsory military service for the second Great War, upwards of 140,000 men have been delivered to and accepted by the Army, it was learned today at National War Service Department.

This total exceeds by 15,000 or more the total number conscripted in the first Great War—and it does not include the figures for August and September, the two heaviest months for call-ups since the drafting of men began a few months after the fall of France.

The Department of National Defence requisitioned 25,000 men for August and 20,000 for September. Returns for August are not complete and it is not yet known to what extent calls issued fall short of or exceed the objective of 25,000 fit men.

The total of more than 14,000 is arrived at with returns for July partially complete. The total up to the end of June was 135,880. The July requisition was 15,000 men but a final count has not yet been made of the number delivered on that requisition.

Those liable to call under present regulations are single men and childless widowers aged 20 to 40.

Perishes In Fire

Belleville, Ont., Aug. 11 (CP)

ONE man was believed burned to death and another was seriously injured early today when fire destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Connor of nearby Oak Lake.

Thomas Parsons, 38, a hired man, was believed overcome by smoke and flames before he could make his exit. Harold Detlor, 24, a neighbor, was injured seriously when he dived through a window after an attempt to save some furniture.

Huns Near Two Naval Bases Grind Over Wheat Lands Smoking Maikop Oil Fields

No Sign Of Reds Quitting Says U.S. Envoy Three Main Lines Still Intact; Cossacks Take Heavy Toll At Krasnodar

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 11—AP).—The official mouthpieces of the Red army, the Communist Party and the Soviet Government appealed to the fighting forces today to save Russia, acknowledging in the plainest words the gravity of the position as Axis armies ground through the smoking Maikop oilfields and the scorced wheatlands near Krasknodar.

"The fate of our country is being decided in the violent battles on the Don and the Kuban," declared Red Star, organ of the Red army.

It quoted the Russian 18th century general who told his troops: "We are surrounded by mountains...To retreat is shame...We cannot expect help from anybody...We stand on the edge of the abyss."

The German drive into the Caucasus placed the Red fleet's Black Sea naval stations at Novorossisk and Tuapse in grave danger.

In the Voronezh sector of the Upper Don, where the Russians have been most aggressive recently, German attacks were reported repelled with heavy losses.

(A German spokesman asserted last night that Novorossisk had been attacked by dive bombers, the German radio claimed).

Pouring a seemingly-endless supply of tanks and troops into the struggle, the Germans forced a new gap in the Russian defences at Armavir, about 110 miles east of Krasnodar, and the Red army withdrew to new positions, today's midday communique said.

As the successful German lunge into the Caucasus multiplied the difficulties of the Red army, United States Ambassador Admiral William H. Standley declared last night: "I have not found the slightest indication that the Russians have any idea of quitting.

Battles Far From Decisive.

He said he had formed the idea from talking to Russian officials that the current battles were not decisive and that explained the Russian withdrawal to the west. The Red army, he said, would remain intact.

It was his understanding, the Ambassador said, that the Russians had three lines—the present one, the Volga and the Urals—"and the Germans have not yet reached the Volga."

Fierce fighting at Krasnodar and Maikop was reported in the Soviet midnight communique. Krasnodar is 60 miles northeast of Novorossisk and Maikop is 60 miles northeast of Tuapse. Novorossisk and Tuapse are afforded some natural protection by the Caucasian foothills.

Fierce Cossack cavalry units harried the Germans in the Krasnodar area, working in close co-operation with tank groups and the Red Air Force. Rumanian cavalry and a battalion of German infantry were routed, the midnight communique said, and 11 German tanks and other motorized equipment were destroyed. However, superior numbers forced the Russians back in another sector.

Blast Japs Stores In Hankow No Opposition

CHUNGKING, Aug. 11.—(AP). — Fighter-escorted bombers in a low-altitude attack on Hankow and vicinity, bombed newlyconstructed warehouses and other objectives yesterday, Lt.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Hankow, Japan's greatest inland base in China, is on the Yangtze river and has been a frequent target of American bombers.

The war bulletin saiad there was no anti-aircraft fire and no air opposition.

"Incendiary as well as high-explosive bombs were dropped," it said. "A number of hits were scored in the town and on newly-constructed warehouses. At least two large fires were started."

The Hankow raid followed one Sunday by American airmen on Taiphong, French Indo-China port where a Chinese army spokesman said to-day, Japanese reinforcements for Thailand and Burma landed around July 27. These enemy forces and others which arrived at the same time at Saaigon, farther down the Indo-China coast, possibly will be used in an attack on India or Yunnan province in Southern China, this informant said.

Japanese troops were reported also massing in Formosa with Japanese warships again active off the southeast coast, indicating a possible new invasion of Fukien province, it was stated.

Germans Shift Italian Plants

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 11 (AP)—A traveller from Italy reported today the Germans are moving entire arms and war material plants from Northern Italy to Central Germany together with thousands of workers in an effort to keep the factories operating.

This informant said German production experts considered it more efficient to dismantle factories and transport them to Germany than to provide coal and raw materials to Italy.

Retaking the Solomon Isles No Cinch

U.S. Fleet Commander Making No Rash Statements Till Last Gun Fired

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Word that the United States Marines are holding their own in the Solomon Islands in the face of strong Japanese counter-attacks carries us as far as we are entitled to venture in figuring out how the battle goes for the fighting forces which are staging the first major offensive action of the United States.

This brief report comes from Australian Prime Minister John Curtin. It isn't much, an we shall be well advised not to try to read into it more than it indicates, namely, that at the time of the announcement we were getting on with the job, and that the enemy resistance was heavy.

The business-like official account thus far rendreed by Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, provides us with an excellent model of restraint. It hazards no guesses about the outcome, for that veteran sea-dog knows full well a battle is never over until the sound of the last gun has died away.

There's one thing we shouldn't overlook in Admiral King's account —his statement that "considerable losses, such as are inherent in any offensive operation, must be expected as the price to be paid for the hard-won experience which is the essential to the attainment of far-reaching results." Presumably by "losses" he refers to both men and equipment.

The ambibious operation being carried out under the command of Vice-Admiral Robert Ghormley, commander in the South Pacific, is one of the most difficult and dangerous which war provides. That is landing of men from transports in the face of a heavy enemy defence. We are seeing in miniature an attack such as would be involved in an invasion of France across the English Channel.

The land fighting thus far reported seems to have been centred on the islands of Tulagi and Guadalcanal, in the southeastern part of the Solomons which dot the ocean like the spill from an upset pepper-pot. These two islands are of great strategi cimportance.

Tulagi possesses a vast harbor which would provide anchorage for a Japanese armada. Guadalcanal was being prepared as a great airbase. The Japs have been landing there for several weeks now, to disappear into the jungle where they have set natives to work building airdromes.

However, while these two dots in the sea appeared to be the storm centre, the operations spread throughout the whole area compris-

Huns Threaten All French

Execute 93 As New Anti-Nazi Terror Breaks

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Germans have threatened reprisals against every man, woman and child in Occupied France following new anti-Nazis outbreaks for which 93 Frenchmen were executed.

The executions were announced in Paris last night by the German military commander who invited the people "in their best interest," to help discover those responsible for assaults on German soldiers "or I will be obliged to take measures for which the whole population will suffer."

"Despite numerous warnings the calm again has been broken at certain points in Occupied France," Brig.-Gen. Oberg, chief of the SS said the announcement signed by (Elite Guard) and police in occupied territories.

"Assassination attempts have been made against German soldiers by terrorists and communits in the pay of England...I have in consequence had 93 terrorists shot who had conducted acts of terrorism or had been accomplices."

From Belgium and the Netherlands meanwhile came reports of new preparations by the Germans against any Allied invasion.

A Netherlands news agency account said Nazis in Holland have started organizing a home guard because of the Allied invasion threat.

4 Senators tour Defences

Americans Fly To Edmonton On Northern Check

EDMONTON, Aug. 11—(CP). — Japanese forces now holding sections of the Aleutian Islands are a "menace to this continent and must be driven out," Senator A. B. Chandler, Kentucky Democrat and head of the subcommittee of the United States Senate military affairs committee, said in an interview here last night.

The Senator and three other members of the committee arrived here by airplane from Spokane en route to inspect defences of Alaska and the North Pacific area. The three others in the party were Senator M. C. Walgren (Dem., Wash.); Senator H. H. Burton (Rep., Ohio), and Senator R. C. Holman (Rep., Ore).

The party left today for the north, planning to look over the route and progress of the Alaska highway.

Senator Chandler said: "The purpose of the trip is to investigate and report the facts concerning Alaska and the Aleutian Islands. "We intend to go to the Aleutians if the military situation permits," he said.

Senaor Chandler said if the Alaska defences were not made strong, it would have the effect of encouraging the Japs to attack this continent by that route and take advantage of the shortest route to his opinion than attacking by the of the mid-Pacific defences.

Gandhi's Cohorts Demand Shutdown For Trade See Victory In 2 Months

Troops, Police On Guard In 5 Centres Strike Threatens Huge Mill City, 15 Deaths Mark First Few Days' Riots

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BOMBAY, Aug. 11—(AP).—The call for a shutdown of trade spread today to Mohandas K. Gandhi's followers with a promise from their leaders of victory in two months for what they called India's "final struggle" to win independence.

This summons for a "hartal"—the closing of all business—headed an inflammatory list of instructions issued despite Gandhi's incarceration in one of the Aga Khan's palaces.

Nevertheless, some British authorities are optimistic that firmness will quell the movement and smother the outbreaks which have caused 15 deaths and injuries to 169 persons in street brawls in the Bombay area since Sunday.

The first hysterical, shouting crowds of the week-end, when the All-India Congress Committee made Gandhi general of its "do-or-die" drive for immediate independence and Britain countered by arresting him and his high command, had begun to dwindle.

There was no sign of a general abatement, however, as soldiers and armed police stood guard in five Indian centres and some official opinion was less hopeful that strong-handed methods would quiet the Indian zealots.

Traffic was snarled for hours by buses with tires deflated; some telegraph wires were cut; stones still flew and the mounds o. debris and shattered glass piled up in the streets here.

Big Mill Threatened.

Student demonstrators also had drawn fire at Poona, where the 72-year-old Gandhi and his chiefs are held, and at Lucknow. Strikes threatened in the big mill centre of Ahmedabad and violence broke out also in New Delhi.

Still, the ominous possibility of communal riots, bloodiest of all and hardest to suppress, harried British authorities. In one such flare-up, Hindus stoned Moslem shops in Bombay yesterday.

Despite Gandhi's isolation, without radio, newspapers or contact with friends, his voice reached the outside in the "instructions to the people of India."

Besides the "Hartal," they called for the resignation of all civil employees, mass leadership by youths taking the places of the jailed leaders, India-wide refusal to pay land taxes.

As symbolic measures to 'administer a powerful stimulant to the struggle," they called for spinning, so dear to Gandhi," and the making of salt, the basis of the 1930 civil disobedience movement in protest against the government salt monopoly.

In his beautiful prison, hung with costly Persian rugs and French chandeliers, the wizened leader meanwhile was said to be drinking goat's milk and eating dates and peaches sent specially from Bombay.

Rutherford Clan Hold Reunion

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 11 (ENS)—Members of the Rutherford clan came from as far as Calgary to attend the family's 7th annual reunion held at Little Lake where approximately 122 sat down for a picnic dinner beneath the pine trees. Members were rounded up from Calgary and Empress, Alberta, Hamilton, Toronto, Oshawa, Peterborough, Kingston, Belleville, Trenton, Marmora, Brighton, Colborne, Campbellford, and Bonarlaw. The election of officers and an interesting sports program designed particularly for the younger people, were the features of the afternoon. Gordon Rutherford of Colborne was named 1943 president of the Clan and he succeeds Dan MacGregor of Marmora, while Secretary Treasurer Grant Griffis of Colborne replaced Harold Rutherford of Bonarlaw.

Douglas Rutherford and Earnest Fairman directed the sports program which was as follows: Children, 5 years and under: Joan Rutherford, Bill McCulloch, Bobbie McCulloch. Girls, 6 to 8 years: Norma Rutherford, Joan McCulloch; boys 6 to 8 years, Malcolm Rutherford; girls 9 to 11 years, Helen Kerneghan, Marianne Rutherford; boys 9 to 11 years, Alex Rutherford, Walter Rutherford; threading needle contest, Margaret McCulloch, Gordon McCulolch; potato race, Gordon McCulloch; nail driving, Leona Rutherford; peeling potato, Gordon McCulloch; biing pig race, Alex Rutherford, Shirlie Haig; tug-of-war, Robert McCulloch's team won from Mack Rutherford's. Member coming the greatest distance, Margaret VanVolknburg, Calgary.

MRS. ELLEN CARVETH.

The death of the late Mrs. Carveth came as a great shock to her family and many friends and relatives. Born in Asphodel, she was the daughter of Patrick Heffernan and Jane FitzGerald. When very young her family moved to Douro, where she resided until 18 years ago, when she and her husband retired from their farm and moved to Peterborough. Her husband, the late Richard Carveth, predeceased her neary five years ago.

The late Mrs. Carveth was a deeply religious woman, a faithful member of the Immaculate Conception Church, and of the Altar Society. The many mass cards and floral tributes attested the liking and respect of friends and neighbors.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Alfred De Noble of 140 Robinson Street, and Mrs. Mary Esther Devlin of Indian River; also one son, Arthur Carveth, of Indian River, and 18 grandchildren.

She is also survived by two brothers, William of Douro and John of Onaway, Alberta, and four sisters: Josie and Jennie Heffernan and Mrs. Thomas Clancy of Peterborough, and Mary of Douro.

The funeral took place Monday from her late residence at 140 Robinson Street, to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where requiem high mass was sung by Rev. Father Walsh.

At the closing of the service the hymn much loved by Mrs. Carveth, "Like a Strong and Raging Fire," was sung by Anthony De Noble.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Sullivan conducted the graveside services.

Interment was made in St Peter's Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were: Gerald Howley, Edward Heffernan, Richard Carveth, Thomas Devlin, Adrian Devlin and John De Noble.

JOHN J. CROWLEY

The large number of citizens who called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crowley of Otonabee to express their sympathy to the sorrowing friends and pay their final respects to the memory of the late John Joseph Crowley, bore tangible evidence of his respect and esteem as a lifelong citizen of his native township.

He was an outstanding and popular citizen. He had an inherent attachment to the soil and in his early years, was an efficient and successful agriculturalist. He retired from hard work about two years ago, and inasmuch as his outstanding pleasure was motoring, he spent much of his time visiting places, even of considerable distance from his home township. His unassuming nature and his pleasant disposition acquired for him, a large number of friends with whom he visited periodically. He was extremely fond of children and young people, many of whom attended his wake and funeral which was one of the largest held in the township of Otonabee for many years. It was attended by people throughout the community as well as from Toronto, Downeyville, Asphodel, South Monaghan and Ennismore.

In his sermon following the Mass, Reverend J. J. O'Brien referred to the late John Joseph Crowley as a charter member of the parish, a man of prayer, and possessed of an exemplary character.

The funeral was held on Saturday morning, August 8, to the Church of the Sacred Heart where Solemn High Mass of Requiem was offered by his cousin, Reverend J. J. Guirey, P.P. of Port Hope, his parish priest, Reverend J. J. O'Brien, and Reverend James Houlihan.

The pall-bearers were six nephews, Messrs. Denis Driscoll, Joseph Slattery, John Slattery, and Francis, Raymond and Fred Crowley.

Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery, services being conducted by Reverend James Houlihan.

US Checks Close Against New Jap Spy Ring

By MAX HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 11.—(AP).— United States authorities are taking elaboate precautions to ensure that Japanese or Axis agents are not introduced into the United States aboard the repatriation liner Gripsholm.

The strenuous efforts to check the sympathies and leanings of all non-officials aboard is shown by the provision requiring passengers to list five native-born Americans who will testify to their loyalty.

Reliable quarters said high government officials feared the drastic sweeping up of Japan's fifth column in the United States might have resulted in an attempt to send a fresh crop of agents via the Asa Baru and Conte Verde, the liners which brought us from Japan to Portuguese East Africa where we boarded the Gripsholm.

Among the passengers were some Nisei, United States born Japanese, and some Chinese.

When we left Japan it was reported the Japanese were launching a new and rapidly-expanding program of construction of wooden freighters to replace their losses in the South Seas and supplement an over-burdened merchant marine tonnage.

The program for wooden ships indicated the supply of iron and steel was not sufficient for all current needs.

Yards for such ships were reported under construction not only in Japan but also in the Philippines where renegade Chinese from Hong Kong was said to be directing activities.

British Troops

Troops marched ceaselessly through the streets of Bombay. Machine-guns were mounted covering a beach where a meeting of Indians had been scheduled. An armored car stood guard at one intersection. Two score soldiers, veterans of the Burma fight, stood with fixed bayonets at another corner.

A crowd at Parel burned park benches. Some persons were injured when police fired to break up the mob.

Stores Kept Closed.

Stores closed at Karachi, and in a Calcutta heavy-industry district, the operators of bullock carts quit work.

Students quit colleges in such univeristy towns as Bombay, Nagpur and Bangalore.

Pollace, wary against the possibility of Hindu-Moslem riots, said the slightest incident might set off this sort of strife.

"On a pervoius occasion a Moslem kicked a dog; a Hindu policeman kicked the beggar, and it started an 18day communal riot in which many were killed," said a Bombay police official.

"Again a Hindu teacher whipped a Moslem child. Thirty days of nasty rioting followed.

"Three months of rioting with many deaths came after a Moslem storekeeper refused to sell a certain piece of goods to a Hindu."

He pointed out that Hindu students already had trown rocks at Moslem shops in Bombay.

In Lucknow Moslem shops remained open while Hindu stores practised "hartal."

Draw On Afghan Nets $20 For War Victims

The girls in the Sun Life Office wanted to do something to help along the efforts being made locally to help the victims of air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, so they choose the making of an afghan as the first step towards attaining that objective, and having completed that they then sponsored the sale of tickets among their own group, so that the whole of the credit in the money thus raised goes to them.

For a time this afghan was displayed in the windows of the Coleman Brothers' paint store, where Miss Phyllis Coleman, a former member of the office staff of the Sun Life Assurance Co., is now located, and the sale of tickets came to a close at the week-end, with the draw being made by the treasurer for the fund, John E. Keyes, the manager at the Canadian Bank of Commerce. This resulted in ticket number 928 being the winner, which was held by Jim Cumming of 529 Chamberlain street. From this, the nice sum of $20.30 is listed in today's receipts for the fund.

For the third week in a row, William A. Taylor of Crawford's Grove has brought in $3.00 each time for the fund, which he has made by selling flowers from his garden. Last year he gave a number of contributons to the fund in the same manner.

Regatta Wednesday

This Wednesday, the 12th Annual Regatta will be held at Wallace Point, 8 miles south of the city on the Oontabee River, commencing at 2.30 p.m., rain or shine. Boating events will commence at that hour, and those who are contesting need only bring their paddles as all boats will be supplied, credit going to the O'Dette Brothers for an assist in this matter by giving some consideration in the rental fee for the boats. Swimming events will start a 6 p.m.; the two big events of which are the mile swim for men for the Gorden K. Fraser, M.P., Trophy, and the half mile swim for ladies for the Senator J. J. Duffus Trophy.

Every swimmer who finishes will receive a crest, and special crests for each 1st, 2nd and 3rd in each event will be awarded.

Many special and good prizes are available, and the whole event will conclude with a regatta dance which will be held at 9 p.m.

For spectators the charge will be 25 cents, and all the net proceeds of the day's events will be given to the fund, thus giving an opportunity for the money to do double duty by way of helping the victims of the air raids over Britain.

Fine Pea Crop Gore's Landing

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 11—(ENS).—With fine weather the past few days, crops of wheat and oats are being harvested and because of the shortage of farm help, children and women are in the fields helping bring in the abundant harvest. Twelve-year-old girls and boys are running the tractors and valiantly doing splendid work to help their parents.

For some years, peas have been very poor but this summer has been an exception. The pea crop in this district is turning out very good. On the farm of Elmer West on the Cavan Road a splendid yield of peas is reported.

The death in Toronto of Mr. A. St. A. Smith was regretted by his many friends in this village.

For several years, Mr. Smith spent the summer here and also resided in the village for one or two winters. As a warden of St. George's Church, he was a valued member of the congregation, and his work in and around the church was greatly appreciated and sadly missed when his health forced him to remain in Toronto.

Mr. Smith was greatly interested in flowers, and spent many happy hours planning and caring for the lawns and flower garden surrounding the church. One of his last acts before returning to Toronto some years ago was to have the trees bordering the church lawn trimmed, so that beautiful views of Rice Lake could be seen from the steps of the church.

Mr. Smith was buried in Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough, on Wednesday.

Up To Hepburn

AURORA, Ont., Aug. 11.—(CP).—A general election in Ontario "is up to Mr. (Premier) Hepburn," E. B. Jolliffe, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation leader in the Ontario Legislature, told a meeting of the North York C.C.F. Association here last night.

He said the C.C.F. in Ontario had never suggested there should be a general election "at this time."

"That is up to Mr. Hepburn alone, but if he should call a snap election, we should make certain that there would be a better administration of the affairs of Ontario.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Aug. 11 — (CP). — Trading in wheat was at a standstill in the early part of today's session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange, when yesterday's export of Canadian flour to the United Kingdom was estimated at more than 1,000,000 bushels. At Chicago, wheat was unchanged to ¼ higher.

Only a few routine trades in oats and barley were reported from the coarse grain pit.

"An obscure clearing resembling an arrow 'pointing to an Eastern Air base,' the Star inquiry disclosed, is —or rather, was —a feeding ground for birds—one of some 800 or 900 set up in the State of New Jersey by the fish and game commission in 1937 with the aid of the Old Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

'Both of these 'markers' were removed after an investigation by the army months ago after the pictures published yesterday had been made.',

"Calculated to make the newspapers blush also is the fact," the Star continued ,"that the same story with an alteration here and there—and sans pictures, was distributed from the same source in June, and published in Sunday feature sections. At that time however, the pictures of the 'markers' were withheld as 'military secrets.' "

10 Million Hogs Needed Under New Bacon Call

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP).—Britain is in the market for 700,000,000 pounds of Canadian ham and bacon —a quantity so vast that it will require the boosting of Canada's hog gradings to the all-out production figure of 10,000,000.

Those, say Agriculture Department officials, are Britain's requirements under a new bacon agreement being negotiated to replace the existing contract which expires next October and under which Canada is supplying 600,000,000 pounds of bacon. In Britain, bacon means either ham or bacon.

The new agreement would boost by 100,000,000 pounds the quantity Canada would have to supply and would place heavy strain upon the Canadian hog industry, which already has outdone itself in increasing hog production since the outbreak of war.

In 1938, gradings totalled 3,240,525. A year later they were 3,706,000, and in 1940 the figure had jumped to 6,216,000. The hope this year is that marketings will reach 7,000,000 hogs.

The need for stepping production up to the 10,000,000-mark would come at a time when the Canadian Bacon Board, headed by J. G. Taggart, already is making every effort to complete shipment of existing contracts. And it may necessitate an increase in the price to farmers, who now get 19.9 cents a pound under the present United Kingdom contract.

But agriculture officials are confident that Canadian farmers can do it. They point out that crops used as feed to fatten hogs are reported to be good all across the Dominion. With plenty of feed, Canadian farmers should be able to produce hogs during the next 12 months at a rate even greater than this year.

Not only were they covering troop landings but they were reaching far afield to slash at Jap airdromes and so protect the ground forces from Nipponese air attack as much as possible.

This offensive seems to be aimed at driving the enemy out from strongholds which lie across direct communication with Australia and which provide the Japanese with bases for attack on that country. Possesson of these islands also would provide a foothold for further Allied offensives. And, either by design or circumstances, the drive may, if successful, act as a "second front" to discourage the Japanese from attacking Russia. Furthermore any operation of this sort helps China.

may be short 200, while in Manitoba a shortage of 250 is expected.

The federation, said Mr. Crutchfield, is requesting grants from the Dominion Government that there may be equal educational opportunity for all Canadian children. It was proposed, however, that control and supervision of education should still be provincially controlled.

A proper health program is also being requested by the C.T.F. The need for this, the secretary pointed out, was attested by the fact that 50 per cent of young Canadians called up for the services, were not in category A.

Establishment of an educational bureau in Ottawa, where all Dominion educational bodies could have centralized offices, and provision for cost of living bonus to teachers were other matters to be considered by the federation.

NOW'S THE TIME TO BUY YOUR COAL!

'Fill that coal bin now!' says the government

"Get all the winter coal you're going to need—and get it NOW," is the urgent request of the government. Protect your family from the serious consequences of the possible shortage next winter!

There is a simple way to buy all the coal you need—to buy for cash and take advantage of low coal cash prices. A special plan now lets you have all the cash you need and repay the cost in small monthly instalments at a very small net charge per ton. For instance, a $100 loan can be repaid for as little as $7.78 per month.

You get four other important advantages by taking prompt advantage of this new plan. 1. Complete privacy in making all arrangements. 2. No co-signers or endorsers required. 3. 15 full months in which to repay. 4. No guarantee of your loan by your coal dealer or any outside source. And the first payment will not be due for thirty days.

Learn all about this budget plan for coal users. Phone or visit Household Finance Corporation of Canada, 177 Charlotte Street, Peterborough. Phone 5841.

Resort Owner Rescues Oshawa Child

ROSENEATH, Aug. 11.—(ENS).—An accident on Sunday that might easily have proved fatal was averted when Clark Sandercock jumped into the water at Dunnett's Landing, Rice Lake, and rescued four year old Sheldon Kalinsky of Oshawa, who had fallen from the wharf. The water is six or seven feet deep at this point and Mr Sandercock went in fully clothed, and help the child above water with one hand paddling with the other hand to keep afloat until willing hands reached out and lifted the child to safety. Back on shore, Mr. Sandercock administered first aid and the young victim soon recovered from the accident. Sheldon had come with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Kalinsky of Oshawa, to spend the day at the lake.

Mr. Sandercock has a camp ground and booth at the Landing and was in the booth when he heard the calls for help from bystanders.

Stirling Bowlers Lose Playdowns

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 11.—(ENS).—Local bowlers who brought home the provincial titles for singles, doubles and rinks a year ago from Hamilton, will again have an opportunity to defend their right to the award. The same men defeated Stirling contenders in the District 15 playdowns here yesterday when as winners of Section B they narrowly won from the Section A leaders. Official referee for the playdowns was C. Churchley, district president from Warkworth, and Campbellford teams never put up a harder battle than did yesterday's winners, who eased out the Stirling contenders by a single point margin in both the doubles and singles. In fact both the doubles and rinks played an extra end before a decision was reached and the locals really earned their right to the provincial play-offs, which will be held either in Toronto or Hamilton in September.

Juveniles Charged

COBOURG, August 11 — Found guilty yesterday in police court on a charge of breaking and entering and theft, Dennis Lane, age 17 of Toronto was sentenced to six months definite and three months indefinite in the reformatory. A 15 year old juvenile of Toronto, arraigned on the same charge was remanded for a week. The two were arrested over the week-end by Provincial Constable Gordon Broughton of Port Hope and brought to Cobourg jail on a charge of breaking into the canteen operated by Mrs. Rachel Burley of Newtonville. A quantity of cigarettes and chocolate bars were recovered with their arrest, police stated.

Rotarians Offer Assistance

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 11 (ENS)—Rotarians of this town are going to pitch in and provide every assistance to the Salvation Army's 1942 drive. Announcement of their intention to conduct the campaign under direction of the local Corps leader, Captain Alex. Turnbull, was made at the Club's luncheon held Monday. Rotarian Turnbull brought the matter to the attention of the Club, told of the $1,600 objective for Campbellford and Seymour, and expressed his appreciation for their willingness to cooperate so fully. Pointing to the difficulties of canvassing in the township under present conditions Rotarian A. J. Meyers suggested a tag day could be held to take care of this end of the quota. H. J. Taylor was nominated as committee chairman. During the meeting President P. C. Denyes asked for volunteers to assist with the two day Rotary Carnival which will begin next Monday.

The following committees for 1942-43 were announced with the first-named in each being chairman: Executive and program—Perce Denyes, S. A. Maguire, M. B. Sayers, R. J. Locke, Dr. E. A. Stuart, Bert Taylor, Russell Bale; Community Service or Booster Club, entire club headed by Bert Taylor, A. K. Loucks, Bill Brady; Attendance—Dr. O. C. Watson, L. B. Glover, Earl Bell, C. B. Williams, W. Masterson; Crippled Children—Dr. H. B. Longmore, Dr. E. A. Stuart, A. D. Bennett; Fellowship—J. P. Archer, W. S. Wiggins, Wilf Coleman, Ron Hazell, Bob Bateson, Henry Scott, Arthur Armour; Entertainment—Alex. Turnbull, Harry Fowlds, Joe Smith, Thos. Craighead, Les. Diamond, Douglas Watson; International—M. B. Sayers, N. A. McColl, W. A. Hogle, A. J. Meyers, Stan Robbins; Boys' work—Rev. G. N. Maxwell, Alex. Turnbull, Abram Rappaport, Harold Gummer, Wilbert Wood; Membership—Charlie Davidson, F. G. DeCarrol, J. O. Benor, Harold Carr, Bill Callaghan; Sergeant-at-arms—Harry Barrons.

Large Quotas Of Finished Work Handled By Port Hope Red Cross

PORT HOPE, Aug. 11 (ENS) — The regular meeting of the Women's War Workers' committee was held in the Red Cross rooms on Monday. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Foote showing tearoom receipts $33.15. Expenses, parts for sewing machine $3.50, Coleman and Philips 75c, Fulfords 45c, Palmers $3.60, Selrite Stores 60c, Mrs. Perkins (scissors) $1.85 Turck's grocery $2.60, Total $13.35, leaving balance of $19.80. Donations $4.50.

As there was not any correspondence Mrs. Foote spoke of a tea cloth and four serviettes which had been donated by Mrs. Walter Grieves, and it was decided that this will be raffled at the Garden Party to be held at Mrs. Black's residence on Dorset street on Wednesday, August 12th.

Mrs. Perkins in reporting for the cutting room told how 1022½ yards of material had been cut into 330 articles consisting of sheets, quilts, towels, men's shirts, men's pyjamas, men's hospital bed gowns, dressing gowns, boys' shirts, boys' pants, boys' overcoats, boys caps and handkerchiefs.

Extra Large Quota

Miss Smart, convener of the sewing committee, reported that owing to the very large quota undertaken this committe did not ship, but that the work was well under way. The quota of 8-year-old boys' outfits were all ready except the sweaters, which are almost ready as well as 32 boys trousers, 50 boys shirts, and almost 60 overcoats which are finished but not shipped.

Mrs. Seaman reported from the knitting commitee, 30 pair 18-inch socks, 25 pair 26-inch socks, 15 pair heavy service socks, 10 turtle neck tuck in sweaters, 5 sweaters, grey, long sleeve, 5 sweaters, blue, long sleeve, 5 sleeveless sweaters, khaki, 5 sleeveless sweaters, grey, 6 alternative caps, 18 pair gloves.

Mrs. Sheehan, convener of the refugee committee, reported that 423 articles were shipped last month, including 32 large quilts, 5 complete layettes, 122 articles of civilian clothing, 131 miscellaneous articles, 1 crib blanket.

It was reported that the Red Cross tea room will be able to continue to serve tea each afternoon as a special arrangement has been made by the government for the serving of tea for Red Cross purposes.

Mrs. Foote gave a most interesting report of the work done in Red Cross rooms from all over Ontario—

Hospital supplies	218,892
Knitted comforts	489,161
Civilian Clothing	738,775
Total	1,446,828

Emergency Units

Port Hope was asked to have 25 nursing emergency reserve units in readiness, each of which consist of bedding and hospital equipment sufficient to look after one patient.

It was moved by Mrs. Wotherspoon and seconded by Mrs. Chisholm that Mrs. Parr be asked to look after the planning and arranging for Red Cross comfort bags for the Navy for Christmas. It was decided to set 48 comfort bags as the objective for this unit.

Oil Controller Releases Asphalt Town Council Starts Road Work

CAMPBELLFORD, August 11 — (ENS). — Council had practically given up all hope of doing any extensive road resurfacing this summer owing to restrictions in the supply of oil, but Deputy Reeve P. H. MacMillan reported at the regular meeting held last night that he had been in communication with the company which had contracted to supply it and the supply was forwarded this week. According to a letter from the Chief Municipal Engineer the asphalt material for road surfacing has been released by the Oil Controller, but "it is impossible for the department to meet the request for primer, as the allotment of asphalt materials released by the Oil Controller for road purposes does not include primer." As a result of this decision Road and Bridge Chairman MacMillan told council that when the oil arrived it would be applied with pea gravel to streets now prepared for surfacing.

The question of whether or not council would continue assisting the I.O.D.E. with its salvage collection was one that has been hanging fire for the past two months—ever since the Finance committee did some figuring that revealed the commitment was costing taxpayers approximately one-half a mill a year. It was Mayor F. F. Long who gave the report on the matter following an interview he and the deputy reeve had with I.O.D.E. heads. The information they received prompted the conclusion that the money was being well spent and that the plan should be continued.

Quoting figures supplied by the I.O.D.E., which admittedly has made an adequate job of salvaging, the Mayor declared that in his opinion the expense of providing a truck and two men to operate it twice a week (all day Saturday and each Wednesday to business establishments) was warranted. Since they began their collection under the present arrangements, the I.O.D.E. has received $317.45 for salvage less expenses amounting to approximately $20. Adding that members were contributing an average of 24 hours a week for sorting and piling salvage, the Mayor pointed out that if the I.O.D.E. had to pay all expenses their profits would shrink to less than $40 a month. "I believe that Deputy Reeve MacMillan will agree that this work is being well done and should be continued," said the Mayor, adding "it runs into a little money each month but it is helping the war effort. Councillors O'Sullivan and Fowlds made a motion that the present arrangements be continued for the remainder of 1942.

Must Cut Weeds

Under the heading, Reports of Committees, Road and Bridge Chairman P. H. MacMillan told council that all weed cutting and spraying had been completed. He said also that necessary patching on roads had been carried out. The mower, previously authorized by council was in his opinion doing good work and would soon "pay for itself." The Deputy Reeve criticized lot owners who permitted the property to grow into weed beds, declaring "some owners don't seem to take much interest in these lots, so we will begin cutting them this week and charge the cost back to their taxes. Property Chairman J. R. Battisby reported negotiations for the sale of two town-owned lots were proceeding and this precipitated a lengthy discussion as to the merits of the present by-law restricting the sale to people would would build on the property. The Mayor was of the opinion that it was good business for the town to add this provision to the terms of the sale, but felt that with wartime conditions, the amount of time allowed to construct the building could be lengthened to possibly two years. He congratulated the reeve for the preparation of a statement given each member of council) showing the location, and amount against all town owned property. The list showing lot numbers and whether or not the property was in use, disclosed 55 delinquent tax payers to whose property the town had reluctantly fallen heir. There were approximately 115 lots shown and of these two were being used as parking lots, on a third was a frame house, and on the fourth was the hospital. After looking over the list the Mayor observed that a collective effort should be made by council to turn the properties into revenue producers. Councillor Anderson felt the compulsory building clause was a deterrent to buyers and urged its deletion. "The town should be glad enough sell the property and collect the taxes. Concurring in this belief Councillor Maguire declared present conditions should warrant some leniency in the matter of building, and Councillor O'Sullivan added that many of the vacant lots were assessed out of proportion. Councillor Anderson made a motion that the entire list of property be advertised for sale, and sold by the Property committee for the best price they could get. But when Councillor Battisby objected that his committee didn't want the responsibility for doing this, no seconder for the motion was found. The issue was finally settled by a motion authorizing the committee to sell several lots on Queen street, with the provision that houses be erected on them as soon after the war as was possible.

No Rent Paid

In reply to a question by the Mayor, Councillor Mason, chairman of the police committee, declared that although a number of cases were being brought into the local court from Hastings, as yet no rental fee had been paid by any of the adjoining municipalities.

The clerk brought up the question of supplying deeds for four lots on Jack street, sold to T. J. Horkins two years ago. He said although the lots were sold the deeds had never been prepared and as a consequence a by-law authorizing them was ordered drawn for presentation at the next meeting which will be held on Friday, September 4. Following a request from the local branch of the Red Cross for a room in which to store their emergency quota, a motion appointing the reeve, deputy reeve and Councillor Fowlds to deal with the matter, was passed. With the passing of the pay sheet, Council adjourned.

Mother India Throws a Fit

Though not a seventh son of a seventh son we would have ventured to predict that Gandhi's plan of civil disobedience in India would very soon cease to be civil and degenerate into an uncontrollable and familiar sort of disobedience, including disobedience to Gandhi. Such means of control as the Indian leader sought to exercise can only be effective over small groups of highly disciplined people; his followers were in sufficient numbers to become a mob, and discipline is not one of their strong points. How a man of Gandhi's undoubted intelligence could ever have thought that such a plan would work is a mystery; we are not cynical enough to believe that he knew that it would not work, and promoted it as a mischief-making device.

Now Gandhi, Nehru and Maulana Azad are in jail, and we may expect that strong measures will be taken to prevent further demonstrations. Lacking its leaders it is doubtful if the Congress party can do much, nor can we assume that the Indian masses are deeply interested in the matter. Mr. Jinnah, leader of the eighty million Moslems, has no sympathy with the Congress group and we may be sure that the Indian princes, most of whom are on excellent terms with Britain, will use their influence to steady the country and range it on Britain's side. The weakness of the Congress group was revealed in the negotiations with Sir Stafford Cripps, when they naively stated that they did not wish to be responsible either to Britain or to the Indian masses. All they wanted, it seemed, was a free hand — for what?

Gandhi has one card up his sleeve, however, and he may decide that the time has come to play it. He may go on another of his hunger strikes, and he is so frail that he would not take long to starve to death. Such a course would enlist much sympathy on his side, for the world is full of people who are better able to understand the distress of one old man than the welfare of a nation of many millions. If Gandhi were to die he would become a martyr to the cause of Indian freedom, and he would have the exquisite posthumous thrill of having put the British in the wrong forever. It would be a good thing if someone—Mr. Churchill is the obvious man—were to make a statement on the matter before Gandhi can begin his protest, thereby robbing any subsequent death-scene of its effectiveness. It is not a difficult matter, in view of the human appetite for melodrama and violent contrasts, for one martyr to put a whole Empire in the wrong, and we hope that some action will be taken to forestall any such mishap. It looks as though this were Gandhi's last bid for power, and he will not hesitate to go to the last extreme in order to get his own way. Meanwhile he has provoked Mother India into throwing a fit, and it seems that Britain will have to give her that sharp slap which is the only immediate cure for hysteria.

We Make Amends

It appears that, entirely without wishing to do so, we have hurt the feelings of our neighbors in Port Hope. In reporting the launching of H.M.C.S. Port Hope we spoke of that town as "the little village which nestles on the north shore of the lake," and gave further offence by calling it a "tiny inland port." The Port Hope Evening Guide has heaped journalistic coals of fire upon us, and we therefore extend to Port Hope (population at most recent available census 4,723) an abject grovel and a promise not to do it again.

We can only say in our own excuse that Port Hope has a charm and completeness which are rare among Canadian towns and which give an irresistible suggestion of the miniature; the diminutives which our writer used were intended affectionately, and no idea of belittling Port Hope ever entered his mind. Any town which is big enough to launch its own minesweeper is big enough to have the respect of the Examiner and, we think, of all the people in the city of Peterborough.

Brilliantly Unhelpful

A few days ago Lady Astor, M.P., made a remark in a speech at Southport which the London Daily Herald acclaims as "the most brilliantly unhelpful of the war." What she said was that, while the U.S. entered the war to aid Britain, Russia was fighting to save herself.

This remark is so loaded with misapprehensions and misrepresentations that it is remarkable even for Lady Astor, who is known for her fuzzy thinking and her complete lack of tact. The U.S. did not enter the war to help Britain, and no sensible person in the U.S. would claim that it had done so. And Russia is certainly fighting to save herself, but not in the sense imputed to her by Lady Astor.

Every country in the United Nations group is fighting to save itself. Nations do not go to war for romantic whims. There is no country in that group which has not lost something in this war, and does not stand to lose everything it has, unless we win. Only deep and unreasonable prejudice could lead Lady Astor to load the dice against Russia.

For many years before the war, however, she was known to be an appeaser of the fascist states and a leader in that ambiguous group of British political thinkers known as the Cliveden Set; apparently her views have not changed. Certainly she could not have chosen a worse moment to make her attack on Russia. For years Lady Astor has been tolerated in Britain because, although admittedly erratic and tactless, she was considered "brilliant." As the years roll by we must wonder how this legend ever arose, for although her follies are on as grand a scale as ever her brilliance has yet to be exhibited.

Strange Indeed

We have received a pamphlet from an anonymous distributor called Strange Loyalties, which is a reprint of an address given by Emile Vaillancourt to the Kiwanis Club of Montreal on May 21, and to the Kiwanis Club of Quebec on July 9; on the latter occasion it was broadcast on Station CHRC in Quebec. The purpose of M. Vaillancourt's address is to show that the loyalty felt by the English-speaking population of Canada toward the British Empire has its root in personal economic gain; this he does with a good deal of cleverness and no fair-minded person would deny the general accuracy of his facts. But anyone who knows anything about history knows that it has not one, but many faces, and that it can be made to prove almost anything. It has been said that figures cannot lie but that liars can figure; history is subject to the same ambiguity.

It is salutary now and then to have our patriotism attacked and its windier pretensions deflated. But it is as well to leave this delicate task to historians who have nothing to gain from the debunking process; they are more likely to be fair in their estimates of past deeds and motives. M. Vaillancourt is not fair because he presents but one side of the story and seeks to leave the impression that he has said all that there is to be said on his subject. His tone is ingenuous but his argument is ingenious — a little too ingenious to be swallowed by anyone who has ever gone deeper into Canadian history than a high-school text-book.

The really surprising thing about this pamphlet is that it has an introductory letter by Mr. M. J. Coldwell, the newly elected leader of the C.C.F. party. Mr. Coldwell is unusually well acquainted with Canadian history, and that is why it is curious to find him approving M. Vaillancourt's tendentious pamphlet. "Our history books," he says, "make only passing references to the fact that certain loyalties are prompted by a desire to retain commercial priviliges. Once they go, as you so well explain, loyalty goes out of the window." The partial truth of this cannot be denied; can Mr. Coldwell regard it as the whole truth?

Possibly a desire to see his party thrive in the disaffected province of Quebec has made Mr. Coldwell less careful of complete historical truth than a man of his academic attainments should be. Nothing is so destructive of scholarship as the heresy of economic determinism, and no claptrap is so handy for imposing upon ignorant people. Quebec may be wooed in this way, and won for a time, but only at the expense of Canada as a whole. Politics make strange bedfellows, and strange loyalties, too.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Today it is a people's war; no longer is it merely a soldier's war," says Mrs. Roosevelt. What a pity it can't be confined to a governments' war.

Emil Ludwig says that there is no place for humor in the Nazi scheme of life. We have never encountered a scheme of life where there was a place for it; it just breaks in.

Tenth of August Musings

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THE St. Lawrence River is a good deal in the news these days, in one way and another. Either we hear that there are U-boats in it, or we hear it indignantly denied that there are U-boats in it, or we are told that we shall certainly not be informed if ever there should be U-boats in it—altogether the excitement is prolonged even if it is maintained at somewhat low pressure. What with the West Coast preparing for Jap raids, and the Lower Province concerned about naval marauders, Canada seems to be beset on ever side.

The St. Lawrence is a remarkable river, as everyone who has seen it will testify, but we seem to do remarkably little with it. We have not, for instance, made the same amount of literary capital of it as the Americans have made of the Mississippi, possibly because we have had no Mark Twain to write a "Life On The St. Lawrence" for us. Most of us do not even know how it came by its name. Jacques Cartier either discovered it or decided to name it on St. Lawrence day, and there is some reason to believe that he intended the name to be a temporary one. Possibly he hoped that the mighty stream might be named after him, who knows; it is a legitimate ambition for an explorer. But it has remained instead a monument to the peculiar stoicism of St. Lawrence, who was martyred in A.D. 258.

LAWRENCE was a man of such piety and goodness that he incurred the dislike of the Roman emperor Valerian who, according to legend, gave this order: "Bring out the grate of iron, and when it is red hot, on with him, roast him, broil him, turn him; upon pain of our high displeasure, do every man his office, O ye tormentors." Whereupon the unfortunate Lawrence was thrown upon the grate and held there with fire-forks, until he raised his head and said to the tyrant: "This side is now roasted enough, O tyrant; do you think roasted meat or raw the best?" He should have said "the better," but slight grammatical errors may be forgiven a man in his position; or possibly the fault is the translator's. That was upon the tenth of August, and so yesterday was the anniversary of the event.

The magnanimous King Philip II of Spain once won a great battle on the tenth of August, and he vowed that he would consecrate a palace, a church and a monastery to the honor of St. Lawrence. He carried out his pious intention, and the result was the Escurial, the largest and certainly one of the most magnificent palaces in Europe. It was built in the shape of a gridiron, as that was the instrument of torture used against Lawrence, and the building had many courtyards, which fell at the interstices of the bars. The apartments of the Royal Family were in the handle of the gridiron. Everywhere in the building gridirons were to be met with—in marble, in iron and painted on the walls. The galleries in the principal apartments and reception halls all had gridirons above their balustrades, which might have given the impression of a jail if the iron-work in which these were fashioned had not been so light and exquisite in design. Philip did not do things by halves; when he honored a saint he created a building which was one of the wonders of Europe. What has become of the Escurial under Franco? It contained innumerable treasures, including many of the finest paintings of the mysterious El Greco, and if any harm comes to these, Spain will be responsible to the world at large for their destruction. A lesser monument to Lawrence was the beautiful old church of St. Lawrence Jewry in London, which had a gridiron on its steeple for a weather-vane. It appears to have suffered badly in the blitz.

ANOTHER odd fact about the tenth of August was that upon that day in 1575 a penman named Peter Bales presented to Queen Elizabeth an example of his own writing. He had inscribed the Lord's prayer, the Creed, the Ten Commandments, two Latin prayers, his own name and the date in a circle the size of a penny; all could be read clearly through a magnifying glass, and we are informed that it was "the great admiration of her Majesty, Her ministers, and several ambassadors at court." This considerably outstrips the late Thomas Edison's accomplishment of writing the Lord's prayer in a ring the size of a ten-cent piece. Penmanship is an art which has been in decline for the past four hundred years, and it is now remarkable to find anyone who writes legibly, let alone beautifully. This is a pity; the typewriter has almost wholly superseded the formal manuscript hand for important documents, and the signatures of men and women alike are characterless scrawls.... But to return to Queen Elizabeth; what did she do with Bales' offering? One can only admire a curiosity of that kind for a few days, at most. Some day a historian will tell us what kings and queens do with the gifts which are continually showered upon them. Do they give them away at Christmas, or do they have royal jumble sales?

Unconsidered Trifles

With his usual long-windedness the bore was describing one of his hair-breadth escapes.

"There was I," he said, "on a lonely road, miles from anywhere with a blazing car. What do you think I did?"

One weary listener stifled his yawns long enough to reply: "Took a long breath and blew it out!"

The office telephone was out of order, and a workman was sent to carry out repairs. After a time, the workman suggested that the occupier of the office should call up an acquaintance in order to test the working of the instrument. The man called for the telephone number of his own home. When the connection was made, he spoke into the transmitter:—

"Maria!" There followed a few seconds of waiting, and he repeated his call in a peremptory tone "Maria!"

The storm that had been gathering broke at this moment. The telephone wires were struck by lightning and the man was hurled violently under his desk. Presently he crawled forth in a dazed condition, and regarded the repair man plaintively.

"That's her!" he declared. "The telephone works fine."

Solomons Move Likely Costly

By EDWARD BOMAR

ADMIRAL KING'S warning reminder that victory and war experience must be paid for with "considerable losses" deserves as much stress as his gratifying report that an initial landing has been accomplished in the Solomons.

Even before the United States Naval commander-in-chief gave the first definite tidings from the scene officers familiar with the hazards involved were grim as they awaited an intimation of the price of a triumph in blood and warships.

Balanced against the score made against the Japanese when they were on the offensive, the loss thus far of a single cruiser plus the damaging of other warships is more than reasonable.

King's advice that the operation now in progress is one of the 'most complicated and difficult in warfare," suggests, however, that it may be only a down payment.

Even when such an assault can be carried out with overwhelming strength and with benefit of surprise, to dislodge a determined foe who has had months to dig in ranks in difficulty near the top of all problems a commander may face.

NARVIK COSTLY

Beginning with the British sea attack on Narvik in Norway, the costly nature of such an amphibious enterprise has been dramatized repeatedly—by the German conquest of Crete, and by Japanese wounds in the battles of Macassar and the Java Sea and most recently off Midway.

Even in the Philippines, where the invaders completely dominated the air and sea and were opposed ashore by a relatively weak land force, they paid heavily at Lingayen Gulf and at Legaspi.

Then too, as the admiral noted, the Solomons venture is the first of the kind for the United Nations. The Japanese and Nazis had months and in some instances years in which to perfect their teamwork between air, sea and land forces. Prior to Pearl Harbor, the Japanese had practiced their technique since 1937 against almost helples China.

King's disclosure that the offensive benefited from an initial surprise is itself a surprise. Large naval forces cannot usually be hidden from aerial observers alert to any sign of enemy activity. Berlin's report that a violent storm was raging at the outset could be a clue.

CARRIERS RISKED

The navy and marines had to take the chance which always exists in war that the attacker rather than the defender may be surprised, as exemplified by the lacing the Japanese took approaching Midway. No certain means exists to gauge in advance the intensity of resistance to be encountered.

Another pertinent observation is that one or more American aircraft carriers probably were risked inasmuch as fighter planes were essential and these could be transported to the scene only by this means from the nearest Allied-held territory.

Assuming accepted military principles were followed, the attack was carried out by a force at least three times as strong as it was believed the defenders would be. Such a margin must be enjoyed for a fair chance of success, it has been said by Mayor-General Holland M. Smith of the Marines, commander of the Amphibian Force of the Atlantic Fleet. Another dictum is that a small amphibian operation is likely to be worse than useless.

The offensive was undertaken therefore with full realization that without the most extreme good fortune, substantial losses would have to be reckoned with, in accord with recognized principles of "calculated risk." After Pearl Harbor and Bataan there will be no quibbling over the price of victory.

Contributions to Amity

(CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

"DON'T expect the stately minuet of cricket," warns a booklet which the R.A.F. places in the hands of its fledglings sent to the United States for flight instruction. And an American corollary just issued for soldiers going to England concedes that cricket may seem slow to boys used to the hustle of baseball, but remarks that it isn't really an easy game to play well.

If British taxicabs have comic-looking front wheel structures, watch them turn around in a twelve-foot street and you'll know why. "The British are leisurely—but not really slow. Their crack trains held world speed records," the American booklet reminds its readers. "A British ship held the trans-Atlantic record. A British car and a British driver set world's speed records in America...."

In America, says the British booklet, "the idea is to win, not just to have a game—and it's not a bad idea for a fighting man." Americans, continues the British brochure, are gregarious. "It has been said that of the three great democracies, France specializes in equality, England in liberty, and the United States in fraternity."

Fortunately, circulation of at least sizable excerpts from the booklets has been rather general in both countries. Each pamphlet, in its own witty, friendly way, contributes to the amity and enlarged understanding between the two great allies that have so much in common in their religious, political, and economic backgrounds. It is fine, too, that the booklets emphasize so clearly that understanding between the two nations is not only a wartime necessity. The tasks of peace these young men and their friends will face will call for co-operative endeavor through the years.

Old School Tie For Everybody

From my investigations, it appears that many pupils, or their parents, who may speak for them, do not desire a boarding education, but there is a growing feeling that there is some advantage in the corporate life of this type of schooling, which should be made more widely available. This is a large and comprehensive question. Different views are held and expressed on the subject. I have recently had a request from the Governing Bodies Association of the public schools, and from the Headmasters' Conference that a body should be set up to work out a plan under which the facilities of a boarding-school education might be extended to those who desire to profit by them, irrespective of their means. The Government have decided to set up such a body.—R. H. Butler, President of British Board of Education.

First Impulse Best

Major-General Sir Charles Gwynn, well-known military commentator for The Canadian Press, says that the first decision in the Libyan battle was to abandon Tobruk instead of trying to hold it, but that this plan was subsequently altered. This was one case where the first impulse was the right one.—Brantford Expositor.

Don't Cash Them In

The volume of certificates turned in would seem to indicate that many people have been cashing in their certificates for reasons not altogether serious. The desire for a new coat or suit or a vacation is not an adequate excuse for redeeming makes it just a little harder for the Government to finance our war effort and it makes the operation of the war effort more expensive. To handle the redemption that has been going on requires the services of a large number of clerks whose work is a dead loss as far as winning the war is concerned.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Italy On The Top

The essentially Italian coranto is a dance that begins with the sixteenth century or thereabouts. Perhaps the most entirely appropriate dance for modern Italy would be her own and equally ancient tarantella. It was once reputed, as the name suggests, to be a remedy for the bite of the dreaded tarantula spider, which set up a malady characterized first by wild activity and then by melancholy and stupor. The tarantula of Fascism has long had its fangs into Italy; the tarantella might help to expel the poison.—Manchester Guardian.

A Bible Message For Today

Now Israel loved Joseph more than all his children, because he was the son of his old age: and he made him a coat of many colours. And when his brethren saw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him, and could not speak peaceably unto him....And his brethren went to feed their father's flock in Schechem. And Israel said unto Joseph, Do not thy brethren feed the flock in Schechem? come, and I will send thee unto them. And he said to him, Here am I....

And when they saw him afar off, even before he came near them, they conspired against him to slay him....And it came to pass, when Joseph was come unto his brethren, that they stript Joseph out of his coat, his coat of many colours that was on him; and they took him, and cast him into a pit: and the pit was empty, there was no water in it....

Then there pased by Midianites merchantmen; and they drew and lifted up Joseph out of the pit, and sold Joseph to the Ishmeelites for twenty pieces of silver: and they brought Joseph into Egypt.—Gen. xxxvii, 3, 4, 12, 13, 18, 23, 24, 28.

Letter To The Editor

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—By the tone of your editorials one would think that everyone thinks the tea and coffee rationing is a mere flea bite and nothing to what we shall to put up with. True, we may have to like far harder sacrifices than that. But by the way the peddling tea companies have been selling tea and coffee right up until the last minute, it looks like our boards of control were wholly inefficient, incompetent, and unsuitable for the job when they had to clap on such a drastic ration. Just fancy Britain with more people in the London area than there is in Canada and getting twice as much of a ration of these beverages. Churchill says 'Give us the tools,' but I can tell you my husband who is making these tools from seven in the morning until seven at night is but pleasant because his lunch pail lacks pie or cake for lack of sugar to make them and he can't have the refreshing cup of tea at supper because he had his ration at noon. To make tea that is tea you can't get 12½ cups out of one ounce and people that can are the ones who think that small amount is quite enough.

The rationing board does not inspire confidence in the way the sugar business is handled either. While candy and soft drinks and gum manufacturers have been cut in their volume, there is never anyone going without these sugar load tit-bits if they have the price. Then again beer, which is pound for pound, malt and sugar, is as plentiful as the air we breathe, but ah me, for the housewife just half a pound per person. Absolutely ridiculous on the face of it and I say again does not inspire confidence.

J. P. VERNY.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the interest of strict accuracy it must be stated that the "Encyclopaedia Britannica" does not bear out Mrs. Verney's statement that beer is "pound for pound malt and sugar," and does not mention the use of sugar in brewing at all.

McBride—Brackenridge

A quiet wedding took place Saturday in Brighton Anglican church when Berta Archer, daughter of Mrs. Elva Brackenridge, Peterborough, was united in marriage with Stanley Armstrong McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. McBride, Peterborough. the Rev. Mr. Hughes officiating. The church was charmingly decorated with daffodils.

The bride wore a street length redingote in powder blue shades and wore matching accessories with a corsage of red roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Jean Sargenson, of Peterborough, wore a deep blue polkadot gown with beige accessories and had a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. Delmar Jackman, of Lakefield, was best man.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the Rev. Mr. Hughes, following which the couple left for a trip to Ottawa, the bride wearing a street dress of powder blue. On their return they will live at the home of Mrs. E. Brackenridge, Edinburgh street.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold mesh compact, and to the groom a leather billfold. The couple had dinner at Firehurst Manor in Trenton and stayed the night there before proceeding on their honeymoon.

Many At C.G.E. Picnic

Over 100 people participated in the boat excursion to Stoney Lake held for members and friends of the Maintenance Department of the Canadian General Electric Company, Sunday.

The Islinda left Young's Point at 1.30 and proceeded up a scenic route to Viamede where passengers disembarked for a picnic lunch. After an hour at the landing, the Islinda returned to Young's Point. Before landing, Mr. May, foreman of the Maintenance Department, spoke in glowing terms of the excursion and its objective, that of promoting a greater feeling of friendship and goodwill among members of the department. Members of the managing committee in charge of the excursion were Messrs. Nattress, L. Simpson, and P. S. Aitchison.

Since this was such a success, it is expected that the effort will be repeated.

Popular Cobourg Girl Married at St. Andrew's

COBOURG, Aug. 11—(ENS).—In a setting of pink and white snapdragons, phlox, hydrangea and many small evergreen trees, in St. Andrew's United Church, Grafton, at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, August 8, Ruby Aleita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hoskin, of Cobourg, became the bride of Gordon Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Macklin, Cobourg. The marriage was performed by Rev. W. R. Archer of Grafton, and Mrs. D. C. Hoskin, cousin of the bride, played Lohengrin's Wedding March, and during the signing of the register, Mr. Roy Bickle, gold medallist, of Port Hope, sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white mussoline de sois embroidered with cut velvet, sweetheart neckline and train, long white embroidered silk veil caught with a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Briarcliffe roses, stephanotis, sweet peas and adiantum. Mrs. K. J. Marriott of Toronto, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a floor-length gown of sky blue mussoline de sois embossed with cut velvet with sweetheart neckline, head-dress of pink carnations, shoulder length veil of blue and carried a nosegay of gladioli petals, Johanna Hill roses, Butterfly roses and sweet peas with pink streamers. Her sister, Miss Wilma Hoskin, of Cobourg, was bridesmaid, and looked charming in a floor-length gown of baby pink triple sheer with head-dress of sky blue carnations and shoulder length veil of pink, and carried a nosegay of Verbena and Butterfly roses and sweet peas with blue streamers. Little Miss Shirley Andrus, of Peterborough, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and looked lovely in a floor-length gown of yellow organdie trimmed with tiny mauve ribbon bows with coronet of mauve and yellow with yellow rosebuds. She carried a nosegay of orchid sweet peas, Johanna Hill roses tied with yellow and mauve streamers. Mr. Harold Macklin, of Cobourg, only brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Lyle Hoskin, brother of the bride, and Winston McCullough of Cobourg.

A reception was held later at the bride's home, "Elmdale Farm," Cobourg, where her mother received over a hundred guests, wearing a gown of orchid shadow sheer, and corsage of orchid sweet peas, and Johanna Hill roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a gown of rose triple sheer and corsage of sweet peas, pink and white Butterfly roses. The reception room was decorated with pink and white streamers, white wedding bells; the bride's table was centred with a three-storey wedding cake with pink and white candles and pink and white snapdragons.

Later the happy couple left on a wedding trip to points East, the bride chose for travelling a Romance blue Alpaca suit with white accessories, and carried a beige polo coat. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Bethesda.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brown of London; Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Marriott, Miss Marion Johnston, Reg. N., Mrs. Grace Ford of Toronto; Mrs. Lewella Macklin, Miss Kathleen Macklin of Hamilton; Mrs. C. M. Andrus, Mr. Melville Andrus, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Parsons, Miss Lorna Andrus of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. S. Sowden of Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Macklin of Bowmanville; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Pretty Ceremony Marks Double Wedding

WARKWORTH, Aub. 11.—(ENS). —Gladioli decorated the home of Sgt. Kory Zufelt and Mrs. Zufelt Saturday for the marriages of their only daughter, Grace Lorraine to Lac. Robert Clayton Edgar, R.C.A.F., Trenton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Edgar, Warkworth, and their niece, Mildred Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mallory, Warkworth, to Mr. John William Bowen, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Bowen, Warkworth.

The double ceremony, which took place at two-thirty in the afternoon was performed by Rev. J. R. R. Cooper in the presence of the immediate relatives.

The brides, who were given in marriage by their fathers, looked lovely.

Miss Zufelt wore a street length dress of white eyelet embroidery crepe fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her juliette cap was of white velvet daisies and her bouquet was pink roses and white cornflower.

Miss Mallory's dress, made on similar lines, was of duty pink sheer and her juliette cap was of velvet daisies to match. Her bouquet was white roses and blue cornflowers.

Following the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served by Miss Florence Sutherland, Reg. N., Toronto, and Miss Margaret Sutherland, Belleville.

Later the happy couples left for a motor trip to Muskoka and Niagara district.

For travelling Mrs. Edgar wore a heavenly blue redingote ensemble with hat to match and white accessories and Mrs. Bowen wore a heavenly blue redingote ensemble with dusty pink hat and white accessories.

Mr. Edgar's gift to his bride was a pearl necklace, and Mr. Bowen's gift to his bride was a lovely brooch.

Lilian Brandon Marries Walter Caswell

OMEMEE, Ang. 11.—(ENS). —A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, August 8, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McBain, Omemee, of Lillian Hazel, only daughtre of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brandon, to Walter Joseph Caswell, of Tornto, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Caswell of Clark township. Rev. R. M. Patterson, pastor of Trinity United church, Omemee, officiated.

The bride wore a street length gown of beige sheer with white accesories She was attended by Mrs. McBain, who wore a street length gown of maize sheer. The groom was attended by Mr. McBain.

Following the ceremony the happy couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls. For travelling the bride wore a gown of blue sheer with white picture hat.

On their return they will reside in Toronto.

War Creates New Demands But 'Y' Workers Handle All

The Y.W.C.A. is cheerfully taking on new jobs, brought about by pressure of the war in various fields, and doing them with their usual efficiency. Wherever women go from Canada to China the Y.W.C.A. has stood and is standing for the best that there is.

One of the new undertakings that the Y.W.C.A. has under its wing is work with the Farm Service camps such as at Winona, near Hamilton. These camps are staffed and supervised by this group and they see that the 50-60 girls in each camp have the best of care. The National Council of the Y.W.C.A. draw up their own staff from the best possible applicants. They may be Y.W.C.A. workers, married women of unimpeachable character or perhaps teachers who are devoting their holidays to conducting this very worthy effort.

Another of the most appreciated efforts is that of their hostess houses for soldiers and airmen, found at all the large military camps across Canada. The carefully chosen people on this job do a wonderful work of entertaining the soldiers and looking after their interests and needs. They give dances, do mending, run an information desk, find comfortable housekeeping rooms for their families, look after getting books, take charge of sings-songs and even handle weddings. Nothing phases them. The government feels that this is a very necessary part of the war effort and so have asked the Y.W.C.A. to carry on. Each local Y.W.C.A. is a Hostess House, a fact that is perhaps not too well known. Two of the local girls, Miss Isabel Weddell and Miss Mildred Brown, are doing duty at the Camp Borden Hostess House.

More Juniors

One of the most popular features of the Y.W.C.A. work is the Inglestane yearly camp up on Stoney Lake. This year there have been more junior girls, possibly because a number of families couldn't get away and they wanted the children to have a holiday. Senior girls are lacking because so many of the older girls are working with the Farm Service Force. However there are a number of business girls taking advantage of the company, some perhaps would have taken motor trips in other years.

At the request of the government the "Y" has opened up a rooms registry service to help locate rooms for girls coming into town, particularly for those who are coming in in connection with industry. One of the objects of the plan is to find homes within reasonable scales for girls who are working. So that there will be no overcrowding the Y.W.C.A. keeps a list of 100 to 150 rooms in private homes on call. Those in charge try to place the girls in the homes where they feel they will be happiest.

Facilities Open To All

Those at the "Y" want the girls, particularly those who are strangers coming in to work to feel that they can make the Y.W.C.A. their recreational centre. The clubs, swimming and gym classes are open to them at any time and they are welcome to drop in and read, play the piano if they feel so inclined, do mending on the sewing machine, or bring their boys friends. During the winter large numbers of girls have taken advantage of this opportunity.

Those at the Y.W.C.A. would be very pleased if the new girls in town would get in touch with them and learn just what facilities were at their disposal. The C.W.A.C. girls at the Training Centre are also making use of the things that the Y.W.C.A. offers, particularly of the swimming pool which the girls use once a week.

Like every other organization, the Y.W.C.A. have risen to the call of the government for assistance in carrying out the war effort and are doing all within their means to hold their end up.

DOROTHY DIX

SELL DAUGHTER IN MARRIAGE WORST MATRIMONIAL RACKET

Mother Doesn't Want Her Girl to Wed Worthy, But Poor Boy.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman, 42, with one child, a girl of 20. My married life has never been happy, as my husband drank and was unfaithful to me. But I stood it because he supported my child and me, although he spent the most that he made on himself and other women. Now, however, he has quit work almost entirely and we are in desperate straits, in debt to all who will trust us.

My daughter is engaged to marry a young man who is very industrious and worthy, but he makes barely enough to support her and could not possibly take care of me. Don't you think that she shows a lack of affection and gratitude for me in insisting on marrying this poor boy when she might marry an older man, who is in love with her and who could provide comfortably for me too?

A MOTHER.

ANSWER—It's bad enough for a girl to marry a meal-ticket, but certainly the worst form of the matrimonial racket is that in which a mother sells her daughter in order to provide for her physical comforts and well-being.

It seems incredible that any mother could be so callous and selfish as to be willing to break her daughter's heart by making her give up the fine young man she loves and who loves her, and to wreck her life by entering into a sordid, loveless marriage just for the sake of securing her own comfort. That she should urge this sacrifice upon the girl in the name of filial duty is a blasphemy against the commandment to children to honor their parents.

We think of motherhood as the purest passion in the world, the one least tinged with thoughts of self. Although it is true that most mothers do unhesitatingly put their children's welfare before their own, there are many who regard their children as nothing but slaves they have brought into the world to serve them, and who would gladly sell their daughters to any man who would pay them the price. There is nothing more ironic in the world than that we have to have laws to protect children from their parents.

Cause Many Divorces

Statisticians tell us that the mother-in-law in her child's home is the cause of more divorces than all other causes combined. What this means in heartaches, in the bitter quarrels between husbands and wives, in the breaking up of homes and the orphaning of little children is one of the biggest items in the sum of human misery. And the pity of it is that this tragedy is so often needless.

So often a mother blights her children's lives through sheer selfishness. Even while she is young and strong and capable of making her own living, she settles herself down upon Sallie and John though she knows that she and Sallie never could agree on any subject, or upon Ben and Mary though she knows Ben's scanty salary makes one more him awake at night, or upon Lucy and Tom whose overcrowded house has no room for another inmate.

Then Mother proceeds to sit thirty or forty years on the do-nothing stool and use up her superfluous energy in criticizing Mary's housekeeping and finding fault with Ben for not getting along better, and quarreling with the grandchildren and otherwise giving first aid to the home wreckers.

Being a mother does not give any able-bodied woman a right to become a parasite. Nor does it justify her in demanding that her poor, hard-worked son-in-law should support her. It's up to mothers, as well as all other decent, self-respecting human beings, to earn their own bread and butter and not be burdens upon others as long as they can.

No doubt the reason there are so many peevish and fretful and trouble-making mothers-in-law is because they are idle, with nothing to fill their thoughts but dwelling on the faults of their in-laws, and because they know they are unwanted guests and are humiliated by being dependent. Nothing would sweeten their tempers, make them mouth to feed a problem that keeps take a cheerier view of their sons' and daughters' wives and husbands, and promote the domestic felicity of their children than for them to go out and get jobs, have their own abiding places and their own money in their pocketbooks.

I heartily recommend this procedure to my correspondent and all other mothers who think their daughters' husbands should support them, and that daughter should marry a man who can do it in style.

Why, oh Why Do They Wear 'em?

DEAR MISS DIX—Do women dress to please men or other women? It used to be said that women dressed to attract men. How come, then, that the custom of their wearing slacks and shorts seems to be growing when I, and every other man I've ever met, simply loathe the sight of them? Women are not built to wear men's clothes. They bulge in the wrong places. A pair of breeches would turn the Venus de Milo into a figure of fun, so I'm wondering whether the smart women who are not beauties, but stick to their chiffons, sort of sick the good-lookers on to wearing pants in order to even matters up. What do you think? JOHN.

ANSWER—I wish I could answer your question, but it's got me guessing. I've never been able to determine whether it was lack of vanity or superhuman vanity that made women dike themselves out in men's clothes. The only thing I'm certain of is that no woman who had a mirror, and could see herself as others see her, would ever appear in public in sloppy slacks, to say nothing of shorts that show what a bungler Nature is when it tackles the job of creating feminine legs. It's often said that women have no sense of humor. Certainly when they try to make imitation men of themselves, they prove the assertion. Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

ROYALS GET JUMP IN SOFTBALL PLAY-OFFS DEFEATING LUCKIES

Exciting Battle Decided In Last Frame

Bob Parnell's long fly to deep right centre field in the ninth inning of last night's City League playoff game enabled the veteran Pat Calladine to stroll home from third after the catch with the run that gave Royals a win over Luckies by 9 to 8. It was the second playoff battle in succession to be won in the last of the ninth and incidentally it was the first time this season Royals had been able to win a decision over Manager Fred Griffin's club.

It was an exciting battle with the lead see-sawing several times and with both outfits having the benefit of one big inning. Luckies got away to a flying start by scoring three times in the first inning. Royals overhauled them by registering single runs in the first and third and bunching five hits in the fourth for five runs to go in front 7 to 3. Luckies came back with five in the first of the sixth to take the lead again but Royals tied it up with a counter in their half and then pushed the winning marker over in the ninth.

Manager Parnell selected young Bob Crowe as his pitching choice for the important battle and the former juvenile hurler gave a good account of himself with the exception of two innings when Luckies managed to bunch hits effectively. When he lost control in the eighth Ronnie Akers came to the rescue with a neat relief chore and eventually got credit for the win. Bill Moorhead was Manager Griffin's choice. He got away nicely but in the fourth Royals staged a big inning that included three triples and a double and Bill Lewis was sent to the rescue. The left-hander put on the brakes effectively, allowing only one unearned run until the ninth. Then, however, Royals' uprising in the final half of the frame gave them the winning counter with only one out.

Bob Crowe with a homer and a triple led the winners' attack. He drove in three runs. Joe Stewart had a double and two singles for the Luckies but the most damaging blow was hit by Bill Moorhead who doubled in the first inning with the bases loaded and drove in three counters.

Both outfits fielded well with Phil Pryde roaming all over centre field to make seven nice catches for Royals.

Luckies Start Well

Luckies got away to a good start. After A. Caccavella had rolled out to Crowe, Stewart beat out a single to short. Lewis hit to Crowe who threw to second too late to get Stewart and when the throw was missed the runner went to third. Mowry was passed filling the bases and Moorhead cleared them with a hard-hit double to centre, sending in Stewart, Lewis and Mowry. Jameson was tossed out by Crowe and M. Caccavella popped to Giardino.

Royals got one back in their half when Crowe, second man up, plastered a homer to deep right. They added another in the third when Giardino walked, went to second on a wild pitch, was sacrificed to third by Crowe and scored when Smith lined a single into centre.

That made it 3 to 2 and Royals drew well in front with a big fourth innings in which they banged out five hits for as many runs and drove Moorhead to cover. Gatfield started it with a single past second. Pyrde dropped a double into left, Gatfield pulling up at third. Parnell grounded to Lewis, the runners being held. Giardino's smash hit Moorhead and was fielded by A. Caccavella in time to get the batter at first, Gatfield scoring. McNabb tripled to left, the ball bouncing over McCormick's head and Pryde ran in. Crowe tripled down the first line, the ball hitting the bag and bounding away, McNabb registering. Smith drew a walk. Hawks slashed the third triple of the inning to deep right centre, scoring Crowe and Smith. Lewis took over the pitching duties and got Calladine on a roller to short to end the big frame.

Luckies filled the bases on an error and two walks with one out in the fifth but failed to score. Lewis being forced at the plate while Courneya flied to centre to retire the side.

Another Big Frame

Down 7 to 3 the losers really got their attack rolling in the sixth. McCormick opened the frame by beating out a roller to McNabb. The throw to first was high but the runner had it beat anyway. McCormick went to second on a wild pitch and to third while Hawks was tossing out A. Caccavella. Stewart bounced a double over third scoring McCormick. Lewis singled to short. Mowry's long single to right scored Stewart and Lewis. Moorhead walked. Jameson doubled to right, scoring Mowry with the tieing run, while Moorhead went to third, M. Caccavella flied to Parnell in left for the second out, Moorhead scoring after the catch to put Luckies in front. Courneya walked but McCormick lined to Crowe for the third out.

Royals came back with a run in their half to tie the score. Giardino reached second when he rolled to Courneya who threw wide to first base. McNabb rolled to Courneya, Giardino going to third. Crowe grounded to A. Caccavella and Giardino crossed the plate on the play. Smith singled to left but Hawks flied to Courneya.

The Winning Rally

Both sides had chances but there was no more scoring until Royals came up with the winner in the last of the ninth. In the eighth Moorhead walked and went to second on a wild pitch and after Jameson had field out M. Caccavelal also walked. Crowe was relieved by Akers who retired the side on three balls, getting Courneya on a pop to Hawks and McCormick on a roller to Giardino.

Lewis set the stage for the winning run in the ninth by walking the veteran Pat Calladine. Lionel Holmes, batting for Gatfield, singled past second and Pryde bunted safely down the first base line to fill the bases. Parnell drove a long fly to deep right centre on which Stewart made a fine catch but Calladine jogged home with the winning run on the play.

Sisters 8 And 15 Enter Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 11—(AP).—Marlene Bauer, eight years old, and Alice Bauer, 15, performed a sister act in the current women's Western amateur golf tournament yesterday.

Marlene, a 70-pounder who came from Amerdeen, S.D., with her sister and father, Dave Bauer, wallops her drives up to 150 yards and shoots her approaches with finesse. She putts well, too.

The sisters entered the South Dakota State meet this year. Both qualified. Little Marelen lost her first match but Alice went on to win the title.

The eight-year-old is only four feet three inches tall, so her father, a golfing professional, specially built her clubs. Marlene has been playing since she was three, and shoots consistently in the 80's and low 90's.

Alice shot a 92 today and missed qualifying for the championship flight by three strokes.

And little Marlene, one of the last to finish, came trudging in as dusk fell over the course, her blue slacks covered with mud, to confess haltingly:—

"I—gess—I shot——a—a—a hundred and fifty-five."

4-Point Win Lengthens St. Peter's Lead

St. Peter's strengthened their hold on first place in the Catholic Softball League last night when they overpowered the Sacred Heart team to win 15 to 7, at the Armour Hill diamond. It was a four-point game and the winners are well out in front as a result.

St. Peter's broke the game wide open by scoring nine runs in the first innings, while Sacred Heart were scoreless. The latter, however, scored twice in the second frame and came back with five in the third to make it close, only to have St. Peter's score three in their end of the same frame. Sacred Heart were blanked after the third until the seventh, when they picked up one run. The Saints got three more in the fourth to wind up their scoring.

St. Peter's.—Rochetta, ss;, Rev. Father Wolff, 2b; Tompkins, 3b; Prete, cf; Conroy, lf; Herr, rf; Condon, 1b; Perdue, c; Cavanaugh, p.

Socred Heart. — Fleming, ss; Shine, c; Johnston, cf; Reynolds, p; B. Guerin, 1b; Sullivan, rf; A. Guerin, 2b; Spencer, cf; Rainey, 2b; Umpires—Phelan and Legrow.

Fleming was lead off man for the Sacred Heart nine, and he flied to Rev. Fr. Wolff. Shine followed with a walk, and Johnson was next, flying out to Prete. Reynolds hoped to bring Shine home, who was on base, but failed by fanning.

Rochetta started for the Condon pack and got on by Guerin's error. Rev. Father Wolff was next with a single into left field, and Rochetta advanced. Tompkins got on by a fielder's choice and the bases were loaded. Prete in clean-up position, then came up and slashed a single into left, driving two men home. Conroy was next with a neat double into right centre, and two more crossed the plate. Herr brought Conroy around by getting on on Rainey's error. With two on Condon slammed out a good double into left field and brought them in, while Perdue flied to Spencer and Cavanaugh made it on an error. Rochetta grounded out, and Fr. Wolff singled, bringing in Condon and Cavanagh. Honey Tompkins pounded out a triple for his turn at the willow swinging, and brought in Fr. Wolff. Prete grounded out to Guerin at first, leaving the runner stranded at third.

In the second inning Bud Guerin flied out to Prete and Sullivan came through with a single. A. Guerin was next with a double, while Spencer was tossed out at first by Rochetta. Next Rainey singled into right field, brought along the two runners for a chalk up, and Fleming grounded out to Rochetta. St. Peter's half was short. Conroy flied to Guerin at first; Herr took the same route to Spencer in left and Condon depulicated Herr.

Shine began the doings in the third by grounding out to Dr. Wolff and Johnson singled. Reynolds was walked with Bud Guerin getting on safe by a muffle. Next Sullivan singled, bringing in two, while A. Guerin ground to Tompkins. Rochetta muffled Spencer's grounder and Sullivan came in. Rainey then singled, followed by Fleming, who grounded out. Shine got on on a fielder's choice, while Spencer crossed home plate. Johnson retired the side by popping up to Condon.

Perdue opened up matters in this frame for the victors by a pop fly to Rainey, and Cavanaugh was after him and made it on an error by Rainey. Rochetta singled, Fr. Wolff flied to Bud Guerin, and Tompkins came along with his second triple to force in the two on bases. Prete singled, bringing in Tompkins, while Conroy bogged down.

To start the fourth frame off, Reynolds fanned; B. Guerin grounded to Tompkins, and Sullivan duplicated. In their half the winners had Herr start proceedings with a strikeout. Condon got on by Rainey's error and so did Perdue and Cavanaugh; the first two getting home. Rochetta got on safe by the first sacker's error and Cavanaugh slipped in.

The fifth was short for the losers. A. Guerin grounded to Rochetta. Spencer grounded to Tompkins and Rainey did likewise to Father Wolff. In their lower half the winners didn't do much more. Prete was thrown out at first by A. Guerin, when he picked up a hot one; Conroy singled and so did Herr. Condon grounded out while Conroy was caught off second.

In the sixth Fleming began by flying to Rochetta, and Shine flied to Father Wolff. Johnson, on a passed ball was thrown out at first. Perdue in his team's half of the same frame, doubled into centre field. Cavanaugh popped up to A. Guerin and Perdue was caught off second. Rochetta flied to the pitcher.

Reynolds began the seventh by a single. Bud Guerin flied to Tompkins, and Sullivan singled. A. Guerin duplicated, bringing in Reynolds. Spencer struck out and Rainey popped to Tompkins, terminating the fray.

Two highlight were Tompkins' over-shoulder catch of a fly over third, in short left field which was a honey, and Rochetta's stop of a hot grounder by reaching way out on the ground and tossing the runner out at first while on one knee.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Tonight's clash between Generals and Westclox, the first tilt in the senior section of the Girls' Softball League playoffs, should prove about the most exciting seen in the loop this season. Westclox, after a slow start, surprised all and sundry by a winning streak that ran to seven straight game before it was checked by Generals last Friday night. The contest was a real argument however for the league leaders won by only 7 to 5 and with a couple of innings to go the two clubs were on even footing. In the playoffs anything is likely to happen and while the C.G.E. squad have won two out of three games from the Big Bens in the regular schedule that does not mean a thing so far, as tonight's argument is concerned. Westclox will be at full strength for the acid test while Generals will likely be without the services of Eleanor Craig who has her broken right thumb in a splint and will probably not see any action this week. Nothing has been given out from the Generals camp as to which of the club's three pitchers will draw the assignment tonight. Westclox are expected to start Marg Watson who has been tossing steady ball all season for the Big Bens. Tonight's game will start sharp at 7 o'clock and the umpires and players are asked to note that that does not mean 7.15. The game will be played at the Bowl and should be a wow.

* * * * * *

There will be another Girls' League playoff battle at the Ashburnham Bowl Wednesday night when Electrics and Brintons who finished in the second division of the loop will start a best four-of-seven game series for the junior championship and the Knox Cup. The two teams are very evenly matched on their season's record and they should have a lot of tidy arguments before the possession of the silverware for this season is finally decided. Both clubs have improved a lot during the season and they will go all out to beat each other in the final series. Leila Hughes who has pitched all the games for Brintons this season will be on the firing line for the Carpetmakers tomorrow night while Mary Larmer will do the tossing for Manager Bob Batley's team. The opening game of the series for the Knox Cup should produce good ball for both clubs will be trying hard to grab off the opener and get the edge in the series.

Will Pack 'Em In

The biggest crowd of the year will be at Riverside Park tomorrow Wednesday evening when Plazas and Soldiers meet in the second game of their City League semi-final playoff series. The fans are still talking about the great battle the two clubs had in the first game of the round last Friday night when the Plazas staged a garrison finish in the ninth and took the decision 5 to 4 with a four-run rally, featured by Don Crowe's long homer. Tomorrow night it is do or die for the Soldiers. If they lose they are through for the season and the Plazas will move on into the league finals. On the other hand a victory for the Military team will tie up the series and make a third game necessary. Facing elimination the Soldiers can be depended upon to put up a memorable battle. No pitching selections have been announced but it looks as if the same pair of right-handers who battled it out the other night will again face each other. Powell who did so well until the ninth against Plazas will likely be sent back at them while Tom Parsons looks like the probable Plaza starter, as Dave Wilson is one of the big guns of the Wallace Canoe Club regatta committee and may be tied up there. The hockey squad will be without the services of Left-fielder Julian Wade who scored the winning run for them in the first game. He has left for Kingston to begin training in the Navy. Wednesday's game will start at 7 o'clock sharp.

The jinx that Luckies have had over the Royals all season failed to follow into the playoffs with them and the second-placers managed to pull off a 9 to 8 ninth inning win over Manager Griffin's team in the first game of the semi-final round between the two rivals at Riverside Park last night. It was the second playoff game in succession to be settled in the last half of the final frame and it was an exciting battle with both outfits taking turns at leading, with both starting pitchers driven out of the game and with folks on the bases in almost every frame. Luckies had beaten the Royals three times in a row in the regular scheduled games and when they opened up last night's tilt by scoring three runs in the first inning it looked as if the hex were still on. However Royals fought back from behind twice and finally had the satisfaction of driving in the winner in the ninth and scoring their first triumph of the season over the third-placers. The series is by no means over. It was anybody's battle last night and the second game scheduled for Friday night will be crammed full of excitement.

Pulling For Al Marshall

Most Peterborough folk will be pulling for Al Marshall to come through with his third victory in succession in the men's swim at Wallace Point tomorrow evening. The youngster by grabbing off Dominion, Quebec and Ontario breast-stroke titles has given Peterborough plenty of publicity and now that he is about to start training with the Royal Canadian Air Force and swimming may have to be abandoned for a while his home town friends are anxious to see him finish up with another victory in the big Wallace Point event which he won last year and also in 1940. If Marshall comes through tomorrow the Gordon K. Fraser trophy will become his permanent property. The men's swim is only one of the big events that will feature the Wallace Point regatta. A most entertaining card of paddling, rowing and novelty events will start at 2.30 o'clock and the swim program which in addition to the men's contest, includes also a half-mile event for women for the J. J. Duffus Trophy and junior events for boy and girl swimmers will start at 6 o'clock. It will be a big afternoon and evening's sport at Wallace Point tomorrow.

Dick Fowler's victory over the New York Yanks yesterday was the biggest bit of news from the big top, so far as Canadians are concerned. Young Fowler, a graduate in a neat duel and the Philadelphia Athletics took the argument 4 to 1, although Roger Wolff was called in to finish the game. Fowler did not allow the Yanks a hit in the first six innings. Fowler was not the only Canadian-born pitcher to win a game in the majors yesterday. Aldon Wilkie the Saskatchewan boy with the Pittsburg Pirates got credit for a win over the St. Louis Cards yesterday. The Pirates won 6 to 4, driving Mort Cooper out of the ball game. The loss cost the Cards some ground as Brooklyn smothered the Phils 6 to 0 and their lead jumped to nine games. Boston Red Sox dropped two games to the Washington Senators and retained second place by one percentage point because Cleveland dropped their single game to the Chicago White Sox who have won nine games in a row.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Manager Fred Griffin of Luckies shifted his lineup around considerably for last night's game, moving Luke Jameson in from first base to do the catching, starting Bill Lewis at first and using Holly Mowry in the outfield....There must be something in a name. The only two homers so far in the playoff series have been hit by a Crowe, Don for the Plazas and Bob for the Royals....Only in one inning last night was the side retired in order....There was usually some one on the sacks.... Juveniles O.A.S.A. team will practice tonight at Riverside Park and a full turnout is expected....The protest entered by Knights of Columbus in regard to their loss to the Cubs last week was thrown out by the Catholic League protest committee last night....Ted Williams is again leading the batters of both leagues with a .341 average, one percentage point above Pete Reiser of the Dodgers....Maurius Russo of the New York Yanks is out for the rest of the season with an injured arm....With two one-run, ninth-inning victories in the City League playoffs already, the prediction that there would be plenty of exciting ball before the title was decided is well on its way to fulfillment....Newark Bears and Jersey City Giants had a real battle last night that went 10 innings that ended when Derry slammed out a homer to give Newark a 3 to 2 decision.

Gallons Sustain First Defeat In Seven Years

The dull weekend had no bad effect on the golfers at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Fraser Dunfield and Mrs. H. R. Scott had a tough job beating Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gallon in the Riley Cup—the Gallons' suffering their first defeat in seven years, a nice record.

Grudge battles are right in style at the club. Owen Cowley, the canteen stewart, has a little more respect now for the golfing ability of Bruce Meredith, the assistant pro. Owen challenged Bruce to nine holes of golf in the rain on Saturday. Bruce was one to many for him which will cost Owen a new Dunlop sixty-five. Not to be outdone though, you will find Owen handling an eight iron in almost all of his spare moments.

Lionel Browne and his long-hitting, par-busting side kick, Art Berube are extending challenges far and wide. They claim to be capable of handling any twosome of golfers in the category of Stan Whiddon and Charlie Low with a few spare sheckels to prove it.

Hap Wilgar nosed out Bud Weese in their match for the President's Cup. Bud still thinks the fates were against him and is willing to prove it any time Hap can get away from his priority reports.

Tom McArthur held Fraser Dunfield to a tie in the President's Cup. They both did a grand job of golfing and it's a toss up who will be the lucky man in the tie breaker.

The ball sweepsters were at it again. This time Charlie Low was the low net winner with an even par 35. Jack Watts put forth his best effort in a club championship match to win a ball with a net 35½. Lionel Browne, playing his best golf of the year with a net of 36 was the third winner and Joe Watson fourth with a net 37.

Stan Whiddon was the low gross winner in the ball sweeps on Sunday. Even though he couldn't handle a six-foot putt his gross was 78. Ken Currie after the lesson Jack Wats handed him on Wednesday got mad enough to come home with a 4 unde par 67. The handicap committee still have room to cut a few strokes from Al Hecman's handicap. The man is still cutting par by three strokes 69. Norm Finnie, Vern Selkirk and Charlie Low were the other ball winners with 72, 72, 73.

Combines Beat Indians' Ambush 12-11

TORONTO, Aug. 11—The Etobicokes, only paleface Indians in or out of a reservation, laid in ambush for Chuck Davidson and his Mimico-Brampton troops last night at Sunnyside. But the Combines proved themselves good Injun fighters and, although in serious danger several times, subdued the Islington Redskins 12-11. How close the verdict was is indicated by the fact that Mickey McDonald fired the shot that beat the Indians with only twenty seconds left. The success increased the Combines' hold on first place in the O.L.A. senior series.

The Indians had a big advantage in the second-quarter skirmishing when they outshot the hyphenates 6-2 to wipe out a 3-1 deficit of the opening session, but were outscored 3-2 and 4-2 in the last two quarters.

Most useful for the winners were Ken Dixon, McDonald, George Masters and Pete Anthony. Standing up manfully in the losing cause were Duke Henson, Emmet Creighton, Rhys Thompson and Ed. Haney.

Bucko McDonald, girth matching expansive grin, handled the game along with Piper Bain. The latter was caught in the manner of wrestling referees when he attempted to separate two combatants in the contest's only fighting which broke out near the end of the first quarter.

Two incidents amused the noble 600 in attendance. During the third quarter the south side temporary fence fell down depositing a dozen fans ungracefully on the Sunnyside sward. In the final frame Joe Murphy and Bill Anthony checked each other heavily in the northeast corner. Anthony went almost over the barricade and the Etobicoke player was ungentlemanly enough to help him entirely outside the field. For this unseemly blow to a man's dignity Jesting Joseph was sentenced two minutes.

Mimico-Brampton: Goal, Pete Anthony; defense, Mush Thompson and Milne; centre, W. Mullis; rover, Arthurs; wings, Bill Anthony and McDonald; alternates, Masters, Hayes, Gimblett, O'Connell, McPhail, Moe Thompson, Dixon.

Etobicoke: Goal, Red Creighton; defense, N. Gair and Rhys Thompson; centre, E. Creighton; rover, Harrison; wings, Gilkenson and Luther Vipond; alternates, J. Gair, Gillespie, Campbell, Henson, Haney, Hartley, Murphy, J. Creighton.

Officials — Bucko McDonald and Piper Bain.

Newark Homer In 19th Clips Jerseys 3-2

By The Associated Press.

Shed a tear for Hughie East. The Jersey City pitcher allowed only two runs in 18 innings yesterday, but was touched for a homer by Russ Derry in he 19th that decided the International League's longest game of the year in favor of Newark, 3-2.

It was the longest contest in the league since Montreal defeated Buffalo, also in 19 innings, in 1933 and came within one frame of the record. That was set back in 1913 when Jersey City and Toronto battled through 20 scoreless innings.

Once before, on July 5, 1908, the same two teams collided in a 19-inning fray but that time it went into the record books as a scoreless tie.

Newark got its first two tallies in the sixth when Bud Metheny dumped one over the right field fence with one on. Jersey City squared accounts in the seventh on consecutive singles by Johnny Rucker, Gibby Brack and Sid Gordon.

After that the clubs fought on even terms until Derry's blow. George Washburn started on the mound for the winners but gave way to Milkman Jim Turner, late of Cincinnati, in the 13th.

The weather man permitted only one other game, Syracuse Chiefs defeating Baltimore, 1-0, for their fourth straight shutout. It was also the third consecutive game the Chiefs have won by a 1-0 score. Clayon Lambert was the winner this time, with the deciding tally coming in the third as Chico Rodriguez singled Chris Hartje home. Hartje had singled and went to second on Lambert's sacrifice.

Syracuse hurlers now have held their opponents scoreless for 40 consecutive innings. The victory lifted the club from a tie for sixth into undisputed fifth place, only a full game out of third in the tight race for playoff berths.

Managers To Pay $200 Fine For Each Duster

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—(AP). — National League pitchers who feel the urge to throw bean balls in the future may do so—if their managers are willing to put out $200.

Seeking to curb a "dusting" practice which threatened to reach epidemic proportions, League President Ford C. Frick Monday notified each manager that he will be held fully accountable for such incidents, and would be subject to automatic fines of $200 where his pitchers were involved.

The edict came as an aftermath of the Brooklyn Dodger-Boston Brave game at Boston last Saturday in which Whit Wyatt of the Dodgers and Manuel Salvo of Boston engaged in a dusting duel. Wyatt was fined $75 for his part in the affair, and Salvo $50. Wyatt's performance included throwing a bat in Salvo's direction after he had been forced to the dirt by a pitch.

Frick also said that, in addition to the fines tacked on managers in cases involving their pitchers, the pitchers would be fined, with the amount determined through the umpires' report.

Rumblings of bean ball trouble have been heard periodically this season in the National League, with most instances involving the Dodgers. However, no direct action had been taken before.

In the last Dodger series in Chicago, the Dodgers charged that the Cub hurler, Hiram Bithorn, was using the bean ball. Bithorn was fined $25, but the fine was for throwing the ball at the heckling Leo Durocher, Dodger manager. The Cubs charged Kirby Higbe, Dodger pitcher, with duster tactics in the same game.

The Brooklyn club also was involved in stormy games with the Cardinals and Giants in which bean ball charges flew indiscriminately.

Frick emphasized that he was not going into any long investigations as to which pitcher started a bean ball duel, or the background of any feud.

"It has got to be stopped before somebody gets injured, and if this (the $200 fine) doesn't do it, I'll think of something else," he declared.

'Rebel' Harbert Golf Favorite With Galleries

TORONTO, August 11. — Chick Harbert, the young Battle Creek Golf professional, did much more than win the St. Paul Open last Monday when he defeated Dutch Harrison in the play-off. He also scored another notable triumph for the nonconformists in sports.

Ever since he took up the game seriously, Chuck has been a nonconformist. As a beginner, he used what almost amounted to a cross-handed grip and stuck to it against all advice. Then as he started up the ladder as an amateur, his refusal to walk in the parade had him in constant trouble with the United States Golf Association.

Young Chick had his own ideas about things and no one could change him. Finally, the breach became so wide between himself and the U.S.GA that he turned pro It is no secret that the U.S.G.A. officials sighed with relief at the passing of the outspoken young fellow from their ranks

They Had To Like Him.

It is no secret, either that Chick wasn't exactly welcomed into the ranks of the professional golfers when he started on the southern tour last winter. And the resentment grew when he defeated Ben Hogan in the Texas Open playoffs.

The actions served their purpose, however, and it wasn't long until Chick took the play away from the ranking pros. As one of the P.G.A. officials admitted later, "Every town we went into and tried to capitalize on Hogan, the sports writers and galleries asked, "Where is the kind who beat him?" You can imagine that didn't set well with the pros.

Chick also started to commit the unpardonable sin of talking to the gallery as he played. This brought more resentment—but the galleries increased

For a time his victory over Hogan was considered just a lucky break. But when he held Ben even in their thirty-six hole match in the recent Ryder Cup series at Oakland Hills, the pros and the officials began to take notice. He stole the galleries away from more conventional stars.

What's more, he had a lot of fun with the galleries talking with them during the heat of the battle. One particular instance came on the eighth hole of the Ryder match where his second shot was off the green. Walking up to look at his lie, he glanced at the galleries, and noticed Mrs. Jeffries, wife of the Mayor. Chick remembered that Jeffries had registered a hole-in-one that morning.

The Crowds Love It

"Understand your husband is quite a sharpshooter," Chick said to Mrs. Jeffries. "I sure wish he was here to make this shot for me."

"Oh, you can make that one," he answered.

Chick smiled, then calmly sank his pitch for an eagle 3.

A few holes later, he got off a poor shot, then turned to the gallery and remarked, "I sure won't win this match with shots like that one." The galleries ate it up. It was something new in golf—but they liked it, even though the pros grew a bit bitter.

After Chick fired his 66 in the St. Paul play-off to win by nine strokes, the P.G.A. officials praised him lavishly. And Harbert must have got more kick out of that than the $1,000 cheque he picked up for winning.

Chick is not the first athlete—and he won't be the last—who was resented for his swaggering tactics as he came up the ladder. No ball player was more universally hated than Ty Cobb when he first started racing the base paths for the Detroit Tigers.

Ty believed he could accomplish anything he tried. And because of that he gained rank as the greatest ball player of all time.

The greatest nonconformist in the fight game was Gene Tunney. Before his first fight with Jack Dempsey he openly boasted that he would conquer the champion and take the title. This brought resentment from the public, but Gene didn't care. He did just as he promised. He beat Dempsey twice and became something of an idol.

They Got Away With It

Football has had its share of nonconformists through the years. The most notable examples were Harry Stuhldreher, quarterback of the famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, and Benny Friedman, Michigan quarterback in the middle twenties.

No more arrogant player ever strode on the gridiron than Stuhldreher. The players didn't like him, but his coach, the late Knute Rockne, was taken up by his confident swagger and kept him on the job. And under Harry's field generalship the team became the most famous in Notre Dame history.

Friendman didn't believe in the conventional, either. It often has been said that Fielding H. Yost, the Michigan coach, would go into tantrums on the bench as he watched Friendman do the unorthodox and then smile at his coach. But Michigan has had few quarterbacks to equal Friendman.

Now comes Harbert, a true nonconformist, to score another victory for the group and give golf some of the color it has been lacking. And it won't be long until all golf is singing his praises, just as the rivals did for Cobb, Tunney, Stuhldreher and the rest.

Tribe Clips Out 11 Hits—Lose 3-1 To Chicago

By AUSTIN HEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

There doesn't seem to be much Boston Red Sox or anybody else can do to catch New York Yankees, but the Red Sox get another chance to-day to slow them down and renew a few personal duels at the same time.

As the Red Sox moved into Yankee stadium for a three-game set, they clung to second place in the American League by a lone percentage point but trailed the defending champions by 13 games—just one shy of the margin the Yanks held at this stage in their runaway campaign of 1941.

Although the Yankees divided a double-header with Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, they tacked a full game on to their lead with the help of Washington Senators who swept a twi-night twin bill from the Red Sox, and Chicago White Sox, who whipped Cleveland again last night.

It was the ninth straight victory for the White Sox and it enabled them to step into fifth place ahead of the Detroit Tigers.

One duel the customers will be looking for in the Yankee-Red Sox series is that between Ted Williams and Joe Gordon of New York for the batting crown which the Red Socker now wears. They are one-two among the hitters of the league, with Gordon only seven percentage points behind.

Down Sox 9-3

The Senators ponuded Oscar Judd and Mace Brown for 11 hits in taking the first game from the Red Sox, 9-3, last night, but the night second game was a pitching duel in which Walt Masterson of the Senators triumphed over Joe Dobson, although the Nats were out-hit, 5-4. A single by Stan Spence and a double by Bruce Campbell decided the issue in the first frame.

At Chicago, the fast-travelling White Sox collected only five hits off Chubby Dean, while the Tribe clipped Joe Humphries for 11, but the Sox won, 3-1. Dean walked in the run that put Chicago ahead to stay.

The Athletics tripped the Yankees and Red Ruffing, 4-1, in the opener of their double bill, but Ernie Bonham pitched the champs to a 3-2 decision in the nightcap.

In the National League, Brooklyn Dodgers blanked Philadelphia 6-0, in a two-night affair and increased their lead to nine games over St. Louis Cardinals, who went down before Pittsburg Pirates, 6-4, in the only other contest of the day.

Kirby Higbe handcuffed the Phils on four hits.

The Pirates, who drove Mort Cooper off the mound in a 16-inning tie game last Saturday, routed him again yesterday in the fifth inning of the playoff of that deadlock.

Quebec To Probe Attack On Frank Mann

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP). — The Province of Quebec Racing Association announced last night it has requested an inquiry into an alleged attack upon Frankie Mann, Toronto jockey who is among the leading riders on the Quebec circuit this season.

Mann was arrested by Aylmer, Que., police Sunday morning on a vagrancy charge. He pleaded not guilty in Aylmer court last night and was remanded a week.

Mann, who was found sleeping on Aylmer Street Sunday morning with his lip cut, told police he and several other riders were attending a weiner roast at nearby Lake Deschenes when he was attacked from behind and forced to enter an automobile.

Tommy Gorman, president of the Racing Association, said the alleged attack has been reported to Marcel Gaboury, chief of the Quebec Provincial Police. Mann has engaged Crown Prosecutor Francois Caron, Hull, Que., to defend him against the vagrancy charge.

Mann was barred from Ontario tracks several years ago and has confined his riding to the Quebec circuit since that time.

Sport Shots From Britain

By ALAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Sharp pitching kept a Canadian squadron's softball team in submission while the bats of a Canadian night-fighter squadron nine hammered out an 11-5 victory in the first of what is expected to be a series of inter-station challenge affairs.

Wing Cmdr. Paul Davoud of Kingston, Ont., held down second base for his winning airmen, while the losing squadron's commander, Wing Cmdr. D. A. R. Bradshaw of London, Ont., hopped about as base umpire.

For the winners, LAC Jack Diamond of Regina and Sgt. Jim Matches of Park Head, Ont., hurled masterfully and never were in trouble after their mates collected a six-run lead in the opening frame. Matches started the first-inning splurge with a homer.

Racehorses, sold by auction at Stockton, brought "horse meat" prices. Total price paid for eight thoroughbreds was $465. It's a big comedown for the sport of kings but with horse meat at its present controlled price of from 15 to 23 cents a pound, the animals could be profitably slaughtered.

Perhaps these men of the Gospel previously played at famed Lord's but, according to an Australian airman on leave, New Guinea natives, taught cricket by the missionaries, "could give any of the Services' team a hundred start and beat them." The airman said their "bowling and fielding is a revelation" and that they play on camouflaged fields constructed by troops.

And speaking of cricket, an Australian expert's forecast that cricketers there soon would be forced to appear in shorts, instead of the traditional flanels, because of clothing coupon restrictions, brought this reply from Lord's:

"There could be no possible objection to the appearance of a player in shorts, even at Lord's, if it was induced by government restrictions."

A statement by a distinguished surgeon, Brig. C. M. Page, in the British Medical Joural, which said that "knee-joint troubles cause a good deal of short and long-term disability in the Army," and that "this source of wastage will continue so long as troops play football," brought this reply in a London newspaper's sports column:

"Admittedly football in inseparable from knee injuries, but army sports chiefs who are in a position to know told me the proportion is absolutely negligible. Mostly they occur in inter-unit matches...

"Soldiers..must have some amenities. They play football, they box, with a certain amount of disability risk. But the 'wastage' is more than compensated for by the benefits in health and mental fitness."

(28) ARTILLERY PERSONNEL CARRIER
This vehicle is a Heavy Artillery Personnel Carrier, as any good gunner could tell you. It's a four-wheel-drive vehicle used for the carrying of the men of a battery. It's seating capacity handles eight artillerymen.
The carrier is designed to replace the sedan and station wagon in fighting formations. This is a more durable vehicle, better suited to the rough going of the battle field.
The lad you see looking out is standing up in the front seat and looking out through a hatch which has a sliding roof. This is used chiefly for aerial observation. A battery in column-of-route will have occasion, in these days of heavy air-bombing, to be on the watch for death from the skies.

Labor Scarcity Sends Fruit Up

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP).—Shortage of farm labor is responsible for the increased prices being charged for fruit and vegetables, Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials said Monday.

Except for potatoes and onions, the price ceiling does not apply to fruits and vegetables which, it is estimated, are up about 20 per cent. above last year's prices. A greater increase is reported in prices of imported fruits and vegetables.

With most of the produce past the seasonal price peaks no extension of the price ceiling to other commodities is anticipated, though board officials are silent on this point.

Campaigns to provide emergency assistance to farmers through the employment of students and other part-time help has failed to meet requirements and in some centres farmers have engaged in competitive bidding for the services of available labor, sending wage rates far above last year's level, board spokesmen said.

This increased cost of harvesting has been passed on to consumers through higher prices.

air support given the invasion thrust directed by Vice-Admiral Robert Ghormley, commander of Allied naval forces in the South Pacific area.

Today's communique told of a third destructive assault in as many days upon Rabaul, main Japanese flank base in New Britain, and attacks on Japanese shipping south of Timor, more than 2,000 miles to the west, in which a heavy destroyer and two merchant ships were knocked out.

Japs Retreat at Kokoda

In the Kokoda sector of New Guinea, the announcement said, Allied forces strongly engaged the enemy yesterday and forced him to withdraw from prepared positions.

This was a variation from previous announcements of patrol activity in this theatre on the Papuan peninsula 60 miles east of the Allied base at Port Moresby.

An Australian government spokesman announced, meanwhile, that shipments of supplies of "highest possible value" that would "revolutionize offensive operations in the north" were landed recently in Australia.

"Supplies constantly are coming in," said the spokesman, who gave much credit to the negotiations recently conducted in Washington by H. V. Evatt, Australian attorney general and minister of external affairs.

"In three or four months Australia already has had results of Evatt's visit in the arrival of all kinds, such as army equipment, war materials and tanks," the spokesman said.

Nearly 40 P.C. Volunteer

Though men called up compulsorily are not required to serve outside Canada, officials report that between 35 and 40 per cent of those who enter the army on call volunteer for service anywhere in the world.

Administration of the compulsory system is under the direction of Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, associate deputy minister of National War Services, who says the system has worked smoothly and the men have been obtained without disturbances or clashes.

One of the problems of call-up officials is to keep pace with the men who enlist voluntarily before they are required to report for service. They have to call a larger number of men than they otherwise would, in the first instance, to allow for those who have enlisted of their own accord since registration and who fail to report their enlistment to registration officials.

They also have to estimate and allow for the number who will enlist voluntarily as soon as they receive their call-up notice and before the time set for them to report.

Officials estimate that since compulsory service started some 50,000 men called up have enlisted voluntarily before responding in response to their call but after receiving notice.

By so doing they have the satisfaction of saying they entered the service as volunteers and they also have somewhat more choice over the branch of the service in which they will serve.

The demand for Canadian ham and bacon comes not only from the United Kingdom. The United States has asked Canada to supply Alaska with bacon, in a move to conserve shipping space, while Newfoundland has also put in a bid for more of the Canadian product.

Another increase in British demand comes in a request that Canada supply British warships when they dock at Canadian ports.

All this foreign demand has cut to half the amount available for Canada's home consumption with packers permitted to turn into the domestic market only 35,000 hogs a week.

LAKEFIELD

Excellent Talk Lakefield W.I.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 11.—(ENS).—Miss Laura Quinn entertained the Women's Institute Thursday afternoon at her home beside the Otonabee.

The opening exercises, repeating the opening Ode and the Lord's Prayer were followed by the treasurer's report. A letter was read from the Navy League of Canada in which they expressed their appreciation to the workers, who under the excellent guidance and leadership of Mrs. A. Davis had raised the sum of $43.67 on their tag day for the Navy League on July 25.

It was decided to fill six ditty bags for the navy and the conveners were appointed as follows: Mrs. Howard Bullock, Mrs. A. Windsor, Mrs. Stanley Higgins and Mrs. Roy Bullock. These conveners will appreciate any donotions from friends interested in this work. The bags are to be filled by the October meeting. Mrs. A. Kingan was appointed to look after the knitted garments for the bags.

The members are making an auto rug, each contributing some old woollens for it. When it is completed tickets will be sold on it to swell the funds for the war project.

Two dollars was voted to help the junior girls' project.

The Institute's display of work for the navy is being shown at the Lakefield Fair.

The fifteen members present each answered the roll call by a donation to the ditty bags.

An Interesting Talk.

Mrs. J. Murphy and Mrs. A. Darling prepared the program for the afternoon Mrs. Murphy gave a very interesting addess, choosing as her topic, 'Citizenship.' Her talk opened with the following recipe for better citizens: Take two pounds of love, ½ pound good looks, ½ pound sweet temper, ½ pound buttered youth, 2 pounds of self-forgetfulness, ½ ounce dry humor, 2 tablespoons of sweet argument, 1 pint of common sense. Put the flower of love, good looks and sweet temper into a well furnished home; mix the butter of youth together with blindness to faults and self-forgetfulness, throw in dry humor and sweet arguments, then add to the above. Pour in rippling laughter and common sense, work together 'til well mixed and bake gently forever.

We have quite a number of our local girls doing their bit in serving their country by working on the fruit farms, said Mrs. Murphy. By doing this our girls will make better citizens and learn to take their part in community life. Since our war industry has gotten under way it is taking so many mothers from their homes to work in factories and offices that it is not a good policy in cases where the home and family have to be neglected. We must put important things first and what is more important than the home? Neglect of the home will take generations to outgrow. We need women and girls for our industry but there are still many thousands of others who can be absorbed in needed war work before requiring the services of mothers. There are still many ways in these times to help without neglecting our homes; by preparing nourishing meals, taking care of kitchen utensils, and carefully mending all clothing. We would also make better citizens if we were more appreciative of services rendered to us and our community and showed kindness to those less fortunate than we are.

Man has one power in particular which is not sufficiently dwelt on. It is the power of making the world happy, or at least of so greatly diminishing the amount of unhappiness in it as to make quite a different world from what it is at present. The power is called kindness.

We must do more thinking these days just as the genius of men who plan the work of a hundred thousand people that together they can produce a complete four-motored bomber in an hour. We should not think only of our own white race of people but we must show kindness to people of every race. As Carlyle said: "Our grand business is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies closely at hand."

Mr. Darling then conducted a very interesting contest on birds.

A vote of thanks was tendered Miss Quinn for her hospitality and the ladies adjourned to the spacious verandah, where a pot luck lunch was served with cold water as the beverage.

er valley were smoky, charred patches as the fearful struggle swayed back and forth, Russian dispatches said. There were still no authentic reports as to the fate of the rich Maikop oil fields 60 miles to the southeast of Krasnodar, but dispatches spoke of violent explosions and great smoke clouds in the battle-area there.

In its first mention of fighting in the Maikop region, the Soviet communique said the Germans had launched several attacks there and "succeeded in gaining some ground." Five hundred Germans were killed in the fighting. The Maikop fields produce seven per cent of Russia's oil.

Far to the north of the flaming Caucasus battlefields, the Red Army fought grimly and with more success to keep the Germans from Stalingrad and the Volga. Near Kletskaya, 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad, 2,800 Germans were reported killed in one sector. Southwest of the city, near Kotelnikovski, the fighting was described as "very tense." One Red Army unit was reported to have killed more than 900 Germans.

This picture backs up the statements of officers returning from the desert who have said that the Nazi 88-mm. anti-aircraft gun could be dealt with.

Tokyo Attempts Blackmail With Moscow

By JOSEPH DYNAN,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, August 11.—(AP). — Although our contacts were restricted after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor December 7 we were able to learn that current relations between Russia and Japan may be a tremendous factor in the course of the war.

Japanese close to the foreign office indicated to us that negotiations were going on, although as told to us the discussions seemed more in the nature of blackmail.

These sources let it be understood that either last April or May the Japanese informed the Russians it would be "wise" to safeguard the Japanese-Russian neutrality pact of 1941 by giving Japan control of the Kamchatka Peninsula, the Northern half of Sakhalin Island with its oil and coal deposits and the Maritime Province which leads down to Valdivostok.

These things may have been told to us to weaken our morale by making us think our Russian allay in behind-the-scenes deals was about to barter away bases from which the Japanese fear they may be raided some day.

At any rate, the Japanese were represented as blandly asserting that such Russian cooperation with Japan would preserve peace in the Northern Pacific and thwart alleged plans of the United States and Britain to attack from Russian territory.

The Russians also were said to have been assured this would protect her from being dragged into a Far Eastern War.

Our informants said that after proposals and counter proposals the Russian virtually agreed to gife away Kamchatka and the Northern half of Hakhalin, but flatly refused to give up Vladivostok and insisted that the territories ceded should not change hands until after the war.

When we left Japan late in June the best available information was that the negotiations were in deadlock.

Although the Japanese press printed practically nothing about Japanese-Russian relations, Americans imprisoned at Sugamo prison were told by guards that they were being called for active military duty in Manchukuo in the late summer.

Ban Mattresses To Save Springs

WASHINGTON, Aug.10.— Complete revision of order L-49, covering beds, springs and mattresses, to further curtail use of iron and steel in their construction was announced by W.P.B.

Production of mattresses was banned as of Sept. 1 and of studio couches, sofa beds, and lounges as of Nov. 1, if they contain iron or steel. During August manufacturers of mattresses, pads and pillows may use only up to 100 per cent. of their average monthly consumption of iron and steel during the year ended June 30, 1941, provided it was already processed and fabricated.

Acquisition and use of buttons, ventilators, handles and eyelets are not affected by this portion of the order, but acquisition of iron and steel for use in these products is prohibited after Aug. 1 and use of iron and steel in the manufacture is banned after Sept. 1.

During August and September manufacturers of springs are limited to 25 per cent. of the average monthly consumption of wire used in the production of these products in the year ended June 30, 1942, and beginning Oct. 1 quotas are established on a quarterly basis. For the coil, flat and fabric springs, manufacturers are limited to 6.25 per cent. of the wire used during the base year. For box springs, the quota is 12.5 per cent.

Acquisition of iron and steel to be used in studio couches, sofa beds and lounges is banned as of Aug. 1. Fabrication of any parts, other than joining hardware is prohibited after September. Manufacture of any of the products with iron or steel, other than hardware, after Nov. 1 is completely prohibited.

SPITFIRE FUND GROWING.

Inspector James F. Reid, Dominion treasurer, reports that the Canadian police second Spitfire Fund lacks only $200 of the $20,000 mark. The fund is being raised to supply a machine to take the place of the first police Spitfire shot down by the Germans some time ago.

DOMESTIC TROUBLES

Two young men, both charged with assaulting their wives were arraigned in police court this morning. W. B. Gordon appeared for one of the accused while the other was undefended. In both cases there was a remand until tomorrow with bail fixed at $300.

CADETS INSPECT PLANES

With local interest in the Air Cadet training movement stimulated by the visit of Sir Ellsworth Flavelle and his address to the Peterborough Rotary Club, news of the progress of the Belleville Air Cadet squadron should be timely. The Belleville cadets have been in training for some time, undergoing foot-drill and other elementary training and Monday night members of the squadron had their first experience with Link trainers when they visited No. 5 Initial Training School. Belleville reports that the strength of the squadron will be greatly increased as soon as the vacation season is over.

BOYS ARE REMANDED.

Three young boys picked up on the street early this morning on a charge of vagrancy appeared before Justices of the Peace Vincent Eastwood and Mayor Hamilton in police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy, and were remanded at the request of the police. The youths were arrested by Officer John Stevenson.

FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Mayor James Hamilton occupied a seat on the bench at police court this morning, alongside Vincent Eastwood, the two Justices of the Peace presiding in the absence of a magistrate. Most of the cases went over until a further sitting, but two men who pleaded guilty to having been drunk were fined $10 and costs. One of them had been arrested in a restaurant; the other on Murray Street.

Summer Home Burns At Gore's Landing

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 11. — (ENS).—Explosion of a coal oil stove at 11 a.m. to-day blazed through the summer cottage adjoining Kenneth Herald's tourist camp, reduced it to ashes with most of the contents, and for an hour or more threatened the next door home of John MacKenzie.

The building was erected eighty years ago and was the first factory in which the well known cedar-ribbed Herald canoe was manufactured. Daniel Herald and his family lived upstairs and the ground floor was his workshop. The business passed into the hands of Herald Brothers and finally became the Rice Lake Canoe Company. The old shop and the Herald family have been closely associated with the Gore's Landing through all its years as a Rice Lake summer resort.

The house was rented for part of August by visitors from Ohio. They went out to the store this morning, leaving an elderly man alone in the building, which had been converted into a comfortable summer home. In some manner the oil stove in the house exploded, and presumably the old man, who was sleeping, could do little in the face of the flames that threatened to envelop him, so he managed to escape with a slight singing.

The whole interior was ablaze in less than ten minutes, and the building was doomed from the outset. A bucket and chemical volunteer brigade worked strenuously to save the adjoining garage and Mr. MacKenzie's house, which was only a few feet from the burning cottage. Estimate of the property loss was beween $1,500 and $2,000.

Soap Rationing Rumors Starts Stampede

Rumors of approaching soap rationing started another run on the grocery stores Monday, but reports today indicated that this buying flurry had subsided as suddenly as it had begun.

Several grocers told the Examiner they began wondering yesterday morning what was causing the splurge in soap purchases, and finally they learned from some women, and men too, that some radio broadcast had sent forehanded folk from their homes to get in an extra supply of soap, bars and chips, "just in case..."

"One man came back three times," a clerk said. "He'd buy three or four boxes of chips, and a dozen bars of soap, off he'd go with his load. He did that three times, putting a lot of concern into his idea of outreaching the rest of people and probably beating the Price Control Board to a new order."

Several heads of local stores said that this jittery buying was getting to be a nuisance.

"It has got past the stage of novelty," one man said, "and people rushing around thinking they are getting ahead of others make themselves ridiculous when they go to the extreme of Monday's soap rush."

Some other local residents were bitten by the panic bug and decided that pepper might be scarce so they stocked up on this commodity way beyond their needs, others tried storing up table salt, the most common article in any grocery store.

So far as the Examiner can learn, the rush is definitely unjustified, as there is no shortage, nor any likelihood of a shortage of soap, pepper or salt.

Police Warn Erring Cyclists

Many complaints have been received by the police department in regard to the practice of cyclists riding their wheels over the C.P.R. footbridge.

Several pedestrians have been struck by bicycles and in one case recently a baby carriage was hit and as a result a child was spilled out on the bridge and came close to rolling off.

It is an offense against a city bylaw to ride wheels on the bridge and today ten or twelve summonses were issued by the police department to cyclists who were caught indulging in the practice.

This batch of invitations to police court is just a fore-runnner of a flock of more if riders continue to violate the bylaw, police say.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, August 12

THE ASTRAL AUGURIES for this day may be read as generally propitious and encouraging in all the affairs, business as well as social, domestic, affectional and in many branches of cultural activity. It may be found that superiors employers and those in power are ready to assist all meritorious objectives, although it would be well to give proper consideration to any matters that come up or decision.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of progress and fulfilled ambitions in both business and private life. Intellectual and cultural affairs should be under splendid impetus for development, although a certain tendency toward doubt, indecision and confusion should be taken in hand for concentration, direct action and well-organised effort. Also the incentive to substitute expediency for principle should be suppressed. In worthy aims employers, superiors and higher ups are ready to give encouragement.

A child born on this day should be versatile and ambitious with much intellectual and cultural talent, although disposed to attain its ends in the easiest way.

Rotary Given Outline Of Organization

In describing the work of the Air Cadet League of Canada, Sir Ellsworth Flavelle, chairman of the Ontario committee of the Air Cadet League, told Rotarians that the people of Canada must become more air-minded, and that that was one of the biggest contributions that the League was making to the National War Effort at the present time.

The Air Training Corps in England, which was started about 1937 or 1938, is the backbone of the present Canadian League which is for boys between 15 and 18 years of age, who may later join the R.C.A.F. The two main reasons for the formation of this League are to have training for civilian aviation and to make it sort of a feeder for the R.C.A.F. In this latter case the aim is to give entry and training that will do away with initial training schools so that boys can swing right into the main work in the R.C.A.F. Boys having this training have covered the first three months of regular air force training. It will also help equip boys for commercial and industrial flying in peace times.

"In the work to date," he said "there have been 153 air squadrons formed in the Dominion comprised of about 17,000 boys, and there are 42 in Ontario alone with about 4,000 to 4,500 enrolled. By the summer of 1943 we hope to have 25,000 boys taking this very vital work.

Saves Nation's Money

"There are many advantages offered by this plan. The pre-entry training saves time in the air force training scheme and millions of dollars for the government who otherwise would have to set up initial training schools. Since the course is given while the boys are still in school, it is felt that they throw themselves into the work with a much keener avidity than older men are accustomed to do.

"Then it develops discipline of thought and action and helps to bridge the gap between the ease of civilian life and the rigors of military life. After a boy has studied with the Air Cadets, when he is sent to Manning Pool or some other training centre of the R.C.A.F., he does not go in a stranger and a greenhorn, but with a very important part of his basic training behind him."

Sir Ellsworth Flavelle continued, saying, that it plans to toughen the lads and bring about an even greater physical fitness, and it is accomplishing that to an amazing degree. There is an M.O. appointed to every unit and the boys must submit to rigid physical examinations, and there is a strict check kept.

The Air Cadet League is a civilian organization and it is being kept under civilian control because of the desire for unbroken operation after the war. If it were a part of the R.C.A.F. it would be disbanded when the war is over. Also with civilian control there are no holdups effected because of the rank of different officers. This League is not a form of militarism, and the R.C.A.F. prefers to see that it is kept under civilian control. The R.C.A.F. is so hard pressed with the superb job of the Commonwealth Air Training scheme that they have neither the time nor the personnel to devote to this, but they are giving the organization close backing and enthusiastic support.

R.C.A.F. Guides Work

All training is done under R.C.A.F. guidance and it has set up a department just for handling the development of this Air Cadet plan, and this League is the only one sponsored by the R.C.A.F. This summer there have been various instructor camps at R.C.A.F. stations where men are being trained in the work so as to be ready for the boys in the fall. There are camp facilities for two weeks supplied them and they do the same work as the R.C.A.F. are doing.

"Man power must be developed and it should be done when they are boys, before they get off on various tangents. There is nothing better than the air cadet syllabus where the boys have 300 hours in school. The course lasts two years, and contains 20 per cent of the school curriculum and 80 per cent new activities"

He said that the cost of uniforms for each boy was about $15 and to outfit a squadron of 50 would cost about $1350-$1500. It is not intended that these Air Force League squadrons infringe on the work being done already by the army cadet corps, and both are necessary, he concluded.

The speaker was introduced by Gordon Matthews and the vote of thanks was moved on behalf of Rotarians by Ward Smith.

John F. Frank Enters Naval College

An unusual honor has been bestowed on John Frank, son of Captain R. W. Frank and Mrs. Frank of this city, as he is one of the 100 young men from all Canada chosen to train at the newly opened Naval College at Hatley Park, British Columbia.

This college, first of its kind in Canada, is the navy equivalent to Royal Military College, and the candidates chosen from the more than 1,000 interviewed had to have the highest physical, educational and mental qualifications to meet the exacting requirements set down by the examining board.

John Frederick Frank, 17-year-old Collegiate graduate, is fitted both by training and background to gain a naval commission with high marks. His father, Captain Frank, well known Peterborough dentist, is a veteran of World War 1, and is now serving again in World War 2. On July 19, just 25 years ago he was named Canadian champion and all-round athlete of the Canadian Forces Overseas.

The son graduated from the Collegiate with senior matriculation this past midsummer, and was prominent in rugby, hockey, swimming and canoeing. Last term he won the special prize donated by the C.G.E. Company for public speaking among the students. He chose as his subject, "An All-Out War Effort," and his discourse was a masterpiece.

He enters the college October 15, and at the end of a 2-year course graduates with a naval commission.

Blood Donors Forget To Obey Orders

What would have been a morning of record attendance at the Blood Donors' Clinic with almost fifty donors giving transfusions, turned out to be something of a washout because so many of the prospective donors forgot to obey the diet rules and had butter and cream, eggs and bacon for breakfast. So out of 47 men, only 26 could be used. The Red Cross are urging that those who are interested in this work try to remember about eating no fats before they give their blood.

Dr. S. W. Caldwell, supervisor of Health Services for the Province, Canadian Red Cross Division, paid a visit to the Clinic Monday. He pointed out how well the Clinic had been laid out, so that the donors are put through systematically and with the least confusion, and what a splendid job the Red Cross had made in transforming the old garage into such a modern and efficient place.

"The people of the Peterborough community have been making a splendid response in their Clinic which is one of 35 established or in the process of being established throughout the Dominion, 20 of which are in Ontario," he said.

"Since the first of January, the 35 clinics have made 100,000 blood donations in contrast with 31,000 during all of 1941. At present the clinic shipments for the Dominion average about 3,500 a week and it is hoped to have 4,000 a week by September 1, and by a further extension of the work to have 6,000 a week before the end of the year.

"While this appears to be a big program, it doesn't begin to fill the need of the Canadian armed forces, to say nothing of the forces of the other United Nations. Since it takes 5 donations for the treatment of one average case, the reserve provided by the 100,000 donations gotten this year is only sufficient for 20,000 casualties. It can be seen at once that in the event of Canadians being used as the dagger point in a coming invasion of the continent there is still a tremendous job to be done by the Blood Donor Service of the Red Cross."

Dr. Caldwell expressed the hope that industry and other organizations will continue to feel a sense of responsibility in obtaining donors in order that Peterborough may continue to fill her normal quota to help the war effort.

Peterboro City Wants To Adopt Canadian Ship

Commenting on an Examiner editorial suggesting that Peterborough should request the Navy Department for the privilege of being nominally represented in the growing fleet of corvettes. City Clerk Outtram said today that the council had been making representations to the Department for a least a year asking that one of the new ships be given the name Peterborough.

"The first proposal was made at least a year ago," Mr. Outram said, "and Mayor Hamilton renewed the correspondence several times this year. The following is a quotation from a letter sent to the Hon. Angus Macdonald only a week or so ago: 'More than a year ago I wrote the head of the Department in the naval services who appeared to be responsible for the naming of ships, and I was assured then that Peterborough would not be overlooked.'

I think it only fair to the council to let it be known that this proposal was not neglected. Naming a corvette entails a responsibility of providing a considerable part of its furnishings, and the council was quite willing to assume that cost also. Mayor Hamilton had considered a public appeal for funds just as soon as Peterborough was advised that its names was to be given one of the corvettes."

ULTRA-VIOLET RAYS

The summer sunshine contains more than ten times the effective ultra-violet of winter sunshine.

Hundreds Mourn Death Of Indian Guide

Henry Madden Howard, dean of Indian guides throughout the entire Peterborough district was buried on Sunday afternoon in the Indian Cemetery at Hiwatha following a church service that attracted more people than the little church could accommodate.

Madden Howard was 82 years of age and was a son of the late Henry Howard and Susan Spencer, and he had spent his entire life at Hiawatha on Rice Lake. For more than 65 years he acted as guide to Americans and Canadian fishermen, and his honesty, and charm of manner gained for him a host of life-long friends. Some time ago he suffered a heart attack while out guiding and was taken to the hospital. He recovered but suffered a relapse a short time after returning home, and the last seizure proved fatal, with death coming on Friday night last.

The late Madden Howard was married three times, and is survived by his widow, four sons and six daughter. Hanlanx, Madden, and James of Hiawatha, William of Lindsay Mrs. A. Whetung, and Mrs. Johnson of Curve Lake, Nona, Oregon, Mrs. Sellaby, Mrs. George Crooks and Olive of Hiawatha

A profusion of floral tributes from all parts of the States and Canada along with many more from friends in the immediate vicinity of Hiawatha indicated the high place which this elderly guide had in the hearts of many people

The Rev. H Lander conducted the funeral service at the United church Hiawatha, on Sunday afternoon and it was one of the largest funerals in the district for several years.

Britain Boosts Bacon Contract Quality Meets High Standard

"The new British bacon contract asking for 700,000,000 pounds in the coming year, an increase of 100,000,000 pounds over this year's agreement is not only a tremendous order, but it is an eloquent compliment to the quality of the Canadian hog and the wartime work the Canadian farmer has been doing," said F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative, in a statement this morning about the news from Ottawa reporting that Great Britain is prepared to buy every pound of bacon this country produces,

"The increase of 100,000,000 pounds is more than we used to export some years ago prior to the war," Mr. Paterson said. "That is one phase of the proposed contract. Again, it has been generally estimated that it takes seven pounds of grain to produce one pound of what the trade calls Wiltshire sides. Assuming that basic feeding quantity, it will take more than four billion pounds of grain to produce the 700,000,000 pounds of bacon wanted by Britain for the twelve months beginning November 1 next. These are round figures which may convey some slight idea of what the Canadian farmer is doing as a wartime job, part of it at least.

Tribute to Canada

The fact that Britain wants more Canadian bacon is convincing proof that she likes Canadian bacon. This emergent business has been built up on the basis of quality, those lean Wiltshire sides with their high percentage of protein, good bacon and good food. In fact it is not saying too much if we claim that we are producing the best bacon in the world today. At any rate it is the best bacon Britain can buy.

According to available figures, Ontario's output of hogs in the last quarter of this year is 725,000; Alberta 893,000, and Saskatchewan 445,000. The West has outstripped this province in hog production, a significant development in that part of Canada which used to concentrate its work on grain growing and raising beef cattle.

Peterborough county's estimates for the last quarter, October, November and December, are 9,200 hogs as compared with 8,800 in the corresponding period last year."

Increasing Contracts

Expressing the opinion that the Canadian Bacon Board and had in its own way done a splendid job of co-operation with the British authorities and the Canadian farmers, Mr. Paterson recalled that the first contract was for 5,000,000 pounds of bacon a week, approximately 300,000,000 pounds for that first year of wartime need.

The next agreement was for 425,000,000 pounds and for the year ending October 31 next the total was 600,000,000, and Mr. Paterson said it was expected that this contract would be fulfilled.

"The fact that quality was stressed in the previous agreements seems to me to have been fully justified by the new and bigger contract for bacon," Mr. Paterson added.

"There was some little bits of friction, some opinion, too, that quality did not need so much attention in wartime, but the fact remains that Great Britain likes our bacon and wants more of it. That means a stabilized market in spite of shipping difficulties. We don't know yet what the new price will be, but I suppose that one of the elements in that agreement is Britain's ability to pay."

NO CO-OPERATION

A story is being told along the main street today about a local insurance office employee who just hasn't any luck at all. On Saturday this employee borrowed $33 from the cash box to meet a fuel bill, and deposited an I.O.U. for that amount to keep the books straight until pay-day. On Saturday night burglars rifled the cash box, took every cent of money, all the war savings stamps.... but left the I.O.U. behind.—McG.

Twenty Prizes To Children In Lions Parade

Boys and girls in all part of the city are busy decorating bicycles for the big decorated bicycle parade set for Thursday night as an opening feature of the Lions Club Carnival.

The first four prizes to the boys and girls whose efforts best tell the story of War Savings Stamps are cash, with $10 for first, $5 for second, $3 for third and $2 for fourth. Then there are seven prizes of $1 each in War Savings Stamps, and Cleanrite Ceaners are giving five more prizes, each a credit slip to have a suit a dress cleaned. Harley Keefer of Canadian Tire Corporation is giving a prize of merchandise also.

Citizens are reminded that they can win an extra ten dollars by clipping the coupon out of the advertisement which will appear in The Examiner starting on Wednesday and depositing it in the box on the grouds. Sharp at 8.30 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday a draw will be made and the person whose coupon is picked will get the ten dollars, provided they are on the grounds.

The draw for the fur neckpiece will be on Thursday, for the bicycle on Friday, and for the Chevrolet car on Saturday. Tickets on these may be purchased on the grounds or from any member of the Lions Club. All proceeds from this carnival will go to the British Child War Victims Fund and to finance the local service work of the club.

Priority Ghost Haunts New Water Main

Permission to buy iron pipes for the projected water main on McGill Street and a stretch of Park Street is the purpose of a trip to Ottawa tonight by a deputation from North Monaghan council. It was understood this afternoon that Reeve M. H. Johnston, Deputy-Reeve A. W. Archibald and Bruce Johnston, township clerk, would go to the capital in the interest of the ratepoyers who have been appealing for water and sewer accomodation for a year or so.

While in Toronto recently several members of the council consulted Dr. Berry of the Ontario Department of Health and were advised "there was no use writing to Ottawa on priorty claim, and the best plan would be to go right down to Ottawa after getting an appointment.

North Monaghan council would not be so concerned about the pipe prioritiy if they had not given this petition so much attention, in cluding expense for surveys and such preliminaries.

Recent meetings of ratepayers have not been quite as unanimous as was expected, but the advocates of the new services are said to have a substantial majorty and it is understood the project will be proceeded with if the Federal authorities assure the council that sufficient pipes for the job will be made available.

EDMONTON, Aug. 11.—(CP). — Appointment of Capt. T. W. Cogland, permanent staff officer in charge of training for the 4th (reserve) divisional armored corps, R. C.A.S.C. (Pertol Park), as officer commanding the unit was announced here yesterday by Lt.-Col. E. Brown of Edmonton.

Grocers Must Explain Tea Shortage

Applications from some retail grocers throughout the county for permission to restock their bare shelves with tea have encountered demands from Wartime Prices and Trade Board for an explanation of the rather suspicious fact of so many of them lining up within the week after the tea rationing order went into effect.

Scores of letters were mailed to grocers throughout the county these last few days advising them that if they want more tea they have to do some explaining.

Rumors reached the city a week ago of one general merchant, who may be loosely located as having a store in one of the spots on the road to Apsley, as having passed out tea on both Sunday and Monday, August 1 and 2. When he arrived in Peterborough for more tea for his store he was told that he had to provide the rationing officials in this city with information about his recent tea business.

In the meantime wholesalers have been instructed that they must not sell tea to retailers without official warrants.

Apparently quite a few persons up and down the county and city have not yet come to the realization that Wartime Prices and Trade Board has complete authority over their buying and consuming of tea and sugar, and of any other staples which may be included in the rationing scheme.

"They've got to tell us what tea they had on hand in July, also whether they sold any tea, and how much, on Sunday and Monday August 1 and 2; likewise, to whom did they sell it. If some persons flouted the Board's order and laid in a stock of tea on the Sunday or holiday we want to know their names," said an official of the Board. "Why should persons who had previously bought tea come and tell us the amount they have on hand, and these other people, who tried to put across something they thought was smart, get away with it? There's going to be some general merchants and grocers out of the tea business unless they send us a frank and complete explanation of why a whole lot of them are suddenly out of tea at the same time."

The retail grocer who obeyed the order can present a clean sheet to the Board and get the quantity of tea to which he is entitled, but the others who knew the order had been issued and then immediately ignored it are now finding themselves in an embarrassing position, and wriggling isn't going to help them much.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—(AP).—If the Dodgers get involved in any more feuds, they'll have to change the name of Ebbets Field to the "Dust-Off Bowl"...Of course, nobody can prove that a "beaner" is intentional, but Ford Frick's latest idea of fining the managers as well as the offending pitchers should help calm things down a bit. And if that doesn't work, how about forfeiting a few games?....Records of the Hambletonian support the contention that the favorites nearly always win trotting-horse races, but we wonder if that isn't because the folks who follow the trotters know more about horses than the frequenters of running-horse parks. ...Baseball season must be over; on a recent visit to Iowa, Dizzy Dean told scribes that he'll be back in baseball "for sure" next year.

There were a good many bowls tossed up and down the greens Monday evening in the second round of the singles competition. There were many close and interesting games and the bowling was well up to the average.

Tonight will see another doubleheader played and it is expected that by 10 o'clock there will only be eight contestants left in this contest.

The committee wishes to express their appreciation to the boys who have come out and acted as umpires. This fine spirit of co-operation has in no small way helped to make this competition the success it has been so far.

Here is a challenge from Percy McFadden. He and three other Percy will take on any other four (of the same name) for a game tomorrow evening.

The entries for the preliminary stages of the Ladies' Globe doubles remain open until Saturday, August 15. Please send your entries to Mrs. H. Wilson, 538 Sherbrooke street.

Here is the set-up for Friday night: Men's doubles—Choose your own partner, 7:00 o'clock sharp Three 10-end games, $1 per pair. And while you may chose your own partner it has been suggested that a skip play with a lead, and a vice with a second.

Charlie Renaud's rink playing in the provincial tournament in Toronto yesterday, broke 50-50.

In a couple of days we expect to have the new schedule cards ready for distribution.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Aug. 11 — (CP). — Latest and most amusing angle in the Dave Castilloux situation is a letter from Promoter Jack Singer of Calgary asking that "You...challenge Castilloux to a bout early in September if possible, and thus settle the disputed welterweight championship of Canada."

This is so sudden. I accept the nomination as the people's choice, but it has been several years since anyone considered me as a logical contender for the welterweight championship of anything (it was of a two-room apartment that time, as I recall) and I am away out of training. Because of that, the confused situation existing in Canadian fight circles at this juncture, and the pressure of other business (such as breathing), I must decline the invitation.

There is a possibility, though there is nothing in the passage to suggest it, that Mr. Singer means me to challenge Castilloux on behalf of Al Lust, who knocked out Maxie Berger of Montreal last month. If so, this bureau must pass that one, too. It's none of my business.

Interesting information in Mr. Singer's letter includes the statement that he has signed Lust for a bout in Calgary with Castilloux, all proceeds to go to the Canadian armed forces, no profit for the promoters and the fighters' purses to be the only outlay. Castilloux has been asked to sign, but hasn't replied to a couple of telegrams.

Singer adds that if Castilloux continues to turn the cold shoulder, "we shall have no alternative but to call on Maxie Berger for a return bout."

All this probably will be of profound disinterest to LAC. Castilloux, whose announced retirement carries weight despite Manager Raoul Godbout's insistence that it is unofficial. But Lust should get some kind of a break. The title either should be declared vacant, or Castilloux should defend it.

Incidentally:

Bill (Halifax Herald) Bartlett reports that field lacrosse will make a comeback at the new Navy League recreation centre in Halifax with three service teams competing.... Field lacrosse is played on an open field, as the name suggests, not on a floor as its more-popular offspring, box lacrosse...Ken Lindsay and Henry Divine staged a boxing exhibition as part of the Kelowna aquatic meet, and drew 4,000...One of the swimmers in a Vernon, B.C., military relay team was Fritz Hanson...That boy really gets around.

Yearling Sales Ease Off Average $1,163

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., Aug. 11 (AP)—Although the bidding was strong at last night's yearling sales, the prices were weak and the average amount paid for the 271 young thoroughbreds disposed of during the last six days slumped to $1,163 each.

A year ago 577 colts were sold in the full 10-day auction at an average of $1,747, a drop of $584 for 1942.

Products of the Mereworth Farm, Lexington, Ky., were sold with J. E. Ryan outbidding all others for a bay colt by Imp. Dastur out of Lavenia. The price, highest of the sale, was $1,800. Ryan also paid $1,500 for a chestnut filly.

Louis Tufano, who purchased Market Wise as a bargain, bought five of the yearlings and Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, owner of the Brookenmeade Stables, acquired a black colt by Ariel-Play Dis for $1,700.

Despite those prices, the 45 Mereworth yearlings brought only a total of $30,750, an average of $683. A year ago the colts from the same farm averaged $1,793.

The auction continues tonight with yearlings consigned by the Military Stock Farm, the Greenwich Stud, the North Wales Stud and Hope Creek Farm being offered.

Does He Ever Say "I Loved Your Letter"?

His Girl Knows Writing Rules

From his happy smile you can bet his gir will never lose him by poor letters! She's made her letter style by beguilin; and as smartly correct as her best date dress!

After all, when you're far away, your letter is your only representative. If you've written a dowdy "not been nowhere" instead of "not been anywhere," you're not there with a cute pout to laugh it off.

Nor does he remember your warm friendly smile when you write boring, tactless sentences like "Well, have filled this sheet, so I guess I will close." He'll be charmed all over again, though, if you flatter: "Writing to you is such fun I hate to stop!"

You'll go farther at the office, to, if you keep the good will of clients with up-to-date letters. No deadening "Your letter received and contents noted" instead of "Thank you for your letter"! No cheap expressions like "A-1" when you mean "finest quality."

Our 32-page booklet gives proper business and social letter forms, 24 model letters of all types. Suggests topics to write to friends about, gives tips on grammar, helps you to write easily, charmingly.

For your copy of "Good Letter-Writing Made Easy" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

NO CARDS WORTHLESS

AS A GENERALITY, it is well to proceed on the assumption that no card is worthless. Though some insignificant little one may not take a trick, it may be useful for signaling or for promoting a higher card in your own hand or partner's, or for upsetting the plans of your opponents in one way or another. This is especially true of little trumps. Putting one on a trick and getting over-ruffed may prevent the other fellow from taking a discard on the card you ruff.

North: ♠ A 6 3 ♥ A 9 5 ♦ A 9 7 5 4 ♣ Q 6

West: ♠ K Q J 9 8 5 2 ♥ 4 ♦ J 3 ♣ J 8 4

East: ♠ 7 ♥ K 10 7 2 ♦ Q 10 6 2 ♣ 9 5 3 2

South: ♠ 10 4 ♥ Q J 8 6 3 ♦ K 8. ♣ A K 10 7

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♦
Pass	3 ♣	3 ♠	4 ♦
Pass	4 ♥	Pass	6 ♥
Dbl

North had his nerve to make that jump direct to slam, from 4-Hearts, and East had some of his own to double the contract with the heart bidder seated at his left, where the long trumps sat over him and got last whack at heart tricks. After the deal North said his bid was based partly on the fact that he did not consider his opponents strong defensive players. As it turned out, he was right.

South won the spade K with the dummy's A, raked in the club Q, A and K, discarding the spade 3, and was pleased to see the J drop. Counting West as possibly being out of trumps, in view of East's double, he now led the established club 10. Right there is where the fate of the contract rested. West did not ruff this and compel North to over-ruff. As he said later, that would have wasted his trump. Instead, he discarded a spade, whereupon the spade 6 was tossed from the dummy. Next came the diamond K, A and 5, ruffed by the heart 6—shortening his own trumps for a later possible coup if West had held one small trump and refused to ruff that spade trick. The spade 10 was then ruffed in the dummy by the heart A, and the heart 9 led. East covered this with the 10 and the J won. The Q was then sent to the K and East had to lead from the 7-2 into the 8-3. No matter how East played his trumps, after the lead of the 9, he could get only one trick.

If West had ruffed the club 10 on the fifth trick, South would have had to lose a spade and a heart trick.

CAVAN

Ross Armstrong Is Honored By Cavan Friends

CAVAN, Aug. 11.—(ENS)—About seventy-five friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong on Thursday evening, to honor their third son LAC Ross Armstrong, who is home on a 12-day furlough from the west coast.

Mr. Wilfred Elson acted as chairman for the evening. Mr. Clifford Larmer read an appropriate address signed on behalf of the friends and neighbors by Mr. Marshall Larmer and Mr. Ronald Argue. Ross was then presented with a purse of money. Taken by surprise, in a few well-chosen words, he thanked them for their kindness and thoughtfulness.

Cards, Chinese checkers, and a social time was then enjoyed. Lunch was served later.

Friends from Hamilton, Peterborough, Millbrook and vicinity attended the presentation.

LAC F. R. Ross Armstrong is playing an important role in the defence of Canada's west coast. He is a parachute rigger and is responsible for the inspection and maintenance of the parachutes to which the pilots of his squadron must be ready to trust their lives. Ross enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in Toronto on November 20, 1940, and has been on the Pacific Coast since shortly after his enlistment.

The educational officer of Ross' squadron if Pilot Officer A. A. Smith who taught him in Millbrook High School from which he graduated in 1936.

Prior to his enlistment he was employed by the Peterborough Canoe Company building and demonstrating boats.

Misses Janet and Winnie Swain of Blackstock are vistiing their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Carley.

Master Kenneth Trumpour, of Bridgenorth is visiting his friend, Fraser Carr, this week.

Rev. C. H. and Mrs. Waye of Toronto visited Mrs. Waye's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tinney, recently.

Mr. Tom Armstrong of Hamilton visited Mr and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong and friends in Millbrook and vicinity on Thursday.

Miss Olive Elson of Belleville who has been visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Elson, motored to Toornto this week and was accompanied by her two nieces, Misses Katharine and Margaret Elson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fry of Peterborough visited Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong on Thursday and attended the presentation in honor of their son, LAC Ross Armstrong of Vancouver.

Moose Out Again

WITH R.C.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 11—(CP Cable).—Canada's heavy - pounding Moose squadron flew through starry skies last night to Osnabrueck with a strong force of R.A.F. bombers and dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on important railway facilities.

All aircraft in this squadron returned safely after reaching the target and dropping their lethal loads in what was described only as an operation by "a strong force."

Rare Courage Gets Attention

LONDON, (CP).— Ac2. Edward Lewis of the R.A.F., a native of Fleur de Lys, White Bay, Nfld., has been commended by Air Marshal Sir Arthur Barrett for attempting to rescue a pilot of a blazing bomber which crashed while taking off. Lewis did everything possible to save the pilot, the official report said. 'He went through the flames and over ammunition which had started to explode. Although his face was badly burned, he continued in his efforts to extricate the pilot until he was forcibly resrained from doing so by other airmen who realized the pilot could not possibly be alive.'

Toughening Up For Assault Work

Integration of British assault methods with Canadian training was stressed by Col. Ralston. "We in national defence do not think we know it all...are not complacent about what is happening. We are endeavoring to make Canada's army all that Canada expects it to be." Training like that shown here makes athletes of all officers.

Chart Cologne By Canterbury

LONDON, Aug. 11 (CP)—In the wake of the R.A.F.'s smashes at Germany the Ministry of Information issued eight drawings showing these raids in proper perspective with Germany's reply raids. The drawings show 1,000 planes heading for Cologne. Hitler's answer was 25 bombers over Canterbury the next night. To get to Cologne the R.A.F. flew 150 miles over hostile territory while the Nazis flew over only 10 miles of hostile country to reach Canterbury. And in Cologne there were 700,000 people dependent on industry as against only 7,000 in Canterbury.

See Novorossisk Tougher Than Sevastopol

By FRANK L. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug 11—(AP)—A battle far more costly and fierce than the siege of Sevastopol will break out if the Germans invest the Russian Black Sea naval base of Novorossisk, naval observers predicted Saturday as the Germans stood within 60 miles of that port.

These naval men said they believed Novorossisk would be a harder nut to crack than Sevastopol because the foothills of the Caucasus reach to the Black Sea coast and surround the stronghold.

The fate of the Russian Black Sea Fleet, said here to be composed of 35 submarines, two or three cruisers and eight to 11 destroyers but no battleships, was a topic of much speculation in Turkey.

It was agreed that Russia has three choices if the Germans seize all Soviet bases in the Caucasus:

1. Sail into a Turkish Black Sea port, probably Samsun, for internment.
2. Scuttle the fleet at sea.
3. Make a break for it through the Sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles.

A break by the fleet through the Marmora Sea and the Dardanelles was considered most unlikely here because of treaty restrictions.

Should the fleet decide to shoot its way into the Mediterranean, it would be forced also to pass through the Aegean Sea dotted with numerous islands harboring German air bases.

Some circles advanced the possibility that the Russian fleet might make a suicide dash into Varna, Bulgaria, or some other Axis port on the Black Sea and do as much damage as possible before being destroyed.

Hun Sea Raider Feared Loose Among Shipping Off Brazil

Predict Heavy Sub Attacks As Nazis Shift Undersea Effort To New Hunting Ground

LONDON, Aug. 12—(CP).—A large-scale offensive by German surface and submarine raiders against the heavy and increasingly important Allied merchant traffic in the South Atlantic was predicted today by informed British naval sources.

Reports from neutral and Axis sources in the last 24 hours indicated, it was said, the attacks already had started.

These sources cited Rio de Janeiro's receipt of SOS messages reporting an enemy surface raider 1,000 miles off the Brazilian coast and the German high command's claim of yesterday that 45,231 tons of shipping bound for Egypt had been sunk recently by German submarines off the American and West African coasts.

Not only is the South Atlantic the chief supply route to India and Egypt but under present conditions it is probably the most important means of sending supplies to Russia via Iran.

Wheat and beef from South America also traverse the new danger area en route to Britain.

A naval source reported a number of armed Axis merchant raiders had reached the South Atlantic from ports on the Bay of Biscay since the fall of France.

Two were destroyed by the British cruisers Devonshire and Dorsetshire in December, 1941.

New Hunting Ground

Dispatch of another Axis merchant cruiser to the area and increased submarine activity there indicates that as anti-submarine defences along the North American coast improve the German major undersea effort may be transferred to the new hunting ground.

Possibility the German surface raider is one of the two surviving pocket battleships, the Admiral Scheer and the Luetzow, or a cruiser of the Hipper class, is slight, said a naval source.

Nor did he think it likely a Japanese warship had ventured into the South Atlantic.

The Germans, he said, would be more likely to risk a merchant cruiser than a warship, because a surface raider takes great risks and the Germans would be reluctant to gamble another of their diminishing squadron of heavy warships.

Rail City Mainz Well Plastered

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Mainz, German chemical industry and rail centre on the Rhine, was heavily attacked last night by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. in a raid which was "particulary successful" and left fires still raging this morning, the Air Ministry announced today.

Sixteen bombers are missing, indcating a strong force participated. (If previous losses of four to five per cent of the attackers are used as a basis, the number involved would be up to 400.)

Coblenz, the docks at Le Havre and the air fields in the low countries also were attacked.

Members of two R.C.A.F. bomber squadrons participated in the night's operations.

High explosives and incendiaries were rained down on Mainz by the British and Canadian bombers left the industrial centre ablaze, crews of an R.C.A.F. Halifax squadron re-

Ready To Go

London, Aug. 12 (CP Cable)

THE efficiency of Canada's war production was described today to British newspapermen by G. K. Sheils, Canadian Deputy Minister of Munitions and Supply, now on a brief visit to Britain to discuss departmental affairs with government officials.

Newspapermen pressed him for details on what Canada has been doing for Russia and were told that Canadian-built Valentine tanks are being shipped, three-quarters full of gasoline, and many have been in action against the Germans 40 minutes after reaching the railhead.

U-Boat Pays as 4 Torpedoes Get Carrier Eagle In Mediterranean Convoy Raid—Most Saved

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP)—The aircraft carrier Eagle has been sunk in the Mediterranean but a large part of the 22,600-ton warship's crew has been saved, the Admiralty announced today.

The Admiralty said at least one enemy submarine operating in the same area as the 24-year-old carrier already had been sunk, indicating that the Eagle went down fighting.

German broadcasts last night said four torpedo hits sent her to the bottom in the western Mediterranean.

The Eagle carried a customary complement of 748 men and 21 or more planes. The vessel was begun in 1913 as a battleship, the Almirante Cochrane, ordered by Chile from a British yard. Work ceased with the outbreak of the war, and in 1917 the Admiralty purchased her from Chile and redesigned her an an aircraft carrier. She was completed in 1924, and refitted in 1932.

The Germans said fire prevented other convoy units aiding her.

Hint Nazis Have Most Of '42 Goals Ready To Sit Tight For The Winter

ISTANBUL, Aug. 10 (Delayed)—(AP)—The possibility that Germany may already have attained most of her 1942 objectives in Russia and that she may be ready now to halt her offensive on the eastern front and consolidate her positions for the winter was indicated today by a neutral official who, demanding anonymity, claimed direct German information.

Quoting as his informant a Nazi propaganda "inspector" now visiting Turkey on official business, this neutral official said Germany plans to erect an "eastern wall" before the winter and retire behind it with a peace proposal. The Nazi functionary quoted operates under Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi party chief of foreign propaganda and a Reichminister in charge of occupied Russia.

The new German east wall, it was said, would run across the northern Caucasus mountains, which the Germans have just about reached in their drive down the Caucasus, and along the Volga River from Astrakhan through the regions of Stalingrad and Voronezh and thence roughly along the present front to the Leningrad area.

The German was quoted further

India Disorder Mainly Under Control

More Troops Out; Delhi Hot Spot Town Hall Burned

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(CP).— The India ofice issued a statement today saying "authorities in India have the situation completely in hand and it is emphasized that any picture of widespread disorder in that country is utterly distorted."

BOMBAY, Aug. 12.—(AP).—British authorities called increasing numbers of troops and police into action to-day to cope with spreading violence, and it became a question how long martial law could be forestalled in turbulent India.

The worst trouble spot was New Delhi, where an official statement described the situation as "ugly" and said a mod had burned and virtually destroyed the town hall and troops had fired on civilian crowds yesterday.

Indian reporters close to the All-India Congress said its members, for the most part, still are standing apart from the rioting and that many are concerned over the turn to

25's vs. 25's

EL ALAMEIN, Egypt, Aug. 12—(CP-Reuters).—Guns captured by the Germans earlier in the Egyptian campaign now are one of the chief worries of British gunners.

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel is using the British 25-pounder, rated as the finest field gun in the world, in preference to his own main weapon, the 105 millimetre, in gun duels which have been a feature of this front in the last two weeks. Gunners of one British regiment said today they have the upper hand in these British gun vs. British gun fights.

Heavy Counters At Voronezh And Rzhev Worrying Nazis

Hun Gains Slacken In Maikop Oil Region; Batter Recklessly At Kuban River Crossings

LONDON, Aug. 12—(CP).—Notwithstanding German claims of sweeping successes on the Don bend-Caucasus front, British military sources declared today that Russian resistance is stiffening on all fronts.

Russian counter-attacks in the Voronezh and Rzhev areas, south and northwest of Moscow, respectively, are beginning to worry the Germans, it was said.

The sources expressed belief that today's German assertions are greatly exaggerated and they said, too, that such announcements often are made largely for political effect on the home front.

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Aug. 12—(AP).—The German high command disclosed today that the Russians have launched new counter-blows against the Nazi offensive northwest of Voronezh, but a special war bulletin claimed a victory in the Don bend which it said raised Germany's 1942 Red army captives to 1,044,741.

MOSCOW, Aug. 12—(AP).—Russian troops withdrew grudgingly, and still fighting furiously, into the wild lands of the Caucasian foothills today as the German army lunged on between the Black and Caspian Seas—its greatest prizes still ahead.

German columns were moving westward, almost within gunshot of the Black Sea naval stations of Novorossisk and Tuapse, and southeastward toward the rich oil fields of Grozny and the Caspian Sea beyond.

Rolling new reserves and equipment into the struggle, the Germans confronted the Russian forces at Krasnodar with numerically-superior forces and launched attack after attack, today's mid-day communique said. Krasnodar is the main obstacle on the road to Novorossisk.

Weather Very Hot

The armies fought under a burning sun and the heat was intensified by blazing houses and woods over large areas, Red Star said. Whole cities were flaming as the Germans expanded their operations to new districts.

Pravda noted the extreme pressure in the south with the statement: "Great are the spaces of our country, but we have no place to retreat."

Quebec Shooting Laid To Deserter

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP).—Commissioner S. T. Wood, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, said today his force "has not met with any armed resistance in the province of Quebec or elsewhere" in carrying out personal deliveries of call-up notices or in dealing with deserters from the armed forces.

The commissioner had been asked for comment on a report, from a source closely associated with those enforcing the call-up regulations, that R.C.M.P. constables delivering call-up notices in the Quebec city area had met armed resistance in several instances in recent weeks.

This same source had confirmed an Ottawa newspaper report that a "deserter from the army" had fired shots in the direction of R.C.M.P. constables conducting investigations near East Aldfield, Que., 40 miles north of Ottawa, "for draft dodgers."

Peterboro, Ex-Grove Boys in Paratroops

Crack athletes and daring young Canadians are itching to join the newly-named Canadian Paratroops, officers and non-commissioned officers of which are now ready to start training at Fort Benning, Georgia, for their work in shaping the skyborne shock troops of Canada.

Peterborough district has the signal honor of having one soldier, Sgt. Kenneth Nice, son of Fireman Tom Nice chosen to train as an N.C.O., and it can also boast that a former student of the Grove School is now at Fort Benning and is a member of the First Parachute Infantry Brigade, U.S. Army. The latter is Harry E. Griffiths, graduate of McGill University who when war broke out was a master at a private school in the States. He was prominent in football, and hockey and was intercollegiate diving champion while at McGill. Returning to Canada he sought to enlist, but recruiting officers put him on a waiting list. This husky athlete wanting action enlisted as a private with the U.S. Army, in the parachute division, and will probably be meeting all of the Canadians who go down to train. He is a brother of Glyn Griffith of Glynnwood Farms, Lakefield.

Sgt. Kenneth James Nice, son of Fireman Tom Nice, a local boy, was chosen as one of the first men who were able to qualify for the hard-hitting Canadian Paratroop Division and is now in Georgia, according to word received by his father Tuesday. Out of 234 men of the Toronto Scottish who volunteered for the job, only two, one of whom was Sgt. Nice made the grade. He is the first Peterborough man to be accepted.

Formerly employed at Ackerman's, this young man who weighs 182 pounds and is over six feet tall, has been in the army since before war broke out, and is only 21 years of age. He has served in Newfoundland and also on Partridge Island in the mouth of the St. Lawrence. About 10 days ago he spent a 24-hour leave in the city with his parents before setting out on his new work.

It was expected that six officers and 20 non-commissioned men were to go to Georgia for training as instructors and that these men would return in October and take up duties in Manitoba. At the same time a group is training in England and when they have come back the best things of both the American and British methods will be combined.

In order to take part in paratroop work the men must be very fit and not weigh more than 185 pounds and have no recent bone fractures, have good strong feet and ankles and almost perfect eyesight, quite a large order these days. The battalion is made up of small num-

QUEBEC DRAFT EVADERS USE GUNS RESISTING CALL UP ORDERS

Report Shots Fired At Mounties

Several Instances, One "Serious" As Orders Delivered

OTTAWA, Aug. 12 —(CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police constables personally delivering call-up notices in the Quebec City area have met "armed resistance" in several instances in recent weeks, it was learned authoritatively here last night.

The disclosure was made by a source closely associated with those enforcing the call-up regulations. He confirmed also an Ottawa newspaper report that a military service evader fired shots in the direction of R.C.M.P. constables delivering similar call-up notices near East Aldfield, Que., two weeks ago.

The source declined to reveal how extensive the "resistance" in the Quebec City area had been, except to say that there had been several instances of R.C.M.P. constables being fired upon, one of which was "serious." He refused to say whether anyone had been wounded. Investigations are being conducted.

In one case, he revealed, a civilian motor car, resembling that of an R.C.M.P. district automobile, was the target for gunfire.

Discussing the East Aldfield case, he said that two constables had been driving along a country road to deliver notices when shots were fired and one struck the rear of the car. The bullet was found later.

"Evidently," the sources added, "the evader who fired the shots thought the constables were after him. They weren't. They were actually delivering notices to other persons. In some cases, men seek to evade the draft by not picking up their mail. When this is done, and they avoid getting their call-up, the notices are delivered in person by the R.C.M.P.

"The man who fired the shots wasn't an army deserter, although when the R.C.M.P. delivers notices they have a list of deserters and keep an eye out for them too."

He declined to say whether any arrests had been made in the Quebec City or East Aldfield cases.

It is not known whether any similar incidents have occurred elsewhere in Canada.

Mounties Laugh

QUEBEC, Aug. 12 (CP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police officials, available here last night, laughed and said they had heard nothing about several cases of armed resistance in the Quebec city area to R.C.M.P. constables delivering call-up notices.

ported on their return.

"You couldn't tell how many fires there were, there were so many," enthusiastically declared Flt. Sgt. Fred Taylor of St. Eustache, Que., captain of a four-engine bomber.

Other fliers said there were large fires visible 35 to 40 miles away.

'As we went in we could see the river with its big bend and two large islands in the centre of it quite clearly," said Taylor. "Bombs were bursting all over the place. The centre of the city was well alight."

The bombers crews said the flak was light and not troublesome but searchlights were active both over Mainz and other cities on the route to the target.

This source said that submarines would be the greatest danger in the South Atlantic, because the South Atlantic is "very crowded" and the chances of a surface raider being sighted were "very great." Once seen, a raider would have to steam southward into a "dead area" until search slackened, he said.

Chinese Support India In Her Uprising

CHUNGKING, Aug. 12—(AP). — The Chinese, who stand to lose from strife in India, expressed their support for the Indian Nationalists in editorials regretting the arrests of their leaders and appealing to Britain to seek a peaceful settlement.

The newspaper attitude reflected the opinion of Dr. Sun Fo, president of the Legislative Yuon, who declared that "Chinese sympathy is entirely with the Indians" in their struggle for independence.

A Government spokesman expressed China's readiness to do anything in her power to bring a settlement in India lest the situation hamper the Allied war effort and especially the movement of supplies to China.

The spokesman declined to indicate what steps Chungking had in mind. Asked whether sympathy shown the Indian Nationalists by the Chinese press might impair Chinese-British relations, he said: "We hope our relations won't be effected in the least."

Some editorials argued that India's demand for freedom was in line with the Atlantic Charter concerning the rights of all peoples to choose their own forms of government.

"The British-India problem forms a link in the common war," said the newspaper Ta Kung Pao. "Once this link falls out it will affect the united front as a whole."

India is a vital bridge between China and her sources of supply abroad.

"China is not only sympathetic toward India but, because of military reasons, is concerned over what happens in India," the newspaper added.

"Events in India might prompt Japan to change her plan of attacking Siberia and, instead, attack India. We wish fervently to appeal to the British government to control its emotions and show political wisdom by looking for a genuine solution . . ."

The official Central Daily News, also appealing for British "forbearance," declared the arrest of Mohandas K. Gandhi and his aides does not solve the India problem, which, if permitted to pursue its own course of development, will not only affect the war in the Pacific but also the war as a whole."

The desire for independence "is the desire of the whole Indian nation, therefore the arrest of a handful of Congress leaders and the use of force worsens rather than improves the situation," said the China Times.

A Chinese spokesman, asked whether China regarded the release of Gandhi as a prerequisite to a British-Indian settlement, said "the Chinese government has no idea as to the procedure for reaching a settlement."

"Any suggestions now," he added, "might not be helpful."

He said that although legally the Indian problem is a domestic British problem, it is the moral concern of all of the United Nations, and bore directly upon the future prospects of a better world order.

The spokesman said it might prove helpful to have a "Pacific Charter" in which specific assurances were given.

Claim Solomon Scrap So Close Ships Collided

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP).—A Domei broadcast today from Tokyo pictured the sea battle of the Solomon Islands as a struggle at such close quarters that United States and Japanese warships actually collided.

The broadcast, purporting to quote information obtained yesterday from Capt. Shoichi Kamada, Japanese navy spokesman at Shanghai, still persisted in the fiction the battle was over and presented it as a one-night encounter.

Kamada, Domei said, called the outcome a defeat for the United States forces—a version at conflict with the announcement Monday of Admiral Ernest King, Commander in Chief of the United States Navy, and subsequent information in Washington and Australia.

The broadcast said Kamada attributed this supposed reverse to poor training of the American forces for night fighting and surprise when they met Japanese naval opposition as well as Japanese Air forces.

bers, representative of all parts of Canada and all men are trained soldiers.

These are a few of the things Sgt. Kenneth Nice can expect to take as part of his training. First he will pass through a hardening course and will learn to jump, land and tumble from walls. Next comes jumping from a tower 250 feet high. The first tower jumps are controlled, that is the parachute is guided by guy wires. Then there are the free jumps, individual jumps from aircraft and finally mass jumping from an aircraft.

All this serves to show that this is no job for anyone who is not in A-1 shape physically and who has not plenty of nerve and daring. Those who have a love of adventure bred in them find this the most thrilling branch of the service and according to his father, Sgt. Nice can hardly wait to get going on the course. This new branch of the service is opening up a splendid field for the men in the army.

OTTAWA, Aug. 12—(CP). — The Belfast-born commander of Canada's 1st parachute battalion and the 10 men already chosen for the force are temperamentally attuned, apparently, to their new job of seeking adventure from the skies.

At least, that was the impression given in interviews yesterday when all agreed a yen for action and adventure is the strongest single stimulus to enlistment in the force which will train at Shilo, Man., after the organization group has taken preliminary instruction at Fort Benning, Ga.

The slim, blond man who commands the parachute troops, Maj. H. D. Proctor of Ottawa, will leave tomorrow for Fort Benning after selecting two officers and another 10 men to complete his party of six officers and 20 N.C.O.'s which will comprise the foundation of the force.

Maj. Proctor, who flew in from Halifax to take the new post, said paratroops may be called upon to serve "where it is difficult to get men to the spot by ordinary methods." For instance, they might be used to seize a bridgehead where a river was to be crossed or to swoop down upon an enemy headquarters in the rear of battle lines.

Second-in-command is Maj. R. F. Routh, 28, of Montreal, a member of the reconstituted Royal Rifles of Canada. He confirmed an earlier announcement that the battalion is to be 30 per cent French-speaking. Lieut. H. K. Robinson, 28-year-old Montrealer, was on leave yesterday but will be back in time to leave for Fort Benning with the others. The fourth officer so far selected is Lieut. Thomas W. R. Brier, 28, of St. Johns, Que.

Deny Sabotage In Midland Fire

TORONTO, August 12—(CP) — Although the $186,000 fire at Midland, Ont., July 14 was accidental with no evidence of sabotage, Fire Marshall W. J. Scott, K. C., in a report to Attorney-General Gordon Conant late yesterday said "its spread was due in a great measure to the failure of the plant management to provide adequate fire protection."

Mr. Scott said the Dominion Government has elaborate agencies for the protection of war industries against sabotage "but it is important to keep in mind that fire is equally destructive whether it is caused by sabotage, by arson or by accident, and in equally damaging to the means of production of the weapons of war."

Attorney-General Conant commenting on the report, said while there was some satisfaction in knowing the fire was not the result of sabotage "the suggestion that our war industries are not adequately protected against fire is rather disturbing."

Treason To Face Another Seven

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—A decision to ask treason indictments against possibly half of the 14 persons held as suspected accomplices of the eight Nazi spy-saboteurs who landed in the United States from Nazi U-boats, may be announced late today by Attorney General Francis Biddle.

(A press conference has been called for 3:30 p.m., EDT.)

Biddle and some of his top aides have been reviewing the evidence against the 14 for several weeks.

Treason is the highest of all crimes and carries the death penalty.

Ten of the 14 are held on general charges of assisting the eight saboteurs, six of whom have been electrocuted, one of whom has been sentenced to life imprisonment and the other to 30 years in prison.

The two who escaped the death penalty, George John Dasch and Ernest Peter Burger, may be used as witnesses against some of the alleged accomplices.

Here are the 14:

Helmut Leiner, 33, German citizen, alleged to have aided Edward John Kerling, leader of the Florida group of saboteurs.

Anthony Cramer, 42, German-born, naturalized citizen, accused of helping Werner Thiel, a member of Kerling's party.

Miss Hedwig Engemann, 35, native of Brooklyn, N.Y., alleged to have helped Kerling by changing bills of large denomination. The Nazis brought more than $170,000 in American money with them.

Hermann Heinrich Faje, 36, native of Hamburg, Germany, naturalized citizen, charged with having agreed to keep a money belt containing $3,600 for Heinrich Heinck, one of the four saboteurs who landed on Long Island.

Mrs. Maria Kerling, 38, widow of the Florida group leader.

Ernest Herman Kerkhof, 36, German-born, naturalized citizen, alleged to have been "intimately associated" with Mrs. Kerling. No actual assistance to the saboteurs by Mrs. Kerling or Kerkhof was charged in original F. B. I. statements.

All of the above live in the New York City area. The following live in Chicago:

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Max Haupt, parents of Herbert Haupt, a member of Kerling's group.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilhelm Froehling, uncle and aunt of young Haupt. The F. B. I. said the Froehlings were "important contacts" for the Nazi agents and that their home was to be headquarters for the sabotage expedition.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jaques, both German born, alleged to have aided Hermann Neubauer, one of Kerling's group.

Ship Shortages To Bar Japs Stolen Luxuries

By MAX HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 12. — (AP). — Luxuries from conquered lands won't be going to Japan for some time to come.

Japan's ocean-going shipping — pared considerably by sinkings from its pre-war estimated 6,000,000 tons —is swamped with far more vital tasks than carrying such things as sugar and spices to the island empire.

As the one great industrial country of the Orient, she must ship raw rubber, iron ore, chromite, oil and tin back to her manufacturing centres from occupied territory and feed them out again in the finished form.

This may well be breaking the back of a merchant marine already over-burdened before Dec. 7 and now harassed by Allied submarines reported reaching even into the entrances of such harbors as Yokohama's.

Japan's industrial cities of Osaka, Yokohama and Tokyo are vulnerable to attack. Thus the great protected plains of Manchukuo months ago began sprouting factories, munitions plants and other desperately-needed industries.

To-day Japan's troops are spread as thin as rainwater over an area that staggers even the Japanese; it is 6,000 miles from the Aleutians to the Indies north and south, 40,000 miles from Rangoon to the Pacific-mandated islands east and west.

The shipping problem is made more complex by the island empire's over-worked land transportation system, trying vainly to keep a constant flow of products from 15 industrial regions created before the war in an effort to diversify and scatter essential manufacturing.

Into New Towns.

Industries were picked up bodily from Tokyo, Yokohama and Osaka and resettled in towns hardly on maps.

The enormous tasks placed upon the Japanese navy by the war means that the country's fleet of trans-Pacific liners must brave submarines without convoy, taking their chances on their speed and little less.

Persistent rumors spread in Tokyo that the liners Yawata Maru and Nitta Maru, both 16,500-tonners, were torpedoed.

A hard blow was the acknowledged loss of the 14,457-ton Taiyo Maru, sunk off Japan. Loss of the ship was announced but nothing was said about the reported drowning of 600-odd English-speaking financial and business experts bound for the Indies to whip their resources into wartime economy for the military.

Early in March at least four large troop-laden Japanese transports were sunk out of a convoy bound for Formosa to Kobe.

To supplement their shipping, the Japanese acquired some 80,000 tons of French ships, including a passenger liner of the Marshal Joffre type which entered Yokohama as the Asama Maru left for Lourenco Marques, Portuguese East Africa exchange port, with Canadian and American repatriates now aboard the Gripsholm.

The French crews marched off, refusing to sail under the rising sun. French law backed them up.

This meant the Japanese had to find six or eight full new crews at a time when finding sufficient numbers at all is a major problem.

This scarcity of seamen seemed emphasized by the handling of the Asma Maru by her inexperienced and youthful crew.

wants the ground,' he said. We want to detroy the enemy' force.

"In the Middle East, it doesn't matter a tuppance whether you're at Bengazi or El Alamein. The only advantage of being at Bengazi is that you'll have farther to fall back if you have to."

Chief obstacle to overcome in tank maintenance, is sand, Col. Miller said. "The sand in Egypt isn't the kind of sand you find at beaches. It has pebbles and dust, and scraps of wood, sometimes. It's often a fine sort of dust that lies shallow on a hard base. When you run through that kind of stuff, it gets into the engine-valves and magneto—and the wear is very rapid."

Though Col. Miller admits having been in several battles, he had nothink to say of his personal experiences. I' know how to put treads on lences. 'I don't know about the other things."

China War Push Speeds On Faster Than Ever

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
and J. D. WHITE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 12.—(AP)—United States bombers have gone to China and spurred her to a new faith in the sixth year of a war she has fought alone until now, and still fights with unwavering sacrifice and devotion.

Even Japan's Chinese puppets have begun to waver. They have told American missionary doctors in the over-run areas how they and the forces under them now are holding on, playing at co-operation with the enemy—because non-co-operation means death for themselves and all the Chinese around them—until the day comes to strike.

China's war effort is in top gear. Behind the lines, far from smoke of countless daily battles, millions of Chinese—men, women and children —toil in thousands of small factories.

China's war factories, bombed by the Japanese almost without opposition for five years, are scattered and camouflaged in hundreds of mud-walled villages.

Just Waiting

At the front, huge armies continue to play their old game of wait-and-pounce, a wily scheme which has kept the invader at bay despite his wealth of armament.

The Chinese pay heavily in men because the Japanese know the game now and blast at the inexhaustible manpower which flows against them. But China's millions keep coming.

More millions of communist and other guerilla forces harass the invaders' communications, ambush his transpo[illegible] massacre outlying garrisons a[illegible] sabotage his political and econom[illegible] schemes in the dominated regions.

Even poorer armed than the regulars, the guerillas show a morale and courage which flames more passionately today than ever.

Last spring and summer, the Japanese sent division after division against the communists in North China in what was announced as the final anti-guerilla mop-up. The Japanese announced, as usual, that the guerillas were annihilated. The next night the hit-and-run fighters of China captured six walled county seats where they just has been "expunged."

Like the regulars, the guerillas wait for the day when the Japanese are on the run. The only possible prediction is that they will take a terrible vengeance. The invade may not even be allowed to retreat.

Rascals Lose Chance For Playoff Spot

PORT HOPE, August 12—(ENS) —The Tuesday night ball game at King's Field put the Rascals out of competition for the beautiful cup which has been donated by Mr. Jack Kelly, manager of the Queen's Hotel, and is now on display in the front window of Budge's clothing store on Walton street. The final score for the Grill was 9 while the Rascals had one.

A 7-run rally in the 6th inning by the Grill put the Rascols out of competition and gave the 1941 champions the right to meet the Queen's Beavers in the finals of the Port Hope Town Baseball League.

Up to the end of the fifth the Grill was leading 2 to 1. In the sixth inning the Rascals got a man as far as third. Pointer, the first man up in the sixth for the Grill singled. Friar popped to Blow for the first out, but after that it was a regular merry-go-round with the Rascals going to pieces and when Friar for the second time up grounded out to short for the final out, the Grill had scored seven runs and were leading 9 to 1.

The Rascals opened the game with a single by Bennett; his first of two hits. The losers never gave up and in the seventh inning loaded the bases, but failed to score. Tommy Pointer pitched a swell game for the Grill, only allowing four hits and striking out six.

President Tom Dawley announced at the finish of the game that the finals will be a three out of five series, with the first game on Thursday evening at 6.30 sharp. All games will be Tuesday and Thursday, with any postponed game the following night. The Queen's Beavers finishing in first place will be the home team.

But No Stove

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 12—(CP).—The new government freezing order on electric stoves has chilled the heart of a bride here, whose father bought her an electric range to be installed when she returned from her honeymoon. Along came the order and now the bride has a well-equipped apartment—except for a stove.

Nazis' Latest Plane Captured

This is the latest Nazi single-seat fighter plane, the Focke Wulf 190. It was brought down in England after an engagement with fighter planes of the R. A. F. over the Channel. An armed patrol where the plane came down rushed up and overpowered the pilot before he could make good his efforts to ignite the plane. It is shown with the R.A.F. roundels painted on its sides and wings as it was tested by an R.A.F. expert. The Focke Wulf has a speed of 326 miles per hour, carrying four 20mm. cannon and two 7.29mm. machine-guns. The Germans did not want this plane to fall into the hands of the British and the Focke Wulf was used sparingly in raids over the Channel.

Catholic Social Is Huge Success

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 12. — (ENS).—Upwards of five hundred people from this and neighboring districts were attracted to the 5th annual lawn social arranged by St. Mary's church here on Tuesday evening. Apart from the supper a bingo and several other games proved the major attractions for the affair which took place on the lawn south of the church which was brightly lighted for the occasion. The various games continued to hold the crowd until well past 11 when Nancy Hollings drew the names of the lucky ticket holders on the draw from a platform inside the bingo booth. There were ten prizes in all and the winners were as follows: 1, David Dean, Toronto, $10.00 War Savings Certificate; 2, Mrs. Peter Corkery, Campbellford, $10.00 W.S.C. 3, William MacDonald, Campbellford, $5.00 W.S.C.; 5, Mrs. Pat Flynn, R.R. 2, Hastings, $5.00 W.S.C.; 6, Jack O'Rourke, Campbellford, half ton coal; 7, Teresa O'Rourke, Campbellford, radio lamp; 8, Shirley Maynard, Woodstock, living room mirror; 9, Mrs. C. Morrow, Campbellford, coffee percolator; 10, Irene Culkeen, Campbellford, card table.

During the evening a number of visiting clergy from nearby centres visited with the parish priest, Rev. J. V. McAuley and other on the ground. Among those present were Rev. J. J. O'Brien, Peterborough; Rev. C. J. Carroll, Norwood; Rev. J. J. Garvey, Hastings; Rev. P. J. Kelly, Cobourg; Rev. Fr. Conway, London; Rev. L. Rishea, Wooler; Rev. J. J. McCarthy, Douro; Rev. J. J. Regan, Grafton; Rev. H. Farrell, Marmora. At the close of the evening Rev. Father McCauley expressed his thanks to all of those who had contributed in any way to the success of the affair.

Daughter Gets It

GALT, Ont., Aug. 12— (CP).—Percy Hill learned from his daughter, Ivy, that women have the last say in more ways than one. Immediately after a 4-pound bass broke Hill's fishing line, Ivy landed the same fish, which had swallowed Hill's hook.

Candy Under Control

TORONTO, Aug. 12 — (CP). — A. B. Taylor, processing director of the cocoa, chocolate and confectionery industries, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, announced yesterday that prices of children's penny candy are under control following imposition of the 30 per cent excise tax. The manufacturer is not allowed to improve his profit position, said Mr. Taylor.

Peterboro Man Takes Government Job

COBOURG, Aug. 12—(ENS). — Yesterday was moving day in the town hall here. Mr. B. M. Kennedy, Peterborough, temporary appointee to the office of the National Selective Service, Unemployment Insurance Commission, Cobourg, moved into the office adjoining that of the town clerk. This office was formerly occupied by tax collector E. A. Hircock, who for the past month or so has been located in the office adjoining the Judge's chambers. Yesterday also, the office equipment of Provincial Constable David Adair was moved from the office in the town hall lobby to his new quarters next to the office of the counties' clerk and treasurer. The tax collector is now to move into permanent quarters in the vacated provincial police office in the lobby. This will save taxpayers the long trip upstairs which they had to make when Mr. Hircock's office was next to the town clerk's.

Ex-Circulation Man Dies

TORONTO, Aug. 12 — (CP). — William Patrick Elder, circulation manager of the Toronto Evening Telegram for 50 years, died at his home here late Tuesday following a six weeks' illness. He was 82. His first job in Toronto was driving the first delivery wagon owned by the late Timothy Eaton. Mr. Elder was employed by The Telegram for 54 years, retiring ten years ago.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR WARTIME DOLLARS DO MORE FOR YOU

Here are practical answers to many of today's family money problems

ARE YOU wondering how you can stretch your pay cheque? Is it hard to make your wartime income take care of higher taxes, War Savings Certificates and contributions to war charities, in addition to your regular living expenses?

Many men and women have found help in Household's practical booklets on money management and better buymanship. These are 24 illustrated booklets which we publish to help our customers get more out of their incomes. We feel that many other families may find these publications helpful at this time. So we are now making them available to Canadians everywhere.

These booklets will tell you: (1) How to plan your spending to make your wartime dollars do more for you. (2) How to judge quality and compare values when shopping.

You can make your money go considerably farther if you decide just how you're going to spend each pay cheque before you spend it. Decide what you must have and what you can really do without before you start to buy. The Budget Calendar tells a simple way to do this. It's altogether different from ordinary books on budgeting.

The Better Buymanship booklets discuss the buying of food, clothing and home furnishings from the standpoint of the consumer. They tell you what materials give the best service, how to recognize the best "buys," how to know when a price is fair. You become your own judge of quality and value.

For many years we've had daily contact with families with money problems. From our experience and study have come these booklets. We believe that you will find them full of practical suggestions for stretching your wartime dollars. The information is unbiased, dependable and up-to-the-minute.

You may obtain any of the Household booklets you wish for 2½ cents each in stamps to cover mailing costs. (Budget Calendar sent free.) Eight of the twenty-four booklets in the series are described below. Why don't you choose the booklets which interest you and send the coupon today?

Money Management Principles (MMP). This new booklet gives a simple, practical way to go about keeping your expenses within your income. It tells how to make your income meet your needs.

Stretching the Rental Dollar (SRD). Tells the points to be checked when you select a new home, how to cut moving expenses, how to read your lease.

Money Management Budget Calendar (MMBC). Makes budgeting easy and simple. Ends tiresome bookkeeping. Contains "plan for spending" sheets for every pay day in the year. (Free).

Money Management Home Furnishings (MMHF). This illustrated booklet tells many ways of making your home attractive. Shows how to give your home style and smartness at low cost.

Stretching the Food Dollar (SFD). Gives many practical meal plans and shows how to buy foods needed for the best nutrition of your family. Full of ideas on how to save money on food bills.

Meat (6). How can you cut your meat bills? What is the best way to cook various cuts? How can you recognize good meat before you buy? The answers are in this booklet.

Stretching the Clothing Dollar (SCD). How to get the most from the money you spend for clothes for the whole family—by simple planning, intelligent buying, and the right care.

Fabrics (23). Facts about Nylon, Vinyon, casein fiber, and other new fabrics. What special care do they require? How can you make woolens and cottons last longer? The answers are here.

Campbellford Town Council Aids Red Cross; Provide Emergency Room

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 12 (ENS) —Red Cross workers were advised of the emergency quota which the local branch has been asked to prepare when they met for their regular meeting here on Tuesday. According to the report of the secretary a nursing emergency reserve is being set up in all branches affiliated with the Nursing Auxiliary of the Canadian Red Cross Corps, to aid in time of epidemic or disaster. In connection with this service the Ontario Division has asked that special supplies should be kept on hand in all branches at all times to meet whatever emergency should arise.

It is not that any immediate necessity for them is anticipated, but simply that we must not be caught unprepared in times like these.

The Campbellford Branch has been asked to prepare an emergency unit comprising 100 sheets, 75 pillow cases, 25 blankets, 25 quilts, 50 bed jackets, 150 gauze handkerchiefs, 75 face masks, 50 hot water bottle covers, 25 binders, 25 pkg. pads (2½ doz. to pkg.) It is pointed out that this requisition together with completion of former civilian quotas entails a great amount of work and as a result everyone is asked to volunteer their services so the quota may be completed in good time. On August 7th the following articles were sent to Toronto headquarters—5 turtle neck sweaters, 5 turtle neck tuck ins, 20 pr. socks, 20 pair seamen's socks, 20 pair mitts, 14 sleeveless sweaters, 15 helmets, 14 pair gloves, 15 women's gowns, 25 pair boy's shorts (size 6), 50 boy's blouses (size 6), 5 infant gowns, 1 afghan, 3 quilts.

It was revealed that the town council had consented to prepare and look after a place suitable for the storage of emergency reserve materials. Campbellford has been designated as one of the 5,000 units set for the distribution of materials should an emergency arise. All members having tickets on the draw for quilts or wood were asked to leave them with Miss Keir not later than Saturday, since the draw will be made at the Rotary Carnival on Tuesday, August 18th.

Quick Relief From Pile Irritation

30 years ago a Bufalo druggist created an ointment for relief from the itching and smarting of Piles. It brought such quick cooling, soothing, astringent relief that its fame spread throughout the country, and made Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. Ask your druggist for a 50c box of Peterson's Ointment to-day. Money back if you are not delighted with relief.

America In The Judgment Seat

This war has forced many unfamiliar roles upon the United States, and the most recent is probably the most perplexing. Gandhi, Nehru and their followers, the Moslems under Dr. Jinnah, and the Government of Great Britain have all called upon the great republic to witness the excellence of their intentions and actions in India, for all three realize that it is deeply concerned in their problems and may yet have to take action among them in order to restore peace. The U.S. is taking its responsibility with the deepest seriousness.

American opinion is well summed up, we think, in this quotation from an editorial which appeared in the New York Times on Friday last:

"We do not believe that Gandhi, Nehru, Jinnah or any other responsible Indian leader desires the victory of Japan and Germany. We do not believe that Cripps, Churchill or ny other responsible British leader desires to withhold freedom from India for a single unnecessary day, nor that any of them would question the solemn statement of The Times of London, more than five months ago, that 'British dominion in the Far East can never be restored'."

But the U.S. knows that its fate is bound up with the fate of Britain and India too closely to be content with a merely academic judgment; the end of British dominion in the East need not involve the disaster of India's deliverance of herself into the hands of the Japanese, and such a disaster might prolong the war for the United Nations by years. Even now Gandhi has called for a general strike in India which, he thinks will bring victory in a few months, though precisely what this victory will involve he does not make clear.

It seems probable that Gandhi's violent action may throw the weight of American opinion on the side of Britain, and if that should happen the Indian people may regret their action bitterly. For the American view will certainly be that the best decision, for India as well as for the rest of the United Nations, will be that which does most to hasten an Allied victory, and unrest in India can never be anything but a stumbling-block.

Long Arms?

There is an old Scots proverb which says "Greedy folks have long arms." Yesterday in our news columns we published a story about needless buying in Peterborough which definitely pointed to some cases of long arms in this district. There was a rumor over the week-end that soap might soon be rationed, and as a result there was a run on soap in the local shops. Some other household necessities, including table salt were in unusual demand also.

We do not know whether soap is going to be rationed or not, but if it should be necessary to ration it we may be sure that we will get enough to manage with. Sugar, tea and coffee are now rationed, and although the ration is not bountiful it is enough to scrape by on, and even more important, it is all that we can have. Rationing is not imposed merely to annoy us, but because it is necessary. Let us abide by it like adults, instead of snatching and grabbing like greedy children.

It displays a lack of what the Chinese call "proper feeling" to try to get more than one's fair share when the supply is limited. Attempts to form a small corner in soap reflect a regrettably superficial notion of cleanliness.

Let's Forget It

We are growing a little weary of reading in magazines and newspapers that the Japs and the Germans have an "inferiority complex" and that their brutalities are attributable to this source. It may be true or it may be false; we do not feel qualified to pronounce upon the mental state of nations of several millions. But true or false it makes no difference to the fact that they are our bitter foes and that we do not dispose of them by attempting to diagnose their state of mind.

An "inferiority complex" is a part of a theory of neuroses evolved by Alfred Adler, the Austrian psychologist, and it is a complicated and abstruse matter. Unfortunately the expression has been made a catch-phrase by people who pretend to knowledge which they do not possess, and it has become popular to condemn anyone we do not like by accusing them of harboring this disagreeable complex; most of the people who over-work the expression are no more able to detect an inferiority complex than they are to diagnose stomach ulcers. Do you remember how, in Nicholas Nickleby, Miss Squeers wrote to the hero, saying, "I pitiles yer ignorance and despises yer"? That is very much what the people do who accuse the Japs of having an inferiority complex.

We shall not say that wars are not won by words; words help a great deal. But this particular bit of misused psychological jargon does not help us and it does not harm the Japs or Germans. It is simply talk, and a peculiarly foolish and irritating kind of talk. Let us drop it.

Short Way With Saboteurs

Tomorrow it will be two months since the first four of the eight Nazi saboteurs landed on the shore of Long Island; the other four arrived in Florida on June 17; the arrest of the gang was not announced until the 27th of that month. Now six of the saboteurs are dead, one is imprisoned for life and another for thirty years. It has not been so long, has it?

And yet all during the past few weeks there has been impatience for a decision in the matter. Some newspapers did not hesitate to accuse the U.S. Government of being needlessly slow and punctilious in its process of law. These journals apparently reflected a popular feeling that the saboteurs should have been shot out of hand.

Two months is not too long a time to spend in safeguarding an attitude toward law which is the result of many painful centuries of labor. No one can ever say that the saboteurs were not given a fair trial; they even had the unsual benefit of a hearing before the U.S. Supreme Court. Doubtless a day will come when the documentary proof of their guilt will be valuable, and meantime the U.S. has shown its contempt for such travesties of law as the Reichstag trial and the recent farce at Riom. We have no doubt that the saboteurs, for all their acquaintance with American ways, were surprised at the just treatment which they received. And the conclusion of the matter is quite as satisfactory as any hasty action could have been. The whole matter reflects the greatest credit upon our ally, and it will never have to be re-opened. Sometimes in these matters the longest way is the shortest in the end.

Pity Becomes Superfluous

We never tire of examining the statements of the German intelligentsia; it is like looking into a tank filled with strange, unsavory deep-sea fish, so far is it divorced from life as we know it. Our latest discovery in this viridiscent, undersea world of thought is a statement made by Herr Kunz, Rector of the University of Berlin, regarding soldiers who lose their limbs in battle: "For everyday life" says this leader of opinion, "a man does not need two hands and two legs... Soldiers who lose both legs can, for example, continue to ride horses." And he completes his dissertation on this interesting topic by saying, "Pity is completely superfluous."

There may be something in what Herr Kunz says; for some time we have felt that too much pity was being carelessly splashed about the world. Indiscriminate pity can become a dreadful vice. Pity unaccompanied by help, for instance, which we lavished upon China during the early years of its war with Japan, was mere vicious self-indulgence. Nevertheless, there is still a place for pity in the world, and men who have suffered mutilation of body and mind in battle are deserving of it.

But we doubt if pity is in order for Herr Kunz, who has to go through life without a brain. There is a persistent rumor that this savant was a veterinary in his early days, and that his rise to the Rectorship of one of Germany's great universities came shortly after Hitler rose to power. The degradation of noble seats of learning has been one of the greatest Nazi crimes, and the elevation of an obscene clown like Herr Kunz to a scholar's rank is blasphemy against the human intellect, even as this is represented in modern Germany.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An anagram fiend says that the words A. Hitler can be made to spell "the liar." Isn't he a little late with his scoop?

An Ottawa item says: "The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has moved in on the Sweater Girl." The cads!

Now that rubber is to be made from alcohol isn't it time that the temperance organizations began agitating for a non-intoxicating hot-water bottle?

Farewell To Munich

From the
NEW YORK TIMES

FUNERAL services were read in London last week over the Munich compact, which Hitler made in September, 1938, and which he broke in March, 1939. The boundaries of the Czecho-Slovak Republic now stand on the books of the United Nations as they stood before the cession of the Sudetenland. There is a temptation to say that this action is late and futile. One can't unwrite history.

One can, however, see history in perspective. In that long view we may not wish to unwrite Munich. In one sense the democratic cause was betrayed in that city. In another sense the agreement there made was a testament of democracy's faith in peace. The old Prime Minister and his umbrella were not solitary, nor wholly insignificant, nor entirely weak. They stood for some things that we cherished. When they went off into the twilight the last of the hopeful idealism of the nineteenth century went with them.

THOSE who come after us will never have to ask who wanted this most dreadful of wars, that came so swiftly after the proclamation of "peace in our time." Munich settled that question. A majority of 222 votes in the House of Commons ratified the settlement. A universal sigh of relief, pathetic and ironic to remember but expressing profound emotion, rose like a prayer. A few coldblooded realists, here and in Britain, may have hoped that the German drive would be 'channeled eastward" and that the Nazis and the Communists would destroy each other. The masses of mankind in the threatened countries knew only that their homes and the lives of their sons had been spared.

Humanity had come to the banks of a dark and cold river, into which it would not willingly plunge. The inarticulate crowd in the streets, in the factories, on the farms, may have known better than the statesmen and philosophers how wide that river was, how impossible it would be to go back once they were embarked upon it. The surrender at Munich faithfully reflected a hesitation in the folk mind.

It was only a hesitation. It did not alter the nature of the long-term decision. If it permitted the material strengthening of Nazi Germany, it also brought about the spiritual strengthening of the democracies. Today we are in midstream. The familiar shores recede. The old days are for dreams and memories. We move toward a new world: a desert world, a slave world, if the Axis is allowed to prevail; a braver, better world than mankind has known if we hold the course and keep the faith.

WE Americans cannot help thinking in terms of our pioneer experience. In our national memory, a part of our character as Americans is the emotion of leaving comfortable and settled homes and going into hardship and danger in search of freedom and new lands. We have our River Jordan, though we may call it the Mississippi, or the Platte, or the Humboldt, or the Snake, or the Columbia. Old ways, old homes and many whom we loved must be left behind. How could we go forward without regret? How can we, who rested in so many Munichs between the attack on Poland and the attack on Pearl Harbor, pass harsh judgment on the "men of Munich"?

The splashing of oxen, the shouting of drivers, water rising into the wagon-beds, swift current ahead, the cottonwood trees hazy on the other shore, snowy mountains on the horizon, passes opening into the Promised Land—have we not known all these things before? We cannot look back at the camp on the Munich meadows. There are better camps beyond the mountains. There we will unyoke. There we will build our new homes. There we will plow and plant. There we will set up memorials to our dead. We shall not go again to Munich, nor to the pleasant land that lies horizon-down beyond it.

Unconsidered Trifles

"During a recent interview with his army chiefs," says a neutral agency, "the Fuehrer was literally beside himself." This may have something to do with the persistent rumor that Herr Hitler has a double.

Officer: What on earth are all you artillerymen doing wandering about and climbing trees?

Gunner Sap: We've camouflaged the gun so well, sir that we can't find it ourselves.

Simms: "And you reckon you save money by going through the household accounts every evening with your wife?"

Grant: "I save dollars, old man. By the time we balance it's too late to go anywhere."

The vacuum-cleaner salesman who had an appointment found the housewife unable to keep it. He suggested the following day.

"That's my busy day," she said. "If you call then you will find me in a whirligig."

"That won't worry me, madam," he said. "My last customer was in a kimono."

An R.A.S.C. recruit had been out on an Army lorry for his first day's driving, and when he returned he had to report a slight accident.

"Sorry, sarge, and all that," he announced brightly, "but I ran over a fellow."

"Good heavens, was it serious?" gasped the sergeant.

"No, no! Just bent the wing a bit and scratched the paint work!"

Gritts, the grocer, pulled his apron straight and put on an expensive smile, as the woman with the I'm-placing-a-thumping-big-order air entered the shop. She wanted some cheese.

"Yes, madam!" smirked Gritts, "I have some delightful Derbys, madam, a quantity of choice Cheddars, and also prime Cheshires."

Madam would like to taste some, if she could.

Gritts flourished his gouge over this cheese and that. Madam nibbled at 11 different samples. No; none of them was quite what she wanted.

"Of course, madam," said Gritts at length, "if you require Stilton—" and he handed her a generous helping.

"Ah," nodded the woman, "that will do nicely! Now, I'll be getting home. I only wanted to bait a mouse-trap!"

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR WIFE

Black Sea Control Hun Goal

By EDWARD BOMAR

THE unchecked drive of Hitler's war machine puts the Germans within sight of attaining one of the prime objectives of their whole Russian campaign — the complete control of the Black Sea as a transportation route.

The top Nazi schemers probably are just as eager to win control of this historic 700-mile long link between Europe and Asia as they are to seize the North Caucasus oil fields.

The day's despatches report the invaders to be directly imperilling two points on the Black Sea's eastern shore, Novorossisk and Tuapse, which are almost the last remaining operating bases for the Red Fleet. If these ports fall, the battered naval force will be cornered at Batum, facing destruction or the stark choice of internment in neutral Turkey, scuttling, or some final act of desperation.

This peril has become fairly obvious as the Germans press southward from Rostov. Probably less appreciated is the key importance of the inland sea to their further advances eastward, and to the Nazi grand plot of conquest and a self-sufficient Europe.

From the start, transport by war-damaged, overworked railways and by motor truck over poor and congested roads has been an Axis bottleneck, just as high seas shipping remains the crucial weakness of the United Nations' war effort.

Access to the oil and grain of the Caucasus promises therefore only limited profit to the conquerors unless it includes control of the water route by which bulky cargoes immemorially have been moved between Southern Russia and Europe.

Now Berlin is rejoicing in the prospect of being able to link the Black Sea as a transportation route with the Mediterranean. The Nazis unquestionably hope as well to win Leningrad and with it the entire Baltic Sea highway of the north.

As a step to exploit the prospective Black Sea opportunity, a new pipe line is reported now to be under construction inland from the Bulgarian port of Varna.

Novorossisk is not yet in Nazi hands, of course, and Ankara despatches report a belief in the Turkish capital that the rugged Caucasus foothills may make this port a more difficult nut to crack even than Sevastopol, even though Nazi bombers can hammer at the city's defenses from the Crimea, only 70 miles or so distant.

Considerable Misunderstanding

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

APPARENTLY there has been a good deal of misunderstanding,—and misunderstandings have a way of breeding a lot of grumbling,—with respect to single men on farms having received notice to report for medical examination. People, it seems, have too often jumped at once to the conclusion that the Government was ordering them into compulsory military service.

It is well that Mr. Lorne McDonell, registrar of the National War Services, has explained the facts. He is quoted as saying that the recent order sent out to these men on the land is giving them every opportunity to stay on the farms if they take the trouble to supply the Department with required information, and if that information shows there is a real need for them on the land. In fact, the responsibility rests on the Department of National War Services to prove, when such information is furnished in good faith, that the men "are not neded in agricultural pursuits.

It should be realized, however, that the authorities are quite aware of the fact that many men, most of them single, but some married, quit the land to go into war industries and earn "good money," then promptly returned to the soil when the possibility of compulsory military service came to the front. But to take care of those who were faithful to farm life, a date was set in Parliament by which no young men of the age groups engaged in essential farm work on and before March 23 are being called up for military service.

It was appreciated by members of the House of Commons that every bit of farm produce must be harvested, so far as possible, and every effort be made to carry on the raising of live stock because food is necessary for the successful prosecution of the war. At the same time, a war is being fought, a war which is demanding everything that we, Britain, the United States and other allied countries can put into it, and it is no more the duty of one class of citizen to fight for the preservation of Canadian homes than it is for other classes. It is a life and death struggle for everybody, not merely for some favored groups of population.

If, then, all the Department requires is that a young man within the age limit concerned, should report for a medical examination and as a part of that formality have to turn in a report on the number of acres or other data, together with the statement of two reliable persons that the one so called is actually required on the farm,—if, we repeat, this is all that is demanded, there should be no ill-feeling over the matter. What is advisable, though, is that every person receiving any communication from the Government or any of its departments should take the time and trouble to read the printed material carefully. Only by so doing can the true meaning be known.

Cross Purposes

Mr. Little, director of National Selective Service, tries to get men and women for war industry; controls hiring and firing of workers. But the Department of War Services calls up men for training in the army; frequently calls up skilled men from the war industries. When the industries protest, call on Mr. Little to save them vital key men which the War Services Department is taking from them, Mr. Little is powerless to help them. In scores of cases this has happened. Actually, we haven't got a real selective national service. We have war industry competing with the army.—Ottawa Journal.

Horrible Skirt Returning

News from New York is to the effect that the hobble skirt is coming back. We can bear that, provided it does not lead to a return of the long, dragging, dust-scraping skirt which preceded it. —Brockville Recorder and Times.

Taste of Own Medicine

It is the first time for over a century that the Germans have been made to learn in their own land what war means; and the taste and memory of that very bitter medicine is an indispensable condition of a really permanent peace. There can be no permanent peace until all nations—and the Germans most of all — realise that those who take the sword shall perish by the sword.—London Daily Telegraph.

Want No Divisions

John Diefenbaker, in the House of Commons, pleaded that there be no divisions on the basis of "a hyphenated Canadianism," citing the case of a Saskatchewan man who served against the British in the former war and today has four sons in Canada's armed service. It's a good argument—nor should there be divisions of east and west. The Dominion's national should be just Canadians.—Montreal Gazette.

Reading The Paper

There certainly is a strong moral in the story told about knowledge gained from reading the newspapers as given in the current issue of Printed Word. Today they are more efficient in keeping the public informed than in the days of the great President to which the story relates. As Printed Words points out:

Andrew Jackson was an ignorant man. It was generally agreed that this must be so because he missed school due to being wounded in the American Revolution when he was twelve and due to being busy from then on fighting duels and Indians and the battle of New Orleans. They called him Old Hickory because he was tough, but they had small respect for his learning. In the Presidential election of 1824 he was opposed by the New England scholar, John Quincy Adams. A ditty went the rounds during the campaign, setting out the respective merits of the candidates: Jackson who can fight, or Adams who can write. Adams won and Old Hickory retired to his plantation on the Cumberland.

Here he did nothing of an educational nature except to read forty newspapers. He chose these papers carefully to give him a fairly good sampling of opinion from all over the twenty-seven or so states which made up the U.S. in those days. Like another homespun man of great hearts, the late Will Rogers, Old Hickory knew nothing except what he read in the papers. After four years of littering the house with all the issues of forty newspapers, Andrew Jackson had another try for the Presidency. This time he overwhelmed Adams and he remained Chief Executive for eight years, the greatest President between Jefferson and Lincoln. Even then some people insisted that he must be ignorant because he hadn't been to school. "All he reads is the newspapers," they said. They never could understand how Old Hickory came to know more than they did.—St. Catharines Standard.

Resting on the Oars

In connection with the C.C.F.'s proposal to limit retainable income, one paper asks: "And who would work hard to get a large income for the C.C.F. members of Parliament to take away " So the old "resting on their oars" theory appears once more. Mr. Meighen could testify as to the public's reaction to that.—Toronto Star.

Don't Throw it Away- WE CAN FIX IT!

The following merchants wish to bring to the attention of the people of Peterboro the necessity of Repairing whenever possible.

Repairs Are Gaining New Importance In Man's Enforced Economy

Somewhere in the narrowing range of wartime economy between the necessary and well-considered purchase of new goods on the one hand and the salvage of the outworn and discardable things on the other, increasing emphasis is shifting today to the expedience of making things do, resorting to repairs.

The word rationing is abroad, and its implications are only gradually becoming manifest as they reach into every home. Repair shops are taking on a new importance, and the tone of advertisements on this page suggests that men who are engaged in repair work have come upon an expanding opportunity of enlarging their usefulness in the community.

Replacements are not the matter of course, routine of business they used to be before the war straitened people about with its tremendous and encroaching demands.

Your toaster sputtered out of use this morning, and you were going to get a new one anyway..."May be we could get it fixed up for a while longer."

The stove's oven door cracked up in some way. "Well, we've had it since we were married, and it doesn't owe us anything. So perhaps we might as well look around for another."...But, you remember—what about the supply of metals? Probably a welding job would do for another year or so, possibly for the 'duration.'

Such little domestic effects of wear and tear are every-day experiences. Going down town to buy replacements, off with old and on with the new, was all very well before the word priorities was thrust upon people's attention.

You look dubiously at that suit of clothes, that fall coat. Well, you don't have to go around looking like a scare crow. Clothes have a subtle but strong influence on morale. Still, the government has been saying a lot about wool shortage. Possibly the cleaner could wangle another month or two of wear out of those garments.

How about a paint and overhaul job on the car, if you are still fortunate enough to be driving one? The market is not flooded with cars, and mechanics can do wonders.

The sewing machine has been clacking. Some other gadget is out of tune. The radio is worn out. You know how it goes with such things in your own home. Probably the radio man could manage to stall off replacement for a little longer. Call him in any way and ask him about it.

It is all a matter of common sense. If you need the new suit, a winter coat, that settles it; but in the general run of domestic affairs why not think of the possibility of satisfactory repairs? In most instances you may be "helping the cause" by not rushing off to buy the new article if you can extend the life of the old one a little longer. Merchants are having their own time replacing some lines that have been sharply crimped by demands of commodity materials for war purposes.

Coupon Booklets Will Carry Tickets For Seven Different Items

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—Ration Book No. 1, as the issue is officially designated, is nearly complete for distribution in the Toronto area. Three hundred school teachers have been working on the addressing, checking, sorting and rechecking of the books, and will have completed their tasks by Saturday. Jarvis Collegiate Institute, where the work is being done, has a half dozen rooms in use to accommodate the workers on the 1,277,000 booklets that will be in the mails by the first week in September.

Pink tickets will get you sugar; green tickets will get you coffee or tea, and blue, brown or black tickets will get you—who knows? The sugar coupons are the only ones that carry the name of the commodity. All the others are marked "Spare A, Spare B," and so on. Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials said that the books carry a six months' ration of sugar, tea or coffee, and that the three extra colors are simply to take care of the eventualities that may crop up within the next half year, as did coupons A, B, C, D and E on the temporary sugar ration cards, now used for tea and coffee.

Both the brown and the black coupons sheets are double, with twenty-six coupons of two weeks each, but there is no indication by Toronto officials of any immediate use of these. Potentially, the books might cover seven items if the brown and black slips were sub-divided.

Addresses written on the books issued in Toronto range from Port Credit on the west to Brighton on the east, and from Toronto in the south to the northern limits of Muskoka. The writing has all been done by hand, and represents an enormous volume of work.

V. J. Hudgins, Toronto teacher who set up the issuance processes, pointed out some of the difficulties in the way. Faulty application blanks were chiefly to blame, he said, and thousands of these waste a great deal of time. Hundreds have had to be classed as "permanently faulty," so that anyone who does not receive a ration book in response to an application should check his memory to make sure that his address was put in. On a number of cards, addresses were filled in, painstakingly enough, but the name was left out.

Duplications cause many difficulties, too, Mr. Hudgins pointed out. At one time six telephonists were employed in checking on cases of suspected duplications.

Final checking of births and deaths is made before the books are packaged for mailing, and a permanent record is kept of those to whom ration books are issued.

Age is an important factor in issuing the books, because the green sheets for tea and coffee must be torn out for youngsters under 12. At Jarvis Collegiate there were thousands of detached green sheets yesterday.

Teachers are paid for the task, Mr. Hudgins added, but their work is voluntary to a certain extent, inasmuch as many of them are working for sums that represent less than 25 per cent of their regular salaries. Also, he believed that it would have been impossible to obtain such accurate results as are being achieved without recourse to teachers on vacation. On Monday, the staff completed 157,725 books.

Some idea of the filing task was given by the "M" clasification of names. There were twenty boxes of "M" surnames, with 2,300 names to a box—a total of 46,000 under one letter of the alphabet.

Kingston Ace Wings 2 More

LONDON, August 12. —(UP) — Renewed activity over Britain has given Wing. Cmdr. Paul Y. Davaud of Kingston, Ont., leader of a Canadian Beaufighter squadron of night fighters, a chance to train his cannon on snooping raiders after a long spell of idleness.

He claimed one aircraft probably destoryed and another damaged. The C. O.'s observer and R. A. F. pilot officer saw pieces flying off the wing tips of the Heinkel 11 after his skipper had given the raider a burst. The Heinkel was last seen diving at 390 miles an hour into a cloud at 1,000 feet. Later, a Do217 was sighted at 14,000 feet and Davoud chased it in a screaming dive down to 2,500 feet. Hits were observed on the port wing and fuselage.

WESTCLOX GIRLS WIN FIRST PLAYOFF GAME 9-6 OVER GENERALS

Winners Come From Behind To Nab Verdict

Wesclox got the jump on Generals in the Girls' Softball League playoffs by taking the first game of the best four-of-seven series at the Bowl last night 9 to 6. The game was called in the last of the seventh after the Big Bens had scored three runs with nobody out to break a 6-6 deadlock.

To turn the trick the Westclockers had to come from behind twice. Generals led 2 to 1 at the end of the first half of the third but the Big Bens evened it up in their half. Again at the end of the first half of the sixth the ultimate losers had a 6 to 5 margin but Westclox got a run in their end of the frame to sew the thing up and then won out in the next inning.

The chief difference between the two clubs was in their fielding. Generals made six misplays and nearly all of them figured in the run-getting. Generals out-hit their opponents but not enough to offset their mistakes in the field. Generals' battery errors were costly, five runs counting on passed balls or wild pitches.

The game was marred by an accident which sent Norma Strickland, starting pitcher for C.G.E. out of the game. In the fifth a vicious drive from the bat of Isobel Bullock, Westclox catcher, struck the Generals' mound artist in the stomach and she fell to the ground. She had to be taken home and Bea McDowell finished the game.

Westclox used two pitchers, Marg. Watson starting and Isobel Bullock being sent in in the sixth when the Generals staged an up-rising that netted them four runs.

Eunice Armstrong with three hits in four times up led the Westclox attack. Her base-running also helped and she crossed the plate three times. Isobel Bullock had two hits in three trips to the plate. For Generals A. DeCarlo, May Wade, Bea McDowell and Marilyn McCarthy each had two hits.

Westclox started the scoring in the first when Aggie Anderson was safe on Norma Strickland's low throw after fielding a bunt and then went around on a passed ball and two wild pitches.

Generals went ahead in the first half of the third. Marilyn McCarthy singled over second but was forced by Elva Adamson. A. DeCarlo flied out but Norma Strickland singled and May Wade tripled to centre to send in a pair of runs. Phyllis Bigelow rolled to short for the third out.

The Big Bens evened up in their half. Eunice Armstrong singled to right for the first Westclox hit, went to second when the throw to first got away, and reached third when May Wade dropped the ball in trying to tag her. Eventually she went home on a wild pitch.

Westclox went out in front in the fourth when Aggie Anderson walked to start with and after V. Patterson fouled to the catcher Eunice Armstrong singled to right and Marg. Hawthorne to left. Then came the line drive that hit Norma Strickland and forced her out of the game. Three runs had crossed the rubber by that time but Bea McDowell, who went in to pitch, put on the brakes by getting the next two batters.

Then Generals had a big inning in the first of the sixth. Phyllis Bigelow opened it with a triple to left centre. Bea McDowell drove another to the same field for three bases, scoring Phyllis Bigelow. Isobel took over the pitching duties for Westclox at this stage and passed Phyllis McQuade. Ruth Hewitt fouled out to Marg. Hawthorne but M. McCarthy doubled to left scoring two runs and A. DeCarlo got a single back of second when three Westclockers went into a huddle on the play and another counter was registered putting Generals in front 6 to 5. However, Westclox picked up a run in their half to make it all even again when Barbara Rome singled and went around on a wild pitch and two passed balls.

Isobel Bullock struck out May Wade, Phyllis Bigelow and Bea McDowell in succession in Generals' seventh and then Westclox won out in their half. Eunice Armstrong led off with her third hit, a double to centre and ran to third on a wild throw. M. Hawthorne walked and stole second. On a passed ball Eunice Armstrong slid home with the run that put the Big Bens ahead and when Bea McDowell tossed the next pitch over the screen Marg. Hawthorne registered. Isobel Bullock singled to short and stole second. V. McLean singled to centre, scoring Isobel Bullock and at that stage Umpire Bill Bennett called the game on account of darkness.

3-Year Contract For Boudreau

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12—(AP). — Lou Boudreau, Cleveland Indians' 25-year-old manager-shortstop, has been signed to a new three-year contract extending through 1945, Club President Alva Bradley announced last night.

The new document replaces Boudreau's present two-year contract which was to extend through the 1943 season. No mention was made of a raise for the youthful manager, but it was believed to call for more than the $25,000 annual salary Boudreau now is reported to get.

Bradley explained that Boudreau would finish the present campaign, his first in a managerial role, under the present contract and that the new one becomes effective next year.

It was only after considerable worry about Boudreau's comparative youth that Bradley finally decided to make his flashy shortstop the managerial successor to Roger Peckinpaugh, who was promoted to the top front office job. Lou has responded by keeping the Indians in a neck-and-neck race with Boston for second place in the American League.

Players cheered and Boudreau, who has the Tribe scrapping with Boston for second pace despite the loss of Pitcher Bob Feller, responded:

"Naturally I'm happy, but I want you fellows to know that I'm not fooling myself. It's you who have done the job for me."

Although the present contract carried through 1943, Bradley offered no explanation why a new three-year document was signed for 1943 through 1945. He also made no mention of a salary increase, but it was presented he had given his playing shortstop more than the $25,000 annually believed to be called for in the present legal papers.

Only after a week of hesitation late last year did Bradley appoint Boudreau the Indians' 15th pilot since the club joined the American League in 1901.

In Feller the Indians lost a certain 20-game winner and Les Fleming currently is the only .300 hitter on the club—but Boudreau has kept the Indians in the money all season, partly by acute juggling of pitchers. Under Lou, Jim Bagby and Chubby Dean are enjoying their best seasons.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The popular Soldier team faces elimination when they clash with Plazas in the second game of their City League semi-final playoff series at Riverside Park tonight. The hockey squad have the edge in the series as a result of grabbing off the first game with a Frank Merriwell finish and they need only to win tonight to qualify for the City League finals. On the other hand, a victory for Soldiers would leave the two clubs tied up and make a third game necessary. Tonight's battle therefore should be about the most thrilling of the year. The team from the Military Training Centre will fight every foot of the way to keep in the running while the Plazas will be just as determined to end the series in two straight games. The pitching choices look like Tom Parsons for Plazas and Powell for the Soldiers while the rest of the lineups will be about the same as in the first game Friday night, although Plazas will have to dig up a new left fielder to replace Julian Wade who is now in the navy. The league leaders are well off in the matter of reserves and will be able to fill the gap. Tonight's game will start at 7 o'clock sharp and undoubtedly the season's largest attendance will be in the stands when the umpires start the two clubs off.

The City Softball League cannot be accused of not doing its bit for war charities. Already four benefit games have been staged by the loop and now the executive announces that the proceeds from Friday night's second playoff game between Royals and Luckies will be turned over to the O.A.S.A. bat and ball fund to help supply softball equipment to Canada's armed forces. The local league has already held one benefit for that worthy cause but there is still great need of equipment for the men in training and so it has been decided to make another donation to the O.A.S.A. fund. The City League in arranging benefits has always made it a point to set aside good games for that purpose. In the latest instance they have named a playoff game and that means that the total raised should be a sizable contribution from Peterborough for the bat and ball fund. A draw prize will be arranged for and the year's biggest crowd is hoped for.

Girls Playoff Too

The Girls' Softball League also has a playoff tilt on the menu tonight. At the Ashburnham Bowl the Electrics and Brintons will tie into each other in the first game of a best four-of-seven series to decide the junior championship and possession of the Knox trophy. It should be quite a series. On the season's play there is not much to choose between the two outfit and with the uncertainty that always hangs around playoffs anything is likely to happen. One of the most interested parties in town in the outcome will be Umpire Bob Batley. He coaches the Electrics squad and has a daughter playing on the lineup. On the other hand another daughter, Marg, plays first base for Brintons so either way the Batley family will be in on a winner. Tonight's game will see two pitchers who have been doing the "iron man" stunt all season, pitching all their team's games, matched against each other with Leila Hughes, right-hander tossing them for Brintons and Mary Larmer, southpaw, on the hilltop for Electrics. The game gets under way at 7 o'clock sharp.

* * * * * *

The Girls' Softball League seems to be following the pattern of the Men's Loop. Both playoff games in the latter organization staged so far were won in the last half of the final inning and the same thing happened in the first girls' playoff tilt last night when Westclox won out by scoring three runs in the last frame played to take the decision 9 to 6. Fielding and battery errors beat the league leaders. Five of the Westclox runs were scored on passed balls or wild pitches. Westclox had a field night running the bases, especially Eunice Armstrong who crossed the home plate three times and bowled a few Generals over en route on each occasion. The set-up is a best four-of-seven affair and the win gives the Big Bens the initial edge on the series which will be resumed on Thursday night when the two old rivals tear into each other again in the second game of the final round.

Fourteen For Hughson

If the Boston Red Sox had a few more pitchers of the calibre of Mister Tex Hughson, the club piloted by Joe Cronin would probably be looking back over their shoulder at the rest of the American League right now. Hughson garnered his 14th win of the season yesterday and it was scored at the expense of the New York Yanks. He is the first pitcher in the loop to reach the 14 victory mark and he did it by spacing ten Yankee hits so neatly that the leaders where able to score just two runs in eleven frames. Hughson has lost only three games. The Red Sox managed to grab off three, getting the third in the 11th at the expense of Fireman Johnny Murphy who had relieved Marvin Breuer. It was Murphy's seventh loss of the season against four wins. Red Rolfe hit a homer for the Yanks and Lou Finney slammed his second of the season for the Red Sox.

* * * * * *

Al Milnar was a tough luck pitcher yesterday. The Cleveland southpaw was within one batter of a no-hit, no-run game against the Detroit Tigers and then didn't even get a win out of it. Roger Cramer banged out a hit with two out in the ninth to spoil the no-hitter, and the game dragged out fourteen innings to a scoreless tie. Buck Newsom turned in a neat job of pitching to hold the Athletics to five hits and the Washington Senators who are hot right now and have won five games in a row defeated the A's 3 to 1. Christopher was the losing pitcher. Meanwhile St. Louis put the breaks on the Chicago White Sox winning streak after it had reached nine straight games. The Brownies won in hollow fashion by 9 runs to 2.

* * * * * *

In the National League Mel Ott's Giants who are playing great ball these days climbed into third place by a 6 to 4 triumph over the Boston Braves while Cincinnati Reds were dropping a game to the Pirates. The winning pitcher for the Giants yesterday was none other than Van Lingle Mungo who won his first victory in a New York uniform, although he had to be relieved by Adams in the ninth frame. Jim Tobin toiled on the mound for the Braves and was credited with his 16th defeat. In the Pirates-Reds' game Gornicki held Cincinnati to six hits and the Pirates sparked by hard hitting on the part of Bob Elliott won the argument 3 to 1. Cards picked up half a game at the expense of the Dodgers who were idle by winning 7 to 2 over the Chicago Cubs. Max Lanier pitched a five-hitter to win his eighth triumph of the season, Olsen was the losing pitcher. Cards made sure of the win by chasing four runs home in the ninth.

St. Peter's Cinch Top Place Beating Knights

Top honors in the C.S.L. was cinched last night at Memorial Park when St. Peter's pulled a hard-fought game away from the K. of C. forcing them to take the short end of an 8-2 score.

Knights are still tied with Sacred Heart with seven wins apiece. St. Peter's cannot be caught by Cubs now as they have fifteen wins, with another four-point tussle coming up Thursday night, while the latter have but two games left unplayed.

K. of C. opened up the scoring by pushing a counter over the plate in the first inning. They held St. Peter's scoreless until the third when they broke out in a five-run splurge, making the score 5 to 1. The winners accounted for another in the following frame and the losers came right back in the fifth but could only get in one leaving two stranded. After this the Knights never came to the fore again while the Saints chalked up another two in the last half of the sixth to settle the game score.

Jones for the K. of C. pried off the lid by singling into left field. Tracey was safe on Rochetta's error, Jones advancing. Anthony grounded to Rochetta and both runners advanced on the peg to first. Wolff made it on Condon's muffle and Jones scored, Tracey going to third. Mills hit to Rochetta who tossed out Wolff going to second and Rev. Father Wolff completed the double play getting Mills at first.

Rochetta Tops

Rochetta, St. Peter's lead-off man, walked. Father Wolff grounded to third, Rochetta being tossed out at second. Tompkins double pushed the runner around to third. Kerr grounded to Anthony, being tossed out at first. Condon popped to Mills.

Mongraw flied to Conroy in left to start the second inning. Harrington popped to Condon. Masterson singled but Baldwin popped to Perdue.

Prete flied to Jones in St. Peter's half. Conroy grounded to Tracey and Perdue popped to Mills.

In the third, Jones flied to Condon, Tracey rolled to Rochetta, Anthony was tossed out by Rochetta.

St. Peter's busted the Knights' defence wide open in their half of the third. Gordon singled. Rochetta flied to Masterson. Father Wolff was safe on Baldwin's error, pulling up at second as Gordon wound up at third. Tompkins flied to Masterson, Gordon scoring. Kerr singled to right to score Father Wolff. Conroy walked. Prete was safe on Mills' error, filling the bases. Condon was safe on Anthony's error, Kerr and Conroy scoring. Prete scored on Perdue's single. Gordon flied out to Anthony to end the inning.

Wolff grounded to Rochetta to start the fourth. Mills singled. Mongraw popped up to third. Harrington was safe on an error but Masterson grounded to Rochetta.

Heavy Hitting

In the last of the fourth Rochetta flied to Baldwin. Father Wolff singled. Tompkins and Herr were passed, filling the bases. Conroy walked, Father Wolff scoring. Prete flied to Baldwin. Condon flied to Harrington.

Baldwin opened the fifth with a single. Jones flied to Prete in centre. Tracey grounded to Rochetta who tossed Baldwin out at second. Anthony and Wolff both singled, Tracey scoring. Mills popped to short.

Perdue flied out in St. Peter's half of the fifth. Gordon grounded to first. Rochetta singled. Father Wolff flied to left, Harrington making a sensational catch to retire the side.

Mongraw started the sixth inning grounding to Rochetta. Harrington popped to the catcher. Masterson flied to right.

Tompkins was safe on Mills' error. Herr doubled scoring Tompkins. Conroy was safe on Wolff's error, Kerr scoring. Jones took Prete's fly and Condon grounded to Tracey. Perdue flied to Harrington.

Baldwin started K. of C. seventh by grounding to Tompkins. Jones doubled and Tracey was walked. Anthony popped to Perdue and Wolff grounded to second to end the game.

Gordon and Mongraw both tossed swell ball allowing only seven safe blows apiece. The former walked one and the latter had five walks credited against him.

Offensively Jones was out in front for the K. of C. with a double and a single in four trips, the only one to get more than one hit. Herr led his teammates with a single and double in three sallies to the batting box and Tompkins had a double in three.

TORONTO, Aug. 12 (CP) Everyone is sorry to see Toronto Argonauts dropping out of football this season, particularly the many who feel such a move is unnecessarily pessimistic. But Argos are following a trend only the most hardy of Canadian football clubs have been able to withstand.

There were ten senior teams in Canada last year. The present reading: three (Toronto Balmy Beach, Ottawa, Montreal) will operate on approximately the usual basis; one (Winnipeg) will attempt to hang on despite the impossibility of main-

Henry Trophy Won By Ottawa Bowlers

TORONTO, Aug. 12 — (CP). — E. D. Berry's Ottawa Lawn Bowling Club rink won the Henry Trophy here Tuesday in the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association championship tournament after scoring a brilliant four on the final end.

Going into the last end Berry's rink trailed Frank Raney's Toronto Boulevard Club four by three points.

Berry's rink beat T. James' Toronto Runnymede four 18-9 in the Henry Trophy semi-final after disposing of Paul Neilson's Buffalo quartet 18-12.

Another Ottawa four, skipped by Staff McCartney, reached the semi-finals of an unclassified rink competition with a 23-15 victory over A. G. Merrin of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Doubles play will begin today. Semi-finals and finals in uncompleted rink events also will be played.

CANADIAN GRIDIRON LOSES ARGONAUTS SQUAD FOR DURATION

Royals Wallop Leafs Twice By 5-1 and 4-3

By The Associated Press.

Syracuse Chief pitchers have dished out 49 goose eggs since Friday.

The Chiefs won their fourth straight shutout triumph over Baltimore Orioles last night as Charles (Red) Barrett hung up his 17th victory of the season 5-0. The victory moved the Chiefs into fourth place in the International League, 2 1-2 games away from the second place Jersey City Giants.

Syracuse now has blanked its opponents 49 consecutive innings. The major league record for consecutive scoreless innings is 56, held by Pittsburgh Pirates who set the record in 1903. Pittsburgh also holds the record for consecutive shutout games won six, set the same year.

Barrett now has an 18-inning streak of his own. During that time he hasn't issued a walk.

Elsewhere in the league, Newark Bears stretched their first-place leader to 11 games as they defeated Jersey City Giants, 2-1 and 5-1 in a twilight-arc double-header.

Al Gerheauser won his 11th game of the year in the nightcap by limiting the Jerseys to three hits.

Rufe Gentry won his own game when he singled home Mayo Smith in the 12th inning and Buffalo Bisons defeated Rochester Red Wings 2-1. Gentry struck out 10 and retired the last 13 men he faced.

Montreal Royals defeated Toronto Maple Leafs in both ends of a twin-bill 5-1 and 4-3. Chet Kehn tossed a one hitter in the opener, in winning his seventh game of the year.

Gene Moore's 17th home run of the campaign was the deciding factor in the nightcap as it came in the eighth inning with one man to put the Royals one tally to the good.

Hambletonian's $40,000 Trot Draws Big Entry

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug. 12—(AP).—The horse and buggy boys made their annual pilgrimage to this country village yesterday to decide trotting's richest prize—the $40,000 Hambletonian.

Although the village was faced with its usual housing and feeding problem, gas and tire rationing curtailed travel from the metropolitan area some 75 miles away. As a result, not more than 10,000 or 12,000 fans are expected to see the eleven 3-year-olds match strides over Bill Cane's triangular track.

First of the two-out-of-three one-mile heats Wednesday will start at 3 p.m., with the second scheduled for 3:45, and the third, if necessary, 45 minutes later.

Although Colby Hanover stands out by reason of his 2-year-old championship last year and a mark of 2:03 made in winning the National Stakes at Old Orchard Beach, Me., the field is one of the largest in recent years. Colby was purchased by C. W. Phellis, retired New Yorker, and I. W. Gleason, timber man from Williamsport, Pa., from the estate of Eugene Frey of York, Pa., for $15,000. He is expected to go postward at odds of three to two.

Bad Breaking Habit

The son of Mr. McElwyn has the bad habit of breaking, but if he stays in stride he figures to take the winner's purse of $20,489. His chief opposition is expected to come from B. C. Mayo's Paxton Hanover of Tarboro, N.C.; Green Diamond, Lea McNamara's home-bred son of Athlone Guy from Indianapolis, and Pay Up, with whom R. H. Johnston, the Charlotte, N.C., textile man, hopes to make it two straight. Johnston won last year with Bill Gallon.

Paxton has not won a race this season, but he was a contender in the Matron Stakes and in the Natio. Green Diamond won one heat of the National before bowing to Colby.

The others to hear the experts talk, are just out for the ride. They are: William E., owned and driven by William E. Miller of Washington; The Ambassador, for whom Bill Strang of New York paid $5,000; Thomas Thomas' Scotland's Comet of Cleveland; George L. Benham's Cannon Ball of New York; Colby's No. 1 rival last year; Seven Up, hope of Ebby Gerry of the Army Air Force, and the two fillies—George L. Hempt's Follow Me of Camp Hill, Pa., and Mable Hanover owned jointly by D. J. McConville of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and C. L. Gaines of Sherbourne, N.Y.

Purely Amateur

Kenora, Ont., Aug. 12.—(CP).

THE Native sons of Canada last night, rejected a proposal submitted at the 16th biennial convention here that the organization sponsor a "purely amateur hockey cup" to replace the Allan cup.

The resolution from the Port Arthur assembly stated that the cup for the senior hockey championship of the Dominion "in our opinion is no longer an amateur trophy.

Delegates rejected the proposal because many professional athletes and others who have made their living as hockey players have now joined the active services and will in all probability be playing for service teams next season.

Three Teams Left

The not unexpected demise of the Scullers, the reckless, offensive mad team which Lew Hayman built, left Balmy Beach, Ottawa Roughriders and Montreal still in the fold and cleared the way for armed services clubs to enjoy membership in the E.R.F.U.

In a short, dramatic meeting the sole remaining pillars of football in this country, now that the West has consigned itself mainly to service teams, settled a question which has been causing concern in many quarters.

Tommy Alison, president of the Argonaut Club, in announcing the decision of Argos to disband during war years, said: "We of the Argonauts are slow to make up our minds. But our minds are made up. We will not have a team."

Slowly he added: "And I might say I believe it is foolish for you (delegates of Ottawa, Beaches and Montreal) to attempt to carry on a league at this time."

Mr. Alison, who has been to England and observed war preparations, said that Argonauts had decided on their course of action early in July. He would like to see Argos' place taken by a military team, he said.

Hamilton May Come In

Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa made the motion favoring continuance of senior football in the east. Johnny Nelson of Balmy Beach seconded this move for the purpose of debate prior to Mr. Alison's declaration on behalf of the Double Blue.

With Argonauts on the sidelines it is more than likely that Hamilton Wildcats, Eastern Canada finalists of last season, will be invited to field a team in the E.R.F.U. Invitations will also be accorded service teams and the possibility of a six team league is seen.

Montreal, according to Gus Ogilvie, delegate of the Quebecers, will field a semi-service team, and, he added, Squadron Leader Lionel Conacher, new director of Royal Canadian Air Force sports activities is more than a little interested in the possibilites of a Lachine, Que., air force team.

The E.R.F.U. is prepared to work out a schedule for four, six or mayhap eight teams. It invites entries and requests they be in the hands of Secretary Jimmy Dolan, 15 King Street West, as soon as possible.

They'll Be Missed.

Withdrawal of Argonauts leaves the famous Toronto Club without a senior grid squad for the first time in twenty-three years. Argos folded during the last war, took up the fight again in 1919, and from then until now have won five Canadian championships. It was Argonauts under the direction of Lew Hayman (Flying Officer Hayman, R.C.A.F., now) that virtually created a new mode of football as it is played and football as it is staged with the side trimmings.

Hayman, schooled in the American game and the forward pass, particularly, set up spectacular offensives to such an extent that scoffing rivals termed it "hot potato stuff." But it won championships and attracted people to games. Going further afield Lachrymose Lew took a leaf from the color pages of college ball and added a band with drum majorette. He formed an alumnus of ex-Argonaut players, steamed up interest and made Argos the streamlined club of the Canadian grid.

What will come of the invitation to service clubs cannot be guessed at right now. It is expected to bear fruit, particularly in the R.C.A.F.

The effect of Argos' decision is widespread.

Beaches Will Be Strong.

Beaches are quite likely to wind up with a very powerful club. Ex-Argonauts, married, in the services or in vital war industries who will be available to the Balmies, include Bob Cosgrove, Annis and Frank Stukus, Earl Selkirk, Les Ascott, Jack Wedley, Steve Levantis and a host of others. Beaches are counting on Eddie Thompson, Sammy Sward, Hugh Cuddle, Leo Deadey, Bob Reid, George Shields and many of last year's team. Some promising high school youngsters will also be used.

Alex Ponton will again coach the Balmies. Ross Trimble, erroneously reported in the R.C.A.F., is expected to look after the Ottawa coaching duties. Montreal hasn't decided on a coach as yet.

It is obvious that the selective service board is in favor of sports carrying on. Through the kindness of the Department of National Defence, Ottawa Roughriders have been granted the use of Lansdowne Park for this season. Balmy Beach may move dressing-room quarters to Varsity Stadium this fall to save costs of hauling equipment there for home games and to make it more central for their players, some of whom work in war plants in the west end.

Delegates at the meeting included Jimmy McCaffrey of Ottawa; Gus Ogilvie, Montreal; Tommy Alison and Dr. M. Kinsella, Argonauts and Ab Box and Johnny Nelson, Balmy Beach, and Jimmy Dolan, secretary.

Indians Battle Tigers 14 Innings To Scoreless Tie

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

With New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers monopolizing the major league pennant races, fans who like their baseball close must be getting an occasional thrill these days out of the way the other first-division clubs are scrapping for the consolation prizes.

Yesterday, for instance, Cleveland Indians battled Detroit Tigers for 14 innings without a score on either side. While the Tribe missed a chance to retake second place in the American League, the deadlock produced the nearest thing to a no-hit game the current campaign has seen.

After playing to a standoff in the twilight half of a doubleheader, the two teams came back under the lights and Detroit triumphed, 3-2.

Thus Boston Red Sox, who stopped the Yankees 3-2 in an 11-inning daylight tilt, retained possession of second place at least for another day.

At the same time, New York Giants recaptured third place in the National League from Cincinnati by beating Boston Braves 6-4 while the Reds were going down before Pittsburg Pirates 3-1.

At Cleveland, Lefty Al Milnar of the Indians bid seriously for the first no-hitter since Lon Warneke turned the trick for St. Louis Cardinals against the Reds last Aug. 30, and nearly made it.

York Gets One In 13th

There were two men out in the ninth inning when Roger Cramer singled for the first blow off Milnar. But the Indians also were held scoreless by Tommy Bridges, although he yielded nine hits. The only other blow off Milnar in the five extra frames was a single by Rudy York in the 13th.

At the end of 14 innings, the game was halted by darkness and an American League rule that won't permit daylight contests to finish under lights. It went into the books as a scoreless tie, to be played off today as part of a doubleheader.

Dizzy Trout pitched the Tigers to victory in the second game, limiting the Tribe to seven hits.

All this happened within a few hours after Lou Boudreau signed a new contract to manage the Indians for three more years.

Detroit's victory enabled the Tigers to regain fifth place, with the help of St. Louis Browns, who snapped a nine-game winning streak for Chicago White Sox. Denny Galehouse pitched the Browns to a 9-2 triumph, tossing a four-hitter at the White Sox which pushed them back to sixth place.

In another night affair, Washington Senators downed Philadelphia Athletics 3-1 behind Buck Newsom's five-hit pitching.

Tony Lupien's 11th-inning single drove in the run that gave the Red Sox their hard-earned triumph over the Yankees and chopped the Bombers' margin to 12 games.

While Brooklyn Dodgers were idle, St. Louis Cardinals reduced the margin between them in the National League to 8½ games by whipping Chicago Cubs 7-2. Max Lanier hurled five-hit ball for the Cards.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK August 12 —(AP)— In spite of transportation troubles folks up at Goshen figure on picking up a nice piece of change from the Hambletonian....Not such a big crowd for the one day but a lot more people decided to come early and stick around for all three days of racing....Bridgeport, Conn., is due to get its first taste of big-time boxing since Jack Delaney's day when Lee Savold clashes with Mike Alfano there next week. Promoter Billy Prince figures the war workers have enough dough to make it pay..

The Western Pennsylvania Golf Association has two scholarships at Pitt and one at Duquesne for caddies and wants to place one at Carnegie Tech....Well, any time a kid can count enough to go to college he's no good as a caddie.

Nothing but the tooth.

When Dr. Harold Flickinger, a Siloam Springs, Ark., dentist was going muskie fishing at the Lake of the Woods, he remembered stories he had heard about anglers whose crockery molars had popped out and had been engulfed by voracious fish ....The doc figured anything was worth trying so he attached two treble hooks and a spinner to an "upper metal base acrylic denture" and cast it into the water ....During one morning five muskies and a Northern Pike were landed on this lure....apparently they took the hint that he wanted them to bite.

Pro golfers who draw tournament starting times before 10 a.m. refer to themselves as the "dawn patrol" but since he joined the navy Sam Snead says he'll never complain again about having to tee off at 8:30 ....Sam now turns out at 4 a.m. and likes it.

Gable Joins Army Wants Action

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12.—Clark Gable, who abandoned his screen career when his wife, Carole Lombard, was killed in an airplane crash earlier this year, wound up his affairs yesterday to join the army as a buck private.

He has been assigned his serial number, has taken his physical examination, and will be sworn in tomorrow, not as a bond salesman nor morale builder, but as a fighting man.

He was assigned to the Army Air Force Officer Candidates' School at Miami, and will leave for Florida immediately after he takes the oath. Accompanying him will be his friend of long standing, Andrew J. McIntyre, studio cameraman, who also signed up.

Gable asked specifically that the army let him get into the fray. He said he hoped his superiors would not ask him to sell war bonds, or make personal appearances.

"What I want," he said, "is to be a machine gunner on an airplane, or any place where the going is tough."

Army officials agreed to that: then, informed him he would be sent to the training school in a private compartment aboard a fast train. Gable kicked.

"I want to be treated like any other soldier," he said.

Officers pointed out that he and McIntyre were the only men leaving for the school today. They said that the problem of protecting him from the fans en route almost had the army stumped as it was. He finally agreed to ride in the compartment.

Gable, one of the most popular screen stars Hollywood ever produced, would have been in the army weeks ago, it developed, had it not been necessary for him to have his teeth repaired. He finished his dental work only yesterday morning. Then he went to lunch with Major James F. Brower.

Gable was driving his own fancy coupe. A woman ran up to him and demanded: "Aren't you Clark Gable?"

"No, ma'am," Gable said. "I'm just the major's chauffeur."

ported slowing the German advance in the Maikop region, studded with oil derricks, but the Germans were gathering all their strength for the drive forward, Red Star said.

Extreme concern was felt about the German advance to Cherkessk.

The Germans were less than 150 miles from Ordzhonikidze, the northern terminus of a Georgian military highway which winds through the mountains to Tiflis, capital of the almost-fantastically-rich trans-Caucasia. There, at Baku, it produced most of Russia's oil.

The midnight communique said the Russians were fighting "heavy defensive operations against advancing enemy troops" at Cherkessk and Maikop, a lesser oil centre now generally conceded to German occupation.

Two Ports In Jeopardy

The break-through at Maikop was a direct threat to the Black Sea naval port of Tuapse, 60 miles to the southwest, and also placed troops defending the larger base at Novorossisk to the north in jeopardy. There, too, the battered Russian defenders were in difficulties.

At Krasnodar, on the road to Novorossisk 60 miles to the southwest, the Russians were forced to withdraw after Germans ground through their defence positions.

The picture was brighter on the approaches to Stalingrad and the Volga farther north. The Russians said they were inflicting tremendous losses on Germans attempting to break through south of Kletskaya, about 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

Southwest of Stalingrad, near Kotelnikovski, the Germans were throwing every weapon available into the battle and the Russians were responding in kind. The Russian communique said "the enemy was forced to go over to defensive operations" in one area.

A neutral official in Istanbul said yesterday a German propaganda "inspector" had indicated to him that Germany may have reached most of her 1942 objectives in Russia. He said the German spoke of erecting before winter an "eastern wall" which would run across the northern Caucasus mountains, up the Caspian coast and the Volga River to Stalingrad and then roughly along the present front to Leningrad.

The mid-day communique said 2,000 Germans had been killed in nine days by one mortar unit in the terrific fighting around Kletskaya.

Red Star declared that German drives from Kletskaya and from Kotelnikoski had been stopped after the Nazi columns had made some progress. Northeast of Kotelnikosski, huge German tank forces supported by planes were thrown at the Russian lines and broke through Soviet defences.

Russian forces were regrouped and soon put the Germans on the defensiv, Red Star said.

In some places around Ketskaya, the Germans made from five to 10 frontal attacks within 24 hours, the army organ reported, adding that the Don River should become the barrier in this decisive battle.

The mid-day communique said the Germans had been disclosed from two populated places south of Voronezh on the upper course of the Don and that several Nazi counter-attacks had been repulsed.

Hand to Hand Battle

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 12 — (AP). — United States Marines battled on today in bitter hand-to-hand clashes to broaden hard-won toeholds in the Solomon Islands, while supporting Allied airmen struck effective new blows upon Japanese bases and shipping along a 3,000-odd-mile front.

Progress of the fighting was hidden in official silence, but the latest information, issued in Washington, was that operations are continuing in the area of Tulagi, palm-dotted, two-mile-long island in the southeastern Solomons.

More definite word is not expected until a let-up in the operations permit Vice-Admiral Robert Lee Ghormley, Allied Commander in the South Pacific who is in charge of the offensive, to send a detailed account over his now-limited and overtaxed communications.

But whatever the situation, the United States navy, in a statement in Washington, hailed the landing of the Marines on the shores of Tulagi as having "opened the doors to an Allied offensive in the South Pacific."

From this it was taken that the land, sea and air assault which began five days ago was making headway.

Allied headquarters, still silent on the main operation, told of the fourth air attack within as many days upon Rabaul, big Japanese base on New Britain; destruction of two and possibly five Japanese zero fighters over New Guinea; another raid on Japanese ships south of Timor, Netherlands East Indies; and an attack upon the Kei Islands.

2 Day Attack on Aleutians

In its Washington announcement dealing chiefly with results of new raids by navy ships and navy planes in Japanese-held sections of the Aleutian Islands, the navy dismissed the action in the Solomons with the brief sentence:—

"While the action in the Tulagi area of the Solomon Islands continues, nothing further can be reported at this moment."

In the Aleutians attack begun by navy surface craft last Saturday and continued the next day by naval bombers, guns of cruisers and destroyers knocked out short batteries, set fires and caused heavy damage in the invaders' camp area on Kiska Island and shelled a group of ships, the navy said.

This attack, timed simultaneously with the offensive in the Solomons, left at least two enemy ships damaged and a third sunk, making a total of 21 vessels knocked out since the Japanese made their appearance in the Aleutians.

Report Shots

"We have heard nothing like that," said an officer, commenting on a Canadian Press report from an authoritative source at Ottawa.

Senior officers were not available for comment.

The authoritative source at Ottawa also confirmed a newspaper report that a military service evader fired shots in the direction of R.C.M.P. constables delivering similar call-up notices near East Aldfield, Que., two weeks ago. He declined to reveal the extent of the "armed resistance" in the Quebec City area except to say that one shooting had been "serious."

Newsmen here, constantly in touch with developments, could shed no light on the disclosures. They recalled that the nearest approach to violence in connection with the Compulsory Military Service Act had been several anti-conscription melees involving small bands of youths in Montreal and a jail delivery of two army trainees, held for overstaying their leave, at Asbestos, Que.

Two Who Fought In The Jungle

Shown reclining in the jungle are Lieuts. Wilfred Grenfell and Felix Deshner, two of 10 U.S. army air force men lost in the wilds of the jungle. The men flying a B-24 army bomber headed for a South American airdrome. They were caught in a storm and lost their way, being forced down in a lake surrounded by dense jungle. From July 13 to 24, the day they landed on an American airfield, the men wandered in strange surroundings eating canned food and seeing natives who were frightened by the appearance of white men in their country. After suffering innumerable hardships they were finally picked up by a steamer and brought to safety.

Belmont Family Sets Age Record

HAVELOCK, Aug. 12—(ENS). — On Saturday, August 8, Mr. John Seabrook quietly celebrated his 92nd birthday at his home in Belmont township. Although he has a bad cold at present, he enjoys good health, and is able to look after the chores on his farm. Residing with him is his sister, Miss Fannie Seabrook, aged 82 years, and she does all her own housework. His brother, Mr. Joe Seabrook, age 80 years, lives across the road, and attends to all his own farm work. Another brother, Mr. Barry Seabrook, age 89 years, lives five miles distant, with his nephew, Mr Simon Seabrook. A sister, Mrs. James Scott, age 87 years, lives on Ottawa Street, Havelock, and lives alone and is able to perform all her household duties.

It is rather unusual that three brothers and two sisters should live to celebrate so many happy birthdays together. They are the children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seabrook, who came out from Wexford county, Ireland, 91 years ago and settled first near Smith Falls, and shortly after they moved to Belmont township on the homestead where the son, Mr John Seabrook, resides. The total ages of the five members of this family is 430 years, and their many friends wish them all good health and many more happy birthdays.

Seymour Council Sets Tax Rate

CAMPBELLFORD, August 12. — (ENS).—Little change was seen in the basic rate as set by the township of Seymour and affecting 1942 taxes. The by-law as presented at the regular August meeting by Councillor Duncan provided for a county rate (general) of 9.0 mills; county rate (schools) 4.5 mills; township rate 8.0 mills; general school rate 6.6 mills; High school trustee rate, S.S. No. 8 4.1 mills; High school debenture rate S.S. No. 8, 3.9. The only notable changes over the 1941 by-law were in the township rate increased from 7 to 8 mills, while a lowering in the High school trustee rate from 5.7 in 1941 to 4.1 for the current year practically balanced any differences for the current year by bringing the rate to 36.1 as compared to 36.6 a year ago. The clerk was authorized to add such rates as are required by the various trustee boards of the school sections within the township. Under this same heading a by-law presented by Councillor M. Wight adopted the assessment roll for 1942.

At the opening of their session councillors listened attentively to a complaint from Miss Amy Anderson. Her distress was caused by the whey from a cheese factory which she declared was overflowing vats and running across her property. Council agreed to investigate. J. J. Lewis Hay addressed the session with the request that they renew the workmen's compensation insurance with the company represented by him. On motion of Councillors Wight and Duncan the policy was renewed and the premium added to the pay sheet. A license to operate a dancing pavilion at Trent River was granted to Miss Frances Sedgwick on payment of the $25.00 fee, and a motion authorizing the Clerk to advertise for applications for the office of tax collector was passed. Applications will be received up to August 31st.

The following accounts were passed: Alex Milne, re acct. $3.00; Dunk's Grocery, re acct., $3.00; Town of Campbellford, re acc., $8.15 Bell Telephone Co. $2.75; Counties Treasurer, $119.01; E. F. Clarke, $7.85; J. J. Lewis Hay, ins. premium, $129.02; Goldie McCoy, labour, $45.00; Ted Iliffe, lab., $103.50; D. T. Petherick, supt., $18.40; Mason Bros., gas and oil, $140.78; Canada Ingot Co., supplies, $222.53.

WORKED ONLY ONE WEEK IN TWO

Sciatica Kept Him at Home

It is the wife who sends us this information about her husband's troubles. She writes:—"For some time past, my husband has been able to work only one week in two, on account of sciatica. He suffered so much from it that he could scarcely move for the pain. We tried many things, but without result. Then we saw in the papers an account of the good results that had been obtained from Kruschen Salts, and we decided to give them a trial.

For twelve months past, my husband has been taking his 'little dose' of Kruschen every morning. Now, he has no more trouble with the sciatica, and is working regularly."—(Mrs.) M.

Doctors estimate that one-half of civilized humanity suffers from partial constipation. This condition results in an unsuspected residue of waste matter, which poisons the blood and produces sciatica, as well as many of the mystery aches and pains from which people suffer. Kruschen keeps the organs of elimination in perfect trim, so that every particle of poisonous waste material is expelled gently, regularly and completely.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c. and 75..

Omemee Village Claims Honor Haven Of Many Famous People

Believe It or Not, but the pretty little town of Omemee, situated not far from Peterborough, has served as haven for very famous people. It nestles between two large and stately hills, resting peacefully here, and enjoy the grandeur of a pastoral scene on its river front. The little valley is very picturesque, and its town folk and around about the inhabitants are of the best sort obtainable anywhere. A view from the newly constructed bridge would point out to the best of observers that this community is most peaceful, luring and appreciative. By walking down the west side of the river and glancing over to the other side, the hills stretch forth in graceful lines and rolls, and the inundations of the river as it winds itself south, set up in the mind of the traveler the thought that he has portraying seen the same beautifactions enacted in the charming haunts of dear old Ireland. Really, a little bit of the Emerald Isle has been transplanted here.

To this litte hamlet, very famous and interesting people have come. Something within the laws of nature, apparently, has guided them here, and it would make one think that the same law governs the songful birds as they return each year in their making of Omemee "a little bit of heaven." However, the greatest amongst "us humans" have received a call to this paradise which truly is a garder of Eden.

In every path we wish to travel, Omemee is known as Lady Eaton's town. The little communty has benefitted much by her kindness, for they have a fine Coronation Hall, an excellent church and parsonage and one of the finest dedication ever made to a cemetery. In this lovely cemetery, are the well-kept graves of past inhabitant, and Lady Eaton's own dear ones are at peaceful rest there. Sir John Eaton, the great past industrialist and the late director of the T. Eaton Company, came to Omemee for his bride. Indeed, Omemee has the distinction of being Lady Eaton's old home town.

The greatest scholar of our times, the Hon. Dr. Earl A. James, scion of Lord and Lady Lawrence Townsley and Sir Thomas Lawrence, late director of the Royal Academy and the famous James family of the southern United States, is also an occasional visitor to Omemee. Dr. James is a native of Tennessee and is yet only 37 years of age. In these 37 years, he has become famous. He holds the world record for college degrees which range from medical doctor to all the other professions known to mankind. Over one hundred universities and colleges, including 37 states, countries of Canada, France, Mexico and others, have honored him. The record is far above the next competitor, being that of 112 degrees which represent the professions of medicine, law, clergy, scientist, etc.

Dr. James, through the aid of geometic principles has invented a memory vision system, that will enable one at a high rate of speed to remember thousands of articles in consecutive order, a device that is considered a valuable treasure of the war department, libraries and educational institutions.

A Clergyman

Dr. James was ordained a minister of the church. During the last war, his popularity was known as a fine musician, and this talent he gave to the benefit of wounded soldiers. As a pianist, he excelled, and in that capacity he received a doctorate in music.

He founded National College and incorporated this institution, which comprised of a faculty of over one hundred affilated teachers throughout Canada and the United States. In recognition of his services, the teachers presented National College with a bronze bust of their founder.

The most spectacular event in the way of monetary gain came to the youthful genius was in the two to three year period before the great stock crash of 1930, when he amassed a huge fortune of well over a million dollars.

There is an interesting and complete article in the present issue of Pic magazine, August 4 edition, which gives a fascinating account of the great James family of Missouri and Texas. All America is now watching with keen interest the progress of this famous clan, known as Frank and Jesse James, liberators of the poor, humble and honest people of the southerners which contrasted very much with those undertakings of Robin Hood of Merry England. The two moving pictures, Jesse James and the Return of Frank James which were the pride and joy of Their Majesties, whilst crossing the Atlantic, have already proven to be the greatest pictures that ever came out of Hollywood, California.

Not only has the Hon. Dr. Earl James been known to the world as the grandson and nephew of unique people, known as Frank and Jesse James—but other men who have been clergymen of distinction have been accorded by fate this same circumstance in all its realities. Dr. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, and one time rector of St. Paul's, Bloor street, Toronto, is the proud descendant of "Buffalo" Bill Cody. Buffalo Bill, as he was known, was the great man of the plain in past days during this country's construction.

Dr. James has journeyed to all

EARL ANGLIN JAMES, M.D., LL.D.

Noted as the greatest scholar of our times, who visits Omemee occasionally and lauds the small village as one of Canada's beauty spots.

parts of the world. Most of his youthful days were spent in England, France and Germany with his father, Elmer James who accomplished the greatest racing events in England, known as the Queen's Plate, and the Duke of York Stakes. In Paris, France, his mother became honored when France honored her with the title of Queen of the Ball, the most important social event of the French Republic. Owing to having lived in these lands, Dr. James speaks French, Spanish and German.

Honored by France

His appointment to the French Academie Internationale of Toulouse, France, was granted in the year 1939. To become an Academician of the French Academy is the greatest honor in the educational realm, and to this end, the Hon. Dr. Earl Anglin James was elected and has been known to be the youngest member ever to receive the honor of Academician. In Mexico, this nation's National University of Mexico has bestowed upon him the title of Porfessor Honoradio de la Universidad. In the state of Tennessee, wherein he was born—April 23, 1904, the Tennessee Academy has recently graduated him as a medical doctor.

Dr. James in his varied career is indeed a man of unique fame! The town of Omemee has added him to its laurels!

And the third person of importance who is the son of another great and interesting man is Mr. Charles Shaw of Omemee. Millionaires, artists and famous personalities the world over have lived and dined at the great resort, Bigwin Inn on Lake of Bays. Mr. Shaw of Huntsville, the father of Mr. Charles Shaw of Omemee, controls this great hotel, known as Bigwin Inn. Years ago, the Waw-War Hotel came under the ownership of the Huntsville millionaire. Now, the younger Shaw is creating a beautiful edifice wherein many men of Omemee are to be employed.

Mr. Charles Shaw's father is an interesting personality. Not only has he controlled millions of dollars in his own name, but he has also interested himself in music, and a very large private band. In this band, Mr. Shaw played one of the instruments, and it was indeed difficult to just tell in what location he was, owing to the many musicians in attendance. After several guesses, it would be possible with the aid of a Huntsville inhabitant, to locate the owner of the band—a small man with sharp eyes who was undoubtedly a genius in every sense of the word.

Indeed, Omemee, on the banks of a picturesque river and between two stately hills, has had to its credit an honored company.

U.S. Fighter Aces Reaching Egypt

CAIRO, Aug. 12.—(AP).— United States army fighter pilots have arrived in the western desert to learn flying conditions at first hand as dust storms curtailed the war on that front to ground patrols and artillery exchanges.

The Americans are joining South African squadrons at present, and will fly American-made Kittyhawks and Tomahawks, with which most of them already are familiar, it was disclosed.

Meanwhile battle operations were primarily confined to operation of British patrols over the whole front facing the Germans and Italians.

A communique said casualties were inflicted on enemy working parties in the northern sector, while artillery fire took place in the northern and central areas.

Borrows $16,000 To Pay For School Annex

Authority to borrow $16,000 for a two-room addition to Confederation School was officially sealed by bylaw at a meeting of North Monaghan Council Monday night. Assent of the Ontario Municipal Board had been previously received, and the bylaw required only its third reading.

The money will be raised by debentures paying 4 per cent. for fifteen years. Work on the excavation for the enlargement was begun about the middle of last week.

The council reported completion of the Fradette Avenue sewer, 469 feet. The work was done by Frank Schiarizza on a labor contract with materials furnished by the township. Total cost without carrying charges to the end of the year is about $1,070. Three connections have already been laid. This sewer extends easterly from Lock Street.

The township has constructed 76 feet of sewer main on Charlotte Street west to connect with the new houses built by P. S. Dallin. This is the fourth house he has put up at the bend of the Peterborough-Port Hope highway. Another job was the laying of 84 feet of water main along the same stretch of the highway to the last new house now under construction. Cost of both mains was approximately $425.

Battling Wives Win Again In Police Court

Magistrate E. A. Gee conducted a court of domestic relations in police court this morning when he dealt with no fewer than three charges of assault against husbands, charged with beating their wives, and a non-support case.

In one of these cases a plea of guilty was entered to common assault, instead of assault occasioning actual bodily harm and the accused was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

In another in which W. J. Arthur Fair conducted the defence the husband elected trial by judge and jury and was bailed for trial after the court had heard the evidence of the wife who said her husband had slapped her and bruised her arm.

In the third case Magistrate Gee found the accused guilty but reserved sentence until Saturday. Stories of the wife and husband in this case differed widely. The wife complained that the alleged assault had taken place upstairs and that her husband had struck her a number of times. He swore that the incident happened downstairs and that he had tried to take a knife away from his wife and in the struggle both had fallen.

Magistrate Gee said that he accepted the evidence of the wife and would register a conviction. However he reserved sentence until Saturday.

Industrial Workers Co-operate In Drive

One hundred thousand man-hours without an accident was the satisfactory record reported at 11 o'clock this morning from C.G.E.-Genelco by T. A. Lister as the special safety week approached the half-way mark today.

The score boards at the several entrances were marked with zeros for Monday and Tuesday, and the safety committee was almost through the morning shift without an accident to mar the record.

This afternoon employees rather regretfully reported that one of their number who had sustained a small cut on his hand a few days ago, reported to the Works Hospital with an infected hand. This is the first let-down and spurred workers to greater care in the hope of setting production records in war equipment and reduce the number of days the Canadian boys will have to remain in the dismal war prisons of Japan.

Byrd Expert Killed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP). —Cmdr. Malcolm P. Hanson, who was chief radio engineer of the 1928-30 Byrd South Pole expedition, was killed in an airplane accident Sunday, the United States navy has notified his family at nearby Chevy Chase, Md. Details were not revealed. He was awarded the gold medal of the Veteran Wireless Operators' Association for his service with the Byrd expedition, and held the Byrd Antartic Medal awarded by Congress in 1930.

Identical Pictures

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Aug. 12—(AP).—A continent and a couple of oceans may separate Alan and Lester Earl—but when it comes to taste they're close as peas in a pod. Their mother, Mrs. Earl Lloyd Earl, received picture cards from both boys in the same mail, one postmarked from a Southern United States camp, and the other from a foreign port. The pictures are identical.

Good Neighbors Total $223 For War Victims

At the beginning of this year, two good neighbors, Mrs. P. Kitchen and Mrs. W. Townsley of 58 and 60 Ware street, started working on behalf of the victims of air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, and from this beginning, a remarkable result has been achieved by a group of loyal women in the south end, who gathered around to assist them in this very worthy object

In all, through the medium of small euchre parties held in the homes of the various members of the group, together with small draws on various articles donated for the good of the cause, this group of women have now raised a total of $223 for the fund, counting their 9th contribution in an amount of $10 which appears in today's list of receipts for the fund. This neighborly co-operativeness is a fine example of what can really be accomplished by real team work, and these ladies in the south end seemed to have grasped this to the full when one considers the splendid results they have so attained.

This particular donation was the result of two euchre parties, one of which was held at the residence of Miss T. Reynolds, corner Bethune at the residence of Mrs. J. Reynolds and Dalhousie streets, and the other on George street.

Thus their good neighborliness is extending itself across the wide expanse of ocean to the Motherland, and they may really be termed good neighbors in a large sense indeed.

One box collection was made from the In and Out Shop, which added another $1.50 to the day's receipts for the fund.

Carnival August 21

Continuing very good work that they have previously done on behalf of the fund, the Range Pals, a group of young people in the district immediately surrounding the city, are planning to hold a carnival on the evening of August 21, at the farm residence of Arthur Sayer adjoining the rifle range on R.R. No. 7 Peterborough.

A real night of fun is promised, with moving pictures, sale of needlework, refreshments, a wheel of fortune and bingo.

In conjunction wth this the draw will be made for a very beautiful afghan which was made and donated by Mrs. Hagerman of 555 Water street, who has herself sold a considerable number of tickets at 10 cents each or three for 25 cents, and the Range Pals have sponsored the sale of the balance of the tickets. This afghan is being displayed in a George Street Store, where tickets for it will also be procurable, with all the proceeds of both the carnival and draw coming to the fund.

Traffic Infractions Bring Many Fines

Failure to stop at three different stop signs resulted in a fine of $5 and $2.50 costs for H. Bartlett when he entered a written plea of guilty to the charge in traffic court before Magistrate E. A. Gee this morning.

Several bicyclists were fined $2 and costs for failure to carry a light or reflector on their machines. Foster Ronco and Phillip Basciano were two of the victims under that section of the Highway Traffic Act.

George W. Moore was assessed $2 and $1 costs for parking too close to a hydrant. Dan. Cavanagh, Ennismore, and O'Keefe's Beverages were fined similar amounts for other parking offences.

Isolina Gigliardia paid $2 and $1 costs for failing to obey traffic lights and Samuel Stinson, R.R. 9, the same amount for passing a stop sign.

Too Much Taxing

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 12. —(AP).— "Its positively ridiculous," grumbled Vice-Mayor Fred Simpson as city councilmen studied a state sales tax bill of $4,003.25 on parking meters. "I dont think the state should tax cities," muttered City Manager Walter Cooper. The council voted to pay, but decided there oughta be a law.

Birth Delays Bombers

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., Aug. 12—(AP).—Seeing a dog on the field, the Albuquerque army air base control tower operator held several bombers aloft. Military police dashed to clear the runway just as three pups were born. The mother fled into nearby hills and down came the bombers. The pups went to an Albuquerque home.

Lions Carnival To Boost War Savings

All over the Dominion Miss Canada has been having her innings, and Thursday with the opening of the Lions Carnival, the City of Peterborough is going to have a chance to keep up ts splendid record in regard to its war effort, when a number of local girls will be at the Carnival selling war savings stamps in attractive corsages.

Women of the C.W.V.S. have taken over the planning for this campaign, and they expect to have some girls at the carnival every night and on the street this Saturday and next, and also in the Canadian Department Store, with their stamps. The corsages are made of attractive red, white and blue ribbon with the stamp attached to the ribbon by means of cellophane, and they run in three sizes, for 30 cents one savings stamp is purchased; for 60 cents, 2, and for 85 cents there are three.

The girls have smart uniforms supplied by the National War Finance Committee, Ontario Division, in Toronto. This consists of a red apron with big pockets, worn over a white dress, and a little blue cap completes the ensemble. The girls will carry trays with their corsages and all patriotic citizens are urged to try and support this most worthy effort.

Old Resident Of Township Passes Away

MARMORA, Aug. 12.—(ENS). —Tuesday morning Henry Thomas Clemenger of Marmora township, passed away at his home near Cordova from the effects of a hemorrhage. He was born in Marmora township on Aug. 15, 1867, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. William Clemenger and was one of the best known agriculturists in the township. He had enjoyed good health throughout his long, industrious life until contracting the illness which proved fatal. He was widely respected. He was a member of the United church. He was a member of Cordova L.O.L. for many years until that lodge became dormant. He was married to Drusilla Whitney, also of an old family of Marmora township.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow and eleven children: William, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Gordon, at home; Roy, Oshawa; Joseph at home; Clayton, Marmora township; Clinton and Stewart, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; George, Oshawa; Mrs. Bert Inkster, Marmora township; Mrs. B. Carman, Eldorado; Mrs. Alice Spencer, Havelock; and Marjorie at home.

The funeral leaves his late residence at 1.30 p.m. on Thursday, proceeding to St. Andrew's United church, Marmora, for service, followed by interment in Maple Grove cemetery, near Havelock.

Butter Shortage Believed Likely

Those persons who worry about their accustomed rations might as well begin turning on the gloom for next winter when they are likely to go short on butter.

W. G. Ovens, manager of Campbell's Dairy, remarked today that present stocks of butter are just two weeks ahead of the current market.

"If the creameries were to shut down tomorrow we would probably be out of butter in two weeks," Mr. Ovens said. "The present make of butter is about 65 per cent of normal, while consumption is considerably higher. A lot of the milk and cream is going to the cheese factories and condenseries. Storage for winter is likely to be comparatively light, and the flow of milk will drop as usual to something like half the summer volume."

These are trends which Mr. Ovens believes will continue into the winter with the prospect of having to spread butter with a light touch along about December.

Scouts Chased

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 12.—(CP).—A group of twin city scouts has almost given up daily signalling exercises. Royal Canadian Air Force planes spotted the signals and Ontario provincial police swooped down on the surprised scouts.

Ditty Bag Thief

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 12—(CP) —Police were searching today for what they described as the "meanest thief," who stole a box used for collecting money for the sailors' ditty bags from a cashier's cage at City Hall.

Drowns In Upset

VICTORIA, Aug. 12 —(CP)—British Columbia police said last night that William M. Duffy, 48, formerly of Edmonton, drowned Saturday when a Seine boat carrying 12 persons, capsized. The other 11 reached the west shore of Vancouver Island safely.

Soldiers Grateful For Magazines

When Col. John A. Dewart of the Prince of Wales Rangers in British Columbia remarked recently that the men of the regiment needed reading material, Eric Howard decided to do something about it. He put a barrel at the entrance to his men's wear store on the east side of George Street, near Charlotte Street, and invited people to fill it with magazines, those they had just read and would ordinarily toss away.

Without any fanfare the idea has already produced six or seven barrelfulls. Most of the offerings are recently dated copies of Life, Time, Readers Digest, a full line of Westerns and Detectives, magazine that feature pictures and others that present solid reading. There will be room in the barrel for your magazines any time you are coming down town.

Miss Canada Featured At Downtown Store

"Miss Canada" should do considerable business at the booth Earl Welbourne has prepared for her inside the George street entrance of C.D.S. store, beginning Thursday morning. He had just about finished the setting-up job this morning when one of the customers, noticing the decorative sign, "Fighting Quarters — Buy War Savings Stamps Here."

An average I.Q. rating will catch the significance of the phrase "Fighting Quarters."

J. H. Jamison, manager of C.D.S., said that "Miss Canada" would be at the booth for at least a week. He didn't know who the girl would be, but it was understood that Mrs. James Wharry was planning to help the cause by assigning a "pretty girl' for this publicity effort.

War Savings Stamps are on sale in all departments of C.D.S. but the staff does not try to press sales. The Stamps are available for buyers.

Old Salary Issue Features Teachers' Rally

TORONTO, Aug. 12 (CP)—Teachers from all parts of Ontario and representatives of teachers' organizations throughout Canada today continued discussion of their problems in wartime Canada as the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation annual convention went into its second day.

General dissatisfaction with the place accorded the professional in the Canadian scene was expressed by many of the delegates. John W. Barnett of Edmonton, reporting on the activities of the Alberta Teachers' Association, protested the association's having to justify asking $1,000 a year for a normal school graduate at a time when a girl with only elementary education could earn $22 a week in wartime industry after a few weeks in a technical school.

A. E. O'Neil of Oshawa, president of the Ontario Federation, termed the teacher who took on any responsibility outside the classroom "the packhorse of the community." Teachers today are frequently encumbered with extra - curricular work that they soon must abandon any ideal of keeping up with the advance of their profession.

Fernand Lavige, president of the Quebec Alliance of Catholic Teachers, said common interests between members of a profession could lead to better understanding between Anglo-Canadians and French-Canadians and help break down the barriers of intolerance. Mr. Lavige expressed the hope that all Quebec teachers, regardless of religion would soon be united in a common teachers' federation.

Boat Excursions Gain In Popularity

The Coldsprings Sunday School committee cannot say their "ad" in the Examiner did not get results. It as an announcement of the annual picnic to Gore's Landing, a week or so ago. The "Stoney Lake" took off from George Street wharf with a crowd that looked like the safety limit.

Most of the Otonabee folks came up to the locks because it was nearer their home locality, and when the boat arrived for them they found it nearly packed with people who had accepted the invitation to make the trip to Rice Lake. A few of the passengers got off at the locks, leaving a little room for the Coldsprings company, but most of those who waited at the locks had to get out cars and trucks and motor to the Rice Lake picnic grounds.

The fact is that the steamer trips all the way from Lindsay down to Peterborough have been attracting crowds that remind Capt. Scollard of the old days before the last war.

HOMELOVING LICHI

The lichi nut grows successfully only in Southern China, Cochin China and the Philippines.

Incinerator Job Slowed By Priorities

"We have thousands of applications ahead of you," City Engineer Parsons was told by telephone from Ottawa yesterday on enquiry about an order for special steel doors and several other details of material for the incinerator which have to be obtained in the United States.

"I was told by Mr. McGurn that he would do the best he could for us," Mr. Parsons said. "On imported steel products we have to get Canadian approval before approaching Washington for their permission. Bearings on the big electric fans are S.K.F., manufactured in the United States, and we simply can't get them or the big drop doors without the double permits."

Lining of the big chimney with fire bricks has reached about two-thirds of the way to the top, and the skeleton frame of steel for incinerating units are in place. The work has been going satisfactorily so far.

Mr. Parsons said that when the city begins use of the new incinerator collection and haulage of garbage will have to be made with dump trucks. The design of the unloading floor of the building calls for a dumping action when the trucks back up to the chutes leading to the burning chamber.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

NOON FIRE

An alarm turned in at 1:25 brought all firemen to the Peterborough Mattress Company on Mark street at noon. A spark from the ticker was the cause of the trouble, but Deputy Fire Chief George Smith reported that there was no damage.

COLLIDES WITH LADDER TRUCK.

An automobile belonging to Clarence Drain had a window shattered and suffered other damage when it collided with the rear of the big ladder truck of the Peterborough fire department at Hunter and Sheridan Streets the other night. The brigade had answered a false alarm and the truck was stopped at the side of the street when the collision occurred. One of the ladders was damaged by the impact.

WAR EFFICIENCY

There is one gentleman, in Peterborough for a few days, who is really knuckling under to war regulations. Mr. Dean Kennedy, of the Empire-Hanna Coal Company, of Toronto, has come to Peterborough to contact their dealers and manufacturing plants. His system is to come by train and bring along his bicycle and when he is ready to visit his customers he takes the bicycle and makes his calls. When he is ready to go on to fresh pastures, he boards the train once more and ships his wheel.

A Gas Warning

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 12 —(CP).—Chief Harold Walton of New Toronto yesterday warned more than 100 fire chiefs here attending the 24th annual meeting of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs of the possibility of gas attacks and added, "The Germans and Japanese have broken every other rule of the game, so why not, this one?"

Teachers Scarce

VICTORIA, Aug. 12.—(CP).—Hon. H. G. T. Perry, British Columbia Minister of Education, said that there is a possibility "between 40 and 50" schools in the province will be without teachers when the term starts next month.

Traffic Light Proposed For Boundary

Prospect of setting up traffic lights at Chamberlain Street and Monaghan Road was discussed at a conference of representatives of both municipal councils yesterday afternoon. For the present it was decided to continue the services of a constable at the noon hour for the protection of children, a safeguard during the school period. City Clerk Outram was requested to get prices on the cost of lights, and if the expense is moderate it may be that the two councils may agree to install them.

The principal subject of the meeting was responsibility for surface drainage on Monaghan Road, especially in the block between King and Bolivar Streets. Residents on the east side appealed to the council to do something that would effectually prevent freshet water from flowing across the road and into the property and occasionally the cellars of the residents on the city side.

As chairman of the Board of Works, Alderman Dutton promised the little group of property owners that something would be done in circumstances that are peculiarly but not substantially diffic[illegible] of control.

The city's representatives yesterday concluded that the drainage problem on that block of the boundary was an urban responsibility, and steps will be taken to put in a gutter on the west side.

Hit-Run Driver Smashes Fender

Police searched the northern roads for hours last night trying to locate a hit-and-run driver whose car sideswiped another automobile on Highway 28, just north of the city, and then was driven off without stop.

The car that was struck was owned by W. J. Jamieson, McDonnel Street, and was driven by Myrtle Carter, Grafton. It was travelling toward Peterborough, and near Nick's Camp, a northbound car, moving at a high rate of speed, clipped a fender and kept on without slowing up.

Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure was notified and he and Provincial Constable Price Morris hunted for the hit-and-run machine for some time without success.

The only damage to the Jamieson car was a crumpled fender.

Helena Kuo, Chinese Girl Narrowly Escapes Japs

Many women in the last few years have had exciting adventures while carving a career for themselves in "a man's world," but few have surpassed such overwhelming difficulties as charming and dainty Helena Kuo, a representative of modern Chinese womanhood, who has spent part of her life as a refugee in both China and France, before reaching the United States, where she has became a well-known writer and lecturer.

Miss Kuo was born in Macao, 'the Monte Carlo of the East," one of eight children, and she was unusually fortunate in having a father with very progressive ideas. At an early age this girl felt the desire to be independent and break away from the environment of ancestral tradition and to fit herself for some career.

Her eager mind was unquenchable with its thirst for knowledge and she read everything on which she could lay her hands about the early literature and history of China. This meant that she had to be very proficient at reading the old Chinese writing, one of the most difficult things in the world. She early discovered that she had a remarkable ear and soon left her school mates behind in studies, since after hearing a thing once, she could reproduce the sounds perfectly. Miss Kuo laughingly admits that is how she learned Japanese and that today she is still unable to read the Alphabet.

Helena Kuo attended several colleges in Canton and Shanghai, and for a while did newspaper and secretarial work for one of the big China dailies. This made her consider seriously journalism as a profession and from then on, although doing various other jobs in libraries, a bank, handling the private codes, and anything else at which her fluent English, Portuguese, Chinese and music could be used, writing was her objective.

In 1937 she was obliged to flee Hankow before the Japanese invaders and her travels down to safety in the south of China have left her with an indelible picture of the horrors of being a refugee that nothing that happened in France later could compare with. The boat on which she was travelling was so overcrowded that the people were packed in so tightly that no one could move backwards or forwards.

It was after this terrifying experience that she was given the opportunity of going to England as China's ambassador of good will. No matter where she goes Miss Kuo is always studying, and when she found that she was to be lecturing she took speaking lessons in order to perfect her English still more. She did feature stories for the Daily Mail and broadcasts for the B.B.C. All this led to an offer from a publisher for a book, and this remarkable girl went to France and wrote her first book "Peach Path."

Once more the war caught up with her and after innumerable difficulties she reached the shores of the United States, where she has been lecturing and writing since 1940. Her new book "I've Come a Long Way" gives a most interesting picture of modern China and her whimsical tales of her experiences, all add up to a picture of a very charming woman, who firmly believes that if you want a thing badly enough, and are willing to work for it, success will certainly be achieved.

Wherever Miss Kuo goes among her countrymen, she amazes such great scholars as Dr. Lin Yutang and Dr. Hu Shih, both two of China's most brilliant men in America, with her detailed knowledge of Chinese classics, which while not so amazing to English-speaking people is a remarkable achievement in Chinese work. Like the three Soong sisters of China, and many others who are doing so much in China's hour of need, Helena Kuo is typical of the new generation in China who will bring a new greatness to their country in the future.

Cobourg Girl Marries Hartley Barlow

COBOURG, Aug. 12 — Trinity United church was the scene of a quiet wedding on Monday when Josephine Denham, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robin Mallory of Cobourg, became the bride of Mr. Hartley Holman Barlow, son of Mr. Thomas Barlow and the late Mrs. Barlow of Thornton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. P. Woodger.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length mustard colored wool dress with brown accessories and a corsage of peach and mauve gladioli. She was attended by her sister, Miss Maxine Mallory, who wore a navy costume with white accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli. Mr. Clare Mallory, brother of the bride, was best man.

During the signing of the register, Mr. Stanley Gainaghm of Hamilton sang "O Promise Me," and "At Dawning." A reception was later held at the home of the bride's parents, where her mother received in a grey and black crepe dress with white accessories.

Pretty Wedding Takes Place In District

The marriage took place in Ebenezer United Church Saturday of Dora Madeline Sharpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sharpe, to William Harrison Coulter, son of Mrs. Adison Coulter and the late Mrs. Coulter, in a charming ceremony at which the Rev. W. E. Honey officiated. The church was decorated with gladioli, phlox and summer cyprus and the music was played by Miss Alison Vanderwater and Stanley Sharpe, brother of the bride, sang during the signing of the registery.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of white taffeta with sweetheart neckline, bracelet length fitted sleeves and a skirt of white net embossed with taffeta. Her veil was of French net and was of finger tip length with heart shaped head dress. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss Eleanor Sharpe and she wore a gown of old-rose taffeta, fashioned on lines similar to the bride's gown, with matching head dress. She carried a bouquet of garden flowers. The best man was Burton Coulter of Tweed and the ushers were Mr. Russell Radford, Belleville, and Mr. Henry Sharpe, Peterborough.

After the ceremony there was a reception at "The Pines", Ida, and the bride's mother received wearing a gown of redingote triple sheer figured royal blue and white with navy accessories and she wore a corsage of pink Talisman roses. The groom's mother received wearing a frock of copen blue with matching accessories and with a corsage of pink Talisman roses.

The young couple left for a trip to Western Ontario and for travelling the bride wore a redingote dress of British tan with brown turban and matching accessories. On their return they will reside at Foxboro.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday August 13

A DAY OF difficulty and danger is read from the predominant mutual as well as lunar aspects. These hazards may arise suddenly and from unsuspected sources and result in tumult upheaval loss of substance standing and physical energy as well. There may be threats and unpredictable events calling or calm and well-governed behaviour as well as sound advice and support from such as can be depended upon for their sagacity, soundness and good intentions. Shun legal entanglements and safeguard papers and documents against loss theft or fire.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves beset by sudden upsets, reversals difficulties and danger, unless they maintain calm, restrain, and composure in whatever hazardous situations arise. Rash and turbulent conduct would be disastrous. Seek wise counsel of dependable and well-intentional persons shun legal entanglements and safeguard all property and papers as well as physical safety and health. Patience poise and optimism are enjoined.

A child born on this day may have a hasty reckless and temperamental nature with the mental, emotional and physical energies under excitable stimuli, which may lead to reversals, losses and difficulties.

ARE HAPPY MARRIAGES FEWER THAN IN GRANDMA'S DAY?

Percentage Is The Same, But Divorce Was Considered a Disgrace Then.

A CORRESPONDENT asks: "Why are there fewer happy marriages now than there used to be? Has domesticity played out and is marriage a failure, as so many assert it is? Do the modern boy and girl make worse husbands and wives than their grandparents did? Do married couples make less effort to adjust themselves to each other now than they did in the past?"

To all these questions the answer is "yes" and "no." There is no denying that the divorce rate has gone up since our grandparents' day, but probably the percentage of unhappy marriages was just as great then as it is now. The ideal marriage in which both parties get their hearts' desire and spend forty or fifty years in billing and cooing is just a part of the fiction of the good old times which, in reality, never were.

There has always been philandering husbands and nagging wives. There have always been husbands and wives who looked glamorous before the altar and like something the cat brought home after they are married. There have always been domestic tyrants of both sexes. Uncongenial people, who hadn't a thing in the world in common, have always had a fatal passion for marrying each other. There hasn't been a single change in the matrimonial schedule since the first wedding took place.

The only difference is that in the past when people guessed wrong in picking out their mates, they swallowed their disappointment and kept quiet about it, while we sqawk to Heaven about how we got stung. Grandma may have gotten on Grandpa's nerves or bored him, but he didn't go around broadcasting his troubles and asking for a vote of public sympathy. Grandpa may have had a wandering foot, but Grandma pretended not to know it and gave a lifelike impersonation of a happy wife, instead of taking the children and going back to Mother.

They Married For Keeps

It was not because Grandpa and Grandma were more happily married than their grandchildren are that they carried on, but because in those days people married for keeps and not for experimentation; and so they made the best of their bargains.

Also, it was because divorce, no matter for what cause, was considered more or less of a disgrace. It was just something the best people didn't do, instead of being fashionable as it is now. So people endured their misfit mates, instead of swapping them off for something they HOPED they would like better.

So far as women, who are the chief patrons of the divorce courts, are concerned, the fact that most of them now are self-supporting makes them more choosy about their husbands than Grandma could have been. No matter how much Grandma may have lost her taste for Grandpa, she had to stick it and pretend to like it if he was her meal ticket. But now, when women can earn their own cakes and ale, they don't have to endure husbands who are too much unlike their favorite movie heroes.

In reality, judged by the standards of the past, the modern husband and wife are simply Grade A-1. They are the best the world has ever known and should make marriage a shining success, for apparently they have every qualification for doing so. They marry for love. They select their own mates. They are intelligent, educated, and accord their husbands and wives a degree of personal liberty that their grandparents never would have dreamed of doing.

Why They Failed

But that, in spite of all this, they so often make failures of their marriages is attributable chiefly to two things: The first is that they demand too much of marriage. They expect it to be the one and only perfect human institution. They expect it to be a career in which one can achieve success without working at it, or bringing any patience or even a modicum of commonsense to bear in solving its problems.

They expect the marriage ceremony to be some kind of an enchantment that will turn the ordinary, faulty, run-of-the-mill boy or girl they marry into saints and sages, and work a miracle in themselves that will change their whole natures so that the high-tempered will become amiable, the extravagant thrifty; the undomestic will know how to cook; the lazy will go to work; the wild will be tamed;, and the run-arounds will become fireside companions.

When none of these things happen and their Marys and Johns are the same after marriage as they were before, they cry out that marriage is a failure, and throw up their hands and quit.

The second reason why so many marriages are unhappy is because the modern generation is too soft. It can't take the punishment of marriage. It wants a marriage in which the wife stays perpetually young and beautiful and the husband never ceases to be a great lover, and to live on wedding cake and champagne. And, alas, there are no such marriages in real life.

Perhaps it is because Grandma and Grandpa didn't expect so much of marriage as their grandchildren do that they were not so often disappointed.

Lakefield Park Grief Stirs Move For Sale

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 12 (ENS) — One long headache was the gist of a summation of caretaker's troubles, boat-renting protests, rent hollers, weed tangles, and tennis court complaints all emanating from the village park and piling into the Council's lap on Monday night.

"Let's get rid of it," said Councillor George Graham near the climax of a long discussion on its woes. "It would have been better if it had never been bought," he continued. "I'm disgusted with the whole affair. It has cost the village a lot of money and it's a debt to the town.

The idea of getting rid of it caught the fancy of the rest of the council but there were many ideas put forward before the disposal idea took hold.

The fireworks started over a protest about the caretaker renting boats apparently in opposition to a local boat livery. Councillor Graham thought he should be allowed to do this but the Reeve, C. S. Tanner, was of the opinion the livery, paying business tax, should be protected, and also wished to see outsiders coming in with boats stopped from renting them in local waters for the season.

Other members were of the same thought but favored letting the caretaker rent out his own boat, and if he handled livery boats it should be on a commission basis.

From there they went to the big, double, paved tennis court in front of the new bandstand.

"It's worse now than it ever was," said Mr. Graham regarding the court.

"But it's not finished," countered Reeve Tanner.

"When will it be?" asked the councillor—"Well it has to be rolled again," said the reeve. "It's a waste of money and a mighty poor job the way it is," shot back Mr. Graham.

"Have patience, and let it be finished before you condemn it," advised Mr. Tanner. It would have been done before this except a hold-up, but by a bit of luck in getting the final coating which due to the war has put the brakes on use of oil and its products we now have the end of it in sight. It will take some more rolling with a smaller roller and with use will turn out a good job.

"I believe I know a man who might rent the whole park, said Councillor, Fred Lawrence — and George Graham was heard to mumble something that sounded like "dead loss,—disgusted."

"You have to spend money to get it," said Mr. Lawrence of the outlay on the courts and development work.

"It would have been far better spent in levelling off the point for the campers said Mr. Graham.

"What we need is a caretaker who is on the job, said the Reeve, he could do quite a bit of that during the summer if he had a mind to."

"The trouble is," interjected Mr. Graham "what little we make out of the campers goes out on the development work with little results."

Too Big a Job

"That's not the trouble at all," stated Fred Lawrence,—"there is no effort being made to attract anyone to the park. What we need is fifty cottages, not four or five—some real development work, some definite long-range planning and a lot of real push behind it. We've been sitting on our oars and leaving it to providence. The flaw is—it needs one man in charge of it to make a real job—carry it through to success, and there is no one in the council who can afford to take the time for that."

"Well it might be sold," commented the reeve.

"That would need a vote of the people," stated Councillor Millar.

"I hear the rental prices are being complained of as being too high," commented George Graham, which drew the remark from Clerk Hill that the laundry for one night's use amounted to 30 cents which left little if prices were cut to $1 per cabin as suggested.

Reeve Tanner didn't think the $1.50 charge was too high and the [illegible] Mr. Graham thought the shore lots might all be sold or else longer leases given and asked the opinion of Councillor Charlton on the whole matter, who replied—"I don't think much of it—it seems to need continual expenditure of the village's money and to develop it properly would take quite a sum. The whole think would be better in other hands.

"Well it seems a bit out of the way for the general use of the villagers," said Mr. Lawrence, and one certainly sees very few of the residents over there. How much did the property cost us anyhow?" Clerk Harry Hill disclosed the site had been purchased for $3,300 some twenty years ago and added was the debentures cost plus the outlay for cabins and roads.

"It's been one continual trouble since purchased," stated Mr. Millar, "and the village would be saved considerable grief if it were in other hands—and if properly developed could be a source of income both to the village and its merchants."

Discussion ranged to grading of the Nepheline fill along one of the bays and a horse grader will be tried on it and possibly on the point later so that it may be cut with a lawn mower.

A review of the streets and roads was made and the patching materials available ordered used to fix Concession and Strickland streets. Shortage of regular ingredients will bring several experiments in this work.

The Medical Officer of Health will be asked to check on the polution of a well by a woman resident in the south east section of the village near the canal. From reports received the water of that whole section may become infected and bring about an epidemic.

The Clerk was asked to check on the village's supply of snow fence which seems to be mainly on loan amongst various of the residents, handling jobs from baby's play pens to stock duty.

After Dog Licences

Killing of a sheep owned by Gordon Kidd by a dog of unknown ownership started a new drive for dog taxes, a delving of records showing $142 still out for 1939, and 100 dogs on register in the village, 92 of them being males ith a possible take of $216. Members commented on only 8 female dogs being on the list and a general review of dog ownership was mulled.

Councillors figured if they had to pay out for damage done by village pets more revenue should be obtained—as a result slips for the dog taxes will be included with the first tax notice, and if ignored more drastic methods to be taken.

Members left the session with the parting resolve to find a purchaser for the park if possible, or at least see what offers could be obtained.

Accounts were passed as follows: Paysheet No. 12, wages $90.08; William Edwards, park sanitary $3.00; Mrs. S. R. Alford, park laundry $5.65; paysheet No. 13, wages $163.60; Bell Telephone Company $4.20; Clarence Duff, insurance of Cook House $7.00; N. A. Moore, lumber 86c; The Lakefield News, printing $34.70; G. A. Hendren and Son, livery $3.50; The Lakefield Hydro Commission, $153.22; W. J. Hendren, sanding, carting, patching $42.75; H. T. Hill, freight charges and rivets $1.26; Tanner Drug Company, stationery and Atlacide $31.06; Gordon Kidd, 1 sheep killed $12.00; G. W. Payne, charity groceries $17.00; William Edwards, park sanitary $8.10; Roy Bullock, repairs $22.65; Stan Richardson $40.35; Total $640.94.

Twelve Writers Going To England

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—(CP)—Twelve Canadian writers representing news services, daily and weekly newspapers, farm and business papers and magazine groups will leave shortly on operations and work of the Canadian armed forces and civilians overseas, the office of G. H. Lash, director of public information announced yesterday.

The party, organized as a result of a suggestion from Lieutenant-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Army overseas, will travel as guests of the Dominion Government, on joint invitation of three Ministers of National Defence and War Services Minister Thorson.

Members of the party are:

News services — Charles Bruce, Press, Toronto; G. H. Sallans, British United Press, Montreal.

Daily newspaper—J. R. H. Sutherland, New Glasgow (N.S.) News; Herve Major, Montreal La Presse; Ewen R. Irvine, Montreal Star; Major Bert Wemp, Toronto Telegram; W. R. Clarke, Saskatoon Star-Phoenix.

Weekly newspapers—Walter Legge, Granby (Que.) Leader-Mail; C. V. Charters, Brampton (Ont.) Conservator.

Magazines — H. Napier Moore, Maclean's Magazine, Toronto.

Farm publications—W. H. Porter, Farmer's Advocate, London, Ont.

Business and trade publications—Percy Cole, Monetary Times, Toronto.

The announcement said it is expected the party will spend from four to six weeks in Britain. A London committee under chairmanship of Right Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, and comprising Canadian Navy, Army and Air Force representatives, is working out details of the itinerary.

Members of the party were selected by lot from nominations made by individual members of each group, the statement said.

Light Nazi Raid

LONDON, Aug. 12—(CP).—Several patients and staff members of an East Anglican mental institution were killed last night by a direct hit from a German plane during raids on East Anglia and Southeast England.

Emergency squads toiled through the night to recover the dead and rescue the injured at the institution. By noon 12 bodies had been brought out of two flattened wards.

The Germans scattered a large number of their new phosphorous fire bombs in the surrounding district without causing damages or casualties.

Young Officers Must Be Fit

Instead of the 8,000 officers a year previously planned, Canada is preparing 12,000 a year, Col. Ralston said. With rifle and packs trainees are learning the tactics commandos are using.

Caught In Gears Amputates Foot

JACKSONVILLE, N. C., August 12.—(CP) — When Mrs. C. F. Thompson's slacks caught in the drive shaft of the motor of her fishing boat and pulled her foot into the motor's set screw she calmly amputated the foot at the ankle with a fish knife. A strip of cloth from her blouse served as a tourniquet.

A young companion watched the emergency operation.

A nearby boat towed her craft 16 miles and Coast Guardsmen rushed her to the field hospital at the new river marine base. A blood transfusion was given her there and another amputation was made to correct some muscular trouble.

Hospital attendants said another amputation was planned for today in an effort to remedy a gangrenous condition resulting from the tight tourniquet on her leg. It was there almost three hours. Her condition was termed critical.

Mrs. Thompson, who is 32, earned her living as a fisherwoman. With her when her foot was caught was a 16-year-old boy whom she hired to handle the boat while she fished.

She used a jagged-edged knife with a blade about six inches long. When she had severed the foot, she applied the tourniquet tightly. Meanwhile the frightened boy had summoned a nearby boat.

She was conscious when she reached the hospital several hours later. She took her second operation with a local anesthetic.

Quiet In Egypt

CAIRO, Aug. 12—(AP).—British air attacks over the still-quiet Egyptian front were concentrated Monday on Axis transport, both ashore and afloat, and enemy encampments in the desert, British headquarters announced yesterday.

In another successful blow on Mediterranean shipping, a communique said, R.A.F. light bombers sank one lighter and damaged another.

On the ground, headquarters said, "there was nothing to report" in daylight after continuing night patrol activity on the whole front.

Births Marriages Deaths
In Memoriam Cards of Thanks

BORN

COMSTOCK — To Mr. and Mrs. Jack Comstock, on Tuesday, August 11, 1942, at Nicholls Hospital, a daughter.

MURPHY—In Belleville General Hospital, on Friday, August 7, 1942, to Mr. and Mrs. P. Murphy (nee Rita McMurray) a daughter.

ENGAGEMENTS

The engagement is announced of Patricia Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. McClellan to Douglas Dillon James, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. B. James of Vancouver. The marriage to take place in Montreal on August 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Holman, 176 Lock street, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Reeta Maureen, to William John Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson, 481 Albert street. The wedding will take place early in September in Trinity United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Powers, 823 George street, wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Elva Joyce, to Jack E. Easton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Easton, McDonnel street, Peterborough. The wedding to take place quietly early in September.

IN MEMORIAM

JONES.—In loving memory of Robert Jones, who passed away August 12, 1941.

Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear;
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by his Wife and daughters Allwen and Margaret.

REA.—In memory of Albert E. Rea, who died August 12, 1942.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
From a memory, fond and true,
Just a token of affection and a longing still for you.
When the shades of night are falling
And I'm sitting all alone,
There always comes a longing,
If you only could come home.
—Ever remembered by Wife and Margaret, Ivan, Maurice, Beryle and Ralph.

CARD OF THANKS

Miss Muriel Panter wishes to thank all the many friends and neighbors who so kindly sent flowers, cards, fruit and other gifts, also the attending doctor and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, for their kindness during her recent illness.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

One of the smartest pieces of legislation adopted and put into force by the games committee was that of setting aside three nights for the playing of the single competition. Starting with an entry of 144 bowlers, in three evenings this was whittled down to 8 and these will be called to play in a few days. Up until last year this was more or less of a hit and miss competition, and it ran on and on and usually finished up when the fall has set in. It has been said that when you want a job done thoroughly go to a busy man, and this applies to lawn bowling as well, as anything else.

To Benny Chesler goes the credit of putting over this competition; he was appointed convener by the games committee and the results speak for themselves. He sure was the right man in the right spot at the right time.

To-night will be Open night. Do as you like, play what you like and with whom you like. In other words, do as you please.

So far, we have only one entry for the men Globe and Mail doubles. The list closes Saturday evening.

Below we print the draw for tomorrow night. It is the last game of the present schedule.

Thursday Night's Games

F. Dearborn—C. Elliott.
Dr. C. Fulford—R. French.
C. Giroux—R. Hutchinson.
F. E. Kerr—M. Levine.
J. McDonald—P. Moore.
H. Martin—T. Ryan.
J. Sedgwick—J. Skinner.

Paying in the second round of the Provincial District No. 14 playoffs at Port Hope last night, our boys won the doubles and rinks competition. We had no entries in the singles. Who they play next, and when they play, at this moment we don't know, but we will likely know in a day or two.

Our club representatives were:

Rinks.—T. Doughty, Dr. H. Long, G. Coleman, Jr., G. Coleman, Sr.

Doubles.—H. Coleman, W. Jeffries.

taining its former glory; one (Hamilton) undecided.

The boxscore:

Vancouver—out; Playing Coach Greg Kabat in auxiliary war work with the Knights of Columbus.

Regina—out; Playing Coach Dean Griffing in a Prince Albert, Sask., war plant.

Winnipeg — in; Will operate a three-team league for six weeks, then select an all-star team to defend Blue Bombers' Dominion championship.

Toronto Argos—out; for no reason that the stubborn clubs haven't been able to overcome.

Toronto Balmy Beach—in; will benefit from Argos' folding, may became the favorite Toronto team before the scullers get back.

Toronto Oakwoods — out; This O.R.F.U. outfit scarcely rated senior classification.

Kitchener-Waterloo—out; financial strain too great.

Hamilton Wildcats — undecided; may wind up in league with Ottawa, Balmies, Montreal.

Ottawa Rough Riders—in; probably as strong as ever.

Montreal—in; perhaps with R.C.A.F. player help.

Incidentally:

Glad to see Dave Castilloux is willing to fight for his championships...Calgary's Al Lust should get first shot at the welter crown, Montreal's Johnny Greco the lightweight...Greco is 19 this week... One of the questions Jack Sharkey hes fired at him most often in interviews is: "which was the better fighter, Dempsey or Louis?"... Sharkey, only fighter who fought both, never commits himself...maybe he's waiting until both are so old the one he picks as the lesser fighter won't resent it too strenuously.

Plenty of Funny Games Make Party a Success

No One's Bored At This Party!

The Conga Line? Nope, it's a "Bucking Bronco," at the gayest, craziest party in town!

If you yearn to throw a delirious, wonderful party, rely on "Bucking Bronco" to start guests off in the right spirit.

For each bronco, five people line up, each clasping the waist of the one in front. The "cowboy," the sixth player, tries to ride the bronco by clasping the waist of the last one in the line. Of course, the bronco — merrily plunging and whirling—tries to prevent him.

Your guests are now in a perfect mood to appreciate any good game you have up your sleeve — like Card-Toss fortunes, which are fun and romantic, too.

Cut ten cards from heavy cardboard and write a fortune word on each—Love, Marriage, Money, and so on. Each player stands behind a chair (but not touching it!) and tries to pitch the cards into a hat on the floor in front of the chair. The cards that get in determine his fortune for the next 12 months!

Our 32-page booklet, a storehouse of hilarious party games (some nice quiet ones, too!), can give you the reputation of most versatile hostess in town. Has icebreakers, pen and pencil games, fortune stunts, many more.

For you copy of "Party Games for All Occasions" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

NICKELS COUNT, TOO

PRETTY SOUND tables are known by almost all fair players for estimating the value of their aces, kings and queens, including combinations of them. When they have to count smaller cards, such as jacks, tens and nines, they are often lost. They put no more value on a ten than on a deuce. Yet how often all of us have seen the jack, queen, king and ace fall one the first trick of a suit, making the 10 tops for the second round trick, in the position ordinarily occupied theoretically by the king.

	♠ K 10 4 ♥ A K 5 4 ♦ 10 9 8 ♣ J 10 3
♠ A 9 7 ♥ Q 8 2 ♦ K 6 2 ♣ 9 7 6 2	N W E S	♠ J 8 2 ♥ J 10 3 ♦ 7 5 3 ♣ A K 8 4
	♠ Q 6 5 3 ♥ 9 7 6 ♦ A Q J 4 ♣ Q 5

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♦	Pass
1♥	Pass	1 NT

That deal was passed out at more tables than it was bid, in a group of social duplicate players at the Skytop club in Pennsylvania. In the three cases where North opened the bidding, his side got a plus score. One pair arrived at 1-No Trump as shown, making it, one got into 2-Diamonds and made it, and one tempted the opponents to get their feet wet at 2-Clubs, which was beaten two tricks. The main point is that, where North decided to bid, his side profited thereby, and where he decided not to bid, his side suffered.

Most players of either duplicate or rubber contract have learned that they need about two and a half high card tricks to make an opening bid on a deal containing fair distribution, but should have at least three when they have no length anywhere except in one four-card suit. Their tables to measure those amounts, however, do not usually reach down very far into the deck to include cards like guarded jacks, tens and nines.

Just notice the pile of nice intermediate cards in that North hand. It has only two and a half tricks as most honors are generally counted, but in place of an additional king, it has a 10 under K in spades, a potentially useful 10-9-8 in diamonds and a possibly important value in the J-10. Adding these up is like counting your nickels when you want to determine the amount of money in your pocket. Their presence should cause you to bid.

Institute Holds Grandmother's Day Program

HAVELOCK, Aug. 12 (ENS). — A Grandmothers' Day program was featured on Monday at the Women's Institute meeting is the Town Hall.

Mrs. Annie Anderson gave a reading "Bushel for Bushel" and also a short poem "Grandma's Heaven." A humorous reading entitled "Married for Love" was given by Mrs. Robert Jones. Prizes were given to the grandmother having the most grandchildren and the one having the fewest. Mrs. William Cole, a guest from Toronto, received the prize for the most, having 7, and Mrs. Arthur McMullen had only three grandchildren.

Roll Call was answered by all present, by naming "Something our Grandmothers missed," and made the members feel that this present generation has a great deal to be thankful for. Mrs. Price gave a reading, entitled "No Sects in Heaven."

During the business session a communication was recieved from the Department giving the dates for the Project "Uses of Whole Wheat," to be held in the Department of Agriculture office, Peterborough, September 24 and October 29, and Mrs. R. McCutcheon and Mrs. William Woodbeck were appointed local leaders. The Junior Home Making Club for girls from 16 to 26 have as their project, "Being well dressed and well groomed," but a leader could not be found, so it was laid over until the next meeting.

The next meeting will be held on September 14, and will be a legislation program, with Mrs. Woodbeck arranging same, and Mrs. F. McKay refreshment convener. There will be a display of decorated salads which are to be served for the luncheon.

Refreshments were served under the convenership of Mrs. George Chiles.

St. Mark's Guild Needs War Workers

WARSAW, Aug. 12.—(ENS)—St. Mark's Guild held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. William Davis. The usual routine business was carried out and plans were made for more help for the war work. The mystery jar was won by Mrs. W. Davis. The September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Robert Tighe.

This group of women, although a small membership, have already made several quilts and two complete layettes and donated them to the war work.

Six Saboteurs Electrocuted At Washington

Two medical corps ambulances, containing the bodies of the six Nazi saboteurs, are shown as they leave the district jail in Washington. The six spies were put to death in the electric chair while an armed military guard stood outside the jail.

War Printers, Publishers To Handle Own Salvation

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 12—(AP).—The printing and publishing industry was warned yesterday that it must prepare "cheerfully to grup out its own salvation amidst the shortages of labor and materials that appear all too close."

The warning was given by E. W. Palmer, deputy chief of the War Production Board's printing and publishing branch, in a speech to the convention of the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen here.

Palmer gave this summarized picture of the materials situation confronting the industry:—

"Inks are comparatively few at the moment; some chemicals are in the critical stage, others fairly easy; rubber is critical, shellac has been put under curtailment control; silver nitrate is definitely tight; nitric acid, of which the newspaper industry uses some 9,000,000 pounds a year, has not appeared on the critical list as yet; adhesives are becoming somewhat more difficult to obtain in large quantities."

Palmer said printers should conserve stitching wire in every way. Newspaper, if possible, should find a substitute for the iron wire in tying bundles for delivery. Only a "bare subsistence tonnage" of stitching wire will be available as long as the present iron and steel shortage continues, he predicted.

Pot Luck Supper Enjoyable Event At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Aug. 12—(ENS).—An enjoyable event of Friday, beginning at 6.15 p.m., was the pot luck supper held on the wide, well-shaded lawn of Mr. Percy Stinson's residence, Centre street, under the auspices of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's church. The hostesses for the occasion were, besides Mrs. Stinson, Mrs. P. I. Bentley, president of the W.A., and Mrs. W. J. Armstrong; Assisting with the service of the more than seventy-five guests were Mrs. F. L. Edworthy and Mrs. Mary Weatherup.

Mr. Stinson joined his wife and the other hostesses in welcoming the incoming guests, and the Association will benefit by over twenty dollars from the undertaking.

Miss Patsy Richards of Toronto is holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brown, Mrs. J. J. Crown, of Reaboro, Miss Evelyn Robinson of Peterborough, and Miss E. L. Hetherington have returned home after visiting at Gravenhurst, with Mr. and Mrs. Sherin Crown and Miss Elva Crown. Miss Hetherington and Miss Robinson took in the cruise on the Sagano to Elgin House, while in Muskoka.

Melville Ball's many friends are glad to know that he is able to be out again after a serious attack of what apparently was ptomaine poisoning. The cause of the attack has not yet been determined.

Miss Helen Bannister, of Peterborough, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. R. Howard. Captain Howard was home over the week-end, arriving from Kingston on Friday evening.

Rev. A. L. and Teddy Sisco were guests of Dr. H. A. and Miss B. M. Turner at their summer home near Crow's Landing, Stoney Lake, for the early part of this week. Mrs. Sisco is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Trevor, Mansonville, Quebec.

Miss Lila Whyte, of the Pendrie firm, is on her two weeks' summer vacation at present, and has been at points in Haliburton county. Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Payne returned from their vacation at Wasaga Beach at the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kerr and son, Donald, are leaving Saturday morning for a three weeks' holiday at Wasaga Beach and other points north. Donald is taking his military training at present at Hamilton.

In fairly good health, considering his advanced age, Mr. C. W. Weatherilt celebrated his 96th birthday on Wednesday; he is staying in the village at the home of Mrs. L. J. Morton, and may be seen almost any fine day, taking a walk along Tupper and King streets. Mr. Weatherilt was born in 1846 and can recall many items of historic interest in connection with the development of the country through his long lifetime.

Miss Bryar Edmunds, of the Bank of Montreal staff, Peterborough, has been holidaying with her mother, Mrs. Ross Edmunds. LAC Reg. Edmunds, who was also home, is now continuing his training at St. Eugene, Quebec.

In a Mess

MILAN, Mich., Aug. 12.—(AP).—Max Stephan, 50 year old German born American traitor, sentenced to hang Nov. 13, has lost his bravado, and yesterday told his attorney:

"I'm in a hell of a mess."

"I never said," the rotund Stephan declared, "that I'd bet all the tea in China or anything else, that I wouldn't hang."

Stephan had shouted after his sentence that "Germany will not let me hang."

Ontario To Work Its Vast Onakawana Lignite Fields

COCHRANE, Aug. 12 (CP).—The Ontario Government will proceed immediately with the development of lignite deposits in the Onakawana lignite fields, 175 miles north of Cochrane, on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, Premier Hepburn announced here yesterday.

The Premier made his announcement in the afternoon when he returned from a week-end trip to Moosonee with members of his Cabinet. The lignite supply at Onakawana is almost unlimited, the Premier said, with 100,000,000 tons already being blocked out and 8,500,000 tons readily accessible. Tests have demonstrated that the lignite has good burning qualities.

Mr. Hepburn said that the decision to proceed with the development—reached in consultation with Cabinet members who accompanied him on his trip—involved replacing plans announced some months ago for a minor development and a pilot plant with new plans calling for work to cost $250,000 and provision for a million-dollar development if circumstances warrant.

A separate branch of the Government will be set up to handle the lignite development and it will be responsible for pushing the project as rapidly as equipment can be obtained. Mr. Hepburn indicated that W. G. Nixon, M.P.P. for Temiskaming, and industrial commissioner for the T. & N.O., would head the department. The Ontario Government will give the new department every assistance in obtaining priority ratings from Dominion officials for equipment.

One factor in the decision to start the development was the shortage of fuel, said the Premier. With no natural gas available for domestic heating in Southern Ontario and with fuel oil rationed, there is a shortage of bituminous and anthracite coal for domestic needs. Some coal dealers are buying woodlots to relieve the situation.

While it is not expected that the lignite will be available for use in Southern Ontario, because of transportation problems, it will probably be used by the T. & N.O., whose operating tests with it have been "reasonably satisfactory" as well as by Northern Ontario industrial and domestic users.

The Premier added that because of the high moisture content of lignite, processing under steam pressure to improve burning quality and decrease bulk is essential. The development plans provide for construction of a processing plant in the field, using construction already under way and equipment previously obtained for the pilot plant.

The Premier's party, which also visited Moosonee, Moose Factory and power developments on the Abitibi River, included Hon. H. J. Kirby, Minister of Health; Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary; Hon. A. St. Clair Gordon, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board; Hon. N. O. Hipel, Minister of Lands and Forests; Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways; Chester Walters, comptroller of the Ontario Treasury; Sir James Dunn, president of the Algoma Steel Corporation; . P. Bickell, Toronto mining executive; Dr. W. R. Avery, Ontario Department of Health; Magistrate E. R. Tucker of Cochrane; George Pousford, director of the Ontario Provincial Air Service; A. H. Cavanaugh, general manager of the T. & N.O. Railway; W. A. Summerville, Conservative M.P.P. for Toronto-Riverdale; George A. Stokes Canadian National Railways, North Bay; and B. J. Quilty, Canadian Pacific Railway, North Bay.

Textile Tieup

CORNWALL, Ont., Aug. 12. —(CP).—President Leo Samson and Vice-President Napoleon Caron of the Cotton Workers' Union, Local No. 2, were in Ottawa yesterday seeking interviews with officials of the Dominion Department of Labor, while the Canada Cottons Stormont mill remained idle here for the second day.

The plant was closed down Monday when approximately 408 mill workers walked out in protest against the promotion of a non-union employee.

Canada Cottons' other two mills here, the Dundas and Canada mills, are not affected by the walkout.

Sunlight's "EXTRA-SOAPINESS" is exactly suited for applying straight on to the real dirt

● Any good washing preparation will remove the average "all over" dirt from clothes, but where dirt is stubborn, concentrated, you need the help of Sunlight. Because of its "extra-soapiness" Sunlight is exactly right for treating the very grubby parts of clothes.

Sunlight enables you to get straight on to the real dirt at once—to give an extra soaping just where it is most needed.

It is only necessary to apply Sunlight lightly to the grubby part. That is sufficient to leave a film of pure, rich soap in contact with the dirt. Then you'll find every speck of grime comes away readily. No hard rubbing or scrubbing is required at all. Use Sunlight for everything you wash—for household cleaning as well as laundry. It is absolutely safe and gentle to fabrics and to your hands.

Canuck Navy Has Heavy Bag In Recent Sub Hunts On Atlantic Convoy Duty

Battle Not Any Worse, Ships Going Through Says Naval Chief Revealing Canadians Convoying South To Caribbean

OTTAWA, Aug. 13—(CP).—The Royal Canadian Navy apparently has enjoyed good submarine hunting in recent weeks Navy Minister Macdonald said at a press conference today.

He was commenting on a message of congratulation sent to the Navy by Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, and said the message arose largely from the Navy's trans-Atlantic convoy work.

Since submarine hunting was the prinicipal business of the Canadian Navy it might be presumed the hunting had been "good."

The Minister gave no details of successes against submarines or of sinking by submarines but gave an outline of the reasons for the Navy's policy of keeping such incidents secret.

Recently returned from a trip around naval establishments on the east coast, the Minister said much building of new barracks and new training facilities is under way. At one point, present developments will provide accommodation for 5,000 men.

At another place where training of new entries, physical training for officers and instructors, gunnery and anti-submarine training is to be carried on, 2,000 men will be installed by December. When completed, accommodation will be available for 6,000.

Room For Another 1,000

Another important station for operational, rather than training work, will accommodate 1,000 officers and men.

"The total strength of the Navy is roughly 40,000," said the Minister, "and we have new men coming in at the rate of about 1,00 a month."

The Navy has between 400 and 500 ships, has commissioned about 40 new ships this year, and has about 60 more under construction. About 100 ships are being built in Canada for the Royal Navy.

The Minister said it is likely the Royal Navy will make some of these ships—probably minesweepers and corvettes—available to the United States Navy.

The new Naval College at Royal Roads, B.C., will probably open on Trafalgar Day, October 21.

It is hoped the first class of about 70 prospective officers for the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service will start training in Ottawa about September 1, Mr. Macdonald said. Several thousand "WRENS" will be recruited and trained to release men from jobs that women can perform.

Mr. Macdonald said he knew there is a great deal of anxiety about ship sinkings by U-boaots and about measures taken to combat them, but it was extremely difficult to make the facts known.

"In future, announcements as to loss or damage to merchant ships or warships and as to loss inflicted on the enemy will have to be made by

Employers Get 3 Tables On Tax Deduction

OTTAWA, Aug. 13—(CP).—Tables are going to employers across Canada this week-end to facilitate income tax deductions from their employees' pay envelopes beginning the first payday in September, Revenue Minister Gibson announced today at a press conference.

There will be three sets of tables—one each for employees paid by the day, by the week, and by the month. Employers who pay every two weeks will double the weekly table and those who pay semi-monthly will halve the monthly table.

Deductions will be on the basis of deducting an equal amount from each pay for 12 months to pay 90 per cent of the employee's income tax based on his income in the calendar year 1942.

The deductions will be reduced by

Delhi, Bombay Begin To Quieten

BOMBAY, Aug. 13.—(CP)—The Indian capital at New Delhi and Bombay, trouble centres earlier this week, apparently were returning to normal today as the outbreaks of violence over Mohandas K. Gandhi's drive for immediate independence from British rule slacked off after four days of clashes between mobs and police.

Although some shops in New Delhi still were closed, people were moving freely through the streets which yesterday were the scenes of repeated disorders.

The situation in Bombay was quiet all morning with no incidents of any kind. Workers were returning to the mills.

A dispatch from Madras said four persons were killed and 10 injured at Tenali yesterday when police fired on a crowd which attacked the railways station and set it on fire.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13 (ENS)—A blaze which began in the top floor of the four storey Gravelin and Bale Shoe Co., Limited, in Campbellford did an estimated $12,000 damage this morning, threw at least forty employees, temporarily out of employment as the town's second largest industry was closed down. Firemen under Chief C. B. Williams fought the stubborn blaze which was confined almost entirely to the fourth floor of the building for more than two hours with three streams of water.

The fire started in the elevator shaft on the top floor of the build-

Red Reserves Flood Into Don Bend For Titanic Struggle

A mightly new German offensive against Stalingrad appeared to be taking shape in the Don Bend today as hard-pressed Russian forces in the Caucasus battled desperately to halt constantly-reinforced Nazi columns advancing toward three vital objectives—the rich Grozny oil fields and the Black Sea ports of Novorossisk and Tuapse.

Military advices reported the Germans were massing vast quantities of men and equipment in the Don elbow and told of a sudden intensification of fighting near Kotelnikovsk, 95 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

Fighting, similar in scope and intensity to the battle of the Caucasus, flared today over Russia's northwestern front—the battle line which loops more than 500 miles northwestward from Moscow to Leningrad.

(The Germans acknowledged that German infantry and armored divisions were engaged "in a heavy defensive struggle" both to the southeast and to the north of Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow and southeast of Lake Almen, farther to the north.

Both armies were reported throwing almost unprecedented numbers of men into the fray in the Don sector and there were indications the battle might develop into one of the mightiest yet seen on the Russian front.

Situation Dark In South

Thus far the Russians seemed to be holding their own on the approaches to Stalingrad, but the picture in the Caucasus, where Hitler is reaching out for the oil to feed his fighting machine, was grave.

New concentrations of dive-bombers were reported pacing the German drive, raining tons of high explosives on Causasian towns in raids carried out by waves of 40 to 60 planes.

The army newspaper, Red Star, reported a three-day action, ended two days ago, in which Russians penetrated 12 miles into the rear of German positions in the Don elbow, killing 4,200 of the foe, it was said.

From another sector of Russia's great front, Pravda, the Communist party organ, reported a 120-plane raid on Leningrad, in which it said 30 of the attackers were downed. The Germans also used parachutists in that lunge at the northern city but they were speedily mopped up, Pravda said.

Although the Leningrad development was recent, no date was given.

Dispatches from the front said one Nazi spearhead already was less than 200 miles from Grozny after breaking through the Russian lines at Cherkessk, a small town in the Caucasus foothills 70 miles southeast of Armavir.

American Units Now Firmly Established At Three Points Among Solomons Allies Hold Edge In Air—See-Saw At Kokoda

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—(AP).—The Japanese hold on the Tulagi area in the Solomons is believed to have been broken by United States Marines who have been strongly reinforced, Hayden Leonard of the Australian Broadcasting Commission reported today. His analysis of the situation was heard here by CBS.

Leonard was quoted as saying it was believed "the Japanese have been driven from many of their defensive positions after fierce hand-to-hand fighting."

Another Australian broadcast said "hard and confused fighting is still in progress among the rubber plantations on the righ plateau of Kokoda" in New Guinea, where the Japanese attempted an overland drive upon Port Moresby.

Hard fighting in which many Japanese were killed and wounded was said to have taken place during the past four days.

Chased From Harbor.

LONDON, Aug. 13—(CP).—The Yorkshire Post's naval correspondent said today the Japanese fleet has "lost control of Tulagi Harbor" in the Solomon Islands

"The Japanese fleet has not got back there after the naval action and apparently is being kept clear of the island on which the landings were made," the correspondent wrote.

"The Allies have air superiority and are using it at sea as well as on land."

The newspaper's correspondent gave no indication of where he had received his information.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, August 13. —(AP) — Firmly entrenched at three points in the Solomon Islands, United States marines battled to expand their positions today with the immediate backing of Allied sea forces and long range air assaults on Japanese communications and reinforcement bases.

A Washington navy announcement that operations had advanced to the point where the marines were consolidating their holdings in the Tulgai area, in the south-eastern Solomons, indicated that initial land opposition had been overcome after six days of savage hand-to-hand combat.

Flying fortresses, striking yesterday at Rabaul, New Britain in the fifth raid there in five days, knocked out 4 enemy ships in the harbor of this base from which Japanese troops and supplies have moved to the Solomons.

A 15,000-ton ship and two medium sized ones were left spouting flames and another lareg ship was seen sinking by the stern a headquarters communique said today. One of eight challenging fighters was shot down and from three to six others were hit and damaged. No Allied planes was lost.

US Raiders Blast 3 Cruisers In Greek Port

CAIRO. Aug. 13. —(AP) — Heavy bombers of the United States army air forces in the Middle East have attacked enemy warships in Navarino harbour on the west coast of Greece, scoring heavy damage, it was announced today.

Two direct hits were registered on one cruiser, causing a large explosion aboard, and black smoke was seen pouring from a second cruiser as a result of either a direct hit or a near miss.

There also was a terrific explosion aboard a third cruiser after a bomb burst next to it.

The raid was delivered in the light of the setting sun on Tuesday.

There were four cruisers, in all, at Pylos (Navarino)—all presumably Italian.

Pylos is a 1,300-mile round trip from Egypt, the nearest Allied territory in the Middle East, and the Americans used big four-motored bombers to span the Mediterranean.

They attacked from high altitude when the last light of day still offered good sight of the targets and returned to base under cover of darkness.

Mainz Hard Hit Berlin Howls

BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), Aug. 13 —(AP)—Casualties and large-scale destruction were caused in a British bombing raid last night on the Rhineland city of Mainz, a German communique said today.

"In the night of Aug. 12," the war bulletin reported, "formations of the British Air Force renewed their terrorist attacks on the Rhineland area.

"Bombing of residential quarters in Mainz again inflicted loss on the civilian population whose behavior was exemplary.

"Destruction on a large scale and extensive fries were caused."

A single British plane flying at great height was said to have dropped bombs on a town in western Germany by daylight yesterday.

"In the fight against Great Britain," the communique said, "fighter-bombers during the day and last night dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on harbor installations and armament plants in south and east England as well as south Scotland."

Open Mine Jobs To Women

Certain Surface Work To Be Allowed At Sudbury

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—(CP).—Women are to be employed by the International Nickle Company at Sudbury on certain classes of surface work, H. C. Rickaby, Deputy Minister of Mines, said to-day.

Arrangements are now proceeding between the Ontario Department and the Federal Government to authorise this move.

Mr. Rickaby said the work would be in the various surface shops. The women would not be engaged in actual mining.

Under the Ontario Mining Act, women are not allowed to work in the mining industry other than as clerks or domestics, but the Ottawa Government is making the provision under the War Measures Act in view of the depleted supply of male labor for this surface work.

Mr. Rickaby said women are now engaged in this type of work at the Flin Flon mine in Manitoba.

Arrangements as to working hours and wages will be worked out through the two governments and the company. It is not known how many the company expects to employ.

No other mining company has requested the same provision but the Ottawa authority may grant it to all mines.

Hun Caucasus Gains Far Off Disaster Yet

Narrow Coastal Routes To Batum And Baku Expected To Be Death Traps

By DE WITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Germans continue their advance in the Caucasus, spreading both ways among the rugged northern foothills of the towering mountain range which forms a barrier across the great Caucasian Isthmus separating the Black and the Caspian Seas.

On the coasts at either end of this mighty barricade are comparatively narrow routes which lead down into the Middle East and some of the world's richest oil fields. The Nazi Genghis Khan is headed for coastal routes, which may carry him to a great and perhaps decisive victory—if he can travel them. The fighting is fierce and bloody, for the Russians are exacting a terrible price for every foot of ground they surrender.

The picture isn't a cheerful one from our standpoint. Still, while some gloom is bound to creep through the chinks of our armor, we must remember that nothing decisive has happened yet despite Hitler's spectacular victories.

If the Nazi leader had utterly smashed the Russian army — as he has been trying to do—the story would be different. Then something decisive would have happened. But so long as the Red fighting machine continues to function as a unit, the Russians aren't beaten by a long way and Herr Hitler has plenty of trouble on his hands.

Some military observers believe the Nazis have the strength to battle their way down both coastal routes to Batum and Baku, thus acquiring invaluable strategic positions and capturing the oil which they need to enable them to continue the war. That would be a disaster for the Allies.

It must be admitted at once that this is a possibility. There's no use blinking at the fact that the situation is serious. Still, there are a good many of us who can't see that such a break-through is inevitable. On the contrary, I believe the Russians have a fair chance of keeping the Huns north of the Caucasian mountain range.

That would leave Hitler in possession of the Northern Caucasus oil fields of Maikop and Grozny, and while these produce only about 15 per cent. of Russia's oil and don't provide the supplies he needs, they would be mighty useful. He also would have acquired vast new agricultural regions. Both oil and wheat fields would have been destroyed under the Muscovite scorched earch policy, but the damage could be repaired. Russia, of course, would suffer through being deprived of these resources, and having her main connections into the Caucasus severed.

FDR Behind UK India Policy

Snuffs Any Hopes Gandhi Had of U.S. Interference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (CP)—Any hopes Gandhi or Nehru may have had that the United States would offer to mediate between the British government and Indian Congress party leaders are groundless.

It is learned here on good authority that President Roosevelt has no intention of taking a hand in the Indian situation. He is represented as being in complete agreement with British policy there.

China in particular hoped for a step by the United States before Gandhi threw his country into a turmoil of "disobedience," violent and non-violent.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, who met Gandhi during his visit to India several months ago, has favored—and no doubt still does—appeasing the Nationalist leader.

It is believed, however, that even Chiang no longer expects Britain to falter in its course of fighting the Indian revolt and is aware that president Roosevelt will do nothing to appease Gandhi.

The British Army in India is said to be the largest ever stationed there and is believed capable of resisting with good chances of success any Japanese invasion attempt. An undisclosed number of United States aircraft are also in India.

BANCROFT FARMER CHARGED WITH SELLING DAUGHTER FOR $75

Girl To Be Handed Over At 13 On Aug. 30; Mother Agreeable

BANCROFT, August. 13 (Special) —The story of a farmer who was allegedly willing to sell his 12-year-old daughter for $75, toward which an old overcoat was accepted as down payment, was unfolded yesterday in Police Court of this Northern Hastings County village.

Details of the backwoods transaction was unravelled by Provincial Constable S. Palmateer, who arrested William Keller July 22 as he was applying for a marriage license with his 12year-old bride-to-be, Lily May Boumhour.

Investigations led to charges being laid against John Boumhour, 60 father of the girl. Following evidence today before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd, judgment was reserved until the next session of the court, Sept. 2. The charge is that Boumhour aided and abetted Kellar to have carnal knowledge of a female under 14 not his wife.

Keller appeared before the magistrate on July 22 and pleaded guilty to carnal knowledge. He was sentenced to the Ontario Reformatory to one year definite and one year less a day indefinite.

the defence tax an employee has paid between January and August this year. Deductions also will be reduced up to 90 per cent of the refundable or savings portion of the tax by savings the taxpayer makes directly by payment of life insurance premiums, superannuation payments, principal payments on mortgages and trades union payments other than dues. No savings in excess of the refundable tax will be counted.

Mr. Gibson explained that the reason the deductions are based on 90 per cent, instead of the full income tax is that the taxpayer might make unforseen contributions to charitable organizations or have doctor's bills or other expenditures which would entitle him to a reduction in his total tax. The 10-per cent, margin would cover many of these.

The employee must file with his employer before September 1 a form known as T.D. 1 setting out whether he is married, his dependents, and the amount of his savings for 1942 which qualify to be set against the refundable tax.

Out In Few Days

These forms will be at the post offices and revenue tax offices within the next few days. Offices within one day's mail distance from Ottawa should have them available tomorrow.

It will be to the taxpayer's advantage to get this form in on time, the minister said, because if it is not filed with the employer, deductions from his pay will be on the basis that the employee is unmarried and it putting aside no savings. Persons who are single without dependents and are putting aside no savings are the only class who need not file these returns.

A married man whose wife is in receipt of less than $660, or over $660 when these receipts are from wages and salary will come under the married status in the deductions. If, however, the wife receives more than $660 from investments or other payments, not salary or wages, then the husband will be classed as single for tax purposes. In either case the wife will put in her own tax return if more than $660 and be classed as single status.

A taxpayer may claim as dependents children, grandchildren, brothers or sisters under 18 years of age and over that age if mentally or physically infirm. If the dependents are attending an educational institution they qualify as dependents up to 21 years. Parents or grandparents with mental or physical infirmities also qualify as dependents.

An unmarried person who is maintaining a domestic establishment and supports a dependent therein qualifies for married status. The same applies to a clergyman who maintains a domestic establishment and has a full time housekeeper or servant.

Declaration Too

The employee sets out his savings which qualify to reduce the deductions with a declaration they are correct. By Sept. 30, 1943, the employee must make a return to the income tax branch of the revenue department enclosing receipts to cover the savings claims and also to pay the remaining 10 per cent of his tax not deducted at the source.

Mr. Gibson said that despite the general increases in the new income taxes some in the lower-wage brackets actually will pay less than under the previous rates. A married man getting $1,300 will pay less under the new tax than he did on his 1941 incomes, as will also a married man with one child getting up to $1,500 and a married man with one child getting up to $1,500 and a married man with two children up to $1,700.

The tables of tax deductions are covered by an order-in-council and therefore have the force of law. Although they are to be sent only to employers, the firms are asked to post them in prominent places so the employees may have access to them.

The tables give the rate of pay, total tax deductable and the savings portion to be subtracted from the total tax if the employee makes these savings himself. The total tax is arrived at by taking 90 per cent of the total tax and reducing it by the amount of defence tax the employee has paid between January and August inclusive.

Table To Be Followed

The order-in-council covering the tax tables sets out:—

"That the 'table of tax deductions' attached hereto shall be the table of tax deductions to be followed by every employer in making deductions from the pay of employees having due regard to the amount of salary or wage paid to the employees per day, per week, per month or such other established or to be established pay periods as between the employer and the employee and also having due regard to the marital status and dependents of the employee as in the 'table of tax deductions' provided."

The introduction to the tables gives an example of how the taxes in the tables are worked out. It takes a married man with two dependents and whose salary is $4,800 a year or $400 a month. It works out as follows:—

Income for year $4,800, or $400 per month.

Married person—two depends.

Normal tax:

$4,800 at 7 per cent			$ 336.00
Allowance for dependents			56.00
			280.00
Graduated Tax:
Exempt	$ 600
30 per cent on	500		$ 150.00
33 per cent on	500		165.00
37 per cent on	1,000		370.00
41 per cent on	1,500		615.00
45 per cent on	640		288.00
			$1,588.00
Less:
Allowance for spouse	$150.00
Allowance for 2 depend.	160.00	$310.00	$1,278.00
Total tax			$1,568.00

Savings Portion:

Ten per cent of the income plus 1 per cent. of $4,800 for each dependent, or a total of 12 per cent of $4,800 equals $576.00. This amount is less than one-half of $1,558, the total tax; therefore, the maximum savings portions is $576.00.

The sum of $1,558.00 thus consists of:

Tax portion $982.00
Savings portion 576.00

The table is designed to secure 90 per cent. of the retainable tax and 90 per cent of the savings portion. Therefore:

90 per cent of tax portion is .$883.80
90 per cent of savings portion is 518.40

As the employee has had National Defence Tax deducted for eight months to Aug. 31, 1942 (or two-thirds of the year), he is entitled to a credit for this amount. The credit is determined as follows:

5 per cent of $4,800.........$240.00
Less 2 dependents at $20 ... 40.00
200.00
Two-thirds thereof (8 mons.) $133.34

From the 90 per cent of the tax —or $883.80—deduct $133.34 which leaves $750.46 payable.

Tax ($750.46) and savings $518.40), therefore amount to $1,268.86
$1,268.86 divided by 12 ..... 105.74
$518.40 (savings portion only) — divided by 12 as per the monthly table of tax deductions 43.20

Boche Coastal Big Berthas Draw British Fire In Six-Hour Duel From Midnight Till Dawn

LONDON, Aug. 13—(CP).—British and German coastal cannon on opposite sides of the English Channel exchanged heavy gunfire today from midnight virtually until dawn.

Observers described the shelling as one of the hottest in months. The Nazis, whose batteries opened the cannonading and drew a quick answer from heavy artillery on this side, apparently had more guns in action than usual. Some of their salvos contained six shells.

There was no immediate indication whether the targets were ashore or afloat but each side often fired on enemy shipping in the narrow strait, the other side answering.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, August 13—(CP).—It isn't impossible that PO. Bob Fritz will play again with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the club he plunged and coached to the Canadian Rugby Football championship in 1934 and Western crowns in 1935 and 1937. ....The big backfielder has been transferred to Rivers, Man., by the R.C.A.F., and Rivers is close enough to Winnipeg for Fritz to get in on the odd workout or week-end game.

When Robert first joined the Air Force rumor said he would wind up in Lachine, Que.....Whatever his Autumn assignment, it'll probably include some football...Either Winnipeg or Montreal (or any other club) could use him.

There may be more truth than wishful thinking in reports that Camp Borden, Ont., will have one of the strongest service football teams this fall....A Camp Borden club could draw on both army and air force talent, and that's plenty. ....Here's a footnote on a great football player: Red Storey, the former Toronto Argo, scored four goals and had two assists for Lachine in the Quebec Senior Lacrosse League a few days ago.

Opinion:

J. P. (Toronto Telegram) Fitzgerald on civilian football teams: "It is modestly suggested for their own protection that no player be permitted to indulge in football unless he can produce a certificate from the military authorities that he is not fit for the fighting services or is otherwise excused for good and proper reasons."

Incidentally:

Last item of business cleaned up by Chicago Black Hawks' Bill Carse before reporting for active duty with an Edmonton reconnaissance unit was to win the Lake Waskesiu golf championship at Prince Albert National Park....Athletes from service units stationed in Ontario will meet at Toronto Varsiety Stadium Saturday for the Ontario military track and field championships....Among the competitors will be Pte. Larry O'Connor of Toronto, and Cpl. B. B. Cheeseman of Cardston, Alta....O'Connor is one of the world's greatest hurdlers, Canadian champion and former Olympic representative.... Cheeseman is a former Alberta discus champ and Canadian shot put titleholder.

ment as Acting Minister of Transport.

In addition to banning reduced fares on trips between Eastern and Western Canada and the Prairies and the Coast, the ban also applies to through trips from Eastern Canada to the West Coast.

Official spokesmen said there is no intention to dishonor reduced fare tickets sold before Aug. 31, with round-trip provisions good for some length of time after that date.

Want Less Civilian Travel.

There was no indication in the statement as to what "further restrictions" might be in prospect unless there is voluntary curtailment of unnecessary civilian travel.

Mr. Howe's statement said the elimination of reduced fares was taken to conserve steel, oil, coal, and other vital materials, and to assure adequate transportation facilities for the movement of munitions, other war supplies, and the armed forces on duty.

"Civilian travel is on hte increase," said Mr. Howe.

"The traffic is so heavy that unless voluntary curtailment of conventions and other unnecessary travel proves a sufficient answer, further restrictions may become necessary, so that the war program may not be hindered."

The new order was issued by T. C. Lockwood, transport controller on the Wartime Industries Control Board. It was approved by R. C. Berkinshaw, chairman of that Board, and concurred in by Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Imposition of the new order was delayed until Aug. 31 to avoid inconvenience not only to the railways but also to private individuals and convention groups who have planned trips far in advance, spokesmen said.

The new order does not affect in any way train travel at reduced rates by members of the armed forces.

ing and although employees were busy making shoes two floors below no one spotted the smoke until the fire had gained considerable headway. When it was discovered at least three people outside on the street had already seen smoke coming from the roof of the factory. The alarm which brought the fire department not a hundred yards away was given from the plant, and as soon as the seriousness of the blaze was discovered employees began removing finished shoes and supplies from the building, since the flames were already beyond control of the fire fighting equipment in the factory. Smoke drove rescuers from the third floor of the building before they could salvage an estimated 800 pairs of shoes completed and ready for shipment. However, with the help of their own employees and local citizens much material was taken from the lower floors and basement of the building and removed to local warehouses for storage.

A Hot Pully

Actual cause of the fire is believed to have been a seized pulley operating the elevator which runs to the top of the building. Friction on the belt is thought to have ignited it and when it parted it fell to the floor which to turn started to burn. According to one member of the firm, R. J. Bale, he noticed the small of smoke shortly before the alarm was given and on looking up the elevator shaft saw the upper part of the building was "black with smoke." It is estimated the blaze had been in progress from 20 minutes to an hour before it was actually discovered and the alrm was sounded at $8.25.

For a short while smoke poured in heavy billows that darkened the street, and drove spectators to the vicinity of the post office, but firemen wth smoke masks put lines of hose into the building and soon had the best of the blaze which had already begun to eat at main supporting rafters of the roof which later partially collapsed. A power failure turned off the water supply for less than three minutes. A stream of water on the roof dislodged a dormer window on the west side of the building, and as it fell to the ground it took high tension wires which skirt the canal and feed the shoe factory with it. The short circuit which caused a spectacular blue flame and a terrific buzzing sound, killed a transformer carrying power to the fire station where the town pumping system is located. It was only a matter of minutes before the town had switched to Hydro power, thanks to the far-sightedness of the Water and Light Commission which for years has had this arrangement with the H.E.P.C.

One Girl Hurt

Only casualty of the fire was one girl employee who fainted and had to be carried out of the building where she was quickly revived.

It is understood that the loss is protected by insurance and plant officials declared that although they are not directly on war work they hope to have the plant back in operation again within a couple fo months. Except for slight effect water would have on some of the expensive machinery no great amount of damage was suffered by the production facilities. One of the biggest repair jobs will be to the roof of the building which is one of the oldest in Campbellford. The factory was first uilt in 1878 and used for a number of years as a woollen mill getting its power supply from the water which at that time, before the canal was built, coursed through water wheels at the north end. It was later converted into a shoe factory and operated by the Weston family for more than a quarter of a cenutry. The firm of Gravelin and Bale came to Campbellford from Oshawa four years ago.

On full time production, the plant was engaged in producing boot and shoe orders for South America.

me," he said. "I will have to judge, as best I can, what is the suitable time for announcement.

Five Reasons Why.

He authorized publication of five reasons why news could not be released:

1. A U-boat which has been hit is seldom able to get off a message about its fate, and if its fate is announced inormation is given to the Germans;

2. If information is made public immediately it enables the Germans to replace a lost U-boat or otherwise alter U-boat dispositions;

3. To announce how a Uboat is destroyed is to help the Germans since without announcement they do not know whether it was an accident, sabotage a mine or a depth charge;

4. The more information given on methods of attack against U-boats, the better it is for the Germans;

5. If the place of a submarine attack is indicated it may benefit the enemy.

Mr. Macdonald said he regards a recently-published interview with a U-boat captain who said he sank 21,000 tons of shipping at the mouth of the St. Lawrence, watched the lights of motor cars on shore and heard dance music as "an attempt to draw us out." The Germans often made statements with a view to obtaining information through denials or comments.

The battle of the Atlantic is 'not any worse,' said Mr. Macdonald. Ships were still going through.

Canadian warships did about one-third of the Trans-Atlantic escort work, with the United States navy doing a third and the British the other third. In addiion Io this task Canadiann ships had participated in north-south convoy work, operating down to the Caribbean sea.

"We are making every effort to keep the submarines out of tht St. Lawrence and out of other waters as well," he said.

But it was impossible to guarantee that a submarine would not come in. If they wanted to they could come into almost any area.

Hun Caucasus

As a matter of fact, the Turks think perhaps Hitler will halt his drive and consolidate, if and when he has completed his conquest of the Northern Caucasus down to the mountains. The idea is that he would rest there through the winter and strike again in the spring.

I hope he does that, because he will have achieved what likely will be an empty victory. That's so because it isn't probable that he can stand another winter without fresh supplies and still emerge in the Spring strong enough to fight his way down to the Middle East.

Then, mind you, the Allies should be ready to do business on a fairly big scale, and the Fuehrer will have trouble on his Western front.

Jack London used to say of pugilists that there's only so much velvet in a fighting man, and each battle takes away some of that velvet forever. Hitler has lost a lot of velvet in this summer's warfare, and he has thrown into his effort everything he had. So if the Russians have to give more ground but can hold approximately on the line of the Upper Don, the Lower Volga and the Caucasus range, they will have saved the day for the Allies. The Reds will have sustained heavy losses in resources, but that's where the United States and Britain step in—we hope and believe.

This is a more prosaic type of vehicle, a "workhorse" in the modern mechanized Army.

Its technical name is the 15-hundred General Service Truck, and as its name implies, it is used for many things by many and varied sections of the Canadian Army.

The vehicle is a four-wheel drive, and the infantry used it as a platoon carrier. It is also widely used in the field artillery and other branches of the combatant forces. Nothing much to look at —but rugged and durable, as demanded by the strenuous use to which it is put in rough country.

Century Old Styles Shown At Red Cross Garden Party At Port Hope

PORT HOPE, August 13—(ENS)—On Wednesday afternoon, under ideal weather conditions, a successful garden party was held by the Port Hope branch of the Red Cross, at the home of Mrs. J. L. Black, Dorset street.

The guests were received by Mrs. Black and Mrs. Wotherspoon, president of the Red Cross.

Tea was poured at a beautifully-decorated centre table by Mrs. H. M. Ryan, Mrs. J. H. Moore, Mrs. C. P. Freeman and Mrs. M. C. Wotherspoon. Small tables centred with rose bowls were placed on verandahs and terrace overlooking the lake and were in charge of the social committee of the Red Cross, Mrs. E. M. Thurber, Mrs. J. Hume, Mrs. H. P. Wilson, Mrs. D. McGillis, Mrs. H. Van Everdinger, Mrs. R. McDerment assisted by Mrs. Gilpin, Mrs. Horn, Mrs. A. Farrah, Mrs. R. B. Baxter, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Garland and the Misses Helen Smart, S. Wilson and Dorothy Ough.

Much of the success of this delightful garden fete is due Mrs. D. H. Chisholm, who was general convener; Mrs. B. J. George and Mrs. J. W. Foote, who were in charge of the gate recepts, and Mrs. M. C. Bryant, Mrs. Bagnani and Mrs. Whitton, who were conveners of the costume parade.

The raffles were in charge of Mrs. Roper, Mrs. Briden and Mrs. Houston, and consisted of a delicious angel food cake which was won by Mrs. Stollard of Cobourg; a doll which also went to Cobourg, to Mrs. C. Fitzhugh; and a vase won by Mrs. H. Fitzhugh, Cobourg. A luncheon cloth, donated by Mrs. Walter Grieves, was won by Miss Dorothy Grant, while both necklaces ruffled went to Cobourg, one to Mrs. Gryen and the other to Mrs. Malone.

Good Fish Pond

The fish pond was in charge of Mrs. Buckley and Mrs. Passy, and a "Toss your pennies tub" was looked after by Billy Brook and Peter Giles.

The main feature of this garden event was a Dress Parade, with costumes worn dating from the early dates of 1817.

The most historic costume whose date of origin was 1817, was a Red India muslin, which had belonged to Lady Robinson, the wife of Chief Justice Robinson, a brother of Peter Robinson who originally located Peter Robinson's borough, now known as Peterborough. This costume was worn by Miss Joan Taylor.

An Irish Dress

Mrs. Dithridge came next in the parade wearing an ivory satin dinner frock with puff sleeves and very lengthy train, which originated in Ireland in 1827.

A model of 1852 was worn by Mrs. Dunbar followed by Miss Briden in a brown corded silk of the 1860 style accompanied by Mrs. Bobbie Sculthorpe in full dress of the Lieut. Col. of the Durham Regiment of 1890.

Miss Helen Stapleton displayed a dinner dress with crinoline hoops dated 1865, accompanied by Mrs. J. Sheehan in a Paisley cloak worn over a black pleated skirt with large bustle and small bonnet tied under chin, such as worn during the reign of Queen Victoria and dated 1860.

Miss Leslie Ward modelled a yellow corded silk taffeta trimmed with green velvet of the 1870 period. Mrs. Bagnani wore a 1871, pale pink flower model with large bustle and very full skirted dinner frock. Mr. Peter Schultz appeared in a Scotch tartan, Miss Peggy O'Neil's costume dated 1870, while Miss Betty Lou Thompson, wore a perfect example of a walking dress of 1875. Mrs. Spencer's costume of 1870 displayed a beautiful velvet cape; Misses Nancy Brown, Patricia Chisholm and Joyce Crissall modelled costumes of the 1880 fashions, and Miss Joan Crissall of 1885.

The Gay Nineties

Mrs. Bryant displayed a complete outfit of 1888 including a typical bonnet of that date. Miss Connie Scott, 1888, and Miss Charlotte Haultain wore a perfect ensemble of beige, with blue sleeves and its original hat. Miss Nancy Scott, 1890; Miss Peiorrot, 1892; Miss Norma Jennings, 1892, and Miss Betty McLaughlin, 1892; Miss Madeline Jev, 1892; Mrs. Arthurs, 1898.

Madam Pochon displayed a beautiful Paquin original model of black lace over white satin with yards of train which originated in Paris in 1892.

The next couple were two distinct types of Widow; Mrs. Breckenbury in deep mouring wearing the widow's weeds, and Mrs. Shay as the merry widow of 1900 bedecked in black with large hat covered in plumes.

Misses Mary MacMillan, 1900; Grace Kemlo, 1900; Betty O'Neill, 1900.

A 1902 tennis team put on an act and played a very dainty game of tennis much to the amusement of the audience; Mrs. Wynn wearing the ladies' tennis costume of 1902 with a very full floor length dress in white, with long sleeves and high neck, complete with straw sailor hat and Mrs. Gettys in the gentleman's sport costume of long striped jacket and trousers.

Side-Saddle Days.

Next came a pair of riding habits of 1903 worn by Miss Barbara Tickett which was a very full skirt and high silk hat. Miss Margaret Sheehan displayed the first split-skirt to be worn in a riding habit in Port Hope in 1909.

Mrs. Bonneville's costume dated 1902 and Mrs. Harrison wore a very beautiful white embroidered linen suit with large picture hat and plumes of the 1908 era. Mrs. Newton's costume was mauve satin accompanied by a very heavily flowered hat held in place by a white veil, with which she carried a long-handled sun umbrella.

Mrs. James displayed a 1906 bathing suit, while Mrs. Gordon Scott wore a modern beach costume. A 1914 costume was modelled by Miss Justina Barnes; 1927, Mrs. Isobel Helm; 1932 by Miss Margaret Giles, bringing the parade from the past up to modern times.

Some of these models were accompanied by gentlemen in military attire, namely Mr. Jim Southy and Mr. Bobbie Sculthorpe as Lieut. Colonels of the Durham Regiment of 1890, and Mr. Bobbie Briden and Mr. Gerry Daniel as Major of Artillery of the 46th Battalion of 1890. This ended the parade and the guests scattered either to view the beautiful gardens or to have tea.

Raspberry sherbets sold around the grounds and at the tea tables were very popular and were in charge of Mrs. Brayley.

Although all expenses are not yet paid it is felt that the proceeds of this garden fete will net the Red Cross over $180.

50 Bushels To Acre

LETHBRIDGE Alta., August 13.—(CP) — The Hutterite colony south of Lethbridge yesterday reported that a field of beardless winter wheat now being harvested is averaging more than 50 bushels to the acre.

Toronto Doctor Nabs Fish With Bare Hands

CAMPBELLFORD, August 13.—(ENS) — Something a bit unusual in fishing technique has been demonstrated by a visitor to Percy Boom Haven, Dr. William Spafford of the Western Hospital, Toronto. He reacted to a natural impulse when a fish jumped clear of the water near his skiff down at Bradley Bay and actually succeeded in holding the specimen till it was over his boat. According to the story, Dr. Spafford was only a short distance off shore when he made the catch —without benefit of modern fishing aids. The pickerel weighed between four and five pounds and on reaching shore the Doctor examined his catch more closely only to find that a small bass which it had attempted to swallow, was lodged in its throat. The pickerel was probably trying to disgorge the bass when it broke the surface of the water for its last leap.

Shriners Visit Cobourg By Boat

COBOURG, Aug. 13.—(ENS). — Three hundred and fifty Shriners of Damascus Temple, Rochester, came over on the car ferry Wednesday afternoon for their annual outing. Due to war transportation conditions, the members of the Rameses Temple, Toronto, did not come down to join with the Damascus in the holiday. Headed by their fine band, the Shriners paraded from the ferry dock to Victoria Park. While the band was getting established on the bandshell, a group of the Shriners handed out candies and peanuts to the hundreds of children which suddenly appeared from nowhere. An excellent program of band music was given by the Damascus Temple band under the baton of Herman Dosenback of Rochester. A long line of local children was placed on the platform and, accompanied by the band, sang "God Save the King" and "God Bless America," a gesture which went over big with the huge crowd in the park.

Soap Stampede Hits Lakeshore

COBOURG, August 13. — Cobourg stores have been selling large quantities of soap during the past two days, due to the rumour that soap would soon be rationed. So great was the run on soap in one chain store that they started to limit purchases to two cake per customer. Yesterday purchasers started buying cocoa in large quantities.

"We have assurances from the government that there is no intention to ration soap and cocoa and the people have had the same assurances, yet some keep on buying up all they can. It certainly is a good way to create a scarcity and bring on rationing in these articles," stated one disgusted merchant yesterday.

Red Cross Busy

COBOURG, Aug. 13.—July report of the work room at Cobourg Red Cross depot reveals that during the month supplies to the extent of $269.44 were purchased. Shipments for the month were 100 bandages, 12 layettes, 20 bed pads, 30 binders, 34 pillow cases, 4 girls' nightgowns, 20 children's sleepers, 10 women's nightgowns, 20 personal property bags, 50 boys' shirts, 5 boys' pyjamas, 21 large quilts, 4 cot quilts, 150 socks, 15 scarves, 6 afghans, 30 long seaman's stockings, 55 turtle neck tuckins, 5 turtle neck sweaters, 5 aero caps, 4 helmets, 5 leather packets. Total 1,118. Number of workers in the work rooms per day, ranges from 8 to 15 per day.

Fireman Killed

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 13 —(AP)—One man was killed and another was missing today in a fire which raged through tons of paper stored in the all-steel warehouse of the Sutherland Paper Company last night. Harvey Kuiper, an employee, died in the flames. Fireman Jacob Lyden was missing. Damage was estimated at $80,000.

Want Playing Cards

COBOURG, Aug. 13.—(ENS)—The local branch of the Navy League has sent out an appeal for new or unsoiled packs of playing cards for use of the boys in the navy. Citizens to donate decks are asked by the League to leave them in Fred Pepino's bookstore.

6 Women On The Job

VANCOUVER, August 13 —CP) — Six women are now employed by the North Van Ship Repairs Limited Shipbuilding plant and are running threader machines. Officers of the Machinists Union say the women will be admitted to the union on an equal basis with the men.

The Caucasus Struggle

It was a proverbial saying in eighteenth century Germany that "no Russian is any good unless he is first beaten." Proverbs are rarely more than the embalmed stupidities of nations, and history has a way of giving them an ironic twist every now and then. A German might now say that a Russian is no good unless he is first beaten, but he might not be altogether certain of his ability to beat him.

For many weeks now we have followed the news of the Russian retreat in the Caucasus, and we have hoped desperately that Timoshenkos' forces would be able to make a stand and beat the Germans in a pitched battle. They have not been able to do so, but they have done the next best thing: they have saved themselves. There has been no report from either side of any considerable number of Russian troops being cut off and destroyed; the Southern Red Army has been as elusive as quicksilver. The Germans have occupied many hundreds of miles, but they have nothing to show for it but barren land, without crops and stripped of everything of value; they have pierced to Maikop, only to find the oil-wells there destroyed. And still the Russian forces elude capture.

Germany has paid an exorbitant price for her empty gains. Every day we have read of mountains of German dead marking each position that has been taken. We know that German resources of manpower are great, but the advance into the Caucasus must be telling, even to its numbers.

And now it appears that the real fight for the Caucasus is about to begin. We read that the Russian resistance is stiffening all along the line in the southern sector, and we wonder if the impetus of the Nazi drive can carry it much further. We repeat, Timoshenko has done one remarkable thing in the past few weeks; he has kept his army intact and he has brought up reserves, while the Nazis have been prodigal of their strength. Will the great fight come now, in the foothills of the Caucasus mountains?

The U.S. ambassador to Russia, Admiral Standley, tells the world that the Russians recognize the seriousness of their position, but are not fearful; they have no intention of relaxing their efforts or of throwing in the sponge. An examination of the military situation on a large map of Russia will show that, if the Russians could muster sufficient strength, they could make a series of counter-attacks on the German forces which might utterly destroy them, and the attacks at Voronezh and Rzhev have something of this character about them.

The situation in Russia, though grave, is not a cause for despair. We know the quality of Russian arms, and we have good reason to suspect that a second front, or a large diversion, is on its way in the West. As the year draws on and the Russian winter draws nearer it should be simpler to deal with the Germans, and as the nights grow longer the raids on Germany will become heavier. The future cannot be said to be bright, but it is not so black as a superficial observer might suppose.

Decisions About Education

The reports of the convention of the Canadian Teachers' Federation in Toronto make interesting reading, as might be expected. Mr. C. N. Crutchfield, the Secretary of the Federation, for instance, informs us that there is a general shortag[illegible] teachers all over Canada, and th[illegible] reason for this is that a teacher [illegible]equently make more money in [illegible]al work than in teaching; when [illegible] consider the salaries which teachers are offered, and have to take, in some parts of Canada, we are not surprised.

It is time that we in this country did some thinking about education and made up our minds just what we intend to do about it. Two views are open to us. We may consider education an essential part of our democratic scheme of things and a vitally important work of the state; if we take this view we must pay our teachers better and respect them more in their work. Or, alternatively, we may think of our schools merely as places where children are sent to keep them out of mischief until they are old enough to work; in that case our teachers are mere jailers and should be paid a jailer's low wage. But we cannot continue our present system of doing lip-service to the ideal of education while paying a lot of our teachers less than they could get as manual workers.

Intellectual work does not command the highest remuneration and it never has done so. Since the emergence of trades unions in economic life, and the consequent improvement of the manual worker's lot, the wages of a machinist are frequently more than those of a teacher. But can anyone honestly argue that the teacher's work is less skilled than the machinist's? We have no desire whatever to see the machinist's wage reduced, but we should very much like to see the teacher offered some compensation for a low salary. We live now in the midst of a world-revolution, and not the least paradoxical result of the upheaval is the present system in which a man whom we hail in our more flowery moments as "a moulder of the citizens of tomorrow" cannot get as much for that work as he could for moulding pig-iron in a machine shop.

Our Doubts Are Banished

There have been times when we have feared that Canada was too solemn for its own good; certain statements of our public men, certain revelations of public opinion, certain of our folkways suggested a painful solemnity, an ingrowing sobriety which boded no good. We seemed to be topheavy with dignity, like a baby elephant going for a stroll in its mother's howdah.

Now our doubts are banished, for a time at least. News reaches us of an individualistic restaurant-keeper in Hamilton who attempted to cram some chops down the throat of a lady who had complained about them. He was fined ten dollars, and we suggest that the Civil Liberties Association might pay the fine; the man was making a praiseworthy stand against the pernicious doctrine that the customer is always right. We are also informed by Bishop Renison, who has lately returned from the Arctic, that certain sophisticated Esquimaux are making nuisances of themselves by invading northern settlements, dancing all night and sleeping all day. These, we think, are good signs. A passionate hash-slinger and a few jiving aboriginals will save the country yet.

It Might Prove Fatal

The Montreal Star has a scheme for making statesmen out of politicians, and certainly any such plan deserves the attention of Canadians, for it is more breath-taking than the transmutation of base metals into gold. It seems that a Dr. Herman Goldhammer of Stanford University has said that politicians and reformers are apt to be neurotic. "They don't have to be neurotic to get in such positions," says he, "but it certainly helps." Now the Star thinks that statesmen are politicians who have risen above their neuroses, and that a course of psychiatric treatment should, therefore, make a statesman of the most hag-ridden ward-heeler.

We detect an over-simplication in this matter. The great William MacDougall after the last war was visited by three poets who wanted to be treated for shell-shock. By the time he had completed his treatment two of them had ceased to be poets! Is there not a danger, therefore, that a politician who was delivered from his burden of neurosis might relapse into comparative respectability, ending life not as a statesman but as a mere voter? We doubt if many politicians would care to run so grave a risk.

A Word And a Process

Britain is being supplied with large quantities of food from Canada which has been "dehydrated"; that is to say, it has been dried, no more and no less. But this long and bumptious word is used to describe a process by which artificial heat is circulated in the chamber which holds whatever is to be dried, thereby removing the molecules of water from it. It is just like any other sort of drying, such as sun-drying or evaporation, but it is more complete in its action. By "dehydration" 198 pounds of carrots may be reduced to 17 pounds and shipped in this more convenient form. The addition of water returns the carrots to their former state.

The word "dehydration" has been taken up and overworked, like many another bit of jargon. A. P. Herbert, who has done so much good work to keep the English language intelligible and muscular, has shot an arrow at the new favorite. "It has been aquating hard," he writes to a London paper, "and I am going to dehydrate my socks." Admirably expressed! We suggest that people who like to air this word be compelled to eat a pound of "dehydrated" carrots, and then "rehydrate" them by drinking a pail of water. That would fix them!

Be On The Safe Side

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

NO ONE can possibly say whether Canada will be raided from the air before the war is over. Some of our politicians obviously think that it will, and have apparently worked themselves into a position where they will feel a certain disappointment if their predictions should be proved wrong. Many people are fond of whispering, as if they were saying something particularly daring and wicked, that "if a few bombs fell right here it would do a lot to speed up the war effort." But the great majority do not appear to give the matter any thought whatever, and if there were to be an air raid in their vicinity, which is by no means impossible, they would have no idea of what to do.

That is why they should buy and read an excellent little manual which the Macmillan Company publishes called "A.R.P. For Canada"; it costs only a quarter. It is written by Vera Knight, who is an A.R.P. instructor in Toronto and who has had first-hand experience during the worst period of the London blitz. Mrs. Knight has trained over 1,500 wardens in Canada, and she acts as a consultant to the Toronto Civilian Defence Committee, and it is obvious from her book that she knows what she is talking about. A.R.P. in Canada is not quite the same thing as A.R.P. in Britain; the climate and the general style of building is different, and consequently some methods which are effective there would not do here. Mrs. Knight has adapted A.R.P. for Canadian needs, and her booklet gives the result of her work in this line.

IN this country there are already a large number of trained A.R.P. workers. They have attended classes voluntarily, and if they should be needed we may be sure that they will do their best. But A.R.P. is not a matter of wardens alone. The public in general must know what to do, or the first bombs which drop will cause terrible confusion. That is why every citizen should know how to take cover, how to black out a house, how to do elementary First Aid and how to deal with the lighter sorts of bombs. You may depend upon it that during a raid you will have no time to recollect what you have read in the newspapers about A.R.P.; the time to acquire your knowledge is now, and if you study Mrs. Knight's book carefully you should be able to do the best possible for yourself and your family if it should be necessary.

Blacking out, for instance, which seems simple enough on the face of it, is not an easy matter. We shall probably not do much about it in Ontario until we have had a raid or two, and then the run on black cloth and the other necessaries will be heavy and we need not doubt that the demand will far exceed the supply. That is why you should know how to black out with newspaper, which is a good, though not an easy method. What is more, you should know what to take with you to the shelter during a raid; it is a good idea to have a suitcase packed with the necessaries so that you can go as quickly and as little encumbered as possible. A surprising number of thing are needed to make a shelter bearable for a period of several hours, and you will certainly not be able to make a wise and complete selection at the last moment.

AS for bombs, you are quite likely to have to deal with any except one which hits you, and it is vitally necessary to be able to recognize them and know something of their general characteristics. It is possible to tell quite a lot about a bomb either by its sound as it falls or by the sort of explosion it makes; it is also worth remembering that knowledge is the enemy of fear, and if you can recognize what sort of bombs the planes are dropping you will be less likely to be demoralized by the noise. It is particularly necessary for all civilians to know how to deal with incendiary bombs. We have heard much about the destruction wrought by fire in Britain, but little has been said about the millions of dollars worth of property and the countless lives which were saved simply because the people of Britain, to a man, know how to douse an incendiary. It can be done with sand or a spray, and there is little danger if you know how to set about it.

It is well, also, to know how to behave in a burning building, and particularly how to deal with people who have been hurt in explosions. A little study now may save someone's life later. The writer is aware that the tone of this review of Mrs. Knight's book is not re-assuring, but air raids are things about which we cannot be too urbane. They may never come here, but if they do a knowledge of what to do will be invaluable for your morale, and for your personal safety as well as that of your family. It is advisable to get this book now and study it carefully. You can take in everything it says in an evening and master its contents in a week. It is worth the trouble.

Unconsidered Trifles

"What's about that notice outside your shop, 'Money returned if not satisfied?'" protested the disgruntled customer.

"Ah," said the shopkeeper, "I am satisfied with your money."

Smith, on the way to the city, found a slip of paper just outside the gate of his house. It was a detailed plan of his private office. The exact position of the stairs was shown. Notes showed which doors swung in and which swung out. Even the windows were set down. Smith, alarmed, rushed back into his house.

"Some burglar must be going to raid my office," he told his family.

"Oh, it isn't that!" cried his daughter, glancing at the sketch. "Those notes are in John's handwriting. He's coming to your office today to ask you to let him marry me."

A young woman about to be married decided to test her sweetheart, and called on a girl friend.

"I want you to go for a walk with Jack," she confided, "and at a suitable moment ask him for a kiss."

Her friend blushed, but consented.

The following day the bride-to-be called round to see what had happened.

"Did you ask Jack to kiss you, dear?"

"I didn't get a chance," was the rather upsetting reply. "He asked me long before I'd thought of it!"

Big Stakes in the Caucasus

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

THE chances for a successful conquest of the Tulagi area of the Solomon Islands appear better than even, despite probable heavy American losses, but even a complete victory in that section at this time should give rise to no wave of optimism about the progress of the war.

For great issues which bear directly upon the final outcome of the conflict are now being decided on the battlefields of Southern Russia, and from there the news is grave.

A victory in the Solomons would go a long way toward (1) securing the approaches to Australia and its supply lines from the United States (2) furnishing one starting point for the future general offensive in the Pacific, and (3) showing the effectiveness of American preparations to make that offensive.

LIMITED OBJECTIVES

At best, these are limited objectives despite the relatively great cost in men, ships and planes necessary to accomplish them. But the enemy's objectives and the Allied stakes in the Battle of the Caucasus are far-reaching, and, at worst, may decide the ability of the Russians to keep the main strength of Adolf Hitler's armies engaged until the crushing weight of British and American power can be thrown into decisive action against them.

A Russian defeat in the Caucasus probably would mean that a large part of the Red forces would withdraw north and east of the Volga River, where their position would be almost entirely defensive, for the time being at least. The Nazis, having gained a huge wealth of natural resources, would need comparatively small forces to hold the Russians behind the Volga, and the bulk of their strength could be turned in some other direction.

While none outside the German High Command can know its intentions, it seems probable that once they had occupied the Caucasus, the Nazis would turn their military might against the Middle East. They might strike at their objective either by heavily reinforcing Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's African Army in Western Egypt or by moving through the Island of Cyprus into Syria, the conquest of Cyprus being necessary to give them secure supply lines across the Eastern Mediterranean.

HALF WAY TO CASPIAN

It seems obvious that if the Germans pressed these possible developments of their strategy to successful conclusions, the difficulties in the way of a final, smashing United Nations victory would be immeasurably increased, and the conclusion of the war would be indefinitely delayed.

Yesterday's news, insofar as it bears on these long-range possibilities, was not good, on the whole. Although British military men said Russia's resistance was stiffening on all fronts, Moscow despatches said German mechanized forces driving down the Rostov-Baku railway were approximately at the half-way mark between the Black Sea and the Caspian. In the terrific struggle in the Caucasian foothills, the Germans menaced the region of Pyatigorsk and the Grozny oil fields beyond. This, combined with recent developments elsewhere, makes the picture rather bleak.

If the Caucasus and all that it stands for in United Nations interest is yet to be saved or even partially saved, it would seem that the Russians or their British and American allies must produce quickly resistance so effective as to fall little short of a military miracle.

Whitehall Notebook

By DOUGLAS AMARON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 13 (CP)—The premiere of the film "The Young Mr. Pitt" attracted more members of parliament than some sessions at the House of Commons. Ministers, privy councillors, parliamentary private secretaries and parliamentary "extras" were there to see how their predecessors carried on in circumstances strikingly similar to the present day.

The film shows the younger Pitt, played by Robert Donat, sustaining England's confidence at a time when the enemy was in Egypt and threatening India.

Reports that Winston Churchill is preparing his own account of the war brought an explanation that "the prime minister looks on his daily noting of the course of events in the same light as a ship's captain keeping a log-book," rather than as the groundwork for a future publication.

Suggestions still come in for cutting down the length of parliamentary speeches. Sir Leonard Lyle (Cons.-Bournemouth), who has raised the question more than once, proposed an arrangement for relaying the chimes of Big Ben so they could be heard in the chamber and remind members of the passage of time....

And back-benchers still object to ministers reading their speeches. So much so, they are reported to be hatching a plot to call the Speaker's attention to the irregularity every time they spot a minister laboriously working through his brief....

INVIGORATION PREFERRED

A reference by Ernest Thurtle, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of information, to "pep talks" caused confusion in the Commons. "What is meant by 'pep talks'?" asked Sir Cuthbert Headlam.

"I'm not sure myself, but I believe the word has entered sufficiently into common usage for most members to understand what is meant by it," Thurtle replied.

A little later K. W. M. Pickthorn referred to "pep talks" as "a term apparently without definition," to which Earl Winterton added "and which has been out of date for 20 years in the country of its origin."

Members who looked up their Oxford dictionary found: "Pep. Orig. U.S. (abbrev. of pepper). Slang. Vigour, energy, 'go'."

Lord Darnley, known among his fellow peers as "the Gardner Earl," is worried about the future of horticulturalists and the prospects that before long people will be thrown back on a diet which, he said, "I intensely dislike — cabbage boiled until all the goodness has gone down the drain and its odor has penetrated to every corner of the house."

"I believe there is more joy in the flower trade than in all the other pleasures trades put together," the six-foot-six Earl said during an eloquent, expert but unsuccessful appeal in the House of Lords against an order reducing the capital of flower, bulb and shrub growers to 25 per cent of what it was in 1939.

For the first time in British parliamentary history, Polish parliamentarians have sat in session within the precincts of the House of Commons. The meeting, in the huge committee room, was arranged by the executive committee of the Anglo-Polish parliamentary group to stress the ties of friendship between Poland and Great Britain.

Sir Stafford Cripps' motion requiring M.P.'s to show passes before entering the Commons produced some good natured argument before it was carried by a 119-to-16 vote.

Earl Winterton, "deputy father" of the House and one of the tallest and slimmest M.P.'s, recalled that on a visit to the foreign office he held out his pass at a distance at which no one could read it and the police nodded him on. The police officer, when questioned, said "we know everybody by sight who comes here," but admitted he didn't know Lord Winterton.

Sir Stafford, assuring the Horsham member that Commons police would examine passes, added: "You look so distinguished and ambassadorial that anyone would admit you to the foreign office in any circumstances."

The Pseudo-Patriot

It is about time that pseudo patriots were exposed. There are far too many people going about talking about their zeal for our cause, while, in secret, they are trying to live comfortable, normal lives in the face of the greatest demand for sacrifice this country has ever experienced. It is such people who are really dangerous. This is one way they can be dragged out into the light where they can be seen for what they are.—Windsor Star.

Hard To Believe How Time Flies

AUGUST 13

A Bible Message For Today

My son, forget not the law, but let thine heart keep my commandments;

For length of days, long life and peace shall they add to thee.

Let not mercy and truth forsake thee, bind them about thy neck, write them upon the table of thine heart;

So shalt thou find favor and good understanding in the sight of God and man.

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding.

In all thy ways acknowledge him and he shall direct thy paths.

Be not wise in thine own eyes, fear the Lord and depart from evil.—Proverbs 3: 1-7.

Petain's Surrender

(From a Review in The Spectator of Col. Tissier's "Government of Vichy," by D. W. Brogan.)

There was combined in the men of Bordeaux a naive belief in their ability to handle the Germans and a conviction that Britain would speedily follow the example of surrender set by the hero of Verdun. That profound a priori ignorance of the outer world that marked French conservative thought, at any rate from the moment that that profoundly ignorant man, Charles Maurras, got control of it, was dearly paid for.

But, as Colonel Tissier points out, even in the darkest days of June, only Petain could have covered the surrender. Why did he? There was his fundamental pessimism revealed in the last war. Of course, Petain was not the only pessimist. As Colonel Tissier points out, many of the Frenchmen who joined General de Gaulle were far from sharing his hopes; they believed that the war would end in a German victory and went on fighting on a point of honor. But Petain was needed to secure the obedience of the Empire, of the fleet, of the armies in Africa and the Levant. Towards the end of Louis Philippe's reign, the Parisians made fun of the nominal prime minister, Soult. He was officially known as "l'illustre epee"; they called him "l'illustre fourreau." Into the sheath of the Petain of legend increasingly dirty weapons have been thrust. And it is the stain from the dirty hands of the Brinons, Bonnards, Lavals that has turned even the more respectable plans and activities of Vichy to a tattle-tale brown.

A Lost Verb

(A Letter in The Spectator)

I am anxious to be informed by any of your readers who are also writers what has happened to the verb "begin." No modern author now uses it, I notice. The following quotations will illustrate my point: "He started to think"; "The Germans started to arrive"; "The fire started to burn." I feel sure that the opening sentence of a modern edition of the Bible would be: "At the start, etc." I presume that writers must have a good and sufficient reason for thus eliminating the verb I allude to, and I should very much like to know the reason for it.

One Or The Other

McKinlay Picnic Is Jolly Outing

PLAINVILLE, Aug. 13—(ENS). —Saturday marked the annual picnic of the McKinlay family held at Victoria Park, Cobourg, when about twenty-five members attended to celebrate the eighty-second birthday of their father and grandfather, Mr. John McKinlay, of Plainville.

Mr. McKinlay is an active man for his years, and is in fair health, and thoroughly enjoyed the day spent with most of his family, of which there were ten. He resides now with his son, Mr. Bert McKinlay and family at the homestead about two miles east of Plainville.

Both dinner and tea were served, when a large birthday cake was the centre of attraction. The afternoon was spent playing games.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Harris, Gore's Landing; Mr. and Mrs. Will Gordon and family, Bewdley; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cruise, Gloria and Maurice of Campbellcroft; Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Isaac, Fenella; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowman and Arnold, Plainville; Mr. and Mrs. Bert McKinlay, Audrey and Ross, Plainville; also Misses Mary and Ada McKinlay and Herb McKinlay, nieces and nephew, of Plainville, and another niece, Miss Irene Kennedy, of Richmond, who is visiting relatives at Plainville.

The regular August meeting of the Plainville W.M.S. and W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Butters, when about twenty-five ladies attended. The vice-president, Mrs. Fred Bowman, took charge of the business, and Mrs. William Herriott, a group leader, and also president of the W.C.T.U., conducted a very interesting and instructive program on temperance. A social hour was enjoyed at the close.

Sunday afternoon at the United Church the visiting minister's wife, Mrs. Miller, delivered a very fine sermon, taking as her theme "Prayer." She was assisting her husband in this way on their vacation at Rice Lake by taking one of his services.

Three Spitfire Musketeers

The third member of the "Three Spitfire Musketeers," Flying Officer Donald J. M. Blakeslee, Fairport Harbor, Ohio, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. His two buddies of the R.C.A.F. shown ABOVE (LEFT to RIGHT) are Flight-Lieutenant Ian Ormston, Montreal, P.Q., and Flight-Lieutenant Eugene "Jeep" Neal of Quebec City, both D.F.C. winners. These three lads recently fought their way out of a hornet's nest of Nazi fighters greatly superior in numbers. Ormston shot down one. Neal was shot down himself and bailed out into the English Channel, and Blakeslee scored two "probables." All three are graduates of the British Commonwealth Air Training plan and are members of the same squadron.

Havelock Hotel Owner Is Seeking Beer License

HAVELOCK, Aug. 1'—(ENS). —August meeting of the municipal council in Havelock was held Monday. Mr. D. F. Miller informed the council that he wrote the Bell Telephone Co. re by-law and informed them that if there was no expense to be attached to the municipality in their proposed repairs and changes, that the council would pass the by-law at their next meeting, and while he had received an acknowledgment of his letter they did not mention the costs. Mr. Miller advised the council to wait until they made this clear, and on motion by Councillors Martin and Leeson this matter was laid over.

Mr. Noel Lade was present on behalf of the Cadet League and requested the council to make a decision if possible at this meeting, if they would receive grant of $100 in order to have something to operate on. He also introduced Flying Officer Vettis of Belleville, and he explained the object and the great need of such a league. He also stated that while there was nothing to force the boys to signing up after their two years' training in the league, it was felt that the most of them would do so, and they would be in a position to cut four months off their R.C.A.F. training.

He also stated that the expenses over the two year course for 25 students would be around $750 and this would have to be raised by the citizens of Havelock or through some organization. Because of the statutes prohibiting councils from making any grants after the rates were arranged, and it would also be necessary to get the permission of the Municipal Board, it was decided that a tag day be granted at some future date, arranged by the league, this on motion of Councillors Kechen and Sanderson.

No Action.

Mr. T. Polous, proprietor of the local hotel, was present and requested assistance of the council in getting a beer license for the hotel, but no action was taken by the council.

In the matter of appointing auditors, as requested by the Dept. of Municipal Affairs for the 1941 records, because Mr. Wm. Laughlan had failed to present his report or complete the audit of books, it was moved by Councillors Ketchen and Martin that Miss Katie Anderson and Miss Elisa Wright be appointed auditors at a salary of $85.00. The by-law will be held up for the present until such time as the clerk could get instructions and advice from the department giving council assurance that it will not be necessary for them to pay Mr. Laughlan for the work he has already done, in connection with this audit, and the assurance that Mr. Laughlan's license was revoked. If this is not received from the department, it was felt that Mr. Laughlan should be forced by the department to withdraw or submit his statement. It was also agreed that this council should not be held liable for any extra expense which should occur in connection with this audit, as they had followed all regulations laid down by the department.—Carried.

On motion by Councillors Martin and Leeson that Mr. W. J. Akins collect all cigarette and bread licenses this month.

On motion by Councillors Sanderson and Martin that the clerk arrange a certificate for the Unemployment Insurance Commission, stating that employment of W. J. Akins and H. B. Puffer was permanent in character as requested by them. The arrangements for the tax sale was laid over until next meeting, on motion of Councillors Martin and Leeson.

On motion by Councillors Sanderson and Ketchen, that Reeve Seeney and Mr. Akins be authorized to do the necessary jobs outlined.

The relief officer's report was received and account paid on motion of Councillors Martin and Ketchen.

The following accounts were ordered paid: W. J. Akins, salary, phone and postage, $79.70; Bert Wannamaker, street work, $8.10; George McKay, street work, $24.48; Harry Tinney, street work, $31.98; Walter Davis, trucking, $6.75; Bank of Toronto, Hydro, town hall, $12.50; August Foley estate payments, $25.00; H. B. Puffer, deeds, phone, $8.98.

Council adjourned until Sept. 14 or at the call of the Reeve.

Deny Sugar Excess

OTTAWA, Aug. 13—(CP).—S. R. Noble, sugar administrator for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, described yesterday as "false and absurd" rumors which he said were being circulated that excessive stocks of sugar are available in Canada and that sugar rationing is therefore not necessary.

"Anyone circulating mischievous rumors of this sort is undermining our war effort," he said in statment, "and giving back-door aid to the enemy by fostering distrust and discontent among the people at home."

Canada's Films In Big Effort Geared To War

By MAURICE DESJARDINS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, August 13—(CP).—That humming sound you hear is Canada's motion picture industry merrily turning out reel after reel of films publicizing our country's war effort. No nation has been quicker to sense the importance of films in readying the public mind for the demands of all-out war.

Of a preponderantly documentary nature, Canadian films take a back seat to no other country in this domain, and have acquired an internation reputation for excellence and "punch." A New York Times correspondent recently wrote that Russia and Germany were the only nations rivalling Canada's celluloid propaganda.

Bringing all existing problems into a single solid pattern, the National Film Board, headed by active John Grierson, has centralized all government film interests and production, and made integrated use of the existent facilities of private film industry.

In 1942, the National Film Board, which is the government Motion Picture Bureau under a new name, will produce and release approximately 150,000 feet of film in 150 items, of which 40 to 50 will be of two reels or more.

On Broad Lines

Major activity of the Film Board is the series of "Canada Carries On," roughly comparable to the American "March of Time" in technique, and produced monthly since April, 1940. The series includes Atlantic Patrol, Letter from Aldershot, Home Front, Front of Steel, Squadron 992, Wings of Youth, Britain at Bay, Letter from Camp Borden, Un du Vingt-Deuxieme, Children from Overseas, Heroes of the Atlantic, Churchill's Islands, Strategy of Metals, Soldiers All, Battle for Oil, and many others. These were purchased by 900 of Canada's 1,000-odd theatres, who paid better prices for them than for any other shorts.

Other releases include special training films for the Departments of National Defence, Munitions and Supply, Labor, the National War Finances Committee, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and other branches of the Government. Also included is a monthly news review in French called Les Actualites Canadiennes.

Apart from its war films, the Film Board has a carefully planned schedule of non-war pictures, covering art, social planning, elementary and human geography, history, nature study and natural resources.

Showing Abroad

At the end of six months, Canadian war films are reduced from theatre size to 16-millimeter for non-theatrical showing in distant points of the United States, Latin America, Britain and the Colonial Empire. No road company was ever called upon to play to more varied audiences or to do a more specific wartime job. These films carry a picture of Canada's war effort to the four corners of the earth.

An experiment was launched in the early months of this year, bringing travelling theatres to rural communities beyond theatre range, with the co-operation of the Canadian Council for Education in Citizenship.

Forty-three such travelling theatres now are in operation, each playing an average of 20 communities a month. In Quebec, most of the circuits are in French with the Quebec government providing a lecturer who travels with the projectionist.

Montreal is the major centre of the film industry, more than 75 per cent of the production and processing being done here. The rest of the war films are produced on the West Coast, with a Toronto firm doing considerable process work after production.

A story will illustrate the value of one particular film. A woman in a Western city saw a Red Cross picture, and her first gesture on leaving the theatre was to call on campaign headquarters to reclaim a cheque for $150 she had just donated. "I saw your movie," she said, "and now I want to tear up my first cheque and give you another one for $1,000!"

"We have only begun to scratch the surface of the possibilities in film as a means for national education," John Grierson was quoted as saying recently. "The world events we are passing through will force us to reorganize our educational outlook and methods on a scale history has never known."

13 Baptized At Church Service

MILLBROOK, August 13—(ENS)—A feature of deep spiritual impressiveness was the baptismal service held in connection with the morning worship of St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday at 11 a.m. when thirteen children, from infancy to four and five years of age, received this solemn rite at the hands of the pastor, Rev. A. L. Siscoe, B.D. The parents who brought their children for baptism were: Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Fallis; Mr. and Mrs. Melville W. Ball; Mr. and Mrs. Vertil Kennedy; Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Earle; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hawkin.

The minister's sermon was from Isaiah 12:8, "I have set watchmen upon the walls, O Jerusalem," and included in the points emphasized was the need of parents to fulfill their duty as watchmen preventing the entrance of evil in the lives of their children, as they endeavor to keep the vows made at their baptism to 'bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.' The male quartette, Messrs. M. McDowell, H. Oullette, W. H. Coombe and G. Might, sang appropriately, "May the Life of Christ be Mine.' St. Andrew's church has withdrawn its evening services for the rest of the summer months.

Jean L. Burnham is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Thorndyke, and Mr. Thorndyke, with other relatives in Toronto for the current three weeks, going on Sunday.

Dr. M. E. and Mrs. Hobbs and family are spending a two weeks' vacation at Coldsprings, Rice Lake, the doctor being in the office only on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and evenings until after August 15.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wellington Pickup, of Toronto, have annunced the engagement of ther only daughter, Anne Kathleen, to Philip Bruce Peacock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lloyd Peacock, the wedding to take place on Saturday, August 29. The father of the bride-to-be was born and brought up at Millbrook, and her mother, who is a daughter of Mrs. John Fitzgerald, and the late Mr. Fitzgerald, also lived here previous to her marriage, and was at one time teacher of the Zion Line school. Anne Kathleen is a grand niece of Councillor J. R. and Mrs. Eakins, Millbrook.

Burns' Bridge News

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sykes (Jean Clysdale) of Warkworth, who are celebrating their ninth wedding anniversary with their family; also Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Carlow (Eva Clysdale) and daughter, were supper guests on Sunday at the Clysdale home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sargent; Mr. and Mrs. David Forsyth and Mr. and Mrs. Bert White, all of Peterborough, were Sunday afternoon guests with Miss Nell Forsyth.

Masters Bruce and Garth Duff of Toronto and Master Neil Lloyd of Peterborough are holidaying at the Tedford home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kidd and family were Sunday guests of Mr. Art Kay at the Patte fox farm and also friends at Chemong.

Miss Helen Tedford and brothers spent Sunday with their parents at Clear Lake.

One Killed

A SOUTHWESTERN QUEBEC TOWN, Aug. 13—(CP).—One man was killed and three others narrowly escaped the same fate early on Tuesday, when an explosion occurred in an explosives plant near here.

Alexandre Belisle, 27, of Valleyfield, died in the plant hospital from body wounds half an hour after being struck by a piece of the metal cover of a blocking press blown through the roof of one of the smokeless powder buildings.

Enough Teachers

TORONTO, August 13—(CP).—Although Ontario faces a shortage of teachers this year, the Department of Education expects to close no schools, Maj. J. P. Cowles, Acting Deputy Minister of Education, said here today.

Maj. Cowles said more than 200 married teachers had written the department asking for work. Before the school term opened this autumn, it was expected all schools would be provided with teachers.

Little Incendiarism

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 13 — W. J. Scott, Ontario Fire Marshal, said Wednesday, Ontario was producing "approximately two-thirds of the war material now being manufactured in Canada."

Speaking before the 34th annual convention of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs here, Fire Marshal Scott said 90 per cent of the arson charges laid by his department had resulted in convictions. Fire damage from known incendiarism in Ontario had cost only about $60.

AL MARSHALL WINS SENIOR SWIMFOR THIRD CONSECUTIVE YEAR

Montreal Girl Takes Duffus Trophy At Wallace Point

Streaking through the water, with a powerful, rythmic crawl stroke Allan Marshall, holder of the Dominion title in the 200 metre breast stroke, won the mile swim at Wallace Point Regatta on Wednesday afternoon for the third consecutive year, to gain permanent possession of the Gordon K. Fraser, silver trophy.

Top ranking competition of other years was missing, but Marshall nevertheless gave an outstanding performance finishing almost an eighth of a mile ahead of the nearest rival, and this morning he reports for training with the Royal Canadian Air Force. It was a grand climax to three years of civilian swimming, and the big crowd roared approval.

Nine swimmers started in the men's senior event and seven finished, with Andy Brown of Peterborough taking second and Jack Blewett of Peterborough third. These two fought it out all through the two laps around the buoys, but Brown was the stronger at the finish. Rob Roy of Peterborough finished fourth, a body-length ahead of Frank Corliss of St. Catharines. These two were neck and neck over most of the course, but Roy had the best style, coursing along with a smooth distance-eating stroke that didn't seem to tire him, while his opponent was laboring hard on the last lap.

An odd situation developed in the girls' swim events, when a junior girl beat all senior entries to win her own event. There were three seniors and six juniors took the water at once swimming in the respective races over the same course. 14-year-old Peggy Blewett of 717 Crescent street, Peterborough, was the first girl to reach the dock, clipping the half mile in 17 minutes, 52 seconds, and she wins the junior cup. Second to finish was Carol Horsburg, also 14, of 514 Stanstead avenue, Mont Royal, winner of the junior swim last year who took the senior crown yesterday and the Senator J. J. Duffus trophy. Regina DeCarlo, Peterborough who placed third in the senior two years ago was second in the same event Wednesday. Second place in the junior went to Marion Murphy of Peterborough, and third to Barry Hutchings of Forest Hill Village; fourth place was taken by an American, Ruth Glover, of Fairfield, Connecticutt.

The boys' Junior swim was the classic of the entire program, and 28 hopefuls lined the dock when the starter called the list, of swimmers 15 and under. The bunch soon strung out and five of the stronger swimmers forged ahead and fought it out for the top laurels. From the very start it was a battle between Edwin Pattison, 506 Salem Ave., Toronto, now holidaying at Gilmar Lodge, and Paul Reeds, 616 Lock street, Peterborough. The two knifed through the water at a killing pace, and kept it up, while three others, Jack Thirnbeck, Jack Wright of Keene and Don Campbell threatened most of the way. They finished in that order, and in a matter of second after the first five had clambered on the starting dock, other powerful contenders for future laurels swished up to the finish line in good shape. The amazing thing about it was that 25 of the 28 boys who started crossed the finish line. Here is the finishing positions of the first eight swimmers: Edwin Pattison, Paul Reedr, Jack Thirnbeck, Jack Wright, Don Campbell, Robert Miller, William Holland and Don Pearse. Pattison, the winner is 15 and Reeds is 14. Spectators marvelled at the smooth swimming of Don Campbell, a 12-year-old Peterborough boy who actually finished fourth but placed fifth, because he touched the dock and not the finish ladder. He will give Reeds strong opposition should both enter the junior event next summer.

The setting was perfect for the annual swim, which is growing in popularity with each passing year, and Gordon Minty, well-known swimming mentor had all arrangement carefully made, so that the events ran off without a hitch. On top of this Minty presided at the mike on a public address system, and kept the spectators well informed on the various events. Judges were Jim French of Peterborough and his brother from Windsor, Ontario, while Miss Phyllis Marshall and Miss Phyllis Coleman were clerks of the course.

Heavy enlistments and wartime restrictions cut into the entry lists and the attendance but the regatta, the only one being held in the entire Kawartha chain was a complete success.

Following are the prize-winners:

Boys' tandem canoe, 14 and under—1, Fred Mortimer and Doug Plunkett; 2, Gord. Scriver and Brian Wade; 3, Bob Miller and Noel Easson.

Knox Cup Game Winds In 8-All Tie

Electrics came from far behind in last night's Girls' League playoff game for the Knox Cup to tie up the argument and when play was called on account of darkness at the end of the ninth the C.G.E. squad and Brintons were all even-Stephen with eight runs each.

Brintons led all the way until the last of the ninth. At the end of the fifth they were leading 2 to 0 and when they added six more runs in the next two innings and were in front 8 to 2 at the close of the first half of the seventh it looked to be all over. Electrics managed to get three in their end but they were still down 8 to 5 when they went to bat in the second half of the final frame. Then after the first batter had been retired they came through with four hits and the blows along with a Brinton error were enough to give them three runs and deadlock the ball game.

Electrics out hit the Brintons, getting 16 hits off Leila Hughes as against 11 yielded by Mary Larmer, but the Brinton squad turned in some smart fielding with two double plays and a triple killing to their credit. The triple play came in the eighth when M. Barrie nailed a fly from the bat of Grace Barnes and then fired the ball to Nellie Smith catching one runner and the second-sacker fired to first to pick off another. Agnes Weir started one of the twin-killings with a nice catch.

Shirley Milburn with a triple, double and single led the Electric batters while M. Barrie and Nellie Smith were the only Brinton players to get two blows. Marg. Batley had the only homer of the game.

Brintons opened the scoring in the first when Agnes Weir started with a single, advanced on an infield out and scored on a hit by Doris Walker.

Marg. Batley put the carpet crew two up in the third when she was safe on an error and after a couple of stolen bases scored on an infield out. In the sixth a base on balls and a pair of misplays allowed M. Barrie to score Brintons third run.

Electrics broke into the scoring column in their half. A single by M. McIlwaine, Shirley Milburn's triple and an infield out gave them two runs before a double-play wound up the inning.

Brintons had a big inning in the seventh. Marg. Batley opened it with a homer, and after D. Walker had rolled out, a double by Leila Hughes, singles by M. Barrie, M. Miller and Nellie Smith, and an infield out chased four more runs across.

Electrics grabbed three in their half on two Brinton misplays and hits by Ruby and Shirley Milburn, the latter's a double.

That made it 8 to 5 and the figures remained at that until the ninth when hits by M. Killingbeck, Ruby Milburn and Edna MacKenzie, along with an error, chased in three Electric runs and tied up the ball game.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

With Westclox holding the edge by virtue of their win over their old rivals in the first game Tuesday night; the Big Bens and Generals will meet tonight at the Bowl in the second fixture in the best four-of-seven series to decide the senior Girls' League championship and the right to represent Peterborough in the provincial playdowns. The game will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp and players are urged to be hand promptly as darkness comes considerably earlier than it did a month ago. Tonight's tilt should be a peppery affair. Generals did not appreciate the loss they sustained Tuesday night and they will be battling tonight to even up the series. On the other hand the Big Bens are just as anxious to make it two wins in a row and pull out well in front in the final round for the Bond Cup. There should be plenty of excitement all the way as the perennial opponents battle for supremacy. No pitching selections have been announced from either camp. It looks like Bea McDowell for the Generals however and either Marg Watson or Isobel Bullock for the Big Bens.

With special draw prizes of a Brinton rug and a Kenwood blanket for two lucky fans and with the entire proceeds going to the O.A.S.A.'s bat and ball fund to provide softball equipment for members of the armed forces, tomorrow night's City League playoff game between Royals and Luckies should draw the season's best attendance. This is the second playoff clash between the two clubs and another win for Royals who nosed out Manager Fred Griffin's team 9 to 8 in the first game will mean curtains for the season and send the Royals into the finals with the Plazas. Luckies won three straight games before dropping Monday night's tussle to the Parnell squad and they are confident that they can send the series into an extra battle by grabbing off Friday night's engagement. Lefty Bill Lewis will likely get the pitching assignment and it is probable that his twirling opponent will be Ron Akers whose effective relief hurling in Monday's game was a big factor in winning the opening tilt. The game will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp and will pack the stands in view of what is at stake and the fact that the proceeds will benefit the men in the armed forces.

The championship trail ended for the Soldiers last night when the popular club from the Military Training Centre was eliminated by the league-leading Plazas who overwhelmed them 18 to 6 to take the City League semi-final playoff series in two straight games. The folding up of Soldiers will be regretted by many fans. They had a great following this season and earned it by playing a lot of pleasing and colorful ball. Their chances of course really vanished when Pitcher Ken Fleming was transferred to other duties. The left-handed Peterborough lad had kept them in the hunt by effective pitching and his loss, following by that of Irish Kilfoyle, second-string box artist spelled out elimination for the Soldiers. They hadn't a chance in last night's game. Plazas were teeing off and when they scored four runs in the opening frame and kept on chasing markers across in all but two innings there wasn't much the military team could do about it. They did manage to drive home six runs off Dave Wilson but Tom Parsons stopped them when he went in, preventing hits when hits meant runs. On the other hand when Plazas had runners in scoring position they kept coming through with safe blows or with long flies that sent in the markers, four of their counters being registered after drives to the outfield had been caught.

Marshall Takes The Cup

Allan Marshall, crack Peterborough swimmer who is off to Manning Pool, Toronto, today, training as a pilot with the Royal Canadian Air Force, finished his competitive swimming activities for the present in a blaze of glory Wednesday evening when he won the big swim at the Wallace Point regatta for the third year in succession and thus became the owner of the handsome Gordon K. Fraser Trophy which was to become the property of any competitor finishing first three times in succession. The young swimmer who is the Dominion 200-yard breast stroke champion has shown that he is always thoroughly at home in free style swimming over the longer route and he scored his third Wallace Point win in as many years last evening in convincing style. His victory was a popular one and the sporting public in congratulating him upon his success will wish him all kinds of luck in the big game upon which he is entering today as a member of the R.C.A.F.

Ken Colling has the following in his Belleville sport column: "Some weeks ago this corner suggested a home and home softball series between the Peterborough and Reliance hockey teams might prove interesting as well as profitable. Out in the Liftlock City the softball moguls have already financially assisted the Peterborough Kinsmen Club's war charities and here would be a good feature to stage in favor of the Kinsmen "Fag Fund." When first suggested Scribe Fred Craig heartily endorsed such a series. On the roster of the Plaza softball team in Peterborough are such puck celebrities as Jim Ellis, Art Heal, Bun Kingdon, Don Crowe, Joe Blewett, Eddie Starr and others. On the Reliance softball team are such hockey names as Archie Major, Tilly Donihee, Tims Williams, Pete Horeck, Reg Chipman, Gene LaBonne and Don Bowen and it would be interesting to watch the boys battle it out without body checks and hockey sticks at their disposal. It would be interesting to see Art Heal or Tilly Donihee scintillating around the keystone sack, rather than faking passes around their opponents' goalmouth. Looks like a natural for an exhibition sport attraction here."

The St. Louis Cards gained half a game on Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday by taking both ends of a double-header from the Chicago Cubs while the Bums were winning a single game from the Phils. The Cards had little trouble with the Cubs, taking the first one 9 to 4 when Johnny Beazley grabbed off his 13th win of the season and the second 8 to 3 with Gumbert keeping eight Chicago hits well scattered. The Dodgers had quite a time edging a decision over the lowly Phils. Larry French finally succeeded in annexing his 12th win of the season as against one loss when he held the Phils to four hits. Rube Melton was almost as good, holding the Bums to four blows.

Charlie Keller had a grand slam for the Yankees yesterday coming through with a homer with the bases loaded in the ninth inning to give the McCarthyites a win by 8 to 4 over the Red Sox. It was quite a session for home runs. In addition to Keller's devastating four-master Buddy Hassett, Joe Gordon and Dom DiMaggio also hit for the circuit. Boston Braves exploded a depth charge in the path of the fast-coming New York Giants by sweeping a double-header from them. Boston took the first by 1 to 0 on smooth pitching by Javery and won the second 8 to 2. Detroit took two games from Cleveland that hurt the Indians a lot. Rudy York helped to win the first one 4 to 2 with his 17th homer of the season and the Indians were shut out in the second 2 to 0.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Largest City League crowd of the season saw the Plazas-Soldiers game last night....Plazas players complained Doug Mortimer was still down at the Wallace Point regatta when he caught some of those long drives last night. The Soldier outfielder was certainly playing plenty deep....Chuck McLean, well known former Argos and Queen's football player is reported as improving rapidly after having been badly wounded at Malta where he has been serving as a fighter pilot....Native Sons of Canada may sponsor a purely amateur hockey cup to replace the Allan Cup. They say the latter is no longer an amateur trophy and they may have something there....Sanderson's catch of Eddie Starr's line drive was a freak play. The ball driven hard back at the pitcher struck Sanderson on the leg and bounded into the air The force of the smash knocked the twirler down and as he fell he saw the ball in the air above him and grabbed it in one hand before it hit the ground....Art Heal, Joe Blewett and Jim Ellis were the power-houses for the Plazas last night. The three got 12 hits between them....Brintons and Elctrics who battled to a tie last night in the first game of the best four-of-seven series for the Knox Cup will try it again tomorrow night ....Plazas have pulled off three double-plays in the playoffs series and Don Crowe has been in on all three. He kicked in with one unassisted, started another and completed the third.

Watercraft Defeat Brintons In Bid For Top Spot

The Peterborough Canoe Watercrafts continued their bid for top spot in the City Industrial League race last night at the Woollens' Field when they took the fast stepping Brinton Carpet Makers to the score of 13 to 6.

The game was a smart 9 innings affair, both teams playing heads up softball, and many brilliant plays were run. 'Red' Hunter, the Boatmen's first sacker, executed a great double play which caught two Rugmakers sleeping. The fielding unit for the Brintons was flawless. All the boys in the garden spots handled the Saial Boys' flies in perfect fashion.

'Skeets' Thompson, shortstop for the Watercrafts, made a perfect running catch that made the spectators applaud. Killingbeck, the Boatmen's twirler, allowed 11 scattered hits, while Corbett, the Brintons' moundsman, gave the Watercrafts 17 hits. The infield boys of both teams played sterling ball. Many a swift put-out was executed.

PLAZAS RUB OUT SOLDIERS IN 2nd OF SEMI-FINALS BY 18-6 SCORE

Blewett and Heal Spark Winners' Punch

Plazas eliminated Soldiers from the City League playoffs last night at Riverside Park by smothering the Military Training Centre Club 18 to 6 and taking the semi-final playoff series in two straight games. The hockey squad now go into the loop finals against the winners of the Royals-Luckies' round.

Plazas did not wait for the final inning last night to turn loose their power. They hung up four runs in the opening frame and scored in all but two frames thereafter, rattling off 17 hits from the delivery of two Soldier pitchers. Art Heal with five hits and Joe Blewett with four sparked the winners' attack, the two driving in nine runs and scoring six themselves.

It was more or less of a ball game up to the fifth. Soldiers trailed 9 to 6 at that point. But Tom Parsons' effective relief pitching ended the losers' run-getting at that stage while Plazas' attack continued to roll and they piled up nine more runs in the last four frames.

Soldiers started a surprise pitcher in the person of Sanderson, a Peterborough youngster who used to perform in the South End League. The young right-hander tried hard but Plazas were swinging hard and Soldiers' fielding in spots was none too good. Sanderson pitched the first seven innings, allowed 12 hits and 13 runs. Powell finished the game but failed to stop the winners who scored five more counters in the last two innings.

Dave Wilson started for Plazas and was relieved with two out in the fifth, after yielding seven hits and six runs up to that stage. Parsons finished the battle and although Soldiers could get men on the relief pitcher bore down in the pinches and there was no more scoring.

Many Fielding Features

There were plenty of fielding features. Doug. Mortimer in right-field for the Soldiers contributed a couple when he ran back and made jumping catches of hard long drives by Joe Blewett and Eddie Starr that started out like homers. Sanderson had another when he made a freak catch of a line drive by E. Starr. The hard-hit smash hit the pitcher on the leg and he fell. As he did he grabbed the ball in one hand to retire the batter. For Plazas Don Crowe, handled nine chances without a skip at second and made an unassisted double play. Art Heal had a sparkling play to cut Anderson out of a hit on a bounder over second and Eddie Starr wound up the game wit' a running catch of a foul fly and then doubling Sero off second with a quick throw to Crowe.

Plazas opened the scoring in the first frame. Heal beat out a hit to short and Kingdon reached second when Gault dropped his fly to centre. Crowe flied to McIlveen and Heal scored after the catch and Joe Blewett drove one a mile to right field for a fine catch by Mortimer. Kingdon scored easily after the grab. Sanderson then lost control, walking Ellis, Scriver, W. Starr and E. Starr in a row to force in a run and uncorking a wild pitch on which Scriver registered.

Plazas came back with another in the second when Heal beat out a bunt, Kingdon singled past McKerrigan sending Heal to third and he ran home when Crowe pasted a long drive which Gault took in deep centre.

Thomson Hits Homer

Soldiers closed the gap in their half. Sero walked, McKerrigan doubled to left and both scored ahead of Thomson when the first baseman whaled a long homer to deep left centre. Herrick rolled out to Wilson and after Gault had doubled to right, Sanderson lined to Crowe who doubled Gault off second, unassisted.

The winners retaliated with four in the first of the third. Web Starr got a life when Herrick dropped a third strike and threw badly to first. Starr kept on to second and should have been out but Sero dropped the ball in tagging him. Eddie Starr beat out a roller to short. Wilson sacrificed and Heal singled to centre scoring the two Starrs. Heal started to steal second and by fast running went all the way home when Herrick threw badly to the keystone sack. Kingdon grounded to McKerrigan but Crowe tripled to right and scored when Blewett doubled to the same field and Gault and Mortimer let the ball drop between them. Ellis flied to McIlveen.

Close Gap Slightly

Soldiers got two in their half on Mortimer's doubled to left, a pass to Sero, a wild pitch and McKerrigan's clean single to centre.

The Camp team made it 9 to 6 in the fifth. Anderson singled to left but was out trying to stretch it. Mortimer doubled to centre, went to third while Crowe was tossing out McIlveen and went home on a wild pitch. Wilson passed Sero and was relieved by Parsons. A nice catch by Heal of a high fly back of second from McKerrigan's bat retired the side and Soldiers failed to score thereafter, although they had runners on every inning.

Plazas kept on piling it up. In the sixth Crowe got a life on Sero's high throw, Blewett singled to first and Ellis dropped a hit into third filling the bases. Crowe scored on Scriver's fly to McIlveen and Blewett ran in after W. Starr had driven a fly to Mortimer in right. Eddie Starr popped to McKerrigan.

Piling Them Up

In the seventh Parsons walked, Heal rifled his fourth hit, a single to right. Kingdon flied to Mortimer, the runners advancing after the catch. Crowe popped to Sanderson but Joe Blewett lined a single to right scoring Parsons and Heal. Ellis lifted one to Anderson.

With Powell on the rubber for Soldiers the hockey squad got two more in the eighth. Jones walked and after W. Starr had popped to McKerrigan and Eddie Starr had been robbed of a homer by Mortimer's grab of his long fly to right, Parsons singled through short and scored behind Jones when Heal tripled down the right field foul line for his fifth hit. Kingdon popped to Sero.

In the ninth Crowe singled through short, advanced on a wild pitch and scored on Blewett's double to right, Ellis tripled to centre, scoring Blewett and after Jones had rolled out came home when Web Starr boomed a long fly to Mortimer. E. Starr rolled to McKerrigan.

Now, When I Won The Hambletonian Last Year

Bill Gallon (RIGHT), winner of the Hambletonian last year, gives the lowdown to his stablemate, Pap Up, hope of the R. H. Johnston stable in the $40,000 trotting classic at Goshen, N.Y., yesterday. Lee Smith, shown in picture, drove Bill Gallon to victory last year. He was behind Pap Up yesterday but failed to win as Ambassador, an outsider, romped to victory.

'Too Old To Drive' White Wins $20,489 Trot

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sport Writer

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug. 13—(AP).—The boys around the barns were saying that Ben White was too old to be competing against 40- and 50-year-old "youngsters," that Bill Strang's luck was all bad when it came to winning the Hambletonian.

But Trainer-Driver White and Owner Strang, partners for some 15 years, showed them yesterday when the Ambassador won the rich trotting horse stake at Good Time Park—the third time that White has turned the trick and No. 1 for Strang.

"Maybe I'm too old," said the 69-year-old Canadian-born White, who learned about horses from Pop Geers, after the Ambassador had won the purse of $20,489, "but I had a right smart horse in front of me and that can make up for a lot of years."

The Ambassador isn't the best horse White ever drove for he has had four two-minute performers in 40 years of riding a sulky. In fact the Ambassador isn't the best horse that ever won the 17-year-old stake but he was good enough to hang it on to rivals in the second race of his career.

When the bay son of Scotland-Margaret Arion came winging home with a length to spare in the third heat in 2:04 after taking the second in 2:06, Strang realized an ambition that sent him to the Walnut Hall yearling sales year after year.

A $5,000 Trotter.

He paid $6,000 for His Excellency and thought he had the 1941 race sewed up only to have Bill Gallon take the big pot after Strang's horse had come through in one heat. Two years ago he bid in the Ambassador, a half-brother of His Excellency, for $5,000 but his luck looked none too good when the colt went lame and failed to start as a two-year-old.

But White, native of Whitevale, Ont., brought him around, gave him a mark of 2:07 and a fraction in his first and only other start at Old Orchard Beach, Me., and then came back after finishing fifth in the first heat yesterday.

"I guess I've spent close to $100,000 for horses," said the Brooklyn storage and trucking man who has been around horses for 40 of his 52 years. "But, though I never won the Hambletonian until today, the game doesn't owe me a cent. I've had six other Hambletonian starters and all of them finished in the money."

The victory brought revenge for Strang and White. A year ago it was Robert H. Johnston's Bill Gallon of Charlotte, N.C., that kept them out of first money. Yesterday they turned the trick, for it was Johnston's Pay Up that won the first heat in 2:06, finished third in the second and in a deadheat for fourth in the third.

Yanks, Dodgers Humble Sox and Phils

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers appear determined to save themselves and the baseball fans a lot of travel by keeping the 1942 World Series within range of a five-cent subway ride.

Both teams won again yesterday, which is hardly surprising in itself. Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Phils discovered what many others already knew about the Yankees and the Dodgers—that is, if they can't beat you one way, they'll beat you another.

At Ebbets Field, the Dodgers went to bat in the ninth inning of a scoreless pitching duel between their ace, Lefty Larry French, and Rube Melton of the Phils. They calmly loaded the bases on two singles and a walk and sent dangerous Dolph Camilli to the plate.

Camilli, however, didn't lay a bat on the ball. He merely waited out a walk which forced the winning run across, giving the Dodgers the verdict 1-0.

Meanwhile, over in the Bronx, the Yankees went to bat against the Red Sox with the score tied in the last half of the ninth. They also loaded the bases with one away and brought up Charlie (King Kong) Keller.

Keller picked out a pitch he liked, slammed it 420 feet into the right-centre field bleachers for his 18th homer of the year and presented the Yankees with an 8-4 triumph.

Brooklyn's success provided French with his 12th victory against only one loss, although his four-hitter was matched by Melton, but it didn't keep St. Louis Cardinals from picking up half a game and reducing the Dodgers' lead to eight lengths.

Cards Lambaste Cubs

The Cards downed Chicago Cubs in both ends of a double bill, 9-4 and 8-3. John Beazley registered his 13th pitching victory in the opener and Harry Gumbert pitched eight-hit ball as the Cards coasted through in the afterpiece on 13 blows, one a homer by Enos Slaughter.

Cincinnati Reds regained third place in the standings, with the help of Boston Braves and the shutout pitching of Johnny Vander Meer.

"Double no-hit" Johnny tossed a three-hitter at Pittsburgh Pirates in a night contest which the Reds won 3-0, with Frank McCormick hitting three singles and a double in four appearances and driving in two runs.

Earlier in the day, the Braves knocked New York Giants loose from their hold on third place by sweeping a doubleheader, 1-0 and 8-2, and bringing an end to a five-game winning streak.

In the American League, the Yankee victory gave Hank Borowy his 11th pitching success against only two defeats and stretched New York's lead to 13 games over the Red Sox. However, the Red Sox tightened their grip on second place since Cleveland Indians dropped a doubleheader to Detroit Tigers and watched their losing streak mount to six games.

Murray Franklin's two-run single led the Tigers to a 4-2 triumph in the first game and Hal Newhouser blanked the Tribe 2-0 on five hits in the second.

Elden Auker pitched St. Louis Browns to a 6-3 decision over Chicago White Sox, but he had to be rescued in the ninth when the Sox scored all their runs.

A scheduled game between Washington and Philadelphia was postponed.

Bears Nip Giants, Leafs, Royals Tie 5-5 In 11

By The Associated Press.

Newark Bears, in the well-founded opinions of many International League fans and scribes, are at least as good a ball club as some of those in the major leagues. That point might be argued, but there's no doubt that the Bears are one of the strongest outfits in the minors.

The proof can easily be found in the league standings. The Bears are 13 games ahead today and then got there by licking the one team that might have had a chance to pull them down— Jersey City Giants. Newark unloosed its full strength to make a clean sweep of a five-game series with its hottest rival. Winding up with a double-header victory yesterday 7-2 and 3-2.

Since the Bears have only 31 games to play and the Jerseys 35, that disposed pretty effectively of an threat there.

Yesterday the Bears had practically everything. They won the opener with a five-run blast in the third inning that broke a 2-2 deadlock and Tommy Brune limited the Jerseys to three hits in the nightcap to hang up his 16th victory of the season.

Buffalo Bisons took advantage of an off day for Syracuse to move into a fourth-place tie with the Chiefs as they whipped Rochester Red Wings 6-3. Jim Levy and Jack Welaj clouted three hits apiece to lead the Bisons' nine-hit attack.

Home runs also featured the day's third game, in which Montreal Royals and Toronto Maple Leafs battled to a 5-5 11-inning tie. Les Berge delivered his 22nd and 23rd homers of the year and Gene Moore his 18th for the Royals and Johnny Wyrostek slammed one for the Leafs. The game was called to allow both teams to catch a train.

3 Generations Attend Bancroft Lodge

BANCROFT, Aug. 13 (ENS) — Something unique in the annals of Masonic history in Bancroft Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 482 was experienced Monday evening, when three generations of the Davy family took part in the ceremony. Mr. George Davy, Worshipful Master of Bancroft Lodge, initiated his father, Mr. William A. Davy, into the Order, and the Worshipful Master's son, William Davy of Peterborough, was present for the occasion and officiated as Junior Deacon for his grandfather. Mr. William A. Davy was the oldest member ever to be initiated into Bancroft Lodge. Two other initiations were exemplified during the evening.

Mrs. Gordon W. Jones accompanied by Miss Mona Rouse, Miss Wilma Maxwell and Miss Helen Munro left by motor for Toronto Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Beaton and daughter Pal of Toronto are vacationing near Bancroft on Trout Lake.

Miss Selina Thompson of Toronto arrived in town Tuesday evening, where she will spend a vacation visiting with the Wiggins family.

Mr. H. M. Price, manager and editor of the Bancroft Times, and his staff are taking this week off for their annual vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Blatherwick and son Bobbie motored to Whitefish Lake in Algonquin Park on Sunday, spending the day with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Blatherwick of Rockwood, who are spending the summer at their cottage.

May Slow Plants

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—(AP). —War plants which are running far ahead of schedule may be closed deliberately or slowed down for a time to ease the strain on scarce materials, under plans now being considered by the United States' War Production Board, it was disclosed by an official who requested that his name be withheld.

Coastguard Wings Over Convoy

Patrol planes of the United States coastguard are shown roaring out over a big convoy loaded with supplies for our far-flung war fronts to take up positions whence they can spot lurking U-boats—if any. A navy blimp swings lazily above the merchantmen, also on the alert. The chief of the Nazis' submarine fleet paid tribute to the efficacy of U.S. anti-submarine measures recently and specifically mentioned the blimp's anti-U-boat role.

Ontario Boosts Her Sheep, Kills No Ewes

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—Hon. P. M. Dewan, Minister of Agriculture, said yesterday that his department has an understanding with the stock yards to turn back ewes sent to them for slaughter to the Government for redistribution and resale in Ontario, with the object of increasing the sheep population. There are very few in the market at the present time, as they are being short-circuited back to the farmer. There are 440,000 sheep in the Province now, and it is proposed to return not only old ewes, but 110,000 ewe lambs on a plan worked out for all farm districts by counties and townships. It is expected to get 25 per cent increase this season.

"We are so anxious to develop the sheep industry in Ontario that we have put a live stock man of great experience entirely at the work. It is my personal opinion that we should strive to get numbers with the stock we have and then stress working toward the more desirable types.

"In the United States in 1941 there were used 960 million pounds, double what they produce. They are now limiting the civilian population to 50 per cent of the production. Canada produces only one-fifth of her requirements compared with one-half in the United States. In this tremendous country we should not let it stay at that."

been sending air aid to the Solomons.

Reconnaissance before today's raid showed a spurt in shipping activity in and about Rabaul, which is some 700 miles northwest of Tulagi, a spokesman said.

Some 2,000 miles west of the Solomons Allied airmen attacked Japanese shipping and base installations in the Netherlands Timor-Band sea area with undetermined results. The raid off Timor was believed to have been on the same convoy from which one ship has been sunk and two others, including a destroyer, have been damaged in two previous attacks.

The United States navy communique on the Solomon action said there was substantial evidence the Japanese since invading the island in January had a base well under way in the Tulgai area.

This presumably was at Tulagi harbor, potentially one of the finest naval base sites in the Southwestern Pacific.

Guadalcanal, where the Japanese established one of their main air bases in the islands, is the largest of the Solomons.

Up and down this island rise extremely steep and rugged mountains towering up to 8,000 feet. It is 90 miles long and 30 miles wide.

Florida is 25 miles long, rising to an elevation of 1,500 feet. Like most others in the Tulgai area it has no roads and only few trails.

It was announced at headquarters today that Melbourne had an air raid alert last night, but no enemy planes were sighted.

In the Papuan Peninsula of New Guinea, where quiet prevailed today, it was disclosed American Airacobras were used as dive-bombers for the first time in the Southwest Pacific last Sunday during a big-scale Allied raid on Japanese positions at Kokoda, 60 miles across the Owen-Stanley range from Allied-held Port Moresby.

The swift fighters unloaded medium bombs on the enemy during 60-degree angle dives and then returned to strafe them in effectively supported Allied ground operations, it was reported.

panied by raids on Nazi airdromes in the Low Countries, the air ministry said.

Five R.A.F. planes were lost in the overnight operations.

Members of at least one Canadian bomber squadron joined the R.A.F. force.

The pre-dawn raid on the greater London area was the first since nuisance raiders unloaded a few bombs before daylight July 30 and some buildings were wrecked.

By mid-morning authorities said all persons trapped in the debris had been removed. Casualties were reported as seven killed and at least three injured.

The attack set off the air raid sirens for the third successive time during the sleeping hours of most Londoners. The alarm lasted only briefly and it was believed at first the Nazis had sent a lone plane —perhaps a fast long-range fighter —to turn thousands of fire-watchers out of bed and waken the city's millions.

AA's on the Job

On the preceding two nights the howl of the sirens had been the only indication of enemy aircraft in the vicinity but anti-aircraft guns peppered the raiders approaching up the Thames last night. Nazi planes also caused some damage and casualties at a southwest port.

Besides the small German attack on the outskirts of London, a single raider dropped bombs at two points in southeast Scotland and a few aircraft were reported over the East Anglican coast.

At least three persons were injured in a daylight foray on a south coast town by a lone German fighter-bomber.

Britons had perhaps a better picture of the havoc sown by the R. A. F. and R. C. A. F. Tuesday night than of any raid British Air Forces yet have made, the work of picked crews which circled the city from start to finish of the attack.

This was a new device by the R. [illegible] of its bombers but their missiles fell in such profusion that one of the observers said there were more fires at the end "then we were able to count."

Leave City Well Alight.

Between 250 and 400 British bombers made the attack, an R. A. F. commentator said and left a 15,000-foot pillar of smoke over the city from fires still burning when British scouting planes returned in daylight to survey the damage.

An audit of recent bomb-trading with the Germans showed the ledger heavily on the credit side for the R. A. F. in June and July.

During those months 13,000 tons of bombs fell on German cities, a British source estimated. This was 5,500 tons more than in the same period last year and 9,500 tons more than in the same period of 1940.

By comparison, the Germans dropped 450 tons of explosives in the raid on London, April 16, 1941, which was the heaviest Nazi air blow on Britain so far.

Five Die

Winnipeg last night that bodies of five of the six men aboard the twin-motored Avro-Anson were found in the wreckage brought definite word of the second airplane tragedy here in less than 20 months.

The airmen, officials said, were believed to have been killed instantly shortly after the planes, en route from Winnipeg to Ottawa, took off from the Armstrong airport after refueling. Early in February, 1941, 12 persons aboard a Trans-Canada Air Lines passenger plane, were killed when the machine plunged to earth while approaching the landing field. That accident was the worst mishap in Canada's aviation history.

It was not immediately determined whether the R.C.A.F. planes crashed in bushland. Officials said last night that darkness prevented continuation of the search for the missing airman.

accused," said Constable Palmateer. "Kellar said he had a right to the girl as he had bought her from her father. When I questioned Mr. Boumhour on the same day, he replied that he had sold his daughter for $75 cash. At that time, he said 'by selling her, I would get rid of her.'"

The young girl and Kellar were about to buy the marriage license when the constable stepped in. "I don't know whether the wedding date had been set or not," he testified.

"Kellar also informed me that he did not have the money, when the contract was made, but gave the father an old overcoat," continued the officer. "Boumhour accepted the old overcoat as a down payment."

Mother Agreeable

The girl will be 13 on Aug. 30, according to the girl's mother, who revealed that she had known about the contract. "I was willing, if my husband was willing, to let her be married to Kellar," she admitted. "After all, he is the head of the house."

"I witness that my husband gave my daughter Lilly May Boumhour to W. Kellar for an overcoat, which he paid $5 for, and John has got the coat." This was the contents of a note found in the possession of the [illegible]

The contract between the father and Kellar was made last fall, Constable Palmateer informed the court. According to the contract, Kellar was given the permission of the father to marry the girl when she became 13 years old.

Mrs. Boumhour explained that the contract was made last fall so that Kellar would take care of her and look after her. Kellar lived with the Boumhours and was to have continued to live with them after the marriage.

According to the constable, the house was a one-room shack with a wooden partition erected at one end of the house to make a room for Kellar. Mr. and Mrs. Boumhour and the girl lived in the other section of the house.

Giving evidence at her father's trial, the girl testified that she had not known about the transaction between her father and Kellar until the latter told her that "he had a right to me because my father had sold me to him."

"I read in the Bible some place, 'Let them do whatever they will. If they marry, they sinneth not.' I know that he gave dad an overcoat for me and was supposed to have me when I was 13 years."

"This is a most unusual case and I would like time to consider the evidence," declared the magistrate as he reserved judgment.

An application for custody of the child, made by Thomas D. Ruston, superintendent of the Hastings County Children's Aid Society, was also referred to the next session.

LAKEFIELD

Grove Chronicle Has Tribute For A. O. Phillips

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 13—(ENS). — In the summer number, 1942, issue of The Grove Chronicle, Lakefield, a splendid tribute is paid to Mr. A. O. Phillips of the Peterborough St. John Ambulance Association.

Entitled, "The Sick Bay," by Edgar Moore, it says:—

Vital to the happiness of a good camp is the health of those present. The Grove Naval Cadet Corps have to thank Mr. A. O. Phillips, St. John Ambulance Corps, for his attentive interest to their welfare during the ten-day stay at Queen Elizabeth Sea Cadet Camp, on Beausoleil Island, Georgian Bay. Mr. Phillips was not only happy to look after the boys' health, but he did a vital piece of work in instructing the Cadets in First Aid.

The study of any subject, in the eyes of the boys, can be a precious adventure or a deadly chore, according to the nature and temperament of the tutor. Mr. Phillips armed with a ready knowledge and an easy manner, attracted the Cadets and sustained their attention through his complete course of lectures and lively demonstrations. And with gentlemanly example, he was patient and apparently happy to attend to all the stubbed toes, sprained wrists, cuts, bruises and tummy-aches that could be mustered before him. One cadet will not soon forget, we hope, Mr. Phillips' kindly ministrations one morning at three o'clock.

The eight-pointed star, which has stood as a rugged light to men through many centuries—the Maltese Cross of the St. John Ambulance Association, has these eight points: Observation, Tact, Resource, Dexterity, Explicitness, Determination, Perseverance and Sympathy. Next term and the opening of school holds promise of a further visit from Mr. Phillips, when it is hoped that he will cover further phases of St. John ambulance work. The holding of a St. John certificate of competency in any of the armed services or civilian defence posts can mean for its owner a chance to serve more fully, as well as opportunity fo swifter promotion.

Rumor Korean Wounded Premier Tojo

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(AP). —Akilsoo Haan, Washington representative of the Sino-Korean People's League, saiad to-day he had received a report from the Orient which he believed to be true that Park Soowon, 31, a Korean patriot had shot and wounded Premier General Tojo of Japan June 17.

Haan said his information, from agents of the Sino-Korean League in Japan, was that Soowon slightly wounded Tojo with his first shot, fired at the entry of the old ministry brick building in Tokyo at 10.30 at night, but that a second shot missed the premier. After treatment of his wound at a hospital Tojo was allowed to go to his home.

The second shot, Haan said, hit former premier and former foreign minister Hirota, who was following behind Tojo.

In the ensuing excitement Japanese gendarmes opened fire, Haan related, and shot Maj. Yuso Fujita, whom he described as "a well-known Japanese army flier of great fame in Japan." During the melee two Japanese photographers from Nichi Nichi and Hochi were hit and Soowon was mortally wounded.

Hirota and Maj. Fujita were removed to hospitals with serious wounds, Haan said he was informed.

Soowon was a member of a Korean terrorist society, Euridan, meaning the members were pledged to give their blood for their country, Haan said, and he was informed that terrorist hands "are now creating terror in Tokyo, Yokohama and Osaka.

The Japanese rounded up 92 young Koreans in Tokyo after the incident, Haan said, and their fate was unknown to him.

Swat That Fly Early! May Be Polio Carrier

Infantile paralysis may be contracted at bathing places where the water is contaminated by sewage and may be contracted from house and stable flies, Ontario Minister of Health Harold J. Kirby warned yesterday in a formal statement dealing with methods of dealing with poliomyelitis.

"The virus responsible for polio ...

"Swat that fly early," is the warning of the Department of Health. Dr. John T. Phair, chief medical officer of the department said that research work was being made by the department on flies at the time Yale University announced it had recovered polio virus from flies. "We have found virus, which was still highly potent, four months after we had collected the flies, killed and preserved them," he said.

Dr. Phair said that flies were a ...

Better still, kill flies with Fly-Tox

Spray Hy-Test Fly-Tox upwards to the ceiling and as its lethal mist slowly settles it kills all flies and insects in the room. Harmless to humans and pets, Fly-Tox is cheapest because it takes less to kill. Buy larger sizes and save money and metal.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

CLEARING FIGURES

Weekly bank clearings for Peterborough totalled $810,424.

V FOR VICTORY

Mrs. Clarence Murray, 582 Bonacord St. is the proud possessor of two cucumbers that are joined in a perfect V. Even the vegetables have the right idea.

TROUT SEASON EXTENDED

The season for taking speckled trout which was to have ended this month has been extended to the middle of September, Fish and Game Overseer I. J. Lyons announced today.

NURSE APPOINTED

Miss Isabel King has been appointed by the Board of Education to the position of public school nurse during the absence of Miss Jessie Deyell who has enlisted for nursing service with the Canadian forces.

TO BROADCAST

It has been announced that Sgt. G. Haig of Peterborough, will be broadcasting from overseas on the "Greetings from the Beaver Club" program Sunday, August 16. Another item of interest to Peterborough people is that Cpl. W. Wallace and Sgt. G. Fee were registered at the Beaver Club in the month of June.

GIRL DRIVERS

Mrs. James Wharry of the C.W.V.S. told today of another innovation that is being brought about in the city. Some of the bread companies are anxious to get girls to drive their bread wagons. It has worked so successfully in Hamilton that the companies are anxious to introduce it here. Application is being made through the C.W.V.S. office, 147 Hunter street.

FAMOUS SONG

"Waltzing Matilda," marching song of the Australians heard all the way from the first engagement at Bardia to the latest at Alamein, is explained in a concise story in this month's "Esquire." If it had any dedication it was intended for the "have-nots," and is the story of involving a bush hobo, a well-to-do farmer, his sheep, and the police. The stanzas in their vernacular had to be interpreted for Canadian and American readers.

FACTORY INTERESTED

One of the factors in the decision of North Monaghan council to send a deputation to Ottawa this week to apply for iron pipes to be used on the job was the interest of Brinton Carpet Company in the project, the Examiner was told. The appeal for the sewer originated with the residents of McGill street, but after they had set it in motion the company volunteered their support to the extent of offering $700 toward the cost of the work because it would be some improvement in the water service to the factory.

SEASONAL

New moon Tuesday evening; the last moon of summer. Nights are encroaching at both ends of the day. Dew is heavy on the grass these mornings. The wheat fields are in stubble again, the berries on the rowan tree are bright red, and the wild grapes are filling along the old rail fences. The season's brood of young birds are on the wing, even the young night hawks have joined the night flights of their elders. The year is going to seed even in the flower gardens, and nature is taking on the appearance of fulfilment and repletion.

NO POLICE COURT

There was no magistrate, no cases and no prisoners at police court this morning. In other words there was no police court and the regular attendants were a little disappointed.

ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE

Weir Preceptory No. 261, Royal Black Knights will hold their annual church parade on Sunday evening when they will parade to the Salvation Army Temple.

BIG PARADE TONIGHT.

Hundreds of youngsters are expected out at 7.30 tonight with decorated bicycles in the big parade arranged by the Peterborough Lions' Club as part of their Carnival week program. The judging will take place at Riverside Park shortly after eight this evening.

KNOCKED OFF WHEEL

Don Ferguson, 170 Edinburgh street, riding his bicycle south on Aylmer street, was knocked off the wheel yesterday by a truck driven south by George McLean, 456 Park Hill Road. The accident happened in front of the fire hall. The rider was not hurt but the bicycle suffered some damage.

GOOD TURNOUT.

The Blood Donors Clinic had a real good morning Wednesday when 41 actually passed through the Clinic. There were 51 who had been called, but some were on holidays or were otherwise detained. With one or two exceptions, everyone observed the rule of eating no fats, and the only other thing those in charge would like to remind the donors about is that they would like them to keep as strictly to their appointment time as possible. If someone is supposed to be there at nine and they walk in half an hour late, it throws the whole works out of gear.

Belleville Lady Wants To Live In Peterborough

J. O. Herity, Belleville's busy booster as secretary of its Chamber of Commerce, should see the letter written to Mayor Hamilton by a woman in the Quinte town who would exchange places right away if she was assured of a house.

Modesty at the city hall, and neighborly regard for Belleville's community pride, a delicate sentiment like that which animates Port Hope, to say nothing of Cobourg, forbids the publication of the letter which went all out for Peterborough. The writer said she had been in Peterborough only an hour or more, and so impressed was she by the neatness of the streets, brightness of the stores and general beauty of things in general that she was immediately captivated. In fact she felt a physical lift and inspiration, and when she returned to Belleville it was mainly with the idea of getting away from that spot. And so she wrote Mayor Hamilton appealing to him to find her a vacant house. His Worship has not recovered yet from all that effusive tribute, and is not inclined to deprive Belleville of one of its families.

Young Children Gives Aid To War Victims

No less than three groups of children, involving ten young children, six boys and four girls form the greatest part of this day's story on behalf of the Peterborough and district British War Victims' Fund. First of all, three boys, Ben Fine, Ralph Florence and Irving Aiken secured a basket of groceries which had been donated by their mothers, then they set about the task of selling tickets for a draw on it, and by this means made the sum of $6.20 which is credited in their name in to-day's list for the fund.

The draw was made by H. L. Garner, and ticket No. 191 was the winner, which was held by Mrs. Cardwell of R.R. No. 11, Peterborough, and the boys take the spotlight for contributing the largest donation in the list for the day.

At the Parkhill Road, home of Mrs. Murphy, two girls and a boy, Lorraine and Gladys Murphy and Reggie Gould, held a bazaar, selling trinkets donated by the neighbors, and candy, to make a nice $5.00 which appears in their name to-day, marking the second time that these children have worked to help the people of Britain this year, which is all the more very much to their credit.

To complete the list, two boys and two girls, Gerald and Edward Warner, Annie Blackburn and Patsy Williams, two of whom are very small children, started off with six cents in a box and by getting donations and selling candy, they raised this amount up to the sum of $2.35 which for such young folk is quite a creditable achievement and no doubt they got much pleasure in doing it.

All of these children will be able to return to school when it re-opens feeling that they have done something during their leisure time from scholastic duties, to help along the war effort, and in a nobler sense, the needs of those who have suffered much by attacks from the air. One nice personal donation of $4.00 is listed to keep that part of the fund's activities to the forefront.

In Wednesday's report for the fund, an error occurred in crediting two good neighbors, Mrs. P. Kitchen and Mrs. W. J. Townsley with the sum of $10.00 from euchre parties, which should have read $19.00 instead. The total of their effort to date at $223.00 was correctly quoted, and the amount of their full donation included in the grand total to date for the day. The efforts of this group of ladies from the south end has been remarkable, and is a shining example of what can be done when such splendid co-operation exists between all concerned.

Previously acknowledged	$44,383.94
Lorraine Murphy, Gladys Murphy and Reggie Gould	5.00
Gerald Warner, Edward Warner, Annie Blackburn and Patsy Williams	2.35
Mrs. A. E. Sherwood	4.00
Ben Fine, Ralph Florence and Irving Aiken	6.20
Total to date	$44,401.49

District Girls and Boys Show Speed In Wallace Point Swim, and Boating Events

Allan Marshall retained his laurels winning the Gordon-K. Fraser Cup for the third time at Wallace Point Regatta on Wednesday. He is shown TOP LEFT in the centre with Andy Brown at left, and Jack Blewett, right, who finished 2nd and 3rd. At TOP RIGHT are the winners in the ladies' senior and junior swims. Carol Horsburg, Mount Royal, won the senior and Peggy Blewett, Peterborough, who set the speed record for seniors and juniors, to win the junior title. At BOTTOM LEFT, are three fair paddlers, Mona Whetung, Barry Hutchings of Forest Hill, and Doreen Deyell, all prize-winners. Edwin Pattison, Toronto, won the junior swim, beating 27 other contestants, and he is shown, BOTTOM RIGHT, the taller of the two. Paul Reeds of Peterborough, second-place swimmer, is with him. Police Launch Campaign On Bicycle Traffic

Bicyclists are warned by the police department today that if they do not obey the traffic regulations, particularly in connection with traffic lights, a flock of them will have a chance to discuss their omissions with the magistrate.

The police say that many cyclists do not seem to understand that they are governed by the same regulations as motor vehicles. They go blithely across protected intersections, regardless of the lights and as a result there have been some very close calls from serious accidents.

The police department warns that if the practice is not stopped, the offenders will be summonsed and their neglect to obey the traffic rules will prove an expensive operation.

Brown Street Suggested As Sewer Line

Brown Street in North Monaghan may get an unexpected sewer service out of Wartime Housing, Limited, deciding to build temporary houses on the property west of High Street and north of the old Sanstone Brick Company site.

Recent negotiations about an approach of the necessary sewer to the property have been mentioning Brown Street as a course that would directly help some of the township residents. Brown Street extends westerly from Monaghan Road almost opposite the city's Douglas Avenue. People along the street have been appealing to the township council to lay a sewer for them, and it is certain that some of those living on the street would apply for connections.

Wartime Housing will have to reach across from Monaghan to High Street by some route, and reports of the last week or so intimate that the company may take the Brown Street route laying a nine-inch main along its 1,000 feet length and crossing High Street near the Grady property.

61 Per Cent More Cheese Graded To Date

The number of cheese graded in Central Ontario this season is 61 per cent more than at this season last year, James L. Irwin of Belleville, Dominion grader, told the Examiner this morning as evidence of the expansion within the industry by the dairy farmers of the district.

Mr. Irwin's summary comprises the output of cheese graded at Lindsay, Peterborough, Campbellford, Belleville and Kingston.

At Lindsay this morning Port Perry factory had 103 boxes uniformly of the top grade of 94 points; Bobcaygeon, 60 boxes, all 94, and Dunsford, 97 boxes, grading 93, the lower score on which a bonus is paid.

Silverwood's this morning was represented by 51 boxes of 93's.

W. J Moore, dairy instructor, said that the shortage of boxes is an impediment to the cheese industry, and on that same point J. F. Singleton, chief of the Dairy Products Board, Ottawa, has suggested that the cheese producers would be well advised to consider establishing their own box assembly plant.

Some of the factories are receiving boxes fresh from the steam vats of the boxmakers. At times the factories have to send their trucks to get a load of boxes. If cheese are put into moist boxes it is practically certain that the quality of the cheese will be affected, including mould and softening of the rind.

The cheese graded at Dunsford this morning had been held up for two weeks by lack of boxes, and these cheese were kept in the natural atmosphere at summer temperature because the factory is not provided with a cool curing room.

Mr. Singleton informed the directors of the Ontario Cheese Producers at a Belleville meeting that Central Ontario boxmakers had been offered 40,000 flats, box heads, within the last few days "without a single taker." The material was available from Quebec. The directors are dubious about reports of scarcity of veneer, and from a statement made by a boxmaker in the eastern section of this district, not in Peterborough county, it is believed that either indifference to the importance of the industry and needs, or the factor of price, or both, are considerations which government authority should not permit, if they are actualities.

The cheese producers declare that in their greater efforts to provide cheese for Britain they should not be hampered by the incidental detail of sufficient boxes.

Protest Is Lodged In Traffic Case

When the police stated that they were not ready to go on with a traffic case Wednesday morning and that no witnesses had been summonsed, W. J. Arthur Fair, who appeared for the accused, objected strenuously that the Crown had no right to assume that accused was going to plead guilty.

Defence counsel intimated that the complaint in this case had been made by Ald. G. N. Gordon. The motorist was charged with careless driving as a result of an incident at a crossing.

The case was enlarged until Friday, despite the defence protest.

Police Sponsor Dance For Labor Day

Arrangements were completed at a meeting of the Peterborough Police Benevolent Association last night for the Spitfire Fund dance which is to be held at Brock Street Rink on the night of Monday, September 7, Labor Day.

Sergt. W. E. Wigg was elected chairman of the dance committee and Inspector J. F. Reid named as secretary-treasurer.

At the dance the Popularity contest winner will be announced and introduced.

The tickets will be on sale in a few days and will be obtainable from members of the police department. It is hoped to raise a worthwhile contribution in this way for the second Canadian Police Spitfire fund which is being raised to replace the original police Spitfire which was destroyed in action some time ago.

Bicycle Rider Hurt By Car

F. Stabler, 337 McDonnel street, sustained a cut on his right leg, had his trousers torn and his bicycle damaged when the wheel he was riding along Hunter street came into contact with the open door of an automobile.

Kenneth Jones, 580 Downie street, had stopped his car on Hunter street and pushed open the door to get out just as Stabler rode his bicycle eastward along the street and there was a collision. The rider was not seriously hurt.

Carleton Men Respond To Harvest Call

Durham county reports 75% of its spring grain in stook, and prospects indicate a satisfactory yield. Farmers who have threshed fall wheat say that the yield is not up to expectations.

The Hastings county review of the week to the Ontario Department of Agriculture reports steady output from the cheese factories. "A big acreage of second crop red clover and alfalfa is being left for seed. Oats are yielding well but not as high as the straw would indicate. Quality of the grain is good."

Some of the Northumberland farmers are establishing new flocks of sheep and others are keeping breeding ewes. A 20% increase in the number of sheep according to present plans. The corn crop in the county is spotty. Apple buyers are active and relatively high prices are being paid. Some of the orchards have seldom looked better than at present.

Ontario county reports 125 men from towns and villages helping farmers during the week. Threshing of wheat and rye was general. Wheat has been showing a good return. About half the oat crop has been cut.

Peterborough wheat crop is reported excellent and early oats are yielding well, but the late oats are poor, and the prospect for alsike seed is not encouraging. Corn is not growing well.

Business places in towns and villages of Carleton are closing three afternoons a week, and merchants, barbers, municipal officials, garage men and others are helping harvest the crops. Dundas and Stormont farmers are receiving "valuable assistance from urban business men in the harvest fields."

Potatoes Good

Glengarry farmers are highly pleased with results of Sudan grass sown for pasture. Most of the ewe lambs fit for breeding purposes will be retained in Grenville.

Potatoes are very good in Lennox-Addington, and the spring grain crop is above average. Plowing getting under way in Renfrew. Total yield of spring grain will be double the harvest of last year, and there are many hundreds of stacks of surplus hay.

The wheat crop in Grey ranged from 37 to 44 bushels to the acre. Halton farmers say that hauling and threshing grain has been more burdensome as a result of the heavy stalk growth this year. Huron wheat is 26 to 40 bushels to the acre.

Fifty per cent increase in egg production is reported from Lincoln as pullets begin laying.

City Employees Get Insurance Rating

The course of the city council in applying unemployment insurance to civic workers who were not assured of steady engagement has been endorsed by a decision of Mr. Justice Cannon. Men of the Board of Works, Parks, Fire Department and other branches were included in the general group whose employment was not guaranteed by by-law.

When the provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act were first received the council interpreted them as extending to municipal employees. On the other hand the Department of Muncipal Affairs took the position that municipal employees were excluded from the benefits of the Act. The Court decision has clarified interpretation, and confirms the opinion and action of Peterborough's council.

100 Million Subsidies

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—(CP).—Government purchases and subsidies in the present fiscal year may approach "or even exceed" the $100,000,000 mark, it was stated last night by an official of the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation. Payment to producers of a six-cent-a-pound subsidy on butterfat is estimated to cost the government $15,000,000.

Former Carlisle Avenue Boy Writes Interesting Thesis

By F. M. DELAFOSSE

Among other books at the Public Library dealing with Peterborough, a copy of the thesis written by Mr. H. T. Pammett, when working for his degree in pedagogy at Queen's University, is worth more than passing notice. Mr. Pammett worked strenuously for months, collecting his material, and the result is seen in a very readable and instructive account of the incoming of Irish families to the townships immediately adjacent to Peterborough. The copy presented to the Library is the joint work of Mr. and Mrs. Pammett. It is typewritten, and is embellished with many illustrations from old prints relating to the settlement of the immigrants in their new homes. Today, as most people know, the influx of that great group of people from the southern parts of Ireland goes by the title of "The Robinson Immigration" and is so called after the director of the movement, the Hon. Peter Robinson.

In this connection it may be mentioned that the city gave to the Library several years ago, the record made by Mr. Robinson, of the cost of the expedition, the names of the officers and surgeons on board the eight ships composing the fleet, and the names of the families aboard of them. Descendants of those first voyagers, and all others interested in the history of that period who desire to gain an additional insight into the troubles and trials of that sturdy body of pioneers can always have the opportunity of inspecting these documents at the Library.

Clippings

Among the important factors in every well-constituted library are newspaper and magazine clippings. Their value came into prominence about forty years ago, and now, in every library worthy of the name, such a feature is looked upon as indispensable. But clippings are of little use for libraries, unless they are properly catalogued and of a character to interest the general reader.

I once knew a gentleman in England, who in his old age contracted a singular habit of filling a pillow-case with all kinds of miscellaneous clippings. When the humor seized him he would plunge his hand into the bag and clutch, Jack-Horner-like for a handful of whatever came within the scope of his fingers. It pleased him and he always said that his extensive knowledge of life was due in great measure to the method that he had pursued. But such a course, although it might be of benefit to a private individual, would not be of much use in a library, which has to be run on a different method. The Library possesses a large collection of clippings, and it is steadily growing. Anyone wishing to see what can be found in that collection can easily consult the catalogue, where every item is tabulated in alphabetical order. The catalogues for pictures and maps, are also tabulated and can be consulted in the same simple way.

Incunabula

We are getting together by slow degrees, a collection of Incunabula, which though it sounds pedantic, expresses in one word, a collection of books or documents of ancient origin. Matter of this description has a very definite value for scholars and for all who harbour a sentimental regard for old things, such as china, furniture and pictures. They all have a certain historical value, and, at any rate, help to keep alive the sentiment for culture which in these bitter years is being dealt such cruel blows is rapidly growing raffish, gluttonous and greedy world.

Travelling Pup

TORONTO, Aug. 13.— (CP). — Boots, Mrs. A. Smith's wire-haired terrier, is just doing the town again and his owner and the Toronto Transportation Commission are worried. The T.T.C.'s worry springs from the fact Boots waits patiently at car stops, then boards the trolley with passengers. Mrs. Smith's worry: She's afraid Boots will discover the railways.

Fine Seed Campaign

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—(CP).—Revenue Minister Gibson described Canada's first "seeds-to-Britain" campaign to-day as an unqualified success. The campaign was started by the Revenue Department's income tax division which raised funds to purchase Canadian vegetable seeds and sent them to Britain through a Montreal firm (Dupuy and Ferguson Limited).

Vandals At Play

GANANOQUE, Ont., Aug. 13. —(CP).—Vandals visited the Gananoque Canoe Club here and proceeding with the following program: "Threw all the chairs into the St. Lawrence river; overturned all boats drawn up on the docks; smashed window glass in the club house.

Dummer Man Shoots Big Bear

The first claimant in this district for the $10 bear bounty recently announced has turned up, Fish and Game Overseer Irvin Lyons reported this morning.

He is William Lee of Centre Dummer who shot a full-grown bear a short time ago and has made a claim for the bounty.

The conditions under which the $10 is awarded for the killing of bears is that they must be taken by a resident of the township in which they are killed and at least 25 per cent of the area of that township must be under cultivation.

That would mean, of course, the hunters from Peterborough, for example, who might shoot a bear during the deer-hunting season while located in the northern part of the county would not be entitled to the bounty.

Half Fares Refused

VANCOUVER, August 13. —(CP)—A plea by a number of Vancouver organizations for half fares for members of the armed forces on city street car lines has been turned down by the British Columbia Electric Company. President W. G. Murrin said the company did not feel it should be singled out for such action.

New Naval Base Near Panama Canal

A new United States naval base has been built at Taboga island off the Pacific end of the Panama Canal, to help defend that vital lifeline. Taboga, a Panamanian island, is located 10 miles from the canal entrance. The UPPER photograph shows Rear-Admiral Clifford Evans van Hook, 15th naval district commandant, foreground, aboard speedy PT-boat en route to the ceremonies which marked commissioning of the new base. The LOWER photograph shows the squadron of speedy PT-boats stationed at the new base. The deadly sea hornets are shown lined up at a pier at the new base.

Pictures To Be Shown By Havelock Red Cross

HAVELOCK, Aug. 13—(ENS).—The Havelock-Belmont Red Cross Society decided at their meeting on Tuesday to accept the offer from Major Watson to show the film, "There Too, Go I," in the near future. This film is the gift of Col. R. S. McLaughlin, of General Motors, Oshawa, and comes highly recommended. Another picture will be shown, "Britain at War," during the same evening, and shows a great deal of the work that is being carried on by the Red Cross all over the world. A communication from the Publicity Committee dealing with the production and sale of calendars, post cards and Christmas cards, which are to be offered for sale in the early fall. The picture on the cards is a copy of the original oil painting of a Red Cross workers in a nursing auxiliary, and are most attractive in their appeal for help. The branch is sorry to loose two valued members, Mrs. D. C. Drinkwalter and her mother, Mrs. Morgan, who are going to Madoc. There were 14 ladies present, and a great deal of cutting-out was accomplished for the sewers. One quilt was completed and two quilts bound, and a large amount of finished articles and woollen goods were labelled.

RAF Bomb Loads Exceed Hun Tops

LONDON, Aug. 13—(CP).—An R.A.F. commentator said to-day the bomber command now is hammering German targets with such force that the bomb load for the "ordinary" raid on Osnabrueck the night of Aug. 8 exceeded the tonnage dropped by the Germans in the heaviest attack on Britain the night of April 16, 1941.

Between July 12 and Aug. 8 the R.A.F. has made 13 night raids on German targets, one employing 600 bombers and 10 employing between 200 and 400, the commentator said.

Osnabrueck was raided by fewer than 200, yet they dropped more than 450 tons of bombs, including nearly 50 of the gigantic 4,000-pounders and 70 to 80 2,000-pounders, he said.

By contrast, he said the Germans in their big raid April 16, 1941, on London dropped something less than 450 tons of bombs and a little more than 420 tons on the last big London raid May 11, 1941.

Writer Missing

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 13 — Vern Haugland, Associated Press staff man, was listed as missing today five days after a plane in which he was a passenger disappeared in a storm. The plane was en route from northeast Australia to the New Guinea front.

There still is hope the plane might have made an emergency landing at some inaccesible spot in New Guinea or on one of the islets off Australia. It is recalled here that several airmen who have been shot down or forced down over New Guinea have taken weeks to make their way back to civilization.

Some Mess Room Chatter From Great Britain

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R.C.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 13—(CP).—Attention Oshawa. An orphan squadron of the R.C.A.F. wishes to be adopted by a Canadian city and the Ontario auto centre is at the top of the list of prospective candidates.

The squadron is a Spitfire unit with representatives from all parts of the Dominion. It is taking an active part in the air war and has a fine record of enemy aircraft downed.

A number of squadrons have ties with Canadian cities but this one has neither a 'home town' nor a nickname. And because of the wide dispersal of home towns of its members, it cannot claim any particular one for its' own.

A mess meeting brought forth the suggestion Oshawa might be willing to adopt the squadron. Somebody thought Oshawa was about the centre of population in Canada, although this produced considerable argument.

Lending strength to the Oshawa argument was the fact that it is the home town of the 22-year-old C.O., blond Sqdn. Ldr. L. V. Chadburn, a native of Montreal.

The fliers would like to incorporate in the squadron crest part of the coat of arms of whatever city does adopt them.

Wings Abroad, the overseas newspaper of the R.C.A.F., published this report from a squadron correspondent:

Aircraft "R" flew away in a general direction. Nobody thought anything of it. "R" was loaded to the roof with paraphernalia, including fishing tackle. Still nobody thought anything of it. But when signals began coming in from our agents on the coasts, we thought of it. Our sources are everywhere and are as reliable as Yorkshire weather. "R" was seen cruising lowly and slowly over northern waters with Po. Rix hanging out the rear trolling. Sir, what did you think you would catch?

A reliable source vouches for this one:

An R.A.F. aircraft recognition expert was delivering a lecture to a group of airmen when a plane roared high overhead.

"Now that," said the lecturer, thankful for a practical example, "is one of our own."

You've guessed the rest. A bomb exploded nearby and shook the lecture room.

Eldest Of Dodges Arrested, Dying

DETROIT, Aug. 13—(AP).—John Duval Dodge, 43, son of the late automobile manufacturer, John F. Dodge, collapsed and was taken to receiving hospital in an unconscious condition after his arrest at 3.30 a.m. Wednesday for investigation.

After an examination, Dr. Ronald M. Morrill, hospital superintendent, said Dodge was suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage, and "may not live through the day."

Chief Assistant Prosecutor Julian G. McIntosh, who investigated Dodge's arrest, said he was informed that Dodge, while sitting on the floor of a district police station, suddenly threw himself backward, his head striking the floor.

Patrolmen Alfred Arman and Lee Brown said they took Dodge into custody after answering a call from a woman on Detroit's east side near Belle Isle, who reported she saw a man pry a screen from the window of a nearby residence.

Taken to a district police station, Dodge collapsed. At the hospital, his personal physician, Dr. E. K. Carmichael, said he was unable to account for a condition of coma and hemorrhage.

John Duval Dodge, eldest son of the millionaire auto magnate, was left only $150 a month for life in the will of John F. Dodge, who died in 1920. He waived this monthly provision by accepting a $1,700,000 settlement offered by the other heirs. Years later he sought by court action to obtain a larger share of the Dodge millions, his latest attempt being rejected by the Michigan Supreme Court last February.

How To Get Rid Of Itching Toes

If you want the quick, sure way to get rid of the fiery itching of your toes; if you want to cool and soothe your hot burning feet in a jiffy, go to any drug store and get an inexpensive bottle of Cortisol. The very first application of Cortisol will stop the itching and burning and a few days use will effectively destroy the athlete's foot germ that is causing your foot misery. Cortisol is a clean, pure liquid, quick and easy to use, no stain, no muss, no bandages. Just pat a little Cortisol on your feet night and morning. If in three days you are not pleased with the results—get your money back. You just can not afford to take chances with these dangerous and annoying symptoms of athlete's foot infection. Destroyer Crew Swarms To Guns In Record Time

By Lieut. A. O. TATE, RCNVR

Since Hitler took his first stride on the march to conquest, destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy have been at sea destroying the enemy and protecting the commerce on the sea-lanes to Britain. With the destroyers, there are auxiliary cruisers, corvettes, minesweepers, swift little submarine chasers and motor torpedo boats—these types and other adding up to more than 300 ships flying the White Ensign of the British man o'war.

Finest in World

In Canada's navy destroyers are manner by destroyer men who rank with the finest seamen in the world. One hundred and sixty men and boys, individuals of many types, temperaments and religions, live together—in these swift, slender ships.

Designed with bee-hive efficiency in the allotment of space, the destroyer's living quarters are organized into various compact messes for the officers and men. The average destroyer is not big—being only a little more than 300 feet long and with a tonnage around 1300. Roughly amid-ships are the turbines which develop better than 30,000 horsepower.

Since war began, destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy have covered tens of thousands of miles escorting the merchant armadas. The destroyer has a flexible nature, but she's a destroyer at heart. She is forever ready to hunt and kill.

Destroyer captains and their men saw months of action in British waters when the Battle of the Atlantic was being fought in the Western Approaches. Experience has taught them that dawn and dusk are the dangerous times. Set off against a sun low on the sea's unbroken horizon, a ship presents an ideal u-boat target.

Pretty—But Dangerous

The destroyer makes a pretty silhouette. From a few miles away she looks small and slightly feminine with her graceful, rakish lines. But aboard her the impression is different. The potential destruction represented in her guns, torpedoes and depth charges, the efficiency, the courage and determination of the men who handle her, give her quality and character that Hitler's submarines fear.

When the sun is dropping low, officers of the watch and look-outs scan the sea for a sign of the enemy. If the enemy approaches under the water there are instruments to detect him. If he comes in a surface ship or an aircraft he must be seen. One of the forward guns is always at cruising stations, manned just in case. Depth charges are ready.

Stays On The Job

From the time the destroyer puts to sea until she ties up again, perhaps two weeks later, the captain's hours are divided between the bridge and his tiny sea-cabin. At sunset—submarine time—he'll go to the bridge. Throughout the rest of the ship officers and men not on duty will be writing...reading...playing cards...talking...eating... listening to the radio...dozing...mending clothes...

In the galley, cooks will be preparing supper...slicing bacon for tomorrow's breakfast. The food is good, the diet balanced..and there's enough for the lustiest appetite.

On the upper deck two or three men may be seen lounging against th torpedo tubes. They'll be talking. About what? Perhaps that farm in the country.

The destroyer captain leans against the action station alarm buzzer. In ever corner of the ship every man is shocked into instant action. Confusion? Men running in every direction? No confusion. Within seconds every man will be at his action station. It might be the real thing.

From the daymen's mess and from the fore-lower they come up ladders; from the petty officers' mess the older men, and many are family men, come with practiced efficiency of motion.

Even the cooks...they leave their food to the mercy of the fires at a time like this, always with dramatic despair.

Swarm Into Action

Men rush fore and aft along the upper deck...they swarm around their guns. X-gun is manned... down comes the after galley chimney...the multiple machine guns are ready as ammunition is snaked to these...skyward sweep the barrels of anti-aircraft guns. The cooks are with their supply, repair and fire parties...the stewards, too. The ship's surgeon has his first aid party at the ready.

This is practice. An imaginary target is given to the control officers by the captain...red nine oh, a ship...a ship on the port beam. The torpedo control officer adjusts his sights..the gunnery control officer passes the information to the director who relays it to the guns.. the gun barrels swing to port, the torpedo tubes move into position for attack. Gun crews, layers and trainers, strain to get their guns quickly on the target..the ammunition is jerked from ready use lockers, is rammed home...A-gun, B-gun, X-gun, Y-gum...Fire!

Guns Pour Out Death

Machine-like efficiency is exemplified by the youngsters manning the three-inch. The gun swings, pouring lead into the sky. The multiple machine guns spew out destruction, their line of fire indicated by tracers. When the practice firing is over, the guns' crew remain at their guns and exercise with dummy ammunition.

Then, the sun drops below the horizon...officers, look-outs and others, as always, appreciate this final moment of peaceful and exquisite beauty...even though sudden death here takes no time off.

Bombay Rioters Grow Quieter

BOMBAY, Aug. 15.—(CP).—Rioting and clashes with police kept alive the spark of danger to-day in several Indian cities, but in Bombay, where much of the violence has centred, outbreaks over Mohandas K. Gandhi's independence campaign grew fewer and smaller.

Armed police and troops, nevertheless, were on guard here and elsewhere against new flare-ups.

Nagpur apparently was the scene of the worst rioting yesterday.

Three police stations and the post office were burned down there and attempts were made to set the central co-operative bank and the power house on fire. One rioter was killed and 12 injured when police fired into the crowds. Nineteen police were hurt by stone-throwers.

While a night curfew cleared the streets, mobile police patrolled the city and strong military forces were held at key points.

At Wardha, where one Indian was killed and one injured by police fire, processions and meetings were forbidden. Curfew also were ordered at Jubbulpore, Allahabad and Armroati.

Four more Indians were killed and 13 were injured at Poona, where Gandhi and some of his lieutenants are under arrest, when troops fired on a crowd tampering with telegraph wires.

Police opened fire three times at Old Delhi to disperse riotous crowds. One man was killed and two were injured. New Delhi, where the worst outbreak the day before occurred, was quiet.

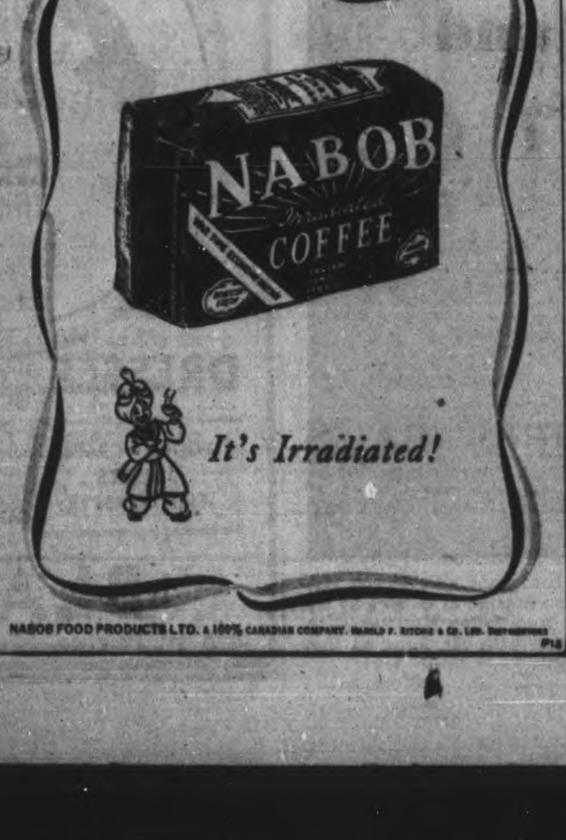
15 Years For Pelley

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 13—(AP).—William Dudley Pelley, founder and leader of the Silver Shirts of America, was sentenced yesterday to 15 years in prison in the first major sedition case since United States entry into the war.

Judge Robert C. Baltzell imposed the sentence after denying a defence motion for a new trial.

The 52-year-old Pelley, whom Government attorneys called "a benedict Arnold" in their prosecution, was convicted a week ago of 11 counts of criminal sedition in connection with publications of the Fellowship Press, Inc., which he headed.



India Affair Has Become Very Grave Menace To The United Nations War Program

By DE WILL MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The revolt in India which started out as a passive affair has grown to that grim stage where it has become an active menace to the Allied cause.

Mohandas Gandhi's campaign of non-violence to achieve freedom is so far out of hand that many cities are swept with the fearsome sound of mob roar. More than 30 persons are dead and more than 250 others have been wounded in clashes between demonstrators and the police an. military.

Already the Allied war effort suffers from disorganization in this great arsenal. The upheaval is an open invitation to Japan to invade one of the most vital bases of the United Nations. And the threat of a junction of Axis and Jap forces in India—a joining of West and East—grows as Hitler lashes his victorious troops on through the Caucasus towards the Middle East—still distant but his ultimate goal.

Thus it isn't surprising to hear on every side the eager question of whether it's too late for a compromise between the British Government and the Nationalists. It's hard to see why both sides couldn't reopen negotiations.

From Britain's standpoint the Allied fortunates may be at stake. From Gandhi's the peaceful campaign which he envisaged has turned to the bloodshed which he supposedly abhors. Either side could make a gesture without displaying weakness.

Another Proposal.

What's needed is a basis for compromise. In hope of finding something useful I turned in New York to Sirdar Kumar J. J. Singh, president of the India League of America and former member of the All-India Congress Committee. Rather, to my surprise, he produced a new plan, going much farther than anything heretofore offered by the Nationalists. He said it would be acceptable to the All-India Congress Party. What's lacking is some intermediary to bring both sides together. Here's the Sirdar's plan:

"Executive power now rests with the Governor-General-in-Council, that is, the Viceroy and the Executive Council of 15 members, four members of the Council are British and 11 are Indian, all of them appointed by the Viceroy.

"My suggestion is that the Council be reconstructed to provide a popular interim government. Let five seats be given to the All-India Congress, of which Mohandas Gandhi is the outstanding figures; give an equal number to the Moslem League, which doesn't see eye to eye with the All-India Congress but demands guarantees that it will get proportional representation in any independent government; and let the Viceroy himself pick five other members from among universally respected Indians.

"There would be absolutely no constitutional change until after the war, except that the Viceroy would not have his present authority to override his council. (I am told the Viceroy hasn't used this prerogative since 1879---D.M.) He would remain as Governor-General with powers similar to those exercised in Canada and other sovereign countries of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

"The status of the some 560 Indian princes and their states, which has been a great bone of contention, would remain unchanged until the framing of a new constitution after the war.

"However, either the United Nations must guarantee complete freedom for India after the war, or Prime Minister Churchill must make an announcement in unambigious terms in Parliament, guaranteeing India's complete independence soon after the end of the world conflict."

"The Indians are prepared to leave military defence to an Allied War Council. We would co-operate fully in the war effort, the first essential being to win the war."

WEDDING DAY

By ALICE ALDEN

WHEN TIME and circumstance permits a girl the privilege of a full church wedding these days, she knows that she is being favored to a rare degree. And to make the great event even more memorable, various designers famous for beautiful wedding dresses are excelling themselves with new and lovely ideas. Brenda Marshall models one of the most beautiful of the new bridal head-dresses, designed by Leah Barnes from a mass of stephanotis which is set on a frame across the crown of the head. A cloud of flattering veiling is draped forward to the waistline in front, giving the face an ethereal look.

WOMAN INSISTS ON MARRYING MAN WHO DOESN'T LOVE HER

Ending Engagement Is Less Humiliating Than Being an Unwanted Wife.

DEAR MISS DIX—In two months I'm going to marry a man who does not love me and who is going to marry me only because he feels it his duty, after taking up four years of my life and keeping me from marrying anybody else. He hasn't told me he doesn't love me, and he is still good to me and as attentive as ever. But I know he has ceased to care for me and looks forward with dread to our wedding. There are times when he doesn't even talk to me. He just gets moody and sits and stares into space.

He tried several times to talk to me about breaking our engagement, but I just wouldn't listen because I couldn't bear the thought of losing him. If it wasn't for the humiliation I would be tempted to run away; but he works in my father's office, all our furniture is paid for, and my family is making grand preparations for an elaborate wedding. What shall I do, A. B. C.

ANSWER—If you have any regard for your own future happiness or any pity for the man you are dragging to the altar against his will, you will break off this marriage and set your fiancee free, even if the wedding cake is already baked.

It may hurt your pride to have to admit that your prospective bridegroom was being forced by circumstances and his own sense of honor to marry you, but it will not be so humiliating to you as to go through years of torture, knowing yourself an unloved wife whose husband has a contempt for her because she forced herself on him. You may dread the gossip that breaking off the marriage at the last moment will cause, but the little chatter about it will die down in a week or two.

It Cannot Be Done

Don't delude yourself into thinking that you can win your husband's love after marriage. It can't be done. Everything in marriage—the loss of personal freedom, the adapting himself to a woman's peculiarities, the enforced companionship, the million sacrifices that the domestic relationship involves—tends to separate a man from his wife rather than draw him to her. So if there was nothing between you that fired his fancy before marriage and made him desire you, you will be still less attractive to him after marriage.

Don't think you can atone to this man, whom you are virtually coercing into marrying you, by lavishing your devotion upon him. There is nothing more repulsive to us than the love we do not want, nothing so burdensome as to have to keep up a pretense of affection where there is none, nothing so sickening as the kisses that are dust and ashes on our lips. Nor can you satisfy him by making him comfortable. You may feed his body, but his soul will be starving for what you cannot give.

Face the fact that if you marry a man who does not love you, you will ruin both of your lives, and let him go. You may be unhappy for a little while, but that will pass and you will escape the long years of misery of knowing you are an unwanted wife.

Why Are Secretaries That Way?

DEAR MISS DIX—Why is it that our husbands' secretaries seem to think they own the office, are responsible for the success of the business or profession, and that a mere wife is an interloper who has no right to put her foot into that sacred sphere or to know what goes on in it? My husband is a physician, and during the lean years in which he was getting a start I earned the money on which we lived; if I hadn't we would have starved. My husband appreciates this. He consults me about all his business affairs, and we are comrades as well as lovers, with no secrets between us. Yet when I go to his office, which I do very seldom, his secretary looks at me with an appraising glance that says, "What are YOU doing here?" and when I phone him while he is busy with a patient she freezes me with a reply that chills my blood.

Why do secretaries assume that a wife knows nothing about her husband's business and that SHE knows everything? Why don't husbands let their secretaries know that their wives are their real confidantes and that they respect the intelligence and judgment of the women they married? A lot of us women are tired of being the forgotten woman who is afraid to go into her husband's office.

A PROFESSIONAL MAN'S WIFE.

ANSWER—Maybe the trouble is because all women are possessive and monopolistic and can't stand to have another woman put a finger in their pies. The wife wants to be all in all to her husband. She isn't satisfied with being his and the mother of his children, making a home for him, and keeping him happy and contented. She wants to feel that she runs his business also and that if he didn't have her advice he would go bankrupt in his store, or never be able to win a law suit, or perform a successful operation. She wants her husband to depend on her for everything, and for the life of her she can't help being jealous of the assistance any other woman gives him.

That's why it burns her up if her husband has a young and pretty girl in his office, and why old Miss Smithers, who is as homely as a mud fence and old enough to be her husband's mother, gets on her nerves when she assumes proprietary airs on the premises.

And the secretary, being a woman, is possessive also. In fact, she isn't a good secretary unless she feels that the business is partly hers because she's worked hard to make it a success. She knows its secrets; so in time she begins to feel that the office is her domain in which even the proprietor's wife has no right to intrude.

Human nature being what it is, there's no remedy for the situation unless secretaries will condescend to be a little less haughty and wives more tolerant and understanding.

Opposed to Kissless Dates

DEAR MISS DIX—You say that boys should not expect girls to kiss them as payment for taking them out to places of amusement. Suppose a boy spends a dollar on taking a girl to the movies and buying her an ice cream afterward. What should he do, shake hands and go home?

TOM.

ANSWER—Well, Tom, it used to be done in the days when boys didn't expect such a run for their money as they do now. Then a lad considered the prestige of being seen out with a good-looker who made all the other boys envious, was worth at least fifty cents an evening. Also, that her society and her dancing and her making the evening a gay and pleasant one was worth another fifty cents. So he really gets the worth of his dollar without her having to include kisses.

Canadian Women Measure Up To Wartime Needs

In this country and the United States in the last few years women have made tremendous strides in industry and the business world, but in the three years since war began the field has widened amazingly. Today women are handling jobs that a short time ago would have been considered utterly impossible, in almost every field.

The women in war industry handle complicated machinery as if it were child's play and although they may not have acquired quite the maximum speed and efficiency of men who have been on the job for years, they are more than holding their own and doing a much needed service for their country. Women are also taking more responsible positions in business offices, in the field of journalism and advertising, driving cars, working in dry cleaning establishments, on the farm, and in other industries wherever they can release a man fit for military service.

Then there are the hundreds of women who are signing up in the women's divisions of the fighting forces. To some in Canada, these organizations appear a bit unnecessary, even though they are releasing men for more important jobs. But war has not actually touched Canada's shores, and in every other country where women have been called on to help out the forces they have done a magnificent job. Canadian girls are preparing themselves, just as did those others in so many lands, so that when danger knocks at the gates of our Canadian citadel they will be ready to fight in the ranks with our soldiers.

Although taking over important positions formerly held by men is fairly recent in this country, there are many precedents in other lands. During the Spanish Civil War, when the Rebels under General Franco were pressing the Madrid Loyalist forces so hard, when soldiers were too exhausted and discouraged to fight on any longer, a young Spanish woman organized what later became known as the famous "Battalion of Death," an organization thrown together with little training, of women who were willing not only fight, but to die, for their country. With few weapons and still less training these women marched to the front, without benefit of parades and crowds and went into battle wherever they were needed. When often infantry regiments refused to go over the top, these women led the attack and shamed the men into following them and making an effort even when they reached a state of almost complete exhaustion. Even though the cause they represented was later lost, these women gave untold help and service to their country and were the forerunners of the modern army corps established since the beginning of the war.

Russian Women Superb

In Russia, since the beginning of the Soviet regime, women have taken great strides in every profession and are recognized as being able to handle the job as efficiently as any man. They can be found in every walk of life, as station masters, railway engineers, technicians, doctors and civil engineers. There are over 19,000,000 women at work on the land, and on the co-operative farms, the women work alongside the men in the fields, as they always have, but now they have the benefit of modern machinery. They do all this in addition to raising good-sized families.

In no other country do women constitute so momentous a part of the defense forces as they do in Russia. Though barred from service in the regular army, they have for years been trained in combat tactics and in the use of weapons. They can and do fight side by side with their men in guerrilla warfare and make magnificent fighters. Girls who are doing guerrilla fighting have become heroines again and again in this war. When great cities like Moscow were threatened women toiled along with men to erect ramparts around the city. Long hours of back-breaking work have meant nothing to them. But those who are doing the greatest job are not necessarily on the front line. Other women have taken over war industries and the agricultural angle and are giving it their all.

In England today, like the Russians and the Spaniards, the women are taking up their burden wherever the path of duty seems to lead, even though at times not always just what they would choose to do. The armed services do a tremendous job of work in every branch, and girls bring planes in, ferry bombers, work in the fields, in munitions factories, as air wardens and auxiliary workers. Women, who do a fine job for their men by keeping up their homes, do not sit idly by. They spend part of their day immersed in some necessary war activity that is absolutely essential, even though it may seem small and unimportant, to the welfare of their country. That is a lesson Canadian women might well learn. While they may thirst for the more glamorous form of war work, when they do their knitting, and run their homes carefully observing the ration system, they are contributing a vital thing to Canada's war effort. And it might be added that these same ladies are rising to the occasion with everything they have. The only real grumbling that is to be heard is about the person or persons, who thought pickles could be done up without sugar.

China Does Her Part

The same picture can be found in China, where it is rather the more surprising since Chinese women have always been pretty much confined to the homes. Madam Chiang Kai-Shek sets a wonderful example for her sex to follow and the youth of China are learning very quickly. Here too, many of the women are members of guerrilla units, and roam the countryside fighting with their countrymen in an effort to bring about the downfall of the Japanese invader. Far behind the lines in inner China these women run hospitals and schools and take part in industries.

With the birth of "Indusco," the plan which brought about moveable industries in the different Chinese zones, the women were soon incorporated in it, and when Japanese advances imperiled these factories, they helped dismantle machinery and transport it back to spots deeper behind the lines. During heavy air raids, work went on and goes on regardless. All this has been accomplished in a few short years in a country whose customs had been very different from this sort of life.

All these courageous women have set an example for the women of this country. We have not felt the brunt of the struggle yet, but no one can foresee what lies ahead. Soon many of the girls in the war service forces may be sent to England where they will be playing out their roles, and the women at home will have to carry on in their places. The important thing to remember is that every job, no matter how small it may appear, is every bit as important, perhaps more so, in helping the war effort, as the efforts of others which receive more publicity. Items may be small in themselves, but if everyone is making a contribution it becomes a great thing.

The women of Canada are preparing themselves now for eventualities that may lie ahead, and the country can be justly proud of their efforts, which are being done cheerfully and uncomplainingly.

BACK TO BLACK

By ALICE ALDEN

NO MATTER what color is cited for promotion, the good old black dress, standby of the average wardrobe, appears in new and striking versions each season. Here is a new early autumn frock fashioned of crepe in a novelty waffle weave. It has a surplice closing without a collar but with soft folds and a ruffle forming a square yoke. An off-the-face hat of black felt completes the costume.

Pretty Shower

Mrs. C. Garside and Mrs. G. Jarvis were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in honour of Miss Doris O'Neill whose marriage to Mr. Ford Jarvis is an event of this week. The table was beautifully decorated with streamers of mauve and yellow, a silver bell and lovely gladioli and baby's breath. Mrs. W. McEwen poured tea and Mrs. C. Garside cut the ices. The bride-to-be received many charming gifts.

Those present were: Misses Doris O'Neill, Geraldine Jarvis, Louise Jarvis, Mrs. R. Healey, Mrs. K. Jarvis, Mrs. H. Quackenbush, Mrs. A. Long, Mrs. J. Jarvis, Mrs. E. Moore, Mrs. N. Sullivan, Mrs. P. Jarvis, Mrs. D. McEwen, Mrs. W. McEwen, Mrs. G. Deck, Mrs. H. Doughty, Mrs. C. Garside and Mrs. G. Jarvis.

Informal Dinner Dress

By ALICE ALDEN

EVERY COLLECTION is concentrating on street-length dinner dresses, frocks that can brave the light of day and yet look right for all but really important evening events. Milo Anderson designed a charming frock of this type for Jane Wyman and its is worth more than a casual glance. The fabric is stone blue silk crepe and while the skirt is simple the long-sleeved blouse is all done up with bugle beads in silver used in solid bands at the closing, the cuffs and belt. Eagle pins trim the pockets.

Three-a-Day Meal for Two For Two Kinds of Brides

By MARY MOORE

There are two kinds of brides at large these days—they are more prevalent than ever before.

The first kind are soldiers' or sailors' or aviators' wives who married their men only to be left in a few days and so they stayed with mother.

The second group are those brides who are celebrating their silver anniversaries and whose families are married and have left home.

But they all have to know now or eventually how to manage efficiently a food budget for two people without running (1) to the shops every day for fresh supplies.

(2) out of money.

Ways and Means

If you keep your hyrdator in prime condition, salad things will last for three days.

Twice a week, the protein item of your dinner could be from a can, or cheese or eggs.

I have two nice meals for two (if you managers of big families are reading this, the recipes can be tripled) that I know you'll enjoy preparing and eating—they are shining examples of how a determined budgeter for two can serve miniature banquets every night.

Menu for Two—No. 1

Chilled Rhubarb Juice
Steamed or Baked Salmon Timbales
Tomato Sauce
Creamed New Potatoes and New Peas in same Vegetable Dish
Celery Hearts and Radish Roses
Watermelons and Raspberry Fruit Cup
Crackers Cheese
Iced Coffee

It's only recently that I have discovered what popular things timbales are:

In this case the timbales are similar to a custardy salmon loaf in individual moulds.

Baked Salmon Timbales

Three-quarters of a cup canned salmon, ¼ cup canned peas, ½ cup bread crumbs, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, salt, pepper, nutmeg, 2 eggs. Remove skins and bones from fish and break it up very well with a fork. Soak the bread in the milk by heating them over low heat until bread is very soft, then remove from heat and add butter, salt, pepper and a few gratings of nutmeg or paprika. When cool, add the fish and the beaten eggs, beat well, and pour into well-greased individual moulds—these units make four. Cover the moulds with oiled paper, stand in deep baking dish; place in oven, pour warm water into pan until it is within 1 inch of the top of moulds. Cook for ¾ hour at 250 deg. Fahr. To serve, unmould on round platter garnished generously with parsley.

Tomato Sauce

One pint fresh or canned tomatoes, ½ slice onion, 4 cloves, 1½ tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper. Set the tomatoes, onion and cloves on the fire and cook for 20 minutes. Brown fat in flying-pan, add the flour, and cook until smooth and brown, stirring constantly. Add tomatoes, cook for 3 minutes, season with salt and pepper and pass through a strainer fine enough to hold back the seeds. Use more flour if your prefer a thicker sauce.

New Potatoes and New Peas in One Dish

Are you onto the stunt of serving two vegetables in one dish yet?—either because you're trying to reduce dishwashing or have only one or you have two but they don't match!

Wash and cook 6 or 8 or 10 small new potatoes in their skins (and serve them with their skins on if you can get away with it.) Make a thick white sauce and pour over them in the hot vegetable dish. Do not stir it around them. Now sprinkle the new boiled peas over them. Either drinking or saving the liquid from the peas for soup. Dot with butter and sprinkle sparingly with black pepper.

Watermelon and Raspberry Fruit Cup

Cut the red part of watermelon into cubes, wash berries (about ¾ cup each) sprinkle with one teaspoon berry sugar and a few drops lemon juice. Cover and let "ripen" in refrigerator for 1 hour.

Iced Coffee

Make coffee 1½ to 2 times as strong as usual. Fill tall glasses with cracked ice, add 1 tablespoon cream, pour over boiling hot strong coffee and pass berry sugar to those that like it sweet. Iced Coffee is often topped with whipped cream.

Menu-for-Two No. 2

Half Grapefruit
Broiled Pork Chops and Apple Halves
Kernel Corn Sauteed with Green Pepper
Tossed Spring Salad: Cress, Green Onions, Radishes, Leaf Lettuce
Pear Gingerbread
Baumert Cheese
Hot Cereal-Coffee

Broi'ed Pork Chops and Apple Halves

Select two 1¼-inch pork chops, place on greased broiler rack. Prepare 1 or 2 apples by washing and cutting in halves crosswise, scoop out the core to make rings, brush with butter and broil with the chops until all are tender. A light sprinkling of paprika improves appearance of apples.

Kernel Corn Sauteed with Green Pepper

Two tablespoons butter, ½ small onion minced, 1 small green pepper, minced, No. 1 can kernel corn, ⅛ teaspoon salt, pepper. Melt butter and add minced half onion and green pepper. Cook, covered, over a low flame for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Add sweet corn, drained. Season with salt and pepper. Cook slowly for 5 or 10 minutes.

Pear Gingerbread

One-half cup butter, ¾ cup dark brown sugar, 7 halves cooked or canned pears; batter: ¼ cup each molasses, sugar, shortening and sour milk, 1 egg, ¼ tablespoon soda, ½ cup flour, ½ teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, nutmeg. Mix ingredients for batter in order given, sifting the soda and flour together before adding. Melt the butter in a heavy frying pan and sprinkle the brown sugar over bottom of pan. Arrange pear halves, hollow side down, on the sugar. Pour the gingerbread mixture over and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. As soon as it comes from the oven turn it upside down on serving platter. This recipe will serve 4 or 6—but may be used for 2 meals for two, serving with Baumert cheese when hot, and with whipped cream when cool.

NOTE: I have many menus and recipes planned just for 2 people. If any brides or other readers would like more, please write to me.

He Never Took Her Out Until . . .

He was a fine husband in most ways—but for months now she hadn't been able to stir him out of his chair in the evening. They never went any place—they were losing their friends. All the fun and comradeship was going out of their marriage.

His excuse was always that he was "too tired"—until she got sick of hearing it. Then . . . one day when talking to her druggist about George, he suggested Dr. Williams Pink Pills. George said he'd try them but didn't believe they could help him. To his surprise and her delight, soon he began to notice that his work did not tire him as it had . . . he slept more soundly—ate better and his nerves felt calmer. You'd never know George today—he's going ahead in his business—he comes home full of vigor and in high good humor; is always ready for an evening's fun.

Many a man like George can blame his feeling of weakness—of nervous exhaustion on a run-down condition of the blood. Don't wait—try Dr. Williams Pink Pills now fortified with Vitamin B_1. They are wonderfully effective in building rich, red blood so necessary to vigor and strength and have helped thousands to get back "in the pink". Ask your druggist today for Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

Start the Evening RIGHT...

This Week's Wartime Recipe

One of my Press Pals gave me this recipe and expressed her surprise that I was not familiar with it.

Boiling Water Mayonnaise.

(Contributed by Isabel Dingman).

One whole egg or 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mustard, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 tablespoon boiling water, 1 cup cold salad oil, 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice (see notes below). One teaspoon H.P. house and ½ teaspoon onion juice are a nice addition occasionally, but optional of course.

Put the egg or yolks in bowl. Add salt, mustard and sugar and stir to mix. Do not beat. Then add 1 tablespoon of boiling water. It must be really boiling—put your spoon in the tea kettle or hang it over edge of sausepan in which water is heating, just before you use it for measuring). Stir a little, then having Dover beater in your right hand, pour a scant ½ cup of oil in and start to beat. It will thicken almost immediately, add another ¼ cup oil and beat and when this thickens add the vinegar, 1 tablespoon at a time. Then remaining oil. More oil may be added if you want it thicker.

NOTES: One good variation is to use 2 yolks, and boiling lemon juice instead of water, plus ¼ teaspoon white pepper. If you try this, omit the vinegar and add a second tablespoon of lemon juice when ¾ cup oil is added. This variation makes a richer mayonnaise.

How such a miracle of a recipe has eluded me "for over 10 years" I don't know—for the process of making the mayonnaise has always been my special job at home. Thanks Isabel.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

By MARY MOORE

SUNDAY:

Jellied Consomme
Stuffed Shoulder of Veal
Pan Roasted Carrots
Cauliflower with Minced Parsley
Blueberry Pie Iced Tea

MONDAY (Vegetable Plate):

Corn on the Cob
Shredded Green Beans
Cheese Sauce
Boiled Potatoes in Jackets
Stewed Tomatoes with Green Onions (see note)
Iced Radishes
Peach Shortcake Hot Coffee

Note.—To about 3 cups tomatoes add 2 tablespoons finely shredded green onion tops and stew covered for about 8 or 10 minutes. Add salt and pepper and 1 teaspoon sugar. The addition of ½ cup cubed buttered toast extends the dish and takes up some of the excess juice.

TUESDAY:

Casserole of Spaghetti and Meat Balls in Tomato Sauce.
Generous Bowl of Shredded Cabbage,
Celery and Green Pepper
Boiling Water Mayonnaise
Apple Fluff (see note)
Cookies Hot Cocoa

Note. Apple Fluff is made by straining newly-made applesauce, sweetening it with honey OR corn syrup and WHEN COOL folding into the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs OR ½ cup heavy cream whipped.

WEDNESDAY:

Cream of Spinach Soup
Corned Beef Hash
Quick Boiled Cabbage Wedges
Sliced Tomato and Cucumber Salad
Chilled Compote of Plums
Sliced Sponge Cake
Cereal Coffee

THURSDAY (Economical)

Chilled Tomato Juice
Poached Eggs on Toast with Mock Hollandaise
Sliced Beets
Chopped Spinach
Orange Fool Cookies Cold Milk

FRIDAY:

Baked Cod in Tomato Sauce
Baked Potatoes in Jackets
Chopped Carrots
Cantaloupe (and Ice Cream)
Lemonade

SATURDAY:

Broiled Ground Lamb Cakes
Mint Sauce
Baked Sweet Potatoes
Baked Vegetable Marrow
Cress, Shredded Garden Lettuce and Tomatoes
French Dressing
Jellied Apples Hot Coffee

THE ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I have an invalid mother whose appetite is nil. The doctor tells me to fix delicate little things that are nourishing and I am at my wits' end. I remember an orange custard a dietitian friend of mine used to make for her undernourished daughter. Would you have this recipe? If so, I would be grateful for it and any other unusual desserts you can think of.—Amateur Nurse.

ANSWER: Take heart, Amateur Nurse, and buy a new cook book, and make all the desserts in it; one, let us say every day, and you are bound to find some your patient will like. "Orange Fool" sounds like the custard you want.

Orange Fool

Six meduim-sized oranges, 3 eggs, 2 cups 18% cream, sugar, nutmeg and cinnamon. Squeeze out and strain the juice from the oranges. Beat the eggs and add the cream and orange juice to them and sweeten to taste (about 2-3 cup sugar or 1-3 cup honey is sufficient sweetening.) Sprinkle with nutmeg or cinnamon and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly, until mixture coats spoon. Pour into glass dishes and chill thoroughly before serving.

QUESTION: Please send me recipes for Raspberry Jams and Raspberry and Red Currant Jam, telling me how to make it with the amount of sugar we are allowed to use. Thanking you.—Daisy Dibney York.

ANSWER: The methods I am giving you come direct from the Consumer Section of our Department of Agriculture and are vouched for by no less a personage than Miss Laura C. Pepper, its chief.

Raspberry Jam

Two quarts raspberries, 3 cups sugar. Crush fruit and simmer 10 minutes. Then add sugar and cook until thick—about 25 minutes. Pour into hot sterilized jars and when cool, seal with paraffin. Yield: approximately 2½ pints.

A delicious jelly-like jam may be made by adding 2 teaspoons cider vinegar with the sugar in the above recipe. It produces a slightly tartar jam.

Raspberry and Red Currant Jam

Two quarts raspberries, 1 cup red currant juice, 3½ cups sugar. To make currant juice, crush 1½ cups currants slightly and cover them with ¾ cup water. Cook until the currants are soft and mushy—about 10 to 15 minutes. Drain through a moist jelly bag.

Cover the raspberries with the 1 cup red currant juice and let stand 20 minutes. Simmer raspberries and juice 20 minutes, then add sugar. Cook about 20 minutes. Pour into hot sterilized jars and when cool, seal with paraffin. Approximately 2½ pints.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, August 14

THE PROSPECTS for success and good fortune are rather fair on this day, with influential persons, friends, superiors and employers disposed to graciously proffer the helping hand where the ambitions are worthy and the efforts based on sound judgment and logic Finances, prestige, employment as well as domestic social and personal objectives should be under an expansive and productive influence.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of increase and growth in all the interests, business, financial and in personal prestige and popularity. Needed assistance and approbation may come from friends, influential persons, superiors and employers. The friendly element should enter into all relations with socialability good fellowship and conviviality having its helpful place.

A child born on this day should be fairly ambitious and efficient, and may be promised the aid of those in high places.

Belmont Lake News

Mrs. Morgan and family, of Toronto, with her mother, have arrived to spend August at their cottage. Her husband, Captain Dr. Morgan, is expected soon to join his family for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper and son recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Prest. They are remaining for another week at Camp Prest.

The third get-together of the ladies around the lake was held on Tuesday afternoon at the lovely summer home of Mr. D. Kennedy. Mrs. Kennedy received her guests in her gracious manner, and a most delightful afternoon was spent in the interests of the British War Victims' Fund. Prizes for the euchre and bridge games were won by Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Conduit and Mrs. Russell. At the conclusion of the party the secretary of the Belmont Lake Association reported she had fifteen dollars to forward to the Peterborough War Victims' Fund.

Mr. and Mrs. McRoberts and family of Toronto are spending their vacation in their cottage.

Miss Jean Thompson Havelock, is visiting with Mrs. Rudd and Mrs. Thompson of Toronto, who are spending August in their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Smoyer and family of Toronto are enjoying a holiday at the "Cedars."

Mrs. Wolfram of 'Bet-er-tan' cottage left on Tuesday by motor for her home in Spencerport, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burkett and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Burkitt of Sprinkbrook visited recently at D. Kennedy's cottage.

Mr Fennel of Toronto University and party are holidaying at the Fennel cottage.

Quaker Tennis Team Beats Lindsay

Fast, brilliant tennis was the order of the evening as the Quakers played host to Lindsay tennis stars last night with the locals copping 4 out of 7 matches. This narrow victory for the Quakers may not be decisive unless consolidated in Lindsay next Wednesday and the Scugoggers hope to redeem themselves in this return tournament. The visitors walked away with the men's doubles by taking three out of four matches but dropped the ladies' doubles and two mixed doubles. Foot-faults ran rampant on both sides and players should consider themselves fortunate that there was not a conscientious umpire present. Members of both clubs were refreshed by tea and cake served at the conclusion of this very successful tournament.

Two of Lindsay's strongest players had a short but snappy workout at the expense of Jack Miller and Al Conlin, Harold Holden and Keith Smith took two straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, for this match.

Quakers Walker Jones and Don McHoull went down fighting before the driving onslaught of Gord Brigden and Joe Baker to the tune of 6-2, 6-3.

Strong In Doubles.

A grim battle was wag[illegible] for three tight sets with Ralph Charlton and Horace Fisher finally conceding defeat to Charles Parish and Jim Doran. The Lindsay players had to come from behind to take their opponents, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. The Quakers were stronger at the net but the visitors turned on the pressure against a doubles team that battled gamely to the match point.

It remained for Roy Johnston and Howard Macdonald to uphold the honor of the men's doubles and this they did valiantly by taking Reg. Ray and Cliff Cottee, 11-9, 6-3. This match attracted a large gallery of spectators, who loyally applauded each point of this endurance test. Good Quakermen will easily explain where the locals' extra stamina came from but commercials must be withheld.

The ladies' doubles match displayed unusual steadiness on the part of both teams, with Grace Caddy and Mrs. Kay McFadgen gaining the edge over Jean Corley and Ruth Williamson in two sets, 6-2, 7-5.

In the mixed doubles, Mrs. E. Hutchinson and Carl Hutchinson were defeated, 6-1, 5-7, 6-2, by Peggy Lawless and George Scott. The Hutchinsons made a surprising comeback in the second set but were outplayed in the third.

The outcome of the tournament depended on the results of the last mixed doubles match. Charles Parish and Jean Corley made play fast and fierce for the Quaker team of Mrs. I. Martin and Ralph Charlton, but were forced to retire after being taken 7-5, 6-0.

This was the first tournament in the city this year, and the decision in the return engagement should be of much interest to tennis fans of the district.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

As the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club goes—so goes the lawn tournaments in this district.

It was over at Cannington, yesterday afternoon and evening. It was their annual open doubles tournament for men. It was a beautiful day. Out of the eighteen pairs entered, seven were from our Peterborough Club. The greens were fair, the supper was good and the boys had a good time.

The old Ontario Lawn Bowling system of 2 points for win, one for a tie and nothing for a loss was played and it is the nearest thing to the elimination system there is and one thing about it, you know exactly where you stand all the time—and while none of our boys got in on the money a couple of pair did get in on the playoffs—and here's one for the book, a pair of our local boys scored the possible eight shots twice in the one game against a pair from Newmarket.

We're asking the bowlers to keep next Wednesday night free. It's the big mixed tournament in aid of the Examiner's British War Victims Fund. We'll have more details later.

The entries for the Globe doubles (men and ladies) close Saturday night.

The schedule games for tonight were published in Wednesday's Examiner.

And remember tomorrow night's doubles commence sharp at 7 p.m. Choose your partner and be out on time. It looks like a big night.

We have no report from any of the ladies who took in the ladies' tournament held down at Port Hope yesterday.

We have the men's schedule cards ready for distribution. The new schedule commences next Monday evening.

Sports Spice

By HUGH FULLERTON
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—(AP). — Don't call that three-ring fight circus at the Garden tonight an "all-star" affair if you want to stay on good terms with Mike Jacobs.... Mike still remembers that famous "Tournament of Champions" when he didn't exactly lose his shirt but lost enough to pay for a few dozen good ones, with collars, ties and cuff links....Another war casualty is the Foxcatcher National Cup Steeplechase, American counterpart of England's Grand National.

Ethel Hill's War Knight, the two-year-old that has been getting rave notices around Agua Caliente, is heading east to run in the Washington Park and Belmont futurities....The story has been going around for a couple of weeks that Mike Jacobs had reached some sort of an agreement with the army for a Louis-Conn fight, but when it finally busted into the papers yesterday, Mike's only comment was "I hope it's true."

Mel Ott: "So there will be no possibility of doubt, I say right now that any of my pitchers who hits a man and costs me $200 will be fined $250 by me."

Frank Frisch, whose opinion of umpires isn't complimentary, was popping off to Bill Klem one day, arguing that he could do the job a lot better than some of the major league "Blind Toms."..."I'll show you," Frank howled, and he waved his arm in a circle and roared, "Y'r-r-r-r-r ow-w-it."...."I could do that all day," he added...Klem just grinned...."No you couldn't," he replied. "Suppose the runner wants the ground," he said. We wan[illegible] was safe?"

Change "Nerves" to Charm, Vitality

Nervous Energy Misdirected

Embarrassing the way Mary and John get on each other's nerves, blow up in public! No wonder they can't keep friends.

Yet they'd be charming—happy together—if they'd use their nervous energies constructively.

Instead, Mary frets over every trifle—John overbids his hand, the laundry's late. The least thing upsets her emotionally.

What Mary needs is an absorbing interest in her life. If she'd take over the leadership of the girls' club in her neighborhood she'd soon forget petty annoyances—become cheerful, vital, a pleasant companion.

"Speed-up" is John's middle name. It's rush to work, rush through lunch—no wonder he fumes and fusses, blowing up at the least provocation.

Learn to let down a little, John. Get enough sleep. Take time to enjoy your meals.

You'll do a better job, be a better "pal" if you and Mary would get out in the air, play games and take walks!

In our 32-page booklet a famous physician tells ways to control "nedves" to achieve serenity and vitality. Explains psychological causes of "nerves," also how to diet and exercise to gain radiant health.

For your copy of "Overcoming 'Nerves' and Everyday Health Problems" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T BE A PARROT

"THIRD HAND high" is supposed to be a time-honored maxim, and another is "Don't finesse against your partner." When applied to the opening trick of a deal, this usually means that, when a small card has been led, East should win the trick if possible and, if not possible, must put on his highest honor of the suit to force the declarer's highest card out. You can create a terrific problem for the declarer, though, by sometimes using a smaller card, especially a jack or ten when you hold the ace, if you think he has the guarded king as his sole stopper of the suit at No Trumps.

	♠ K 9 4 ♥ A J 6 ♦ 9 8 6 5 2 ♣ 7 3
♠ A 7 2 ♥ 7 ♦ A J 10 3 ♣ A Q 8 5 2	N W E S	♠ Q J 5 ♥ K 9 8 ♦ 7 4 ♣ K 10 9 6 4

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♣
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♦
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

It was plain to East, after West switched suits to 2-Diamonds, that he was fishing for a No Trump game, in case East had the majors stopped, as he did. In fact, it was plain to East at the two tables of a team match, so both landed in the same contract. The play was different, though, and how!

In each case South led his heart 4. At one table North took with his A, following the two "rules" cited, then led back his J, as per standard procedure. East let this win, and then took the 6 with his K. That hold-up won the contract for him. He ran five clubs and then led the spade Q, playing low from dummy and letting North take with his K. Having no hearts to return, North sent back another spade. The J took that, and the two other tricks needed for contract came from the diamond A and spade A.

At the other table, North put his J on the opening heart lead. East studied hard and long. Fearing his K might be trapped by the A if he ducked the trick, he used his K at once. Then, after five clubs, he finessed the spade Q to North. The latter then promptly laid down the heart A and 6 to the Q, South cashing three more hearts and setting the contract two tricks. North's refusal to play third hand high" and his willingness to "finesse against his partner" had defeated the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

If South leads his fourth club against East's over-bid 6-No Trumps, how should the declarer play the spade suit in a desperate effort to make his contract?

ConqueredLands Religion To Go

LONDON, August 13 (CP).—The Germans have embarked upon a long-range program to eliminate religion in conquered lands and the people must decide on "Christ or the Fuehrer," the inter-allied information committee reported today.

In a 10,000-word summary on religious persecution in Europe, the committee said the Nazi technique was a "carefully planned, progressive attack on Christian churches and religious organizations."

The committee said Nazi oppression took severe forms in Czecho-Slovakia, Poland and occupied areas of Russia but was more subtle in Belgium, the Netherlands, France and Luxembourg.

The report said the Nazis' biggest fear of religion was that it had high ideals which rise above nationalism and that it recognized an authority greater than the National Socialist party.

Dictator Tojo Still Bows To High Command

By MAX HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 13 (AP). Bullet-headed Hideki Tojo, Japanese premier and war minister, still must accept the decisions of his high command, but he's running the closest thing yet in Japan to a one-man show.

If any of the businessmen and others are lukewarm to Japan's present program they keep silent. There is no way of guessing the extent of any undercover opposition to Tojo.

But brutal opposition undoubtedly will appear if Japan ever is presented with the spectre of military defeat. Then, many believe, the heads of Tojo and his cohorts will roll in another of those reactionuary purges which have swept Japan in the past.

A concrete evidence that the army is divided in some respects was shown by the publication of a quickly-suppressed pamphlet issued prior to the war with the United Nations.

In this pamphlet a group of war commanders in China voiced their opposition to Japan's plunder and rape tactics in China. Brow-beating the Chinese, they pointed out, certainly would never gain the Chinese sympathy and co-operation so frequently solicited by Japan's leaders.

Aside from Tojo another dominant figure in Japan today is Mitsuru Toyama, the 86-year-old secret society leader who has exerted powerful influence for years.

Toyama's secret groups such as the Black Dragon Society really represent the most sinister phase of Japanese life, dominating government leaders, police and people. They have never hesitated to knife any leader opposing them.

While Tojo is at present strong man in Japan, his emergence as a apanese Hitler or Mussolini is impossible because of these societies. Jealously their members eradicate any leaders who seek too much personal power.

Steel Shortage Laid To 'Control'

WASHINGTON, Aug 12—(AP)—Chairman Harry Truman of the Senate Defence committee yesterday attributed the steel shortage which he said is hampering the United States' war production to a lack of "real expansion" in the steel industry.

Truman, after more than six months of inquiry, told reporters he had concluded there was no real expansion in the industry, but merely an "integration" of the plants of the big companies, while they "choked" the smaller rolling mills out of existence.

He said Donald Nelson, director of the War Production Board, "should exercise his authority and reorganize the iron and steel division of W.P.B." to get action.

Truman said his committee had learned that not a new iron mine or blast furance had been built in any new place, although lower California, the State of Washington and British Columbia contained an abundance of untapped raw materials.

He added he was greatly impressed by the story of a west coast promoter, Henry J. Landahl, who told the committee yesterday of trying for 40 years to raise money for a blast furnace in the Pacific northwest, only to be constantly balked by the United States' Steel Corporation and the J. P. Morgan banking interests because the project would compete with their properties.

Soap Rationing Never In Mind

OTTAWA, Aug. 13 (CP) — Mrs. Phyllis Turner, Fats and Oils Administrator for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, said yesterday she had been "deluged with calls" from soap manufacturers alarmed by a buying rush on soap, prompted by wild-cat rumors of rationing.

Denying that rationing was even being considered, the Prices Board issued a statement saying that Canada's national output of the commodity is at its highest because soap is a by-product of glycerine, essential to the manufacture of explosives.

Some quarters said the buying splurge had been touched off by a broadcast that soap was to be rationed. But the board statement said that a check made by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation revealed that no such broadcast had been made.

The buying rush hit Ottawa shops yesterday following similar heavy demand in towns in southwestern Ontario.

Fiery, Itching Toes and Feet

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil now dispensed by chemists at trifling cost, that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is quickly stopped; and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery eczema. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet—others irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at McDermid & Jury or any modern drug store. It is safe to use—and failure in any of the ailments noted above is rare indeed.—(Advt.)

"It Is Years Since I've Felt This Good Before" She Says

Nerves Were Bad; Back Ached; Stomach Rebelled And She Couldn't Sleep—Tells Of Decided Change In Health After Taking Syntona.

Literally hundreds of former sufferers throughout this whole section have given public statements, telling how Syntona quickly goes to the root of their troubles and soon has them feeling like different persons. They do this in the hope that others who suffer similarly, will learn about this pleasant, safe, natural way to get relief. Here, for example, is the interesting experience of Mrs. Evelyn Hack, of Granton, Ontario:

"Two years ago, shortly after my baby was born I became very nervous and rundown! I couldn't sleep nights and I suffered greatly with pains in my back. I was told I had a floating kidney, but whatever the trouble was, it certainly kept me in misery. I just dreaded the thought of all the work to be done, because I hadn't strength or energy to do a thing. My stomach, too, was upset all the time, so I was troubled with gastritis, heartburn, headaches and spells of dizziness.

"Several different friends told me about how Syntona had helped them personally and they persuaded me to try it. I wasn't taking Syntona long before I could tell it was different from all the other medicines I had tried. It gave me quick relief from that acid stomach and gas. Then, as I continued taking it, the pains around my kidneys left me, my nerves became calmed and I could sleep well once more. I am free of those headaches and dizzy spells now. I have more energy, and I felt better in every way than I did in years previously."
